To Vote Presently

Transferable System Decision—A.G. Says Must Continue

HOT SPRINGS—Transferable vote system used at the next election in British Columbia will have to that effect at the convention of the Legislative Assembly at the convention of the Liberal Association of British Columbia here yesterday. The single transferable vote system is not marked traditional cross but in order of preference. In the more than two candidates with the system is eliminated in the first round an overall majority obtained by one. The system also told the coalition "must continue" in British Columbia. The government has been urged to carry on. Such elements, particularly the Liberal Party, which would end the coalition and have the party dissolved.

Record Heat Wave in Chicago Keeps Up

CHICAGO — The record-breaking heat wave for this time of the year continues in Chicago. The top thermometer reading so far has been 86 above.

Austerity To Be Continued

LONDON—There will be no change in the basic austerity policy in Great Britain, Sir Hugh Gaitskill, the new Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced yesterday. Gaitskill said he expected that Sir Stafford Cripps would be back after a year and that he regarded himself merely as a caretaker for him.

Shingle Prices Drop Sharply

VANCOUVER — Sources acknowledged here that the booming lumber market across the line had softened a good deal in the past few months. In recent days shingle prices have dropped $5 to $7 per "square"—four bundles of fifty square feet. The top grade 18-inch shingles have dropped from $17 to $12. A British Columbia spokesman said that in the event of the American market decreasing, other fields, unable to be supplied immediately because of the huge American boom, could be tapped.

Terrifying Events— James Bay Has Strange Sights

TORONTO —The Toronto Telegram says today in a dispatch from Moose Factory that Indians and white residents of fur trading communities on James Bay are in a state of fearful excitement because of a series of weird events for which they know no reasonable explanation. The events have included, says the story, appearance of a waterborne object which the Indians insist was a submarine strange red light in the sky, appearance of a large airplane accompanied by a smaller one and three huge explosions like earthquakes inland from the coast last March. They also reported strange white men who ran to hide in the forest when seen by Indians around Fort George.

THE GEOPOLITICS OF KOREA

Neatly placed at the intersection point of Japan, China and Russia, Korea plays a part in twentieth-century Asia not unlike that of Belgium in eighteenth and nineteenth century Europe, when it was the meeting-place and battle-ground of Britain, France and Germany. In Japanese hands in 1911 Korea was the jumping-board for the conquest of Manchuria; in Russian hands it might have been the same again, while an independent Korea, controlling the sea connections between Vladivostok and Port Arthur, makes Russia's hold on this Manchurian port precarious. For this reason, China has a strong and real interest in keeping Korea out of Russian hands. Japan has an even stronger interest: Korea in the hands of a continental Great Power would be a pistol pointed at Japan's heart. Moreover, Korea has always been Japan's rice-bowl, and one of her chief customers for industrial goods. A united and independent Korea is in the long run an indispensable condition of peace and stability in this highly explosive area.

Allied Trap Now Closed

SEOUL —The North Korean government announced by radio tonight that it had moved its capital to Sinuiju, one mile south of Yalu River on the border of Manchuria. The announcement cleared up the mystery as to the whereabouts of the North Korean president, Kim Il Sung, and his ministers since fleeing from the old capital of Pyongyang.

PYONGYANG — Allied forces, pushing north following the capture of this Red Korean capital, linked up with the American parachute forces which were dropped yesterday and United States Army headquarters said today that there is no possibility now of the North Koreans putting up further organized resistance. General Douglas MacArthur had said yesterday that the war was very definitely coming to an end.

The parachute troops which had been dropped Friday in the Suncheon-Sukchow area, linked forces with the United States First Cavalry men over a 30-mile stretch between fallen Pyongyang and Suncheon. General MacArthur's headquarters said fast-moving paratroopers had sealed off 28,000 Communist Koreans after cascading behind the enemy lines. The trapped Reds are nearly half the organized Communist fighting force left north of the 38th parallel.

All arteries of escape are blocked for the North Korean Reds in the Suncheon-Sukchow area where 4200 United States airborne troops dropped out of the sky.

