Agreed On Europe - Not On Far East

Truman And Attlee Talks Are Nearing Close Today

Some Hard Pressed United Nations Forces In Korea Trying To Fight Way Out
WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP)—President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee today began the wind-up of their conference on the world crisis and Vice-President Barkley and members of Mr. Truman's cabinet to meet with them. This was taken as a sign that the meeting was chiefly for review of what has been accomplished and that the agreement being aimed at is being aimed at further decisions.
J. Lawton Collins, United States Army chief of staff, called in to give a report on his flying visit to Korea. He told reporters he believed the forces there will be in the care of themselves for further serious losses. President and the Prime Minister are reported to have agreed on European measures but to have less success in welding a front on Far Eastern issues. The two are understood to have decided that precise action to be taken on Korea and Communist China, aside from moves in the of embarkation on the Sea of Japan at Hungnam. Thousands of others are scattered in the northeast, trying to reach the escape port.

In northwest Korea the only patrol contact was reported along the newly-formed Eighth Army defence line.
Top United States naval and marine officers conferred secretly on a ship off the stormy east Korea coast.
A United States Eighth Army source said that some Allied South Korean troops in the northeast had already escaped by sea.
The big question was how many others in the northeast could reach the coast.

ANNOUNCEMENT—
Ten-Point Program
Between Truman And Attlee
WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP)—President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee today announced a ten-point program for the defence of the free world against Communist attack.
The communique was issued after days of crucial conferences between the two leaders required by the world crisis created by intervention of Communist China in the Korean war.
The ten-point program was produced after a review of what the communique describes as "changed aspect of world affairs arising from massive intervention of Chinese Communists in Korea."
The communique said that the two leaders had agreed on common foreign policy objectives.
The communique said that Great Britain and the United States would "act together with resolution and unity to meet the challenge to peace which recent weeks have made clear to all."
It added "we were in complete agreement there can be no thought of appeasement or of rewarding aggression whether in the Far East or elsewhere."
The communique expressed unwillingness "to seek an end to hostilities by means of negotiation."
CHINA AND KOREA
The communique said that the United States and Great Britain "differ" on the question of seating the Communist Chinese regime in the United Nations. Britain favored it and the United States continuing to oppose it. It said that the Formosan issue should be settled by peaceful means.
The communique announced complete agreement on the need for immediate action for building up of North Atlantic defences in Europe.
Truman and Attlee announced agreement on increasing military capabilities of their two countries "as rapidly as possible" and expansion of arms production.
They also agreed on international action to avoid shortages of raw materials.
ATOMIC BOMB
President Truman gave Mr. Attlee assurance he would keep him informed regarding any use of the atomic bomb after stating his hope that world conditions would never call for its use.
At a most critical spot 20,000 United States marines and army and British troops were in the midst of a tank-led drive to break out of a four-sided Chinese trap south of Changjin reservoir. The Reds were entrenched on dominating ridges and shielded by a snowstorm from Allied air attack and were raking Allied columns with heavy fire.
The 13 original states of the U.S., constituted in 1790, had an area of 892,135 square miles.

HONG KONG REMEMBRANCE—Officers and men from the Canadian destroyers Cayuga and Athabaskan and members of the Canadian colony in Hong Kong observe two minutes' silence during a Remembrance Day ceremony in Sai Wan military cemetery, near Hong Kong. The destroyers paid a semi-operational visit to Hong Kong in November and on Remembrance Day held a special service in the cemetery where 281 Canadians who died in the defence of Hong Kong in December, 1941, are buried. Conference Agreement

Ottawa and Provinces Would Improve Old Age Pensions
OTTAWA — With agreement between Canada's eleven governments that two important constitutional amendments should be considered dealing with old age pensions and proposed provincial retail sales taxes, the federal-provincial conference on fiscal and social security problems concluded yesterday.
They agreed to give "early consideration" to constitutional steps to launch an old age pension plan for persons between 65 and 69, the two governments going fifty-fifty, while the pension after 70 would be without a means test.
The second constitutional amendment would allow the provincial governments to impose sales tax on retail purchases.
Announcement of the agreement was made by Prime Minister L. St. Laurent as the federal and provincial representatives ended four days' study of the tough economic problems facing the country.
The Department of Justice will draw up the amendments.

Retail Reverses Stand and Will Open Evenings

City council, meeting in special session yesterday, reversed its decision of last week against opening men's clothing and shoe stores from opening evenings until 9 o'clock for the benefit of the cellulose workers.
After being advised by the executive of the Prince Rupert Retail Merchants' Association that it now wished consideration of a majority decision of certain categories of trade, the council decided to comply with such majority request of men's clothing and shoe merchants to be allowed to stay open for the convenience of the workers.
The amendment of the Early Closing bylaw to this effect is being made operative from tonight until March 31.

Chinese No Volunteers

Nations Korean Claim
SUCCESS—The seven-United Nations Korean Commission today sent General a special report, for challenging Russian volunteers.
The report said that the command made an on-the-spot and found all prisoners taken by General MacArthur's forces were members of army units and "were volunteers in any possible sense of the term."
Sarpur of Turkey read out to the Assembly's 60-political committee. The report estimated that at 10,000 Chinese Reds were in Korea. It said that none of the prisoners taken had the idea they were fighting for the United Nations forces. They were fighting for the Chinese Communists.
Political committee then held its debate on the six-point demand for immediate withdrawal of Chinese Communists.

THE WEATHER

Wind southeast (40 miles per hour), becoming south (20) in afternoon, south (20) tomorrow. Lows tonight and highs tomorrow—At Port Hardy, Sandspit and Prince Rupert, 38 and 45.

Rescue Effected—Bella Coola Indians Saved

Six Indian fishermen, marooned for weeks in ice-locked Dean Channel, were rescued yesterday, according to word reaching here.
A Royal Canadian Mounted Police patrol boat battled its way through ice snow and fog to clear a channel, 200 miles south of Prince Rupert, to free the fishermen. It was a two-day battle.
A radiotelephone report said the fishermen were in good condition but "very hungry." They had been without food for days. They melted snow for drinking water.
The police launch hacked through foot-thick ice and used axes, sledgehammers and dynamite to open a path.
A patrol boat is towing the fishermen's three boats to Bella Coola, their home port.

