Hoping for Best

THAT SOME COMPOSITION of the extremely vexed situation between the western powers and Russia over the question of Germany may come from the reference of the matter by the western powers to the security council of the United Nations following the complete failure of the long Moscow talks is greatly to be desired. The peaceloving nations of the world certainly hope so but it is perplexing to see where a solution will be possible if the Soviet continues the obduracy it has exhibited so far in the U.N. by general disagreeableness and exercising her veto powers whenever things go the way she does not like. The security council will at least be able to accomplish something in bringing about a more definite clarification of the matter so that all the world may know. But we fear that Russia will continue to do all she can to embarrass if not confuse the issue and discredit or destroy the United Nations organization.

CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION

THE Progressive - Conservative party, which meets in national convention at Ottawa this week, will decide, in the electing of its new leader and the formulation of its future policy, on the very survival of the party. In a way, it will be the most important of the three national party conventions of the year and its deliberations may well be watched with as keen and vital interest as that which marked the others.

No matter what one's views may be on the question of whether there should be a new alignment of parties in Canada such as has been brought about in Great Britain with the virtual situation of socialist vs. anti-socialist groups, there are those still who believe that the interests of democratic socialism would be better served through the medium of one or the other or both of the old parties such as appears to be the consensus in the United States for example.

Even the sharpest opponents cannot say that Conservative or Liberal parties, with all their faults, are basically wedded to totalitarian principles as opposed to respect of the individual or personal entity.

If would appear to be to the good political interest of Canada if the Conservatives at Ottawa are successful in taking the necessary teps towards restoring their party to its former greatness and assuring its perpetuation.

WORKING ON LOAD LINE

Revision in Favor of Prince Rupert Up for Approval

Harris W. Brighton, Vancouver representative of the Foreign Trade Service of the Department of Trade and Commerce, who attended the convention of the Associated Boards of Trade of Central British Columbia at Juneau as representative of the federal government, went through to Vancouver on the Chilcotin Saturday night.

Mr. Brighton, who expressed sympathy and co-operation with Frince Rupert's aspirations to become a world shipping port and thereby play a part in the economic development of the Dominion as a whole, has been interesting himself particularly in the international load line situation which at present discriminates against Prince Rupert. He was able to announce to the Daily News while here that the matter had been discussed along lines favorable to this port. However, a final de-1 cision approved by all countries had not yet been achieved, being postponed until later.

When Chips went aboard the British freighter Daghestan in Calcutta, he was immediately earmarked for the stewing pot. That was more than six years ago andt oday Chips, a rooster, still has the run of the ship and the ports at which she touches.

Although Chips boarded the Daghestan by mistake and learned his error only when he was far out at sea, his curiosity has not been curbed. His enthusiasm to see the port of Montreal when the ship docked here almost cost him his life.

He got too near the ship'. side and fell into the harbor. It took the crew three hours to fish him out. Now he leaves the vessel via the gangplank and does his strutting on the dock. How come Chips is still aboard when he was to become a din- 12

Canadian Press Corresponden SYDNEY, Australia (P)-Doc tors throughout Australia continue to ignore the federal government's legislation providing for free medicine for all pa-

The department of health has revealed that there are fewer than 30 doctors writing prescriptions for medicine provided free by the government.

When the scheme began to operate on June 1, this year, the British Medical Association ruled that doctors should not co-operate with the government unless they were given the unqualified right to prescribe what they thought best for their patients, and were given the right to use their own prescription

A deadlock was reached when the government refused the B.M.A. request.

After a number of conferences with the health minister, Senator McKenna, the B.M.A. refused to consider the matter workable unless the government

Your banker works

AS a depositor or borrower, you value privacy in money matters. Your banker protects that privacy. Your banking transactions are not open to the eyes and ears of your competitor, your neighbor, your community.

In other words, the manager of your branch bank and his whole staff are working for you.

Contrast this Canadian way with conditions in lands where freedom is denied-where every bank is a political tool, every banker a public official working for the State! State monopoly of banking, proposed by Socialists here, would open your banking transactions to political intrusion.