The surprise manoeuvre left an estimated 63,000 Communist troops in North Korea unable to mass for any effective stand against the onrushing United Nations forces. There is no sign of any organized defence line north of the present battle zone. Resistance in Pyongyang is petering out as American tanks enter the fallen city.

There is no indication that General MacArthur plans to send foreign United Nations troops to the Manchurian border where an incident might involve Russian or Chinese Communist troops.

South Korean soldiers, pushing northward along the east coast, are 95 miles south of the Manchurian border and are still going.

Dionne Quintuplets Steal Show At Al Smith's Memorial Dinner

NEW YORK—The Dionne quintuplets sang and sparked here to steal the show from a bevy of celebrities at the sixth annual Alfred E. Smith Memorial Foundation dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

The sixteen-year-old sisters entertained with old time favorite songs before a multitude of civic leaders and politicians.

They were all dressed alike in blue taffeta evening gowns and white caps.

Alaska Defences Being Inspected

JUNEAU—Three United States senators have completed a tour of Alaska and are returning south. (They have been invited to visit Prince Rupert during their journey.)

They are Lester Hunt (R-Wyo.), Wayne L. Morse (R-Ore.) and Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.)

Their first stop after arriving in Alaska was at Elmendorf Air Force base, near Anchorage. Then they inspected bases at Kodiak and Ladd and Eielson Air Fields. They are flying in the late President Roosevelt's plane "Sacred Cow."

Commenting on what he has so far seen, Senator Hunt said Alaskan defences are here to stay.

RHEE INSISTING ON AUTHORITY

SEOUL —President Syngman Rhee of South Korea today said his government still intended to establish its authority in North Korea. In an interview he said his government was co-operating with the United Nations but declared that United Nations participation should be limited to advice and observation.

Red Bloc Is In Session

PRAGUE —Russia met with her European satellites here today to discuss the decision of France, Great Britain and United States for the remilitarization of Germany.

The meeting opened with a warning that the Soviet would not tolerate remilitarization of western Germany.

Deputy Prime Minister V. M. Molotov was spokesman for the conference.

Basketball— Season To Start Soon

Opening Games First Saturday in November— Executive Re-elected

The Prince Rupert Basketball Association displayed its confidence in last year's executive when they unanimously returned it to office for the ensuing year. The annual meeting re-elected Angus Macphie as president, H. J. Marchant as secretary, and Don Forward, treasurer. The meeting created a new post, that of vice-president, and elected W. R. MacAfee to the position.

Final league entries for all divisions were received with the following teams accepted:

Junior League—High School, Cook's Jewellers, Manson's, Rupert Hotel.

Intermediate League—High School Gold, High School Green, Fashion Footwear, Merchants. (Also a provisional entry from a group of Port Simpson players who are endeavoring to find a sponsor.)

Senior League—Gordon & Anderson, Brownwoods, Co-op.

Only the High School entry was received in the ladies' division and the meeting decided to suspend the entry date until an effort was made to find other teams and sponsors.

League play starts the first Saturday in November with the following teams scheduled for the opener:

Senior—Brownwoods vs. Co-op.

Intermediates—Fashion vs. Merchants.

Junior—Rupert Hotel vs. Cook's.

The annual meeting passed a special vote of thanks to the St. John Ambulance Brigade who had provided first aid attendants at every game during the past season, and expressed the wish that they provide the same service during coming months. The meeting also agreed to provide a suitable award for St. John Ambulance competitions if and when needed.

Fans will see more than basketball at league games this year—there will be recorded music between halves and special features between games if the newly formed special feature committee is successful in their plans. Don Macdonald, Fred Calderone and Don Forward were appointed members of this committee.

The meeting closed after an explanation of rule changes by Sports Supervisor Fred Calderone.

French Yield Old Stronghold

SAIGON —French troops today evacuated their frontier fortress of Langson which guarded the main invasion gateway into Indo-China from Communist China.

The pivotal French post for the defence of north Indo-China yielded to Communist-led Nationalist troops after French occupation for seventy-eight years.

