Peace... Good Will...

Everywhere, among good people, there exists a longing to make our world tranquil and prosperous — a desire for man to unite for peace good will and understanding. For from good will comes forbearance and from understanding, a better way of life.

And what better time than Christmas for every man to renew the realization that all our good human relationships — yes, even our business relationships, are based upon our faith in God and our fellow man. Only through this faith can we assure the continuance of freedom without fear — tolerance without tyranny — democracy and lasting peace.

It is in this spirit of good fellowship that we wish everyone —

A Merry Christmas and a Very Happy New Year!

Spirit of Christmas

MAN, if he so will, can put his mind and heart in tune with the spirit of Christmas to remind him of the birth of the Christ and bring a revival of the hope for good will among all mankind.

It does not come through undue generosity of giving, or those outward displays which too often discredit the real meaning of the day. These are only symbols which man has attached to the anniversary of the most important event in human history.

To be genuine, the spirit of Christmas must be enthroned in the heart of man, a personal realization which he alone can know and enjoy... a certain humbleness which brings with it the hope that through his humbleness man has taken the true attitude for his own spiritual salvation.

With this meekness must come love for his fellowman, a determination to live helpfully—to search for and eliminate the dross in his life, and place love and kindness in its stead.

To whatever extent man can live by the spirit of Christmas will his life be a benediction and a thing of beauty.

PEACE, GOODWILL . . .

WHAT were the words the angels sang to the shepherds in the hills above Bethlehem on the first Christmas eve? Present-day biblical scholars are not sure. There is general agreement among them that the Gospel of Luke in the King James version did not set down the heavenly message correctly. But they maintain that the earliest documents differ on the meaning of that message.

The King James version translates it: "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men." The new Revised Standard version of the New Testament prefers: "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among men with whom He is pleased!" But a footnote adds that some ancient authorities read "peace, goodwill among men."

There is a great difference between the two translations. Did the angels bespeak peace only for men who please God? Or did they hold out the blessings of peace and goodwill to all men, whether or not some mortals fall short of God's measurements for the sons of earth? What did the angels sing?

Since the scholars cannot be sure, a layman is free to accept either version. He can accept the view that the angels would not promise peace to men careless of God's opinion—on the ground that such a gift cannot be given to such men. Or he can hold that there is no limit to His compassion and believe that in good time the pledge will be made good to all mankind.

For reasons there is no need to supply, Canadians in this day and age may be tempted to favor the modern version. But on Christmas Eve it is good to remember that the tidings of great joy were to all people. It is well to have faith that the promise of peace will be redeemed when all men, like the shepherds, can see and hear the heavenly choir and in simplicity of heart hasten to the manger where the young Child lies.

MAKE IT SAFE

PASS UP that cup of holiday cheer if you're driving home from a holiday party.

Records show that one-sixth of all traffic accidents involve a drinking driver.

"Don't Let Death 'Take Your Holiday" is the slogan for Christmas and New Year.

Traffic accidents seem to reach their peak at the end of the year because of winter weather, earlier darkness and holiday festivity.

The spirit of Christmas emphasizes the sacredness of life, but the tragic deaths from needless accidents make a hollow mockery of Christmas joy and festivity.

To keep death from taking your holiday—or someone else's—is a simple thing. All that is required is extra caution and courtesy, and a little more time during the holiday rush—just enough more time to be extra careful when driving on the highway or crossing streets and in recreational and home activities.

If you're walking, watch for traffic—and wait. Carry packages so they do not obstruct your view. Motorists cannot always see you, especially during early evening darkness.

If you're driving, start early and take it easy. And take it easy when you're celebrating. Don't let holiday spirit—or spirits—replace your usual caution and common sense.

Assume personal responsibility for a safe celebration for yourself and others—and you can help make Christmas happy for everyone.

As I See It

By ELMORE PHILPOTT TENNYSON FORESAW HAPPY ENDING

IF YOU and I could stand tonight on the hills outside Bethlehem we might be a wee bit downhearted.

For on those hills where, some 1950 years ago, a little frightened group of shepherds heard the angels sing of peace on earth, goodwill toward men, there is no peace and none too much goodwill.

A few hundreds yards away Arab sentries stand, permitting none to come from Israel, and beyond them are the countrymen of Jesus, the Christ, uniformed, armed, challenging all comers.

"Hail! Who goes there?" ALL AROUND this troubled globe armies are mobilized. More and more of the world's production goes into the bloody jaws of the gods of war. Fear is nearly everywhere, with hate, the child of fear, inflaming human hearts toward wars more diabolical than those of the days of the Caesars.

In the face of these obvious facts, how can the average man or woman really be joyful this Christmas?

Granted it is not easy for any and impossible for some. But it is my firm conviction, based on many years of study of the international scene, that the hopeful, the better, the more humane is winning out. Things only seem worse because what is demanded now is a TOTAL world peace. No piecemeal peace will suffice. Man is learning, the hard way, by atomic bombs and similar devices, that, like it or lump it, there is one world. We have to organize it and pacify it as one world, or perish.

JUST 107 YEARS ago Alfred Tennyson wrote a great prophetic poem, Locksley Hall. Over half a century before an airplane ever flew he foresaw aerial commerce and the conflict of "airy navies grappling in the central blue" raining down on earth a "ghastly dew."

Tennyson foresaw the world wars and he clearly described the turbulent period in which we now are. But above all he foresaw the end of wars!

Till the war drums throbbed no longer and the battleflags were furled

In the Parliament of Man, the Federation of the world.

There the commonsense of men shall hold a fretful realm in awe, And the kindly earth shall slumber, wapt in universal law.

If Tennyson was right about the planes, right about the world wars, right about the turbulence originating in Asia, was he wrong in the very apex of his prediction—about the parliament of man?

I do not think so.

THIS IT A TIME of great trial. But most of us will come through it alright, once we really start to organize the peace. And then the world will be a better place to live in than it has ever been.

Peace on earth was a heavenly promise when the angels sang about it. Now it becomes the condition of our survival. When we get that into our heads and hearts we will get peace. It will be based on law, applied with common sense, and backed by a good big police force.

Tell Truth About Santa

Among the myriad problems which beset parents at Christmas time are the many questions from the small-fry about Santa Claus. And the business of telling Junior or his little sister the truth about the jolly old gentleman in the red suit is really a major task.

However, the situation is bound to arise, and when it does, it does something to your heartstrings—so you draw the little ones close and cast about for the best explanation.

Oddly enough, the true story is best—and the easiest to tell. So why not just tell the little ones this?

St. Nicholas (or Nicolas) is Santa Claus' real name. He lived in Asia Minor and was the beloved bishop of the Greek church of Myra in Lycia. He is the patron saint of the young, and in some European countries a person dressed as a bishop still assembles the children and distributes gifts of nuts, sweetmeats and other nice things to the good boys and girls.

Children loved St. Nicholas and trudged along beside him as he trudged the dusty roads of the Lycia countryside, bringing fruit and candy to the sick and needy.

One of the many stories told of his goodness concerns a poor and honest man and his three good and beautiful daughters. The father was unhappy for poverty prevented his giving the customary dowries to his daughters, and for this reason they could never have suitable husbands.

One night a bag of coins was tossed in at the man's window. The next night the act was repeated. But on the third night the father watched, and the anonymous giver was detected. The jolly bishop stood with the third bag of coins in his hands. The father was very proud and would not accept the money. The good bishop begged the poor man to accept the gifts and use them for his daughters' dowries, requesting that his name never be revealed.

At last the father accepted the money for his daughters, but he could not keep the name of the generous bishop secret—so the legend of the goodness of St. Nicholas was further spread and strengthened.

Christ Came to Bring Peace

MOST REV. A. JORDAN, O.M.I.

Peace is My bequest to you; and the peace which I give you is Mine to give—John, chapter 14, verse 27.

Jesus Christ, the Son of God and Saviour of the world, came to bring peace. He promised us "that peace which the world cannot give." But we have not peace. For our Lord can give peace only to those who want peace. And while those of us who hate war and its horrors are many, those of us who want peace are few.

Most of us simply want to be left alone to pursue our own way, untroubled about the hardships, the needs, perhaps even the rights of others. We forget that peace is not merely the absence of fighting, that it is something just as positive as fighting. It is the building-up that is opposed to war's tearing down. It is the enforcing of justice that is opposed to war's enforcing of injustice.

"Peace is the work of justice"—that is the motto which needs to be engraved on the world's consciousness. Let us not—whether as individuals or as nations—deceive ourselves. When we forsake justice, we destroy peace. When we tolerate injustice, we are indifferent to peace. Only if we actively seek to make justice prevail are we seeking peace.

Justice, by its very nature, regards God and our neighbor. It demands not only that we have our rights, but that God Who made us and our fellow-men, who are the sons of God, should have their rights. To work for the securing of our own rights is good; but it is not working for peace. Not until we earnestly

Santa's Parade is New Venture

By ALAN DONNELLY
Canadian Press Correspondent
WINDSOR, Ont. (C)—The man who brings big-time Christmas parades to small-town youngsters is Ben J. Matlock, 47-year-old

Windsor jack-of-all trades. His home-made Santa parade, rented to big and small communities, has just returned from a tour that took it as far east as Ottawa. The idea for the Christmas caravan, born of local needs four years ago, grew too big for one city and has become a string of 22 floats, with 27 communities on its visiting list.

The collection of floats, portraying nursery rhymes, fairy-tale figures and Santa Claus himself, means three things to Mr. Matlock.

It's a profit-making venture. But it is also an outlet for his abilities as an idea-man and carpenter, and it gives him the opportunity as 'Santa's agent' to bring the Christmas spirit to thousands of youngsters.

"This parade is certainly something to the kids," he says. "Even if it is fiction, I think it's still a story worth telling in our times."

Mr. Matlock formed his plan to build a parade for Windsor when a parade being imported from United States came to grief in a storm at Buffalo. Giant balloon figures, hit by the storm, arrived here a tattered wreck.

SHARE COSTS
The Windsor Retail Merchants' Association took his idea up and paid him a $3,500 rental fee to start building. But construction costs piled up and Mr. Matlock wrote to surrounding towns offering to rent the parade.

Sixteen towns accepted the first year and the tour left by highway Nov. 6, 1948. Much of the slim earnings that year were put back into new floats. Now the cost is spread over a larger number of communities.

Innovations are added each year. Mrs. Santa Claus, riding a diesel train, is new this Christmas. This float also provides two other services—a reception centre where Santa greets children and a dressing room for the troupe of 14.

On the last two tours, the travellers often had to use service station washrooms for dressing. The new float has its own wash-room and tiny kitchen. Sleeping quarters are built into other floats.

Sometimes the community has its own Santa Claus, but often Mr. Matlock substitutes for the Christmas saint, and gets a lot of enjoyment out of it. In Galt recently he met a line of smiling children for 4½ hours.

Mr. Matlock's huge library of various tales provides ideas for the actual figures, which are developed and built in his workshops.

United Kingdom—

Big Year In Gt. Britain

By G. ABRAHAMSON
(Written for Canadian Press)

LONDON (C)—Rising prices dominated the British economic scene in 1950 and prevented the country from taking full advantage of the improvement in external payments following sterling devaluation.

Wholesale prices rose slowly during the first half of the year, but spreading from foreign commodity markets the advance gathered strength after the invasion of South Korea. By late autumn the wholesale price index was 15 per cent above the end of 1949.

