WOULD CURTAIL—NOT ELIMINATE—U.N. VETO—An interesting study of Secretary of State George C. Marshall as he testified before the House foreign affairs committee at Washington, D.C., in connection with proposed legislation that would commit the United States as an advocate of elimination of the veto in the United Nations. In the event that Russia refused to agree to elimination of the veto, a body of anti-Soviet powers would be created. Secretary Marshall advised the committee that while the U.S. favors amelioration of the big powers' veto in certain circumstances, the government does not favor all-out elimination.

Car Dealers' Officer Here To Probe Sales Problems

Effect on the western Canadian automobile sales industry of the restrictions and taxation imposed last November by the federal government's American dollar-saving program is being probed by a leader of the Federation of Automobile Dealers' Association of Canada who is in the city today.

He is Howard B. Moore, managing director of the federation, Toronto.

He is here to confer with city automobile dealers in the course of a tour of western Canadian cities. Mr. Moore was guest speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon today.

The official represents 2,800 organized automobile dealers in Canada and he is discussing with western agents the effects of current government regulations not only from the dealers' point of view but also their impact on buyers.

Other points in which he is interested are:

1. The effect of regulations on the supply of motor cars to fill the need that grew substantially in the years when cars were not being produced for civilian use.
2. To examine methods for greater facilities for the technical training of dealers' staffs in order that there may be more better-trained personnel in service establishments.
3. To impress upon dealers the necessity of curtailing accidents on public highways and to exercise greater vigilance and aggressive action to reduce hazards on the highways.
4. To encourage an increased awareness of the need for providing a more effective way of moving goods, people and services more rapidly.

Bevin Says So Before Britain's Labor Party

SCARBOROUGH, Eng. (CP)—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin said today that communist countries of eastern Europe are fostering civil war in Greece and appealed to them to stop it. Without mentioning Russia, Mr. Bevin told the Labor Party's annual conference that "one lift of a finger from a place you know would stop it tonight." He opposed "any steps to carry on aggressive war against Soviet Russia or any other country." "I do not believe war is inevitable," Bevin said. "The danger here that a war is likely to arise is a war of nerves which the Russians can stop."

The party, brushing aside recent Left Wing Labor attacks, adopted 17 to 1 ratio resolution approving the government's domestic and foreign policies.

Edward T. Applewhaite, re-nominated as Liberal candidate for Skeena federal riding, was born in Nelson November 23, 1898, and went from High School there to enlist in the First Great War, serving overseas with the Canadian Forestry Corps. ## Applewhaite Is Again Choice of Liberals

Renominated to Be Liberal Candidate For Skeena—Deferment Move Is Rejected—Resolutions For Ottawa Meet

Edward T. Applewhaite, who was the party's unsuccessful candidate in the 1945 general election, will contest Skeena riding again as the Liberal standard bearer at the next general election. The nomination of Mr. Applewhaite took place late yesterday afternoon at a convention which had previously rejected a proposal to defer making a nomination. The deferment proposal emanated from delegates of Skeena provincial riding led by Dr. L. M. Greene of Smithers but was voted down 34 to 20.

The convention then proceeded with the nomination of a candidate. The choice was made after a poll between Mr. Applewhaite and H. F. Glassey. Following the poll, Mr. Glassey moved that the nomination of Mr. Applewhaite be made unanimous. The names of Wm. Watts, George McAdams and Roderick MacLeod were also mentioned but did not go to the vote.

Continuing an all afternoon session into the evening, the convention considered plans for an early commencement of the campaign in support of Mr. Applewhaite.

Delegates for the national convention to be held at Ottawa August 5, 6 and 7 to name a successor to Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King as leader of the party were named in the persons of G. W. Nickerson, Olof Hanson and C. P. Bussinger with J. D. McRae, G. B. Casey and H. F. Glassey as alternates.

ALICE NICKERSON IN CORONATION

For a time it looked as though the crowning of this year's May Queen, Barbara Ball, would have to be done without the presence of the lovely retiring Queen, Alice Nickerson.

Alice injured her knee Mother's Day when she tripped and fell while crossing the railway tracks on her way to visit H.M. C.S. Ontario in company with a group of other young girls. According to the doctor's report, she has made a remarkable advance towards recovery and yesterday she was permitted to move about with the aid of crutches. Alice is determined that her injury isn't going to keep her from joining the "Royal Party" on May 24.