Control of Langson swings wide the frontier door of Ho Chi Minh's Soviet-backed regime to supply sources and training bases in Red China.

Can Papers Stand It

WHETHER or not, because of prohibitive publication costs such as the recent $10 newsprint jump at Powell River, a free press can continue in Canada has been asked. Such a query need not be surprising. All the casualties do not happen in Korea. On this continent, comments the Ottawa Journal, hardly a day but a newspaper somewhere gives up the ghost. But no one hears of a languishing newsprint industry.

TRAFALGAR ANNIVERSARY

TODAY is the 145th anniversary of the Battle of Trafalgar, a naval engagement off the cape of France and Spain were defeated. The British commander-in-chief, Lord Nelson, was shot, dying a few hours later on board his flagship, HMS Victory. For more than a century after this, the naval power of Great Britain was supreme.

GRAIN HERE AGAIN

MOVEMENT of wheat through the port of Prince Rupert again this winter will be welcome traffic although, having been so busy with the stimulus of other things in the last few years, the city has not been worrying as much as usual about its waterfront white elephants of which the elevator is, of course, not the only example.

It is noted that the port of Montreal is complaining about having so far received not a single bushel of the 1950 wheat crop—even though the closing of the season for navigation is only two months hence. The trouble there seems to be that the ships on the Great Lakes which usually handle the grain from the lakehead ports to Montreal have been too busy with other commodities to carry wheat.

With a big crop being harvested, even though quality may be inferior owing to the poor fall weather conditions, there is every prospect of a glut of wheat on the Pacific Coast this winter. That, of course, is the only reason that Prince Rupert will get any wheat. No change of policy seems involved in an ill wind which is happening to blow us some good.

Calgary Range Riders Enjoyed

The Civic Centre auditorium last night was filled with people who went to hear the Calgary Range Riders. Their show kept the audience entertained for the hour and a half it ran.

Some diversion from an odd character in the audience at first shocked, then amused, his fellow listeners. When the master of ceremonies would say something with which he did not agree he became quite vocal about it. However, the diversion was quieted.

Most of the audience enjoyed the evening which was music interspersed with skits. But some thought the musical portion could have been made better by having more vocal numbers and not so many straight instrumental.

Following the stage show was a dance. Nearly everyone joined in the two square dances and the schottische, although only about half knew what they were doing. That made it all the more fun.

The troupe is putting on another show tonight.

The visiting party, which has been touring the district by car, consists of Bill Hilton, master of ceremonies and guitar; Tony Stoltz, piano-accompanist; Tex St. Denis, violin; Mel Ringham, banjo, and Don McDonald, steel guitar.

Bank of Montreal Enters Whitehorse

Aboard the Princess Louise yesterday were A. C. P. Jones and Don Hall on their way to Whitehorse to open a branch of the Bank of Montreal. Mr. Jones will be manager and Mr. Hall his assistant. They expect to have the branch operating by November 1. While here they visited the local branch of the Bank of Montreal. Montreal will be the second bank at Whitehorse. Commerce has been there since gold rush days.

Men of United Church Active

Following the address of E. T. Applewhite at the United Church Men's Club meeting Thursday night was a business session.

Reports from the finance membership and project committees were all favorable and were well received by the membership.

Work parties for October 21 and 28 and November 2 and 9 were chosen. The present project is to finish the fence around the church. An alternate project has been chosen in case bad weather makes work outside bad.

It was decided to undertake another men's tea in November. Tony Crawley was appointed convener.

Rev. L. G. Sieber spoke on Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs, following which members of the club were chosen to act as sponsors for a troop. They are Mr. Sieber, Art Nickerson, Dr. J. D. Galbraith and Charles Roberts. They were given a cash donation by the club to start with.

The meeting passed a vote of thanks to the women for the dinner they served and for the assistance they had given while the Elgar Choir was here. The club also went on record as being grateful to the citizens who had assisted by billeting the choir providing transportation and in other ways assisting while the choir was here.

