Queen Charlotte Air Lines Plane Crashes on Islands

Taxiing in for a landing on rough water at Queen Charlotte City shortly before noon yesterday a two-passenger Stinson seaplane of Queen Charlotte Airlines upset after its wing fouled a wave. Its sole occupant, Pilot Neil Currie, escaped uninjured and was sitting on a pontoon when a power boat came out to the rescue.

With six feet of wing torn off, fuselage ripped and cockpit glass shattered, the plane was towed to shore nearby where it is understood, it will be dismantled.

Bill Turner, Queen Charlotte City, effected Currie's rescue and assisted in towing the wreck to shore, later taking Currie to the Q.C.A. base at Allford Bay.

Arms Ship Gets Away

Vessel Gets Away From Vancouver With Tanks For China

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Canadian freighter Argovan, which was scheduled to leave Wednesday with a cargo including 75 howitzer tanks for the Chinese National government, finally got away this morning.

Pickets had patrolled the pier yesterday in protest against the arms shipment and the Labor Progressive party appealed to waterfront workers to stop the ship from leaving port.

Nigel Morgan, provincial L.P.P. leader, issued a statement calling the tanks "weapons of mass murder against innocent Chinese people."

Castillou New Judge

OTTAWA (CP)—The Department of Justice today announced the appointment of Judge James Arthur McGeer of the County Court for the County of Cariboo to be judge of the County Court for the County of Vancouver.

MUSIC, DRAMA FESTIVAL— Wide Program Variety And Outstanding Performances

(By JAY KULLANDER)
Wide variety of program and outstanding performances marked the second day of the Music and Drama Festival. Classes in piano solos for different age groups and in piano duets were held during the day while in the evening two plays were presented and choir singing was heard.

The Festival has expanded to include many classes and is an excellent vehicle for the young people to display their talents. At the same time they receive a rating of their work and constructive criticism, for the primary object of these Festivals is to try to instruct. The attentive way in which the little pianists watched each other perform showed they fully realize that in Festival work they can learn a great deal indeed.

Music adjudicator, Stanley Bligh, was again delighted with the high standard of piano work and this reflects most favorably on the excellent music teaching that these students are receiving.

Lovely young girls' voices blended sweetly in delightful choral numbers that were well-balanced and expressively rendered.

More Good Plays
The two plays were both excellent productions that gripped the audience's attention at the outset and held it throughout. And yet the plays were so different that their very contrast actually complemented each other.

In both the musical and dramatic numbers many of the performers won high praise and in every case it was well earned. At the morning session in the Common Lounge of the Civic Centre the class of pianoforte for children under 13 years was heard. Twelve contestants, ten girls and two boys, played the test piece "A Windy Day" plus a piece of their own selection.

Performers in this class were Sylvia Bellis, Barbara Best, Phyllis Childs, Elaine Christensen, Anne Eyoilsson, Patricia Hall, Alan Laird, Margaret Olsen, Betty Oskey, Julie Anne Prockter, Victor Prystay and Gwendolyn Speers. Top honors in this class were awarded Margaret Olsen but Ann Eyoilsson was just one mark behind her and Elaine Christensen was third.

The afternoon session was again held in the Capitol Theatre which provides such a lovely setting for the performances and gives the contestants the advantage of playing on the stage.

No Trace Of Distress Sign

EDMONTON (CP)—A Royal Canadian Air Force plane, which took off at dawn today from Fort St. John, B.C. to investigate a reported distress signal said to have been trapped out in snow twenty miles to the south of there near the Peace River, made a two hour search and found nothing.

The signal was reported to have been spotted from the air yesterday by the crew of a United States Air Force plane. It was considered as a possible clue to the whereabouts of an American C54 transport plane which vanished with 44 persons aboard last January 26 while on a flight from Anchorage, Alaska, to Great Falls, Montana. No other planes are missing in the north, the Royal Canadian Air Force said.

L. W. Lefler returned to the city on yesterday afternoon's plane from a business trip to the Queen Charlotte Islands.

Yanks Return— U.S. Training Ship In Port

With Capt. L. M. Oxx in command, the 825-ton FS (freight ship) 210, a 180 foot United Army transport from Seattle arrived in Prince Rupert harbor at 7 o'clock this morning. Here until 5 p.m., sufficient time has been allotted personnel for a "look-see" of the city. They also had time to obtain copies of the Daily News announcing their arrival and to publish the ship paper "ROTC Cruiser."