Cost of living rose less steeply. By the middle of the year sterling devaluation had still failed to make any significant impression on retail prices, but later the index advanced appreciably. The inflationary pressure, held at bay by consumption, price controls, surplus budgeting and credit restrictions, made itself increasingly felt towards the end of the year.

Full and steady employment remained the mainstay of British government economic policy throughout 1950. It was rewarded by about 10 per cent increase in production.

In the first 10 months of 1950 exports were 21 per cent and imports 13 per cent higher than in the corresponding period of 1949. The result was that the adverse balance of foreign trade fell by approximately £70,000,000 ($210,000,000) or 19 per cent, although the terms of trade moved against Britain.

Making allowance for shipping charges, the country was running a favorable import-export balance equivalent to an annual rate of about £150,000,000 before the end of 1950.

Even greater was the improvement in the invisible account. The gold and dollar reserve climbed steadily from the low of $1,340,000,000 in September, 1949, when sterling was devalued, to $2,756,000,000 at the end of September, 1950. It marked the first time since before the war that Britain had regained equilibrium in external payments.

United Kingdom payments on current account alone during the first half of 1950 showed a deficit of $108,000,000, compared with $1,088,000,000 for the whole of 1949.

MINOR CONCESSIONS

As a result, the treasury was able to make some minor concessions governing removal of funds to foreign countries, while the Board of Trade became more liberal in commercial negotiations. Dollar releases were still made hesitantly. But by September it was possible to cancel the 25 per cent cut in British Commonwealth dollar imports, imposed in July, 1949.

In November the government placed its economic wartime powers on a permanent basis. Previously the power had been extended one year at a time. It also put a stop to further price decontrols and gave a warning that controls would be reimposed if shortages returned to the rationed list were newsprint and zinc.

Financial markets were helped by the success of devaluation, growing confidence in the government's credit, rising commodity prices, industrial profits, inflow of foreign capital and fears of further inflation.

Owing to continued shortage of "risk capital," private industry's need for additional finance was met chiefly by issue of preference shares, debentures and fixed-interest notes. This was done partly without the inter-medium of the stock exchange. But there was at least one big and successful placing of ordinary shares before the end of the year.

By late November fixed-interest government securities had

SERMON TO CHILDREN GOD'S CHRISTMAS PRESENT

Condensed by Rev. Dr. E. A. Wright
First Presbyterian Church

"For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."—John 3:16.

The best present that was ever given on Christmas Day was given to the world by God when he sent Jesus to earth as a little child in the manger at Bethlehem. He gave us that present because he loved us so. On Christmas Day let us think of God's present. He gave Jesus to you and to me to be our Saviour.

On that first Christmas day the little Lord Jesus received some gifts too. The Wise Men from the East came to visit Him and brought Him "gold, frankincense, and myrrh." Ever since that time He wants men, and women, and boys, and girls to give Him a gift. He wants each one of you for His own. He says: "Give me your heart." Give it to Him.

If you take the present God offers, and if you will give Jesus your heart, you will have the happiest Christmas you have ever had. Then too you will want to make others happy as He did.

There was once a Roman Prince who had heard the story of Jesus from a missionary but he didn't want to give Jesus his heart. On Christmas Eve he sat in his fine dining room at a table laden with delicious food. Just as he was about to eat he heard a tap at the window and looking up saw the face of a beautiful child and a sweet voice said, "The Christ Child is hungry." The prince was very angry and told the soldiers to drive the child away. They did so, and, as the prince took up the food, it turned to ashes. Again he heard a rap and the child's face reappeared, and the same voice said: "The Christ Child is cold." More angry the prince again ordered the soldiers to send the child away. When they did so the prince began to shiver. He had his servants pile great logs on the fire but it did no good. He became colder and colder and it was freezing in the palace.

Then the prince realized that he had made a mistake and, springing up, he went out into the darkness to search for the child. He wandered about the streets and as he was passing a very poor home, he heard the pitiful cry of little children. He opened his door and found a poor mother and five little children suffering. They had no food, no fuel, and very few clothes. He took pity on them, brought them to his palace; fed, clothed and warmed them; and once more he heard the tapping at the window; once more he saw the face of the child; and the sweet voice said: "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." Then his heart was filled with joy and gladness and he gave it to Jesus.

Let us make Christmas a merry one, for others! Let us give our hearts to Jesus!

Since short-term borrowings by the treasury declined, the clearing banks increased their advances to private industry and commerce. Banking turnover fully reflected the increased business activity and higher prices.

rien by approximately three per cent and industrial equities by 12 per cent. Big advances occurred in commodity shares, but gold-mining shares fell by 17 per cent as speculative interest turned to base metals, rubber and defence industries.

Where There Is No Christ There Is No Christmas

By RT. REV. JAMES B. GIBSON, Bishop of Caledonia

As year succeeds to year the customs which have grown up around the joyous festival of Christmas have become so exacting as to become burdensome to many whose hearts are bigger than their purses. It is a sad travesty of the season of "glad tidings of great joy" when the present method of its observance increases rather than lightens the burden of living. The advance of commercialism threatens to rob our religion of its true value.

We say that times have changed and this is inevitable. Perhaps, during the last decade or two, they have changed more rapidly than usual. Has Christmas changed too? In some respects, yes. The carefree, light-hearted Christmas of childhood days, when Santa loomed large in the little life, when the Christmas hymns, the Christmas games and above all the Christmas message combined to give us those happy experiences the memory of which can never be effaced from the mind—this happy Christmas spirit seems so remote as to be almost out of reach.

But, alas, all this is the same Christmas as it always was. There can be no Christmas where there is no Christ and where Christ is the Christmas spirit always reigns in the heart. The same truths as of old ring out with the Christmas bells for "Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today and forever." In spite of wars and rumors of wars it is still the season of peace and goodwill, in common devotion to the Babe of Bethlehem men who are divided in almost every language find themselves of one mind. Men and women can join in worshipping the Holy Child whose coming brought untold blessings into a troubled world. We must not be

A star shone down on quiet fields,
Lo, many years ago,
To tell men that the light of Truth
Was there to heal earth's woe.
That light of Truth still shines today,
In spite of hate and greed,
To comfort, heal, and strengthen men
And ever meet their need.

So at this holy Christmastide
Let each one pause to pray
That men will open wide their thought
To see this light today.

Inflation Is Threat

Defence Becomes Big Factor in Canadian Economy

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA —The threat of inflation swept through the Canadian price scene in 1950 as the western defence machine opened its momentous rearmament drive. Prices climbed everywhere. But the government declared it would not again enter the price field unless parliament pronounced a "national emergency."

Instead, it would seek to kill inflation at its roots—by cutting into spending power through increased taxation and restrictions on credit buying.

Canada's four major labor bodies—about 1,000,000 strong—showed their dissatisfaction by preparing a concerted campaign for the return of general price controls and retention particularly of the government's rental controls, slated for complete withdrawal in May, 1951.

But while the labor unions called for price and rent controls, they made no clear-cut request for wage freezes and government officials emphasized there could be no effective control on prices without controls on wages.

Meanwhile, prices swept up. The cost-of-living index, a barometer of consumer prices, climbed from 161.8 in January to an all-time high of 170.7 in September and October. This index is based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100.

STEADY INCREASES
Food, rent, fuel, clothing, home furnishings and other budget items were at or near all-time levels. In the index, the food sub-group stood at 201.3 in January, climbed to 218.6 in October. Rents, partially decontrolled, advanced to 136.4 from 125.0; fuel and lighting to 140.6 from 135.9; clothing to 184.5 from 183.0; home furnishings and services to 174.8 from 166.4, and the miscellaneous group from 132.1 to 133.4.

Another upward swing occurred in a segment of the wholesale price range. The Bureau of Statistics index of 30 industrial materials, which include such essentials as raw wool, tin, rubber and cotton, climbed about 41 points in 12 months. Based on 1926 prices equalling 100, the index climbed to 191.8 in November, from 150.9 in November, 1949.

The general cross-country climb in prices was reflected in price advances in selected regional cities. The regional cost-of-living index nosed upward, gaining 10 points in a year at Saint John, N.B., Montreal and Winnipeg and making smaller but nonetheless upward strides at Toronto, Halifax, Saskatoon, Edmonton and Vancouver.

Based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, here is how the regional index stood on Nov. 1, 1950, with the 1949 standing in brackets:

- Halifax, 159.1 (154.2)
- Saint John, 167.5 (157.9)
- Montreal, 174.8 (164.3)
- Toronto, 166.9 (157.2)
- Winnipeg, 165.3 (155.7)
- Saskatoon, 168.7 (162.8)
- Edmonton, 164.9 (157.1)
- Vancouver, 171.7 (162.3)

BATTLE ROOT CAUSES

It all appeared to boil down to the fact that people had more money, wanted more goods and were straining production facilities to get all that they wanted. Kenneth Taylor, assistant deputy minister of finance, pointed out how greatly the inflationary "trend had made its impact on the western world.

Speaking before an Ottawa consumers' organization, he estimated that the price range on the North American continent had trebled in the last half-century, and since the Korean war, prices had increased considerably.

"For example, rubber which was 16 cents a pound now is over 80 cents; raw cotton a few months ago was 29 cents, now it is 43 cents; wool has nearly doubled in price; tin, lead and zinc have gone up about 75 per cent, and so have vegetable oils."

The way to halt this inflation, said Mr. Taylor, was by controlling the factors behind price behavior: money and credit, "by wise taxation and spending policies any by a variety of other means that go to the root causes of inflation and deflation."

LYNNE Northumberland, England —The local Conservative Association resorted to a novel plan to raise funds for their Christmas party. They staged a rummage sale and offered all articles at prices off the "bad old days."

LEICESTER, England —It costs money to reclaim boys who are naughty. S. B. Bordoli, reform school treasurer, estimated expense of keeping a boy at an approved school comes to $15 a week, and more than $21 in a remand home.

Regular Baptist Christmas Tree

Over 200 persons, including scholars and their parents and friends, crowded the Regular Baptist Church Wednesday evening for the sixth annual Sunday School Christmas tree and concert. Eager, expectant young folk were well to the fore whether as spectators or as participants. The Christ Child was the centre and theme throughout.

The proceedings got away to a good start under the chairmanship of the superintendent, G. R. S. Blackaby, who led the whole group in three rousing carols, "O Come All Ye Faithful," "The First Nowell" and "Hark the Herald Angels Sing." This was followed by prayer offered by the pastor, Rev. L. A. Thorpe.

The scholars' program opened with Mrs. W. Lund's Beginner Boys who presented "Christmas Joy." They followed with "My Little Light."

G. Hangerud's primary girls brought a Christmas lesson with "The Christmas Bells" which was clearly presented. The solo part "Ring, Bells, Ring," was ably rendered by little Dorothy Huber.

Mrs. C. R. Levelton's beginner girls conveyed a lovely "Merry Christmas" greeting in an exercise with stars which culminated in their all singing very sweetly "Away in a Manger."

"The Christmas Star" was next offered by Mrs. Blackaby's junior girls, when a large star was built up, its rays composed of Love, Peace, Joy, Cheer and Gladness, placed to spoken wishes, after which the girls sang "Star of the East," while the Three Magi entered slowly and bowed in adoration at the Cradle which was beautifully tableauxed.

The beginners, boys and girls, then entertained the audience with three motion songs, "Building," "Working" and "Running Over," which received great applause. "The True Meaning of Christmas" was feelingly represented by an appealing playlet by Mrs. Ewald's junior girls.