So Alice, even though she may have to use crutches, will be on hand to place the crown on the new Queen's head and to wish her every success.

SUCCESSFUL P.T.A. YEAR

Borden Street School
P.T.A. Elects Officers

Climaxing a very successful year's operations was last evening's meeting of the Borden Street School Parent-Teachers' Association when, in addition to a most entertaining program, the election of officers for the coming year took place. The following were elected:

President, John McLeod.
Vice-President, Mrs. A. J. Dominato.

Secretary, Mrs. H. C. Flood.
Treasurer, Mrs. Crawford Moore.

Program Convener, Mrs. C. Strand.

Literature Convener, Mrs. W. J. Lineham.

Refreshment Convener, Mrs. H. E. Amos.

Membership, Mrs. S. J. Anderson and Mrs. S. A. Cheeseman.

Film Council Representative, Mrs. D. Parent.

P.T.A. Council Representative, Mrs. W. McLeod.

Reports of committees for the year showed that activities had been well maintained. The financial report presented by Mrs. Crawford Moore showed an increased credit balance. The donation to support an European orphan had been forwarded to the committee in charge. Mrs. Amos, as literature convener, had been very successful in increasing the number of subscribers.

Mrs. D. Parent gave an informative report on the Film Council. In a summary of reports of the P.T.A. convention held at Vancouver Mrs. T. B. Black reviewed the highlights. As a rule she said, it was found that parents do not take any course to prepare them to be parents. Yet this is one of the most responsible undertakings in the world. The Parent-Teachers' Association could go a long way in providing the necessary training for parents. Citizenship began not at twenty-one but at birth. Education was the biggest industry in the country and deserved the best brains and widest support. There should be more pre-school training and more education to enrich the lives of the adolescent and mature. Progress had already been made in health and social welfare education but there was much more to be done. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mrs. Black for her comprehensive brief.

The retiring president, Carlo Hansen, referred to the year's activities and an appreciative vote of thanks was accorded him for his keen interest and successful term of office. To Mrs. S. J. Anderson, who represented the Prince Rupert P.T.A. Council at the convention, the congratulations of the association were extended. To the other retiring executive members were also extended the thanks of the members for their successful leadership.

A very much enjoyed program was provided by the Borden Street School Choir in a group of four numbers. The singing by the thirty-four members was very well received and, in thanking the children for their songs, Mr. Hansen added a special word of thanks to the choir from the Parent-Teachers' Association on their fine record throughout the year. Olive Strand was a capable accompanist.

The other highlight of the entertainment program was the showing of moving pictures by Mr. Hansen. These consisted of two reels mostly of local scenes and incidents. Of particular interest was the film showing scenes from "The Pixies' Triumph," the operetta so successfully staged by the school earlier in the year.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion by Mrs. Lineham assisted by Mrs. D. Parent, Mrs. Cheeseman, Mrs. Flood and active helpers from the choir.

DANCE FOR CHILDREN ON MAY 24

Queen Barbara Ball and the May Queen princesses will hold a special court on the evening of May 24. They will preside at a children's dance being held by the Kinsmen early in the night, long before the adults think of making their appearance on the ballroom floor. Attendance at the preliminary dance will be restricted to boys and girls under 16, and parents, if accompanied by their children.

The Kinsmen held a short children's dance on May 24, 1946 for the first time. Last year arrangements could not be made for the use of the auditorium early in the evening so the event had to be cancelled. At last night's regular meeting, the club decided to arrange this form of entertainment for the children again this year.

Reports from the various May Day committees indicated that the whole club is hard at work and will continue at the same tempo until the dance band's last note punctuates the final chapter in this year's May 24 celebrations. Aside from the parade, May Queen crowning, Maypole dancing and races for prizes, there will be oasis where the youngsters can trade their free tickets or silver for hot dogs, ice cream or pop. Under the auspices of the Baseball Association an exhibition tilt between the Oldtimers and the Rookies will be played in the evening.

With the approval of the Club, the date for the election of officers was changed from May 26 to June 3.

FINDS GERMANS NOT CONVERTED TO DEMOCRACY

By Keith Garner

BERLIN, (Reuters) — Three out of every four Germans in the British zone have failed to be converted to democracy and have little or no faith in the host of democratic parties which have sprung up since the end of the war, according to a spokesman of the British control commission political division.

