Co-operation Key to Richer For All, Dr. Coady Says

World in which primary producers and workers banded together co-operatively for their own material and intellectual freedom and economic well-being was envisioned here last night by a man who is regarded as a leader in Canada's adult education movement.

Dr. (Monignor) M. M. Coady, director of extension at Xavier University, N.S., who addressed a gathering of 300 in the Civic Auditorium, his first in British Columbia. Dr. Coady spoke on invitation of the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative.

Informally, and often humorously, Dr. Coady stated that the effectiveness of education with examination of the development of the co-operatives which others sparked through years until they now are living and growing exponents of his idea.

"Planning for Progress" was the title of his address and he gave a clear definition of progress.

Dr. Coady passed under the definition of progress that is not at all, he declared, the things that have very little to do with real life. Or it is mere change which is progress, is retrogression, or progress.

Dr. Coady defined progress as that which contributes to the well-being of the community.

He was going to be practicing this down to earth progress in our own Canadian provinces—in our communities—progress for us would be that our farmers, fishermen, steel workers, and vocational groups—

Housing Aids Increased By Federal House

OTTAWA, (P) — Legislation which adds $275,000,000 to the Federal government's housing jackpot was approved by Commons Tuesday night after a peppery question-and-answer period in which Reconstruction Minister Winters was the target.

The House gave third and final readings to a bill designed to do these things:

1. Add $200,000,000 to the loan fund for reducing by half the down payment on new housing.

2. Increase from $100,000,000 to $125,000,000 the money available for home extension and home improvement loans.

3. Establish a $50,000,000 fund for Dominion-provincial low cost or low rental housing.

The first plan is retroactive to September 21 when the revised housing plan was first announced. The other two points come into operation when the bill is proclaimed after being given Senate approval.

The great vacuums which exist in the social lives of people cause instability and bring on the social tornadoes of revolution. This makes the world a dangerous place to live and upsets the whole order of society.

The Answer?

"Fill up these vacuums in the lives of the people. Satisfy the legitimate desires of the people for a greater measure of life. That is the only real answer to revolution. It is the only real answer to communism."

Prior to Dr. Coady's address D. G. McDonald, secretary-treasurer of the B.C. Fishermen's Co-operative Federation, selling agency for the coast fishermen's Co-ops, congratulated the Prince Rupert Co-operative on its tenth anniversary and outlined its history.

Present on the platform, and introduced by Chairman A. J. Wirck of the B.C. Co-operative Union were: A. Martinussen, president of the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative, A. J. Whitmore, chief supervisor of fisheries, J. D. McRae, M.L.A., and Mayor Nora E. Arnold.

welcomed Dr. Coady to Prince Rupert. Mr. McRae thanked Dr. Coady for his address.

Dr. Coady inspired the Prince Rupert Gyro Club members and many guests to thought when he was the luncheon speaker before that organization yesterday with President Maurice Brydges in the chair. The speaker was introduced by Dr. R. G. Large.

Dr. Coady was taken on a tour of the harbor and waterfront today as the guest of K. F. Harding, general manager of Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative Association. He leaves tonight on the Prince Gyro for Vancouver.

were many other gifts and congratulatory messages from all over the province including Prince Rupert, the old home town of Mr. and Mrs. Pattullo.

Seventy-seven years of age now, Mr. Pattullo was in fine health and spirits and Mrs. Pattullo, although in frail health, was also on hand to receive her share of the congratulations and best wishes.

To make a family occasion of it, Mr. and Mrs. Pattullo's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Collinson, and the three granddaughters were also there.

Return of the Liberal party to power in British Columbia was hinted by Mr. Pattullo. "Liberalism never dies," he declared at the presentation ceremony. The elder Liberal in British Columbia said he expected to see the Liberals back in office again in the "very near future."

Landing Field To Fore Again

With the visit to the city of Mr. R. May, director of development, Canadian Pacific Air Lines, possibility of the construction of a landing strip for use of aircraft operating in and out of Prince Rupert is again to the fore.

Mr. May was in conference yesterday afternoon with the air transportation committee of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce, T. N. Youngs, chairman, when various problems in connection with the project were discussed with a view to making further representations to the federal government in regard to the feasibility and desirability of such a field.

