S. Railway Strike Called Off

MOBILE WORKERS LOOMS

OTTAWA — The United Automobile Workers' International Union is expected to call a strike of the Chrysler Corporation's workers in the near future. The union has threatened a walk-out against the government's attempt to obtain a restraining order against the railway.

SAYS SOVIETS ARE AWARE OF ATOMIC SECRETS

OTTAWA — It is highly probable that the "mass production" espionage systems of the Russian intelligence service have gleaned every aspect of atomic bomb production and behaviour, Igor Gouzenko says in his new book, "This Was My Choice."

The Russians, he says, had detailed reports on the bomb and American production plans months before Hiroshima.

Gouzenko, who at one time was a cipher clerk at intelligence headquarters, Moscow, is the man who touched off Canada's spy trials two years ago.

'Stiff' Neck Turns Out to be Broken

WICHITA, Kansas—When the "Sunflower" passenger train arrived here it was to discover that the engineer, George W. Warning had remained at his post with a broken neck. He told doctors he had thought he was suffering from a somewhat "stiff neck."

The doctors told him what he really had was a compressed fracture of the vertebrae, and put him to bed with his head braced to prevent movement.

Increase Of Five Mills 1948 City Budget

Prince Rupert's 1948 taxation rate will jump from 15 mills on the dollar and taxpayers will have to pay more for operating expenses more than $37,000 more than last year, according to the city's rate which received its first reading in City Council last night.

The budget for the year will be $98,000, as compared with $90,000 in 1947. The budget showed an increase of 4.91 mills for school and an actual jump of 1.25 mills for general expenses.

Here is the taxation picture as shown in the rate bylaw presented by finance chairman Alderman T. B. Black:

1948		1947
Levy	Mills	Levy	Mills
Debt Service	21.04	16.13	12.38
General	13.58	14.83	14.83
Revenue	20.38	19.04	19.04
Total		Total
	$261,998.14		$224,156.49

The general rate, he continued, has been kept down to 20.38 mills—an increase of 1.34 mills over 1947—by "budgeting for rigid economy in the operation of every city department."

This mill rate also is based on an increase in garbage and night-soil collection rates and anticipates a probable return of $20,000 from the provincial sales tax.

"It must be implied," he told council, "that the overall increase of five mills from 1947—bringing the total for this year to 55 mills—has been occasioned in large part by increased labor costs and to a lesser degree by higher prices of materials."

"I would stress that the budget has been closely figured. The utmost care must be exercised by each committee and the heads of departments to assure that we do not incur a deficit in this year's operation."

The tax rate is levied on 100 percent of land values and 50 percent of improvements.

Unions Respect Court Restraining Order

Trains Continue Moving As Workers Call Off 6 a.m. Deadline

WASHINGTON (CP)—The country-wide railroad strike was called off Monday night. Trains continued running today.

The strikers yielded to two branches of the government, the Executive and Judiciary, which it required to overcome the resistance of three unions which had set the strike for 6 o'clock this morning in pushing their demands for wage raises.

First, President Truman proclaimed the seizure of all railroads in the name of the government to avert a "nation-wide tragedy."

Second, Army Secretary Kenneth Royall was turned down on his personal request to union leaders to keep the men at work.

Finally, Judge T. Allan Goldsborough, the same judge who proved to be the legal Nemesis of John L. Lewis, issued a restraining order, telling the union chiefs:

"Cancel the strike order and do nothing to encourage a walk-out."

After the court order had been served on the union leaders, their committees held a meeting and voted to rescind the 6 a.m. strike order.

Judge Goldsborough's temporary restraining order expires May 19. The judge set the hearing for that date on the government's request for a longer injunction.

The three unions then will have a chance to fight back.

FREAK BLAST KILLS WORKMAN

VICTORIA — David C. Jones, 48, who was severely burned in an explosion in a furniture company's plant, died in hospital here Monday night.

Jones was caught inside an 18-foot nickel electroplating tank in a freak explosion. He was painting the inside of the tank with hot tar and using an electric fan to dry it. A spark from the fan is believed to have ignited the tar fumes, causing a flash blast.

Raymond Barrett, 50, who was working outside the tank, suffered burns, but is recovering.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis
Cloudy skies are general in all areas of British Columbia except in the Prince George region where marked clearing has occurred during the night. There will be some improvement this afternoon in the southern interior and the lower mainland area with temperatures a little higher than those of the past few days. A new storm appears to be forming about 900 miles off the coast of Vancouver Island this morning and rain should spread to the coastal areas tomorrow.

Forecast
Prince Rupert, Queen Charlottes and North Coast—Variable cloudiness and scattered showers becoming overcast during the afternoon. Intermittent rain tonight and Wednesday morning. Scattered showers Wednesday afternoon. Winds light, increasing to southeasterly (20 m.p.h.) tonight. Little change in temperature. Lows tonight and highs Wednesday—At Port Hardy 45 and 50, Massett 45 and 50, Prince Rupert 40 and 53.

JERUSALEM OPEN CITY

GENEVA — Jerusalem will be declared an open city tomorrow or Thursday unless unforeseen circumstances intervene, the International Red Cross reported today.

Lewis Gives Notice To Mine Owners

WASHINGTON — John L. Lewis today gave the United States hard coal mine operators 60-day notice of intention to end the United States Mine Workers contract covering 80,000 anthracite miners.

Lewis told the producers he wanted a new contract for the workers by July 10.

CONFIDENCE "VIOLATED"

BERLIN — Walter Bedell Smith said today that the Russians had violated a confidence in releasing the story or his conversations with Foreign Minister Molotov.

Smith is United States Ambassador to Moscow. He negotiated the projected American-Russian talks.

He said that his talk with Molotov was "completely confidential."

Moscow newspapers and radio said today that Russia had accepted Smith's suggestion for a two-power meeting to discuss outstanding differences between the United States and Russia.

Prospects of Atomic War 'Seem Remote'

OTTAWA (CP)—General A. G. L. McNaughton said Monday night that the United Nations have made "very remarkable progress toward international control of atomic energy."

Canada's United Nations delegate said that the United States ascendancy in the atomic field seems assured "for a decade or so at least" and no other nation can overtake her except by "a very arduous and long process."

He said costs and efforts of production are so great that "it seems reasonably probable that we need not fear an outbreak of atomic war on any significant scale for a while yet."

