And Aggressive Gov't Or Socialistic Experiment Is Issue

Four Point Manifesto Issued by Johnson—Aluminum Plant in Rupert Area Is One Plank

PRINCE RUPERT.—The issue at stake in this election is whether the people desire a continuance of sound administration based on free enterprise or whether they wish to experiment with a declared Premier Byron I. Johnson last night in his address to the people of British Columbia.

The manifesto of the Coalition Government is based on the fact that the people of British Columbia desire a continuation of good administration and a policy of development of the natural resources of the province. The manifesto is as follows:

16. To stimulate expansion of our mining industry by appropriating increased funds for the construction of mining roads, and trails which are so essential in the development of various mining properties.

17. To encourage the discovery of further mineral wealth by expanding the system of free grubstaking of prospectors.

18. To expand scientific research in the interest of existing industries as well as the establishment of new industries.

19. To encourage development of export markets and assist in finding increased domestic markets for surplus products.

20. To appoint a commission to review the operations of the Workmen's Compensation Board so that the Act may be modified in keeping with the best interests of employees and employers.

21. To institute an exhaustive study by a round table conference of employers and employees in connection with the administration of the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act so that amendments may be effected that will improve further the labor laws of the province.

MARGARINE IS COMING NEXT WEEK

Margarine will go on sale in Prince Rupert food stores next week in "limited quantities" for the first time since its sale was legalized in British Columbia a few weeks ago.

According to Canada Packers, who were the first to place the butter substitute on the market in British Columbia, a quantity of margarine will arrive here from Vancouver next Monday or Wednesday and will be immediately available for sale to the public.

Manager of a local food store said this morning that he is expecting a shipment in next week from Vancouver, either Monday or Wednesday.

It is not known how much margarine will be in the first shipments but the Daily News is assured that "it will be enough to give everybody a taste, at least."

While no selling price has yet been established, it is believed that margarine will sell for slightly higher than the price of 40 cents a pound for which it is retailing in Vancouver.

"Probably between 45 and 45 cents," said one grocer. Butter is retailing in Prince Rupert for about 64 cents a pound.

Like the bulk of the margarine now manufactured in Canada, the quantity expected here has been made in Ontario. Western plants have not yet been geared into high quantity production.

Road Open Officially Next Week

The Prince Rupert Highway, over which the first car was driven in from Terrace yesterday afternoon, will be open officially for the 1949 season on Tuesday next, it is now announced from the Department of Public Works.

The last obstruction to traffic has been removed with the clearing of a slide on the Tyece Hill beyond the summit near Rainbow Lake.

A new phase of maintenance work will be carried out on the Skeena River Highway this year with the placing on the road of a large new gravel crusher which is commencing work in the Remo pit. It is a mobile unit from which sixteen men will work, spreading crushed rock over the road surface instead of straight river gravel as has been used in the past. The crusher will move back and forth along the road as required.

The slide on the Tyece Hill, which was dug through yesterday, was 30 feet deep and 300 feet long, consisting of snow, rocks and trees. A D8 caterpillar, from the east end, and a D6, from the west, were used to open it up.

CONVENTION ON TUESDAY

Coalition Candidate For Prince Rupert to Be Chosen

Executives of Liberal and Progressive-Conservative Associations, meeting last night, set next Tuesday evening as the time for the coalition nominating convention for Prince Rupert provincial riding.

Each party will be entitled to send forty delegates or proxies. Proxies are limited to one per delegate, meaning that each side will seat at least twenty delegates in person.

Chairman will be chosen at the convention with W. M. Watts agreed upon as chairman pro-tem.

The committees agreed on the principle of a secret vote. Progressive-Conservative candidates are uninstructed.

As matters now stand Liberal delegates are pledged to support J. D. McRae in open vote. The Conservative candidate for the coalition nomination is W. R. McAfee.

Parliament Prorogues

OTTAWA.—Prime Minister St. Laurent tabled an order-in-council providing for the dissolution of parliament after prorogation today. He said that the Governor-General had approved the order last night and that Parliament would be dissolved at the conclusion of today's session.

