Important Industry

It is fitting and timely too at this period of the year when the industry is running at high gear, that we should be reminded in dollars and cents of just what the fishing industry means to Prince Rupert.
Fisheries Supervisor G. S. Reade told the Rotary Club at luncheon Thursday that fishermen in this area received $12,000,000 for their fish in a year and that $4,000,000 of this was right at the port of Prince Rupert.

And that does not include the wages paid at the many processing plants in Prince Rupert and at the canneries, cold storage and reduction plants coast hereabouts. It could be estimated that the payroll from handling of the landed fish might equal the value of the fish. On top of that are the many high-priced services, including the railway, attendant upon the operation of the fisheries.

We welcome with enthusiasm the advent of new industries in Prince Rupert and district.

But we may sometimes lose sight of the fact that the fisheries are still our principal industry and main economic mainstay.

It does not hurt to be reminded of that once in a while.

SHOULD BE HERE
THE firearm, once the property of Samuel Champlain, founder and father of Quebec, still exists, but not in Canada, where it should be. It is in New York, the greatly prized possession of a man who, while touring in the Dominion, picked it up for comparatively few dollars.

There is something about this that ought to make any Canadian blush. There is an institution known as the National Museum of Canada. It is there, this ancient gun properly belongs, and it is welcome news to know a member of the federal parliament has requested the government to try and take some steps to the end that it be restored.

JAN CHRISTIAN SMUTS
PNEUMONIA overtook Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts Thursday. He is eighty, and South Africa has been honoring the anniversary.
Descendent of Dutch and French Huguenot stock, his life has in many respects, been an extraordinary one. He was one of the ablest leaders against the British in the Boer War, and, with the coming of peace, readily recognized the magnanimity of Britain in the formation of the Union.

He lived to give distinguished service in the councils of the nation and in the field in the struggles against Germany. He saw the menace of totalitarianism and, though aged, maintains prestige and vigor.

The man of average means can easily leave his family a guaranteed monthly income until the children are grown, and then a cash sum, or monthly income for his widow, through a Family Income Policy with...

Applications For Housing Slow

Response to date from those seeking homes of their own has been light, according to Miss Audrey Wrathall, clerk at the city hall. Up to Friday only three applications had been filed.

The mystery of the lack of applicants becomes even deeper when the obvious lack of housing is considered. It is reasonable to believe that many local people should be interested in building a new home.

The Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce suggested at its meeting this week that, now the city is advertising and circulating local citizens, a representative committee should be formed to follow the matter up.

At the May meeting of the Port Edward Parent-Teacher Association held this week in the school, hopes were expressed that in the very near future better school accommodation would be provided for the 86 pupils who are now attending this school.

As guest speaker, F. E. Anfield drew from his wide experience in the field of education to give his appreciative listeners some excellent suggestions on how parents and teachers can work together.

There followed a showing of colored slides by Mr. M. O. Kullander.

Fishermen Meet To Talk Prices

With the sockeye salmon opening on the Skeena and Naas at 8 a.m. June 19, local members of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union are meeting with the Native Brotherhood at Port Edward Sunday night to discuss prices for the season. The meeting will vote on the latest offer at Vancouver.

Negotiations are going on in Vancouver now, according to Tom Parkin, union representative here. Although there was at first a wide divergence between companies and fishermen, the margin is being narrowed down, Parkin says.

The union would like to negotiate prices for all varieties at the first of the season, he continued, but changing market conditions made it difficult for both companies and fishermen to reach decisions.

There has been some spring salmon fishing going on, but catches have not been large.

Free international marketing with removal of restrictions on exchange of currencies were cited by Parkin as being highly desirable to West Coast salmon fishing industry.

Mr. Parkin stated that normal markets in British Commonwealth countries and countries of Western Europe had been cut off during the war and, owing to exchange difficulties, countries in the sterling bloc found it impossible to buy Canadian fish. What had been a world wide market, he continued, had dwindled to a limited market in Britain and the United States. With other countries that had gone off fishing during the war coming back into trade, the restrictions are causing a definite hardship, he said.

Bill Scuby's New Venture

Many friends called Thursday afternoon at Bill Scuby's trim new fur vault and servicing establishment to congratulate him on the new venture and offer their best wishes for its success. Mr. Scuby was assisted by Mr. J. J. Little in the serving of refreshments from a table attractively decorated with the baskets of flowers which had been sent by friends for the occasion. Civic Centre Dining Room looked after catering.