Mr. May has consistently held that a field could be developed at a minimum of cost on nearby Tugwell Island and it was to obtain further information and local co-operation in support of the case that he came to Prince Rupert on this occasion. A 4,000-foot strip, 500 feet wide, which would involve the clearing of about thirty acres of land, is suggested. Natural surface conditions on Tugwell Island, it is believed, lend themselves to such an undertaking.

A motor boat ferry service between Prince Rupert and Tugwell Island to connect the city with the field would be part of the project.

Assistance of E. T. Applewhite M. P. for Skeena, now in Ottawa, on certain phases of the undertaking will be sought by the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. May left by today's plane on his return to Vancouver.

Four For Mayor And Eleven For Aldermen

Trustees Dominato and Scott Returned by Acclamation to the School Board

Fifteen candidates lined themselves up at noon today to contest seven vacancies open in next week's civic elections—four for Mayor and 11 for the six Aldermanic seats.

Only sure thing in the picture was the re-election of two school board candidates, W. J. Scott and A. J.

Dominato who, lacking any other competition, were declared elected by acclamation by Returning Officer H. D. Thain at the close of nominations at noon today.

The mayoralty fight sees four candidates lined up for the position being vacated December 31, by Mayor Nora E. Arnold. They are Alderman H. M. Daggett and H. S. Whalen, who abandoned their aldermanic seats in mid-term to seek the mayoralty, Robert McKay, a former alderman and Alderman George Rudderham, whose term expires this year.

The aldermanic contest is in two parts, the two year terms and the one-year terms. Seven candidates seek the four two-year seats and four are seeking the two one-year seats.

In addition to the city council elections, the December 8 ballots will carry a bylaw and a referendum for popular decision. The bylaw will seek approval of a $190,000 loan to pay for sewer construction, and the referendum will seek popular opinion as to whether or not the city should have an elected Parks Board.

Coal Strike—

Three Day Work Week

NEW YORK (P) — John L. Lewis today put the United States coal miners back on a three-day work week. The mine union chief acted as virtually all of the 400,000 soft coal miners in the United States stayed away from the pits following the end of the three-weeks truce last midnight.

Lewis told 80,000 hard coal miners, as well as bituminous diggers, to return to work Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of each week until contracts are signed with individual coal companies.

Distinguished Visitor

ONE may not agree entirely with the economic theories of Dr. (Monsignor) Coady, distinguished exponent of economic co-operation, whom it has been a pleasure and an honor to have pay a visit to Prince Rupert, but we can agree with his general thesis that there must be a lot of improvement in the lot and the security of the common man or there is going to be some sort of upheaval and the "haves" of today will be upset by the "have-nots" of tomorrow by the sheer force of nature.

At that, the wheels of progress cannot be stopped and co-operation is one of the processes which the very nature of scientific and mechanical advance makes essential. There will have to be give and take on both sides and, after all, what is there in life to be desired by any person than a good and comfortable living from the beginning to the end of the span? It is an unfair system of living that permits some people to enjoy more than their share of the comforts, privileges and amenities of life while others have not enough for current existence, let alone future security.

The economic solution could come, Dr. Coady says, in two democratic ways—by way of co-operation or by way of socialism. Failing one of the other of these, there would be fascism or communism, both the antithesis of democracy.

Those who heard Dr. Coady, and we are glad there were so many, had the privilege of enjoying a sincere discourse by a vivid crusader, one of those convincing personalities who gets down to the grass roots. Apostles like Dr. Coady should always be welcome in communities like this and we should have more of them. They contribute to adult education and give us something to think about. They disseminate idealism and give the incentive to strive towards a better way of living for all which is the long range desire of right-thinking people.

NEW ZEALAND ELECTION

THE result of the general election in New Zealand, in which the Labor government was ousted after a tenure of fourteen years in favor of the right wing Nationalist coalition of Liberals and Conservatives, is of more than passing interest. Some politicians may attach significance to it in view of the forthcoming general election in Britain where another Labor government is to be tested.

