Jewish-Arab Conflict in Palestine is Intensifying

Death Toll to Date Is 523—Jews Confident of Holding Own With Heavy Mortality

JERUSALEM (CP)—Members of the Haganna, Jewish underground organization, announced today that four Arabs had been shot to death in a bloody midnight reprisal in No-Man's Land between Jewish Tel Aviv and Arab Jaffa. The death toll is now 523 since the United Nations partition announcement.

A Haganna source asserted today that it can take, hold and defend the Jewish state in partitioned Palestine but it will cost many lives. Main factors supporting this opinion are:

1. Arab resistance to Zionism is economically more paralyzing to the Arabs than to the Jews.
2. United States is expected to come to the aid of the Jews by economic pressure on the Arab states.
3. When the British leave the Arabs will be forced to "pit their strength against us and we are unafraid."

Ship Strike Now Ended

Arms Ships Sailing From Vancouver and Halifax for Nationalist China

VANCOUVER (CP)—An 11-day dispute which tied up seven deep-sea ships ended with the Okanagan, laden with a 12,000-ton cargo of arms, sailing for China.

The Canadian Seamen's Union at Montreal announced that it was seeking from federal authorities life insurance and medical care guarantees if needed for crews of munition ships.

Sailing of the Okanagan indicated that agreement had been reached between the shipowners and radio operators and deck and engine room officers in the "no contract, no work" dispute.

The Islands at Halifax has also cleared.

The union is asking $10,000 insurance for each man.

CHURCHILL'S WIFE REACHES HIS SIDE

Condition of Former Prime Minister Aggravated but Not Serious

MARRAKECH, French Morocco—Mrs. Churchill, wife of former Prime Minister Winston Churchill, and the latter's personal physician, Lord Moran, arrived here Friday from London.

Members of the former Prime Minister's party said he had caught cold on a motor trip to the mountains several days earlier. He sat by his car for a few hours, painting the landscape. It was on December 11 he reached Marrakech to write his memoirs in a place he described as having the best winter climate in the world.

The message to Mrs. Churchill and physician indicated there had developed a "slightly aggravated condition" not thought serious.

Churchill has had attacks of pneumonia in recent years and his age is 73.

PULP AND PAPER INDUSTRY IN B.C.

Lloyd Turner, business editor of the Vancouver Daily Province writes:

"British Columbia is already a large pulp and paper producer with nine mills valued at more than a hundred millions running to capacity, but added to them will be the new mill of Bloedel, Stewart & Welch Ltd., at Port Alberni, which will be in full operation soon; the Port Edward Cellulose mill near Prince Rupert, which will eventually employ many hundreds and the new Canadian Western Timber Co. mill at Duncan Bay, near Campbell River.

ANOTHER MASS GRAVE AT BELSEN

Further Horrors Being Uncovered Near Notorious Prison Camp

HAMBURG (CP)—German workmen at Belsen horror camp have discovered a new mass grave believed to contain the bodies of at least two thousand former concentration camp prisoners, British military headquarters announced today. It is the eighth mass grave to be found at Belsen. The possibility is held that others will be found.

Jones Act Repeal Runs Into Snag

Big Storm Now Over

Millions of Dollars Damage Done By Winter Tempest In East

NEW YORK (CP)—A week-end of clearing weather for the storm-swept eastern half of the United States was in prospect today as communities, whipped by sleet, snow and rainstorm, worked to restore business and industrial operations to normal.

Snow has abated in nearly all sections of the country which have been lashed by this winter's most destructive and crippling storm. Damage to property is expected to total millions of dollars while deaths of at least 16 persons are reported in the New England states and the New York metropolitan area.

Other fatalities attributed to the storm are reported from the mid-west region.

Hundreds of communities remain without telephone or light services, disrupted by snapping of wires from the weight of ice or by strong winds.

The storm left Burlington, Iowa, a community of 30,000, isolated except by radio. Homes there have been without light or power since New Year's Eve.

New York, hit by an icy storm, escaped heavy snowfall as the storm swept out to sea.

STRANGE PLANES ARE BEING SEEN

Further Reports of Mysterious Aerial Visitors Over Northern Canada

EDMONTON (CP)—The Edmonton Journal said today that it had learned that a strange unidentified two-motored aircraft had been seen "frequently" flying over weather stations being installed along the Arctic Coast.

Some time ago it had been reported that Russian aircraft were sighted over polar bases but the reports were discounted by the Royal Canadian Air Force.

