Waging Battle With Sleds In Lower Skeena

National Railways offices here late yesterday were being faced with a deteriorating snow situation in the lower Skeena. Within a ten-mile distance between Wall and Telegraph Point no less than five feet of snow had accumulated during the day aggregating one thousand feet in length and from six to fifteen feet in depth. It was still snowing heavily and adverse reports were coming in one after the other to Superintendent C. A. Berner from between Terrace and Tyee. Days ago Berner said that such snows had not been experienced in the history of the line and since then they have become much worse.

Admitting it was hard to make further predictions as to when the line would be clear again, the railway company made arrangements for Canadian Pacific Airlines to make a flight this morning to Terrace to take in passengers and essential express and to bring out passengers and express which has been held up there since the line became blocked by the snow last Wednesday. However, continuing snowfall and poor visibility caused abandonment of the flight.

Snow fighting equipment was battling its way towards Terrace yesterday with sleds coming down behind the rotary plow as it crept eastward toward the division point at Pacific where weary crews were to be given rest and equipment serviced following arrival there at 8 o'clock this morning.

While regular trains have been the railway company started re-routing passengers, mail and express for Prince Rupert by way of Vancouver and steamer up the coast.

Superintendent Berner said this morning that, after a few hours at Pacific for rest of crew and re-servicing, the rotary plow would face westward again in another attempt to reopen the line to Prince Rupert. Ever optimistic, Mr. Berner was hopeful that trains might be able to move in and out of Prince Rupert again by Wednesday. He felt that the worst of the sides were over although continuing snowfall made the situation still difficult.

The train, due from the East at 10:45, is eight hours late as a result of delayed connections at Jasper. Its progress will, of course, depend on the battle against the snow along the division.

There will be no train out before tomorrow night. Delay of United States-bound frozen fish from Alaska is another element which is spurring the railway in speeding the re-opening of the line as rapidly as possible. There are already some 15 or 16 cars of such fish here awaiting transport east while the motorship Lucidor is due tomorrow from Alaska with another 16 cars. Arrival of refrigerator cars from the East is being awaited to handle this fish.

Twelve passengers were today at Terrace awaiting transport into Prince Rupert. It was to bring them in that arrangements had been made for C.P. A. to fly to Terrace. There is also an accumulation of mail and express at Terrace. The delayed passengers included a local reserve army party which has been training at Watnwright, Alberta, and a basketball team which has been visiting Telkwa.

Meat and milk are also running short at Prince Rupert owing to the railway tie-up.

JOHN McINNIS MAKES CHARGES
VICTORIA, Feb. 15.—John McInnis, C.C.F. member of the Legislature for Fort George, charged in the House yesterday that unauthorized payments of $228,000 had been made to contractors since 1947. He said that payments, recommended but not authorized, had been made to seven contractors.

A. F. McDougall, Coalition, Vancouver-Point Grey, advocated continuation of coalition.

BLOCKS UNION — George Drew thinks provinces should be consulted about Newfoundland before final acceptance.

Newfie Union Strikes Snag

Col. Drew Holds Provinces Should Be Consulted
OTTAWA.—Legislation providing for Newfoundland's union with Canada hit an unexpected snag in the House of Commons yesterday. George Drew, Progressive-Conservative Leader of the Opposition, moved that the Union not take place until the provinces had been consulted.

Col. Drew made his motion as the House debated the address to be sent to the United Kingdom Parliament asking it to confirm terms of Union set out in a bill adopted last week by the House of Commons.

Preliminary indications are that the Drew motion will be defeated. M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said his group would join the Liberals in opposing the Drew motion. Solon Low, Social Credit leader, said he will support Drew. The Liberal-C.C.F. combination would comprise a substantial majority.

Drew's proposal was contained in an amendment to the formal address. It said there should be immediate consultation with the provinces on Newfoundland's entry into Confederation. The union should not be consummated until after "satisfactory conclusion" of such consultation.

Col. Drew said he took second place to none in supporting the union of Newfoundland with Canada but was concerned with the way that union was to be brought about.

The government was planning an amendment to the constitution without consulting the provinces. He said the provinces should realize that, if the British North America Act could be thus amended without consulting the provinces, it could be amended the same way for any other purpose.