NEW DESTROYER, ATHABASCAN COMING WEST

OTTAWA—H.M.C.S. Athabaskan, latest of the Tribal class destroyers built at Halifax for the Royal Canadian Navy, will sail from Halifax May 19 for her future operational base at Esquimalt, it was announced today at Naval Service Headquarters.

The destroyer's ports of call will include Guantanamo, Cuba; Montego Bay, Jamaica; the Canal Zone; Acapulco and Manzanillo, Mexico, and San Pedro, California. She is due to arrive at Esquimalt June 29.

Carrying a nucleus of key R.C.N. personnel, Athabaskan will draw the remainder of her crew complement from the naval reserve including members of the University Naval Training Divisions. Approximately 10 officers and 40 men from naval divisions across Canada and 43 U.N.T.D. officer candidates will get in six solid weeks of shipboard training on the trip from Halifax to Esquimalt.

Commissioned January 20 under the command of Commander J. S. Davis, R.C.N., of Oakville, Ontario, Athabaskan has been carrying out trials and completing her fitting out at Halifax.

At the west coast she will join her sister-ship, H.M.C.S. Cayuga, which arrived at Esquimalt March 23 from Halifax.

Italians Elect President

ROME—Vice-Premier Luigi Einaudi was elected president of the Italian Republic today in the fourth ballot of the combined Senate and Chamber of Deputies.

He received a total of 518 votes—more than the required two-thirds—after three earlier ballots had failed to give the required majority to other members and to himself.

ROME — Italy's parliament failed for the third time today to elect a president of the Italian Republic.

Vice-Premier Luigi Einaudi, 71, Governor of the Bank of Italy received 462 votes today in the third ballot by a joint session of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies.

The votes for all candidates fell far short of the two-third majority required.

Einaudi, a political independent, had a simple majority of the 900 votes.

There were 333 blank ballots indicating that the Communist-dominated Popular Front had voted against him with blanks.

"FAREWELL AND WELCOME" AS CIVIC BAND TAKES SHRINE CLUB SPONSOR

A beautiful ebony-baton, overlaid in silver with a mother-of-pearl inset base that conceals a pitch-pipe capable of producing major and minor chords was presented to Bandmaster Peter A. Lien last night as an indication of the esteem he is held by those who have been associated with him in band work during the time he has held the struggling Civic Band together.

Mayor Nora Arnold, on behalf of the members of the band and the Civic Association which backed them made the presentation during the buffet lunch which was held following the inaugural concert of the Shrine Club Band.

More than 50 members of the band, their wives and guests joined in bidding farewell to the old and welcome to the new as the name Prince Rupert Civic Band passed out of existence and was officially replaced by the Shrine Club Band.

Chairman for the evening was F. M. Gulland, president of the band. Following a brief address in which he explained the purpose of the meeting, Mr. Gulland introduced Mayor Arnold.

Paying tribute to Peter Lien, Mayor Arnold recalled how through his courage and convictions he had managed to keep the band going during the most difficult periods of its history.

"I am sure," she declared, "that Peter Lien has done more than any other one man to encourage the development of good music in this city."

She said she felt that under the sponsorship of the Shrine Club the band would have the sense of security it needs.

Mr. Lien expressed his thanks for the exceptional gift and went on to say that it was true that he had constantly worked to encourage good music wherever and whenever the opportunity arose. Outlining the history of the band from the time he gathered the remnants of the Machine Gun Reserve Unit band together, until now, he said getting new members and the finances had formed major problems. He said he felt some regret at seeing the name Civic Band disappear but he and the other members were happy to have the sponsorship of the Shrine Club.

SACRIFICE EUROPE AID

MONTREAL — Trade Minister C. D. Howe today said that Canada's participation in the European Recovery Program will involve sacrifices on the part of both the public and producers, including restrictions on food consumption.

He told the Montreal Rotary Club that Canadians will be called upon to give up some of the "goods which they might otherwise have enjoyed." Producers must adjust their pattern of output to meet the exigencies of a rapidly changing world.

Regarding the type of goods, he said that Europe will not be a dumping ground for any less essential surpluses which develop. "Some of the traditional markets for certain of our basic commodities may suffer and we must be prepared to make readjustments with Moscow."

Strike Illness

SUSPENSION of a railway system, when it's on a continental scale, has its difficulties. An industry so vast, and entering so directly into the lives of everybody, including those who have their economic differences, cannot halt and stay that way, so easily.

Actual stoppage creates an impossible situation. More than the movement of trains ceases. The country itself, with all that this implies, slows down. Health is affected. Business becomes benumbed. A crisis of this nature can be likened to the full and free circulation of blood, in a human being. When it is interfered with, the reaction is immediate and far reaching. If it stops, death comes. If trains fail to operate, the nation will not die, but a serious illness is certain.

OPPORTUNITY HERE

SHIPYARDS in Europe are booked up clear through to 1952, announces Clarence Wallace, prominent in British Columbia ship construction. He is home from an extended business visit overseas, touring Britain, Belgium, Holland, Norway, Denmark, Sweden and France. Mr. Wallace returns with a message. It is this:

If the government of Canada feels disposed to make the required financial arrangements, there is no reason at all why the shipyards of Canada cannot obtain plenty of contracts, and give employment for years to come. The thousands of vessels sent to the bottom in the Second Great War, must in whole or in part, be replaced. The opportunity is here.

CHECK CANADIAN MODEL FOR LONDON EXHIBIT — This model, which will be on display at the St. John Exhibition and Fair to be opened by Queen Elizabeth at St. James' Palace in London on May 3, represents a typical Canadian winter scene with first aid post in conjunction with winter sports, particularly with ski trails. After being brought in from the hills by ambulance men the patient has been given treatment at the first aid post and is now being taken to the main highway for transportation to the city in an ambulance. The scene might be any one of many provinces as this type of public duty has become a major activity of the St. John Ambulance and is being carried out extensively across the dominion; shown with artist, Mrs. T. W. Gilmour makes a final check before the model is shipped to London. The exhibition will last for three days and it is expected that a Canadian St. John member of a nursing division will be on duty in uniform beside the model on each of the days.

Peter Lien, Bandsmen, Score Triumph In Latest Concert

By Harry Seaman

Like a triumphant Viking leading his ship's company through perils of the sea to calm home waters, Peter A. Lien last night conducted his bandsmen to the threshold of a new and encouraging phase of the band's history. Last night's inaugural concert in the Civic Centre gave official recognition to the passing of the Prince Rupert Civic Band and the beginning of the Shrine Club Band, a move that is encouraging to bandsmen and citizens alike.