TENDERS CALLED FOR TWO LOCAL BUILDING JOBS; FUEL STATION ONE

Two fairly large construction jobs which, if they were begun in the near future, would take up some of the slack in the local employment situation, are in prospect for Prince Rupert in 1948.

While both jobs are in the stage where tenders have been called but not yet awarded, they will be substantial. One is installation of a Shell Oil Co. marine station and distributing depot in the city and the other the construction of a large duplex residence building at the Miller Bay Indian Hospital.

The Shell Oil Co. project involves the construction of an 80-foot dock, tank car loading racks, construction of a concrete flash wall, transfer of three storage tanks from Port Edward, and a large amount of pipelining to connect the former R.C.A.F. tanks with the distributing centre.

Site of the Shell Oil Co. plant will be the former American "Y" camp at Morse Creek. The dock will be just east of the grain elevator. The company some time ago purchased seven former Air Force fuel storage tanks and pumping station from War Assets. To these will be added three 10,000-gallon tanks which will be brought from Port Edward.

Estimate of the cost of construction is not available.

At Miller Bay Indian Hospital the Indian Branch has called for tenders for construction of a duplex residence and a power house. The residence will be designed to house staff doctors.

Stalin May Have Cancer

Speculation as to Whether Celebrated Specialist Is To Treat Him

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Prof. Elis Berven, Swedish cancer specialist and radiologist, left by plane yesterday for Moscow for "consultation on a serious cancer case."

"I cannot tell you who my patient is because I do not know myself yet," he said.

He had received a cabled request from "Russian authorities."

Lzvestia, Soviet government newspaper, reported in March 1947 that Premier Joseph Stalin had called on two Russian scientists, identified only as Klueva and Roskin, to abandon all routine projects and devote themselves entirely to cancer research.

POLICE BRING IN BODY OF H. ALBERTSON

OVEREXERTION

Advice from Terrace this afternoon says an autopsy on the body of Bert Albertson by Dr. Mills resulted in the conclusion that death came through overexertion. The assumption is that Albertson died on Christmas Day.

Using a boat, a toboggan and a railway speeder, provincial police constables Friday brought to Terrace the body of Bert Albertson, Dorreen sawmill operator, who died in the snow 10 miles from home after his car had stalled on the highway on Christmas Eve.

The constables—Blue and Rogers of the Terrace detachment—also found the car in which Albertson had left the interior village to drive to his home 35 miles eastward on the evening of December 24.

The car was stalled in snow more than three feet deep but was undamaged, they reported. It stood on the highway little more than a mile west of the place where Helge Sorensen, Albertson's partner, had found the body Wednesday afternoon.

The vehicle, which Albertson and Sorensen had bought from Mrs. Mary Franks who had won it in the Rotary Club drawing here on December 12, had not been struck by falling trees which criss-crossed the highway for miles.

Constables Brue and Rogers set out Friday morning to bring in Albertson's body which Sorensen had left in its original position pending arrival of the police. They went east from Terrace on a speeder, crossed to the south bank of the Skeena in a skiff, then pulled the toboggan up to the highway.

After investigating the condition of the car, they returned to Terrace.

An inquest into Albertson's death is expected to be held at Terrace by Coroner Will Robinson.

GUERRILLAS GET WORST OF IT IN GREEK FIGHTING

ATHENS (CP)—The Greek war ministry said today that guerrilla forces had suffered more than two thousand casualties during siege of the government garrison at Konitsa as opposed to 349 for the national forces.

War Minister George Stratos said that 500 Communist rebels had been killed, 1,500 wounded and 100 captured.

Greek Army losses, Stratos said, amounted to eight officers and fifty-one men killed with 27 officers and 193 men wounded and seventy missing.

Maritime Commission Opposed to Proposal

Lower Operating Costs of Canadian Vessels in Alaska Trade Are Feared

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP)—The United States Maritime Commission has disapproved legislation to amend the Jones Act to permit Canadian vessels to carry passengers and freight between Alaskan ports. A bill designed to amend the law to permit foreign vessels to serve Alaskan ports had been sent to the Commission for comment by congressional committees to which they had been referred.

Admiral W. W. Smith, chairman of the commission, opposed the proposals in a report to the House of Representatives merchant marine and fisheries committee.

"Enactment of this bill would have the effect of permitting foreign operators of foreign-registered ships, particularly Canadian ships, to participate in this traffic because of lower operating costs."

The vote was 322 to 262.

