OIL FOR EAST—A 1,150-mile pipeline is being laid from Edmonton to the Great Lakes at Superior, Wisconsin. The cost is $90,000,000 and the purpose is to bring Alberta oil to eastern markets. From Superior, the crude oil will be transported by water to southwestern Ontario refineries. Merely to fill the pipeline will take 1,838,000 barrels, or 64,330,000 gallons, and it will take 26 days for a barrel of oil to move from Edmonton to Superior. First oil should reach Regina in the fall of 1950, and Superior in early 1951. The line is being built by Interprovincial Pipe Line Co., Ltd., a subsidiary of Imperial Oil, Ltd. This Imperial Oil map shows its route. (C. P. Photo)

Tourist Invasion

TOURISTS SHOULD swarm over Canada next summer. Devaluation of the dollar is unpleasant from the Canadian point of view, but with the Americans, like with everyone else, money talks.

By holidaying over on this side of the line, whatever funds they carry, will go further.

Canada has countless attractions, and this is a brand new one. The extra dime on the dollar gives a most compelling wink. It's just as good as beckoning.

A GOOD IDEA

RONALD PARRATT, of Kingston, Ontario, is a contractor who is building apartment blocks for couples who have children. If they are childless, they cannot move in. He says it's the best investment a man can make. There is apt to be something in that. All the chatter about what youngsters do to a house, he says, is so much piffle. One thing is sure. Children hold no wild parties, and dance till three. Their seniors do that sort of thing.

King Ed School Tells Its Story

By R. G. MOORE

Yes, I am King Edward School and yes, I am quite old. How old? Well, I am forty years old, which is a ripe age for a frame building of my type; in fact I have really grown up with Prince Rupert, for you see I was born in 1909 and began work in 1910.

Yes, I have seen other kings come and go—I believe that I am the oldest kind left—let me see—I have outlived my namesake, Edward VII, King George V, has come and gone and King Edward VIII and George VI have both ruled in my time. But really what makes me so venerable is the fact that the children who have passed through my doors now attend P.T.A. meetings as mothers, fathers and in some cases as grandparents.

Is that possible? Indeed, yes! I have stood through two world wars and a depression. I have seen great fishing companies spring up in this city—and I have seen Rupert grow from a village to a city of 10,000 people.

Ah, if I could only tell you all that I have seen and all that I know. Do you know that leading businessmen, in the city, today, were among those that left their marks on me. Who are they? Well, names are best omitted, but many of the leaders of the city of today were influenced by me.

Yes, I have seen teachers come and go too, some are now married with families of their own—some are dead—one became a member of Parliament and some have entered the civic field of government.

You think my architecture is queer, with its gables, towers and narrow windows—well, perhaps—but remember that I date back to almost Victorian times and maybe I was influenced by that type of design.

Yes you are right, my beauty is not of the best—and how I envy those school buildings that I hear about that are so attractive. However remember, I passed through very hard times in Rupert in the thirties and very little was spent to keep up my beauty and physique.

Am I in bad shape?—yes I am afraid that I am! Doctors don't hold out much hope for me—I creak and crack all over—and how I shiver in the winter. My windows rattle, groan and blow out—I even leak. Here and there a muscle has given way and I sag in spots. My floors in fact are quite humpy and worn—even my braces for stairs have slackened.

Could I be repaired? It might be done—but at oh, what a cost to my citizens without any aid from the government. And I would still not have that new look—and the poor children would still be handicapped learning by many inconveniences.

Inconveniences—why certainly—odd-shaped classrooms that allow cross-lighting from windows on two sides—furniture once used by the children's fathers and now in a sad shape—a shortage of lavatories for the number of my children attending—dangerous fire escapes—doors opening into halls and ready to hit you as you pass—no recreational facilities—no supply rooms—no health rooms. I could say more but that is enough.

Am I over-crowded!—yes very much so—and I often wonder where the ever-growing number of children will go. Could I be added to? Would you put an old shoe on with a new one?—it could be done but imagine the result and what would still have to be done some day?