H.M.C.S. In It—Destroyers Hit Korea

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP)—Canadian destroyers have helped smash port installations of Korea's Yellow Sea port of Chinampo which has been abandoned by United Nations forces.
A United States Navy spokesman told reporters today that United Nations forces had abandoned Chinampo, port of Pyongyang, North Korean capital.
After all Allied ground troops were clear of the port, an Allied destroyer force, which also includes Australian and United States ship, turned their guns on the port area, "rendering it useless to the enemy."
The destroyers were the Canadian ships Athabaskan and Cayuga, the Australian Bataan and the United States vessel Forrest Royal.
A naval spokesman did not mention the Sioux, third Canadian destroyer operating in Korean waters.

Dies After Knock-out

Johnny Lopez Victim of Bout in California
MERCED, Cal. (CP)—Samuel J. Lopez, 26, professional boxer, who fought as Johnny Lopez, died last night after being knocked out at a charity show.
Lopez, of Richmond, California, was knocked out at 9:30 p.m. in a preliminary bout of an Elks' Club boxing show. He died at 11:22 p.m. in the Merced General Hospital from a brain hemorrhage, Dr. C. C. Fitzgibbon said.
Lopez, at 128 pounds, was matched against Joe Madrid, 127, of Stockton, California. He was floored in the second round for the count of eight with a left to the mid-section. Getting up, he threw one wild punch which missed and was then knocked out with a short right to the chin.
A veteran of four years' Army service, Lopez leaves a widow and three daughters.

Canadian Air Lift May Be Extended, Japan to Korea

OTTAWA (CP)—The cabinet has given authority for the extension of the Royal Canadian Air Force air transport operations right into Korea to clear the way in case the 12 Canadian planes are needed in the present crisis. That means they could be used for evacuation purposes if the need arises.
Defence headquarters officials said that the 426th Squadron, may move from McChord Field near Tacoma, Washington, to Japan with its four-engined North Stars. For the last five months they have been flying the transpacific air lift from McChord to Japan but not to Korea.
The move by the cabinet is looked upon as part of a general United Nations move to prepare for any eventuality. It is stressed here that no orders have yet been given for the squadron to go to Korea but the way has now been made clear for such a shift if the Korean situation means that planes are needed.

Labor Seeking Control Return

OTTAWA — Canada's four strongest central labor organizations are taking the lead in a move to have the government improve price and retain rent controls. They are the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, the Canadian Congress of Labor, the Canadian and Catholic Federation of Labor and the Dominion joint legislative committee of Railway Brotherhoods.
The unprecedented campaign to put pressure on the government was announced last night by officials of the four big labor bodies which represent about one million members.
It is the first time in history that they have joined together in a step of this kind.
A statement which was issued said they will conduct a joint country-wide campaign aimed at halting increases in the cost of living.
"We propose enlisting the active support of our entire membership and organizations representing all sections of the Canadian public in this campaign," they added.
It is understood the campaign will include advertising, speeches and various activities by union members including canvassing of Members of Parliament on the issues.

Power Co. Awaits Help

Hard Taxed to Meet Demand Since Falls River Break—Fish Plant Hard Hit
While outside help in the form of crews from Vancouver was being awaited today to repair the high transmission line across the Skeena River which carries Falls River power into the city, Prince Rupert was still limping along today with a curtailed and voluntary rationed power supply provided by the steam plant at the dry dock and the Shawatlans Lake hydro-electric plant.
Before noon today, the demand exceeded the supply and there was a cut-off of power in certain sections of the city.
Street lighting continues curtailed and the downtown section by night is reminiscent of the wartime blackouts.
After midnight last night, while consumption was light, street lights were maintained in the residential sections.
Hard hit, as a result of the power shortage, is the Nelson Bros. Fisheries Ltd. reduction plant at Port Edward which has a great supply of herring pouring in but which cannot be handled because of no power and is being sent to down-coast plants.
Power company workmen, some of whom have been taken off regular duties, are rushing completion at the dry dock of the first 800 kilowatt unit of the new diesel installation.
they added.
It is understood the campaign will include advertising, speeches and various activities by union members including canvassing of Members of Parliament on the issues.

Appreciation Due

SEVENTEEN public-spirited citizens offered themselves for the community service at the civic nominations which closed yesterday. The appreciation of the city is their due, whether or not they are elected at the polls next Thursday.

With competition only for the four aldermanic seats, a substantial list is offered from which to choose and, as there are many good men—unfortunately there are no women—in the field, some difficulty may be experienced in arriving at preferences.

Important duties are also entailed in service on the school and parks boards where there are just enough candidates to fill the seats. There could have been no wiser course than to have re-elected, as has been done, the three able members of the board of school trustees to succeed themselves and carry on the important job of school reconstruction and re-organization.

The parks board is a new departure. The body may not have a lot of money to handle but it will be in a position to carry out useful planning for the future and possibly find some means of getting something done along much-to-be-desired lines in city beautification and development which is much needed here.

SCRIPTURE PASSAGE FOR TODAY

BIG THINGS FOR ALASKA

THE grave turn of the war and the all-out defense program augur big developments for Alaska, with its vast reservoir of unused power, comments the Ketchikan Chronicle.

Unofficial word from Washington indicates that several federal agencies now are vying for the power that can be developed along Alaska's largest rivers. A new project has been outlined by the engineers at Wood's Canyon on the Copper River above Cordova, along the old Copper River right of way, which reportedly would produce as much power as Grand Coulee Dam itself.

The Taiya (Dyea) River project near Skagway has been put up to an important priority position, and probably some action will be taken before spring to let it go to Alcoa for aluminum, to the navy for a guided missile project or to one of the other agencies for their expanding needs.