Anti-Inflation Measure Is Supported by French Assembly Over Combined Opposition

Bases In Antarctic

Move of South Africa Seen As Counter to Russian Activity in South Polar Seas

LONDON (CP)—British sources said today that two Antarctic islands, newly occupied, may become weather-aviation bases. Official comment was lacking.

CAPETOWN (CP)—The Cape Times and Johannesburg Daily Mail say that South Africa and Australia have occupied two islands in the southern Indian Ocean above the Antarctic Circle. Prince Edward Island, 1500 miles from here, becoming an air base, likewise Heard Island.

Johannesburg speculation is that the islands are being added to the southern chain of bases. Since the war the Russians have been sending whalers to the Antarctic.

Windsor Is Hardest Hit By Big Blizzard With Damage of $100,000

WINDSOR (CP)—Two days after the New Year's night blizzard which left six dead and caused many thousands of dollars property damage, Southern Ontario was still digging itself out today. Repair crews continued to restore hydro-electric and telephone service as others struggled to complete clearing of drifted highways and roads from Windsor on the west to Kingston on the east.

The greatest damage has been in Windsor and nearby Essex communities which were first to be hit by the storm.

Telephone service is not expected to be restored in Windsor until the middle of next week.

Damage to the border city alone is estimated at $100,000.

NEW APPROACH TO HISTORY FOR CANADIAN, U.S. STUDENTS URGED

NEW YORK — Criticism of the United States and Britain, history text books used in public and high schools in both Canada and the United States for giving an inadequate and sometimes erroneous picture of the relations between the two countries is voiced in a two-year study by a team of educationists and historians.

The study, in which the most widely-used text books were examined to show to what extent they help or hamper understanding, was conducted by the Canada-United States committee on education and released by the American Council on Education.

The findings were that American students get extremely little information about the people of Canada and that much of it is inaccurate, incomplete and biased. Canadian text books, like those in the United States, almost ignored the neighboring democracy.

Emphasis was placed on conflicts between them or between Many Americans are unaware that Canada is independent, with her own form of government. One high school student confessed that until this year he thought that "Canadians were a fierce, warlike people, somewhat like savages," the committee reported.

Omitted from or virtually ignored in history books in the United States are the consequences of the War of 1812 and the Civil War in fostering national feeling and hastening Canadian unity; economic relations of the two countries; the importance of the First World War in promoting Canadian autonomy, and the significance of membership in the British Commonwealth.

On the other hand, Canadian text books give inadequate attention to the origin and development of the North American colonies and to the economic, social and political inter-relationship between them. Only in the most recent text book is any effort made to explain the comparative forms of democratic government in the two countries.

It proposed the exchange of teachers on secondary school and college levels for purposes of further study and contended that improved text books would strengthen mutual good relations.

Farmer, Fifteen Dogs Share Shack

HUDSON BAY, Sask. — Driven from his dried-out prairie farm 10 years ago by dust and debt, R. Dovell, homesteader near this northeast Saskatchewan town and today compensates for the loneliness of life in the bush by raising purebred Scotch collies.

His hobby was an accident—while visiting his daughter in Toronto two years ago he read a newspaper advertisement and managed to raise the $50 needed for Laddie, his first pup.

Three months later Laddie won first prize in his class at the Ontario Kennel Club show and Mr. Dovell has been turning away would-be buyers ever since.

He doesn't believe in kennels—all of his 15 dogs live in his shack with him and all accompany him in his old plank wagon on trips to town.

Milk for the young pups is provided by nine goats and the favorite game of all the animals is one where the goats furiously attack and attempt to

LIFE in this Prince Rupert

by BIDDEE JINKS

I have a great fondness for old things. Relics of older days such as silver or china and antique furnishings. Indeed, each trip to Vancouver finds me lingering through many trays and tipping dust off heaped oddities in second-hand shops on Richard Street. Rare things are to be found dumped at random, and in queer nooks, if one has time and patience to look carefully—and at rare prices too.

Almost, I am as fond of new things. Gleaming crystal and bright silver. Or a new occasional chair and rug seems perfect, not to mention a new fur coat or something else with the "new look." (Confidentially, I like the longer skirts quite as much as I enjoyed the breezy trimness of the short—which, by the way, still holds the majority rule in my wardrobe.)

But just as these material things are small as compared to life, so are they shrunken as far as my liking for people is concerned. Passing a stranger on the street, I like the way he walks. Or the way a mother waits for her child and lingers to show him a decorated window. Or the odd word of conversation that means no more to me than that it is a good part of someone's good life. In a large crowd, especially the one in the Civic Centre on Christmas Sunday singing carols, I am swept by a turbulent passion for people—all of them living, and going my way.