The average working German man and woman cares about nothing but the food, clothing and coal situation, the spokesman added. When an election comes along, he votes for this or that party, but only because he was taught under the Nazi regime that it was his duty to vote, and not because he has any real interest in party politics.

"Generally speaking, we can say that our attempts to instill democracy into the people of western Germany have been mainly a failure," he continued.

"Nowhere is there the same amount of interest that one encounters in Britain, and nowhere is there any real understanding among the common people of what the various parties stand for."

The spokesman felt that the failure of the Germans to take up democracy in a big way was due to three main factors:

1. The moral and spiritual collapse in 1945 which left the people half-starved, disillusioned and ill-inclined to take part in any "new experiment."

The collapse left them with a ruined country, one of the most acute food crises known to present day Europe and an overwhelming feeling that they had become the "untouchables" of the western world.

BUSINESS KEEPING ALIVE

Between searching for food, clothing and fuel, they had neither the time nor the inclination to take any interest in a "democratic awakening."

2. The ingrained German "Fuehrer instinct," that is to say, the desire to be led and to leave the government of the country to "the men who know."

This instinct, already discernible in the Middle Ages, became dominant in the days of Bismarck, and reached its peak under Hitler, Goebbels and the Gestapo.

"A nation which has done what it has been told for generations can hardly be expected to adopt democratic feelings overnight," the spokesman declared. "The German tendency to obey the government of the day remains and is perhaps responsible for the fact that the Germans have been so quiet and docile during the past three years."

3. Probably the most important of all, the shortage of leaders of democratic thought who are really abreast of events and tendencies abroad.

"In 12 years of Nazism, the young men who would normally have emerged as democratic leaders either rotted in concentration camps or became prominent in the Nazi movement," the spokesman said.

"Those who were in concentration camps returned three years ago out of touch with the modern world and its way of life while those who became Nazis

HOMES FOR CANADIANS

"The designer calls this his 'practical house.' In drawing the plans the architect had in mind a home which would give maximum interior space for living and would be economical to heat. Suitable for any of the varieties of Canadian climate, the house is adaptable to any of the standard methods of heating. Plans call for large living room downstairs with two large bedrooms on the floor above.

The model shown here is built of red brick topped by white cladding; with a roof of black asphalt shingles to add dignity and provide additional fire protection. Door, sashes and shutters are finished in turquoise blue.

Rodolphe Lajoie of Montreal is the architect. The above dwelling meets with building requirements in most town and suburban areas of Canada.

SHIP'S MASCOT LOST IN INDIA

Dockside Workers at Many Ports Around the World Knew "Summer"

VANCOUVER — Summer was a little dog with a big heart who lived on a big ship. The British ship Silverguava of the Silver Line, was his home and the crew his master.

Officers of the Silverguava, recently here from India, reported that Summer accidentally drowned at Calcutta during the ship's latest call there.

The little brown-and-white terrier was widely known. In ports of call around the world dockside workers and sailors knew the pup by name and Summer knew many of them.

The terrier was with the Silver Line seven or eight years and nearly all that time with the Silverguava. Summer's history has its happy spots and his birthplace is one of them, but crew members said he came from South Africa.

When in Calcutta on his last voyage Summer went ashore with the Silverguava's radio officer Robert Burrows, and the two became separated in the strife-torn streets during India's communal riots. After much searching Burrows returned to the ship alone.

Later, crew members saw the little dog's body floating in the water at the mouth of the Hooghly River.

The first telephone exchange in Britain was opened in London in 1879. Today there are nearly 6,000 exchanges in Britain.

Telephone Operators Find Montreal Noisy

MONTREAL — Telephone operators as far away as San Francisco and Miami consider Montreal the noisiest place in the world these days.

One Montreal long-distance operator was asked "What's the racket I hear? A bombing raid?" by another operator 3,000 miles away.

The local operator patiently explained that the machine-gun-like noise was caused by steel workers with riveting guns constructing a seven-story addition to the Bell Telephone's long-distance centre in uptown Montreal.

The noise is not heard during

The Experts Say...

OTTAWA (C)—No cook wants to be caught short on her servings. On the other hand, if she doesn't want the refrigerator continually crowded with left-over foods, she must pay some attention to this problem of quantity.

Home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion department of agriculture, have prepared a list of dried foods which increase in bulk under various conditions of preparation.