With a total complement of 42 cadets from western United States universities and eight officers and regular ship crew of 32, the vessel left Seattle on St. Patrick's Day, visited Ketchikan, Skagway and Juneau and then commenced its return voyage. Prince Rupert is the final stop. It is the first foreign port they have visited.

Purpose of the Alaska cruise is to train cadets in operation, cargo handling, and general training in ship procedure, called "nomenclature."

The cadets have had a wonderful trip and good weather has greeted them at every port. "The scenery is wonderful," they exclaimed. Only trouble encountered, said Capt. W. M. Barbee, cadet instructor from Seattle, was sea sickness on their first day out in Queen Charlotte Sound.

Leaving Seattle on Friday, they arrived in Ketchikan Sunday night. Leaving there early Monday morning, they docked at Skagway Tuesday morning. Leaving the same afternoon, the vessel tied up at Juneau the following midnight.

They had a great time at Juneau. Mrs. Gruening, wife of the governor of Alaska, arranged a trip for the cadets to Mendenhall Glacier during the day and in the evening staged a ball in their honor.

"There was a large buffet—and many hostesses for the cadets," said Capt. Barbee. "We had the time of our lives." Leaving Juneau at five a.m. Wednesday, they arrived here this morning. Final stop is the home port and classes which commence Monday.

DAILY NEWSPAPER
On board daily, a one page newspaper is published and edited by Capt. Barbee and Cadet Lyle M. Shum of the University of Washington. An interesting sheet, it brings the cadets and crew members news of the day (when an outside paper cannot be purchased) and life aboard ship.

The March 24 issue (today) headline proclaims "Last Foreign Port." Alongside a map of the northern B. C. coast, is a two column spread presenting the early history of Prince Rupert and the important part it played during the Second World War.

The personnel under training consists of a transportation crop of ROTC cadets from the University of Washington. In addition there are five cadets from the University of Oregon; four midshipmen, Navy ROTC, University of Washington, and four U.S. Air Force cadets from the latter university.

In addition to men under training, it carries 32 officers and enlisted men of the U.S. Army Transportation Corps.

The following instructor officers are aboard:
Major Thornton, observer, representing Brig. Gen. Fenton C. Jacobs, Port Commander at Seattle, Port of Embarkation.

Col. J. W. Schwartz, Medical Officer, Letterston General Hospital, San Francisco.

Lt.-Col. F. W. C. Ledebor, professor, military science and tactics, University of Washington.

Major John W. Murray, transport commander.

Captains Barbee and Charles H. Fore, instructors.

Flash

WILL KNOW TOMORROW

Possibility of saving the sight of the right eye of Michael Greene, struck by an arrow playing at his home here Tuesday night, will not be known in Vancouver until tomorrow. A specialist in Vancouver said today that he would examine the eye under anaesthetic tomorrow. Dr. L. M. Greene, the lad's father, left today by air for Vancouver.

LEAVING RENT CONTROL

OTTAWA—Finance Minister Abbott announced today in the House of Commons that the federal government is vacating the field of rent control after April 30, 1951.

FOOD POLICY APPROVED

LONDON—The government last night defeated by a 48-vote margin a Conservative attempt to trim supplementary estimates providing to stock pile food in the fiscal year ending in April. It was Labor's largest show of strength in the new Parliament which was elected February 23.

DEADLOCK UNBROKEN

BRUSSELS—Former Premier Count Henri Carton De Wiart today abandoned his attempt to form a government after bitter rioting in which parading Brussels demonstrators wrecked 200 street cars during a 24-hour "warning strike" against the return of exiled King Leopold. The 80-year-old politician has been striving to break the deadlock which followed the indecisive 57.6 percent vote for the King's return in the referendum March 12.

WOULD DROP WAGES

NANAIMO—Canadian Colliers are asking the miner's union to accept a wage decrease in view of the critical position in which the industry finds itself from a financial standpoint. The union is asking that wages remain at the present level with no changes. The company would also stop free transportation to the mines and would increase rentals.

Famine Sweeps Over China

HONG KONG (CP)—Famine, and disease are ravaging sections of Red China, reports reaching here say. Hardest hit is Anhwei Province in East Central China but indications are that an unofficial Communist committee appeal to the world for relief has failed. Investigators said that a committee now in Hong Kong consisted of two men representing only a small section of Anhwei.

More than half of China is now enveloped by disastrous famine, it is reported, and smallpox, diphtheria, plague and tropical diseases are rampant.