The program opened auspiciously with the delightful "Electric Park Overture" by Charles Southwell. Change of time, crescendos, and diminuendos, added to the tuneful melody that lilted into the composition and caught the interest of the audience at once.

Drla's "Serenade" (arrangement by Hildreth) allowed the clarinets to carry the gay air to the accompaniment of the deep-toned instruments. The result was pleasing right to the bright finish. This composition was followed by the ever-popular "Soldier's Chorus" from Gounod's "Faust."

From "Faust" again came the next number, "Marguerite," a lovely waltz played with excellent finish by Mike Colussi as an accordion solo. Mr. Colussi was recalled by the audience and for an encore played a delightful Scandinavian folk-tune, "Hammerby Polka."

The audience felt the spirit of George Southwell's "Wandering Gypsy." The haunting "Andante" suggested deep forests and adventure, while the "Waltz," with accents from the percussion instruments, brought color and gaiety to the picture.

The band completed the first half of the program with T. Bidgood's stirring march, which conjured up vivid pictures, true to the composition's name, "Sons of the Brave." Its blasting start, familiar snatches and smart ending, left the audience demanding more.

For encore Bandmaster Peter Lien chose a Canadian march, "On Parade." The second half of the program opened with the not-so-familiar "Lustspiel Overture" by the Hungarian composer Keler Bela. All the instruments combined to give a fine harmony to this composition, with its spicily, quick notes and splendid drums at the end.

Padilla's "El Relicario" was Mike Colussi's next presentation with his accordion. Again the audience was delighted and Mr. Colussi was recalled for an encore.

The band next played several melodies from "Martha" by F. von Flotow. These proved popular from the first one when the band gave the impression of almost daintiness, through the well-known "How So Fair" and the tuneful air following to the march-like ending.

In the lovely "Intermezzo" from Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana," the clarinets gave a most creditable performance throughout the beautiful melody.

The program was brought to a close with the grand and dignified march "Imperial Echoes" by Saffroni, part of which was familiar to the audience as the B.B.C. News theme used during World War II.

During the concert, F. E. Angfield, acting as master-of-ceremonies and representative of the Shrine Club, addressed the audience, calling to their attention that while the Shrine Club of Prince Rupert was sponsoring the band, the relationship between the two bodies was that of a partnership. He declared that music was a heritage that should be passed on from generation to generation and the Shrine Club was taking this opportunity to do what they could for the development of music in the city. He paid tribute to the work of Peter Lien and members of the band and expressed the hope that the public would give full support to the new band.

H. F. Robins, president of the Shrine Club, N. E. Gulland, band president and Bandmaster Peter Lien, leaders in the new organization, were introduced to the audience.

POWER BALANCE NEEDED TO CURB RED AGGRESSION

By STUART UNDERHILL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, (C)—Frail President Benes of Czechoslovakia, speaking at Prague a few weeks after his country had fallen under Communist control, said in a trembling voice:

"Three years after the most terrible war in human history the peace we yearn for with all our hearts does not exist between the nations."

His words summed up the weariness and anxiety that have deepened in Europe in the months since Germany's unconditional surrender May 7, 1945.

Millions of Europeans who hoped security would follow the downfall of Nazism now live in fear of another war as they listen to the bickering of Russia and her former allies.

Civil war drags on in Greece and the Communist shadow extends steadily westward. Even in Britain, engrossed by vital domestic problems, members of Parliament debate the possibilities of atomic warfare as coolly—as one indignant woman member cried—as if they were discussing their summer holidays.

There is unanimous agreement that today's anxieties stem directly from the rift that has developed between Russia and the west.

Many London observers say that the differences are not new—that the struggle between Russian Communism and the Western Democracies, suspended for a while during the war, has been renewed with a vigor intensified by Russia's dominant position in Europe.

One well-known writer on foreign affairs, trying to analyze the situation in a conversation, said the root of present-day difficulties "is that the balance of power in Europe has ceased to exist." "Hitherto the nations of Europe have grouped themselves in blocs," he said. "If one nation went too far—as Germany did—the scales tipped and the opposing bloc was brought into action against it."

"Now Europe, including Britain, is so shattered by the war that there is no bloc to counter Russia. Not even the much talked of western union can do that—not at present, at any rate."

"The balance of power has left Europe—it now is Russia against the world, not just the continent. The balance has Russia on one side, and the United States and other western powers on the other."

"The weariness and uncertainty that haunt Europe are the Russians' strongest Allies. Many a nation gives up the struggle against Communism from sheer exhaustion, and is almost relieved to accept the certainty of Communist dictatorship."

"This threat of Communism has had one advantage—it has awakened the United States to the dangers of the world situation. Americans are taking an interest in Europe—I would have thought impossible three years ago. This is represented by the Marshall Aid Program—the most important development in Europe since the war."

Audited Distribution for your Advertising

GOOD advertising copy and attractive layouts are, of course, essential to the success of your advertising. But from the standpoint of final results the answer depends upon the distribution of your advertising.

In order that our advertisers may have this information and thus be able to invest in advertising in The Daily News on the basis of known, verified facts, we are members of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

When you buy newspaper advertising you are paying for an opportunity to talk to people about your merchandise and service. What you get for your money, therefore, depends upon how many people there are in your audience, where they are, how this audience was obtained, and many other facts that indicate the value of the circulation as a market for what you have to sell.

The Bureau is a national, co-operative association of publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies. Every year one of the trained auditors employed by the Bureau makes an audit of our circulation records. Polish Girl, Still Ridden by Fear Here to Marry Pr. Rupert Man

Escapes From Russian Zone of Germany

A Polish girl who slipped secretly from a land darkened by fear arrived in Prince Rupert last week and is still trying to adjust herself to the friendly ways of Canadians.

But although she believes that she herself may be free of Soviet oppression, she is taking no chances that her name will appear in a newspaper and cause danger to her relatives still in Russian-dominated Poland.

The fiance of Paul Vogel, 221 Fifth Avenue East, speaks no English, but her thin face mirrored fearful memories when interviewed about life at her home near Warsaw.

"She asks that her name not be used," said Mr. Vogel. "She thinks some day the Russians may come over here or that they will retaliate against her relatives still in Poland."