One cup dry macaroni makes two cups when cooked; one cup dried rice makes three cups when cooked; one cup quick-cooking rolled oats makes 2 2/3 cups porridge; one cup rolled or flaked wheat makes three cups porridge; one cup dried white beans gives three cups cooked.

Here are the answers to other recipe quantities:

Eighteen small square crackers yield one cup when crumbled; 12 graham crackers yield one cup when rolled; one-quarter pound cheese, when grated makes one cup; one cup whipping cream beats up to two cups; one pound green peas in the pod, when shelled and cooked, yields one cup; one pound (four medium) beets yields two cups cooked and diced; one pound cabbage yields four cups shredded; one pound (three medium) apples yields three cups when peeled and diced.

ASPARAGUS DAYS
This is the asparagus season, and the housewife is warned to give those delicate tips and tender asparagus stalks just the right degree of heat and no more. Overcooking causes the vegetable to lose flavor, color and food value.

When preparing asparagus tips trim off any rough ends, and remove the scales along the stalk.

stalks together loosely; stand upright in saucepan or kettle in enough boiling, salted water to come a third of the way up the stalks. Cover and cook 10 to 25 minutes, or until asparagus is just tender.

To cook cut-up pieces; cut asparagus into two-inch lengths. Drop the lower stalk pieces into a small quantity of boiling, salted water. Cover and cook five to ten minutes and then add tips and continue cooking until tips are tender. Fresh young asparagus may be ready in 10 minutes after cooking begins; less tender stalks may need 20 to 25 minutes.

Methods of serving: freshly-cooked—seasoned and dressed with melted butter or strips of cooked bacon; chilled—in a salad with lettuce and dressing. Asparagus may also be served on toast with cream sauce, cheese sauce or hollandaise; in an omelet or cream of asparagus soup; asparagus scalloped with hard-cooked egg.

Asparagus with cheese sauce—sauce ingredients: 3 table-spoons butter; three tablespoons flour; one-half cup liquid from vegetable; one-half cup milk; one quarter teaspoon salt; one eighth teaspoon pepper; one-third cup plain cheese; paprika. The asparagus is cooked, drained and arranged on buttered toast with cheese sauce poured over it.

Lucky Cleveland Man And Bride are Off to Ireland

MONTREAL—If you are a cynic and don't believe there is a "pot-o-gold" at the end of the rainbow, then don't expound your beliefs to Eugene Ersk, of Cleveland, and his bride of six days who Tuesday night boarded a trans-Canada air liner North Star at Montreal airport for Shannon, Ireland.

The Erskes' own particular rainbow with its "pot-o-gold" ends at Dublin where the pot-a-mighty big one containing $100,000—awaits them. The money represents the reward for holding the winning ticket on a recent Irish Sweepstake.

The story really begins last March when Eugene was working at a Cleveland upholstering shop. He was approached to buy a sweepstake ticket. "I didn't know what to do," he explains. "I had never bought one before, and besides, it was a long time since pay day and I didn't have the money."

After a long consideration he borrowed the amount and bought the ticket. The results of that little loan are still staggering him.

Little more than a month ago he learned that his ticket had won him the first prize of $100,000—which is a tidy sum for a 21-year old man to have tucked away, particularly when he gets married as Eugene did last Wednesday.

To overcome some of the difficulties in getting the money, the Erskes decided to fly to Dublin and collect it. Of course the two-week trip to Ireland represents something more than collection of a mere $100,000.

It is also a honeymoon. The newly-married couple boarded a TCA plane at Cleveland flew to Montreal where they transferred to a North Star for the flight to Shannon.

Having such a large sum in the bank certainly hasn't given the level-headed couple any wild, reckless ideas. On their return from Ireland they intend to buy a car and build their own home. Oh, yes—Mrs Ersk also wants a stone martin fur scarf. But apart from that they haven't any plans. The winning of such an amount hasn't strained relations between Eugene and his boss and he plans to return to his job in Cleveland.

Q. How can I remove odors from bottles?

A. Put a tablespoonful of dry mustard in the bottle, then fill it half full of cold water. Shake thoroughly and let stand for half an hour, then rinse with clear water.

Q. How can I take proper care of a piano that must be near a heat register or radiator?

A. Keep a pan of water under it. When the pan dries out, refill it. This will give the piano the necessary moisture it requires.

Q. How can I whiten white fox fur?

A. By rubbing equal parts of magnesia and dry flour into it.