A moving feature was a dramatization of the hymn "While Shepherds Watched," performed by Pastor Thorpe's senior girls and Mr. Blackaby's senior boys classes. During the presentation of the various scenes the hymn was sung off stage by a mixed quartet.

Rounding off the program, Mr. Robertson's primary boys, all 19 of them, entertained the audience with a humorous sketch, "Santa's Boys," who quite obviously "missed their Pa," who was off delivering his Christmas gifts.

Pastor Thorpe led the singing of a number of carols, after which Santa appeared before a round-eyed throng and amid applause rid himself of his heavy pack of presents. After his departure, Pastor Thorpe closed the evening with prayer.

Among those assisting in the program were Mrs. W. Lund, Mrs. C. Levelton, Mr. and Mrs. A. Ewald, Mr. and Mrs. G. Hangerud, Mr. and Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. T. Pepke, R. Welck, Pastor Thorpe, Mr. and Mrs. Blackaby and the mothers of "Santa's Boys."

APPLE RULES—Right now apples are just about the cheapest fruit you can buy and the Canadian Association of Consumers urges everyone to eat apples and to drink vitaminized apple juice.

When cooking apples there also are a few rules which should be followed if the natural flavor of the apples is to be developed. Add little spice or flavoring and wherever possible cook apples without peeling.

When peeling apples drop in cold water to prevent discoloration.

Cover sauce-pan closely when making apple sauce. Sugar toughens cellulose. If sauce is desired cook without sugar, adding it when apples are cooked. If whole pieces are preferred make a syrup and drop apples in it.

Bake apples in a moderate oven to prevent skin breaking. Less sugar is required if added after fruit is cooked.

Here is a new way to prepare wieners—with apples—which should make an excellent main dish to serve luncheon guests this holiday season.

Ingredients: Six tablespoons butter; two tablespoons prepared mustard; one-half cup light corn syrup; four tart apples (pared and quartered); eight wieners.

Melt butter in frying-pan. Add mustard and corn syrup. Mix well. Add apples and wieners. Cover and cook 10 to 12 minutes. Place wieners on platter surrounded by apples. Four syrup over all. Serves four.

SOUP INTEREST—For soup interest add any of the following garnishes:

Sliced gherkins; thin slices of lemon; browned bacon and onion; sliced stuffed olives; chopped chives or parsley; toasted almonds; tiny mushrooms.

A merry Christmas for now and always to all of our friends and to all of our neighbors. May they always be as one.

HOUSEKEEPING

SUPPER AFTER NOON CHRISTMAS DINNER HOMEMAKER'S PROBLEM

Christmas dinner at noon is the custom in many homes on account of the children. Then the problem of what to have for supper confronts the homemaker. She wants something easy to prepare or something that can be prepared ahead of time—perhaps the day before.

After the special dinner and the tendency to eat just "one more slice of turkey" and "just a wee bit of pudding," which was so very good, no one wants any rich food. A refreshing jellied salad with thin bread and butter is usually a good choice. Plenty of crisp celery curls, carrot sticks and pickles should be passed separately. A dessert of cheese and crackers with a little tart jelly is just right and, of course, there will be fruit cake. For the children, who have not dined so sumptuously as the adults, ice cream in the shape of Santa Claus or Christmas bells will be a perfect ending to their day. These special moulds are usually made by the dairies but a homemade Apple Ice Cream may be frozen in jelly glasses or other moulds and, after they are turned out to serve, a few small bright colored candies sprinkled over will give the effect of a decorated tree. The bits of bright red apple skin add to the effect. To make the Apple Ice Cream even more colorful, home economists suggest covering the bottom of the freezing tray or little moulds with cold cranberry sauce before topping with the ice cream mixture. Incidentally the adults as well as the children would no doubt enjoy this not-too-sweet frozen dessert.

TOMATO PINK MOULD
1 tablespoon gelatine
¼ cup cold water
1 10-oz. can tomato soup
1 cup sieved cottage cheese or 1 4-oz. package cream cheese
1 cup mayonnaise
1 cup diced celery
1 teaspoon minced onion
¼ cup silvered, blanched almonds
2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickles

Soak gelatine in cold water for 5 minutes. Heat soup and add the soaked gelatine, stirring until dissolved. Chill. Combine the cheese, mayonnaise, celery, onion, almonds and sweet pickles. Add to the gelatine mixture.

blending well. Pour into one large mould or individual moulds which have been lightly oiled or rinsed with cold water. Chill until set. Unmould on lettuce and serve with mayonnaise. Yield: 10 to 12 servings.

CRANBERRY-ORANGE MOULD
2 cups raw cranberries
1 small orange
1 cup sugar
Dash of salt
1½ tablespoons gelatine
½ cup cold water
1½ cups apple juice

Put cranberries and orange (rind and pulp) through the food chopper, using the medium blade. Mix well with the sugar and let stand over night. Soak gelatine in the water for 5 minutes. Heat apple juice, add gelatine and stir until dissolved. Stir in the cranberry-orange mixture. Pour into one large ring mould or six individual moulds, rinsed with cold water or brushed with oil. Chill until firm. Unmould and serve with salad dressing. Yield: 6 servings. This is nice with sliced ham, chicken or turkey or moulded in a ring and filled with crisp green salad.

APPLE ICE CREAM
1 teaspoon gelatine
1 tablespoon cold water
2 cups grated unpeeled apples (4 medium tart red apples)
½ cup fruit or fine granulated sugar
½ pint whipping cream
Soak gelatine in cold water for 5 minutes, dissolve over hot water. Grate the unpeeled apples. After grating a small amount of apple, measure and sprinkle with sugar until 2 cups apple are measured. Whip cream and add dissolved gelatine, blending well. Fold in apple mixture and freeze until set. Yield: 6 servings.

NOTE: For a less rich ice cream, use ½ cup hot milk plus ¾ cup whipping cream in place of the ½ pint whipping cream. Dissolve the soaked gelatine in the hot milk and cool until mixture is partially set. Combine with grated apple. Fold in whipped cream and freeze.

LAVENHAM, ENGLAND

Natural Look In Busline

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP)—The American bosom is coming down. "It's these low necklines," explained Mrs. Ida Rosenthal. "You can't have such high busts—you need more space."

Mrs. Rosenthal is an authority on the subject. With her husband, she is a founder of a brassiere company which she says is the world's largest.

For the last 10 years, women have been moulded into high, pointed and exaggerated buslines. This reached its peak with sweater girls and female celebrities boasting about the size of their foundation garments.

"Now we're getting back to the natural bust look," says Mrs. Rosenthal. "It's still a little high and so probably it will go a little lower. That's fashion for you."

Mrs. Rosenthal undertook to explain exactly what a "natural bust look" means.

"Take a girl of 16," she said. "There you will find the perfect bust—firm, cute and no need for support. But by the time she's 20, she's started to sag—and after that . . ."

Mrs. Rosenthal says that the "well-brassiered woman" is the one who has the silhouette of an un-brassiered girl of 16, no matter what her real age.

ENGINEERING PROBLEM

Providing American women with spurious but apparently attractive youth facades is primarily an engineering problem, Mrs. Rosenthal said, adding her husband designs the garments for their firm.

"It's a matter of knowing stresses and strains, and throwing the weight onto the shoulders," she said. "Or providing supports to carry the weight in the strapless brassieres. Both my husband I are a little embarrassed when we think of our first ones, in the '20s—just a flat band shirred to make the cups."

The industry is at work to improve brassieres and to make them adaptable to circumstances. Current models are adjustable, for example, so that a woman may wear her bosoms higher when she's in heavy clothes and needs the emphasis.

For sweaters or sheerer dresses she advises the more natural look. "I'd say the way to find the correct elevation is about 10 inches from the shoulder line. Less for short women, more for tall ones."

To be specific, these are the correct figures: for short girls (5 feet, four or less), 9½ inches from shoulder to mid-bosom; medium (5 feet, six), 10½ inches; tall (5 feet, nine and over), 11¼ inches.

"There's really no excuse for a woman not to look as good as a young girl," said Mrs. Rosenthal. "That's what most women want to look like. And their husbands want them to look like that, too."

Toys For Christmas

How did you choose the toys for your youngsters this Christmas?

A New York toy manufacturer declares that only a few parents will select the proper playthings for their children each Christmas.

Most, he said, buy toys that please themselves, rather than the children.

The man, who owns a company that makes creative playthings, warns that "gadgets" toys may be harmful and frustrating. And, he adds, children quickly tire of them.

"The best toy a parent can buy," he said, "is a set of plain, unpainted, wooden unit blocks. Children will use and enjoy them from age 18 months to nine years."

He said that girls between age three and seven should have a "doll corner." He said the corner should be supplied first with a large wooden stove, bed and cupboard.

"The doll corner will become the most treasured play place in the little girl's life," he said.

He contends boys from ages two to seven mostly enjoy "transportation" play—trucks, cars and boats.

There was no statement about what parents should choose at Christmas for the young teenage boy or girl—in the 13-16-year-old group, whose interests already are deeply grained in social activities, and who prefer parties and dances to play-at-home activities.

Perhaps by next year this manufacturer or some child psychologist will have solved this problem.

Ontario Student Expert on Wells

CARON, Sask. (C)—Ada Snider, 21-year-old student at Briarcrest Bible Institute here, goes home to Woodbridge, Ont., between terms—to drill wells.

Pretty Miss Snider who hopes soon to qualify as a missionary, believes she is the only woman well-driller in Ontario. And there are not many in all Canada.

For years, when not studying at the undenominational institute here, she has helped her 64-year-old father to drill wells. She loves the outdoor work and the thrill of striking a good water supply.

Miss Snider and her father, J. N. Snider, recently brought in one of the best wells seen in years in the vegetable-growing Holland Marsh district 35 miles north of Toronto. Until capped, it ran 50,000 gallons a day. The pure, pressure-fed supply now is distributed through pipes to half a dozen big market gardens.

On the job Ada wears a plain shirt, blue jeans and rubber boots. She keeps her hair bound tightly to avoid accidents while working with drilling machinery.

"It's a healthy job," she says, "except for the occasional drenching you get trying to cap a well."

Mr. and Mrs. Edward ("Ham") Monelli and son arrived Friday on the Chilcoot to spend the Christmas season with Mr. Anonelli's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. Strachan, 2000 Avenue.

Stuart Gilmour, who has been employed as a civil engineer with Columbia Cellulose at their Wascor Island project, sailed Thursday night on the Prince George for Vancouver where he has accepted a position with the B.C. Electric.

A large number of friends gathered at the Prince George Thursday night to bid farewell to Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Morley, who sailed for Westview where Mr. Morley has been transferred in the service of the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

Steven Nelson, convicted recently on a charge of forging in connection with the endorsement of a pay check, was sentenced to three months imprisonment. Nelson had come into possession of a drinking companion's check and later signed the victim's name and cashed it.

British Columbia Air Liner Is Down Between Vancouver And Penticton Found Today On Mountain

Plane Intact In Snow Field—Six Known Alive and Possibly Twelve Others

VANCOUVER (CP)—A missing DC3 Canadian Pacific Air Lines plane was found today high up on snowcovered Mount Okanagan, 20 miles north of Penticton. Six persons were sighted around the plane.