A thin brunette of about 30 with birdlike movements, she showed obvious signs of lack of nourishing food. Although she is a Pole, her ancestry is German and her dominant language is German. She spoke that language through an interpreter.

Her story was that of a once-prosperous family brought to destitution by two invasions and of a flight across Russian-occupied Germany to a displaced persons camp in the British zone.

Her family was once the owners of a farm-implement manufacturing plant in a village west of Warsaw. Its operation was restricted during the war and the plant was confiscated following the Russian invasion.

Parts of the province of Warsaw today, she says, are occupied only by women and old men. The young men have all been taken to slave camps in the Soviets.

After her family's factory had been confiscated, they were moved to the Russian zone of Germany where they managed to live for 11 months by trading family goods for food.

"The people were afraid of the Russians even before the war," she said. "Many committed suicide when they came and those who remained found them even harsher than they had anticipated."

Mr. Vogel's fiance used some of the families remaining funds to buy identification documents, then slipped without authorization, across the eastern zone of Germany into the British zone. She wound up in a D.P. camp near Hanover.

There she applied for entry into Canada and after a series of rigid inspections by Canadian immigration authorities, was given passage on the ship Beaverbrae from Bremerhaven on April 19.

"There was no service on the ship," she said smiling. "Every one of the passengers looked after themselves and others. I acted as a cook."

"Their 'pay' was not much by Canadian standards, but it meant a lot to a group of people who some of whom had come through a decade of hardship—they were given oranges, the first that most had seen in nine years."

MODERN WIVES URGED TO LEARN HANDICRAFTS

It has been said that grandmother had it all over the young matrons of today when it came to knowing how to be happy but busy. Self expression is credited with having a great deal to do with peace of mind in any life and grandmother was adept at it.

When she had a few minutes of leisure she never had to worry about how she could kill it. She had her quilting, her crocheting, her hooked mats or her watercolors. From her friends she received the required appreciation and though her work may not have been on the masterpiece plane, she knew much of it would live after her in the form of family heirlooms. And so grandmother avoided the perils of frustration.

Apparently when careers became fashionable or necessary for the ladies in the last few generations, spare-time was never thought of and consequently many of the handicrafts grandmother knew and utilized were forgotten. What the young ladies seemed to have overlooked in their desire to train for business and professional positions was the fact that most of them would marry within a few years and live a modernized version of grandmothers' life.

Club activities and social work partially filled the modern wife's spare time but for true self-expression she had a growing need to create with her hands. During the war knitting regained favor among the ladies and judging from the displays at the recent Hobby Show many are adept in other forms of needle work.

In order to encourage the development of home handicrafts, the Department of University Extension is offering short courses in weaving, home furnishing, and crafts from May 17 to May 28 of this year. These are especially planned for Women's Institutes. Delegates to the June convention and other members of the Institute will be given preference should it be necessary to limit enrolment.

An advance registration of at least ten will be required for any course. A small fee is charged for each course plus payment for all materials used.

Courses available during the convention will consist of weaving, leatherwork, textile decoration, design and home furnishing. In July from the 12th to 31st, a three-week summer course in elementary weaving will be conducted.

VANCOUVER COUPLE WED

A quiet wedding solemnized by Rev. Earl Soiland in the Parsonage of St. Paul's Lutheran Church Monday evening united a Vancouver couple, the groom, a former Prince Rupert man.

Joined in marriage were Miss June Peggy Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wilson, 145 West Eleventh Avenue, Vancouver, and Stenar Antonsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anfelt Antonsen, of 1885 West Fifteenth Avenue, Vancouver.

The groom's family formerly were residents of this city. Witnesses to the rite were Hans Antonsen, uncle of the groom, and Mrs. Earl Soiland.

They will honeymoon in Prince Rupert where they have a number of friends, and later return to Vancouver to take up residence.

CHAMPION EXHIBITOR AT 14—Three times a champion exhibitor of Hereford cattle at 14! That's the record of young Lawrence Kallal, of Tofield, Alta., whose entry was named young champion at the Edmonton spring show and sales recently held. Lawrence, an ardent beef club member, started in show business at the age of 10, won his first championship at 11, another at 12. He skipped the win in 1947, but still had reserve junior champion at Edmonton last year. This year, Lawrence came through with the top animal again, and won the coveted Prince of Wales trophy for the third time. He is a member of a famous family of Hereford breeders in Alberta, fits and prepares his own entries like a veteran.

SHORT SPORT

By George Tatham Canadian Press Staff Writer

The venerable Ontario Rugby Football Union—on the verge of collapse six weeks ago—will operate its senior circuit this fall on a firmer foundation than in many a year.

Due to withdrawals and amalgamations last year's six-team circuit shrunk suddenly to three teams and the outlook for paying crowds wasn't bright. But when Hamilton Tigers clawed their way back into the football picture as the loop's fourth club, the picture brightened.

Now, says Ted (Evening Telegram) Reeve, the new schedule set-up, the Toronto amalgamation of Beches and Indians and the more compact geographical limits since Ottawa Trojans' withdrawal, should all help the old Union.

Ted, who will coach the Beches-Indians, also likes the Thanksgiving Day date of his team—in Varsity Stadium playing against Hamilton Tigers. A packed house (18,000) on that date, one of the biggest days in football, should put his club in the black for the year.

Port Arthur West-End Bruins, who took the Memorial Cup from Barrie Flyers in four games straight, should give some credit to Flyers' Coach Happy Emms, contends Rex (Guelph Mercury) McLeod.

Rex says, "Emms' strategy to beat Port Arthur was to soften them up with body slams, cross checks plus a few cross-over-tide holds whenever the opportunity presented itself. Despite the fact that Barrie was physically unsuited to play in this manner, they continued their mayhem—and it probably cost them the series."

"Why did Barrie, a smaller team, try to shake the Bruins loose from their moorings even when it appeared this brand of play was more injurious to themselves? Because that is the only style of hockey which Emms believes in or at least it is the only brand which Flyers exhibited all season."

Rex thinks Emms will perhaps sever his connection with junior hockey. He says Emms' conduct in the final, his contempt for officials, for the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and authority in general, may expedite his exit.

Sport Snapshot— Circuit Clouts Feature Start Of Baseball

By ALAN RANDAL Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL, 6— Comes the opening of the Canadian ball season, and with it discussion on rabbit-like qualities of the baseballs currently being whacked around by the International League.

Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson suggests, "There must be a touch of the Belgian hare, or other rabbit in the baseballs" and then points to the home runs and near home runs Mont-real saw when schedule opened at Delorimier Park Wednesday.

Not that Fergu minds. He figures that if, despite manufacturer's denials, the ball has been needed up a trifle it is all to the good, Fergie and a lot of fans too get quite a bang over a few over-the-fence drives.

Says Fergie, still talking about opening day: "A gangling young Newarker, Joe Collins, who hadn't clipped the ball for a circuit clout before in this season, hit two of them right over the fence and this, in the main proved the undoing of the Royals."

"And stocky little Gionfriddo, of our side, celebrated his debut here by banging a homer on behalf of the Royals, another clout that soared over the right-field fence. So you'll have to figure out for yourself whether the ball has been doctored up, whether the hitters are improving, or whether the pitching isn't as good as it used to be."

"Personally, we think it's the ball. And if the interior of the old horse-hide pellet has been doctored a bit, what of it? There is nothing evil or sinister about giving it extra resiliency. People seem to like the spectacle of the home run. At least nobody has complained in our ear about the heavy hitting. If they have rabbitized the stitched onion, no gross moral turpitude has been committed. The public loves the bouncy ball."

YOUNG SPRINTERS TRAIN FOR MAY 24 SPORTS EVENTS

Boys and girls of the elementary schools are busy practising dashing the hundred yards and getting off to flying starts so they won't be left at the post when they are called to display their speed in the Kinsmen's field events on May 24.

Bill Bremner, chairman of the sports committee has been busy with the other members lining up a program that will appeal to contestants and spectators. Open races will be the feature this year and there will be some for boys and girls of all ages up to 15 years. Taking into consideration that many of the children on the grounds will be pre-school age, the committee has set aside prizes for the first, second and third fastest boy or girl under 5 years of age.

Relay races for those under 10 and between the ages of 10 and 15 are expected to bring out some inter-school competition. That old fun provoker, the sack race will be run off, as well as

Creamy-smooth Carnation is wonderful for cooking. It blends perfectly with other foods, in all milk-rich dishes. It whips... it freezes... it's flavorful... it's economical and convenient. So easy to use—if the recipe calls for milk, use half Carnation and half water; if it calls for cream, use Carnation undiluted, as it pours from the can.

Remember that Carnation is just good, whole milk, evaporated to double-richness, heat-treated and homogenized for smoothness and safety, irradiated for extra vitamin D—400 units to every pint.

FLUORINE TESTED AS PREVENTATIVE FOR TOOTH DECAY

Chemical Which Turns Teeth Brown and Was Once Thought Health Hazard Now Used in Small Amounts

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK — Dentists are testing a treatment to germ-proof children's teeth against future decay.