The pro forma date set for a new session of Parliament is September 1, but Mr. St. Laurent said that it would be up to the new government to decide when the next session should be held. Mr. St. Laurent announced that the election date has been set for June 27. The end of the Parliament came a few minutes after 1 p.m.

He said that the pact is in the interest of the farmers of Canada as a whole.

EARLY TERRACE TEACHER DIES

TERRACE (Special to the Daily News)—Miss Ida May Pearson, whose service as a teacher in Terrace district schools, dated back to 1912, died here Friday. She was 70 years old.

Coming here from the east, she taught first in a private school and later succeeded Mrs. George Dover as teacher of the Kitsungallum public school. In 1922, the Lakelse school across the Skeena River from Terrace, was opened and she taught there until her retirement several years ago. During the war she resumed service, teaching at the Kisplox school, near Hazelton for two years.

On the death of her mother, she sold the family farm and went to live with her brother Roy, who is at present seriously ill with pneumonia in the Terrace hospital.

Russian Leader In Berlin Forecasts End In 3 Days

Diplomatic Sources Are Hopeful In United States and Moscow

BERLIN (CP)—German sources in close touch with the Soviet military administration reported today that Col. Serge I. Tulpanov, head of the Soviet information bureau here, has forecast that the Berlin blockade will be lifted within three days.

The sources said that Tulpanov made his prediction at a conference with chief editors of Soviet-licensed newspapers.

In New York, following the latest in the series of secret American-Russian talks, a United States spokesman said that negotiations were "proceeding satisfactorily."

Some diplomatic sources predicted that the Russians and the West will meet in Paris late in May.

In Moscow, diplomats were hopeful of an early settlement and there a neutral ambassador was quoted as saying of the new discussions "without trying to sound optimistic, this might be the turning point the whole world is waiting for."

Spring Fantasy Colorful Show

St. Peter's Y.P.A. Scores Great Success
A colorful musical show, written and produced entirely by young local talent, practically indication of what can be accomplished by a determined group with very little expense and a reasonable amount of effort, delighted both eyes and ears of an audience of nearly 500 which swarmed into the Civic Centre auditorium last evening to witness the St. Peter's Young People's presentation "Spring Fantasy," a gay musical extravaganza in two parts.

The curtain opened on a scene of flower bedecked spring gaiety called "Easter Time," alive with young people in period costumes, ladies in flowing bustle backed floor-length gowns and flowered poke bonnets and gentlemen in dress suits and bowler hats. The scene before the audience was reminiscent of a park one Easter Sunday afternoon during the carefree period of history now called the "Gay Nineties." To give forth an aura of fantasy the numbers were performed before a backdrop of huge Easter rabbits and a touch of reality and a live park atmosphere was added by the stage properties, an evergreen tree, a see-saw, park benches, and a colorfully decorated swing.

The popular "One Sunday Afternoon" seemed an appropriate opening number for "Easter Time." It was prettily performed by soloist Vin Elliott with background chorus consisting of Ruth Ketcheson and Richard Tweed, Elaine Steffens and Dick Large, and Shari Ingalls and Dick Hedstrom.

Frank McFadden, as a jovial policeman, obviously struck with spring fever, performed with the support of the chorus the lifting old favorite, "While Strolling Through the Park One Day," accompanied by flirtatious glances from the roguish eyes of Vin Elliott.

A typically Gay Nineties vaudeville song and dance number to the tune of "April Showers" was capably performed by Richard Tweed and Dick Hedstrom, complete with canes and rakish bowler hats.

Vin Elliott's rendition of "Roses of Picardy" was one of the features of the show. The young lady's sweet soprano voice was displayed to best advantage in the haunting love song.

The coy captivating "Tell Me, Pretty Maiden" from "Flora-dora," performed by Ruth Ketcheson and Richard Tweed, and Elaine Steffens and Dick Large, was a dainty tableau with the young ladies using their frilly parasols to good advantage.

As a shy little flower girl selling her violets, pretty dark haired Iona Hardy stole the hearts of the audience with her rich throaty voice as she performed a song which mingled the French language with English, "Who'll Buy My Violets?" and threw handfuls of her beautiful crepe paper violets out into the audience.

