Ships Are In Distress In Pacific

Norwegian Freighter In Trouble; Halibut Vessel Is On Rocks

TLE (CP)—The 3,000-ton Norwegian Skaubo, apparently, won its battle with cargo today and began limping into port on a list from 445 miles out in the Pacific. The vessel was bound from Manila and heavily laden with chrome concentrates, copra and other goods.

The ship flashed a distress signal today that its engine had stopped and was listing. The vessel was reported to be in no immediate danger.

A coastwise search was being made for the power cruiser Marvir overdue in Seattle after having turned back from Prince Rupert on the international cruiser race.

DARING ROBBERY—Two gunmen held up a branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada in Northern Ontario town of Larder Lake escaped with cash estimated at from $2,000 to $12,000 and attempted a getaway in a stolen plane. Inexperienced fliers, they crashed the plane on the far shore of the lake and one man was captured. He claimed his companion had drowned when he fell in the lake, together with the loot, but skeptical police continued the search and captured the missing robber. The top photo shows the route of the bandits' escape from the bank toward the town's seaplane base. The stolen plane is shown in the centre of the bottom photo. (C. P. Photo)

Fish Buyer Says He Was Bound, Gagged

SEARCH FOR "PIRATES" WHO ROBBED RIVERS INLET MAN CONTINUES

Search is continuing today in the Rivers Inlet area for two "pirates" who are alleged to have bound and gagged a fish buyer in his boat and made off with $3,120 after invading his vessel at 1:45 Friday morning.

Robbed was Robert Findlay, a buyer for the Vancouver Fish Co. of Steveston, who told police he had been trussed up aboard his boat the night of the robbery.

According to police reports reaching here, Findlay was asleep in the pilot house of his boat which was moored for the night in a small bay in Rivers Inlet. He was awakened by a flashlight shining in his face and was ordered to "turn over."

He was then gagged and bound and relieved of $120 from his trousers pocket. A key to a drawer which contained $3,000 in company money was taken and the drawer opened.

The two robbers, neither of whom Findlay can identify, missed $300 in boat expense money which was in a can in another part of the wheel house.

They departed so silently that Findlay was reported to have been unable to hear them go.

Working the gag off his mouth, Findlay called for the assistance of his crew man, Ernest Reed, who took his bonds off. They then contacted the British Columbia police at Ocean Falls on the Alco's radiophone.

Findlay apparently, did not expect to be better control of liquor consumption with the system of open sale than by the present system where it was necessary to buy whole bottles and consume liquor more or less surreptitiously.

Al Manson is opening his second Prince Rupert store on Monday. Located in what was the late M. T. Lee's tailor shop on Third Avenue, the new store will carry chinaware and gift merchandise.

DECENTRALIZING OF INDUSTRY

Deputy Minister at Chamber Meet Here

Decentralization of industry in British Columbia was one of the important aims of the provincial Department of Trade and Industry which was making special efforts to obtain industries for the north and central hinterland, the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce was told last night by E. G. Rowebottom, deputy minister of trade and commerce, whose brief visit to the city coincided with a special meeting of the Chamber. This was one of the important functions of the regional development board organization of the department. Satisfaction was expressed by Mr. Rowebottom at the large new celanese industry at nearby Port Edward and the prospects of being established in the central British Columbia area.

Mr. Rowebottom also expressed his pleasure at being able to see the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce in action. "How good it is," he commented, "that we have groups just such as this throughout British Columbia working for the benefit of their communities in particular and the province in general. We in our department feel that we are doing a good job in promoting industry for the province but we realize too that such organizations as these and the assistance and co-operation we receive from them are an invaluable factor in the success of our work."