NAVAL OFFICERS TO U.S. CENTRE

OTTAWA.—The United States threw open the doors yesterday of one of its special defence schools to give a group of Canadian naval officers the latest in defence-medical training. In all, twenty medical officers of the Royal Canadian Naval Reserve will take training in a new but unspecified weapons and radioactive isotopes at the United States Naval Medical Centre at Bethesda, Maryland.

Drawn from various naval divisions across Canada, the Reserve medical officers will attend the course in two groups. The first group, consisting of six officers, began the course yesterday. The 14 officers comprising the second group will attend a repetition of the same course scheduled for April 25-30.

The course is held for officers of the United States Naval Medical Reserve Corps and arrangements have been made with U.S. Naval authorities whereby interested R.C.N. (R) medical officers may attend.

Canada Bank Head Cheerful About Economy Of Dominion

SCHOOL BOARD SUBMITS $208,000 BUDGET, HIGHEST IN ITS HISTORY

Prince Rupert School Board today submitted the largest budget in its history to city council to cover operation of city and district schools for 1949. The total budget, exclusive of government grants, is $208,867.

The final budget figures were approved last night by a special meeting of the School Board which witnessed a succession of meetings at which costs and revenues were whipped into line.

The $208,867 budget will be offset by government grants totalling $65,102, which will leave city and district taxpayers to find an additional $143,765 to finance school operation.

City's share of the school cost is 87.44 percent, while the rural district assumes 12.56 percent. Largest single item listed is $133,000 for teachers' salaries, which include a recent pay increase and provision for the payment of "increments to some teachers' salaries next September.

Estimated receipts this year include $61,402 in basic government grants, approximately $1,000 in vocational grants and the balance in students' tuition fees.

Last year's budget, which was accepted under protest by the city council, was $178,300. However, a somewhat greater amount was spent, but because of increased grants and tuition fees from rural areas, a slight surplus was recorded.

The city's share of the school budget will be included in city estimates this year and will be a factor in determining the tax rate for the coming year.

WOULD EXTEND SUPREME COURT

HALIFAX.—Stanley H. McCuaig of Edmonton, president of the Canadian Bar Association, urged last night that the Supreme Court of Canada hold sittings in the provincial capitals if appeals to the Imperial Privy Council are to be abolished. He said that Supreme Court justices would get better understanding of complex Canadian problems if they held sittings in different parts of the Dominion.

MUST HAVE PROVOCATION

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Senator Bourke Kickenlooper said today that the United States should be "morally committed" to act under the proposed North Atlantic Alliance only in cases of unprovoked aggression against a member.

Kickenlooper's observation came after Chairman Tom Connally for the foreign relations committee and Senator Arthur Vandenberg had made it plain that the United States will not approve any treaty language which would morally commit the country to go to war.

Towers Sees Extreme Inflation Lessening; Credits Being Eased

OTTAWA (CP)—Indications that extreme inflationary pressures are lessening today prompted the Bank of Canada to take the brakes off use of general credit for financing of business capital expenditures.

Graham Towers, Governor of the Bank of Canada, coupled publication of the annual report with notice to chartered banks withdrawing the credit conservation "suggestion" issued last February.

The report gave a cautiously optimistic picture of Canada's financial progress but made no forecast.

At a press conference Towers said that Canada had fared better in postwar years than many would have believed possible in 1944.

COUNCIL BACKS AUTOMATIC 'PHONE SYSTEM IN ARGUMENT WITH CASEY

Latest Assault On Telephone Bylaw Repulsed by Aldermen

Seven of the city's eight aldermen last night spoke, and then voted, against a resolution by Alderman George B. Casey to have Ernest Love, Stewart telephone engineer, brought to Prince Rupert to investigate the proposed new telephone utility, thus reaffirming the support of council to the current plan to install a modern, automatic system.

Alderman Casey's resolution was inspired by correspondence with Mr. Love in which it was stated that a satisfactory manual system could be installed here for "less than half" the cost of automatic equipment and that the time required for delivery of the manual equipment would be far less.

FIREMEN, CITY STILL DEALING

No Settlement Yet Reached But Compromise Being Considered

Wage committees of the city council and the Prince Rupert local of the International Fire Fighters Union met last night under chairmanship of Robert Forgie, provincial Department of Labor conciliator, to try and argue out their differences on wage claims submitted by the union for 1949.