The news that Alaska has some uranium deposits, now being tested for possible production, and that the Atomic Energy Commission is going to expand indicates that Alaska may come into the AEC program before it is all over. Whether our remoteness from other plants, such as at Arco, Idaho, and Richland, Washington, would be in our favor or against us is problematical.

These are the inevitable by-products of a warring world and, while Alaska would much prefer to have peacetime industries come north, our fate already is closely linked to defence and our latent hydro resources may tip the scales in favor of the western powers.

TRUMAN'S BOMB

A FEW MINUTES after President Truman told the world that the use of the atom bomb was "under consideration," my telephone began to ring.

Anxious women's voices began to ask what could be done to stop President Truman from ordering the dropping of that awful device. Would it do any good to send a telegram to the President? Or should Canadians send their wires to our own Prime Minister?

WE DO NOT know yet whether President Truman dropped that verbal bombshell by accident or careful design. But we do know part of the reaction:

The hint about use of the atom bomb caused more consternation in the western countries than it did in China or Russia—maybe because more of us heard about it.

Mr. Atlee's trip to Washington was one direct result.

FOR YEARS back I have been trying to tell Canadians WHY I think we will never have a world war three of the character of the former two great wars.

I have never said that we would not have another world war—for obviously all that thunders have to do to vet a world war three is to keep right on going the way we have been.

Let us not kid ourselves either about the nature of the war, if it comes. Atom bombs will be used—so will germs—which Dr. Brock Chisholm says have already made A bombs or H bombs obsolete.

BUT IN MY opinion there is not a government on earth, especially Stalin's—which know what would happen once the third world war started. That's why I have never thought the Stalin and Co. would push the cold war to the point of outright world war. They are well aware that the Russian armies could sweep across Europe, the Middle East and the Holy Land to Suez. They could take over more of South East Asia.

But what would happen to the fabric of society in Russia itself? Apart from the disintegrating effects of atomic warfare, which of the political warfare which the western democracies would surely organize everywhere in the Red-held zone?

FOR YEARS BACK I have taken the rap for saying that we had better "talk it out" with the Russians and their Chinese allies than continue to shoot it out, by cold or hot war. Now Mr. Churchill and rather belatedly, even General MacArthur have come around to the same view—the latter agreeing that negotiation is better than shooting.

But just a word of warning: It takes two to make a peace but only one to commit a murder or make a war.

If the other fellow wants to fight—you either have to fight or pay the price of not fighting.

That latter is the terrible truth that a lot of wishful thinkers overlook.

Bank Depositing Process Speeded

Business through the teller cages at the Royal Bank of Canada here will be speeded up as a result of a new deposit receiving system which has been installed here. In future, only counting of cash will be required when the deposit is handed in, the check being routed to a proof machine which sorts them into categories and proves the correctness of the deposit. In short, the scrutinizing of checks by the teller is eliminated. The device is said by Manager Grant Stewart to be the latest in banking devices.

A fire switch believed pulled in mistake for a light switch caused a false alarm at B.C. Packers Cold Storage at Seal Cove which was answered by city firemen at 8 o'clock this morning.

These children of United Nations staff members are getting a close look at the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, which is two years old on 10 December. Cellulose Mill Order Opens New Mine in Telkwa Area

Bulkley Valley Collieries, whose head, F. M. Dockrill, is a business visitor in the city, have opened up Mine No. 3 near Telkwa. The mine is being developed to meet the large tonnage coal contract placed with the company for the new mill of the Columbia Cellulose Company at Prince Rupert.

Initial development indicates a supply of coal for three years with prospects of considerable further tonnage as developments proceed.

A 300-ton preliminary shipment of coal was made from the No. 2 workings before the new mine was brought into production, but with installation of new mining machinery completed, the new mine is expected to meet the production schedule.

As No. 3 mine gets into full production, No. 2 will be closed down for the present and the crews transferred to the new workings. Only clean-up work is left in the No. 2 mine.

An expansion of the collieries program is expected next spring, at which time additional miners will be taken on the payroll and production will be on a more or less permanent basis.

One new feature at the new workings, and one which will permit an expanded production program without adding to the crew, will be an electrification of latest electrical mining machines and coal will come out of the mine on conveyor belts to be dumped into storage bunkers.

Rat Menace Seen Here

Is Main Concern in Monthly Report of Health Unit

Chief concern expressed in the monthly report of the Prince Rupert and District Union Board of Health for December was in connection with the increase in the rat population. Careful instructions for their reproduction are outlined in the report.

The report calls the rat "the most useless and dangerous pest in the world," carrying many diseases—some fatal to man—and causing annual destruction to property and food of $20 per rat. "There are at least as many—probably more—rats than there are people in Canada," the report states. It speaks of the rapid reproduction of the vermin.

Three methods of getting rid of them are noted: Starve them out—keep garbage containers covered so that gulls, cats and dogs do not scatter the contents about; keep stored foods in metal containers—vegetables in bags should not be stored on cellar floors.

Build them out—Keep holes in floors and walls blocked off; have doors and windows fit closely.

Kill them—when food and shelter have been eliminated, the remaining rats may be trapped or poisoned more easily.

The report goes on to warn against concern for the menage and asks all citizens to cooperate in keeping down the rat population.

Ray Reflects and Reminisces

A flashlight, in Prince Rupert just now, is a worthwhile possession. It reminds one of about 40 years ago when there was no lighting worth mentioning. To help conserve power, in view of the situation at Falls River, during evenings that are dark indeed, public co-operation is as important as it is welcome.

There are, of course, quite a few still here who lived in Prince Rupert as long ago as 1910 or earlier. The good old oil lamp was general in most of the homes. Indeed, candles were not unknown. After nightfall, the flashlight was a necessity. Otherwise, to manoeuvre along a narrow plank walk laid across muskeg meant wet feet if you sank into it. And, with a fair chance of arms being full of parcels, as well as handling the flashlight, you just naturally "watched your step."

