Defence of Europe

RUSSIA'S atomic advance has vastly altered two military calculations. First, it has cooled the infatuation with strategic bombing and made Western defence planners begin to think of other means for making effective reply to a potential attack. Second, it has emphasized the difficulty of repeating landings such as those in Italy and Normandy where massed troops and supplies would be newly vulnerable. Furthermore the development of new defensive weapons has added to the probability that recapture of Europe would be tremendously difficult.

These factors are pushing military plans toward far greater emphasis on holding the line of the Elbe or the Rhine. The Western powers cannot today guarantee success for such a plan. But plainly a strategy which seeks to protect the people of Europe rather than one for their eventual release is more likely to win united, confident, and enthusiastic support from them.

In any common defense effort this strategy is indispensable. Any plan which contemplates even temporary abandonment of the heart of Europe will forfeit it. Any plan which retains it has an immeasurable advantage. Military leaders and statesmen charged with shaping Atlantic Pact defense must give full weight to such intangibles of the spirit.

OUR FINE WEATHER

THIS is practically mid-December and as yet, Prince Rupert has experienced no real winter. It has not been consistently agreeable but it has not been severe enough to cause harm or damage. There has been an absence of rigorous cold. Saturday night saw the first snow which was little more than a flurry with indications of gradually turning to rain. Seasons so lacking in sharp and sudden changes go a long way in shortening a winter. It is quite probable that here there will be little difference perhaps not until New Year or even later.

Contrast this with the prairies, eastern Canada, and the northern states. November saw the arrival of zero, bitter gales and snow drifts not to mention the imperative need of more clothing, fuel and food. Blessed Prince Rupert!

Victoria Report

... by J. K. Nesbitt

Hospitals Going Democratic—More Multiple Words, Fewer Private

VICTORIA — B.C. hospital design is being changed by hospital insurance.

The rich will no longer bask in private room luxury. The poor won't squirm in public ward disturbance.

St. Joseph's Hospital here is building a new wing which shows this trend.

The four-storey addition will have 128 beds, in four-bed, 17 by 24 foot wards, eight to a floor. Each ward will be divided, in effect, into two semi-private rooms. Patients will no longer face each other. Each ward will have toilet, wash basin and shower, each patient his own clothes locker—now an undreamed-of luxury in public wards. No patient ever likes his clothes taken from him and hidden from his view.

This new-style wing will make pioneer St. Joseph's one of the most modern hospitals in North America. It was designed by H. Whittaker, former chief architect for the Provincial Government, who has made a specialty of hospital architecture.

Since hospital insurance came in, hospitals have been so crowded most private rooms are now semi-private. Some have three beds. It is almost impossible to get a private room. This is infuriating people who want privacy above necessary hospitalization for other people.

There is a greater demand than ever for private rooms. With insurance paying public ward rates, many can afford the difference between public ward and private room. Less and less they can do this, because there just aren't the private rooms. And there are going to be fewer and fewer.

Private rooms take up too much space, one patient taking room three could use. The province—which means the taxpayers—can't afford many private rooms. If new wings have as many private rooms as formerly, if private rooms aren't turned into small wards, premiums will go up again. The government is dead set against that.

Private rooms will always be needed for desperately sick cases. No longer, however, is the person in hospital a few days for a tonsil operation going to be allowed to luxuriate in a suite with bay window, private bath and telephone, Oriental rugs and a pretty nurse almost to himself. He will have to give that up so the man with little money won't have to go into a big ward. A compromise is coming. For the good of everybody. The new types of semi-private, as St. Joseph's shows, saves space and nurses' time. The time a nurse spends going from private room to private room must be staggering.

A lot of people don't like this new deal, but it's part of the "we-are-our-brothers' keepers" pattern of B.C. social services. Health and Welfare Minister George Pearson puts private room vs. public ward argument this way: "The more you isolate patients in private rooms the more expensive you make hospital operation. To give adequate hospitalization for all, we just can't afford big private rooms. They are far too expensive. In the United States they are costing $12,000 to $15,000 a bed. That would cripple us in B.C. We can give good hospital service without unnecessary frills."