Dr. L. M. Greene was in the chair.

DEATH NOT DEFEAT
Let us take a swift journey back through the years and over the miles to Jerusalem. The scene—a hill just outside the city wall. The time—nine o'clock on a spring morning, about 30 A.M.

We are standing just outside the Royal City and our hearts are saddened as we behold the body of a just and righteous person silently suffering the tortures of a death by Crucifixion. This Person is Jesus in whom even His enemies could find no fault. Despite His perfection of personality, and purity of practice and because of the power of His preaching, the Jews hated Him with such vehemence that they demanded this most cruel and ignominious of deaths.

To the long stream of insults and injustices suffered during His farcical trial and inexcusable death, Jesus Christ displayed His supernatural patience and characteristic meekness. After inflicting Him with the torments of men's cruelest imaginations, they finally nailed Him to a cross and erected Him upon the Hill of Calvary. Nine long torturous hours later, becoming weak from the loss of blood, He bowed His head and declared "It is finished," and gave up the ghost. What could be the meaning of these final words of this great person? Could it have been a cry of victory. Yes, it must have been; but to what does He allude and what does it mean to us.

First then in our examination of this statement comes this thought, from an ordinary man this would be a strange statement indeed. Under these conditions, what could a mere human have meant? "It is finished." Instead of this, one suffering the death of a criminal would be expected to cry "I am finished." Suffering severely and facing certain death, an ordinary man could never get his mind off HIS predicament to think of some external matter. Yes, "I am finished, would have been much more natural.

Death is not an experience in which men triumph, but is a hideous and grudging surrender to the arch-enemy of his soul. Death to a sinful man is not victory but defeat! Not long ago, the fascist leader of Italy was making great claims for his future plans. His life was one of pomp and power, and he was to restore to Rome her lost empire and world rule. How great were the aspirations of this 20th century Caesar, and how sudden was his end. The oppressive plans of this cruel man were defeated by death. As he was severely dealt with by a maddened mob, he could not cry "It is Finished" as Christ had. He no longer was concerned with the events of time; his attention was focussed on what a fearful eternity would hold! How true it is, if Jesus was but a man, this short emphatic cry of victory would have been senseless and unnatural. Therefore as we see the meaning and purpose of this statement, we will also see added proof of His eternal deity.

In direct contrast to Mussolini's horrible death, is that of Christ whose death is described by the hymn writer, "Wonderful Death That Meant Not Defeat, Calvary Made His Great Mission Complete." Contrary to much that is expressed today, Christ Jesus came to earth with a definite mission to fulfill. He tells us Himself "My meat is to do the will of Him that sent Me and to finish His work." What was that work that He had to finish, what was the mission that He came to fulfill. For our answer, let's turn to God's explanation in His Word. The third chapter of John tells that He came not to condemn the world but that the world through Him might be saved. All right then: His mission was salvation. How was this to be accomplished? Matt. 20:28 reveals the method: "The Son of

Open Letter To Students of B.C. School Work

Dear Students:
I am not surprised that only two of your large number have shown any inclination to register for the Bible Study Course offered this winter by the Ministerial Association under the syllabus of the Department of Education. Doubtless you have had quite enough of school by 3:30 in the afternoon, and the law does not permit this work to be done in school time.

However, there is one possible misconception which I would like to clear up. Many of you may think that this course is in the same line of endeavour as the Inter School Christian Fellowship. But actually there is all the difference that there is between the club and the class. In a club we work at something we like as we like. In a class we work at something we may not yet like or know much about because we are sure that it is part of being educated.

It is the class which you are being offered, whatever your beliefs or background. And we believe that you will always be glad of what you know about the content of the Bible, whatever you do or wherever you live. If there is some member of the school staff who would teach you this course, it would be good. There would be better continuity and they have more training in imparting knowledge objectively. But the ministers want to do it rather than that you should not have this opportunity. Would 8:15 a.m. be a better time to hold the class? Have you any suggestions? We are con-

LETTERBOX

FROM FRED OLSEN
Editor,
Daily News—

I am writing you in order to thank all my friends in Prince Rupert for their lovely letters since I arrived at the Danish Home here. Already quite a few friends have been here to see me including Mrs. Mastin and children, Mr. and Mrs. Kasper Wriensden and Mr. and Mrs. Carlo Hansen.

