Return To Office Of Canada's Best Gov't Seen By Speakers

General Cabinet Minister and Skeena Candidate Express Confidence of Outcome On June 27

Attention that the Liberal party had given Canada and after the war government of such standard that it might be rated as the best government the Dominion had ever had and confidence administration would be given a sweeping of appreciation and return to office in the next night when Hon. Mr. St. Laurent, federal minister of fisheries, and Mr. A. G. McPherson, Liberal candidate, addressed a meeting at the Civic Centre and Mr. Mayhew and Mr. Ap... were agreed that it is likely that Canada will choose to turn out in favour of a government which had the country to a position of prosperity such as we have dared to hope and in the time had maintained principles of true democracy and free enterprise. Mr. Mayhew, British Columbia federal cabinet minister, would return to his fold as a supportively mandated government following the federal election.

Calls For More Prayer

Anglican W.A. Learns About England—Officers Elected

At the Thursday session of the Caledonia Diocesan Board of the Women's Auxiliary of the Church of England, Canon W. F. Rushbrook reminded the members that they must pray without ceasing. "If a thing is worth while to do it well for, by constant self-denial, reward will be yours in the higher life," he asserted.

The address of the President, Mrs. J. B. Gibson, followed. She told the meeting that the theme for the meeting was taken from the motto "Through Love be Servants one to Another." This was the theme chosen by Miss Margaret West in the summer of 1907 when the W.A. was formed in Caledonia.

MARTIN ULMER STILL MISSING

Weather Hampers Search on Graham Island for Fishing Skipper

Two ground parties of five men each started searching yesterday from Seal Inlet and Skaloo Bay on the west coast of Graham Island for Martin Ulmer, skipper of the gill net boat Atomic, who has been missing since May 22 when he set out overland for a distance of thirty miles to the Canadian Fishing Co.'s camp at Tartoo Inlet after his boat had broken down. The search has been hampered however, by continuing stormy weather and Ulmer's fate is still a mystery, it was reported by Flying Officer Lemley of a Royal Canadian Air Force Canso flying boat which landed at Prince Rupert late yesterday afternoon to refuel, returning to the Queen Charlottes this morning.

Mishaps At Coast Reef

One Vessel Strands—Another Fouls Wheel—All Are Safe

The American power barge Pat B was proceeding undamaged to Ketchikan today with her crew of seven following a grounding on Herbert Reef, Grenville Channel, south of Prince Rupert, late last night. The fish packer Western Ranger was at the Prince Rupert dry dock for repairs after having had her propeller fouled in a low line after assisting in refloating the barge. The Western Ranger was brought to Prince Rupert by the lighthouse tender Birnie which had also gone to the scene of the stranding and towed the Western Ranger here.

Elected at Friday Session of Junior Chamber Convention and Installed Last Night

Mayor Frank Goldsworthy of North Vancouver was elected president of the British Columbia region of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Canada at its annual convention here Friday afternoon and was formally installed in office at an official dinner last night.

The 37-year-old civic leader and electrical engineer replaces Brent W. Murdoch, who was elected at the two-day convention which closed this afternoon. Councillors for the seven districts which make up the B.C. region are D. H. Holmes, Victoria, Don Harris, Chilliwack, Len MacLeod, Vernon, Frank Wittner, Penticton, Edward Batt, Rossland, Rudy Kaser, Prince George and Walter Burns, Smithers.

C.S.U. Is Suspended

But T.L.C. Refuses to Recognize S.I.U.

OTTAWA.—The 6,000 man Red-influenced Canadian Seamen's Union was suspended last night by the 400,000-man Trades and Labor Congress of Canada but a special T.L.C. committee refused to recognize the Seafarers' International Union, the C.S.U.'s bitter rival in the east-west coast strike.

THREAT TO LIBERTY

A similar theme was stressed

The three-man committee, which sat for five days, found the S.I.U. too willing and ready "to man ships of the men on strike with inexperienced crews with the full support of the struck companies, to say nothing of questionable methods used."

May Be Record Vote

CANADA'S POPULAR VOTE may hit a new peak—it could roll over the 8,000,000 mark—in the June 27 general election.