The whole atmosphere of the show changed for a moment, and tender gaiety gave way to comedy slapstick for one number: "When You Wore a Tulip." Carol Brentzen, as a hillbilly

REDS THREATEN SHANGHAI FRONT

SHANGHAI.—Communist columns today were within 23 miles of Hangchow in an apparent move to knock out the anchor of the whole Nationalist defense position on the Shanghai front.

The newspaper Sin Wan Pao said government employees in Hangchow had been ordered to leave and that a locally-organized militia had taken over police duties. This may indicate that the Nationalists have withdrawn from the coastal city, 121 miles southwest of Shanghai.

A Shanghai garrison communiqué said that one communist column had reached Taching, 23 miles north of Hangchow. Earlier, the Shanghai garrison reported that the Nationalists had withdrawn from Wujang, 12 miles west of Taching.

A flower entwined swing was released for the next number: "I'd Love to Live in Loveland" and a young couple, Pat Tipten and Don Saunders, strolled on stage to take advantage of its charms. Miss Tipten's gown of violet satin, with matching poke bonnet, looked charming as she swayed to and fro while her partner gently pushed her. On the other side of the stage appeared a handle-bar mustached barbershop trio—Lloyd Franklin, Glynne Callow and Bill Watts, all dressed in dark suits, embellished with white aprons and carrying shaving mugs.

As a climax, the whole cast of "Easter Time" gathered in colorful array to blend their voices in the finale number, Irving Berlin's "Easter Parade," while the curtain went down to the tune of rousing applause.

The intermission was ably taken care of musically, as was the period immediately before the start of the show, by two talented young men, Richard Tweed, on piano accordion, and Vic Pierce, on guitar, who rendered several tuneful numbers while scenery was being changed.

The second part of the show was a musical romance called "Le Cafe Parisienne," which retained a French atmosphere (Continued on Page 6)

Letters to the Editor

WORKING WOMAN

Editor, Daily News
Regarding married women working, it seems a shame there should be so many doing so when others are looking for work and there will still be more when school breaks up. In my opinion it should only be widows who work. As it is even women whose husbands have good jobs are working in restaurants and grocery stores when they ought to be home looking after their children.
Thank you for your space.
Mrs. Nora Livingston.

GRITS AND TORIES

Editor, Daily News:
What with all these timely talks pertaining to politics, I recall that years ago, if one were not a good Liberal, he was a downright Conservative. If a Liberal, he called himself a Grit. If a Conservative, Tory.
The term Grit, is self-explanatory. But having pondered the term Tory, I decided to look up its definition in an old dictionary. The following is what I found: "Tory; in English politics a Conservative. adj.: pertaining to Conservatives." Actually, I wasn't further enlightened... so I read the meaning of Toryism. Which read as follows: "The principles of the Tories or Conservatives." Incidentally it didn't enumerate the principles... which was rather characteristic of politics. "Perhaps by keeping us in the dark, we can the more readily see the light." Or, it might be: "Where there is yet a little light, we cannot fear the dark." Anyway, my grandfather was a STRONG Conservative... in more ways than one... for he lived to be 83 years of age. On the other hand, for years and years my father was a STRONG Liberal, in fact he's still a Grit. If one were to ask me, he certainly has a wholesome philosophy.

Needless to say, I don't take politics strongly, hence I don't mind saying: I find this new party, The Coalition, a somewhat thought provocation. Visualizing it as I do, it might be summed up this way:

"If you're not a good Grit you can't get far as a Conservative... so why not combine the best that's in both and become Coalitionist?"

It must needs take two... to put up a winning "fight" against the C.C.F. party, who today are The Grits of yesterday.

In brief, who is to say? (Perhaps a little stammeringly) "By the living Tories, "C.C.F." the ones with the more GRITS won't win!"

VIOLET INGALLS.

LAUNDRIES

Editor, Daily News:
An item appearing in your paper last night with reference to signing of agreements with laundries is misleading as far as reference to "laundry" is concerned.

There are actually only two laundries operating in Prince Rupert, which are Ideal Cleaners and Laundry and Pioneer-Canadian Laundry.

Dean's have neither laundry nor dry cleaning equipment but are operating their shop merely as a spotting and press-shop and as an agency for laundry, all laundry and actual dry cleaning being processed at Pioneer-Canadian Laundry.