While, as a broad statement, it might be said that New Zealand has rejected socialism in favor of free enterprise, it is not to be concluded that New Zealanders have entirely left the Socialist camp or abandoned all their socialistic ideas. There need be no expectation that the new government will retreat from the broad program of social security that the Labor government instituted. Nor is there much likelihood that there will be a general returning of industries and public services to private hands. New Zealand may now be expected to have some combination of a state welfare and free enterprise system.

The Socialist government is being turned out in New Zealand. It may have had its failings and its weaknesses but it was also instrumental in giving lasting benefits as well.

Ray Reflects and Reminisces

The MacLean's Magazine writer McKenzie Porter tells about Val d'Or, the flush gold camp of Northwestern Quebec, and mentions Ben Self and wife who once lived in Prince Rupert.

Ben, stoutish and friendly, came to this city during railway building days, remaining until around the beginning of the dismal thirties. Whatever was doing in town, he was always pretty handy to it. He was a sportsman. He ran a cafe, pool room and social club. He made and lost money. Everyone knew him or had at least heard of him. He was good-natured and looked the part.

Fifteen years ago Val d'Or was matted muskeg, the lair of timber wolves, 65 miles east of the then new gold mines in Rouyn-Noranda. Today it is a gilded city of ten thousand in the heart of a forest. Prostitution ranges from brazen solicitation to discreet introduction.

Where else would you see a woman in a halo hat trimmed with black lace, cocktail gown and high heeled shoes threading her way through men in tartan mackinaws and half-boots?

On every hand today there is evidence of Val d'Or's transformation from the boisterous ways of the rip-roaring frontier town. But the hang-over from the great jag in which Val d'Or was born hangs heavily in the air.

Liquor and beer drinking begins before noon in the seventeen licensed establishments. By early evening there are four places to dance within the city limits. Dancing and floor shows go on until 3 a.m.

Mr. Porter writes: "In 1934, Joe Morrisette, who later became mayor, drove a dog team in and started to build a store for an optimistic druggist. He stayed on. His two sons followed and began to haul water round the tents and shanties in a great wheeled barrel, yoked to an ox. A barber opened up on the bare face of a rock, now the hub of the town."

Ben Self and his wife Viola came in from Flin Flon, Manitoba, with $4. They rented a hardware store in a rented cabin, bought stock on credit in the hamlet of Amos, and shipped it down the river by canoe.

"A bawdy house and a tavern or two followed. Beer was a dollar a bottle, liquor $12."

The man who looks after the washroom in one night spot is a tall, gentle negro, aged 70, reputed to be worth $100,000.

There are about three thousand and gold miners at work in the district. The annual payroll from the mines is $5,000,000. Dependents of the married men bring the number of those living directly off the mines to around 5,000. It was in 1937 the first train steamed into Val d'Or. The Canadian National Railways linked the new city with the head of Ontario Northland Railway at Rouyn. And that meant within 24 hours of Toronto.

In 1946 Self sold the hardware business for $20,000 retaining $100,000 worth of real estate and several thousand shares in mines given him by men he'd grub-staked.

Floods, slides, raging gales, suspended services, wild snow and rain storms assailed the lower half of British Columbia during last weekend. Dismayed people in and around Vancouver listened to the uproar and contemplated the sorry sight.

"Prince Rupert may boom in expectation of big developments in celanese and aluminum and more traffic to Alaska," writes Roy W. Brown, in the course of an article on British Columbia's future, in the Vancouver Sun. While emphasizing how the pre-eminence of Vancouver is assured, it is admitted although in a guarded way, that other large centres are possible. One is ad-

NEW 'LOCKER PLANT' OPENS

Rupert Freezing Plant Now Open To The Public

The newest business enterprise to be introduced to the citizens of Prince Rupert is the Rupert Freezing Company Limited which will be open tomorrow morning for the first time.

The "Locker Plant" was mainly constructed by Mr. H. S. "Hector" Cobb, with the able assistance of his father Mr. J. S. Cobb, a retired railroad engineer. The building that houses the "Locker Plant" was the former Loop indicator station from Ridley Island which served as a sub detection station during the war and is another one of this area's war assets to become part of the community. The building was dismantled and brought to the City by barge where it was reconstructed on its present site. The new "Locker Plant" will be open to inspection by the general public from 9 until 6 each day and everyone is welcome to come and see this new business in operation.