This is a beautiful place. The home is surrounded by five acres in flower gardens, lawn, fruit trees and vegetable patches.

Carlo Hansen met me at the boat and brought me to the home.

The first week we were here about a dozen ladies came and gave us a musical program and served coffee and cake. Next Sunday a Salvation Army band is coming.

I must extend my particular thanks to the Women's Co-ordinating Council in Prince Rupert who, like many other good people, were so generous and helpful in both my sickness and health, also to Mr. and Mrs. Thom, Eddie Gladding and also To H.

FRED OLSEN.

c/o Danish Home,

New Westminster.

Free Library At Hospital

The monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Prince Rupert General Hospital was held Thursday evening in the ladies' lounge of the Civic Centre. In the absence of Mrs. Jens Munthe, who is the auxiliary delegate to the B.C. Association of Hospital Auxiliaries convention in Vancouver, Mrs. L. M. Greene presided.

The auxiliary is laying tentative plans for a tea to be held for the opening day in the new Nurses' Home.

The free library service has been started for the patients in the hospital. Books are taken throughout the hospital every Tuesday afternoon and Friday evening. Current magazines, digests and pocket books are still needed, as are fiction and non-fiction books. These will be picked up if the members of the committee are notified or they can be left at the local hospital.

Mrs. Norton Top In S.O.N. Whist

Top scorers for women and men at the Sons of Norway whist drive last night were Mrs. A. Norton and K. Dehli. Runners up were Mrs. G. Selvig and R. McLean. Eleven tables were in play.

Following cards there was an enjoyable and well attended dance from 10 p.m. until 2 a.m. Music was by Mike Colussi with his accordion. Nels Gunderson was master of ceremonies.

Committee in charge consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Strand, Mr. and Mrs. G. Selvig, Mrs. A. Simundson, Mrs. J. Johnson, R. Hundelde and K. Dehli.

Sid Cox Buys Westview Home

Residence of Mrs. Frank Dibb on Graham Avenue, Westview, has been purchased by S. V. Cox who has already taken occupancy. Mrs. Dibb is now living in the Besner Apartments in the flat until recently occupied by Mrs. Lance Stiles who has gone to Seattle to make her future home.

Weather Changes After Fine Week

Until shortly after midnight last evening, weather in Prince Rupert most of the week was everything the most exacting climate critic could wish for. Day after day, night after night, there was a succession of cloudless skies and clear, bracing air and temperature. Conditions were just right for flying, sailing, hiking or driving. Breakfast hour today brought showers and dullness.

Miss Aldred Ker, recent graduate of the Vancouver General Hospital, arrived in the city on the Princess Louise yesterday from Burnaby to join the nursing staff of the Prince Rupert General Hospital.

Prince Rupert people will have the chance to support a good cause and hear the best of Prince Rupert's musical talent in a well-rounded concert at the Capitol Theatre Sunday night when the Prince Rupert Rotary Club stages a variety show in support of the current campaign of the Canadian Institute for the Blind.

Program has been arranged by T. Norton Youngs and Walter Smith.

Prince Rupert Symphony Orchestra, directed by Neville Gerrard, and Prince Rupert Shrine Club City Band, under baton of Peter Lien, will headline the program supported by such popular artists as Mike Colussi, solo accordionist; Colussi and Robert Wood, accordion duet; Robert Miles, soloist; Four Dukes Orchestra; Mrs. Pat Wick, vocal soloist; Wilf Williams, piano soloist, and Pat Bolton and Mel Thompson in a sketch.

Modern Computing Machines at Bank

Interesting new computing and money-handling machines have been added to the equipment of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal. One is a colometer, an instrument which makes fast and exact change, removing the human element of error. The other is a payroll computing machine which facilitates and speeds up the work of bank staff and customers. The two machines are said by Manager G. R. S. Blackaby to be first of their kind here.