Mr. Rowebottom had listened with interest to a number of resolutions which had been discussed at the meeting prior to being dispatched to the forthcoming annual convention of the Associated Boards of Central British Columbia and assured the Chamber of the co-operation of the department in all ways possible.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: The southward flow of cold air from Alaska yesterday generated a storm which lay just west of Vancouver Island this morning. Last night's steady rain measured one-quarter inch at Vancouver Airport, three-quarters inch at Comox, and one and one-quarter inch along the west coast of Vancouver Island. The downpour along the coast will taper off to scattered showers early this afternoon but the interior which has been cloudy will get showers and scattered thunderstorms this afternoon. Southern British Columbia will be sunny tomorrow but showers will move into the northern sections of the province from the west.

NEW SECRETARY FOR CHAMBER

P. H. Linzey is the new secretary of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce succeeding E. T. Applewhite, whose election as Member of Parliament for Skeena makes necessary his resignation as from September 1. Mr. Linzey was elected at a meeting of the Chamber last night, his name having been recommended by the executive council of the Chamber.

President G. R. S. Blackaby paid tribute to Mr. Applewhite for the excellence of his services as secretary. To follow him would, indeed, be a matter of difficulty. However, it was satisfactory to all that he would now be able to carry on his vigorous efforts on behalf of city and district in the broader sphere.

LAST STAND FOR CANADA

MONTREAL — Canada faces elimination from Davis Cup play today with Frank Sedgman, Australia's sensational young tennis ace, coming up against Brendan Bracken, Montreal, in the first of the remaining two singles matches of the North America zone tie. Australia has a two-to-one match lead.

Yesterday Australia's classy doubles pair of Jack Bromwich and Frank Sedgman swept to an easy straight set victory over Canada in the doubles fixture, beating Bracken and Stohberg 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

Sees Imminent Peril, Chaos, Communism

WOLVERHAMPTON, England (CP)—Former Prime Minister Winston Churchill said today that the British Labor government has led Britain into imminent peril of "communism and national bankruptcy." He said an economic collapse was looming which would "carry many other countries with us into chaos and communism."

CO-ORDINATING COUNCIL TO AID BLOOD, TB DRIVES

Volunteer work in attending the Red Cross blood donors clinic here on August 1, 2 and 3 and the mobile tuberculosis clinic on August 15 will be undertaken by member organizations of the Women's Co-ordinating Council. A special meeting of the council voted Thursday afternoon to undertake the project.

Almost a score of women's organizations will provide assistants for clerical work and for the comfort and convenience of donors at the blood clinic while similar assistance will be given to the tuberculosis x-ray clinic two weeks later.

The assistants will keep a record of those who give their blood and those who take advantage of the free x-ray service. Each organization has agreed to supply three members.

T. Norton Youngs, chairman of the blood donor drive, praised the spirit of co-operation shown by the women and outlined what would be required. He also showed a film which depicted a blood donor clinic in action.

Mr. Young appealed for a generous measure of response to the campaign for blood donors which will culminate with the visit here of a Red Cross mobile unit to receive the blood.

Work required during the tuberculosis x-ray clinic was outlined by Miss Joyce Leslie, head of the Prince Rupert Health unit nursing staff.

Organizations represented by the 28 women who attended the meeting were Anglican Women's Auxiliary, United Church Women's Auxiliary, Women's Canadian Club, Business and Professional Women's Club, Soroptimist Club, Canadian Legion Women's Auxiliary, Catholic Women's League, Lutheran Women's Auxiliary, Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., Queen Mary Chapter, I.O.D.E., Presbyterian Ladies' Auxiliary, Rebekah Lodge, Red Cross, Sonja Ladies, Salvation Army Home League, Women of the Moose and Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association. Mrs. A. L. Haines, president of the Co-ordinating Council, was chairman of the meeting.

RACE CRUISER MISSING

The Tacoma-to-Juneau cruiser race which brought 10 southern boats here on July 13 and 14 may have brought tragedy to one of the competing cruisers. The 30-foot cruiser Marvir, which turned back at Prince Rupert, is reported missing between Nanaimo and Seattle. She was at Nanaimo on Wednesday.

Good Game Of Soccer

In one of the season's best football games, a determined General Motors side staged a second-half rally to draw three-all with the league-leading Heavy Battery team in last night's "North Star" Football League match. It was the final game for this trophy which was taken by Battery in spite of the closing tie.