Oh yes, there are hopes for me—my Board of School Trustees have looked ahead and they plan to replace me with a building that will be an asset to any wide-awake and growing community. How pleased I will be to see my children learning to become useful citizens in this fine environment. Yes, it will cost money, but the growth of

EVIL'S POWER IS SUBTLE

Taking as his topic "All we like sheep" Rev. Lawrence G. Sieber in his morning sermon at the First United Church, Prince Rupert on Sunday discussed the plight of the psalmist who confessed that he had gone astray like a lost sheep. He had not intended going astray, for he "hated vain thoughts and Thy law do I love."

However, he did not claim to be worse than he was, an attitude adopted by many and which Mr. Sieber suggested was a new hypocrisy. Christ admired the honest confessor and while He condemned the masses often He always had regard for the individual. The world today goes astray when it does not regard the laws of God. These are the real answer to man's hope for security. The world may forget God but God never forgets the world.

At the evening service Mr. Sieber gave an impressive talk on "Growing Power." The power of growth is mighty, constant, but neutral. In the vegetable world the power is easily visualized. As we see the newborn babe we are filled with awe as we realize the unknown power that may be inherent in it.

But growth is neutral. It does not choose what it will be. If we sow evil the growth will inevitably be evil. If we sow good the growth will inevitably be good. We must be prepared to accept the consequences of our acts and we must choose the seed we sow.

Satan is a good salesman. He tells us to take what we want and that he will send us the bill. And the bill must be paid. Yet we are all capable of making great contributions to the world. "Now are we the sons of God but it doth not yet appear what we shall be." We have great possibilities. We can rely on the power of growth, a power that we cannot control. But we can sow the right seed and be assured of the harvest.

In the morning service the Junior Choir sang as an anthem "As Comes the Breath of Spring." In the evening, Mr. Rowland Miles sang most sympathetically, "I Sought the Lord." Henry A. Pluym was at the organ.

children cannot be measured in the terms of money alone—and after all is it not cheaper to build with government aid than to repair alone. This difference is not too great, and then I will be able to accommodate your child.

When will this happen? The by-law is set for October 6 and I know that the majority of ratepayers will co-operate and replace me so that King Edward School may live again to continue important work in this city.

Mulvaney Is In Town

Barney Mulvaney is in town, looking sturdy, along with a hand grip that can make one wince. His home is at Burns Lake, and to meet old time friends in Prince Rupert is mutually a pleasant experience.

Mr. Mulvaney first arrived in Central British Columbia pretty early in the railway building era. No one knows the country any better from actual experience.

"When I was twelve," he remarked yesterday, "I started out to see British Columbia. 'It might have been strenuous at times, but I saw the country.'"

He not only saw it, but he's managed to remember what came his way. For some time, Mr. Mulvaney has been writing, periodicals and papers printing what he turns out, for his knowledge of the north is surpassed by none.

"I could not but notice as I came through to the coast," he observed, "that in so many places I knew well, the old timers located there so long had passed away. One misses them."

Once the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway construction got under way he took on a job that grew steadily in importance, until it was of major size. This was handling the mail in advance of the running of trains together with George Biernes. In winter, dog teams hauled the mail over the ice of the frozen Skeena River. He worked in co-operation with the late R. L. Macintosh, for many years post master at Prince Rupert. Away back in the early days, delivering the mail when as many as three or four thousand men were in the employ of Foley, Welch & Stewart, railway contractors, demanded no small degree of resourcefulness and all round ability.

JUNIOR CHAMBER INSTALLS OFFICERS

The Prince Rupert Junior Chamber of Commerce held their inaugural dinner last evening at the Commodore Cafe dining room, with more than 60 J.C.'s and their friends on hand to witness the installation of the president and executive for the forthcoming term.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jack McRae, M.L.A., Mayor Arnold, Sergeant and Mrs. L. A. N. Potterton, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Klotz, Walter Burns, L. M. Felsenthal, as well as members from Winnipeg, Edmonton, Vancouver, Victoria and Smithers.

C. H. Klotz, project engineer for the Columbia Cellulose plant spoke briefly on the development at Port Edward and mentioned how helpful the people of Prince Rupert had been with the work so far and hoped for the continued support of all to make this project a success.