New Owner-Manager "Hector" S. Cobb

The new owner-manager of the new Rupert Freezing Company limited is H. S. "Hector" Cobb who came to Prince Rupert originally in 1942 as a salmon fisherman. He liked the city and decided to lay plans for the building of a "Locker plant" here. Married in 1947 the Cobbs arrived in Prince Rupert to stay and as Mr. Cobb puts it: "There's a great future in Rupert and the north country if you're willing to work for it."

JAMES MELLOR WITH NEW FREEZING PLANT

Jim Mellor, who came here with the Canadian Army as a regi-

Smarily Finished Building Houses New Locker Plant"

With a latest type of aluminum finish and an almost complete glass windowed front the new "Locker Plant" houses the most up-to-date freezer equipment at present in use.

There are over three hundred and seventy-four individual lockers of sizes six, eight and ten cubic feet which will be rented to the general public. These lockers are cooled by two Kelvinator Compressors which keep the temperature at zero at all times as a guarantee to keep meats and foods fresh constantly. Another unit is the par compressor which is used for sharp freeze.

Two other very large locker units are housed in the building one for fresh fish and other sea foods which will be adjacent to the fish market section of the plant. While the meat refrigerator will be used for aging meats before they go into the deep freeze units.

The entire building has a V-joint interior throughout and a light varnished fir floor and mental butcher in 1944, will be the butcher in charge of the meat department and meat cutting in the newly opened company.

Mr. Mellor returned to Prince Rupert after his discharge from the Canadian Army and has been employed locally since then. He has a wife and son living in Prince Rupert.

Grandma was a shrewd shopper but she knew quite what she'd get for her in a twinkling today you can get that ready-to-eat, easy-to-digest cereal, Grape-Nuts Flakes... distinctively different because made from TWO grains—sun-dried wheat and malted barley.

Your family will adore the famous Grape-Nuts flavor in the form of crisp, golden flakes. And Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes provide nourishment they all need... useful quantities of carbohydrates, proteins, phosphorus, iron and other food essentials. Your grocer has Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes waiting for you.

BUYS AND WHYS

A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, Dec. 1st.—Such a cheery feeling to begin a blustery December day like this with a BIG bowl of delicious 5 Minute "CREAM OF WHEAT". It cooks to delicious, appetizing smoothness in only 5 minutes of boiling! And that's just one reason why 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" is such a family favourite! It's not only good to eat... it's good for you! For, you see, it contains Iron, Calcium and Phosphorus for diets these elements! Yes, this tempting, flavourful cereal is with everyone from the children to grandpa!... why not try it to that wonderful "Cream of Wheat" feeling to-day?

A Gift Your Man Will Really Appreciate
A gift that he'll use with pleasure for many a moon... a GENUINE RUBBERSET SHAVING BRUSH! Men like that feeling of being well groomed that a really smooth shave gives them... and thousands agree that it's easier to get a smooth shave when they use a Rubberset Shaving Brush. So show your man that you're "in the know"... give him a Christmas present that he'll enjoy owning and using! You'll find his Rubberset Shaving Brush at your favourite drug or department store... in bristle, nylon and badger — $1.00 to $15.00.

Season just around the corner means extra baking for all those wonderful occasions when friends drop in to eat "Good Cheer". And of course, chocolate cakes, cookies and candies are sure to be popular! For full-flavoured, real chocolate flavour I heartily recommend BAKER'S UNSWEETENED CHOCOLATE. Only the choicest cacao beans are used in Baker's Chocolate... and they are skillfully roasted to the peak of flavour, then milled to glorious satin-smooth perfection... nothing is removed... that's why Baker's has been a favourite in so many homes for almost 100 years.

The Turkey this Christmas, into that too-small oven, because now you can get that longed-for ELECTRIC RANGE, with the big range oven in Canada! Whether you like to cook with such marvellous convenience the Cook-Electric Automatic Oven Control... the partition model, the oven is just the size big enough for a 25-lb. bird! Only one grand Frigidaire feature. You'll praise the Radiant-Heat oven five precision-controlled heats, the waist-high broiler, the triple-duty Thermizer deep-well Cooker... surface element, the so-easy-to-clean rounded front to mention only a few. Make it a really Merry Christmas by seeing your Frigidaire Dealer now.