TRIBUTE TO CELLULOSE

Editor, Daily News:

In regard to the company and our boys who work at the cellulose plant on Watson Island, we are very proud and happy that the Columbia Cellulose Co. has taken enough interest in our city of Prince Rupert to go to the trouble and expense of erecting and establishing a plant of its size and capacity, creating employment for our local boys.

My son is employed by Columbia Cellulose and loves his work, bosses, and general good treatment he receives there at all times. Furthermore, the meals he gets there are first class and, instead of taking a cold lunch from home, he is able to have a good substantial hot meal out at Watson Island.

Such officials as B. Ingram the boys love as they would their own father or big brother. So I say Columbia Cellulose of Prince Rupert "carry on" and maybe the torch will ever be lit and held.

Terrace Talks Snow Removal

CNR Co-operation Being Sought—Public Works Attitude Condemned

TERRACE—The Terrace and District Board of Trade, in its monthly session on Wednesday evening, engaged in a lengthy discussion on the merits and demerits of the snow ploughing equipment in the district. No agreement being reached, a special committee was empowered by the president to go into the matter thoroughly and to make representations to the Public Works department to get in touch with the railroad authorities for co-operation on snow removal on the Skeena Highway west of Terrace. This committee, consisting of Duncan Kerr, G. Lambley, Will Robinson, will report back to the council meeting which will precede the annual meeting in January.

Strong condemnation of the Public Works department's attitude towards the district needs was expressed by the members following the reading of correspondence from the department in which it was stated that there were no available funds to reconstruct the west approach to cost for which is $50,000. The Board decided to forward a request to Victoria that this sum be appropriated for this work and that this and the cost of paving the highway be included in the 1951 estimates. The Board was informed by the Department that there would be no survey, at present, of the Terrace-Usk road north of the Skeena.

Reporting for the utilities committee George McAdams stated that new piping and fittings are here but the supply of water from the spring is still inadequate. The telephone office is in the process of being moved to a new location and a larger switchboard and more lines will serve the district. On this matter, Mr. Norrington stated that, when work on this building had ceased very recently, and the crew withdrawn, he contacted E. T. Applewhite who wired the Minister of Transport. The reply was that instructions to continue with the work had been sent out on November 30 and the crew would be returning to finish the job.

WATER SUPPLY
W. Robinson explained he has been asked to inspect the Outpost Hospital's water supply. The automatic pressure tank, casing of the dome of which had been cracked, had been repaired.

With certain minor alterations in the setting up of the pipe line to this tank, the present situation would be greatly alleviated.

Geoff Lambley, reporting for the Civic Centre, stated that there had not been a large enough attendance for a regular meeting, but there had been some informal discussion on a New Year's Eve Cabaret which will be held if the executive can get the catering done.

The Board decided to support A. C. Fowler of Smithers as vice-president of the Associated Boards of Trade.

The next meeting being the annual meeting, the place, date and arrangements were left in the hands of the executive. G. McAdams, J. H. Smith and H. King were appointed to the nominations committee. Condolences will be sent to Olof Hanson on the recent sudden death of his son, William, in Toronto. Also a letter of sympathy and hope for the speedy recovery of Mrs. Applewhite will be sent to E. T. Applewhite, M.P.

Before the close of the meeting it was decided to endeavor to gain the active support and co-operation of all the mills and businesses in the district.

C. J. Norrington, president, was in the chair over a rather small attendance. Lloyd Vallee, new manager here for the British Columbia Power Commission, was introduced.

Terrace Unhappy Over Its Power

TERRACE—The power situation here is not so good. A committee from the Board of Trade and others met in the local power plant to view the matter with the new manager, Lloyd Vallee. The new machinery which should have been here in November having been delayed in coming, there are times when there is a higher load than the plant can safely carry.

Mr. Vallee suggested that, in his opinion, a voluntary rationing on the part of the consumers would see the way through till the new machinery can be installed, possibly in January.

However, the board decided to write Hon. E. T. Kenney giving him all the facts and expressing their disappointment at the manner in which the B.C. Power Corporation has met the needs of the district.

Apparently private power companies, as at Prince Rupert, can order machinery from England and have it installed within eight months, something which the government power company seems unable to do. There is no room at present here for any additional domestic or industrial consumption. The board asked that the minister take the matter up with Premier Johnson.

CHIROPRACTIC FOR HEALTH

THE COMMON COLD

Patients who have been under Chiropractic care for a time usually comment on the fact that, though other members of the family have had colds, they seemed to resist them very well.

Chiropractically, the common cold is a natural method the body has of eliminating waste materials which have accumulated over a period of time. To the Chiropractor, two or three mild colds a year should cause no particular concern.

When an individual suffers from too frequent colds, it is an indication that the general function of the body is below par. The organs and glands which usually remove waste products are apparently incapable of normal function. Nature, therefore, utilizes the respiratory tract as a sort of emergency exit. When the waste materials have been completely eliminated, the cold clears up.

The reason that so many people have colds at one particular time is usually because of a sudden change in temperature or environment, which tends to throw a strain on the system. If the body has required more nourishment in order to provide heat during cold weather, it is forced to adapt rapidly to a change in temperature. The excess food is no longer required, and becomes a waste product, and the organs of elimination must be capable of dealing with this "peak load". If they fail to do so, emergency channels must be used such as the respiratory system and sweat glands, and you have your cold symptoms.

A few visits to your Chiropractor will usually improve the function of the entire body, thus reducing the number and severity of colds.

TERRACE GETS WORST BLIZZARD

TERRACE—A terrific blizzard, that raged all day Tuesday followed by heavy snow on Wednesday, has, for the second time in the past two weeks, crippled the industry of the district. Oldtimers cannot recall such a heavy fall of snow and roads blocked so early in the season, and the Department of Public Works is having a tough time getting these roads open to traffic as soon as possible.

LONDON—Fire at the Brixton Hill street-car depot destroyed eight cars, but officials were worried. They were destined to be destroyed anyway.

Members Differ On Car Exports

LONDON (AP)—The future of the small British motor-car in Canada was discussed by three speakers in a recent House of Commons debate on Anglo-Canadian trade.