While on the subject of hospital insurance, this reporter would put in a good word for it. There has been confusion, true, what some people think a political double cross when premiums were upped after the election. By and large, however, hospital insurance is proving a great blessing. Just ask the man who can thumb his nose at a $600 bill. There shouldn't be too much patience with people who say they can't afford the premiums. How would they meet a $600 bill without insurance? They wouldn't. They didn't in the past. Their fellow citizens had to pay.

"Right this way for a tour of Averagetown—a Canadian town or city that might be the one you live in!"

"You'll see it as you never saw it before... hear the behind-the-scenes story of some of its most important landmarks... see sights that will give you new faith in its future. All set? Let's go!"

1. "On our right we have a splendid new high school, with modern lighting, air-conditioning and a host of other improvements that give students a 'lift'. It was built with the aid of life insurance dollars, invested for policyholders, in municipal bonds."

2. "Note the bridge we are coming to now. See how wide, smooth and safe it is! Motorists for miles around bless the day it was built. But few know that life insurance dollars played a vital part in building this, too!"

3. "Here's the town's biggest industrial plant. It shows another way in which life insurance dollars are invested. Imagine what this plant means to its thousands of workers! Imagine how it's helped to expand business all through Averagetown!"

4. "How those life insurance dollars do get around! Here they've helped to build a new apartment building that means a much-needed home to scores of people."

These aids to better living are founded on the work of the life insurance representative. It is largely because of his efforts that so many people buy life insurance and pay premiums—the major part of which is invested in vital projects that benefit Canadians from coast to coast. Thus your life insurance representative is more than a helpful advisor on financial security. He's a helpful citizen, too!

Murray Sez-

Supporters of the Bo-Me-Hi basketballers are hereby advised that tonight is the night! With Sonney Beynon on the "high seas" making a living and Jimmy Platen an improbable starter. "The squad that Angus coaches" is facing a rather difficult task this evening when it runs up against the students in the regular Tuesday senior basketball feature. Actually with Beynon and Platen absent, Jack Evans should be able to work a win out of his young charges, unpredictable though they are, and, if he does, there will be a mighty popular bunch of athletes turning up for classes in the morning. Bo-Me-Hi could do with this win and Brownwoods could do with a Bo-Me-Hi win also as they find it easier to pick up the odd point against the students than they do the fishermen. It looks as though we will have an interesting race in that league after all.

According to reports we are not to see the University of British Columbia Chiefs during the Christmas rush after all. Contrary to the belief of many fans who have been looking forward to seeing these games, this isn't such bad news after all. U. B. C. Chiefs are just another senior "A" ball club that would teach us little and would likely lose to our boys. They would cost as much to bring up here as a good ball club and that is quite a figure for a couple of hours of basketball. We might be well advised at this point to reach down into the State of Washington and bring up one of the many college teams from around the Northwestern end of the State that will travel for probably less than a Vancouver team. This is worth trying and we have a few of our boys attending school down that way who might give us a hand arranging a series.

We have had word that new Metlakatla will not visit us early in the new year either as reported earlier. As far as New Metlakatla is concerned all of us will be willing to wait until summer to see their team this year. They will travel with one of the most formidable outfits they have ever assembled up on the Annette Flats and our lads will have to do some tall hustling to stay even with them. I am not underrating our potential either against a team which boasts such stars as Wally Leask, former pro star of the now defunct Pacific coast league, his brother, Bert, another smart product of Dubuque University, and the usual gang of

Christmas time is family time

The joyous family reunion is a tradition in our Canadian celebration of Christmas. The gaily decorated Christmas tree, loaded with gifts... the holly wreaths... the laughter and excitement... the tantalizing aroma that heralds the Christmas dinner... all affirm that Christmas time is family time.

During the past year Calvert has paid tribute to the various racial groups which comprise the great Canadian Family. At this Christmas season of happy family gatherings we wish to salute all Canadian families with the words written by Calvert himself over three hundred years ago: "May all happiness attend you".

Hospitals Get Free "War Cries"

Captain and Mrs. W. C. Poulton and their workers of the local Corps of the Salvation Army have been distributing the Christmas
issue of the War Cry in Prince Rupert in recent days. Many persons have proffered money in excess of the ten cent cost of the War Cry and Captain Poulton announces that this surplus money has enabled The Salvation Army to distribute 100 copies of the Christmas issue of The War Cry in the Prince Rupert
General Hospital and Miller Bay Hospital.