Wants To Know How Many Are Back After Leaving To Fight Against Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator Tom Reid, Liberal, British Columbia, demanded today that government officials find out for him how many Japanese-Canadians, who have returned since the war, "deliberately" left Canada to fight with the Japanese forces.

In the immigration committee of the Senate, Reid insisted on that information. Officials said it would be hard to get but they would try.

Railway Day In Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—It was railroad day in the House of Commons Wednesday. Railroads and allied transportation problems came before the Chamber as it passed $65,986,459 in further supplementary estimates to clean up government expenditures in the 1949-50 fiscal year ending March 31.

The Chamber then voted $239,801,620 of interim supply to cover government expenditure in the next two months.

One major debate swirled around deficits of the government-owned Canadian National Railways and TransCanada Air Lines before Trade Minister C. D. Howe said they would be examined next week by a house committee on railways and canals.

The Canadian National Railways showed a deficit of $42,043,028 and TransCanada's deficit was $4,317,594 on domestic and Atlantic services.

Italy Having More Trouble

SAN SEVERO, Italy (CP)—Rioting flared in this southeastern Italian city yesterday and at least eighteen persons—fifteen police and three civilians—were injured before the police restored order.

One report said that hand grenades were tossed into police ranks.

The new violence is the aftermath of a nation-wide general strike called yesterday by Communist Federation of Labor. One death and scores of injuries were chalked up in demonstrations accompanying the strike.

Caustic and Chlorine Shipments For Watson Island Are Arranged

Loads of caustic and chlorine will be delivered from Tacoma to the Columbia Cellulose plant on Watson Island twice monthly, as soon as the plant is in operation, it is announced by James Griffiths, president of Griffiths Steamship Co. Ltd at Vancouver and Seattle. The chemicals will be transported here on the company barge Griffco and tug Mogul.

Mr. and Mrs. Griffiths, who reside at Mercer Island, Washington, returned south last night aboard the Prince Rupert. Mr. Griffiths conferred with C. H. Klotz, project engineer at Watson Island.

What About Us?

WITH UNITED STATES military authorities making Alaska into a bristling air defence fortress, it is quite incredible that there should be any quibbling about the building up of Canadian defences in the area of British Columbia contiguous to the key port of Prince Rupert. Doubtless, this port figures prominently in the making of plans for the overall picture from a joint standpoint.

We have been talking about an air strip here. In view of the situation, about which the American authorities appear to be getting more frankly concerned every day, it is now reasonable to assume that the decision may have already been made. Quite possibly, the plans are even further advanced than we know. In fact, if they are not, there would appear to be something wrong somewhere.

We had also thought that the big warehouse, now disposed of on a demolition deal, might have played a part in the stimulated defence campaign. It may yet.

When the United States is taking such serious views of the need for the strengthening of defences in this quarter of the globe, we may be sure that the Canadian defence authorities are not sitting complacently by. On the contrary, it can be trusted that they are taking adequate steps to strengthen these defences which must include many other things than such elementary requirements as an air strip.

WE ARE REMINDED

ANNOUNCEMENT that arrangements have already been made for the shipping of caustic and chlorine from Tacoma to Watson Island for use of the Columbia Cellulose pulp mill when it gets into production reminds us that the end of the construction of this great project is getting in sight and that the time of its operation as a permanent producing industry approaches.

Construction is, essentially, an incidental, temporary phase, no matter how large it may be in its expenditure for materials and employment of men. It is the permanent operation that is the lasting and stable thing to which a community, fortunate like we are, must gear itself.

Actual operation of the big pulp mill, eleven miles away from the city by highway and less than that by rail, will pose new problems for the community, bringing situations and demands which we will have to meet. We have had quite a good deal of time to think about them now. The time for action in meeting them is now high.

POOR CHINA

IT IS SOMETHING to concern us more than merely passing it over as we read the headlines to learn that half of China is facing a dire famine situation and that already disease and pestilence—smallpox, diphtheria, plague and tropical diseases—stalk that luckless land. That is not saying that it is so easy to prescribe what can be done about it.

It may be a fact that the Communists are failing to improve the lot of the Chinese and that the resistance of the real people is sapped first by the ravages of armed conflict and now by death and disease to which leaders on either side may be ruthlessly callous.

What we can or would be allowed to do to save them is the question.

We do know that this sort of thing cannot go on forever without it affecting even us morally now and possibly even physically later on.

Ray Reflects . . .

