

Defiant Mrs. Tait Lands Safely In Greenland

Planes In Her "Wrong Corrigan" Escapade

(CP) — Mrs. Richarda Morrow-Tait, the world-in-a-year aviatrix, defied a government order yesterday not to fly the one air field in southern Greenland in a biplane. Today she was making

PADRE DROPS WITH PARAS

FORT ST. JOHN — When the sun-bronzed soldiers of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry launched their swift airborne assault against Fort St. John and the Peace River bridge during Exercise Eagle, the regiment's padre, H/Capt. J. M. "Jock" Anderson was not left behind. In fact, he went in with the first wave.

At his own request, the regiment's popular chaplain went into the attack on the Peace River bridge in one of the flimsy army gliders. It was his first ride in a glider and to get a place aboard the motorless craft, Capt. Anderson had to double as medical orderly. However the Pats had complete confidence in the padre's ability to take care of their physical as well as spiritual well-being.

Capt. Anderson, of London, Ontario, won the Military Cross and Bar in the Second World War. He served with the Highland Light Infantry from Galt, Ontario, landing with that unit on the Normandy beaches on D-Day. He won his decorations for rescuing wounded soldiers under fire, the first time at Buron, near shell-torn Caen in July, 1944, and later at the Hochwald Forest in March, 1945.

FEMININE EXCITEMENT

Enthusiasm and excitement pervaded evening long farewells last night as thirty odd local Job's Daughters embarked on the steamer Catala for Vancouver enroute to Spokane where, with their smart drill team, they will take part in an international assembly of the girls' order next week.

For probably the most of the girls it was the first trip away from home. Some of them had never travelled on a steamer before. Others were looking forward to their first long distance bus ride from Vancouver to Spokane. At least a few will also have their first train ride—an excursion from Spokane to Grand Coulee.

But the prime objective, of course, is the big drill team competition next Thursday when Prince Rupert's group is expected to make a creditable showing.

The Catala sailed at 11:30 p.m. and one of the first of the shipboard experiences was to be a celebration of the birthday of Inger Petersen for whom a special cake was taken along.

ALUMINUM MEN AT OOTSA LAKE

To meet residents of the Ootsa Lake region, representatives of the Aluminum Co. of Canada—E. A. Clarke, J. S. Kendrick and R. W. Craft, all of Vancouver—are now in that section of the province. They are to answer questions that might be asked concerning future developments. There are about 150 persons who have their homes there and they are wondering if there is a likelihood of being flooded out, should the aluminum plant be situated where they think it might be.

Partition Is Ruled Out

European Assembly Refuses to Touch Contentious Irish Question

STRASBOURG — By an overwhelming show of hands, the Council of Europe's Assembly today rejected an attempt by the Republic of Ireland to call up for debate the Irish partition problem.

Ireland had sought to have the newly-created Assembly take a hand in its long-standing demands for union of Northern Ireland with the 26-county republic of the south.

Strong opposition to the controversial proposal came from most British delegates of the 101-member Assembly.

Since 1921 the counties of Northern Ireland have been part of the United Kingdom along with England, Scotland and Wales.

"BEAUTY BY THE DOZEN" FEATURED IN CIVIC CENTRE'S QUEEN CONTEST

"Beauties by the dozen" is a literally correct way of describing the entries in the Civic Centre beauty contest which will result in the crowning of a Carnival Queen next Friday after three preliminary appearances before judges and audience on the Carnival stage.

Judging appearances of the 12 lovely girls will form part of the Carnival program next week. Their first appearance will be Monday evening and their second Wednesday night. On Thursday night, the final judging will take place and the winner named. Second and third choices of the judges also will be made public and these girls will act as princesses at the formal coronation.

The coronation of the Carnival Queen is scheduled for next Friday night with full pomp and ceremony customary to such Civic Centre carnival events.

"This bathing beauty and Carnival Queen contest is being promoted not only as a pageant of beauty for the interest of carnival patrons, but is also aimed at bringing out character and sportsmanship among the girls taking part," said T. Norton Youngs, chairman of the committee. "We feel that this event will add a touch of 'big town' entertainment and also help put over the Civic Centre program of development and progress."

Entries in the contest are:

Marie Lavigne, age 19. She has lived in Prince Rupert for nine years and has been active in the Little Theatre.