Out of that peopled group, I particularly like old people and the very young. The wrinkled, reddish face of a new babe is lovely—since I have learned what a petal from heaven it is, and how briefly they are so small. In that tiny fist there is a lifetime, a journey of wonder and purpose and duty, which combined make happiness for himself and his parents.

But perhaps best of all I like the folks who have lived a long time, the ones we call old. We need them—we who are walking so vigorously just now, but soon will be stepping with shorter stride. They have lived so long and so well that I always feel like pulling a stool to their feet and saying, "Tell me—tell me what made you as you are. How did you learn to take disappointment, even heartbreak, with a cheerful countenance? It has not come to me, but tell me, how does one find strength to lay away one most dear? Tell me—tell me—" And if we listen, their patient voices will tell the rules for the real and earnest, and divulge fine scorn for an artificial, sham existence.

Abraham Lincoln once corrected a friend who said, "A man can't help how he looks." "A man past 40," said Lincoln, "is responsible for his own face." And this week as I visited a sweet little lady who smiled at me when a stranger here, I thought of that statement and noted the lovely pattern of a beautiful life written, as it has been, by the pen of year by year.

This week, all of us are confronted by the miracle of the old and new. None of us more so than two little girls who stood under a clear sky at the stroke of 12 midnight and turned rapturous eyes upward as if seeing an invisible old year slide away to be replaced, invisibly again, by the same stars and moon and sky. And that day, New Year's, a blanket of snow gave the illusion of a clean white page for the new year. Most of us, however, are still aware that the old one is just under cover, just on the other side of the leaf. And because each of us brought ourselves through the doorway into the new year, we know that when the snow is gone everything will be much the same as before. Unless, of course, we learn the secret of successful change from one who knows.

Personally, I liked the year that has just slipped into the gulf of years. It was good, in our particular corner. True, all of us might have used it better—which should suggest something for the one that has arrived. But isn't it hard? For instance, when I half-resolved to accomplish more by setting the alarm for 6 a.m., I knew (without my husband's callous remarks) that it was myself I must push through that cold ordeal, and no one else! However, the idea is still perking, and one morning—who knows? Harder deeds have been done, haven't they? Or—have they?

CANADA'S WEDDING GIFT OF SILVER TO PRINCESS ELIZABETH—Antique silver of exquisite workmanship was presented by Prime Minister Mackenzie King on behalf of the people of Canada to Princess Elizabeth on the occasion of her recent marriage to H.R.H. Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh. The pieces, chosen by H.R.H. Princess Alice, Countess of Athlone, are shown:

a George I plain two-handled silver cup and cover, made in London by Paul Laherie (1720), four silver salvers by the same craftsman (1734), two single silver candlesticks, four silver candlesticks and three candelabra (reproduction of Paul Laherie), 24 silver-gilt dinner plates. Included but not shown is a case of table silver.

MANUFACTURERS ASK REVISION OF TRADE PACTS

By STUART UNDERHILL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON—Problems which confront the small-scale manufacturer trying to do his part in Britain's export drive have been submitted to the government in a memorandum urging revision of trade agreements and bulk buying policies.

The National Union of Manufacturers, contending that small manufacturers comprise two-thirds of the country's industry, made the recommendations after circulating a detailed questionnaire to 50 trade associations and 4,000 individuals.

Confronted by import restrictions in many countries, manufacturers want trade agreements and understandings which would assure them of markets, it said. They blamed government bulk buying for keeping up the price of raw materials and asked an immediate inquiry into this policy.

They also asked for assurances that sufficient raw materials will be available, and for clarification of the position of small manufacturers making components for export goods.

The memorandum said the principal difficulties encountered in selling abroad were due to the inability of overseas customers to obtain import licenses, the existence of tariff barriers and the price competition from overseas manufacturers.

Canada was named among the countries where import licenses are an obstacle, with diesel engines, domestic appliances, cloth gloves, leather goods, weather-proof clothing and woollen cloth listed as goods affected.

There was a long list of goods which it said were difficult to get into Canada because of tariff barriers.

Because of price competition it was hard to sell Canadians domestic appliances, electrical goods, leather, some machinery and metal goods including motorcycles and sidecars, surgical instruments and garden tools.

Other articles in this section included buttons, fishing lines, earthenware figures, lubricants, paints, polishes, picnic baskets, toys, pencils and a large range of textiles.