R. S. Russell, Conservative, said that British car exports now running at the rate of 70,000 a year had "knocked the bottom" out of the used-car market in Canada. He wondered whether the present scale of exports could continue without reaching the saturation point.

M. Macpherson, Labor member, said he believed Britain was paying too much attention to motor-cars and not enough to the kind of engineered goods and capital equipment that Canada would need in the future.

But Sir Peter Bennett, Conservative, disputed any argument that Britain was exporting too many cars.

"I do not agree that this is a temporary business," he said. "I don't see any reason why we shouldn't keep the market for the small car."

Alaska Good Music Trail

Mrs. J. T. Harvey again depicts the story of the "Alaska Music Trail" in the linoleum block cut shown here. The treble clef note superimposed on the map of Alaska and British Columbia shows southeastern Alaska and northern B.C. district of the "Trail."

Banding together to bring top-flight entertainment to the north at the lowest possible cost are Ketchikan, Fairbanks, Anchorage, Palmer, Junction, Wrangell, Whitehorse and Prince Rupert.

The first program at Prince Rupert is scheduled for Thursday December 21, when Desire Ligeti, bass-baritone of the San Francisco Opera Co., and Marcus Gordon, young American pianist, will be heard in one of the most popular programs ever presented from the Civic Centre stage. Mr. Ligeti will sing such selections as the "Toreador Song" from Carmen, "The Song of the Flea," "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen," "Deep River," "None But the Lonely Heart" and "Evening Star" from Tannhauser. Mr. Gordon will play Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata," Chopin's "Scherzo" and the "Sweetheart Waltz" from "Gypsy Baron."

Hunting Ruling Annoys Germans

By ROBERT PETTY

FRANKFURT (Reuters)—The western occupying powers are restoring many rights to Germany—but not in the fields of hunting and fishing.

There the Germans are still strongly reminded that they lost the war, and they do not like it.

The American high commissioner recently circulated new regulations signed by high Commissioner John McCloy, himself a keen shot and angler. These began by stating flatly: "Any person within the category of occupation personnel may hunt and fish on any land and waters in the American zone without regard to ownership, lease, or other property rights in respect of the land, waters, animals, birds or fish."

Such sportsmen, when licensed by the Americans, may hunt or fish as they please provided that they do not shoot within about 500 yards of any building controlled by the American administration or within half a mile of the zonal boundary; do not trap; confine themselves to hand-operated rifles or shot guns "excluding full-jacketed, armor-piercing and tracer ammunition;" and do not take fish "by using any explosive, net, snare or poison or by means of any electric device."

The last two conditions revive memories of German protests soon after the war that troops employed fair means and foul when hunting and fishing.

PARTIES WATCHED

When a hunting party is arranged, the local German official must provide a guide. The guide himself may not shoot unless it is to kill a wounded animal or bird and prevent its escape. These hunters, when on private land, may keep half of the bag.

Non-occupational personnel, mainly meaning other foreigners in Germany and excluding the Germans themselves, are allotted 20 per cent of the hunting quota on publicly owned land and 60 per cent on private land. These people must apply for a permit 15 days ahead, but must cancel their trip if occupation personnel want to hunt in the same area at the same time.

So the large German landowner, Baron Von So-and-So cannot even shoot his own game or catch his own fish unless visitors on his land invite him to join their party. They often do.

Life is a little easier for the Baron's brother in the British zone. There, occupational personnel are restricted to shooting and fishing in 40 per cent of suitable land and the Germans may use the other 60 per cent if they do not infringe Allied security laws defining possession of arms. The British pay compensation for this requisitioning. But it comes out of occupation costs, paid by the West German government.

In the Soviet zone, occupation personnel are supposed under East German law to apply for hunting and fishing licenses, but officials say that "they never do this." A fisheries ministry official said the Russians seemed amused at the idea that anybody might ever seek German authority.

PRETTY CHRISTMAS PARCELS—Make those Christmas packages as pretty as you please if they're going directly under the Christmas tree.

But if they're being mailed first, save the glamorous touch for the inside wrappings. Once again hard-pressed postal officials urge Christmas-givers to wrap their parcels in heavy paper and to fasten them securely. And be sure to write legibly.

Finally, don't send matches in the mail.

These are a few precautions to make certain all gifts reach their destination intact and in time.

Parcels destined for faraway spots such as Britain and the Continent should have been mailed several days ago. Deadline dates for the nearby places are approaching. Cards and parcels for local delivery should be mailed not later than December 16.

FOOD PARCELS WELCOME—It may not arrive in time for Christmas, but a gift food parcel is always welcome in the United Kingdom despite the fact conditions have improved considerably since a year ago.

Tinned meat is one item to include—and sweets. Both are still rationed over there. Pudding and cake mixes also would be appreciated because they can be made without eggs which still are hard to get.

Shredded coconut and dried fruits also are welcomed by British housewives.

FORMS TO GET—To expedite delivery in the U.K. of the gift parcels containing only food, discarded wearing apparel or soap, a yellow label (No. 61) obtainable at post offices should be attached.

The usual customs declaration form (91B), fully completed, must be affixed to all parcels addressed abroad. The latter should bear an alternative address if possible or indicate what should be done with the parcel in case of non-delivery. Otherwise such undeliverable parcels containing food or used clothing will be distributed through charitable organizations in the U.K.

The total value of the contents of parcels sent to the U.K. or other countries without an export permit must not exceed $25.

Korea Could Lead to World War—Russia Would Like To See A-Bomb Used

"The future of the United Nations is of the greatest interest to all of us," Reginald Mawer, U.B.C. extension department, told the Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon yesterday. He stressed the significance of the Korean situation to the United Nations and said it behooves everyone to pay particular attention to the world crisis. "The situation on the Korean peninsula can lead to a major war," he warned.

Mr. Mawer said that, in respect to the countless ages of world history, the five years the United Nations had been existent was not long enough to give it a fair trial. It was designed to maintain world peace, not make it. In spite of its sorry record in the political field, he said, it had done good work in other fields—economic, health, labor, etc. If a major war can be postponed for a long enough time, he said, the U.N. may be in a position to ward it off entirely.