The aircraft with 15 passengers and crew of three on board, failed to arrive at Penticton where she was due at 2:30 yesterday afternoon. Two search planes reported sighting what they believed to be signal fires and signs of life near the top of Mount Okanagan between Princeton and Penticton. A ground party was dispatched to the mountainous country today and eight Royal Canadian Air Force planes and a helicopter went out this morning to maintain a continuous search. Icing conditions were making flying conditions very difficult. Canadian Pacific Air Lines officials have identified 17 of the 18 persons aboard the missing plane. Identity of one of the passengers on the vanished plane is not yet known.

The plane evidently crashed high up the 5,500-foot mountain.

A Royal Canadian Air Force search plane, pin-pointing the plane for a ground search party, reported the aircraft appeared to be "practically intact." It had landed in deep snow on the side of the mountain across Okanagan Lake from Penticton.

A signal fire was burning near the plane around which six persons were standing, frantically waving bright firebrands.

The signal fire was first spotted by a Royal Canadian Air Force search plane around 3:30 a.m. before the daylight ground party, including a doctor, headed into the mountains from Penticton.

The "pin point" plane reported back that it had sighted the land search party beating its way through deep snow and woods.

"It will take the party some time to reach the plane," said a Royal Canadian Air Force spokesman.

The C.P.A. is dropping supplies at the scene and Royal Canadian Air Force aircraft is heading for the scene with additional supplies and medical kits.

It is possible that other survivors are in the plane or sheltered out of view of air searchers.

EARLIER REPORT The search planes reporting the find stated that they saw what appeared to be people fanning the signal fires.

The twin-engined airliner was first officially reported missing three hours after it left Vancouver at 1 p.m. although the first anxiety was felt by the company when it failed to reach Penticton—180 miles east—when due there an hour and a half later.

By that time it was presumed that the aircraft was down in the hilly country just west of Penticton. The craft had been reported sighted over Princeton.

The plane was bound for Calgary with regular stops enroute at Cranbrook as well as Penticton.

Heavy fog settled over the region early yesterday. Visibility was poor and there were also intermittent showers and heavy icing conditions.

The last radio report from the plane was when it was 40 miles east of Vancouver. It was then flying at 15,000 feet. Snow up to four feet covered the mountains in that area.

The plane was believed to have only enough fuel to last until 6:15 p.m.

Royal Canadian Air Force said it was geared to start an intensive search when the weather cleared.

At Lethbridge it was reported that all air control tower men across Canada were engaged in a radio search.

The airliner was due to arrive at Cranbrook at 4:30 p.m. There is a landing strip at Castlegar on the plane's route but no stop was scheduled there yesterday because of adverse weather.

Some air traffic was reported in and out of Penticton field early yesterday but, by 1:30 p.m., the ceiling had dropped to 1800 feet. Rain fell during the morning but had stopped by mid-afternoon.

Officials said that a radio message heard at Princeton, near Penticton, was "routine."

First speculation was that the plane might have gone on to Alberta.

One company spokesman said: "We are just sitting here waiting for the pilot to telephone us and say where he landed." As hours passed, however, hope of such a message coming seemed to dwindle.

The spokesman added that the company believed the pilot had cleared the most treacherous mountain route and may have landed somewhere in Alberta. (This did not jibe with today's discovery of the landing on Okanagan Mountain.)

The weather in Alberta was reported very good for flying.

"We are not overly anxious about it," the early spokesman said. "The weather was bad today but we expect the plane went on to a prairie air field and was not able to reach us by radio to tell us."

SHOW KOREA FLAG

GUELPH, ONT. — A Korean flag and the U.N. flag, presented to Rev. Charles McGee of Guelph at a ceremony at the U.S. cemetery near Incheon in Korea, have been sent to the city by Major McGee, serving with the U.S. Forces. Major McGee said he thought they were the first such flags to be sent to Canada from Korea.

Bloody Xmas In Korea

Massive Onslaught by Chinese Communists Generally Expected

TOKYO — The bereaved United States Eighth Army, with its fighting commander dead, faced up today to the growing probability of a bloody Christmas in battle.

The first staggering blow of the season was the loss of Lt. General Walton H. Walker who was killed in a jeep smash-up while driving to the front lines.

The second is expected to be a massive onslaught by the Communist Chinese who may already have fought their way across the 38th parallel in force into South Korea.

General MacArthur's headquarters quickly announced the appointment of Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgeway to succeed Walker as Eighth Army chief.

AIR NEWS GOOD

Only in the air was news good today. Six American F-86 Sabre jets shot down six Russian-built MIG-315 jets Friday in a battle that flared from tree-top level to thin air six miles up. Three Sabres damaged one other MIG and chased eight to 13 across the border to the Reds' sanctuary in Manchuria.

ON FIGHTING FRONTS

There was virtually no news from Hungnam beachhead in northeast Korea where the United States Tenth Corps elements were last reported holding a tiny pocket on the Sea of Japan.

MacArthur's headquarters said United Nations forces there replied to Communist attempts to crash the Hungnam perimeter Saturday.

However, in Central Korea reports of Chinese forces massing along the 38th parallel mounted with the passing hours.

MacArthur's headquarters said Eighth Army patrols had run into the Chinese Reds somewhere near Chongye, village two miles south of the border.

Air Force pilots reported artillery movements farther north.

MacArthur's Saturday afternoon war summary said one more Chinese army corps, 64,000 or more troops, have crossed recently from Manchuria into Korea.

Truman Is Optimistic

KANSAS CITY — President Truman said last night that the American people "are in excellent shape" to meet a world crisis and predicted the crisis will be solved.

"All we need now," said the President, "is time and that is what we are fighting for."

Mr. Truman spoke at a Masonic dinner in his home town.

Harry Innes Is Given $500 Bail

Case of Harry Innes, 26-year old native charged with theft as a result of alleged shoplifting in Manson's Jewelry store Thursday, has been remanded in city police court until December 29. Bail has been set at $500 which sum had not been raised up to noon today. Mrs. P. M. Ray is acting as counsel for Innes.

It's Same Christmas Scene From Halifax West to Prince Rupert

Barrington, King, St. Catherine, Yonge, Sparks, Portage, Scarth, Jasper, Granville, Government and Third Avenue... these streets from Halifax to Prince Rupert, some thousands of miles apart, appeared pretty much alike today.

Most were decorated appropriately for the Yuletide season. All are congested with wild-eyed Christmas shoppers on their last shopping day.

Also crowded to capacity were buses, trains and planes leaving terminals with cargoes of "home for Christmas" passengers in what travel officials predict may be the biggest peacetime holiday movement in Canada's history. The long week-end and the feeling that this could be the last Christmas for "easy" travelling apparently inspired the large-scale movement.

With Christmas Eve falling on Sunday, most night clubs in the larger cities are making their bid for the Christmas trade tonight. Licensed establishments in Montreal, however, will sell beer and wines December 24 and 25 until the evening.

The festival of Christ's nativity will be celebrated in churches across the country during the week-end. In Quebec City alone, about 200 midnight masses will be sung in Roman Catholic churches, chapels and public places in the first hours of Christmas morning.

Most Canadian cities should have a white Christmas this year, but Prince Rupert, Vancouver and Toronto apparently are going to be exceptions. Vancouver, which surprised everyone last year by having two feet of snow, has rain coming up for Christmas Day, and the lack of snow has already forced cancellation of the holiday-scheduled ski meets. However, it hasn't disturbed the holiday spirit of the fishing fleets which came into Vancouver and Prince Rupert with Christmas trees perched gaily on ships' masts.

Russia To Turn Down Conference

MOSCOW—Expectation is that Russia will turn down the terms of the Western Powers for a conference of Big Four foreign ministers. The western powers want the parley on broader lines than merely that of the German question. Russia would confine it to that.

VICTORIA — Premier Byron Johnson, in a Christmas message, called for a rededication of spirit of the people in view of present conditions. People must be persuaded that there was a better way of life than strife and fear.

Just Missed Plane Wreck

Miss Gloria Sather, physical training director at the Prince Rupert Civic Centre, narrowly missed being a passenger on the Vancouver-Calgary plane which came to grief near Penticton yesterday afternoon.

Miss Sather had booked on the plane for the flight from Vancouver to Penticton, where she is to spend Christmas, but changed at the last minute and went by train.

Mass Executions Are Being Stopped

SEOUL — United States officials say that the government of the Republic of Korea has promised to stop mass executions of convicted persons. They say the executions will henceforth be carried out individually and only in cases of "most heinous" crimes.

The promise was announced the day after British Brigadier Tom Brodier stopped some executions, saying that he would not have people executed on his doorstep.

A British source said Brodier had intervened against the shooting of civilians after 23 had been "done in."

Police Court Fines Lower

Police fines and court costs for the month of November took a big drop from the October total and were less than 45 per cent of peak total for the year in August. Fines and costs in November amounted to $1,083.50 compared with $1,850 in October and $2,467.75 in August.

The monetary loss from Criminal Code complaints was assessed at $1,580.50, while recoveries amounted to $705.

No reckless driving charges were laid, although there were six motor vehicle accidents.

There were 40 convictions under the Criminal Code, 37 under the Indian Act, 40 under the Government Liquor Act, one under the Motor Vehicle Act, one under the Highway Act, one under the Protection of Children Act, one under the Hospital Insurance Act, one under the Juvenile Delinquents Act and 19 under city bylaws.

Victims of the War in Korea

Many children have lost their parents in the fighting in Korea. In Seoul an orphanage was destroyed. Forty or more of the children were killed, or were missing, according to a U.N. information officer on the spot. Some 50 children survived the destruction of this orphanage and have since been moved to other quarters. U.N.'s work in assisting Korea's children still goes on. Above is shown a group of war orphans, who were found wandering in the ruins of Seoul, being taken to the Seoul Civic Orphanage by a United Nations welfare officer on the staff of the Unified Command in Korea.

Boxer Defies French Reds

PARIS —The American boxer Ray Robinson said "nuts" yesterday to French Communists.

The negro welterweight champion made this one-word comment following attack against him in the official Communist press.

Robinson had taken a punch at the Communists Thursday by publicly denying Red propaganda that American negroes suffer discrimination.

London hairdressing parlors are swamped with the rush for "shingles" or "bobs" by women and girls who wish to be at the peak of attractiveness during the holidays. At some of the West End shops as many as 600 customers daily are attended to, while men wishing haircuts are unable to get them.

A quiet service this week united in marriage Miss Jean Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Ross, and Victor Menzies, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Menzies, Victoria. Rev. G. G. Hacker officiated at the ceremony, which took place at the United Church parsonage.

Ray Reflects and Reminisces

Thousands bent on spending their earnings are swarming into Vancouver. They come from the industrial camps along the coast, and from interior points. Some, when the job resumes next month, may be feeling the need of getting back to work. It's the other fellow's idea of having a good time and he's entitled to it. This has been going on ever since there has been a Vancouver.

Everything in Prince Rupert, of course, is on a smaller scale but there is plenty who come this way from various towns, villages and camps in Skeena to do their buying and to enjoy Christmas in this city. There are numerous stores showing lavish and attractive variety. There is entertainment. In fact, there's plenty of nearly everything to provide what you're looking for. Rupert is becoming more and more the northern centre, as Yule draws its colorful charm and beauty nearer and nearer.

on whom he placed so much dependence—his field commander, General Walton Walker — was killed in a motoring accident. And a Chinese Communist drive looked for sometime soon. It may be earlier now!