Beth Sedgewick, age 18. Has lived in Prince Rupert for three years and is a graduate of Booth Memorial High School. She is interested in music and dancing.

Frances Hiltz, age 29. Resident of Prince Rupert for the last two years, is now employed in the fishing industry. She is interested in sports.

Maresa Windle, age 18. Active in 'teen age circles, she is well known in the city. She is employed at the Fishermen's Co-operative. Her hobbies are dancing and music.

Nina Youngman, age 17. Born in Prince Rupert, she is on the staff of the Bank of Montreal. Her hobbies are commercial art and dressmaking. Her ambition lies in the field of art.

Jean McGlashan, age 18. A recent arrival from England, she is on the staff of Sweet Sixteen apparel shop.

Florence Cloutier, age 17. Lived in Prince Rupert for the last five years and received her education at Annunciation School. Is now employed by the Fishermen's Co-op.

Muriel McDougall, age 21. Born at Smithers, Muriel came

THE WEATHER

(Synopsis)

Cool moist air still covers almost all regions of British Columbia. There is little present indication of any marked improvement in general conditions over the weekend. Southern interior valleys will enjoy a few sunny intervals but cloudy skies are expected to be general over the remainder of the province. Another disturbance in the Gulf of Alaska will cause rain and moderate southeasterly winds along the north coast region this afternoon and increasing cloudiness over the southern coastal areas tomorrow.

(Forecast)

North Coast Region—Overcast today with intermittent rain beginning early afternoon. Cloudy with showers Sunday. Little change in temperature. Winds, light, increasing to southeasterly (25 mph) in the exposed areas and southeasterly (15) over the remainder of the region early this afternoon and shifting to northern (20) Sunday morning. Lows tonight and highs Sunday—at Port Hardy, 52 and 60; Massett 50 and 60; Prince Rupert, 49 and 60.

BEARS GO BACK TO MOUNTAIN

The bear which visited McClymont Park Friday afternoon with two cubs completely disappeared after her stroll across the park area. An hour's search by game wardens Ed Martin and H. R. Walmsley failed to reveal any sign of any of the three intruders along Hays Creek or the surrounding area. Mr. Martin said it is likely that the trio forayed down from the mountain after berries and surprised themselves and the public when they broke into a populated open space.

Prince Rupert's Major Event - Carnival To Aid Civic Centre-Opening

Mayor Nora E. Arnold will open Prince Rupert Civic Centre's Carnival at 7:30 tonight, officially starting the week-long gala which is the city's major summer event and which provides a portion of the funds to keep the Civic Centre operating during the year.

The official opening will take place after the parade of "Beauty Queen" and "Perfect Child" contestants arrive at the Civic Centre building.

Following the opening and up to 11:30 p.m., when the "Bathing Beauty Queen" contestants are introduced from the auditorium stage for the first time, patrons will have a chance to savor the attractions, most of which are centred in the gymnasium and

PROGRESS ON NEW BUILDING

Large attendance at last night's special general meeting of the local branch of the Canadian Legion was evidence of the interest that is being taken in the completion of the recently acquired naval bulidigs as the permanent headquarters for their branch.

William H. Murray, chairman of the building committee, reported that steel to be used in the new building had arrived and was now being prepared for setting in place. A great deal of the demolition work that has to be undertaken had already been completed and the contractors, Greer & Bridden, had the work well in hand.

The meeting approved of the upper portion of the premises being operated under the title of The Canadian Legion Club of Prince Rupert. Pattern is taken from the recently opened club of the New Westminster Branch No. 2 and other Legion branches in the Fraser Valley which hold the two licences.

Under the authority of a club license issued by the Liquor Control Board the Legion Club premises will consist of a handsomely furnished and well-appointed club bar, lounge, billiard and card rooms and provision has also been made in the plans for a modern snack bar with ample seating capacity. This Club is separate from the present Veterans' Club which will occupy premises on the ground floor. It is purely a business venture of the local branch, operated under a separate licence and governed by articles of the Government Liquor Act Regulation. The membership is not limited to veterans only but, as in any other proprietary club, any person being of the full age of twenty one years may make application for membership. Applications have to be properly proposed and seconded by two bona-fide Club members and finally endorsed by a selection committee. All active members of the local branch of the Canadian Legion who are in good standing and have their Legion dues fully paid up may become active members of the Club on payment of a nominal annual fee upon making proper application. Non-Legion members will pay an entrance fee and a higher annual fee and will be known as associate members.