It will be the 21st general election since Confederation and a steady increase in the number of voters has taken place in every contest since 1900.

This year, a new and historic factor has come into the picture. Newfoundland has entered Confederation, bringing with her another 175,000 potential voters. In addition, there has been a steady postwar flow of immigrants who, after one year's residence in this country, may exercise the franchise.

The popular vote in the 1945 general election totalled 5,246,130, including 359,078 service votes, out of a potential 6,952,445 voters registered. Based on natural population increase, immigration and union with Newfoundland, preliminary surveys indicated there would be more than 8,000,000 eligible voters this year.

Though the rise in the popular vote was slow in the early years of this century, there was an increase of 4,293,634 in the number of ballots cast in the 1945 election over the 1900 election.

In 1900, a year in which women had no franchise, the vote total was 953,496. The increase since then reflects the extension of the vote to women, the heavy rise in the country's population and generally-increased interest in government.

In 1904, when the main election issue was the trans-continental railway problem, the vote rose to 1,030,186. It jumped again to 1,173,856 in 1908, when tariff problems joined with the railway issue to sharpen voting interest. The thorny question of reciprocity with the United States pulled the voters out again in 1911 and the vote total climbed to 1,307,528.

Three factors in the war election of 1917—the proposed union government, conscription and the women's franchise—resulted in the sharpest rise in the popular vote up to that time. The ballots totalled 1,883,329, including some 250,000 or more soldier votes.

Women voted for the first time in the 1921 general election and their ballots swelled the total to 3,119,306—1,235,977 more votes than were counted in 1917.

The rate of increase slowed down in the 1925 and 1926 elections, in which the main interest stemmed from tariff, trade and constitutional questions. In 1925, the popular vote totalled 3,168,412 and in 1926 it inched up to 3,273,062.

The depression years brought with them the simmering problem of unemployment and focussed the attention on Canada's domestic economy. The popular vote climbed to 3,992,481 in 1930 and then swung over the 4,000,000 mark for the first time in history in 1935, when 4,406,854 ballots were cast.

The 1940 election was Canada's second wartime election and 4,620,260 voters turned out to cast their ballots.

PRINCE RUPERT MUSKETEERS

WHO SAYS the movies have not an influence? Sword play and field strategy appear to be engaging the earnest attention of Prince Rupert youths. Almost any afternoon, groups of boys, grasping their side-arms (in this case, just ordinary sticks) can be seen doing a quick march, executing a turning movement or, in sudden emergency, doing desperate fencing—all same "Three Musketeers." The open spaces of the railway reserve offer ample opportunity for tactical advantage.

MUSH FOR BREAKFAST

By REV. BASIL S. PROCKTER (Canon St. Andrew's Cathedral)
Mush, the old-fashioned kind, for breakfast is not universally popular as can easily be seen by the fact that the industry for providing fancy breakfast foods is a very big and profitable one. However, there are still a great many people who find that, if they have to work hard or and privation, the best thing to start the day with is the good old-fashioned mush. Men in sedentary occupations quickly switch to something more substantial than toast and coffee if they go on hunting trips.

This looks like a good illustration concerning the belief and practice of the Christian religion. When we are really up against it, we need the good old-fashioned mush which looks so indigestible and uninteresting but is in reality the only food that meets the need. We encounter it dressed up in part with milk of human kindness and the sugar and art and culture and learning. Sometimes plenty of milk—sometimes very little. Sometimes lots of sugar—sometimes none at all. But in the middle of the bowl is this mass of theological truth concerning God and the human soul which seems so often quite incomprehensible. Many of us are like the children. We scrape off the sugar or lap up the milk and leave the rest. But that cannot really meet our fundamental need. And when the hour comes, when we are really on the ropes, weary and laden, we know so well that the only thing that will really revive us and keep strong for the task or the journey is the swallowing of that stuff which has to do with forgiveness, justification, immortality and the Compassion of Almighty God—swallowing it moreover at God's own breakfast table, the Church.

So it comes about that some who lived for many years, shuddering at the very idea of this unprepossessing diet cannot think of living for even one day without a bowl of the same. We may think them strange. But they learned its value in the school of hard and sometimes bitter experience.

Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Large returned to the city on the Princess Norah this afternoon after making the round trip to Alaska.

Memorial Instrument Dedicated at Annunciation Church

Annunciation Church was filled to capacity last evening when Reginald G. Geen of Toronto Conservatory of Music gave a very fine recital of dedication on the new organ. Father F. Rayner in opening the program, explained that the organ had been donated to the church by G. W. Nickerson in memory of his wife.

Mr. Geen presented a pleasingly balanced program ranging from Schubert's beautifully religious "Ave Maria," through Handel's stately "Minuet" from "Berenice," and on to the gay lilting "Spring Song" of Hollins where one could conjure pictures of birds among blossoming trees and young animals at play. The Mendelssohn Sonata showed splendid contrasts in mood and tempo and Mr. Geen's fine interpretation of this composition brought out the lovely melody and beautiful harmonies to the satisfaction of the audience.

The versatility of the organist was well developed in his playing of "Canzone (La Vita Nuova)" by Wolf-Ferrari. The strong melody at the opening of the composition with mood contrasts throughout were most effective.

Lovely indeed was the rendering of Liszt's "Ave Maria d'Arcadelt."

Mr. Geen, a thorough master of his instrument, called the moods and the organ responded in turn with a haunting melody, or clear bell tones, deep throaty chords, and again with a song, simple yet beautiful. Once it was as if a flute played in the distance, once the subject of a fugue romped over the keyboard. Finally a full chorus filled the air.

At intermission as well as at the beginning and end of the fine program, Annunciation combined choir sang hymns with a depth of feeling which carried over to the audience. The choral numbers were "Come, Holy Ghost" (Lambillotte), "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name," (Ritter), "O God of Loveliness" (adapted by Montani) and "Ye Sons and Daughters of the Lord" (Palestrina).

Organ program was as follows:

"Phantasie (Rheinberger).
"Sonata (Grave, Adagio, Allegro, Vivace)" Mendelssohn.

I.O.D.E. CONVENES—One of the social highlights of the 49th convention of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire new being held at Victoria, B. ### BLESSINGS OF MR. PATTULLO

Jack McRae, Coalition candidate for Prince Rupert in the forthcoming provincial election, has received the blessings of Former Premier T. D. Pattullo, staunch old Liberal and for nearly thirty years M.L.A. for this riding. In a letter to Mr. McRae, Mr. Pattullo says: "I am pleased you are in the campaign. I have followed your movements from the press and am expecting to hear good news June 15."

PLANNING BIG LABOR MEET

LONDON — The British Labor party yesterday outlined a program for the largest annual conference in the party's 49-year history. Morgan Phillips, secretary of the party, said that 1480 delegates will attend the five-day session at Blackpool starting next Monday. The previous top attendance was 1374 at last year's conference.

BURNABY MAN WINS SPEAKING CONTEST HERE

Ernest Crampton of the South Burnaby Junior Chamber of Commerce was awarded the Vancouver Board of Trade trophy last night after he had been judged winner of the provincial Jaycee oratorical contest in which he and four other young men spoke on the topic "We Are For Freedom" at the Junior Chamber convention yesterday. The shining silver trophy was presented to Mr. Crampton at the Jaycee installation banquet last night by National President Phil Pugsley who urged him to carry his talent to Calgary and Toronto where western and national oratorical contests will be held later this month.

Part of the reward for his prize-winning address will be a paid trip to Calgary for the western competition and to Toronto if he wins at the prairie city.

The regional contest was held in the Civic Centre auditorium Friday afternoon, where, before an audience of convention delegates and four judges, Mr. Crampton, Norman Parkins of Victoria, Ron Griswold of Rossland, Herb Capozzi of Kelowna and Bruce Harvey of Prince George, spoke on the same topic — "We Are For Freedom."

The panel of judges consisted of F. E. Anfield, J. T. Harvey, Allan M. Hurst and Canon Basil S. Prockter. In announcing the decision of the judges, Mr. Anfield said that, because of the competency of all the speakers, a decision had been difficult to make.

MAYOR "SELLS" CITY TO JAYCEES

Prince Rupert was "sold" to delegates to the regional convention of the Junior Chamber of Commerce here Friday by Mayor Nora Arnold in an address before a luncheon sponsored by the city council in the Civic Centre auditorium.