Fire Truck Is Beyond Repair

The 1925 Reo truck of the city fire department is in such a state of mechanical decrepitude that it is hardly practicable to repair it and it would be better to purchase a new half-ton pickup, the city council was advised
last night in a special report from Bob Parker & Co. which had been asked by the utilities
committee to make an inspection

my opinion will be the best team
we will see here this year and I am not overlooking the House of David when I make that statement.

Angus MacPhee has finally come up with his all-star team picked last Sunday and on it we do not see the names of Jim Fla-ten or Joe Davis, two of the Co-op stalwarts who were expected to make the squad. According to Angus, he believes Flaten may have been ill and forced to miss the practice but is afraid one Mr.
Davis may not have gotten around to gettin' there that's all.
If so Joe will be missed on the team but he had fair warning.

and report. The company's report appears to be in accord with the views of the city's automobile mechanic who had advised the committee that the vehicle was not even worth having a report
made upon it.
Ald. Casey, who was in a particularly critical mood all evening, did not like the procedure

of having an outside firm make such a report when the city, as the city engineer agreed, had mechanics who should be competent of making such inspection and report.

What City Council Did

Received a declaration of poll from the returning officer, H. D. Thain, following last week's provincial election to the effect that Ald. G. W. Rudderham had been elected mayor for 1950 with G. B. Casey, Don Fitch, H. F. Glassey, T. B. Black, Douglas Frizzell and W. A. McLean as aldermen, also that the bylaw for sewer extension and renovation and the referendum on the question of an elective Parks Board has been approved. The report of the poll observed that G. B. Casey, Don Fitch and H. F. Glassey had received the highest number of votes ever accorded aldermanic candidates in the history of the city, the previous high aldermanic vote having been by C. H. Orme. It was also observed that the vote in last week's election had been the heaviest in the history of the city.

Authorized the city engineer to proceed with the putting in of a sidewalk, at a cost of $500, along Claude Street to connect Sixth and Seventh Avenues. The sidewalk is being put in primarily to provide a safer thoroughfare for school children attending Conrad Street School although Mayor Arnold pointed out that it would be a boon to many grown-up pedestrians as well. It will divert the children from Donald Street the joining of which with Sixth Avenue constitutes a danger point since the intersection there is just under the brow of the Sixth Avenue Hill at Ambrose Avenue. The new crossing at Claude Street had been recommended by the city engineer in reply to a reference from the school board on the subject.

Granted trade licenses to Allen E. Barr, excavation contractor, and Worthy Eytcheson, taxi operator after the licensing committee had recommended accordingly.

Finally reconsidered and adopted an amendment to the Cemetery bylaw where rough boxes, in future, must be delivered to the cemetery by 5 p.m. on the day preceding a funeral.

Referred to the wage committee a communication from the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers pointing out that telephone operators were not receiving overtime pay for working on holidays. The committee will investigate the matter and present a report. There seemed to be uncertainty as to whether or not the point was covered under any agreement between the city and the telephone operators.

Received a letter from Lt. Cdr. W. S. T. McCully of H.M. C.S. Antigonish expressing appreciation for hospitality extended by the mayor, city council and citizens generally during the recent visit of the Canadian frigate to this port. Special thanks were conveyed in the letter to the manager of the Civic Centre for use of the facilities of the Centre which had been extended to the warship's personnel during the visit of the vessel here.

Decided, on recommendation of the utilities committee, that a radiator should be purchased for the telephone truck and the old one be sent to Vancouver for repairs.

City Ambulance Has Three Calls

At 5 o'clock this morning the city ambulance was called to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. Skattebol, 1425 Graham Avenue to take Mrs. Skattebol to General Hospital. She had given birth to a child before the ambulance arrived. Mrs. Greenwood, 1152 Seventh Avenue East, was taken to hospital by ambulance at 3:30 p.m. yesterday for an x-ray examination. Another trip at 3:45 yesterday took Mrs. Mary Reid of Thompson St. to General Hospital.