. . . and Reminisces

With some, the wearing of a hat is not necessary. More than a few manage to do without and, apparently, like it. For all we know, full and free exposure of scalp and hair to all the winds that blow, does one good. It may be healthier than the sodden, aged-looking headwear some refuse to part with.

Every normal boy likes to flourish a gun. The desire is born in him and has nothing whatever to do with the encouragement of future wars. Pistols and holsters are seen every day on the streets of Prince Rupert. Much is heard of juvenile delinquency but with many a lad, his first introduction to real evil does not come through playing with imitation shotguns and six shooters. Living in a happy home he'll outgrow all that.

Every mail brings data telling how to be healthy and stay that way. It is distributed freely and how much is read beyond the second line is a matter of guesswork and judgement. Usually, there is a lot about diet, and sometimes a new slant. Says the good Dr. Jonathan Forman of California: "It's not germs that kill you, but the food you don't eat. People do not die of infectious diseases but really from malnutrition that allows a germ to gain its foothold."

One may spend the best part of his life in close touch with newspapers and feel he knows, at least, something about them. Yet, surprises keep coming. Here's one. Damascus, city in Syria, has a history almost as old as Eden. Who ever thought of Damascus as a live newspaper town. Listen, pal! Damascus has only nineteen newspapers and last week they won a strike for changes in the press control law.

Between 1939 and 1945, there were thousands in Canada unfit for active service. They stayed home, and if they worked—it didn't much matter what it was—the reward was pleasing. Some seem unable to forget those memorable years.

The post office lobby, often enough, affords interesting studies. Someone is about to open a letter, or explore a handfull. And how often there is one letter—just one—received with such eagerness, and read so earnestly. Watching the plays of expression, one can make a fair guess at what it's all about, which of course, is no body's darned business.

"Selfless" Killing Found No Murder

COBOURG, Ont. — An all-male jury Wednesday freed a respected little man who had calmly admitted the "mercy killing" of his wife.

"I was not at all surprised at the verdict," said Ralph Kilbon after the trial. "I feel that what I did was a selfless act."

Kilbon said he fired a rifle bullet into the brain of his mentally-ill wife last November 1, because he could not bear to see her suffer the agonies of a mortal, self-inflicted stomach wound.

Bones of St. Peter There?

NEW YORK — Ten years of digging in long-hidden grottoes below St. Peter's Church in Rome has yielded archaeological evidence supporting Roman Catholic belief that St. Peter is buried on the site. Life Magazine reports today.

In connection with the publication of first pictures of the excavations, the magazine prints an article by Monsignor Ludwig Kaas, administrator of St. Peter's, telling how Vatican workmen climbed into unexplored lower passages beneath the world's largest church. They penetrated into a pagan cemetery which had been buried for sixteen centuries.

Monsignor Kaas does not say that the exploration, launched in 1939, resulted in finding of relics of the chief apostle but he asserts that a scientific commission's analysis of discoveries give archaeological support to Roman Catholic tenets.

Is Impressed With Rupert

Visiting Prince Rupert for the first time, George Mussellam from Winnipeg, father of Jack and Ed Mussellam here, was very impressed with the development of the city and area. He also enjoyed and was impressed at the mild weather the city has been experiencing at this time of the year.

While here Mr. Mussellam fished deep sea a great deal with Tony Crawley and managed to hook many a large specimen. He said his express desire in coming here was to see his grandsons, Gary and Lynn, sons of Ed, Mussellam. He said he enjoyed his stay here with his two sons and family.

Mr. Mussellam left aboard the Prince Rupert last night for Vancouver enroute to Haney to visit a former old timer here, Reeve Sol Mussallam. From there he will journey to Kelowna in Okanagan Valley and visit his cousin N. Mussallam, a former businessman here.

He announced that at some future date, he plans to develop his property holdings at Kelowna.

Ministers To Get More Pay?

VANCOUVER—The Vancouver Sun learned yesterday that a move was on foot at the instance of private members of the Legislature to increase the salaries of members of the government.

The salary of the Premier would be increased from $9,000 to $15,000 and that of the cabinet ministers from 7,500 to $10,000.

The Leader of the Opposition, Harold Winch, would get $1000 more. It has been pointed out that members of the British Columbia government get less than in the most of the provinces.

SOMETHING ADDED — All Star Collegiate Team To Meet Local Jets Next Week

Another big basketball series is being thrown in at the Civic Centre next week for local hoop fans when the California Mohawks, an all star aggregation from the California Collegiate Institute, visits here on Wednesday and Thursday to take on Prince Rupert's All Star Jets. They are on the way to Alaska for engagements at Metlakatla and Ketchikan.