Feature speaker following the noonday meal, Mayor Arnold took the opportunity to tell the visitors some of the background of the city and to extol the spirit of its citizens whom she described as "a fine group who have what it takes."

She also paid tribute to the community work done by the Prince Rupert Junior Chamber which she said were a "grand bunch who have done a great deal to foster a right civic spirit and a pride in this city."

"The thing I like best about the Jaycees is that they are not gimmees. We have in this country too many people who are always hanging back and want the government or the city to do it, people who have lost that fine old pioneer spirit when men worked from dawn to dusk to create something for themselves. There are too many who are ready and willing to hand over all the responsibilities of life to the state and become not men, but parasites," she said.

With Mayor Arnold at the banquet were Aldermen T. B. Black, W. F. Stone and H. S. Whalen.

Mayor Frank Goldsworthy of North Vancouver thanked Mrs. Arnold for her address on behalf of the delegates, describing her as an able and outstanding civic official whose qualities are recognized by municipal leaders throughout the province.

Chairman of the meeting was S. G. Furk, president of the Prince Rupert Junior Chamber.

Reminiscences

By W. J. — and REFLECTIOS

W. L. Mackenzie King spent a miserable May, and June, so far, is believed to be a time of discontent. The sound of battle has been in his ears all the time, but, for obvious reasons, he could not join in combat. He has frequently as much as said he deplored sitting on the sidelines. Well, when a fellow feels he must do something or burst, he can always write to the editor.

We're in for a good old-fashion bawling out if a friend manages to remember what it was in this column he so strongly disagreed with and now is unable to recall. Here's hoping he will recollect every last little detail and bring on his storm of criticism. A free and forceful argument now and then, is good for the soul, anyway. We don't like "yes, yes, yes" people. They are not interesting enough. That's why we live in Canada instead of Russia.

ed of F. E. Anfield, J. T. Harvey, Allan M. Hurst and Canon Basil S. Prockter. In announcing the decision of the judges, Mr. Anfield said that, because of the competency of all the speakers, a decision had been difficult to make.

Mr. Anfield particularly commended 18-year-old Bruce Harvey of Prince George for his address, which the judges considered exceptionally good for one so young.

Commenting on Mr. Crampton's prize-winning address, Mr. Anfield drew attention to the stress laid by the speaker on the responsibility of individuals for maintaining freedom. The concept was one which had particularly impressed the judges, he said.

Mr. Crampton had described the Four Freedoms promulgated by the late Franklin D. Roosevelt and Winston Churchill as "the greatest document since the Magna Charta."

"Man is at his best when he has a maximum amount of freedom," he declared. "Without economic freedom all other freedom cannot endure. We must be free from fear of the future and from fear of the errors of the past."

SOFTBALL IS OPENED HERE

First Game Loose Affair But Better Things Expected

Prince Rupert's 1949 softball season got under way Wednesday evening at the Gyro Park when North Star's entry in the men's league soundly trounced the Gordon and Anderson stalwarts by a 15 to 2 score. Although the final outcome indicated a cribbage score rather than the results of a softball game, the fans had an enjoyable evening and will be back tonight to see the third entry in the league—General Motors — play Gordon and Anderson entry.

The game was a typical early season effort with errors galore and a good many more walks than hits. There were two two-base hits during the evening but no circuit clouts or three baggers. Gordon and Anderson were pretty well demoralized throughout the game and, if it had not been for the brilliant playing of their catcher, the score would have been even worse than it was. Another game or two could see the teams rounding into condition which will mean plenty of enjoyable summer evenings for the fans.

The General Motors entry this year will be made up entirely of young fellows, and it is a completely revamped team from last year. North Star have many of last year's C.N.R.A. players on their roster and are early season favorites to cop the silverware. Tonight will see how Gordon & Anderson stack up against the young fellows of the General Motors entry.

believed that state ownership was detrimental to progress, was unalterably opposed to communism, no matter in what guise it might rear its ugly head. Liberalism was capable of meeting new problems with new methods and fresh outlook. Liberalism was based on the time-tested philosophy of the brotherhood of man and the dignity of the individual. To place the state before the human individual and family must surely be repugnant to the best in Canadian thinking. Above all things, hard won political freedom must be preserved for, without political freedom, how could there be other freedoms?