Strong competition from Canada was noted in the Middle East market for rubber bands and erasers, and plastic buttons and fittings.

The Board of Trade now is studying the report and is expected to hold conferences later with the union executive.

17th Century House Will Become Museum

MONTREAL—A house built in 1680 by Charles LeMoine and Jacques Le Ber, pioneers of Ville-Marie, now Montreal, on a piece of land facing the St. Lawrence River, will become a public museum of suburban Lachine.

The house, a typical old French structure with a v-shaped roof coming well over the walls and supporting three frontal dormer-windows was acquired by the municipality two years ago upon the advice of Mayor Anatole Carignan. Work was undertaken to preserve the historic monument to be known as Manoir Lachine.

Situated at the entrance to the city, on La Salle Boulevard, the house will become a museum for numerous old-time pieces of furniture, paintings and other historical souvenirs.

Spring Wardrobe More Expensive

By DORTHY ROE

NEW YORK, (AP)—American women will pay from 15 to 50 per cent more for next spring's dresses, a survey of New York dress manufacturers revealed.

That little budget dress that cost $5.75 last spring will sell for $8.75 this Easter—an increase of 55 per cent. A dress that sold for $25 in 1947 will cost $29.75 in 1948. In the upper bracket read-to-wear department a dress or suit that sold for $89.95 last February will cost $110 next spring.

Reasons for the sharp increase in the price of ready-to-wear are manifold. One big item is the increased yardage needed to achieve the "new look." A simple sports dress that used to take 3½ yards of fabric now takes 5. A fussy cocktail dress may have five yards in the skirt alone and another five yards in the attached petticoat, an important ingredient of the new mode.

Manufacturers estimate that fabric prices are up an average of 33½ per cent compared with last spring, and labor costs continued to mount. Where it all will end nobody will venture a guess, but they are unanimous on one point: buyers are still snapping up the new fashions at any price.

The survey shows that the sharpest increase in prices is in the lower-price dress field, which supplies the bulk of the clothes for the women of America.

The average increase in the higher-priced, or couture group, is from 15 to 25 per cent over last spring. But manufacturers are frank in admitting that while most houses still make a few dresses in their lower price range the big business is in the upper brackets.

CITY GRADER PLOWS THIRD AVENUE SNOW

A six-inch snowfall in the last 48 hours—the first snow in any quantity this winter—put the city grader to work this morning in the capacity of a snowplow and city workmen followed the machine, shovelling the snowplows into trucks.

Coming in squalls and bearing a percentage of sleet, the snow fell to a depth of more than two inches in the 24-hour period ending at 10 o'clock this morning. It continued falling this afternoon.

Joyful youngsters immediately began sleighing on the city streets, one of the most popular and most dangerous sleigh runs being the Sixth Avenue East hill. Motorists drove gingerly, fearful of running down some careless sleigher.

A number of skiers were making plans this afternoon to go up Mount Hays to the Prince Rupert Ski Club cabins. There the snow is reported to be of good depth and texture for skiing.

CONSTRUCTION IN CITY HITS TWO-YEAR LOW

Construction activity in Prince Rupert in 1947, as indicated by the value of building permits issued during the year, was the lowest, by a slight margin, of any years since 1944.

Total value of building permits issued by the city engineer's office for the 12 months just ended was $210,340, as compared with $230,080 in 1946 and $267,279 in 1945.

Heaviest building month last year was June, when permits authorizing construction to the value of $55,510 were issued.

Permits issued in December numbered 16 and were valued at $5,340. Majority of the permits authorized repair and extension work, only a few of them being for new construction.

Largest permit issued during the year was for $65,000, issued to Lindsay Motors Ltd. for construction of a garage at the corner of Second Avenue and First Street. The Bussanich building, corner of McBride Street and Fourth Avenue, accounted for a $27,000 permit.

December's $5,340 total was greater than December, 1946, when construction value was only $1,350.

Here is the December list:

HOW CAN I ???

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I shrink dress goods?

A. By placing it folded in a tub of cold water, to which a few handfuls of salt have been added. After a few hours, hang on the line without unfolding. The weight of the salt prevents wrinkles from drying in and also sets the color.

Q. How can I lighten the color of my skin?

A. If the face is given frequent applications of buttermilk, the skin will be lighter.

Q. How can I remove the brown rings on coffee and tea cups?

A. They can be removed by rubbing with salt moistened with water.

Damaged Log Raft Brought Back to Port—Herring Fishermen Leave for the South

Minus between six or seven sections of logs, the flat raft which left Prince Rupert for Ocean Falls last Monday was towed back here on New Year's night after a battle with sea and wind that threatened the whole 46-section raft.