Mr. Mawer sketched the history of the United Nations in Korea, how every move they made toward trying to settle Korea politically had been thwarted by the Russian veto and refusal to co-operate in setting up a government for all of the peninsula. They had refused to allow the United Nations commission on Korea into the part north of the 38th parallel.

When Russia and the United States had withdrawn from Korea, he said, South Korea had a good body of defensive troops but not heavily armed or well equipped. The North Koreans, on the other hand, had strong offensive weapons in their army. For that reason, among others, it was patent that South Korea had done no aggressing.

In answer to a question by G. R. S. Blackaby concerning the Russians' desire to have the United Nations use the atomic bomb, the speaker said the Russians would like to see the United Nations use the bomb because it would brand them for ever in the eyes of the world as an aggressor.

The speaker was introduced by A. Bruce Brown, president of the club.

Here is another hand Mr. Dale played with Mr. Sharpe. In view of the fine result Mr. Sharpe got on the preceding deal, Mr. Dale was about to class him with his friend Mr. Masters. But something happened to change his mind.

Mr. Sharpe started to explain to Mr. Dale and the numerous kibitzers how the opponents had missed a slam. His gleeful boasting lasted so long and got so loud that even the kibitzers clamored for a continuation of the game.

East and West got vulnerable and then came the hand shown above on which Mr. Sharpe inserted a brazen and dangerous psychic opening bid of one heart.

As you see it worked out beautifully. Both East and West thought something funny was going on but they weren't quite sure just what it was. They got as high as two spades—and made five, losing only to the ace and queen of spades. West finessed the clubs, set the suit, and discarded his queen and seven of diamonds on the two long clubs in dummy.

start breaking against him—look out."

Something else Mr. Dale didn't like, Mr. Sharpe was rubbing it into the opponents again. He told them what dopes they were to miss an easy game on this hand, etc., etc. It is all right to size up your opponents and take advantage of their weaknesses in the actual bidding and play. But if you deliberately harangue them and ridicule them for the purpose of upsetting them and causing them to play badly, you are mighty close to cheating.

Mr. Dale figures that if you can't win honestly, you shouldn't win at all.

At this time while other King Edward school rooms are assembling conventional Christmas tree decorations, the back of Mr. Goscoe's room looks like a miniature radio station.

A unique lesson for the pupils is the automatic "leave-the-room" marker, which Mr. Goscoe disrespectfully calls the only "gadget" in their room. When a student wishes to go to the wash room, instead of writing his name on the board to indicate his absence, he merely pushes a button on his way to the door—immediately an arrow switches around a chart on the wall pointing to the word "out!"

Lower Skeena Getting Snow
 Rain all along the C.N.R. line east of here is adding to the hazards caused by heavy snowfall earlier in the week. Terrace is the worst spot. Deep windblown snow has drifted over the line in that area.