MAKING DEMOCRACY WORK

There was no room in Canada for complacency and letting things drift, no room for an attitude of regimentation under a superstate. Democracy must be kept in good working order. The Liberal government had shown that it could make democracy work. All that needed to be cited were one or two of its achievements in the postwar period. It had been predicted that postwar deflation would leave a million and a half Canadians on the bread line. But what has been the case? Demobilization had been carried out and if anything, there had been increased prosperity. Canada had received the best postwar government of any country in the world. Taxes had been reduced by over a billion dollars since the war and the national debt had been reduced by $1,026,000,000. Tax reductions had been made on personal incomes and the little corporations while the tax on big business had been increased. Was that not democracy? Liberals in fifteen years had given Canada practically all the advertised benefits of Socialism—but none of the detriments—old age pensions, pensions for the blind, unemployment insurance, family allowances, all fine examples of making democracy work for the benefit of the people.

MR. MAYHEW

Mr. Mayhew said that his visit to Prince Rupert had been something he had long anticipated. He had been impressed with the efficiency of the fish handling facilities here. The minister discussed the importance of the fisheries in the economy of Canada and expressed confidence as to the expanding future of the industry. Canada's fishery potential was the greatest in the world, even greater now that Newfoundland had joined Confederation. He told of the careful planning by government looking to the development of the fisheries and the promotion of domestic markets in the interior of the country by the improvement of methods during transport of fish from the coasts. Conservation and scientific research plans were referred to by the minister. He had a group of men in his department of whom he was proud, declared Mr. Mayhew.

The duty of good government was to increase the happiness of the people and the minister said that such was his own motivating spirit.

His latest trip through British Columbia had been a great inspiration, said Mr. Mayhew. With such opportunities for private enterprise, it was difficult to believe there were those who would try to prevent those opportunities being taken advantage of. In the woods, on the streams, and on the lands was room for thousands upon thousands of people to conduct their own affairs.

New schools being built, demands for post offices and public buildings, all were indications of life and prosperity.

Mr. Mayhew could see no impending slump in Canada or reason to play bear with one's own country.

DEFINITE ISSUE

The minister saw as the very definite issue in this election whether an honest, aggressive, competent and experienced government should be retained. "I believe that since 1935 Canada has had the best government in its history," he asserted. In 1935 it had been called upon to lift Canada out of the slough of economic despond. Had it not been an aggressive government, what would have happened in the war? As it was, Canada had made the greatest per capita contribution of any nation in the world both in point of fighting men and in production for the war effort at home. It had made vast gifts to the Motherland, had given tremendous aid to the nations of Europe, all of which had, of course, contributed to the prosperity of the Dominion and very especially to British Columbia. A great job had been done by such ministers as Howe, Gardiner and Mitchell. Now were coming up the younger men to give a happy balance, such as Claxton, Abbott, Paul Martin, Chevrier, Garson, Pearson, Winters.

Mr. Mayhew pointed to the government's record of social legislation and industrial development. In trade relations, he referred to the elimination of the tariff on fresh fish. Next year he hoped this would be extended to canned fish.

The government had been criticized for not having had an election last fall. The recent election of Mr. St. Laurent, the impending entry of Newfoundland into Confederation, the negotiation of the Atlantic Pact he cited as reasons why no election could have been held at that time. Furthermore, there was necessity to have another session of Parliament so that such controls as were necessary including rentals could be extended. As for the last session, he blamed obstructionary tactics by the Opposition for having prevented some of the business being completed.

"If you have a good government," concluded Mr. Mayhew, "should you not treat it as you would a good employee? One never changes a manager when he is making a success of a business. This government has done all and more than was expected of it and has done it well. I see a great future for Canada with St. Laurent."

The only questioner at the meeting was James N. Kelly who wanted to know why a new lighthouse tender had not been built at Prince Rupert instead of Victoria and who was critical of the minister of fisheries.