Kanhsien Is Under Siege

CANTON — Kanhsien, gateway city to Canton, was reported standing firm today against furious assaults by from 50,000 to 60,000 Communist troops. Chinese Army spokesmen said that the Reds were still unable to crack the city's defences.

Pro-government dispatches said that fighting was raging in the outskirts of that city 215 miles northeast of Canton.

Provincial officers have fled from the capital of Kiangsi Province but the governor is said to be directing Kanhsien's defence. He is General Fang Tien, who is also commander-in-chief of the armed forces in Kiangsi.

On the southeast front heavy fighting is reported developing in a Communist attempt to isolate the big port of Foochow. Foochow lies opposite the Nationalist redoubt of Formosa.

Press reports say that the Communists are trying to capture Yungtai, 30 miles southwest of Foochow.

Sharp clashes also are reported around the main river towns of Minsing and Shukow, 30 and 40 miles upstream from Foochow.

Counterfeit Case Arrest

Young Sawmill Worker Charged With Kidnapping Engraver

VANCOUVER — Paul Pankow, sawmill worker, has been arrested and charged with the kidnapping of Ernest Conduit, 66-year old engraver last January.

Conduit, formerly of Toronto, was found chained to a heavy metal box in the basement of a bungalow in the Dunbar area on January 11. He claimed that he had been kidnapped and held captive for five days by a hooded gang who wanted him to engrave phony $20 bills.

Police said they expected to make other arrests shortly.

Pankow, aged 21, formerly of Edmonton, was identified by Conduit from among five other men in a line-up.

A 35-year-old waitress had previously spotted him in a cafe. Helen Wendelberg said she had applied to rent part of the house where Conduit was held. She saw a man who would not show her the basement. He was identified as Pankow. The waitress said he had taken $150 in advance from her for rent. Police last night charged Pankow, a sawmill worker, with the kidnapping of Conduit "in company with persons unknown."

LEGION WINS

Last evening's football game in the Mobley Cup competition resulted in a win for the Canadian Legion team by two goals to one over the General Motors. Once again it was a case of nine men trying hard to beat a full team, and that rarely happens.

Russia and Alaska

IF RUSSIA is not converted to the belief that the United States never paid $7,200,000 to Moscow for Alaska in 1867 it will not be the fault of today's Soviet leaders.

It is now part of Russian school instruction to say that, while the money was paid, it was not as a purchase price. It was received by the Czar of that time as compensation for the visit of the Russian fleet to New York and San Francisco in 1863 when the American Civil War was reaching a critical stage. It is a matter of history that both Great Britain and France sympathized with the Confederacy and it may be assumed, with considerable reason, that the presence of Russian ships in American ports had behind it a definite purpose.

Rehashing events of 86 years ago cannot get anywhere but to try and create the feeling that Russian people have been the victims of colossal deceit and injustice could be accepted as a handy propaganda weapon.

NEGRO PROBLEM

THE NEGRO PROBLEM in the United States is very much to the fore just now, particularly in the south where it was made a political issue in the last election by President Truman's Civil Rights message. In an article entitled "The South Has Changed," which appears in the July issue of Harper's Magazine, Mary Heaton Vorse says that race relations are improving. "Although the Ku Klux Klan has freshened up its sheets and the Dixiecrats have put on a successful filibuster, there is a transformation going on, on the surface and down deep," says Miss Vorse. She had just returned from a tour of the southern States, and she says that while she found "the voice of reaction was loud at every filling station, there was deep concern over the 'exodus of the Negro from the Southern States.'"

The first factor that is bringing about this change, says Miss Vorse, is "self-interest" on the part of business men, manufacturers and farmers, who are afraid their labor supply will vanish if greater opportunity is not offered to the Negro. After the First World War there was an exodus of three million Negroes. They emigrated north and west and they didn't return.

Negroes have been regarded as the happiest people in the world. They are the children of the sun, and the American Negro still retains the primitive buoyancy and childlike simplicity of his African ancestry. "Old Man River" was written by a white man and, while it may express the reactions of the Negro laborer to the hardships and the hustle of modern life, it is only a passing mood, and the philosophy of the song is more that of the white man than the full-blooded Negro. It has always seemed that a mixture of white blood tends to render the Negro discontented with his lot, as if there were a conflict between the two races in him. If there is some white blood in Paul Robeson, it may account for his embittered attitude toward the country that gave him his culture and freedom to rise to the top of his profession. It is doubtful whether he could have achieved such eminence in communist Russia, for which he professes so much love and admiration. If he had been born there he would probably now be working in the salt mines. He owes everything he is and has to the American way of life which he pretends to despise.