In Prince Rupert we associate Christmas with December. So does Capetown—but it's in the very heart of a matchless summer. There spring is in September, October, November, Summer is during December, January, February; autumn, March, April and May, and winter, June, July and August. Yet, there is never winter as Canada understands it. The average annual rainfall is between 20 and 25 inches, the wettest months being June, July and August. But even in this season there is a daily average of more than five hours of bright sunshine and 15 days a month when rain does not fall at all.

Maj. J. D. Horne, officer commanding the Canadian Scottish stationed here, sailed last night on the Cardena for the holiday at Victoria.

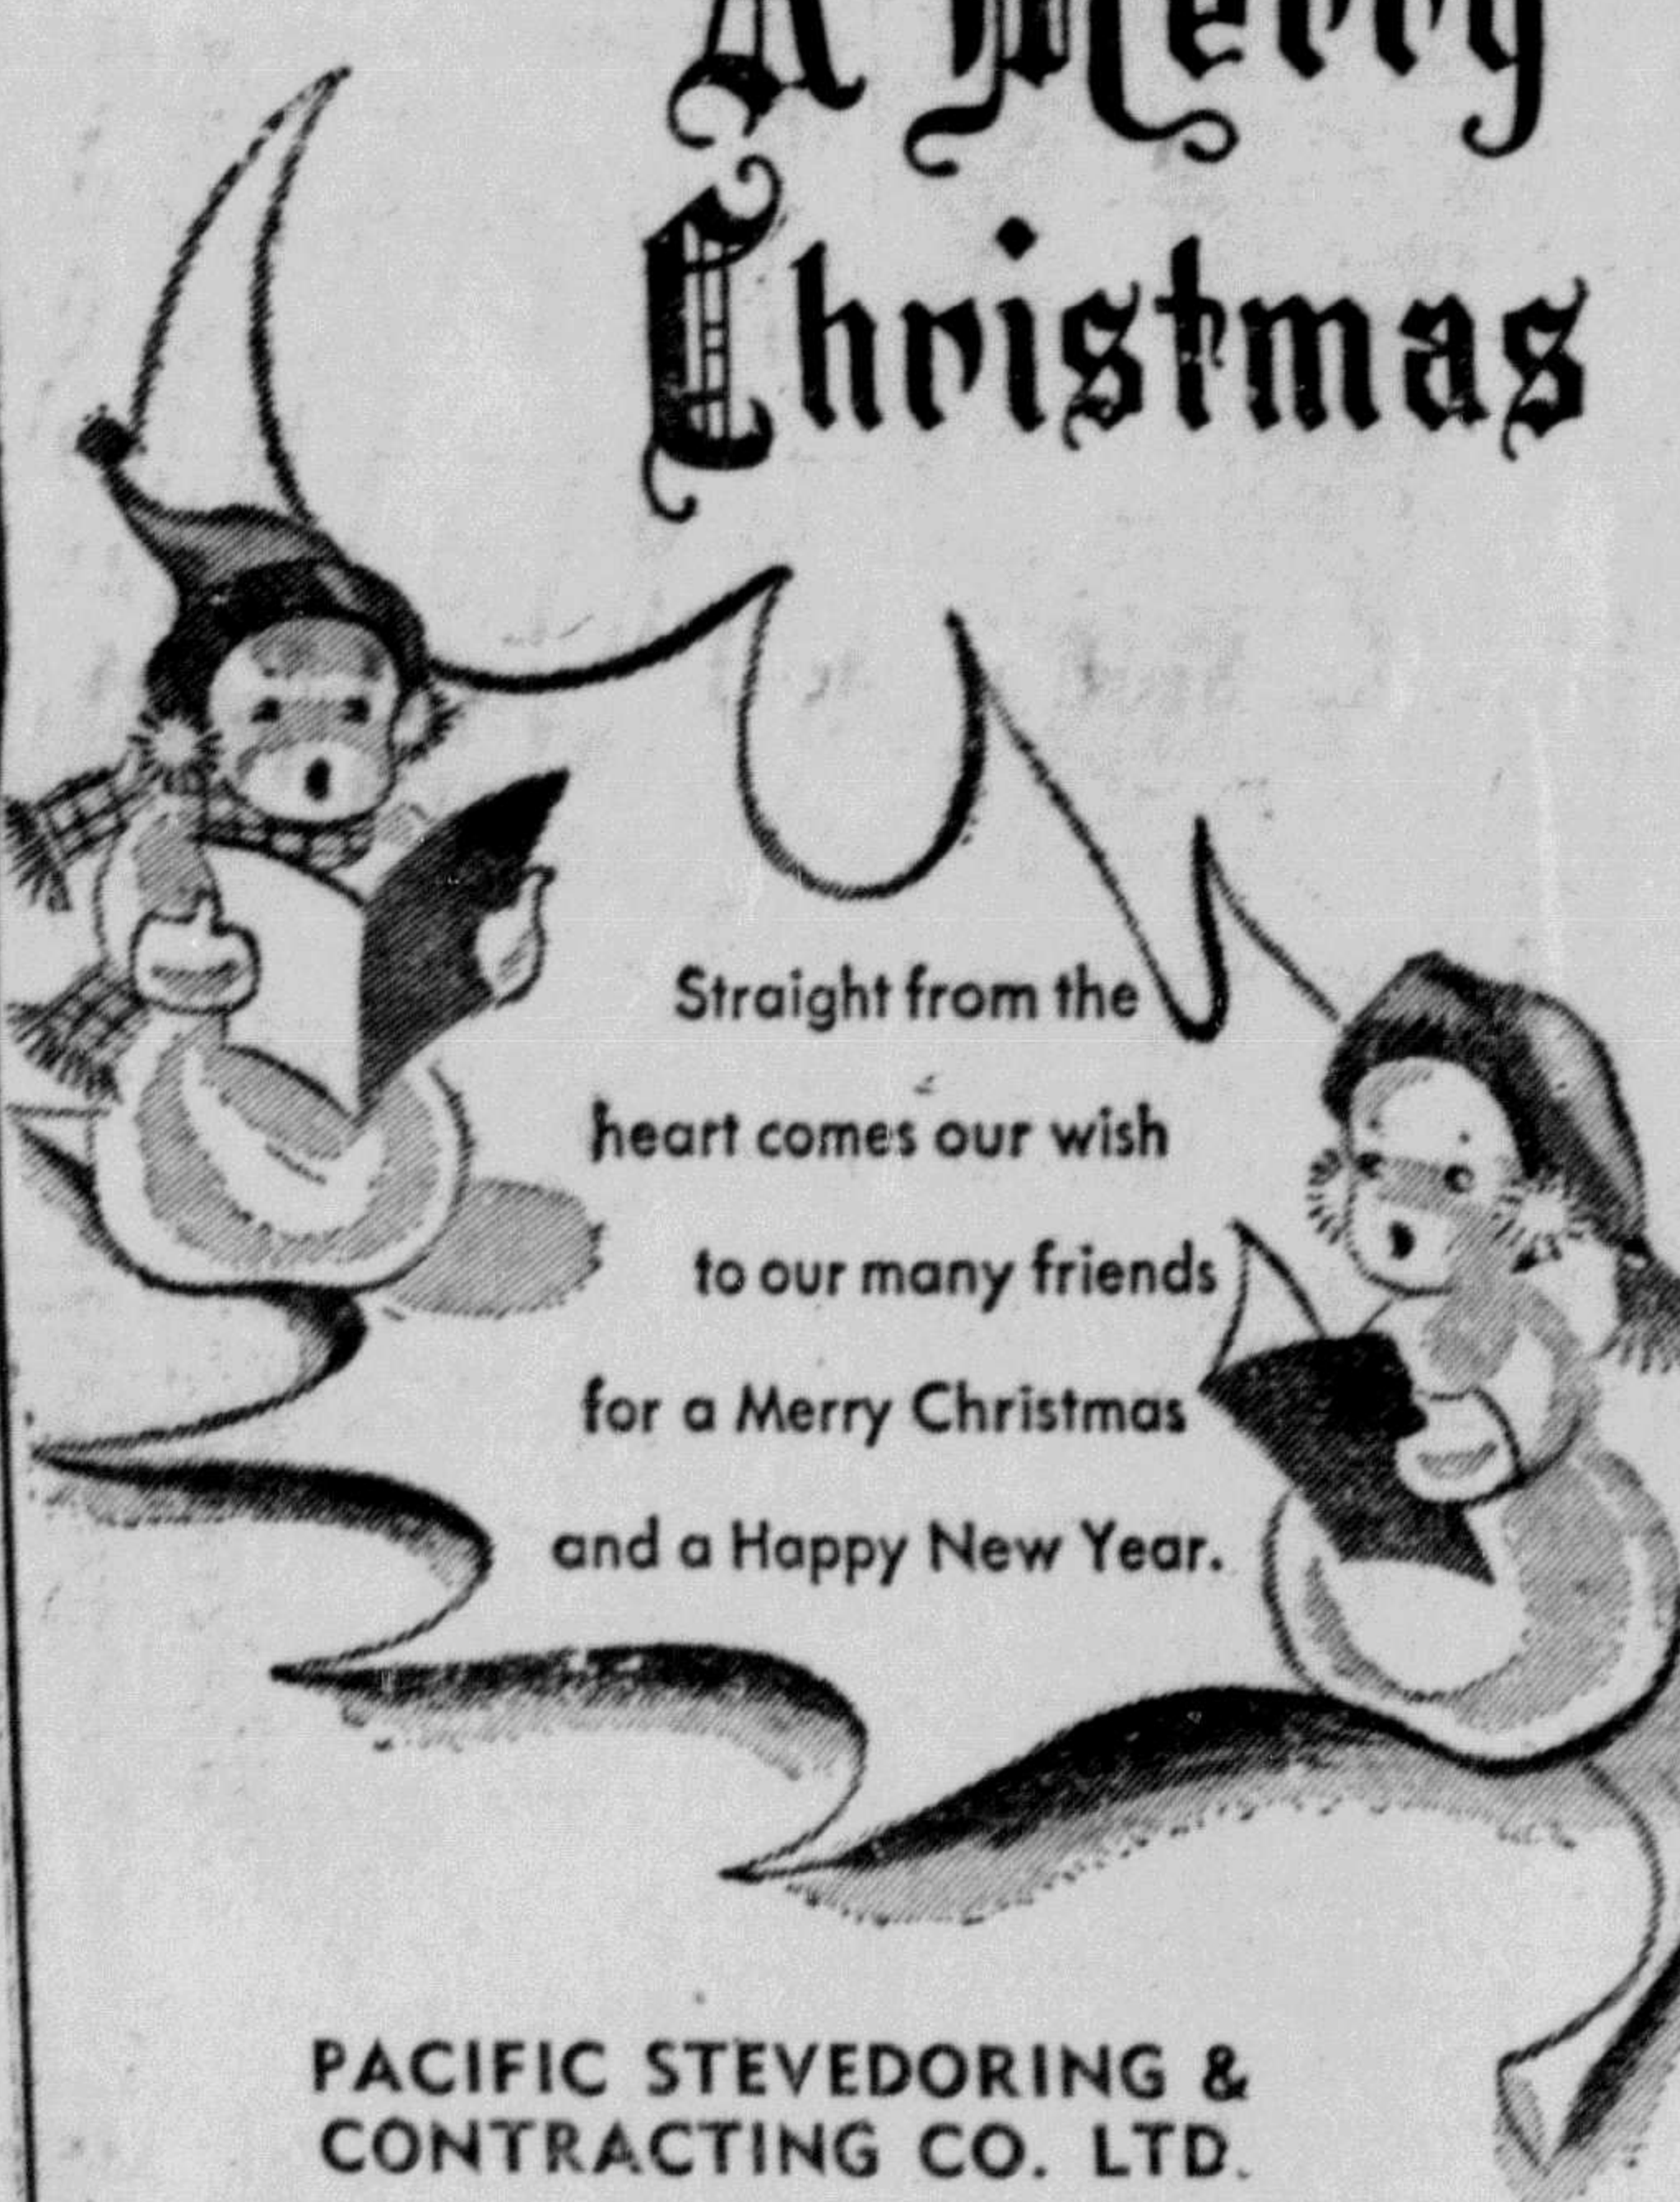

Today is the twenty-third of December, with no frost, air as soft as autumn and the townsite without a snowflake. The only snow visible is miles high—away on the mountain tops. And that's about the right distance. Pretty soft for almost mid-winter. It's a week from January, and once that month is reckoned with the past, there's nothing to worry about.