Jack McRae, M.L.A. for this district, offered his support to the J.C.'s in any problems connected with his position as representative of the people of Prince Rupert.

Mayor Arnold congratulated all the members on their wonderful job of handling the convention here last spring, and said that the Junior Chamber here had a bigger job ahead as the

ARTHUR BEALE, IMPERIAL VET, PASSES AWAY

After an illness extending over several months, death took place early this morning at the Prince Rupert General Hospital, of Arthur Beale for many years a well-known resident of this city.

Mr. Beale, who was in his 66th year, was born in Greenwich, England, on January 14, 1884, and served for 12 years in the Second Royal Sussex Regiment (Imperials) in which he latterly held the rank of bandmaster. He saw early action in World War I, being wounded in August, 1914, at the First Battle of Mons, while acting as a stretcher-bearer, in which engagement he was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal. He was also the recipient of the Russian Order of St. Michael and St. George earned during previous service with the British Army.

Mr. Beale was discharged from the British Army as "medically unfit" on March 22, 1915 and came to Canada in December, 1920, proceeding direct to Prince Rupert, where he was established in business.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Kathleen Beale, who he married in Belfast in 1909, four daughters, Mrs. Josie Stuart, Mrs. Bud (Clis) Barrie, Mrs. Richard (Phyllis) Bury, jr., and Mrs. William (Babs) Smith, and nine grandchildren, also a sister, Mrs. Fred Richmond, formerly of this city, who is now residing in California. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

AGED FURNACES, HEAT ROBBERS
 The owner of an average heating system five or more years old is warned by National Warm Air Heating Association that the odds are 7 to 10 his winter heating bill is at least 10 percent more than necessary.
 This is because 7 out of 10 older type systems of heating are in need of repairing and cleaning. Air leaks in and around furnace combustion chamber, soot in the chimney or furnace, warped burned bars, corroding smoke pipe all create loss of heat right in the furnace itself. Therefore using more fuel to keep the proper temperature.
 Heating experts report that home owners are "robbing Peter to pay Paul" through use of improper firing methods and negligence in furnace maintenance.
 The majority of costly repairs could have been avoided if owners had followed a regular program of having heating systems inspected each year says the heating association. Minor repairs can add longer service to heating systems and insure health and safety of families.

40 Years Palace Superintendent, He Takes Royal Secrets Into Retirement

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON—Mark Seymour—a man with a load of secrets about the Royal Family—retires from his post as superintendent of Buckingham Palace tomorrow.

He has worked at the Palace, under four different reigns, for nearly 40 years and in 1947 the King made him a member of the Victorian Order.

The duties of Palace superintendent are numerous. Besides being a Royal Home, the Palace also resembles a museum of art treasures.

As superintendent, 60-year-old Seymour has been responsible for the safe keeping of all these things. Upkeep and supply of furniture and fittings in the private apartments of the King and Queen and Princess Margaret all come within his scope.

His chief wartime job was looking after the deep bomb shelters constructed under the Palace for use of the Royal Family. He was also responsible for the day and night efficiency of the Palace's air-raid warning system.

For years newspaper men and other inquisitive folk have tried unsuccessfully to get superintendent Seymour to talk about life within the Palace walls. His response is invariably a quiet smile and a shake of the head.

Just recently Seymour has been a target for questions about the postponed Royal Tour of Australia and New Zealand and the rumor that it may take place in 1951. Whatever Seymour knows he keeps strictly to himself, but in Royal circles 1952 it thought to be the most likely year.

Since his retirement was announced, the Palace superintendent has been approached by many newspapers for an interview. He switches them to the press officer; for members of the Royal household are instructed not to give interviews under any circumstances.

King Edward VII was still on the throne when Seymour first went to the Palace as a junior on the superintendent's staff in 1909. Successively he served under King George V, Edward VIII (now the Duke of Windsor) and the present King. He was promoted from assistant superintendent to superintendent in 1939.