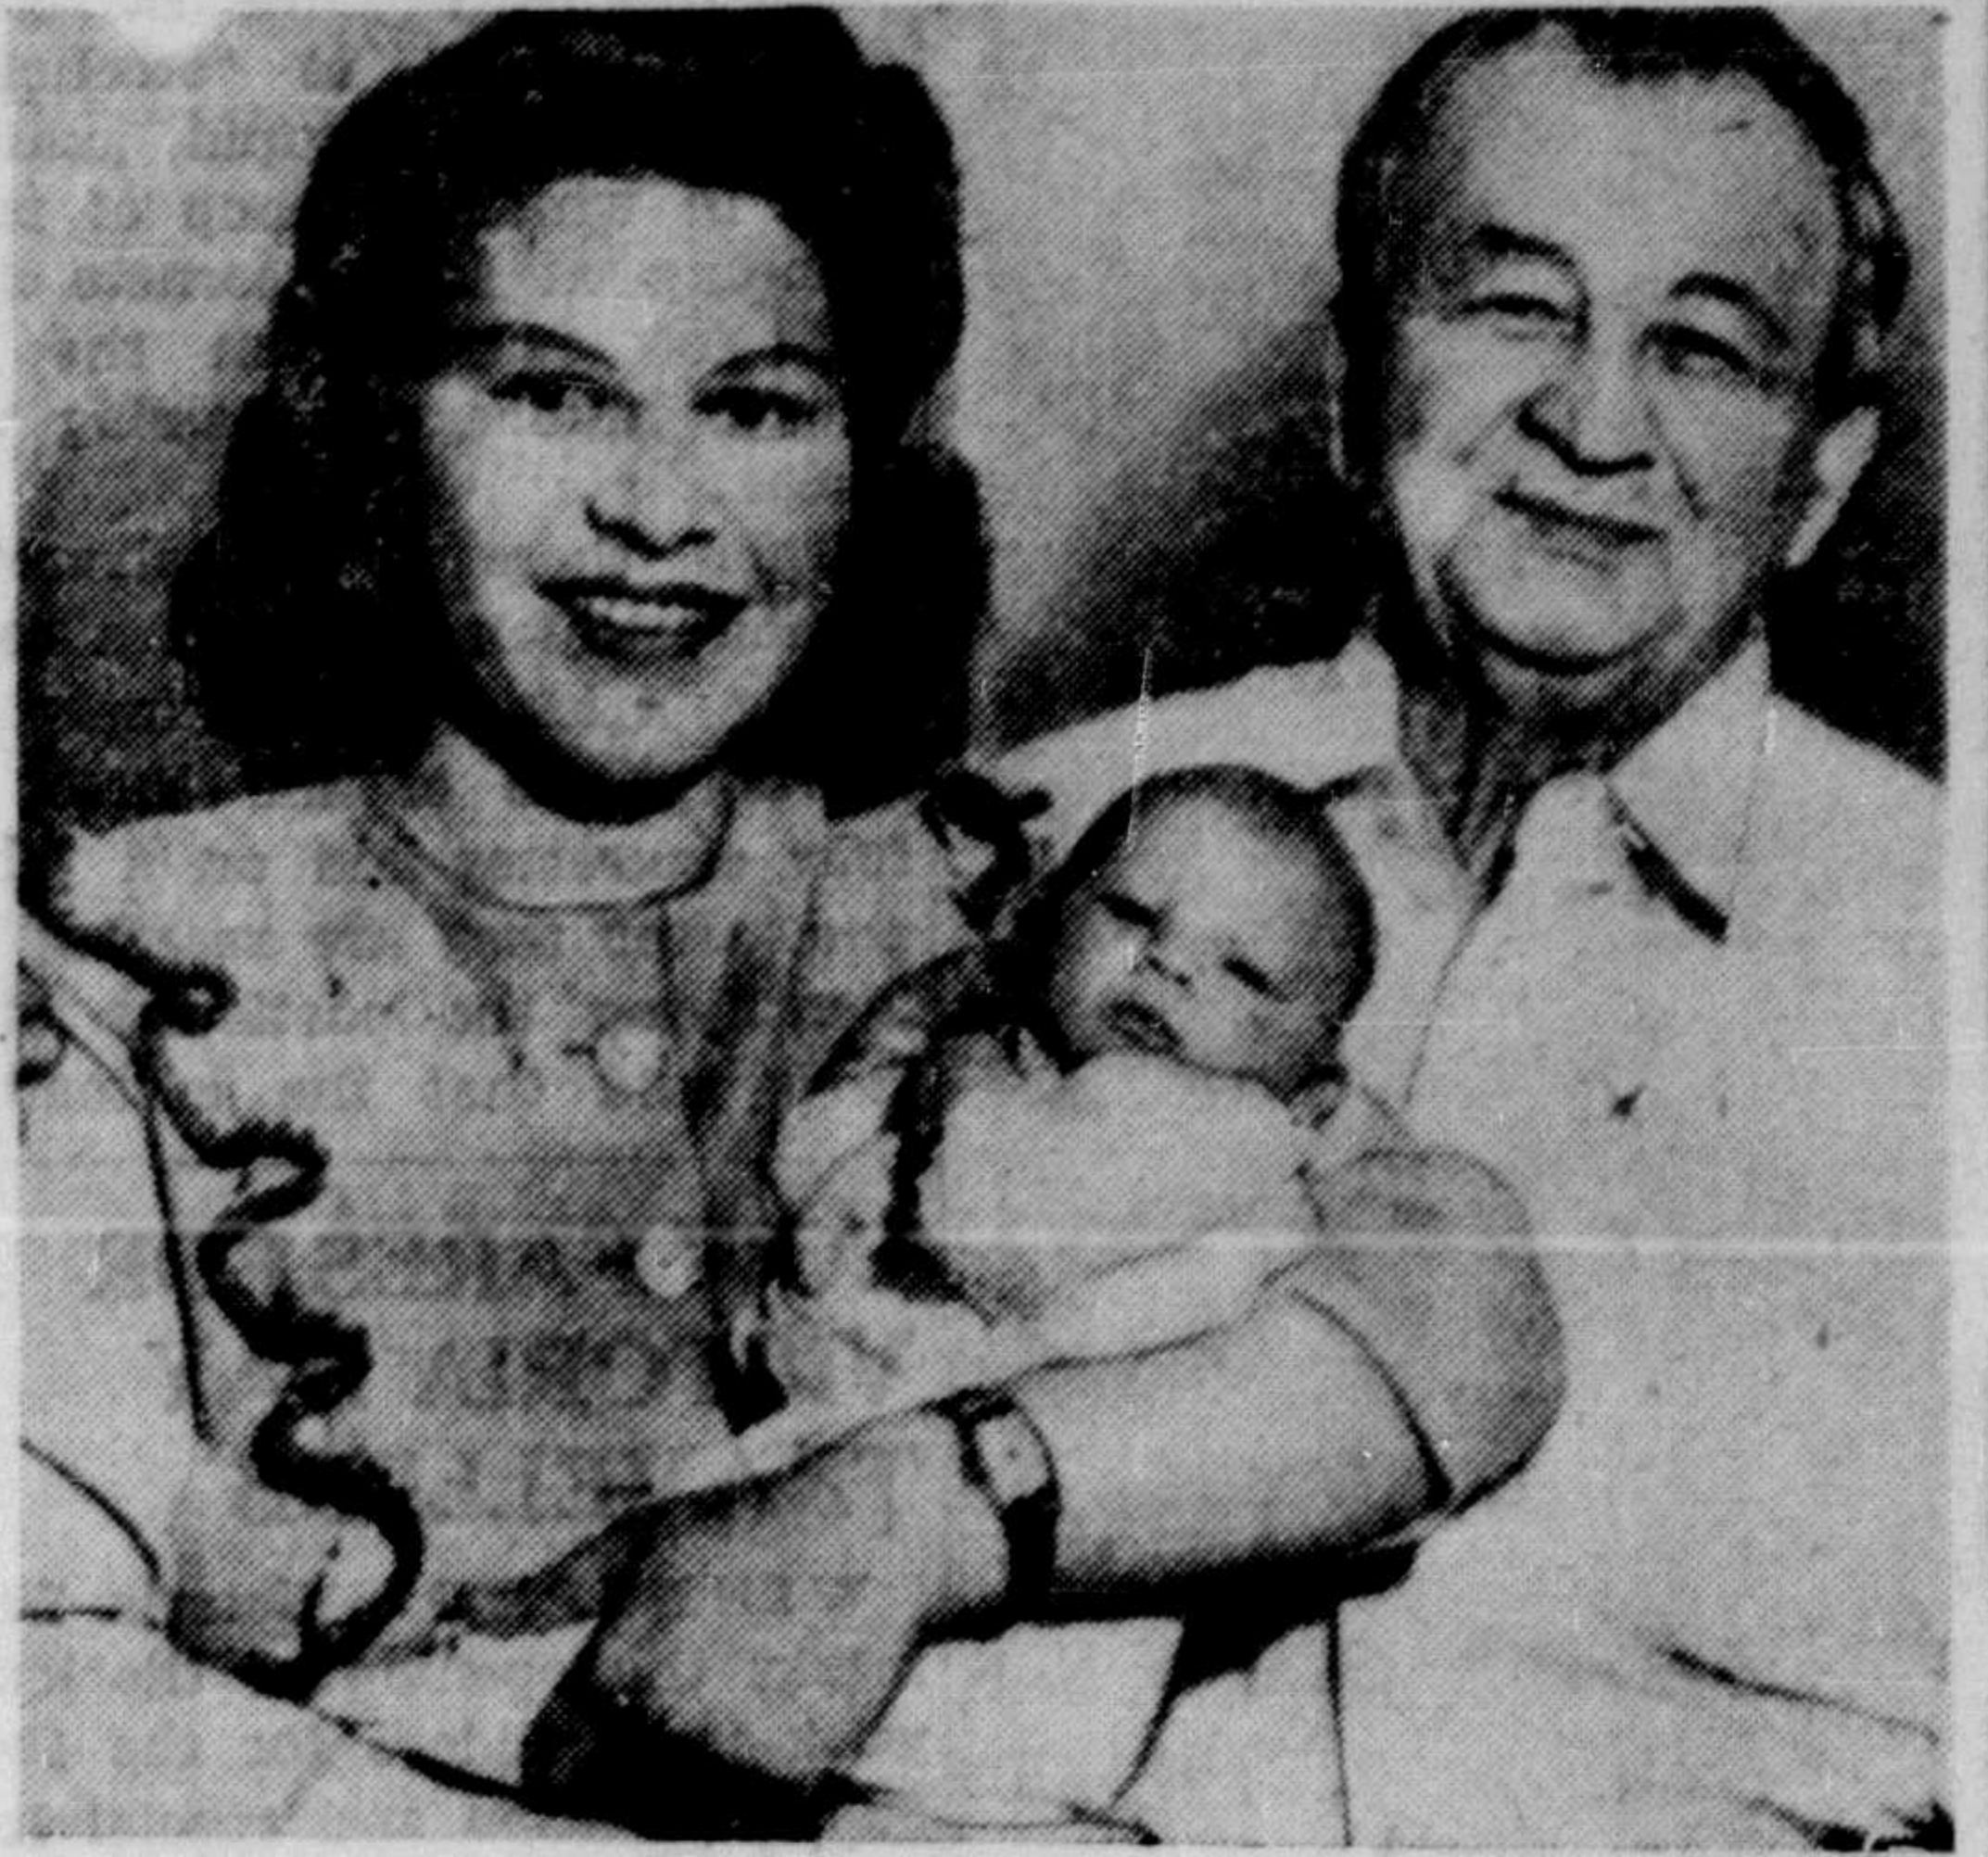

The germ-proofing is done with the chemical element fluorine. This is not a case of being certain of better teeth but of offering parents what looks like the best bet yet in dentistry. It is being tried by dentists in New York and elsewhere.

The germ-proofing treatment is the latest in a series of studies covering 10 years of fluorine and teeth. Up to 10 years ago fluorine was regarded as a health hazard. This chemical, found in the drinking water in at least 200 areas in the United States, was known to cause mottled teeth.

These green-brown spots disfigured teeth permanently, but this misfortune happened only to children who drank the water continuously for years. The damage was done only under the age of 12. After that teeth became immune to fluorine damage.

Just about 10 years ago a scientist poking around with some rat teeth experiments noticed that animals with teeth mottled from fluorine had less decay than usual. This suggested that perhaps a little bit of fluorine in drinking water or elsewhere might build better teeth instead of spotting them. The spotting came from too much fluorine.

It was found that a little of the fluorine entered the enamel of children's teeth. This fluorine apparently became a permanent part of the enamel. Then it was learned that decayed teeth contained less fluorine than sound teeth in virtually all cases.

The Experts Say

By Kay Rex
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Stale menus are the cause of breakfast boredom in too many Canadian homes.

And wise is the housewife who occasionally changes that bacon and eggs routine for a dish that's equally nutritious, but a little more interesting.

Ingredients: two cups butter-milk, one tablespoon shortening, one teaspoon soda, pinch of salt, two cups corn meal, two cups flour, one-half cup sugar, two eggs.

Mix and bake in a fairly large cake tin for half an hour in a moderate (350 degrees Fahrenheit) oven. This should be served hot with maple or corn syrup.

Ingredients: two cups flour, 3/4 teaspoon baking powder, two tablespoons sugar, three-quarters teaspoon salt, one egg, one cup milk, 2 1/2 tablespoons melted shortening.

Sift the flour twice with the dry ingredients. Mix the melted shortening with the egg (beaten) and milk. Mix the liquid quickly into the dry ingredients and half-fill well-greased muffin tins with the batter. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees Fahrenheit) for 25 minutes.

Even the most simple breakfasts may be brightened if the cook takes an interest in what she is cooking.

Orange juice mixed with grapefruit juice will give a new taste. A maraschino cherry in the centre of the grapefruit half brightens its appearance. And a sprig of parsley can put a new look on that plate of bacon and eggs.