The meeting was held prior to the regular city council meeting but no apparent accord resulted from the conversations. A new proposal was reported to have been offered by the firemen. Negotiations will continue for satisfactory settlement of the deadlocked claims.

The firemen have been asking for wage schedules tantamount to a $60 monthly increase across the board. They base their demands on the wage scale recently won by the Vancouver fire department plus an additional $25 monthly.

The city's counter offer is for 7½ percent above the 1948 wage scale here.

Continuation of the deadlock could mean settlement of the dispute by arbitration as was done recently in the case of school teachers here.

Mr. Forgie's presence here is being taken advantage of to consider position of other civic employees and a joint meeting of other unions dealing with the city is being held today.

LUTHERAN ST. VALENTINE TEA

Pretty and Successful Affair Saturday Afternoon

Social parlor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church was attractively decorated in the red and white Valentine motif for a successful St. Valentine's Day tea by the Ladies Aid of the church. There was a large patronage by many callers and the affair was completely successful. The guests were received by the president, Mrs. Harry Hanson, and Mrs. Earl Soiland, wife of the pastor.

Particularly interesting was the sale of fancywork of which Mrs. H. Stangebye was in charge. At the home cooking table, where Mrs. Mostad, Mrs. Husoy and Mrs. Nelson were in charge, numerous tempting articles were offered and quickly bought up. In charge of the tea were Mrs. L. Olsen, Mrs. I. Eidsvik, Mrs. M. Paulsen and Mrs. H. Johansen. Serviteurs were Mrs. C. Berg, Mrs. R. Giske, Mrs. Somone and Mrs. Fines. Mrs. E. Pedersen was cashier.

PAYING TRIBUTE TO CANADIAN WAR DEAD IN JAPAN—In far-off countries where Canadian servicemen fought and died for their country, they are remembered annually in ceremonies organized usually by members of the local Canadian colony. Above is a photo taken in the Canadian sector of the British Commonwealth cemetery at Hodogaya, Japan, where officers and men of the Royal Rifles of Canada and the Winnipeg Grenadiers are buried, on the occasion of the annual Remembrance Day ceremony.

NEW RAILWAY VICE-PRESIDENT

A. J. Lomas Succeeds Late J. P. Pringle In Central Region

MONTREAL—The appointment of A. J. Lomas as vice-president of Canadian National Railways Central Region, with headquarters at Toronto, was announced here today by N. B. Walton, C.B.E., executive vice-president of the system. Formerly general manager of the central region, Mr. Lomas succeeds the late J. P. Pringle, whose death occurred recently.

Born at Spondon, England, in 1888, Alfred Jackson Lomas is another of the officers of the Canadian National who has risen through the ranks to his present office. He started his railway career at Lake Joseph, Ontario, as a baggageman with the Canadian Northern, now part of the Canadian National System, and subsequently worked in various capacities at Sudbury, Toronto and Key Harbor until September, 1914, when he was made chief clerk in the transportation department at Trenton, Ontario. From time to time, he served at Rosedale, Capreol, Key Harbor and Gravehurst as chief clerk, yard agent, mitmaster, agent, yardmaster and fuel supervisor until September, 1939, when he was appointed assistant superintendent at Hornepayne. He held a similar position at Capreol in 1937. In January, 1940, he became superintendent of the Capreol division and two years later moved to Toronto as superintendent of terminals. Montreal became his headquarters on July 1, 1944, when he took over the position of general superintendent of the Montreal district and from there he returned to Toronto as general manager of the central region.

Normal landing was made alongside the dock at Stewart by Union steamer Camosun, Capt. John Boden, yesterday after a month's difficulties owing to ice conditions at the head of Portland Canal which have now become definitely ameliorated. The Camosun returned to port this morning from her regular weekly northern run and sailed at 1:30 p.m. for Vancouver and waypoints.

Southbound from Skagway to Vancouver, C. P. R. steamer Princess Norah, Capt. Graham Hughes, arrived in port at 5:45 last evening and sailed three hours later. The vessel had 40 passengers on arrival here including three who disembarked at Prince Rupert. Six went south from here to Vancouver—C. Parry, Jarvis McLeod, G. Shurn, Lieut. and Mrs. J. Quinn and daughter.