The raft, containing about 1,500,000 board feet of logs, left harbor here just ahead of a storm which caught it in Chatham Sound. Efforts of four tugs, the Wireless, Capt. Bales, the Kaien I, Capt. Henry Hanson, the C.R.C., Capt. John Currie, and the Phippen, Capt. Max Sieverts, finally brought the bobbing booms of logs to shelter in the lee of Kinahan Island, where it was moored to shore on Wednesday.

New Year's Day was just another spell of hard work for the crews of the tugs as they towed the battered raft back to harbor here. They moored near the elevator, its original starting place, shortly after 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

The raft will remain there until the Island Princess, an Island Tug and Barge Co. tug, arrives with new boom sticks. The Island Princess is on her way north now. It is feared that the original boom sticks may have been strained and the Pacific Mills Co. is taking no chances on losing more logs.

The raft will be re-formed and another effort will be made to get to its destination—the pulp mill at Ocean Falls.

The southeast gale, which reached a peak of 48 miles an hour in gusts, broke away the four front sections of logs as the four tugs struggled to get it to shelter. These drifted away to pile up on the beaches. Small logs from the other sections also escaped under the boom sticks and drifted away.

The struggle to save the remaining sections was an epic one in which the masters of the four tugs displayed superb seamanship. Buffeted by the wind, and torn by the tide and currents, the raft drifted near Holland Rock before it was brought to shelter at Kinahan.

The long holiday which the coast herring fishermen have enjoyed will come to an end next Sunday when the boats put back to sea with their seines ready to dip herring. The boats have been in Vancouver and Victoria since before Christmas while their crews spent the festive season at home. Prince Rupert fishermen, who have left, or are leaving for the south to join their boats are Pete Leland, Ole Stole, O. Johansen and Knute Rysstad, all of whom have been with their families for the last week or more.

HERRING PLANTS GOING INTO OPERATION

With the herring seine fleets moving north from Vancouver and elsewhere down the coast first thing next week now that the Christmas and New Year holiday season is over, herring processing plants of Nelson Bros. Fisheries Ltd. at Port Edward and Canadian Fishing Co. at Butedale will be getting into action. The Port Edward plant will concentrate on reduction rather than canning of herring this winter. With no signs yet of a sizeable run in this region, packers will, meantime, be bringing the fish north from fishing areas down the coast.

A substantial extension is now in process of being built to the main wharf of the Canadian Fishing Co. plant at Butedale. The extension is on the north end of the present dock. The existing shed is to be taken down and a new one erected.

Ecclesiastical peregrinations for the week between Christmas and New Year for Rev. Skipper Peter Kelly with his United Church mission boat Thomas Crosby, out of Ocean Falls, consisted largely of the delivering of Christmas hampers to lighthouses and isolated dwellers of the coast northward from Ocean Falls through Bella Bella, Milbank Sound and as far as Butedale. The Thomas Crosby is back at her base at Ocean Falls this week-end following the voyage.

Her calls at waypoints having been shortened because of light cargoes following the holiday season, Union steamer Cardena, Capt. Ernest Sheppard, arrived in port in good time at 7:30 last evening from the south. The vessel got away at midnight on her return to Vancouver and waypoints after loading twenty tons of fish from the Canadian Fishing Co. plant.

(By BILL LONG)

The Number One question in local sport circles these days is: Who will Coach Alex Bill put on the floor against Vancouver Arrows next Wednesday and Thursday? At last night's work-out there were still 14 of the seniors on the strip. Definitely it is known that 10 of these will be on the players' bench come game time.

With the promise of a trip south later in the season, it is certain that all those who are being given a chance to try for the team will also be allowed to try for future series with teams from Alaska and whoever else may challenge or be challenged by the local All-Stars.

Alex said last night that he had found the chore of picking 10 men a difficult one since all the boys seem to be in top form and any one of them could be of great value on the floor. nevertheless, left off the final team, will still consider it an honor to have been picked as candidates for all-star rating.

A strange aspect of this year's team is the showing of those two young "upstarts" from the Bo-Me-Hi team who have just moved into senior company. These two lads, Flaten and Lavigne, looked like top-drawer material last night and it would be a surprise to this writer if one, or perhaps both, are not on the players' bench at the opening whistle.

There will be two more practices before the first game or Wednesday night, these being on Sunday afternoon and Monday evening, and the gods will handle matters from here on in.