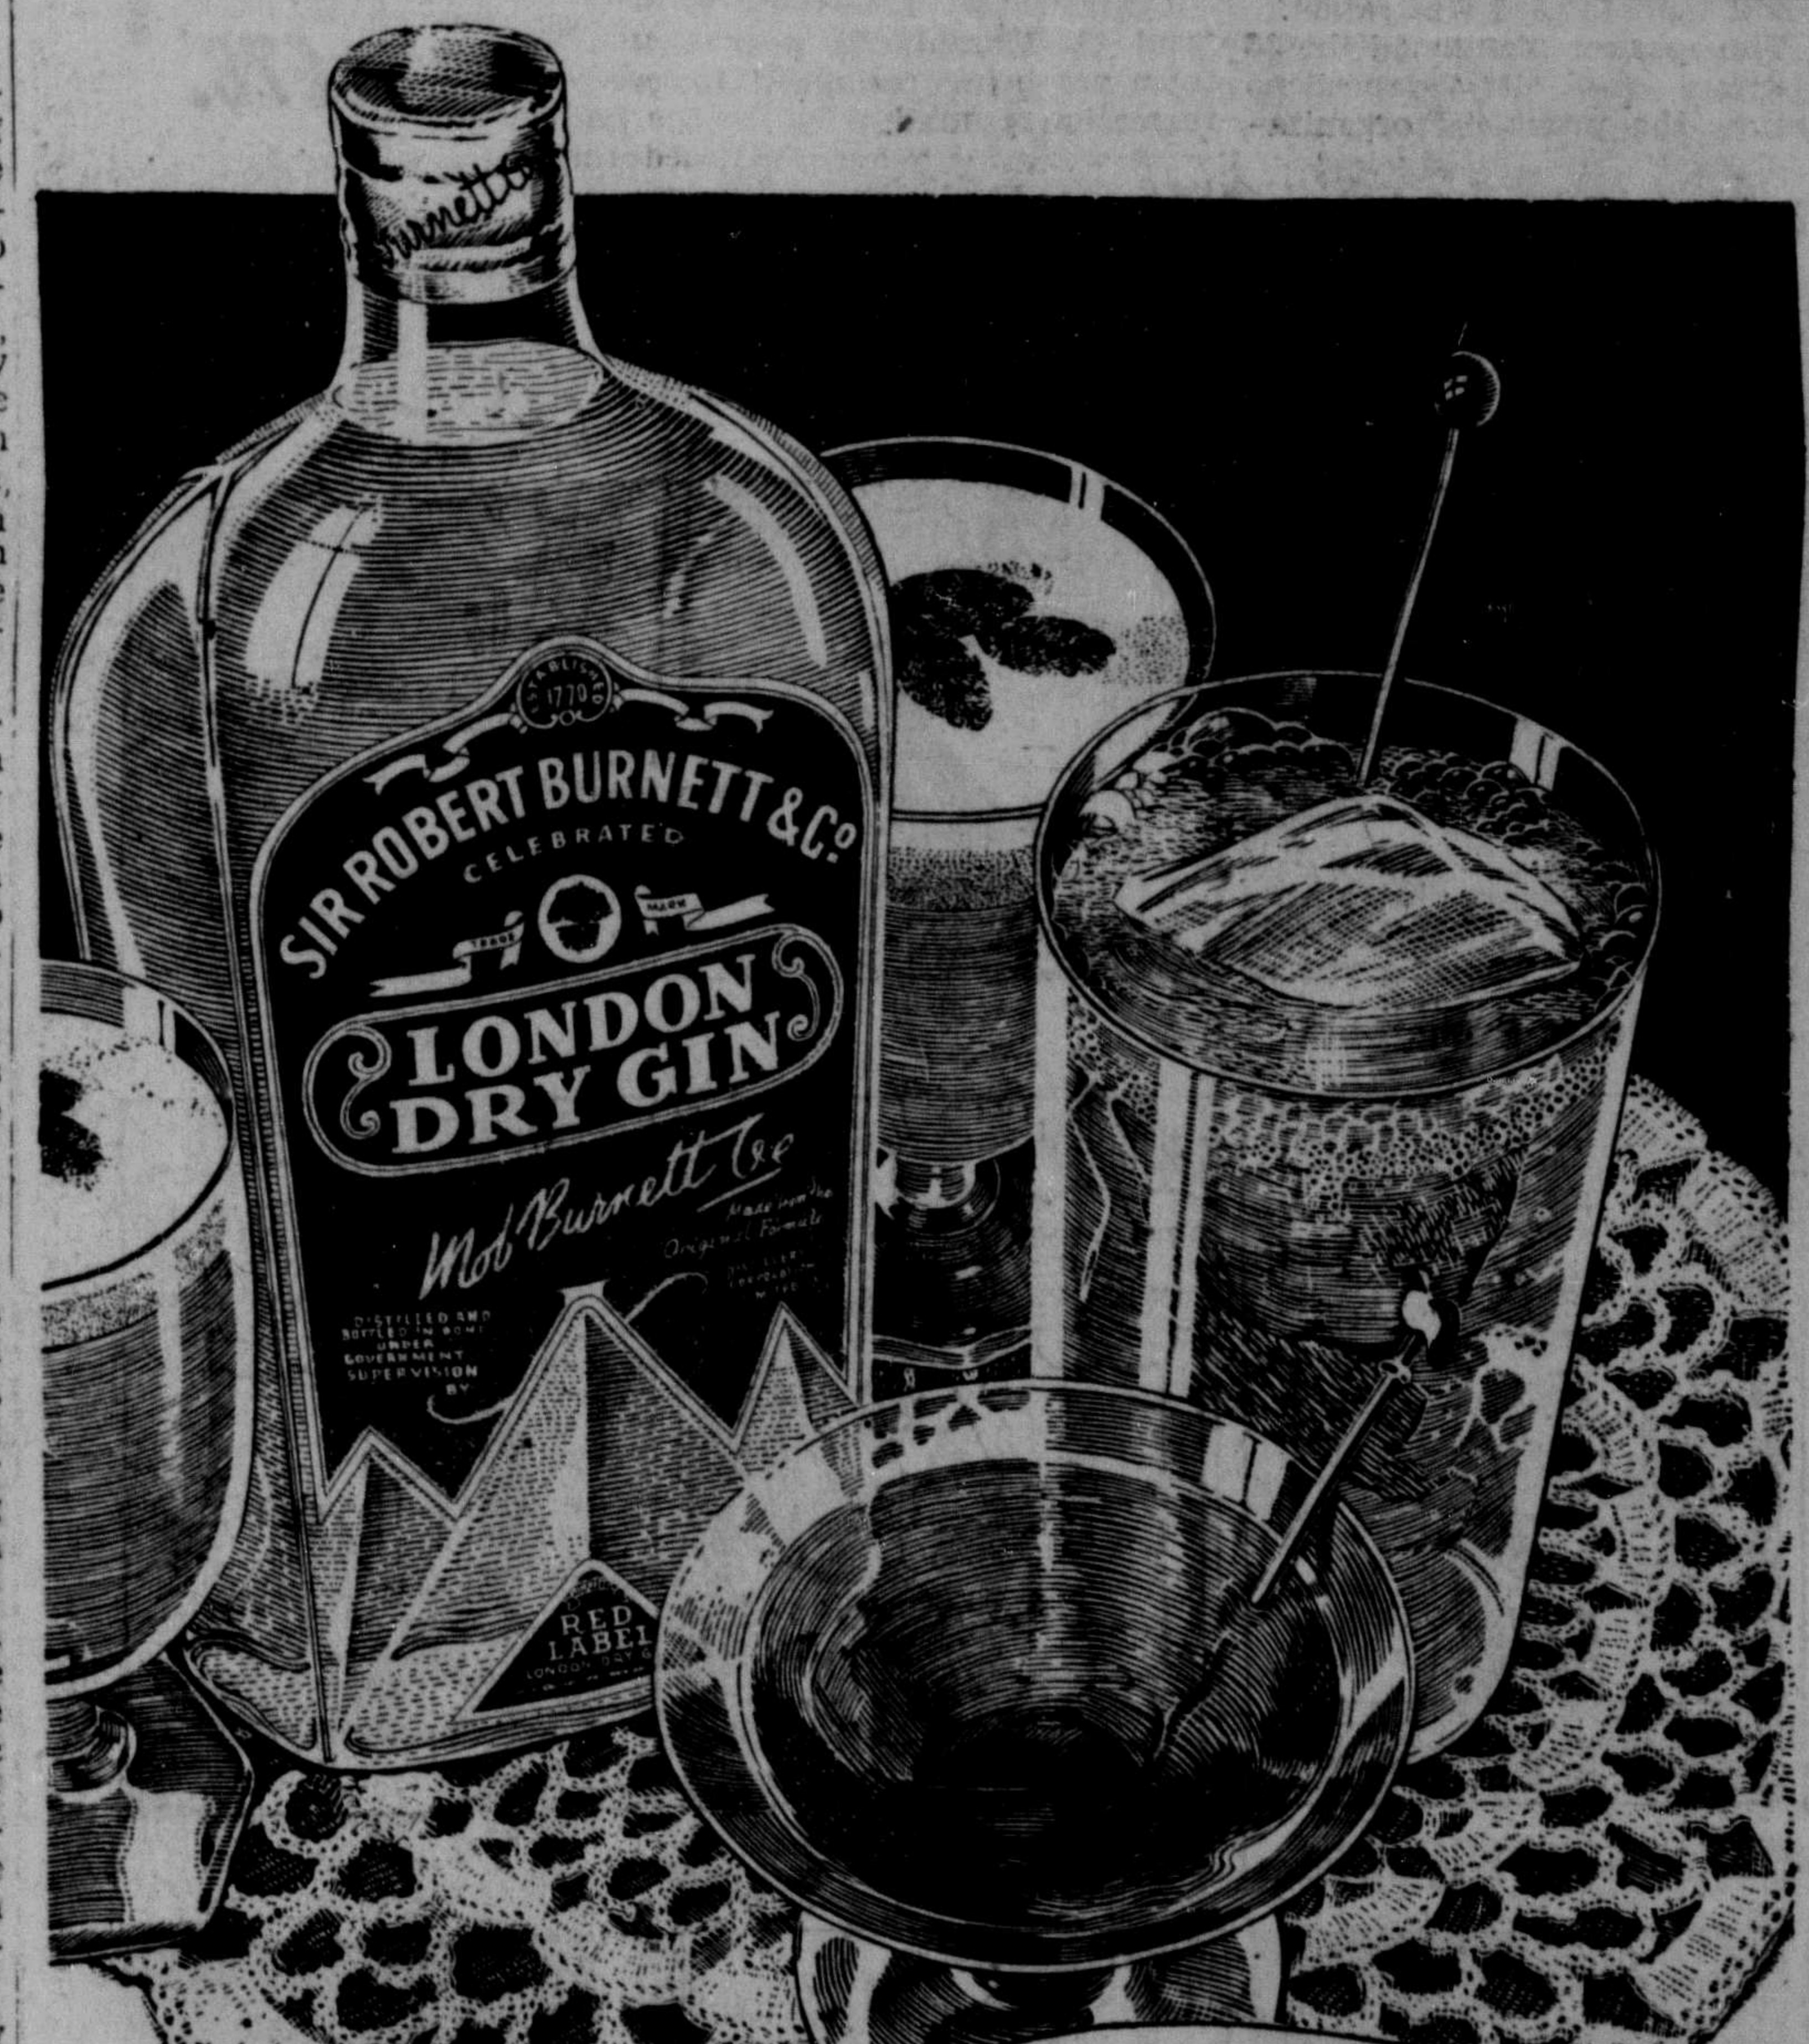

There has been no interruption in rail service to the east but the highway is blocked between Shames and Kwintsa. Crews are now working to try to open the road. Plows from this end are expected to reach Salvas tonight but there has been no report here on the progress of the plows from the Terrace end.

Revitalize Boy Scouts

Plan Achievement Adopted After Hearing Provincial Executive

"Plan Achievement," designed to revitalize the Boy Scout movement in Canada, was explained to the Prince Rupert Boy Scout Association last night by Executive Commissioner R. Ken Jordan. Adopted by the Association here, it is a sequel to "Plan Opportunity," which was designed shortly after General Dan Spry became commissioner to reorganize headquarters and change the organizational set-up.

Last year "Plan Opportunity" was reviewed and most of the targets were attained. There were still "bugs" in the scouting movement and "Maple Leaf Plan" was put forward to provincial organizations. Finally, on examination, the plan was found to be not what scouters thought was necessary. Ideas from all over the country were gathered, sorted out and considered. The final result was "Plan Achievement," the plan Mr. Jordan was explaining last night.

In drawing up the plan, Mr. Jordan explained, the volunteer scout had the right to overrule the professional scout.

The British Columbia council, the speaker said, at first felt the plan premature but, on consideration, decided it was very opportune. Speaking of volunteer helpers, he said there were many prominent business and professional men in the British Columbia organization. He said they were not just figureheads but that they worked hard at the job. From them the organization received millions of dollars of advice for nothing.

Mr. Jordan told the meeting that they must study where they stood in relation to "Plan Achievement" and set their targets accordingly. It was necessary to go into the plan with each group so that scoutmasters and cub leaders could choose targets within their reach. It was no good to choose targets impossible of achievement as it could tend toward frustration.