Foolish Strikes

THE FOLLY of ill-advised strike action has once again been demonstrated with the decision of the London dock workers to go back to work after having seriously tied up the great port for nearly a month, causing much economic damage to the nation in the hour of its extremity. The dockers are going back to their jobs on Monday after having lost a lot and gained nothing unless it may have been some bitter experience. Not only the Labor government leaders but the union chiefs themselves had pointed out to the dockers the foolishness of their walk-out but they paid no heed until Harry Davis, the leader of the Canadian Seamen's Union, came along and told them they had better give it up, at the same time declaring "white" the two ships which had been the cause of all the trouble. It looks very much like the British government leaders and the union chiefs may have been right in suspecting the Communist finger in this pie.

Evidence grows, despite disclaimers, of the Soviet hand in other grievous industrial tie-ups, notably the coal miners' strike which has already caused much economic ruin to Australia and where responsible government and labor leaders are also urging against the tie-up.

It is little wonder that Canadian unions are moving to purge their ranks of Communists. It is to be hoped they will keep control so that irreparable damage may not also be done in this country where the unionists who see and exercise reason have so far been able to avert major industrial catastrophe through ill-conceived and reckless strike action.

U.S. APPROVES

NOT UNEXPECTED, of course, but reassuring, nevertheless, is the ratification with decisive margin by the United States of the Atlantic Security Pact. It is the first time that the United States has ever entered into such a military alliance with nations abroad and reflects tangibly the changed foreign policy of the country in these new days when scientific and communications progress have made all nations of the world short-range neighbors.

Some, of course, regret that it has been necessary to formally and officially muster one array of economic and military power in the effort to keep another in line. The gamble is whether, by risking the possibility of war, the ends of peace will be achieved. The theory that to preserve peace it is necessary to be ready for war will now be proved.

POWER OF CONFIDENCE

DOUBTERS NEVER build anything. One pessimist can tear down the patient achievement of a dozen hard-working men. If we do not believe we can do a thing, we are probably right. Success depends upon many things, but above everything else it depends upon our confidence that success is possible. Start any project with a conviction that it will not succeed, and your worst fears will come true.

The reason for this appears to be that the spirit of the whole universe is positive, not negative. The rising of the sun every day, the rotation of the seasons, the springing up of new life, the discovery of eternal truth—all these events are positive in their nature rather than negative. The essence of the universe is affirmation, not denial. Jesus declared that if we pray for something and believe that we have received it, we will soon discover—perhaps to our amazement—that we have actually received it.

Success stories without number have stemmed from the theme that you can't keep a good man down. The man who believes he can do a thing has already won half his battle. Confidence is not the only quality we need for success, but we may be sure that without confidence success is impossible.

REAL PLEASURE
(By Major W. Yurgensen, Salvation Army)
Then Jesus beholding him loved him, and said unto him, One thing thou lackest: go thy way, sell whatsoever thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have a treasure in heaven: and come, take up the cross, and follow me. Mark 10:21.

Quite often money, intelligence and effort is expended in dealing with effect rather than with the cause. Many believe the way to Utopia is by political enactment and some have sought to force politics into religion. The need is just the opposite, that of taking religion into politics—a difference with an important distinction.

Without Christ life cannot be satisfactorily improved. With Him life cannot fail to be radiant, full and satisfying. There are tremendous possibilities in the young people. Their greatest need is to discover the true source of pleasure. Many have the idea that Christianity calls them to renounce pleasure. It does not do this. It asks them to shun sinful pleasure—another important distinction. The indulgence which is mistaken for pleasure, destroys mentally and physically and is the greatest foe of happiness.

Entertainment may have its place in an ordered life but with many it has become an obsession and is an only means of finding pleasure. If a man enjoys a football match, well and good, but if that is the only way he knows how to enjoy himself, life is tragically shallow.