Are You Tired From Head To Toe after a busy day of Christmas shopping? It's no wonder the thought of cooking a big dinner for your family just doesn't appeal to you! That's why HEINZ OVEN-BAKED BEANS are more than a fast-treat these busy December days! They're a boon to busy, foot-tired shoppers! We simply haven't time to prepare luscious suppers—but it's so very easy to prepare delicious ones when Heinz Oven-Baked Beans are the main dish. There are four kinds now, so you're bound to strike a favourite. Heinz Baked Beans with Pork, Beans in Tomato Sauce, Red Kidney Beans and Boston Style Beans in Molasses Sauce. Try all four!... you'll like them all!

See of that wonderful new "lifetime" RADIANT 3 MINUTE KETTLE, the more impressed I am! It's so good-looking!—made of heavy copper with a polished chromium plating! And just think! It can heat three minutes! It heats water for four cups or replaces there's a wall-plug "kettle with legs" for your furniture—for the heat is well-insulated and the surface of the kettle is absolutely tool-resistant control—so it dries AND it shuts off if it's plugged in without a Dessert Discovery for the Christmas Season—and all year round!—SHIRRIFF'S FRUIT PUDDING! Eighteen choice ingredients go into Shirriff's Fruit Pudding! Dates and raisins and currants and mixed peel—combined with a rich, silky butter—steam cooked 'til the pudding is golden-brown and even-textured! Don't wait 'til Christmas to give your family the taste-treat of Shirriff's Fruit Pudding! Serve it for dinner tomorrow! So easy to serve—simply heat it in the can and serve it with your favourite sauce. And incidentally you can make exceptional sauces when you add a touch of Shirriff's Rum-Butter-Flavouring Extract to them!

"A Spot of Comment"

... by WALLACE

"All These — Yet Not One Fisherman?"

(Since this article was written a dark horse, prominently identified with the fishing industry, entered the field in the person of Elmer Clausen, fish buyer and aldermanic candidate. There are others, also, whose business pursuits take them in close contact with the fisheries).

A seafaring city! Neither fisherman, argonaut, jacktar, or even a gondolier among the candidates for mayor and aldermen!

The reactions of recent comers to Prince Rupert are often significant. When comment is made by one who is no mere novice in the world of business and has invested heavily here, his opinion can be relied upon as being the result of genuine interest. No casual observer, for instance, would come up with this one:

"Prince Rupert," he said, "lives with back to the sea. Seems to look inward on herself rather than seaward to the inspiration of broad horizons. Yet out there lies her past achievement and future opportunity."

His thoughtful air and musing tone left no sting in the statement. While thought-provoking it was a bit too deep for me to immediately catch the drift of the thing. So I waited hopefully.

Puzzling. "I've only been in business here for two or three years," he continued. "I was here before, of course—during the war—but it has always puzzled me that Rupert does so little for the sea-going portion of her population. I mean the fishermen, tugboat owners and all the others who have provided not only the income but the very excuse for existence of the entire community."

This conversation occurred on one of those beautiful days last September and we were soaking up the bright sunshine that poured through a large window. My friend stretched his arm in a long point toward the harbor entrance and went on:

That did it. From thereon in I strictly listened. It seems that on the prairies, the same ones that I left not so many years ago, the farmers don't get hitching posts any more. They get the best of modern parking facilities for their limousines, complete with winter heaters and hostess attendance. It seems that their true worth has at last received recognition. It seems, too, that they fill

"The only decent harbor facilities for small commercial boats is away out there. Have you ever been to Ketchikan?"

As I admitted that I had not, I hurriedly tried to recall things read and heard of that northern community—and the light dawned. Ketchikan's dockage facilities for small boats include loading chutes and dock service. Further evidence that they regard their sea-going men as top citizens is their constant fight for still more and better "boat-parking" facilities.

"Well," I ventured, "we have the Cow Bay floats right handy—and just past the Dry Dock are the old New Floats—and the oil companies all have docks..."

But his inignant snort ended that handy line of chatter. "Ever live on the prairies, or in a farming community?"