The speaker mentioned the 36 districts and 45 independent groups the provincial organization was servicing. Also there were lone scouts in places where patrols could not be raised. They learn their scouting through correspondence. There is now in operation a plan for further development of scouting in B.C.

Of the plan itself, Mr. Jordan said the first target was to emphasize the daily good turn for scouts. The good turn, he said, was being carried farther so that sixes and packs, patrols and troops organized for community good turns. He mentioned what some groups had chosen for their good turns.

Also "be prepared" was extended to groups so that Boy Scouts could take part in civil defence and disasters. He told of the good work the Boy Scouts had done during the floods at Winnipeg earlier in the year. He felt that advance training of older scouts for that sort of work would help keep up the interest of older boys.

Leadership was also stressed in the plan. It started with a strong group committee and extended to leaders and masters. The plan target called for a leader for every ten boys. In this respect, he suggested that as many as possible attend the summer courses. Among other benefits of the courses he placed trading of ideas among leaders from different places high on the list.

There were also supported targets. Formation of a badge committee with a badge secretary would give the district commissioner a better picture of the badges held in the district. Each badge would have to go through the committee and a certificate signed by the secretary would be required before the badge could be issued. In addition to other advantages, he said, this would tend to standardize throughout the province and country requirements to obtain badges.

Summing up, he said the boy was the most important part of the effort. With a good group committee and good leadership, he said, it was up to the boy from there on.

President Fred Conrad was in the chair and there was an excellent attendance at the meeting.