The truth is that the satisfying pleasure is that of attainment. It is far more satisfying to live heroically than to see a hero on the screen. It is satisfying to learn a language, to get knowledge, to answer the call of the adventuring Christ and in His strength win the fight for personal purity, to harness the red blood energies to a noble service, to pursue the distant star of a white ideal. If only youth could see the pleasure attendant upon such pursuits in Christ the world would soon feel the atomic impact of a glowing goodness.

The young man referred to in the text had great possessions which no doubt took up all his time, and filled the horizon of his life to such an extent that he saw little else. But his greatest mistake was that his possessions possessed him and stood in his way of obtaining eternal life. Jesus made the demand in good earnest, but to suppose that He here makes poverty a universal condition of discipleship were a profound misconception. He dealt with men after the manner of a skillful physician, discovering their diverse plagues and administering to each the appropriate remedy. And so, when the young ruler came to Him, he discovered what was the plague of his heart, the canker that was eating into his soul. It was his wealth, and Jesus laid His hand upon it and declared that it must go.

Whatever it be that a man prize most, the Lord claims for the Kingdom of Heaven a prior devotion; and that man or woman who has anything in the world so dear that it cannot be spared for Christ, if He calls for it, will also fail to inherit eternal life.

Ray Reflects . . . and Reminisces

Boat loads of Estonians have arrived in Boston and Halifax. Sailing in frail crafts they preferred risking the Atlantic to remaining in the shadow of the Iron Curtain. They will be subject to immigration examination, of course. But let it be said, Canada and the United States can use people of that stamp.

The impulse to destroy or damage anything intended to help beauty or foster culture is all too common and is certainly not a novelty in Prince Rupert. It's all so wanton and senseless. In Hamilton, Ontario, the other day, two youths were fined $37 each for having mutilated a maple tree. Could they have been some distant kin of Hitler?

There are people who discourage the idea of a Governor-General, but anyone who holds that office in a land the extent of Canada has a man sized job. Lord Alexander had business on the rim of the Arctic a week or so ago. Yesterday he was discharging functions in the Midlands of Ontario. Today he holds an investiture and inspection at Camp Borden. We are not touching on tomorrow, today. Maybe there will be an official visit to Prince Rupert before too long.

It is not often a fish buyer is held up but when this does happen the result is apt to be juicy. Sockeye salmon producers accept cash. And the seeds must be there. Yesterday's newspaper report said the plunder at Rivers Inlet went as high as $3,000. There has never been a fisheries hold-up at Rupert, but around twenty years ago there was a powerful bit of thieving from a vessel engaged in that industry. Some thousands vanished from the strong box. And that was that!

Back from the jamboree on the rifle range near the shores of the Ottawa River, Boy Scouts will soon be telling all about it. Some are from Prince Rupert, and they were part of three thousand, a few of whom hailed from as far south as Cuba. The experience has been invaluable. They return at an impressionable time of life, with

SPORTS

PLAY BALL

Jack Lindsay failed by inches to hit a genuine out-of-the-park home run on Sunday when his drive hit the fence rail well out in centre field and bounced back. Lindsay is one of the few in the league with power enough to clear the fence without help from the wind. Windle and Abel are two potential fence-busters, all they need is the right pitch. Joe Davis and Dahl hit long balls but there's go to the wide open spaces of right field.

The fence on the left field foul line is 376 feet from home plate, the score board 345, and to the rock on the right field line 383 feet.

Two seasons ago the league paid just short of $60 for the supply of new balls. The expense threatened to break the baseball organization. Since then a stricter check has been kept on the foul balls that go out of the playing field and the ball shaggers are constantly hounded to return the balls. The ante paid the kids for returning the balls was boosted from a dime to a quarter in line with the high cost of living. All this helped the situation but it was still felt that some of the balls that did not come back were not lost. The latest move is the appointment of several official ball retrievers who are paid a flat rate and it is their duty to see that all balls are returned. The new system was a success in its first trial on Thursday when all the balls were accounted for. However, some grumbling has already been heard from some of the youngsters who believed in the free-for-all system and depended on it to pick up the odd two-bits.