Centre of interest as the premises were inspected was the fur vault already containing for summer storage and safe-keeping some 250 local fur coats representing a value estimated at possibly $60,000.

Waterfront -- Whiffs

Final Rush Of No. 2 Area Halibut. This Year's Landing Heavier

At the waterfront Friday afternoon, there wasn't sufficient breathing space along the docks for even a herring. But the halibut was brought in, sold and unloaded. A big rush of landings was on due to the closing of Area No. 2 at midnight Thursday. And with the prices at the halibut exchange remaining as high as they have been for the past few weeks, skippers have nothing to complain about.

One of the largest landings into this port was experienced yesterday when 805,000 pounds of halibut was brought in for sales and to the Fisherman's Co-operative. Largest part of the landing from 41 boats was by Canadian vessels — 893,000 pounds.

American landings have been low this week as a total of only 69,000 pounds was brought in Monday to Friday. Incidentally, American landings only took place on Monday and Friday.

Canadian vessels this week landed a total of 1,103,000 pounds at this port. Co-op vessels brought in about half that total—570,000 pounds.

Up to and including Friday, total halibut landings at this port to date are 10,400,800 pounds. In 1949, landings in the same period totalled a smaller 3,914,500. From Area No. 3 landings to date this year amounted to 1,572,000 while in 1949, the total was slightly higher at 1,720,000 pounds. Area No. 3 figures are included in total landings here.

Of the entire landings here to Friday, Canadian vessels brought in 8,638,300 pounds. In 1949, Canadian catches were 7,259,000. American landings this year so far are 1,762,500 pounds as compared to last year's total of 1,655,500 pounds.

Expectation is that, by the end of this week, the most of the Canadian vessels, which have been fishing during the past month in Area No. 2, will be in. Some stragglers may arrive early next week. However, there are quite a number of the larger vessels operating in Area No. 3, which has yet to close, and there will be coming in during coming weeks. Smaller vessels, which have been fishing in Area No. 2, will turn other pursuits including the salmon fishing and packing.

C.P.R. Pacific steamer Princess Louise, Capt. William Hubenet, arrived in port at 11 a.m. yesterday from Vancouver, Ocean Falls and waypoints sailing at 12:30 p.m. for Alaskan ports. Disembarking here from Ocean Falls were R. Watson and J. Saunders; from Vancouver, Miss C. Seppioia, Miss N. J. Pattoc, Miss E. Stewart, Miss B. O. Bryan, Mrs. J. L. Blair, Mr.

Work on Floats Already Begun

One of the finest rafts of timber ever to come into Prince Rupert, a boom of 4,000 feet of selected float logs was brought in by Skeena River Pile Driving Co., and Northwest Construction Ltd., joint contractors for reconstructing the fishermen's floats adjacent to the dry dock. Work is starting immediately.

Contract for the $55,000 job has been let by the Dominion Department of Public Works to Skeena River Pile Driving Co. All the sized lumber and hardware for completion of the project is now on hand, according to Jack Martin of Northwest Construction Ltd. The job is expected to be completed by September 15.

In the meantime, the contractors have issued a warning to fishermen that they will not be responsible for damage caused their boats if tied up at the floats.

Notice TO FISHERMEN

Fishermen who have boats moored at the old floats are advised that from the commencement of work no responsibility will be taken by the contractors for any damage whatsoever to boats or equipment at these floats. Boat owners are advised to move their boats to alternative moorings immediately. Expected date of completion of work Sept. 15

TIM-BER-LOX

Protects Paint from Peeling and Blistering

A Penetrating Sealer and Paint Mix

Tim-ber-lox is a clear liquid made from the finest, toughest resins and water repellent oils and is used as a thinner for oil based paints or as a clear primer before painting or varnishing.

OUTSIDE PAINTING

In order to secure a good paint job it is first necessary to secure a good ground or prime coat. It is in this prime coat that the addition of Tim-Ber-Lox to paint is highly recommended. Paint with Tim-Ber-Lox added, has superior penetrating and sealing qualities which provide a reinforced foundation against moisture and helps prevent the peeling and blistering of succeeding coats of paint.

PLYWOOD

A single application of Tim-Ber-Lox will prevent separating, bucking, surface checking and will eliminate "Grain Raise", leaving the surface smooth and uniform for subsequent coats of varnish or paint. It costs no more to use Tim-Ber-Lox—as Tim-Ber-Lox replaces the prime coat of paint or acts as a varnish undercoat where plywood is later to be varnished.