It seems that I learn the hard way for I took the bait again. "Sure, I suppose this is about the same. Back there the farmer does the work, earns the money and reads the ads. The town-folk provide the hitching post, write the ads and do the shouting."

That did it. From thereon in I strictly listened. It seems that on the prairies, the same ones that I left not so many years ago, the farmers don't get hitching posts any more. They get the best of modern parking facilities for their limousines, complete with winter heaters and hostess attendance. It seems that their true worth has at last received recognition. It seems, too, that they fill aldermanic and school board posts and make up a good percentage of the memberships of the service clubs. It seems, in short, that you would never know the old place now. So after I got my mouth shut and pulled my eyes back in, I opined that—what was good for the farmer, the fisherman would like a mouthful too—and he was relieved to receive my new friend's quizzical agreement and approval.

"Or maybe its money that counts?" he questioned fully. But this time I waited. After all a man does learn eventually. "Well, think this over," he went on. "The man who owns a tug, packer or seiner has an investment that few merchants or professional men can match. And bank accounts! Huh—I know more than one fisherman who could buy out (continued on page 8)

BASKETBALL

Playing Coach Angus Macphee sat Tuesday night's senior game out on the bench and, with Beynon back in the regular line-up, was able to work his team strategy more effectively. Beynon, a late starter this year, is not yet in playing condition but he turned in a good game on the defense and racked up three points. Morgan, Scherk and Davis each contributed half a dozen or more and it was a smooth-working unit that won the game in those final ten minutes.

Eric Moore, new with the Bo-Me-Hi team this season, is starting to find himself and worked effectively Tuesday night to get 14 points. Spring added a terrific amount of drive to the team and worked like a trojan. Bud Ratchford was sent in to relieve a tired Carlson and provided plenty of zip. He is a player to keep in mind, as he will put on weight and height, and, when he does the fans are going to notice him plenty. Fouls were divided equally, each side being penalized thirteen times, the students scoring 11 of 17 free tries, and Co-op 12 of 19. The next Senior League fixture will be Tuesday of next week, this week-end being the annual Ketchikan - Prince Rupert High School series on Friday and Saturday nights.

Bo-Me-Hi—Spring 13, Carlson 9, Scherk 12, Moore 14, Webster 7, Ratchford 3, McChesney, Kristmanson 4, Sharpe, Bill.

Co-op—Arney 18, Flaten 16, Holkestad 16, Davis 8, Scherk 7, Beynon 3, Morgan 6.

INTERMEDIATE
The game was notable for the few foul shots converted. Fashion made only six of a possible 20, Merchants were less fortunate with three converted from 17 possible. Many a game is won on foul shooting and enough time does not seem to be devoted to this in team practices. Jim Intermela had a good night for Fashion, making 10 points, while Currie of Merchants led his team with 9. Hill of Fashion and Boulter of Merchants each scored 8.

Fashion—Gill 6, Hebb 5, Intermela 10, Hill 8, Lien, Brew, Haggan 3.

Merchants—Dumas 6, Currie 9, Youngman, Marshall, Boulter 8, Anderson, Christoff 2, Walsh, Davidson 2.

LADIES
If the girls would play a more open game with less dribbling and more passing the fans would see better basketball and it would be more enjoyable to the players. There was an enforced rest during the last quarter Tuesday night when the lights went out with four minutes to go. However, the fans stayed patiently in their seats for sixteen minutes, and everyone seemed to enjoy the opportunity to relax. It had a devastating effect on Dom's however as they were unable to score another basket after the lights came on, not that they had scored many with the benefit of light.

Peoples—Ardren, Bill, Budinich 13, Bussey, Dumas, Howe, Thain, Windle, Pottle, Chaplin.

Doms—B. Hamilton 2, A. Hamilton, Currie, Kildal 3, L. Youngman, Williams, Shier 2, Paul.

JUNIOR
Until the last quarter it looked as though the league-leading Hotel team would be beaten in the Junior League by the Kinsmen who went into the final stanza with a 21-15 lead. The Kinsmen offensive fell apart at this time and they only made two more points, Rupert Hotel collecting nine and the final victory by a 24-23 score. Henry Blackaby, for Kinsmen, was outstanding in his shooting and garnered 14 to lead the individual scoring in both teams by a large margin. There were only 12 fouls called and the game was very clean. It is unfortunate that more spectators don't get out for this early evening feature as the Juniors are producing first class ball and are incidentally the stars of tomorrow.