It takes in the neighborhood of $25 to finance each league game and, at the present rate of income, the Association is just about making ends meet. President Art Murray promised that, as long as patrons were chipping in enough in the hat, that system would be continued. It has the advantage that no one is forced to stay away if he is a bit short on the usual gate charge. After all, one main purpose is to bring baseball to as many fans as possible. No player likes to perform to empty stands—even though he does make some 'boots.'

The Baseball Association has no ambition to get rich, but would like to build up a substantial balance toward building a comfortable grandstand. That is a project that has been boosted by the baseball club for several years but so far have not received too much support.

The baseball diamond, like every other thing in Rupert, requires rain to stay in good condition. The recent drought (no game has been rained out since July 1) has had its effect on the infield. While the ground was dry, it could be levelled and it remained fairly smooth and fast. However, the light rain that fell prior to Thursday's game was not enough to pack the surface. On the other hand it did more harm than good and nothing that the ground keeper could do would improve it. When the field gets its full quota of rain it remains packed, fast and not hard to keep level. The football boys do a good job of churning up the infield and furnish a constant chore for the baseballers.

With each team having two more games to play before the half-way mark in the schedule, it is possible that the Commercials can tie the leading Savoy's at that point. It would require the Commercials to win both of their fixtures while the Savoy's will be risking the Savoy's must lose theirs. Therefore the Savoy's will be risking no opportunity when they met Merchants on Sunday. There is that 9-0 shut-out to square 'too.

FUN CLUB ENJOYS MOUNTAIN CLIMB

The Fun Club's hike up the mountain Wednesday was a big success outside of the fact that one of the members left his lunch at the bottom and was at the top of the steps before he remembered it. The long trip for it was most exhausting. The next meeting will be on Tuesday, weather permitting, there will be another picnic and outdoor excitement.

BRITISH TOMMY GETS A RED HAND—This friendly interlude in the "battle of the locks" took place when two Soviet officers called on British Brigadier E. R. Benson to discuss the dispute over control of the canal locks, in which the Soviets tried to bar western zone water traffic in Berlin. The man at right is a British Army sergeant who was serving as interpreter for the discussions. The Russian officer is doing a bit of unusual unbending by shaking hands with the Tommy.

TERRACE BRIDE-ELECT HONORED

TERRACE — Irene Haugland was hostess at her parents' home on Lakelse Avenue on Tuesday evening at a pre-nuptial shower in honor of Miss Colleen Whalen whose wedding to Raymond Sande will take place on August 3.

The room was prettily decorated and colored streamers suspended from the ceiling to the dining room table hid the assortment of lovely gifts from the guest of honor until it was time for them to be opened.

Dainty refreshments were served, a feature being a lovely bride's cake which was duly cut by the bride-to-be.

Among those present or sending gifts were: Mesdames R. Cooper, A. Harrison, E. Sande, E. Whalen, I. Hall, S. Campbell, N. McNabb, C. Houlden, E. Haugland, W. Haugland, Misses Norreen Oliver, M. Little, C. Tumilson, P. Tumilson, Gloria Irving, Joan Atwood, Dolly Haugland, Doreen Murie, Onnolee Kirkaldy, Jean Kirkaldy, Honey Haugland.

The next swimming class at the McClymont Park Pool will start Monday for anyone between the age of 7 to 15 years. Registrations are taken at the pool.

There will be a softball game and bonfire at the Algoma Park tonight for those from the playground who wish to attend. Everyone can bring something to roast which should provide an evening of wide variety.

People are being requested to refrain from climbing trees and breaking off branches at the park. The trees and the stream add to the beauty of the park and, as the damage is becoming serious, this beauty spot could soon be completely spoiled.