Restless Nights

Often mid-life brings on troublesome irregularities in kidney functioning, an affliction which responds well to magnesium treatment, (MAG-NOPILLS). Burning sensations, painful twitches are relieved, and the bladder returns to normal. The patient feels an almost immediate change for the better in his whole being. Magnopills are for sale at all Drug Stores.

THIS KIND OF UNCERTAINTY COULD RUIN BRITISH COLUMBIA

FOR CANADA
A National Aim of Socialism:
"No C.C.F. Government will rest content until it has eradicated capitalism"
(Regina Manifesto of the C. C. F.)

IN SASKATCHEWAN

"We will not rest until capitalism has been eradicated from Saskatchewan." (Premier Douglas in the Legislature, April 1946.)

"The C.C.F. government has no intention of eliminating private enterprise or private ownership in Saskatchewan." (Premier Douglas in the Legislature, April 1947.)

"Let me give this assurance to the businessmen of Saskatchewan, that they need have no fear of government interference in any legitimate business undertaking which is rendering a service to the community and does not constitute a monopoly." (Premier Douglas in statement to the Associated Boards of Trade, June 1947.)

In March 1949, Premier Douglas was asked if his government still stood behind the Regina Manifesto and its announced objective of "eradicating capitalism." The Premier replied: "The answer is Yes." He described the manifesto as "the best political document ever drafted in this country."

Investment capital is NOT being risked in Saskatchewan.

IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

"C.C.F. AND INVESTMENT"

"Harold Winch, C.C.F. provincial leader, declared that Socialists lie in their teeth when they say B.C. cannot be developed under the C.C.F. "Investment capital will go anywhere where resources can be developed and where they can get a square deal. The C.C.F. will give a square deal in B.C. to anyone developing resources as long as they recognize that the C.C.F. government is going to give a square deal to the people to whom the resources belong." (From the Vancouver Sun, May 16, 1947.)

The C.C.F. party in British Columbia and its leaders have repeatedly renewed their endorsement of the Regina Manifesto, thus pledging the party not to rest until it eradicates capitalism from British Columbia.

As reported in the News-Herald of July 22, 1948, Colin Cameron, past president of the C.C.F., told the summer school of the party at Gabriola Island:

A Socialist government in B.C. must move rapidly in the following fields: Production of Electric Power; Logging and Forestry; Telephone Communications; Manufacture of Liquor; Milling of Livestock and Poultry Feeds; Canning of Fish.

A principal objective of the party, he said, was to "fit the B.C. economy into a national programme of removing the major sources of the production of wealth from private hands."

No one, he added, was yet in a position to give a complete and definite statement of the C.C.F. programme.

If a C.C.F. government in British Columbia would work to "remove the major sources of the production of wealth from private hands" under a programme which no one was in a position to define, the prospect would discourage investment capital from engaging in job-creating undertakings in B.C.

MERRY MAY FINE MONTH

Sunshine Plentiful and Rainfall Not So Heavy

May was a characteristically fine month from the weather standpoint in Prince Rupert. Sunshine beamed for 141.3 full hours on twenty-six days and the rain held off to 3.2 inches on thirteen days. The thermometer ranged between 68 and 32 above.

So far this year the sunshine has totalled 362.7 hours compared with 502.5 hours in the corresponding period of last year. The precipitation this year to date has been 32.33 inches compared with 31.89 inches.

The official weather summary for May:

Maximum temperature, 68 on May 8.

Minimum, 32 on May 3.

Mean temperature, 48.8°.

Maximum barometer, 30.25 on May 16.

Minimum temperature, 29.20 on May 1.

Rainfall, 3.2 inches on thirteen days.

Sunshine, 141.3 hours on 26 days.

Maximum wind velocity, 48 miles per hour from southeast on May 5.

It's getting around to the salmon fishing season and a pack, larger than last year's is looked for. Numerous natives were in town during the latter part of May, partly by reason of Victoria Day celebration, but by this time most of them have gone. There is preliminary work to be done before the canneries settle down to the regular business of a season.