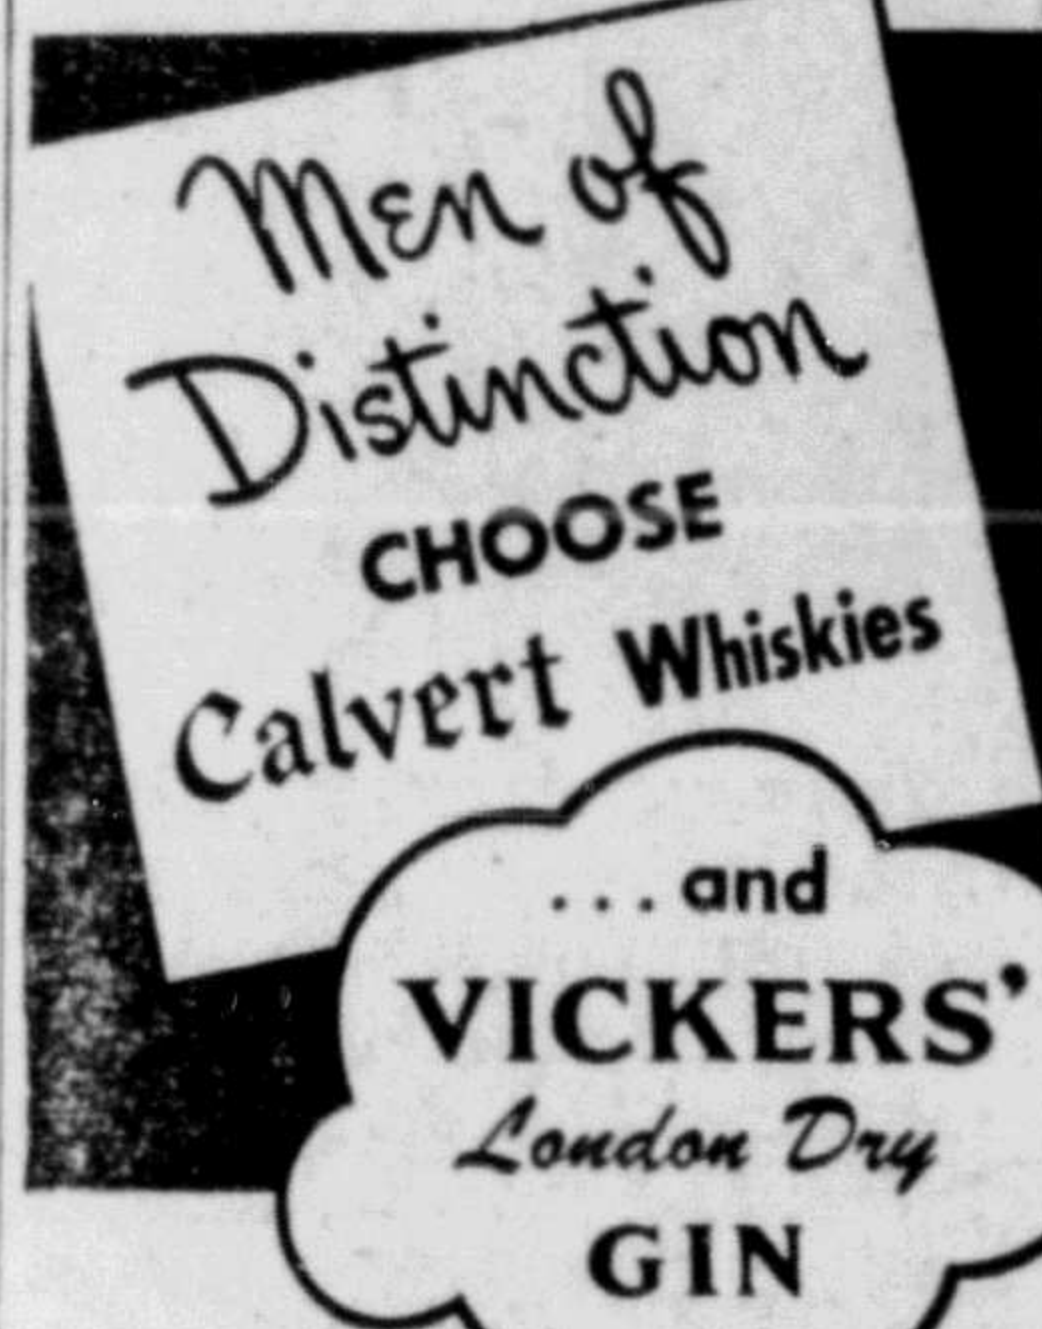

Seymour will be succeeded by

York City to Lose Famous Wee Street

YORK, England—Soon there won't be any more Whipma-Whopmagate.