Sport Shots

Ever since sports promoters started to charge admission, sport has become big business. Individual sportsmen cultivated little mannerisms and idiosyncracies which had crowd appeal, and variations of games were tried to make sure the fans didn't become bored. But it looks to Andy Lytle (Toronto Star) as though the sporting world is taking the final step which will make it a blood brother to the Wall Street corporations.

"It seems to me," says Andy, "the trend in sports business is toward collectivism and front office brass at the expense of individualism. A manager or coach is a sort of robot, motored from the front of the and pulled, as he operates, by invisible and oppressive strings. He goes through certain mechanical motions, but has learned that the less expression he puts into his work, the more he gratifies someone higher up who represents ink being spilled, in a publicity way, over anyone but himself."

As an example of what he means, Andy points out that the old-fashioned types of coach and manager have seemed to disappear. The explosive, fire-spitting coaches who prodded their teams along with a few searing adjectives have been replaced by signal-wagging, amiable bunch who sometimes even make friends of umpires.

"Yet I can recall, in hockey, when the flame-throwing hell-raiser seemed as essential to the game's progress as a fine centre player or a good three-man line," write Lytle. "There was a pretty fair lighthheavy boxer named Pete Muldoon who managed the Seattle team for a time. Pete, although he knew less about hockey than I do about

TENNIS TOURNEY BEING PLANNED

With good weather apparently in the offing, Canadian National Recreation Association Tennis Club is hoping to stage an American mixed doubles' tournament at the club courts tomorrow. Earlier in the season such a tournament had been planned but rain interfered with the play. The start is schedule for noon tomorrow.

the amorous habits of the tapir, was a successful hockey coach because he and nobody else ran the club, and one of his main assets as a coach was an ear-searing vocabulary unmatched by any of his contemporaries.

Clarence (Hap) Day, coach of the Toronto Maple Leaf hockey team, inconspicuously sweats and pushes the Leafs into enough National Hockey League finals to rate a place in a spotlight every time the Leafs play at the Gardens, but, says Andy: "The only time we, as interested bystanders, think of Day in connection with the hockey Leafs is when (General Manager Conn) Smythe releases periodic statements that he's the best coach in the business."

BOYS IN CAMP AT LAKELSE

TERRACE—A happy group of boys left Terrace on Thursday morning for camp at Lakelse lake and three days of swimming, boating and fishing and all the other pleasures of camp life.

Going to the scout camp at the north end of the lake the Terrace Cub pack will be taken care of by their Cubmaster, J. Haaland, who has Rev. Percy Mallett, and P. Murie to assist him. C. S. Hansen of Prince Rupert will also spend two days with the boys.

Miss Marguerite Paquette, hospital dietitian, will act as cook and went out there on Wednesday night to prepare for their coming. With her was her assistant, her sister Diane. B. R. Dodds, Mr. Hansen and Pete Murie drove the boys out with their cars.

The entrance to this attractive four-roomed bungalow gives it a distinctly different look and also does away with the square appearance so common in this type of house. The above drawing shows it in brick with the contrasting gable of wood siding but the dimensions on the working drawings are so arranged that it may be built of frame, brick veneer, or solid masonry. The large, floor-length front window is a special feature of the 11'3" x 14'9" living room. The dining space is contained in the kitchen, and the floor-plan is completed by two bedrooms. TERRACE CIVIC CENTRE PLANS

TERRACE — Plans for the Civic Centre's Annual Loggers' Sports Day and Barbecue to be held on Labor Day were commenced at Wednesday night's meeting of the Civic Centre's directorate with B. R. Dodds presiding. The tickets for the gate prizes will be out on sale next week. The draw for the three lucky winners to take place at the evening's ball.

It was decided that the first prize would be an electric range with the winner having a choice of a wood and coal range; second prize, a portable radio; and third prize a 26-piece set of silverware. There will be handsome prizes for the sports winners and the proceeds of the day's activities will be devoted to further improvements in the Civic Centre.

The Dominion Day's net profits amounted to over $1,000, and 300 chairs have been purchased and placed in the auditorium.