Minister Admits Prince Rupert's Leadership As Fishing Port— Urges More Orderly Fishing— Experimental Shipments Here

"It will be a long time before Prince Rupert will be taking second place to any port in Canada for fish handling facilities," commented Hon. R. W. Mayhew, federal minister of fisheries, as he took a few minutes off yesterday to talk to a newspaperman in the course of a busy day in Prince Rupert. The minister had just returned from a waterfront tour which included visits to all the local fish handling plants from the Canadian Fish and Cold Storage Co. at Seal Cove to the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative at Fairview Bay including calls at the Fish Exchange, central halibut row and the Canadian Fishing Co. establishment. Undoubtedly, the minister had been much impressed with the commodiousness and modernity of these local plants.

Speaking of the fishing picture generally in Canada, Mr. Mayhew remarked that he did not think the people of Canada as a whole realize the future there is for the industry—a future that is not dependent upon export of fish either but could be vastly developed by the greater use of fish and fishery products in the domestic markets of Canada and the United States. He pointed out that Canada's fish catch in one year had been 1,400,000,000 pounds and United States, 940,000,000—an average of only eleven pounds per person per year. That was not a very large fish consumption and appeared to leave lots of room for domestic merchandizing and market expansion. He believed that consumption of fish in Canada would increase as better marketing and distribution methods were effected.

Mr. Mayhew expressed the opinion that Canada would always have plenty of high quality fish providing reasonable conservation and fishing methods were followed. He saw the sound economic future for the fisheries of Canada not in the putting of more gear into the water but rather in the spreading out of the fishing time, not only that too intensive and destructive fishing might be eliminated but that there might be a more orderly and regular flow of fresh fish. He saw danger in the trend to competition to catch a lot of fish in a few weeks. Here was something that he would like to see rationalized, the minister said.

Mr. Mayhew made two interesting announcements for the fishing industry in Prince Rupert. One was in regard to the tuna hunt and investigation which is to be carried out this summer in Queen Charlotte Island offshore waters. The other announcement was that experimental shipments of fish will be made from Prince Rupert to Halifax this June in a new refrigerated car which has been designed by the Fisheries Research Board of Canada. There will be a similar experimental shipment from Halifax to Prince Rupert. Such experimental shipments have already been made from Vancouver to the prairies but these will be the first trans-continental shipments. Otto C. Young, formerly of Prince Rupert, chief mechanical and refrigeration engineer for the Fisheries Research Board of Canada, will be here in connection with the shipments.

BREAKWATER AND ROAD

At Fairview Bay Mr. Mayhew inspected the new fishermen's floats and said that, immediately on his return to Ottawa, he would take all steps possible to expedite the construction of the breakwater for which a large Parliamentary appropriation has been made. He also noted the importance of the government building its part of the road to connect the city with the floats. He could see some engineering problems in the level crossing and the building of a road on the railway right-of-way but felt that some satisfactory solution would be worked out.

It is only early June but tourists are already becoming frequent along the Prince Rupert streets. Canadian Pacific Steamships already have two of their vessels—Princess Louise and Princess Norah—on the summer Alaska run and the Princess Kathleen, not seen here in many a year, will be arriving June 17 on her first voyage northbound. The Princess Louise, Capt. P. I. Leslie, was here from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. yesterday northbound. The Princess Norah, Capt. Graham Hughes, is here this afternoon southbound.

Friday evening, as usual, saw two vessels of the Union Steamships in port. The Coquitlam, Capt. William McCombe, arrived on time at 1 p.m. from Vancouver, sailing at 10 p.m. for south Queen Charlotte Islands points whence she will return here tomorrow afternoon to sail south at 10 p.m. The steamer Catala, with Capt. Ernest Sheppard back in command after an extended vacation ashore, arrived at 7 p.m. from the south, sailing at midnight on her return to Vancouver and way-points.

Think!

Here are a few very important matters to consider before casting your vote on June 15

- ★ Millions of dollars have been invested in this province during the past four years through Coalition Government encouragement.
- ★ An almost unlimited amount of capital is awaiting your decision as to whether you want a sound administration or an experiment in Socialism.
- ★ Industrial payroll has increased from $239,500,000 to $557,000,000 under Coalition Government.
- ★ Population has increased from 818,000 to 1,100,000 in the past eight years under Coalition Government.

Your vote can make the difference between progress or stagnation. How much new venture capital... which means greater employment... is being invested in Saskatchewan?