Exposure of Death

Death of Philip Victor was found by a coroner's jury yesterday afternoon to have been some time Thursday from alcoholism and in the entrance to a beyond the end of Comox Bay, whose body was found on a boat at Cow Bay in broken condition. Charlie Sankey, to have been with him as far as the Third Avenue and First where he "passed out." then went for a cab, took them to the end of Avenue. With the help of Philip's brother Howard, they tried to get Philip home, but were unsuccessful. Howard later moved him under the partial cover of the entranceway where he was found dead. Howard said Philip was alive when he had last seen him about 7 a.m. Thursday.

The evidence of Dr. L. M. Greene was that, after examining the body, he had found no evidence of foul play. In his opinion death was due to over-indulgence in alcohol and exposure. The contusions found on his face and marks on the body would not be factors contributing to the death.
Jurors were William Clark, foreman, Rene VanWalleghan, Henry Hanson, James Kelly, Oscar Hovdebo, Leo Micholuk.
Mr. and Mrs. F. Lambert will be passengers on the southbound trip of the Chilcotin tomorrow night for Vancouver.

Sgt. Potterton To Court House

Former divisional headquarters of the provincial police in the basement floor of the Court House, which the police radio operator has had to himself for the past three months since Inspector F. B. Woods-Johnson left here after the Royal Canadian Mounted Police took over the B.C. Police, is to be occupied again as area headquarters.
Sergeant L. A. N. Potterton, whose promotion to take over command of northwest British Columbia was announced this week, will now make his headquarters there.
Corp. A. E. Wales is now the city chief following the promotion of Sgt. Potterton to the wider duties.

Christendom's Festival Is Opening In Prince Rupert

Once again Christmas brings a three-day week-end vacation to Prince Rupert since Tuesday, as Boxing Day, will be generally observed as a holiday. Therefore, as normal activities are suspended on this Christmas Eve, the resumption will not take place until Wednesday.

Recent days have marked many departures of single folk heading southward for the vacation season. Planes, steamers and trains have been taxed in a movement culminating this week.

There have also been happy homecomings of students and others for the essentially family holiday.

Home dinners will, of course, be the keynote feature for the most of folk after they have unloaded their Christmas trees and emptied their stockings. Larger social functions will be deferred in the most of cases to Boxing Day or as New Year approaches.

Christmas Sunday will, as usual, be marked with special services in all the city churches (announcements appear on a special page in the Daily News today). Midnight mass will be celebrated in the Church of the Annunciation with the devout of that faith being joined by friends of other denominations for the pageant-like rite.

War clouds may hover and there may be trials and tribulations but the most of Prince Rupert will pause these next three days in observance of Christendom's great festival.

There will be special thought of those homes where thoughts turned to loved ones in the battle areas which even today have developed.

Kinsmen's Tree Attracts 600

The Civic Centre was invaded yesterday afternoon by about 600 youngsters young for Christmas joys at the Kinsmen's Club party.

Following movies shown by Principal R. E. Moore of King Edward School, Santa Claus led community singing and passed out bags of candy and nuts. His supply ran out before he had completed his rounds but Kinsmen came to his rescue and filled more bags. None went without.

The scene shifted last night to Miller Bay Hospital. There all the children received treats and Santa Claus handed out presents to all children under 12. Club members were later served coffee by the staff. The committee in charge consisted of Mickey Fudger, chairman, Bill Lawrence, Harry Swaffield and Eric James who were assisted by all club members who were able to get to the parties.

President Eddie Garner of the Kinsmen was pleased with the co-operation he received from Civic Centre officials, Mr. Moore, Hugo Kraupner and the staff at Miller Bay for the co-operation the club received to make the parties a success.

NEW YORK (AP)—Walter Damrosch, aged 88, noted conductor and composer, died last night. He suffered a heart attack.

The white-haired German-born musician had retired in 1926 but came back a year later to begin a new career of bringing music to schools and home via radio.

BUSY SEASON
SYDNEY, N.S. (AP)—The pre-Christmas rush in the year was reported by T. J. Hilly, manager of the Employment Office here, to demand for extra employees. Christmastime was said to boost trade.

Farm Yield is Cut This Year

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (C.P.) — For Canada's weather-bitten farmers the year 1950 will probably go down as one of vast opportunities lost, opportunities that might have given rural folk added millions to their high production and living costs.

For 1950 was the year of the big frost, that destroyed millions of bushels of prairie wheat, delayed harvesting and cut the quality of much of what was left for storage, consumption and export.

It was the year, too, when the world, faced with the threat of war, gave urgent thought to stockpiling of food and the world market for food swung wide open.

Because of the frost damage, Canada likely would be unable to handle all of the increased demand. It appeared unlikely that she would have sufficient stocks to fill the entire 219,000,000-bushel quota she had under the International Wheat Agreement for 1950-51.

Other basic industries, such as paper and oil, fared much better. Paper production, a top dollar-earner for Canada, increased production in the first 10 months to 4,391,000 tons from 4,324,000 tons a year ago.

Oil made a more spectacular claim. In the first nine months, output from Canadian wells rose to 20,296,000 barrels, a near 25-percent increase over the 15,700,000 barrels in the same period a year ago.

WHEAT TROUBLES

In at least these two phases of the Canadian economy, prosperity in 1951 appeared far more assured than that in wheat. Adding to Canada's wheat troubles was a shortage in box cars and a sharp drop in total movements to east coast ports in the fall months.

Freighters which had been channelled from the United Kingdom and other overseas points to Halifax and Saint John, N.B., to pick up Canadian wheat had to be diverted to American ports because of the lack of Canadian supplies. That meant that Britain, Canada's biggest wheat customer, was buying wheat from the United States at a time when she might have purchased from Canada.

Britain had promised to buy between 110,000,000 and 120,000,000 bushels from Canada in the 1950-51 crop year. She could not buy it, however, if the wheat was not there ready to move.

Of the total 578,000,000 bushels, including carry-over, available in Canada as the new crop year began Aug. 1, probably no more than about 265,000,000 bushels would be millable grades, adequate for grinding into flour and production of bread.

Of that amount, Canada needed about 45,000,000 bushels of millable wheat for her own use and another 45,000,000 to carry over until wheat from the 1951 crop is harvested next September. All in all, that would leave Canada with about 175,000,000 bushels to meet a 219,000,000-bushel I.W.A. quota.

The lower-quality wheat would be sold as feed. Income from this wheat would, of course, be lower than that from millable grades. However, one thing the farmer was certain of—he had an initial price of $1.40 per bushel for No. 1 Northern, basis delivery at wheat board elevators.

He also had a promise that the board would make a final payment under the five-year pool which ended July 31. That payment may go a long way in helping the western farmer over the rough edges in the 1950-51 crop year.

POTATO PROBLEMS

Other aspects of the Canadian farm economy were more buoyant with one exception, potatoes.

With the United States market for Canadian potatoes cut by the reduction in U.S. prices, Maritime growers appealed to the federal government for price support. The government's $200,000,000 agricultural price support program, made permanent by parliament in 1950, was extended to butter, eggs, cheese, bacon; why could it not be extended to potatoes?

Agriculture Minister Gardiner, at the ninth annual federal-provincial agricultural conference in December, told delegates the government was prepared to consider price support for potatoes, if the growers could get their "house in order" and get a well organized group to represent them.

It appeared that finally some kind of federal grant would be made to the potato industry, at the end of the selling year next spring, if the growers showed that the price they received for their product was below cost of production.

Honeymoon In Prince Rupert

FRANCOIS LAKE — The little Anglican Church at Francois Lake Landing was beautifully decorated with evergreens and pink and white streamers and flowers for a wedding service on Sunday morning when Rev. A. Atkinson united in marriage a young couple recently arrived from Scotland. There were cut flowers on the altar.

Margaret Mullen McGuinness arrived on Thursday morning at Burns Lake, having come by boat and train from her home in Tayness, Kilmartin, Argyll. The groom, William McFadzean, came to Canada a year ago from Dykesdonend, Galston, Ayrshire, and has been with the Fores. Branch at Smithers. The bride stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Keefe at Francois Lake Landing.

At 11 o'clock the bride entered the church with John Keefe, who gave her in marriage and walked up the aisle to the music of "Lohengrin" Wedding March played on the organ. She was lovely in a floor length white satin gown with her veil gathered into a headress of orange blossoms. She carried a white prayer book with white streamers dotted with pink flowers.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Hugh Neave who wore a turquoise floor length dress and halo headress. Ralph Keefe was groomsmen.

After the ceremony Mrs. R. Parlington sang "O Perfect Love."

The Christmas service followed and the singing of favorite carols. The wedding party then drove to the Keefe residence for the reception, after which the usual toasts were honored and the wedding cake cut. The young couple left for Prince Rupert for two weeks. They will reside in Smithers.

HENLEY, Suffolk, England (C.P.) — When Henley council decided to buy a truck, the purchasing committee made sure it would stand up under heavy loads. The council's heaviest member took it on a trial run to test the springs.

Ninety Years Old on 'Xmas

One of Prince Rupert's elder residents becomes a nonagenarian this Christmas Day and will have the best wishes of many friends.

She is Mrs. David Crocker of 1288 Park Avenue.

Mrs. Crocker was in the Klondyke in the days of 1898 and actually engaged in prospecting herself.

Despite her longevity, she is still keen and active.

She attributes her continued good health to her continual activity. She still comes downtown regularly to do her shopping.

Born in the Middle States December 25, 1860, Mrs. Crocker lived at the Queen Charlotte Islands for years before coming to Prince Rupert. Her husband, invalided with arthritis, was a former fisherman.

Both are always happy to have callers. E. A. Evans and Noel Jones have been among the latter, bringing them the movies and papers, a thoughtfulness fully appreciated.

MAYBE MORE CONTROLS
LONDON — New austerity measures may be accompanied by controls in Great Britain, it was reported today. There may be further cuts in domestic goods to finance the re-arming drive. The controls, like those of the second world war, would include the direction of labor, for women as well as men, the requisitioning of factories and other buildings and more governmental control over prices and materials.

Stanley F. Musial, St. Louis, led the National League in 1950, in slugging with .596. This brought his lifetime slugging average to .580 compiled during his nine-year stretch in National League. This tops the mark of .5768 and .5766 led, respectively, by John R. Mize and Rogers Hornsby. The latter pair saw longer service. Edward R. Stanky New York, received the most bases on balls, 144 and was hit the most often by pitched balls, 12. Roy F. Smalley, Chicago, struck out the most times, 114. Delmer Ennis, Philadelphia, grounded into the most double plays, 25. Of the players who participated in 100 or more games, Willard W. Marshall, Boston, struck out the fewest times, 5.