This is the name of an ancient byway which York town-folk say is the shortest street in the world. It is to be demolished, along with the Old George hotel and other buildings, to make way for a new road. Whipma-Whopmagate is 55 feet in length. No one knows why it is called Whipma-Whopmagate, though some antiquaries think that it used to be the scene of public whippings. Emily Bronte is among famous guests says MRS. Kelburne and Sidney Leitch—both fine graduate dietitians of the American Dietetic Association.

Stanley Williams, at present superintendent of Windsor Castle.

"Both Were Contented Carnation Babies"

MANY, many mothers with diet and experience have used Carnation formula babies. But you don't have to be a dietitian to use Carnation formula.

Carnation is widely accepted as the best for infant feeding. Homogenization and sterilization make Carnation unusually digestible and agreeable with babies; evaporation makes so that it can be exactly diluted to suit your baby's needs. Sterilization brings it to your home and pure. Ask your doctor about a Carnation formula for your baby.

Ray Reflects... and Reminisces

Hugh McGlinchy, who served as police constable in Prince Rupert when Chief Vickers was at the head of the department here, spent Sunday in the city. He had not been in town for a long time. He said he hardly knew Prince Rupert, and there were some who barely recognized Hugh. Both had changed a lot in appearance. From here, Mr. McGlinchy transferred south, and continued in the service of the provincial government, until retirement. He's taken on weight to a considerable extent.

F. J. Fuller, whose eightieth birthday anniversary was noted recently, speaking of pioneer dwellings in Prince Rupert mentioned the home of the late Dr. J. O. Reddie, who came to Prince Rupert from Colorado. This was away ahead of the completion of the railway. The house was built near the top of Centre Street, in the general neighborhood of where the fountain now stands. Later in the development of the city, it was moved to Fifth Avenue, being re-erected not far from Fulton Street, where Mrs. Reddie occupied it. The home ranks among the oldest residences in town but it doesn't appear generally.

Polish Opera Star May Sing in Canada

Helena Lipowska in Winnipeg After Concentration camp

WINNIPEG - A former prima donna of the Warsaw Opera House, Madame Helena Lipowska is in Winnipeg anxious to start her singing career again, this time in Canada.

The leading operatic soprano in Warsaw before the war, she is spending a few weeks here with her husband, Stanislaw

Mazurek to determine whether opportunity exists for her here.

Madame Mazurek spent the war years in Poland. She was in a concentration camp for five months in 1944 after being captured by the Germans while making her way from Lwow to Warsaw.

A pupil of Professor Marie Lozowska, Madame Lipowska has presented concerts in Vienna, Prague, Belgrade, Zurich and other cities throughout Europe.

As soon as it was possible for them to leave Europe, the couple did so, heading directly for Canada, where they both hope to start afresh.

TURTLE MOUNTAIN STILL THREATENS SLIDE DISASTER

Town of Frank Remembers Landslide in 1903 When 66 Were Buried

FRANK, Alta. - There's still an atmosphere of fear surrounding Turtle Mountain, in this Crow's Nest pass country.

And residents of this coal-mining town will tell you that in the spring "old Turtle" still roars its warning.

Forty-six years ago the side of the mountain fell on Frank and buried alive 66 persons. Those who escaped in the early morning of April 20, 1903, from the avalanche of rock thundering down more than 3,000 feet still recall the disaster with dread.

Not until 1931 was the area condemned and the town of Frank moved several miles away. Only a few, so accustomed to danger that they discount it, still live in the shadow of Turtle mountain.

What caused the slide is still a matter of dispute. Mining engineers say that the removal of thousands of tons of coal from the mountain caused wide fissures—still visible at the mountain top. Others say the cracks were caused by a slight earthquake and that spring rains caused natural erosion which weakened the support of the overhanging rock above Frank.