(By Rev. F. Antrobus, First Baptist Church)

THE FREE GIFT OF GOD

"For the wages of sin is death, but the free gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord." Romans 6:23.

In contrast to the statement here that the master Sin provides wages to all who serve him and that his wages are death, we can say that God does not give wages at all but something far better. He provides those who come to Him through His Son, Jesus Christ, with "life" and this eternal life is a spontaneous and generous gift of God's grace.

In the same way as Paul, who had no other means of support, was compelled to work at tent-making to earn a wage if he was to live so the man who is not a Christian is compelled to serve the master Sin for his wage of death because he lacks spiritual resources to live a life of righteousness.

And just as the loving gift of money sent by his Philippiian friends released Paul from this necessity of working for a tent-maker's wage and set him at liberty to give himself up entirely to preaching the gospel, so when man by faith or trust, receives the gift of eternal life in Christ Jesus, which God freely offers to all men, this alone frees him from the bondage of serving sin, and at the same time gives him wisdom and strength to serve God.

Well then, if eternal life is a gift, it is certainly not the work of man. Eternal life is not a culture, nor a refinement, nor a product of self-discipline, nor a high standard of life. It is the result of a new birth, a new life given by the grace of God to all who trust in His Son and come to the Father through Him.

Nowhere is there a suggestion of a gradual leading upward by easy stages, from the human to the divine. The man who has eternal life is, therefore, a Christian and the man who has it not are on two totally different planes. The passage from one to the other is not by a process of gradual accomplishment but of immediate recreation. I cannot emphasize this too strongly.

You ask, "How can I have this eternal life?" You are to take Christ for all that God offers Him to you as. He offers Him as your Saviour from sin. Trust Him as such He offers Him to you as your Lord, the Master of every part of your life. Accept Him as such; Accept the fact, that your sins have separated you from God! Take the place of such a lost sinner, trust in Christ as your

MRS. M. THOMAS BURIED FRIDAY

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Moya Thomas, who died in the city Monday, were held Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Yelland, 1078 Seventh Avenue East, son-in-law and daughter of the deceased, where she had resided prior to her death.

Family members, including four daughters from out of town and a few friends, attended the rite which was conducted by Archdeacon E. Hodson of St. Peter's Anglican Church, Seal Cove.

Three sons-in-laws of the deceased were among the pallbearers. They were Ernest Backshas of Ketchikan, William McKee of Williams Lake and Kenneth Yelland of Prince Rupert. Acting with them were Mark Ganton, James Currie and Arthur Jones. Interment took place at Fairview Cemetery.

At the graveside, brief services were conducted by Mrs. Harry Paulson and Mrs. M. B. Viereck of the Ladies' Orange Saviour and be saved, and come into the family of God.

If you trust Him in this way, you will have eternal life, for it is written, 'He that hath the Son hath life, he that hath not the Son of God, hath not life.' It is just as clear-cut as that. 'As many as received Him, to them gave He power to become the sons of God.'

To you will be given power over sins as well as forgiveness and power to lead a godly life. To you will be given that calm assurance of life eternal, beginning now. 'I am the resurrection and the life. He that believeth on Me, though he were dead, yet shall he live, and whoever liveth and believeth in Me, shall never die.' May the Lord guide you this very day to take the Lord Jesus, as your own personal Saviour, that you may enter into life.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Nickerson and family are leaving on Monday night's train for Lake Khatlyn to spend a ten-day holiday.

E. Willie of Terrace returned to his home in the interior on last night's train after spending a couple of days in the city on business.

J. S. Wilson, principal of Borden Street School, returned to the city on the Catala last evening after spending the past month at Victoria.

Angus Macdonald, well known Vancouver insurance man, after spending a few days in the city on business, sailed by the Catala last night on his return south. He had motored into Prince Rupert through the interior.

Mrs. Shopland of North Pacific Cannery was a passenger aboard the Catala last evening returning to Galiano Island after having spent the past couple of months on the Skeena River.