Speaking of eggs, there are other ways of cooking them besides boiling or frying.

Try poaching them for a change. Served on toast, with a sprig of parsley at the side, they provide a welcome change.

Table-talk also does much to produce either good or poor appetites. Health experts say that bickering and nagging should be taboo at meal-time. In children it produces poor eating habits and repugnance for a period which should be the most satisfying and profitable of the day. Tranquility should prevail at meals if the full value of the food is to be received.

PREPARING ROYAL SILVER WEDDING CAKE—F. E. Schur cake decorator extraordinary, of the firm of Messrs. McVitie and Price, Ltd., who did a wonderful job on the wedding cake for Princess Elizabeth, is pictured preparing the exquisite royal Silver Wedding cake for Their Majesties, King George and Queen Elizabeth. The Silver Wedding cake has one-tier and eight panels showing the coat of arms of their majesties flanked by their monograms. It also has the coronation, victory 1945, the Duke of York's boys camp, tennis and royal lodge, Windsor, on it. Worked into the canopies and balconies which frame the plaques are the dates 1923-1948 and the words, "Canada," "Australia," and "South Africa," in commemoration of the visits paid by their majesties to these dominions. The base of the cake is encircled by a garland of roses and binding the initials G. and E. are roses and thistles entwined together.

WASHINGTON, © — One of the democratic world's most complex and cumbersome electoral systems is grinding into motion to select a president and vice-president of the United States.

There are 48 states and almost as many variations in the system of getting a president elected. There is the electoral college which Senator William Langer (Rep-N.D.) calls "a relic of the stagecoach era."

PROCEDURE IN A NUT-SHELL

Here is an attempt to put the procedure in capsule form.

Presidential elections are held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November of each Leap Year. Candidates are selected at party nominating conventions.

The national committees early in the election year, select the date and place for their nominating convention. This year the Republicans meet in June, the Democrats and Wallace's Third Party in July, all in Philadelphia.

Delegates to the conventions are selected by state organizations but the national committee decides how many each can send. The number is decided on a general basis of representation in Congress and on the performance of the party in the last election.

NUMBER OF CANDIDATES

This year the Republicans will have about 1,100 and the Democrats something over 1,200. These delegates are chosen at state party conventions in some states, at primary elections in other states.