Brooklyn led teams of National League in slugging percentage, .444. New York received the most bases on balls, 627, was hit most often by pitched balls, 41, and grounded into the fewest double plays, 164. Chicago, by striking out 767 times, established a new National League mark, displacing the old record held by Boston of 707, made in 1937. Cincinnati struck out the fewest times, 497. Philadelphia grounded into the most double plays, 144. The National League by striking out 5007 times supplanted their old record of 4829 strikeouts made in 1916. Another league record of 4537 bases on balls was set as an old mark of 4476 made in 1947.

Increased minimum pensions for CPR employees. New rules increase the minimum pension for employees, already retired from $30 to $35 a month. One could, if he made up his mind, regard this as a Christmas remembrance.

Miss Brash, the demon overcaller, and her partner, Mr. Muzzy, were lots of help to their opponents on this hand. Mr. Dale opened the bidding with one diamond, and Miss Brash inserted a one-heart bid. Mrs. Keen jump-raised the diamonds and now Mr. Muzzy promptly and loudly called three hearts.

Do you see why this sequence of bids tended to make both Mrs. Keen and Mr. Dale more bullish on the hand? First consider Mrs. Keen's angle. At the start of the hand she had a very unfavorable-looking heart holding—a sacrifice at six hearts, which three quick losers. But as the bidding unfolded, this picture changed. Mr. Dale could almost be surely read for one heart and possibly none.

As Mr. Dale listened to the bidding it occurred to him that the opponents were likely to hold all the high heart honors and therefore Mrs. Keen's high cards were bound to fit his side suit holdings in clubs and spades.

So Mr. Dale sent a message to his partner, "no heart losers," by means of a four heart bid. If any of Mrs. Keen's strength had been in hearts (for example, if she held the king of hearts instead of the king of clubs) she would have been satisfied to try for five diamonds. But when her partner's cue-bid showed no heart losers at all, she logically considered the other suits to be pretty solid. Mr. Dale's response to her four no trump bid told Mrs. Keen all she wanted to know and she slammed the hand in diamonds.

The slam might have been reached without the help of Miss Brash and Mr. Muzzy. Certainly it would have been more difficult.

Mr. Muzzy thought of doubling six diamonds. He also considered a sacrifice at six hearts, which

FAMOUS STATESMEN

Famous Statesmen Head '50 Record of Deaths in World

By JOHN TRACY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Death cut deeply into the ranks of statesmen and political leaders in 1950. It removed three former heads of government in Commonwealth countries.

Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, 75, former Canadian Prime Minister, died peacefully at his summer home near Ottawa July 22. His aggregate of 21 years, five months and five days as Liberal Prime Minister was a Commonwealth record. He died nine months after giving up the leadership of his government.

Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts, 80, a leading architect of the British Commonwealth, the League of Nations and the United Nations, died September 11 in South Africa where he had twice headed the country's government.

In Wellington, N.Z., another co-founder of the United Nations, Peter Fraser, died December 12 at the age of 66. A Scottish-born cobbler's son, he emigrated to New Zealand as a youth and rose to head his country's Labor government through the critical years from 1940 to 1949.

In Bombay, India, Sardar Vallabhai Patel, Indian strong man and deputy prime minister, died December 15 at the age of 75. Sarat Chandra Bose, 61, leader of India's leftist United Socialist organization, died at Calcutta February 20.

Two of Mackenzie King's former colleagues who died during the year were Humphrey Mitchell, labor minister, and James A. Glen, resources minister from 1945 to 1948.

BRITISH POLITICIANS
Among British political figures who died in 1950 was Oliver Stanley, 54, ranked next to Winston Churchill and Anthony Eden in the Conservative party hierarchy. Others were Dr. Harold J. Lasky, 56, political scientist and Labor party leader; Viscount Hallsham, 78, former Lord High Chancellor, and the Duke of Devonshire, 55, former parliamentary undersecretary for Dominion affairs.

France lost two of her former leaders in the deaths of Leon Blum, 77, a former Socialist premier, and Albert Lebrun, 78, last president of the Third Republic.

Henry L. Stinson, 83, United States secretary of state under President Hoover and war secretary under Presidents Taft, Roosevelt and Truman, died October 20.

Some prominent names were taken from the sphere of royalty. Dowager Marchioness of Milford Haven 87, granddaughter of Queen Victoria, died in London September 24.