Jack C. Elsey of the sales department of Nelson Bros. Ltd. is leaving by Monday's plane on his return to Vancouver after spending the past month at the company's Port Edward plant. He is the son of Dr. C. R. Elsey of the scientific research of B.C. Packers who is well known in Prince Rupert.

Oddfellows' Head Coming Next Week

Starting in this city a round of official visitations which will cover the whole province, James Haslett of Vancouver grandmaster of the Oddfellows Lodge for British Columbia, will arrive in Prince Rupert Monday morning aboard the steamer Princess Norah. He will pay his official visit to the local lodge on Tuesday night, proceeding the next day to Terrace to visit there Wednesday night. Then he will continue to Smithers, Prince George and Pouce Coupe.

New Builders' Supply Firm Open

Smart Premises House City's Latest Concern

A new enterprise is to be introduced to Prince Rupert with the opening on Monday of the Island City Builders' Supplies located in new and modern premises at 505 McBride Street. The attractive semi-circular faced building which has aroused some curiosity over the past three months is to house a display area, office and storeroom, situated in the uptown area, for the purpose of merchandising new and modern building materials and for the provision of a service to Prince Rupertites who are planning modernization of their homes and places of business.

The construction of the building and the commencement of business in the building supply field is the culmination of several years of planning on the part of Art Ogilvie, owner and manager. The owner, who was well known in Prince Rupert prior to his departure from the city in May, 1947, was stationed at H.M.C.S. Chatham during the war while a member of the R.C.N.V.R. and continued in the employ of the Naval Service after the termination of hostilities. With the completion of the transfer to War Assets Corporation, of the wartime H.M.C.S. Chatham and the outlying stations, Mr. Ogilvie was appointed to the position of maintenance officer in the R.C.N. Ammunition Depot at Kamloops, where he remained until his resignation from the Naval Service in April of this year.

During four years' of residence in Prince Rupert, Art Ogilvie became affected by that intangible attraction which brings so many people back to the city and this same feeling was shared by his wife and family. He has long been a booster for Prince Rupert and has always been enthusiastic about the possibilities of a great industrial future for the north country. After having been absent from the city for a year, the Ogilvies motored here from Kamloops in August of last year to begin the active planning for commencement of the business which has now materialized.

In May of this year, Mr. Ogilvie and family returned to Prince Rupert and construction of the building was commenced almost immediately. With no assistance, other than the installation of electrical service and lighting which was carried out by Grant & Newton, electrical contractors, Mr. Ogilvie completed the building in 12 weeks.

The building is of the Quonset type, a structure which has been used extensively throughout the United States since the war and is rapidly becoming popular in Canada. It is an improved development of the wartime Quonset Hut which was tested so strenuously and used so very extensively throughout all theatres of operations during the war.

EYE CATCHING

The eye catching shape is enhanced by the modern front with large sloping windows and by the introduction of glass blocks enclosing the entrance. The entire storefront is finished in striated plywood, placed at various angles, providing a changing pattern when viewed from opposite sides and the up-sloping canopy is designed to be in keeping with the departure from conventional construction.

The finish used in the interior features striated plywood and a window of translucent plastic in opalescent shade. Between the office and display room, a sash contains three sections of corrugated plastic in rose shade. This, combined with the plastic window provides a pleasant diffusion of natural light. Among the lines of materials carried in the new business, will be the nationally advertised Pittsburgh Paint which is rapidly increasing in popularity since its introduction into Canada. Mr. Ogilvie, who has had many years of experience in the field of construction, building maintenance and alterations, has designed his building and has endeavoured to choose materials with a view to providing an example for the benefit of property owners who are planning alterations and modernization and who wish to take advantage of the service which will be made available in this respect. It is intended that Island City Builders' Supplies, with the assistance of Vancouver distributors, will place at the disposal of storeowners and operators, a service of storefront designing and the supply of modern storefront materials which are fast becoming a necessity in all progressive communities.

FOUR NEW PLAYERS JOIN LOCAL TALENT IN KETCHIKAN SERIES

Tribute to the quality of Prince Rupert baseball talent is the fact that nine of the thirteen players named on the current All-Star team are athletes who learned most of their baseball on the local diamond. This is in contrast to the policy in most centres where the majority of players are imports.