Kinsmen — A. Blackaby, H. Blackaby 14, W. Blackaby, Le-tourneau 4, McAfee, McIntosh, McKay 5, Peneff, White.

Rupert Hotel—Donaldson, For-man 6, A. McFarlane, B. McFarlane 3, Farki 5, Morrison 4, Sather 4, W. Stacey 2, E. Stacey.

HIVE OF INDUSTRY—The leathercraft classes for Teenage and adult alike are a hive of industry at present. One of the neatest yet easiest projects to be completed lately was the attractive luggage identification tag made by Rev. L. G. Sieber and which will prove a popular gift to solve the small Christmas gift problem.

JUNIOR BOXING—On Monday, Dec. 5, the Junior Boxing Club will reorganize. The instructor, H. Johnson, is well versed in the art of boxing and this club should certainly be a great success. Mr. Watmough, who was in charge of this club last year, is building a new home this winter and is unable to give instruction each Monday as heretofore. However, he has promised that he will visit the club occasionally and he will again take an active part next spring.

SPECIAL FILM SHOWING—Another added interest for the Members of the Civic Centre will be the film shown in the Auditorium during the first week in December. It is a two-hour feature entitled "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers" and admission is entirely free to members in appreciation of the public response to the 1949-50 Membership Drive. The show is principally for kiddies.

ROYAL PLEASURE—He may have been born to the royal purple but a flashlight is as intriguing to crown Prince Alexander of Yugoslavia as it is to any little boy. The prince-ling, who arrived in New York recently with his father and mother, exiled King Peter and Queen Alexandra, fell in love with the flashlight owned by the photographer who made this charming and exclusive picture. No king ever felt more proud of his power than did Royal Alex when he succeeded in making a ring of light on the ceiling with the simple pressure of a baby thumb.

most any Third Ave potentate, and have enough small change left over to stake the mayor, city clerk and fire chief to a convention trip to the Mardi Gras!

Fisherman's Platform

His emphasizing forefinger had me backed into a corner. The thoughtful air and musing tone must have been just a canny trap for they were not there any more and I was wagging my head in frantic agreement. There was a lot more of the same sort of thing before I left and many more ideas that were really good. The upshot of the whole thing was that I kept watch for some group to dig up a nice mellow fisherman or big, hearty tugboat owner, and run him for the council—or even for mayor—on a platform something like this:

1. Modern harbor facilities, close in, for small boats.

2. Less fuss about daylight saving. Can't you hear him thunder: "The tides ignore it!"

3. A campaign to shame the uptown real estate moguls into improving their property as well as milking it. We keep shouting about how modern we are—maybe so but if doesn't show up any too well. Some of the old store fronts are incongruous backdrops for neon lights. The sea-boys call them "sucker-flickers," incidentally.

4. An education campaign for the unenlightened to point up that the seaman's politics is usually the individualist type—not socialist. That you can't go to sea and avoid being a staunch individualist standing squarely on your own feet. These socialist votes are probably cast by a fast-moving gremlin, 1936 model, equipped with pressure roaster for Big Bizzness.

5. A campaign for the extension of the Port Edward road to the other cannery towns. We already have a road by which those poor isolated people from Winnipeg, Montreal and New York can get at us—and look what they sent us! So we should see what Sunnyside, Inverness, etc., can do. And, you never know, they might even spend some money here—if the subject must be raised. Could-be a few of them would decide to winter in the canneries' free housing facilities if they could get here once in a while without ducking a winter storm at sea. Let's see now—if 15 or 20 large families spent the winter at each of the four or five canneries, instead of going south, how many additional dollars might be spent in Rupert during the slack winter season. You figure it.

I think I would vote for that man—had he shown up. Any more money go down on him?

LOCAL TEACHER'S PLAY BROADCAST

A world-wide short wave broadcast of a play, written by Joseph Goscoe, teacher at King Edward School, will take place tonight over the short wave facilities of Station CJCA, Edmonton. Mr. Goscoe has been advised. The play, which he wrote some three years ago, is titled "Alias My Friend Satan" and is described by Mr. Goscoe as a "weird mystery drama."