The Association decided to sponsor "A Night in Vienna," a Basil Horsfall musical production which has asked to include Terrace in its itinerary in September. With the Labor Day activities, Fall Fair on September 15, and this musical production, the Civic Centre shows certainty of being well-patronized this September.

Few Tuna Off B.C. So Far—Yachtsmen Pleased—New Vessel For Haines Run

While British Columbia's tuna fishery is languishing—only a small amount of tuna was caught by the fisheries protection vessel Howay on patrol this week—good catches are being made off the Washington and Oregon coasts, according to a radio message from the Howay on Friday.

The Howay ran into her first tuna off Cape Cook early this week and, since that time, has caught six, according to her master, Capt. Walter Redford. The Howay put into Victoria Friday, completing her first tuna voyage of the season.

Capt. Redford reported a number of Canadian tuna boats fishing between Cape Cook and Cape Flattery but, up to Friday afternoon, none had caught any fish. However, south of Cape Flattery, off the Washington and Oregon coasts, tuna boats are said to be doing well.

Possibility is that, as the season advances, bigger showings of tuna will appear farther north, perhaps off the Queen

Charlotte Islands as was the case last year.

Sockeye run on the Skeena this week boomed somewhat, making it the most profitable week since the season began on June 19. However, it dropped off later in the week after its initial spurt. During the early part of the week the 500 odd boats averaged between 45 and 50 fish a day but, by Thursday, the average dropped to 23 fish. However, the over-all average was substantial.

Anglers who cannot afford the time to go to lakes or streams in the district can have most of the thrill of sport fishing right in the harbor. Out Seal Cove way, a small fish, believed to be a type of cod, has made an appearance and is going for worms, salmon eggs or cut bait. Anglers who have fished for them say they put up a fairly good fight and that they strike near the surface. They measure up to about a foot in length and are also good eating.

The Seattle packer Vermay docked at the Armour Salvage wharf here Friday afternoon to clear her propeller of a fish net which it acquired, much to the disgust of the Vermay's Capt. J. Swanson, and some unfortunate fisherman off the Skeena mouth. They Vermay was towed in from near Kennedy Island by the packer Spud after wrapping the net about her wheel and thereby being brought to a standstill. Her crew attempted to clear the propeller without taking it into dry dock.

The Vermay was proceeding from Seattle to Craig with a cargo of foodstuffs and an automobile when she inadvertently made contact with the fish net.

Real boosters for a north coast holiday are the passengers aboard the charter yacht Principia, which stopped here briefly one night this week southbound after a cruise to Skagway. Among the ship's passengers were Dr. and Mrs. G. Uhl and son of Los Angeles. Dr. Uhl is public health officer for the California city.

Other passengers were Mr. and Mrs. Mark C. Nottingham and daughters Bertha and Betty, of Creadia, California, Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Smith and son Robert, and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hickey, all of Alhambra, California, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mussenburg, of Rosemead, California.

Mr. Nottingham, an ardent photographer, found an excellent outlet for his hobby in the scenery on the British Columbia and Alaska coasts and led his companions in their avowals that they would return another year.

Mrs. Uhl is a noted dog breeder and exhibitor in California. Her kennel raises long-haired Chihuahua dogs which have taken many prizes throughout the country. She is extremely proud of her Mexican dogs.

The Principia, owned by Capt. H. Riggs, is chartered to cruise parties similar to the one which visited here this week. It has a capacity of 22 guests.

of refrigerator truck bodies, is due for expansion, according to current reports. The Shinn had a new captain on her trip here Friday, Capt. Otto H. Barkhausen, who replaced Capt. I. Wick.

Capt. Wick is reported to have gone to the east coast of the United States to pick up a vessel of the tank landing craft variety, specially fitted for coastal freight work. The vessel is said to be one of four which may go into the Prince Rupert-Haines service. It is hinted that the operation eventually may be much larger than that again, since it is backed by the United States Army. Supplies being shipped northward are going to army camps in Alaska while on her southbound trips, the barge carries air craft engines and army materials being shipped back to the United States.