While most fans are up-to-date on the history of the home town boys, many are not aware of previous activities of the four who have recently joined the baseball circle.

DAVE ABEL broke into league play with the Regina Red Sox in the tournament-conscious circuit in southern Saskatchewan that includes such towns as Weyburn, Moose Jaw and Wilcox, beside Regina. Along with regular league play the teams take part in tournaments where prizes of a thousand dollars are common. During his hitch with the Navy, Abel wound up at Halifax which was one of the hot spots for baseball during the war since many outstanding stars spent some time there. Dave held down his regular position behind the plate there till his discharge when he returned to Regina for a couple of seasons before coming to the coast.

CLIFF DAHL played his best ball in the league in the Nickel Belt of Ontario where good players were given easy jobs in order to play ball. As a result ninety percent of the talent were imports. Cliff hit against Phil Marchildon who was soon to become a star for the Philadelphia Athletics. From there he moved to Fort William where he had an offer to try out with Fort Worth, a AAA league. However, a severe illness cut off the chance and, by the time he was fully recovered, he figured his peak was past. Cliff headed west and Prince Rupert has a classy ball player.

JOHN ROSEDALE, like many others, started his baseball career on the prairies but soon headed to Vancouver where he played a couple of years in senior B league, then two in the senior A before the Army got hold of him. At that time he felt just about ready to try for something better but, with tough Army opposition at Nanaimo and not being in condition, Rosie had arm trouble that never really got better. However, he went on to have better than average success at Chilliwack, Victoria, Vernon and such places. It was the policy of the services to draft players from the far corners of the country and many of the top stars of the continent are on Big John's strike-out list.

STAN CORNWELL, recruit of the local pasture, is fresh from a couple of seasons in the Vancouver Senior League. Down there Stan spent most of his effort behind the plate though he admits his first love is the outfield. Cornwell had just got started his baseball career when the Air Force called and so he did much of his early diamond activities in the service on the wide open prairie in quest of tournament trophies.

KETCHIKAN — Little advance

LOCAL MAN'S NIECE — Ready to get away with the gun is comely Pat Jones of New Westminster, member of Canada's British Empire Games track and field team. Miss Jones, a contender in the 1948 Olympics, will run the 100-yard dash and anchor the 440 relay team. She is a niece of N. L. Jones of Prince Rupert. (C. P. Photo)

Ray Reflects and Reminisces

Peaches from the Okanagan parts of America. For example, are reported to be on the move, in the sunny, dusty village of Rosetown (Saskatchewan) last an easterly direction. Peaches, week, heat registered 110—the grown in Skeena have started for the south where they will be on display in Spokane.

A nameless yacht, deserted, and nothing to indicate in the slightest degree, her identity was reported Thursday by the skipper of a British freighter well out in the North Atlantic. Sounds like another sea mystery. For they do happen, and some are most profound. Back in the seventies, the sailing ship Marie Celeste, with not a soul aboard, was found off the coast of Spain. The riddle has not been answered yet.

If the most is made of what available space there is in Prince Rupert and the users of automobiles are disposed to co-operate, the problem of parking can be further simplified. If car owners will take the trouble to avoid wasting time and its relation to the general question of parking, a solution will be much nearer.

It is frequently mentioned and written that Prince Rupert has no extremes of heat or cold and this is true. It is an important truth. Yet Prince Rupert would probably be more interested if advised that Rupert's annual average rainfall would be 35 inches but at the cost of blistering summers (with no cool nights) and bitter winters that's the way it is, in various Charles G. D. Roberts, whose gifts as a poet mean so much to Canada, and who spoke in the Booth School building at Prince Rupert years ago, is not believed to have received from Canada, much pecuniary recognition. Authors appear to be more money conscious in the United States. Not more than a few weeks ago a Vancouver man is reported having been paid $15,000 for an adventure story in Saturday Evening Post. Plenty of prospectors, fishermen, loggers and other out of door men in Skeena have yarns worth that much secreted about their person, but they don't know it.

LIBEL SUIT BY HORSE TRAINER

VANCOUVER — Trainer Harry Howe, suspended for sixty days for allegedly doping a horse, filed suit against the Vancouver Thoroughbred Association, claiming unstated damages for libel and loss of earnings. His suspension was imposed two weeks ago when the Royal Canadian Mounted Police reported that Mabel Q had been given a stimulant before winning a race.