DANGER PERSISTS The fissures are 150 feet deep and 14 feet across in places. Geologists say they are unable to understand why another slice is not dislodged from the Turtle's back.

One of those who escaped the landslide—and remembers—Mrs. Enoch Williams, wife of the mayor of nearby Blairmore.

She was Mrs. Sam Ennes, then. She recalls that the disaster struck at 4 a.m. when everyone but the men in the mines were in bed. She and her husband, with their four children, crawled out of the rubble of their home. Her collar bone was broken and her son's legs were broken. But they all escaped.

This year for the first time tourists will be taken on a conducted horseback ride to the top of old Turtle to look down the long scar on the mountain-side to the pile of rubble that was once Frank.

Mrs. Williams is not happy unless she is in the mountains. But she fears for those still living beneath those threatening fissures.

"I wouldn't give you a penny for the life of anyone who lives there," she says.

CLOSE RACE IN P.C.L. PLAY-OFFS

HOLLYWOOD —Hollywood and Oakland, the Pacific Coast League's No. 1 and No. 2 clubs, hold an early lead in the Governor's playoff series. The Oaks had an easy win—13-3—over San Diego last night, while the champion Hollywoods squeezed out a 12-inning 4-3 victory over Sacramento.

SENIOR LACROSSE PLAY-OFFS TIED

NEW WESTMINSTER —The Hamilton Tigers bounded back last night with a 16-10 victory over Vancouver Burrards to tie the Mann Cup lacrosse series for the Canadian Championship at one game each. The bigger, more experienced Tigers found Johnny Green an easier mark in the Burrard nets last night than in the first game which they lost 12-10. The clubs meet again in Vancouver Friday in the best-of-five series.

MAYOR APPEALS FOR CIVIC CENTRE

Mayor Norah Arnold has made a personal appeal to the citizens of Prince Rupert to get behind their Civic Centre Association.

In her talk Mayor Arnold said, "The Civic Centre of Prince Rupert has become an integral part of the life of almost all of us and it is no longer necessary for me to tell you all what this Centre means to us. One fact that stands out prominently in our city records is that we have no juvenile delinquency among the children in our city. I believe that this stems directly from the wise operation of our Civic Centre. And believe me we are the envy of many much larger municipalities in our province and it is up to us to keep this fine institution operating as a going concern."

The Mayor went on to say: "The City Council service clubs and other organizations contribute to the income necessary for the efficient operation of the Civic Centre but the fundamental basis of this operation should be membership subscriptions. I urge this, not only from the financial standpoint, but also from the moral and ethical point of view. It is up to all of us to back up this project, for our own civic good."

"It is hard to realize now what life in Prince Rupert would be without our Civic Centre. It is another home to many of us and every resource in it is used to the utmost. It is such a power for good in our community that we must get behind it. Its usefulness has increased each year, and the prophets of gloom who foretold four years ago that we could never keep it in operation have been confounded. So please take out your membership card and give your support both financially and morally to the best Civic Centre in the province."

FISHING INDUSTRY

was reviewed. It was in that year the industry had become greatly depleted, and international action became necessary to restore this deep sea fishing to the scope and importance it had been. Therefore, the Board of Commissioners, representing Canada and the United States was organized.

The objective was to work out and build up some system of restoration without going too far in any one direction—such as enforcing too great restrictions, or sanctioning too little. There was the question of lengthening the season and such matters as changes in the fishing season.

From Alaska had come the proposal that there be what was called the split season. The word "split" gave a possibly misleading impression, and it was suggested that the word "spreading" be used instead, in working toward the goal of a built up industry, and keeping it on that basis. The Commission acknowledged the co-operation of the fishing fleets, at all times, and would welcome from the fishermen, the benefit of learning of their experiences and opinion in studying the situation as it exists today.

A. Martinson, speaking of the services of the Commission, said they had performed good work. He brought up the question of catching the smaller halibut, operating later in the summer, selection of months, giving fish a chance to grow, and similar points inviting discussion. The chairman, G. W. Nickerson touched on the risk of a course of action meaning price depression. Other points mentioned including times of fishing, length of periods in Areas 2 and 3. Among the fishermen who spoke were Mr. Martinson, A. Dybavn and Mr. Anderson.