Blackwood On Bridge
By Easley Blackwood

In deciding whether or not to bid a slam, Humanics are just as important as the cards you hold. Again I suggest to you—play the people as well as the cards. But before we go into the humanics of slam bidding, here are some observations about the arithmetic.

First let's take the situation where you are not vulnerable and assume the players are of approximately equal skill.

On the profit side of the ledger, if you bid and make a small slam you gain a bonus of 500 points.

Now look at the other side of the picture. If you go set one trick your opponents get 50 points, or 100 points if they double you. In addition to this you lose say 150 trick points you would have made had you stopped at game in a major suit and made five-out. You also lose the approximately 300 "hidden" points you would have earned for scoring the first game to wards the rubber bonus.

Add these up and they total a little more than the slam bonus of 500 points. The conclusion is that a non-vulnerable slam should be bid when the chances in favor of making it are slightly better than even.

East dealer.

None vulnerable.

Adanacs Win, Series Even

TORONTO—New Westminster Adanacs deadlocked the Mann Cup Canadian Senior Lacrosse final series by edging out a 6 to 5 victory over Owen Sound Crescents last night. Each team has now had three wins. The seventh and deciding game will be played on Sunday.

The eastern champions lost their great goalie, Lloyd (Moon) Wootton, midway through the first quarter when the netminder lost his balance. It was believed that he may have broken an ankle bone. He has been given much of the credit for Owen Sound's success so far in the series.

On the hand shown today the only question is, who has the queen of spades? If you were South, how would you play to avoid any spade losers? Let's face it—it's a guess—and about an even chance whether you would guess it right or wrong.

Should you, then, bid this slam? Mathematically you should not. But Mr. Dale decided to be in there. For one thing, he had perfect confidence in the bidding of his partner, Mr. Masters. For another, the old boy plays for fun—and for him the biggest thrill in the game is bidding and making a slam.

Dry Dock Busy—CRC Having Extensive Overhaul—Strike Effects Still Felt

A filip of fall activity is developing at the Prince Rupert dry dock where 102 men are now on the payroll. Packers, halibutters and other vessels are receiving attention and the lighthouse tender Alberni went on the pontoons yesterday for cleaning and painting. She will be coming off next Monday.

Principal job of work being carried out at the present time is an extensive overhaul of John Currie & Sons' towboat CRC after twenty-two years of faithful service. The job on CRC includes extensive replanking, re-decking and new bulwarks. The vessel has been in the yard for the past month and will be there for another two weeks.

Except for passenger boats, the waterfront is a pretty deserted place these days. A few small craft are moving around but the steady stream of fishing boats and others that have been coming in and out since halibut season opened in May are either away in the south or being put away for the winter. No freighters have been in port since the middle of the week and none are expected until next week. However, the Prince George, on her northbound trip Wednesday and southbound Thursday, the Princess Louise and the Chilcotin Friday have kept the front from being entirely deserted. The refrigerator ship Lucidor was in Tuesday.

Union steamer Chilcotin, Capt. Harry McLean, arrived in port shortly after 4 p.m. yesterday. Besides passengers, she had 170 tons of freight for the city as well as express and mail. She sailed last night for the Queen Charlotte Islands. She will call here again tomorrow on her southbound trip to Vancouver.

Union steamer Camosun went back on the run again last night after a thorough overhaul after the busy summer. She sailed last night from Vancouver on the run to Alice Arm and Stewart and is expected here tomorrow afternoon.

Results of the rail and shipping strike last August are still being felt here. Northern Construction Company are held up on their school building program because they have not been able to get lumber. They expect it early next week but are bemoaning the fine days they have lost.

A couple of thousand kegs of beer from Vancouver arrived on the steamer Chilcotin Friday afternoon for discharge here. Some may think that a good sized cargo but longshoremen call it an ordinary shipment. As much as five thousand kegs have been handled.