No stranger to radio, Mr. Goscoe formerly wrote dramatics for radio and at present conducts a commercial children's program over station CFPR. The CJCA broadcast will be heard at 8:30

HEAVY NOVEMBER RAIN

During the month of October this year there was a comparatively heavy rainfall of 11.74 inches in Prince Rupert. Sunshine amounted to only 29.7 hours.

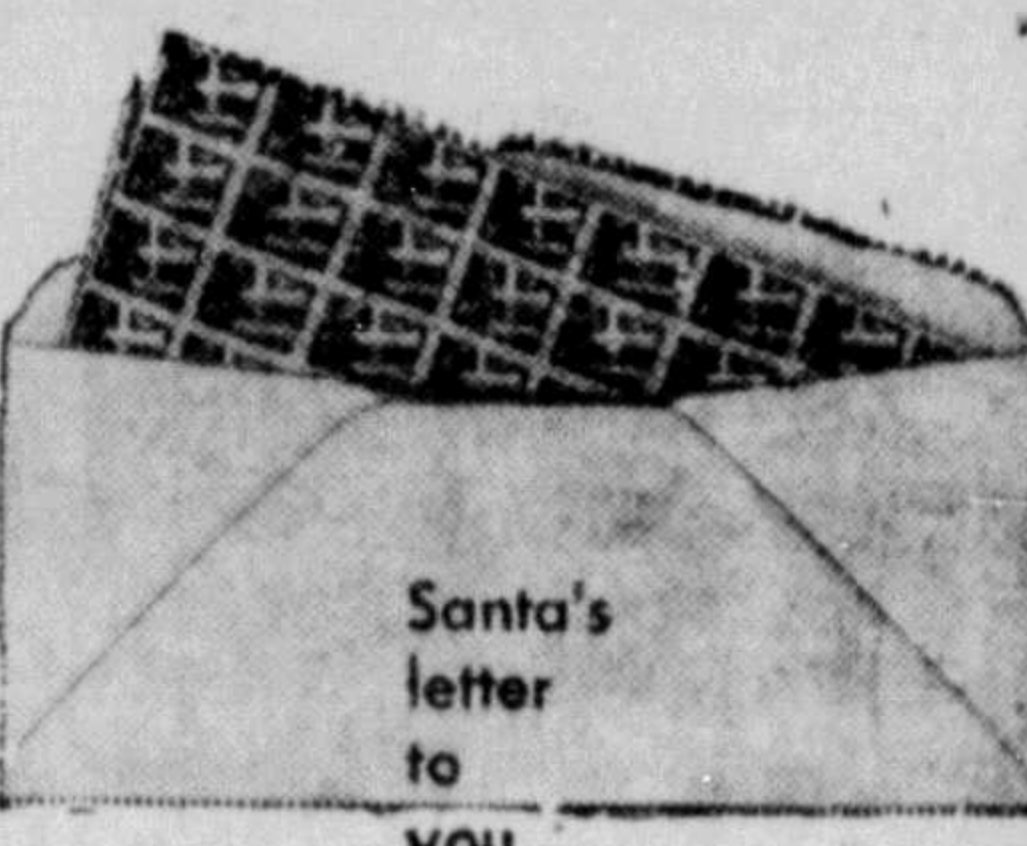

Songs, Comedy, Romance, Color

Talent and tunes abound in the technicolor film-musical "My Dream is Yours" which opened last night and continues tonight at the Capitol Theatre here. It is chock-full of good entertainment value with comedy as well as music.

Starring Doris Day, Jack Carson and Lee Bowman with Adolphe Menjou, Eve Arden, S. Z. Cuddles, Sakall, Ada Leonard and an all-girl orchestra and Frankie Carle and his orchestra giving prominent support, "My Dream is Yours" has four new song hits in addition to many familiar established numbers.

But it is not all music, color and romance in "My Dream is Yours." There is a good romantic story as well.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schild and son John sailed on the Princess Norah Wednesday evening for Vancouver enroute to Los Angeles where they will make their future home.