In the case of states selecting by primary elections each aspiring candidate or his agent submits a slate of delegates he knows will vote for him. In the primary election the outcome is some degree of indication of the popularity of that candidate.

However few of the states sent delegates pledged to any one candidate, so the result of the nominating convention may be different from the indication given in the primary.

At the nominating convention any delegate can nominate any qualified citizen. Qualification is to be a native-born citizen 35 years or older who has lived in the United States 14 years.

Ballotting continues until one candidate has a majority over all others. Each state delegation votes in a block. The same procedure applies in selecting a vice-presidential candidate.

ELECTION DAY

On election day the voters are confronted with forms of ballots different in almost every state. In some cases the names of the president and vice-presidential candidates appear. In others the names are those of the electoral college members selected by each party in each state. In others, especially where voting machines are used, only the party tag appears.

Then the electoral college comes into the picture. There are 531 members, one for every member of Congress according to representation by states. Thus New York, which has 45 members in the House and two in the Senate, has 47 electoral college votes.

The task of this mysterious and almost mythical body is to elect a president and vice-president and they could do it without regard to what happened in the November elections.

POPULAR VOTE FOLLOVED

But traditionally for more than 100 years they have followed the popular vote in each state. Thus if New York gave one candidate a bare majority the whole 47 electoral college votes from that state would go to him.

If a candidate won a bare majority in the 12 states with the largest electoral vote, he could become president even if he lost in all the other 36 states.

However, with one or two exceptions, the candidate winning the electoral vote had the popular majority.

Reminiscences and Reflections

By W.J.

It was not until after a friend, last week, started wearing a fresh suit and feeling properly uncomfortable that he admitted understanding the "new look." Old duds might be short on fit, style, creases and dignity but they were sure easy on the body, if not on the eyes.

Speaking of Klondike Nights have you heard of the one staged in Chilliwack's Agricultural Hall, some time back? A huge block of ice, colder than anything the far away Yukon ever produced, was made fast, just under the roof. This was connected with a steel rail floor by means of a winding circuitous sort of loop the loop. Into the ice had been frozen $500 in silver coins, anywhere from a dime to a dollar. With signal given, away would go the silver studded block, streaking around corners like a bat out of Hell-fax and breaking up with a prodigious crash that shook the hall. The stampede for $500 in loose change was a good natured riot.

Prince Rupert's school board, in April, 1912, had less to ponder over, than in 1948. That long ago, according to an Empire file, Miss Beatty was named additional teacher at $90 and the decision to build a new school for $25,000 could no longer be deferred.

Yale University at New Haven, Conn., was named after Elihu Yale who gave about $3,500 worth of books to the school when it was first opened in the early 18th century.

Mothers are all very well, and last Sunday millions of folks all over the globe said it that way. Fact is, they had all the mothers from here to Halifax, smiling and preening and feeling so good on another Mother's Day. But what's the matter, next year, having Mothers-in-Law Day? She's all right. And perhaps, later on, Auntie's Day.

Where was Garden Adam's Peak, the highest point in Ceylon, is so called because Mohammedans thought it was here that Adam made his penance after his expulsion from the Garden of Eden.

GAMBLING GROWS AMONG JAPANESE

TOKYO, (REUTERS) — Baku-chi, or gambling, is rapidly becoming one of the most popular means of making an easy living in post-war Japan whose hungry populace is mainly preoccupied with getting enough to eat and wear.

Gambling here today ranges from openly accepted sweepstakes or lotteries, and mah-jong and card games in secret gaming houses, to "otochokochoi bakuchi" (stupid gambling) in which a group of men standing at street corners will bet, for example on the license numbers of passing vehicles.

Then there is the cigarette gamble, which is almost a conjuring trick, done simply by marking one of the three or four cigarettes laid on a table and, after they are rearranged, identifying the particular one. It is said that the customers rarely guess the correct one and the "sakuras" (outers) are the only ones who win.

Card playing includes poker and its contrasting Japanese "hana-kuruta" (flower cards), on oft-banned traditional Japanese gambling game. The cards are hard cardboard, colored with floral, herbal and bird designs, with plain black backs, and about 2 by 2½ inches in size.

Gambling is growing in popularity as cash becomes scarce and worthless. Police raids on gambling houses in and around Tokyo have been intensified; but they do not do much to discourage the gambler—presumably because to the majority, the current fine for the offence, about 1,000 yen, is a small loss soon remedied with a little bit of speculation and luck "the next time."

LOW FARES FOR VICTORIA DAY TRAVELLERS
WINNIPEG — Victoria Day marks the opening of the long week-end holidays for the 1948 summer season and special low rail fares for the occasion are announced by R. H. Powers, vice-chairman, Canadian Passenger Association, on behalf of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways.

The special rate of one way fare and one-third for the round trip, between all stations in Canada, goes on sale at noon, Friday, May 21, and will be available until 2 p.m., Monday, May 24, Standard Time.

However, where there is no train service Friday afternoon, tickets will be good on Friday morning trains. Returning, tickets will be good to leave destination up to midnight, Tuesday, May 25.

RED SHIELD DRIVE NEXT SEPTEMBER
Prince Rupert's annual Salvation Army Red Shield campaign will commence this year on September 7 with an objective of $2,500. Brigadier J. T. Gillingham said today.

Officers of the drive are P. H. Linzey, chairman, E. T. Applewhite, publicity director, and G. R. S. Blackaby, treasurer.

TRAVELLING LIBRARIES
WHITBY, Ont., © — "Travelling" libraries are being sent out by the Whitby Public Library to public school classes. Batches of suitable books are sent out and left for three months to make books readily available to children.

WHO'S AN OCTOPUS?
You often hear "big business" described as an "octopus." Nothing could be farther from the truth.

"Big business" actually stimulates our economy... encourages small business in a thousand different ways.

Take the automobile industry. One leading manufacturer of cars in the lowest price field buys from 1071 suppliers in 243 towns in the U.S. and Canada.

Many of these firms employ only five or ten people and supply cotter pins, tacks, rivets, clamps, adhesives, spark plugs, lamp bulbs, nails. They thrive by trading with big business.

But that's not supposed to happen when you get too close to an "octopus," is it?

Fact is, of course, that small business, under sound management, appreciates the stable market provided by their larger partners. And the workers, employed by big and small business alike, prosper from the bigger jobs and variety of opportunity the "octopus" and its "victims" provide.
