POLICE BILL UP

Congregation of St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral last night awarded to Greer & Bridden the contract for a new rector's residence on Fourth Avenue West between the Cathedral and Bishop's Lodge. There were five tenders. Construction of the seven-room bungalow type residence with full concrete basement is expected to commence almost immediately. Contract figure was something under $13,000.

this budget contrasts with the preelection "sunshine" budget of 1949 when Mr. Abbott reduced personal income taxes by $376,000,000 and set 750,000 persons free from personal income tax liability.

Last night Mr. Abbott was crystal clear in warning that budgets such as the 1950 budget, with similar tax structure, are here to stay.

For those wno are concerned about the possibility, Mr Abbott gave the assurance it was not the government's policy to tax capital gains.

Oil and mining industries are given another lift of exemption on exploration work. Mr. Abbott said that special write-off priveleges for exploration and prospecting expenses will be continued for another year. The minister of finance told Commons that the federal government "cannot and should not attempt to asume responsibility" for regional problems of unemployment."

NOTHING MUCH IN THE way of changes was N expected or hoped for from the budget of the mänäster of finance presented in Parliament at Ottawa last might so, if there are no pleasant surprises, there may be no shocking disappromtments. If Canadals fiscal road for the combing year is no easier. it is at least no harder-at least as far as the minister of finance directly admits. With the estimated budgetary surplus for the coming fiscal year sharply reduced as revenue comes. dowed and expenditures go up, the general business condition of the country is reflected on the national level. The government is facing what the ordinany husiness man faces an increasing overhead and the prospects of much increase-but more likely the feverse in the way of revenue. Mer Abbott anticipates no particular change in the deneral condition of the country although he millifly admits that the times alread may not be quite so fillsy as those immediately behind. He suggests a "moderate increase" in unemployment.