To date this season the California team has travelled over 10,000 miles. They have averaged 70 points per game and have three times scored more than 100 points. Their trip has taken them through Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Nevada and British Columbia. They have won 31 of 33 games played. The Club is exclusively a travelling team and every player is a member of the Amateur Athletic Union.

Jack Lilja

Jack Lilja—fleetfooted, ex-San Francisco High School star where he twice made All-City. He has scored in the thirties several times this season. Last season he played with Hank Luisette's Stewart Chevrolets.

The Mohawks will arrive in the city on the Prince Rupert Wednesday morning and will remain over here until Friday morning when they will proceed to Ketchikan on the Princess Norah.

Reception To Hockey Team

LONDON ©—Edmonton Mercury, who won the world's amateur hockey championship here on Wednesday, were tendered a reception at Canada House last night. Lord Alexander, the Governor-General, who is on a brief visit to England, was on hand. The team sails for home from Liverpool on March 29. Wednesday night's victory gave the Western Canada intermediate champions a clean sweep in seven tournament games and Canada's seventh title since the competition was first instituted.

"It was amazing to see how in-

The construction of the sub-

Terrace Civic Centre— Much Done Last Year

Alf Yoxall Re-Appointed Director
TERRACE—Following the election of officers at Wednesday night's meeting of the Terrace Civic Centre Association, it was decided to accept the application of Alf Yoxall for the position of managing director of the Civic Centre at the same salary as before. The secretary was instructed to get in touch with him immediately and have him back on the job which he started nearly three years ago and from which he resigned 15 months ago.

Success was reported in all the year's activities of the Association at the third annual meeting which was held in the bowling alleys. B. R. Dodds presided over the well attended meeting at which the committee reports were presented. Many repairs and improvements had been made outside and inside the building, entailing considerable expense. Three hundred chairs had been purchased for the auditorium. A bowling club had been formed and league games started.
Though there were more teams entered in the league this year than last, it was hoped to have still more. The choral group was under way and would be ready in May for a musical production in conjunction with the Symphony orchestra. There had only been one production of the drama club, results of which had been very disappointing due to the old hall.

A recommendation was made by President Dodds to the incoming executive that the first project should be the installing of a proper heating system.

The finances of the association are in a good state, a little over $800 still remaining on the bank loan but everything else being in the clear.

The president explained what had been done with regard to the fire insurance on the building.
It had been paid by the village commissioners who would be reimbursed by the association.
However the commissioners had donated the money which had been paid by the Association in water rates since the centre was opened. Deducted from the insurance premium this left a balance of $124.10 still to be paid. In future, the commissioners will refund at the end of each year the money paid in to them by the association in water rates.

The vexed question of who is the beneficiary of the insurance policy should the building burn down was aired with Commissioner Hougland stating that the village, as owners of the property, would be the beneficiary. However, it was well understood that, in such an event as the building being destroyed by fire, a public meeting would be called to decide what would be done with the insurance and there was no doubt but it would go for a new civic centre.

The retiring secretary, Mrs. C.
R. Newhouser, was accorded a hearty vote of thanks and appreciation for her services during the past three years.

were heard as well as duets and two-piano teams.

In the class for piano solos for children under 14 years the two contestants Sylvia Helland and Donald Patricia Letourneau both gave very good performances. The adjudicator called Sylvia Helland back to play the test piece again because she gave such a sensitive and understanding performance.

In the class for Piano Solos for children 15 and under 17 years the adjudicator found the playing of very high standard and awarded marks above average for all competitors. The performers were Mary Addison, William Blackaby, George Henry, Margaret Johnson, Dick Kilborn, Sena Pavlikis, and Olive Strand. Although they all played the same test piece it was very interesting to observe the various styles of playing and different interpretations.

Best Yet

Mr. Bligh called upon Mary Addison to play the test piece again because she gave such an outstanding performance. He said that he had rarely heard it so well played and awarded her the highest mark he has as yet given in his adjudications. Second in this class was Olive Strand and Margaret Johnson was third. This whole class was outstanding and Mr. Bligh was very glad to see three young men in this class and was pleased with their playing.

In the open class for piano solos the two performers were Mardell Solland and Rosalie Thain. They were required to play as a test piece "Nocturne Opus 54 No. 4" by Greig. Although this piece is very difficult both technically and to interpret, both players surmounted these difficulties and gave excellent performances. Mr. Bligh commended them for excellent technical ability, poetic imagination, and musical intelligence and awarded them both marks which he considered very high.