Premier St. Laurent spent the week-end in Washington, the guest of President Truman. He just slipped over the border and had several good old fashioned chats on things that matter. Now why couldn't Uncle Joe drop in, the same way? No fuss, no side, no fal de la and invention of excuses.

Sport Shots

Don't believe that popular misconception of depicting a pool player as a seedy-looking hombra with beady eyes and a cigarette butt perched on his car. Believe this and you as much as say that Gentleman Joe Davis, England's wizard of the cushions, was once a Dead End Kid who would strike fear into the heart of Leo Gorcey.

And in defence of the pool player, who in general is branded as the result of a mis-spent youth, Eric (Vancouver Province) Whitehead writes: "If the old belief were true, another great sportsman who would qualify as an ex-juvenile delinquent deluxe would be the little French-Canadian whiz, George Chenier. But Chenier, from personal accounts by Vancouver admirers is, if not a scholar, certainly a gentleman.

The 41-year old, Montreal flash has been moving into the sport news recently from Bermuda. He just finished playing an exhibition series with King Joe Davies, the great world champ. "Strangely," says Whitehead, "Neither Joe nor George show any outward traces of a particularly vicious boyhood. Davis, apart from being an international figure of immaculate record, is also a highly respected citizen of London, particularly in the vicinity of Leicester Square—where he holds court."

White says George would dearly love to win the world's championship and then retire to Vancouver and build a really high-class snooker and billiard salon. "While out here on the West Coast, Chenier did quite right, thank you. Not right here in town where his cue quickly struck fear into the pocket-books of local sharks, but down across the border. "All in all," says Whitehead, "it seems pool players are pretty respectable guys, as well as good businessmen."

HERALD EARLY NAVIGATION—At the earliest date in the history of navigation, Lawrence River icebreakers this week started their annual task of opening a path for ice between Quebec and Montreal. The Ernest Lapointe and the N. B. McLean are as they started from Quebec harbor. The exceptionally mild winter filled the river with scattered ice.

LOOKING BACK IN SPORTS

The pros advanced sound arguments and two factors ultimately determined the destiny of the Stanley Cup: (1) amateur competition had become increasingly inferior and the pros were undoubtedly the best in Canada; and (2) during the argument over the dispensation of the Stanley Cup, not one amateur team or league laid claim to the trophy, leading the Trustees to believe that the amateurs no longer were interested in it.

Consequently, the Trustees turned the trophy over to the pros, with whom it has remained ever since, although a few years later, when amateur hockey regained prominence, the simon-pures demanded its return. The pros flatly refused, with the result that the amateurs installed a trophy donated some years previous by Sir Montagu Allan of Montreal as the symbol of their championship competition.

Quebec Bulldogs, N.H.A. champions of the 1911-12 season, were the first all-out professional winners of the Stanley Cup, defeating the Pacific champions in the challenge series. The Stanley Cup finals were first termed the "world series of hockey" in 1914, when Toronto defeated Victoria, B.C., for the honors. The first United States team to win the cup was Seattle in the Pacific title-winning Montreal Canadiens 1916-17 finals.

The National Hockey Association exercised exclusive rights in the Stanley Cup since the league became a league and it was to continue the practice off with the Pacific champion.

CALVERT 1622 Famous Families ROBINSON 1791

Born at Berthier in 1791, John Beverley Robinson studied law and was appointed acting Attorney General when 21 years old. He was appointed Chief Justice of Upper Canada in 1829 and later Speaker of the Executive Council. In 1850 he was created a baronet.

His brother William Benjamin became Inspector-General in 1844. His son John Beverley, also a lawyer, soldier and statesman, was elected Mayor of Toronto in 1857. In 1880 he was named Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario. Truly a distinguished family of Canadian statesmen.

Great Families Create Great Nations

Distinguished English statesman and Secretary of State to King James I, Calvert, head of the famous Calvert family, founded pioneer colonies in Newfoundland and Maryland early in the 17th Century.

Calvert's descendants fostered the principles of democratic freedom and religious tolerance among their New World settlers. They proved their sincerity by granting a greater measure of freedom than had hitherto been enjoyed and by permitting the settlers to inaugurate democratic self-government.

The family is the corner-stone upon which great nations are built. Let each of us strive to promote within the great Canadian family the same concepts of freedom and tolerance pioneered by the Calvert family over three hundred years ago.