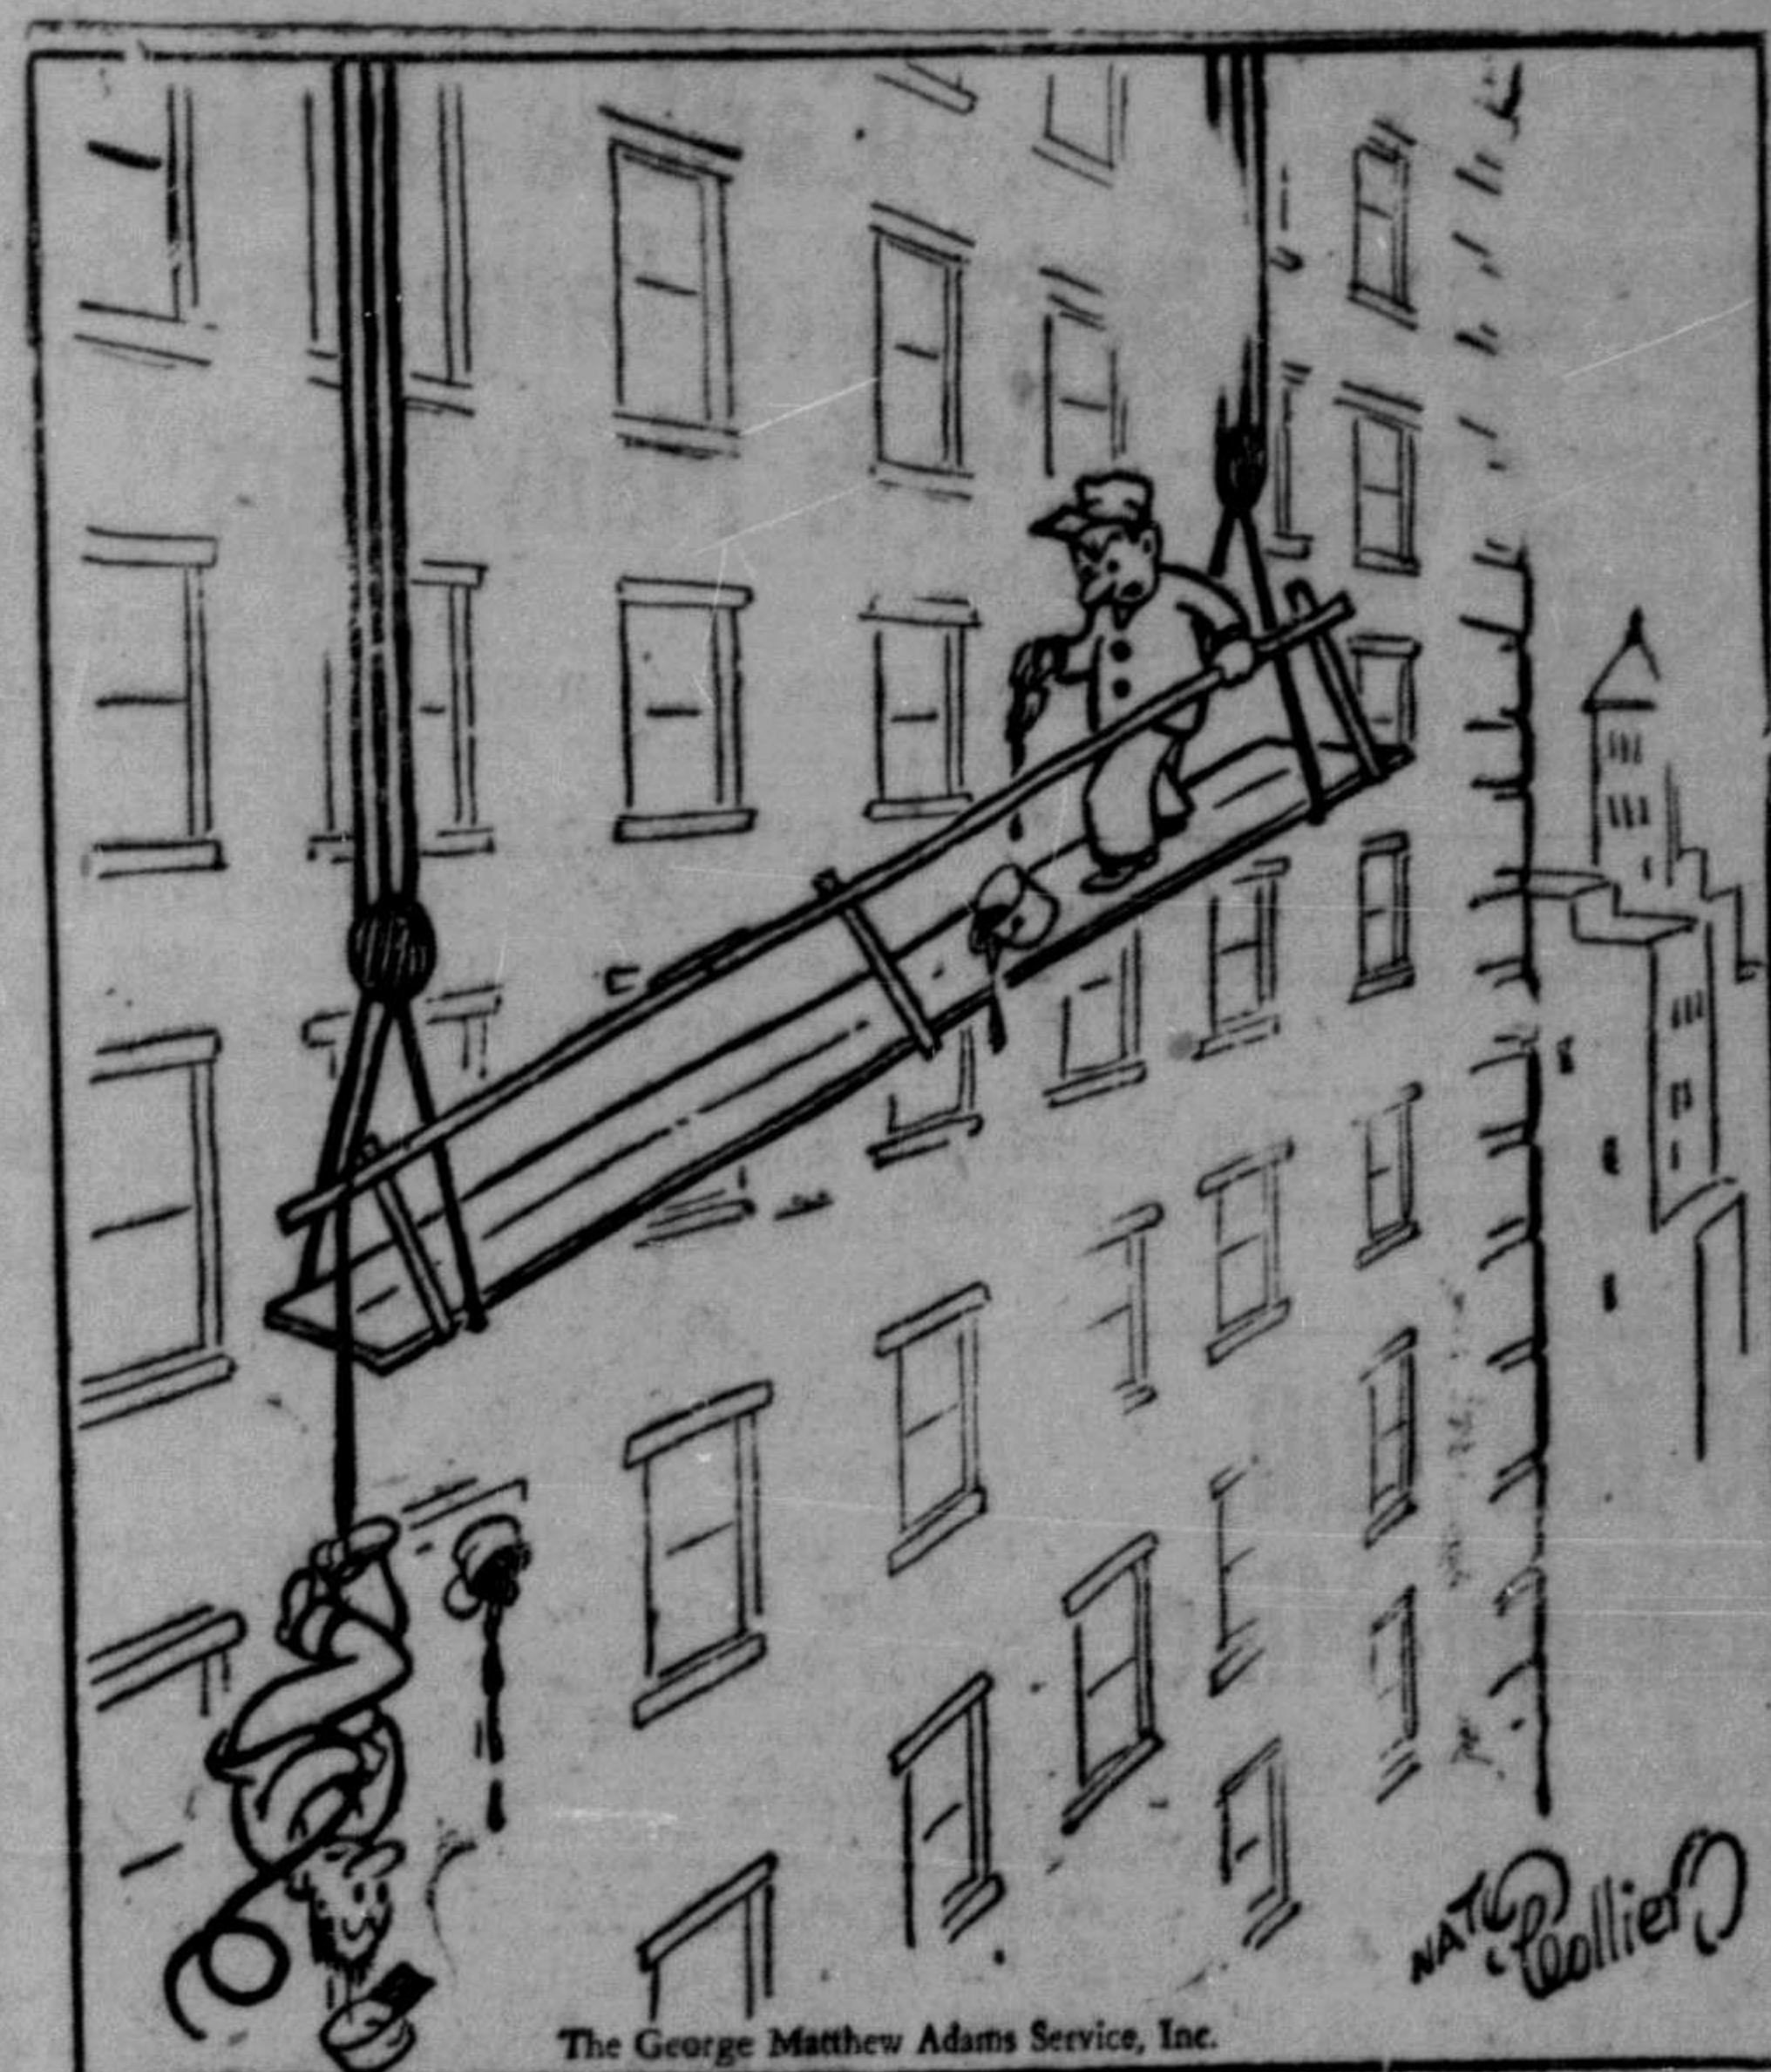

In Stockholm, King Gustaf of Sweden, 92, died October 29 after a reign of nearly 43 years. Prince Erik, cousin of the late King Christian X of Denmark, died in Copenhagen September 11. The prince renounced the right of succession to the throne to marry Lois Booth of Ottawa, from whom he was divorced in 1937.

Death cut a wide swath in the entertainment world.

Sir Harry Lauder, 79, world-famous Scottish comedian and minstrel, died at his Lanarkshire home February 26. Al Jolson, 67, the stage, screen and radio singer, died in San Francisco October 3.

Other deaths were those of Walter Huston, 66, Canadian-born actor; Vaslav Nijinsky, 60, one of the world's great dancers; Jane Cowl, 85, America's most famous Juliet; Nina Boucicault, 83, the actress for whom Barrie wrote Peter Pan; and Julia Marlowe, 85, most accomplished Shakespearian actress of her day.

The greatest name removed from the literary world was that of George Bernard Shaw. Ranked as literature's most biting wit and the greatest playwright of his time, Shaw died at Amot St. Lawrence in England at the age of 94.

The deaths were also recorded during the year of Edna St. Vincent Millay, 58, one of America's greatest poets; Warwick Deeping, 73, British novelist; Rafael Sabatini, historical novelist and biographer; and Edgar Rice Burroughs, 75, the novelist who created Tarzan.

The death in London February 4 of Baron Montagu Norman, 58, former governor of the Bank of England, removed one of the most powerful international financial figures of his time.

From the lists of Britain's armed services death removed the names of Field Marshal Earl Wavell, 67, commander in the Middle East early in the last war, and Admiral Sir Henry Harwood, 62, commander of the British cruiser squadron that fought the German battleship Graf Spee in 1939.

In the United States, General Henry (Hap) Arnold, Second World War commander of his country's Army Air Forces, died January 15 at the age of 63.

Prominent figures in religious life who died in 1950 were Most Rev. G. F. Kingston, 61, Anglican archbishop of Nova Scotia and primate of all Canada; Msgr. Alfonso de Romanis, 64, the Pope's vicar general for Vatican City; and Gen. Evangeline Booth, 84, former international Salvation Army supreme commander.

Mrs. Henry Ford, 84, widow of the auto maker and a philanthropist, died at Detroit September 29. Deaths of other prominent women were those of Alice Stone Blackwell, pioneer women's suffrage leader in the United States; and Lady Mendil, 84, American-born international society leader.

A plane crash March 28 killed Laurence Steinhardt, 57, United States ambassador.

IN SPORTS WORLD

One of Canada's all-time hockey greats who died in a motor accident near Gravenhurst, Ont., October 9 was George Hainsworth, three times winner of the Vezina trophy as the National Hockey League's best goalie.

The famous National Baseball League pitcher, Grover Cleveland (Pete) Alexander, died November 4. He had a record of winning 373 games.

Francois Lake To U.S. Air Force

FRANCOIS LAKE—There was a large gathering of friends of Bruce Snyder at their ranch on Thursday evening to bid him goodbye and wish him well. He is leaving for the States to join the Air Force and will travel down with Grace and Charles Millar in their car.

John A. Walker has taken over the trucking business of Fred Gardner.

Mrs. Jim Van Zanten returned this week from her visit to the States.

150-Ton Mill, Hazelton Mine

VANCOUVER.—Western Uranium Cobalt, with approximately $300,000 in working capital, plans a 150-ton mill installation on the Rocher de Boule property near New Hazelton, and to resume development in the spring of gold-uranium-cobalt claims adjoining. A purchase agreement covering a suitable milling plant is expected to be closed within the next few days, the president said.

Christmas Dinner In City Lock-Up

It looks as if there will be Christmas dinner served in the city jail this year, after all. Earlier in the week the lock-up was all but empty but too early starts on Christmas celebrating and a few other cases have changed the picture. It does not seem to matter how quiet the city is, there is always someone afoot of the law. It is a very odd day, indeed, when the jail is completely empty. It has happened only two days in the past 2½ years. But prisoners will not be forgotten as far as their Christmas dinner is concerned.

Caribou Herds Are Largest In Many Years

By
BERNICE REDPATCH MacIVER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CHURCHILL, Man. (C)—Caribou from the Barren Lands in numbers greater than ever before are reported along the Hudson Bay railroad south of here.

But that does not mean the natives necessarily got what they needed as the animals migrated southward through their summer feeding grounds. Caribou do not always follow the same route.

Tension grips the caribou-eating Indians at migration time. If the animals pass within 100 miles the Indians will know, for scouts are scattered through the area. The Eskimo will range quite as far when the caribou are expected.

Caribou are necessary to the welfare of the northern native, except Eskimos who live along the coast and on the Arctic islands. These people use seal. The others—by far the greater number—depend on caribou meat for food, caribou skins for clothing.

The government comes to the rescue when it learns of natives being without food. But missionaries who have worked many years among the Eskimos say the white man's food does little more than prevent starvation. For vigorous health the natives need their natural diet: the easily-digested, strength-giving meat of the caribou. And no man-made fabric approaches caribou hide, tanned with the hair on for lightness, warmth or wind-proofing.

TRAVEL LONG DISTANCE

Caribou are long distance travelers.

ellers, always on the move, eating caribou moss. When the moss has been closely cropped, it takes several years to become re-established. This explains the absence of caribou for a number of years in some districts.

At one time these northern deer grazed on the flats near the present town of Churchill. Then for 25 years not one was seen. Eight years ago they returned, even running through the streets. But this year no caribou have been seen here.

Men well-equipped to judge believe the number of caribou is diminishing. The natives at times kill many more than they need. But far greater is the number destroyed by wolves.

And while the number of caribou decreases, the number of wolves is said to be increasing. The caribou has one calf a year, the wolf has three to eight pups. Through the long winter, caribou is the wolf's main food.

This year, along the western shore of Hudson Bay, some Eskimos have had to return from their traplines because wolves have destroyed caches of caribou meat put up in the fall for their own use and for their dogs.

A great caribou migration is an awe-inspiring sight. If crowded, calves are sometimes forced on to the backs of older animals.

The herds are at their most beautiful during the fall migration. The hairy coats are ready for winter, the long, spreading antlers of the bucks are at their best.

Francois Lake Boy Succumbs

FRANCOIS LAKE—Following an operation for a diabetic condition with which he had been afflicted for five years, Douglas Nobles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Evan Nobles passed away. His passing is mourned by many friends at Francois Lake and Southbank. In spite of his frail health "Dougie" was very fond of horses and rode one of his own ponies at the Fall Fair here this year.

Al Berner Head Of Shrine Club

C. A. Berner has been elected president of the Prince Rupert Shrine Club in succession to A. W. Burnip. W. D. Fraser of Port Edward is vice-president and W. D. Smith, secretary-treasurer.