Piano duets are always enjoyable, several were presented by well-matched teams. Mr. Bligh said that the most important thing in duet playing is getting a balance and most of the teams did so. Duets were played by Anita Rogerson and Eloise Lahti, Sonja Hansen and Myrna Knutsen, Marian Smith and Lorraine Gilbert.

Olive Strand and Pauline Madson, Gwendolyn Speers and Margaret Olsen, and by Dorothy Laird and Olga Zabudney. The last team received particularly high praise for their sensitive performance which was very well-balanced and had lots of variety. Both players showed very intelligent musicianship.

Some teams performed duets using two pianos. This difficult work was performed by three teams—Olive Strand and Marjorie Tattersall, Joan Fletcher and Ethel Moorehouse, and Stella Chaprune and Roland Turcotte.

Evening Session

The evening session was held in the Civic Centre and was a pleasing combination of plays and choirs.

During the evening, in response to many requests, Mr. McGrath repeated his recitation of "The Ballad of Gunee Die" which was heartily enjoyed by the audience.

Booth Memorial Junior High School Choir under the direction of F. Huber presented two numbers, "Oh, The Summer" and "Sweet and Low". This very fine choir was commended for its lovely opening, good tone, and nicely restrained and expressive singing.

Two Senior High School Choirs were heard, one from Booth Memorial School and one from Annunciation School. The adjudicator massed these two groups and he himself conducted them in their test piece "I Wandered Lonely as a Cloud".

St. Andrew's Junior Choir, under the direction of Peter Lien, presented two selections, "The Lass of Richmond Hill" and "Like as the Hart". The adjudicator found their work really lovely. In their first piece they had nice tone and were always well in tune. Their second piece was simply and sincerely sung and was a very appealing performance.

Little Theatre

The Prince Rupert Little Theatre Group presented two plays, both directed by Mrs. Myra L. Chapple, M. E.

The first play, a comedy entitled "Rising Flood", was set in the upper room of a building being flooded. Players Thalia Moors, Reginald Lavigne, Janis Patterson, Dianne Kennedy, Harold Skalmereid, and Mel Skalmereid all turned in stellar performances. The adjudicator considered that the direction of this play was excellent. There was fine team-work and the tempo as excellent. "Grandma Darris", played by Thalia Moore, was a cynical but well-played character who was consistent throughout and on support of the audience while Reginald Lavigne as "Charlton Lester" won the disapproval of the audience. Janis Patterson, as "Mrs. Helen Lester", was excellent throughout the play and her enunciation was notably good.

In the first play the lighting was poor, however, Mr. McGrath excused this as facilities were not very adequate.

The second play made use of very excellent manipulation of lighting thanks to the Stage Manager Harley Lewis and his assistant John Rosedale. This play was a fantasy entitled "The White Lawn" and was built on the motive that the husband wife though parted by war would meet in dreamland. Mr. McGrath congratulated the director on attempting such a difficult play and making a success of it. It was a beautiful production.

Elizabeth Holmes as the young wife struck exactly the right etheral note. Irene McClintock as the mother was very natural. Mel Skalmereid as the young Lieutenant gave a sincere performance as did Alan Forman as the doctor.

Both plays were very well chosen and provided excellent scope for players.

Tells About Radio Waves

The functions of radio waves were explained by Lt. Michael Stapleton, officer commanding Royal Canadian Signals station here, to members of the Rotary club at their luncheon Thursday afternoon. Lt. Stapleton also explained the work of the local transmitting station.

"The ion sphere is an important medium in radio transmission. Hundreds of miles above the earth's surface, it acts as a reflecting agent for radio waves. It reflects frequencies of one and one-half to five megacycles which includes ordinary radio, broadcasting.

"But it will not reflect frequency modulation or television as these run along a straight line parallel to the earth's surface."

At the Prince Rupert station, Lt. Stapleton explained others across the ionosphere is transmitting waves back. In this way, ion sphere is detected to Ottawa where it is used for daily reports.

"There are several in Canada," Lt. Stapleton said. At the Prince Rupert operation is simple consists of a transmitting station, radio receiver, a keying unit.

The equipment is set up and was made by Ottawa. The Lieutenant said, "Set up here part of the Lieutenant said, "ed very satisfactory not require trained operate the mechanism."

"It may help solve some of the problems that the coast," he added.