Dr. Chapman described some of the clauses in the proposed new treaty, this being from the American angle. These related to methods of extension of the season, control of time of boat departures, how to handle incidental catches of halibut and sable fish by other boats, power to license individual fishermen and boats. A strong request had been received that the Commission have representation from Alaska.

The Commission sailed last evening for Ketchikan, Petersburg and Juneau.

Believes U.S. Building Could Be City Hall

After a week in the city, W. J. Alder, former City Commissioner, sailed for his home in Victoria. He has property interests here and first came to Prince Rupert in pioneer days.

In reference to the Administration Building on First Avenue, unoccupied since the end of the war, Mr. Alder said he understood that negotiations for purchase, or to utilize it in some way, were pending.

He remarked that the building is not only well put up, but is also fairly new. The location is central, there is ample space, fine views from all directions, plenty of light and air and no commercial blocks or dwellings near.

Discussing the administration building's future, Mr. Alder mentioned the City Hall, suggesting it might be a distinct advantage to make a change to the Administration premises, providing that buying it, and making the place suitable would not involve too great a cost. He doubted if it would.

The change from Fulton St. to First Avenue, he explained need not be made at one time, but instead could be brought about gradually. So far as the actual city hall services are concerned, he said, the office on second and third floors do not take up so much room. Constructed not long after incorporation, the City Hall, if it cannot be said to have actually outlived usefulness, is nevertheless approaching old age, and is not without considerable inconvenience. One of the chief handicaps, said the former Commissioner, is the double stairway.

To anyone along in years, this is a long and a hard climb, and anyone not having to spend so much effort in reaching the second or third floors, would be greatly relieved.

The city is developing steadily and the day is coming when a new City Hall must be considered but it is unlikely a step like that will be taken without most careful study and calculation as well as large expenditure. It is doubtful if the present premises could satisfactorily serve until the city was prepared to go ahead on a permanent basis.

COMEDY PAIR OPEN HERE IN LAUGH RIOT

Abbott and Costello come tomorrow to the screen of the Capitol Theatre in "Mexican Hayride," Universal-International's elaborate movie version of the hilarious musical success which ran for 16 months on Broadway. Headlined with the two laugh champions are Virginia Grey, Luba Malina and John Hubbard.

"Mexican Hayride," written for the stage by Herbert and Dorothy Fields and Cole Porter, was scenarized by Oscar Brodney and John Grant. Charles T. Barton directed and the producer was Robert Arthur.

Hundreds of special atmosphere players appear in the burlesque bull ring sequences and the settings are said to be the most spectacular ever seen in an Abbott and Costello comedy.

4 OUT OF 5 PREFER
Libby's "Gentle Press"
TOMATO JUICE

Recently 390 grocers made a consumer preference test in 390 grocery stores across Canada. In 81 stores Libby's "Gentle Press" Tomato Juice and the next most popular brand were offered at the same price. In four out of five instances, the shopper selected Libby's.

The reason for this outstanding preference is easy to understand. Libby's Tomato Juice is processed by Libby's patented "Gentle Press" method which extracts only the purest, sweetest juice from fancy, field-ripened tomatoes—tomatoes which are thin-skinned and heavy with juice, the result of 37 years of seed selection by Libby experts. It takes more tomatoes to fill a tin the "Gentle Press" Libby way, and you can taste the delectable difference.

Libby's has that smell-of-the-garden freshness because the juice is packed the same day the tomatoes are picked, and nothing is added except a little salt. If you've ever walked into a garden and enjoyed the sun-ripened goodness of the reddest, juiciest tomato on the vine, you know the unsurpassed flavour of Libby's "Gentle Press" Tomato Juice.

Your grocer has just received the 1949 pack of Libby's, fresh from the garden. Order your supply, and serve it regularly. Libby's is Canada's favourite health drink—economical, and as good as it is good for you.

In 309 stores where distress merchandise—tomato juice reduced in price to clear—was displayed in competition with Libby's, 3 out of 5 shoppers preferred Libby's.

DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK
If you don't agree that Libby's "Gentle Press" Tomato Products and Soups are the best you've ever tasted.