May I also take this opportunity to draw your attention

ALASKA ROAD "SOB" STORIES

FAIRBANKS — Reports that the Alaska Highway is sprinkled with stranded motorists out of funds and jobs were branded as "sob stories" by Lieut. A. P. Brandt of the territorial highway patrol. He denied the rumor that dozens of automobiles were stranded at Tok and said that checking station figures there failed to confirm an Anchorage report that southbound traffic out of Alaska was almost as heavy as northbound.

most of whom have been with us for many years and thus, by their experience and acquired skill, have successfully assisted in serving and pleasing the people of Prince Rupert and district.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for providing space in your paper for this letter.

Highway Opens

PRINCE RUPERT MOTORISTS were suddenly thrilled with the unexpected arrival yesterday afternoon of the first car of the season to be driven through from Terrace. The announcement that the Skeena River Highway will be officially open for the year next Tuesday is welcome.

When we looked at the huge snows that buried the road for many miles back in January, we had thought that it might be much later than this before we would be driving to the interior this year. As it is, it is only a day or so later than in 1948 and, in spite of the heavy weight of snow which lay over the road in the dead of winter, the highway, it is stated, has not been severely damaged.

More maintenance equipment, including a large new gravel crusher which will make it possible to spread crushed rock over the road for the first time, has been installed. Motorists and tourists alike will be able to enjoy better driving conditions than ever before existed, it is anticipated.

ARCHIBALD CLEARS HIMSELF

NO MATTER whether they agree with him politically or not, the people of his riding will feel gratified at Harry Archibald, the Socialist Member of Parliament, having made his position clear in regard to the Atlantic Pact. No little alarm had been felt by the loyal people of Skeena at the reports, which now appear to have been misleading if not entirely erroneous, that the local member had been opposed to the pact. Certainly such a stand would have been inconsistent with views of all shades of political color, with the exception of the Red Communists. It is a relief to know that all the B.C. members, including Mr. Archibald, approved the pact when it came up for the vote as Parliament last night concluded its business prior to dissolution and the holding of the general election.

INTERESTING CANDIDATE

IF THE NATIVES are entitled to the franchise, which they have been awarded in the province of British Columbia, there is no reason why they should not have a candidate and so it is both fitting and interesting that Frank Calder, young Indian University graduate, should be nominated in Atlin riding. The Indian vote will be an important factor in the election, particularly in some of these northern ridings where there is such a large proportion of native population, and it may prove to be right smart politics on the part of the Socialists in having secured a member of the race to be their candidate. The reactions to Mr. Calder's nomination will be followed with interest.

THE BALANCE OF POWER

SIGNING of the Atlantic Pact, by which Britain, the United States, Canada, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, France and Norway pledge assistance to one another in the event of attack by an aggressor, will provide the first effective check to the Soviet plan for conquering the world. The pact will do much to revive confidence and to re-establish faith—since the end of the war so close to extinction.

Once again there is a balance of power. The democratic nations can show a population and an armed strength almost equal to the known resources of the Russian war bloc. So long as this balance can be retained there will be peace in the world.

The maintenance of strong military forces will be a drain upon our democratic economies, but the costs of peace are never so high as the terrible costs of modern war. Behind the protection of the Atlantic Pact the democratic nations can set their minds and productive strengths to furthering the progress of mankind.

The Experts Say

NEW GREEN ONIONS—The new green onions, or scallions, appearing on the market these days are just the thing to give that tired old dinner menu a bit of a lift.
While these new onion may be delicate and young, nevertheless they have real onion character. They usually are eaten as an appetizer or salad ingredient, but are delicious when served in other ways.
Scallions on toast are almost economists describe them as "a real spring treat."
Eight scallions are allowed for inches in length and tie enough for each serving together in a bunch. Cook in boiling salted water for seven minutes. Drain well and place each bunch on a slice of buttered toast, then untie. Pour a rich cheese sauce over the onions and serve at once.
PINEAPPLES—If the housewife is smart she will make good use of those pineapples now appearing in such quantities in the stores.
She might make a Pineapple Salad—cream together one-quarter pound of cream cheese and one tablespoon of salad dressing until smooth. Roll in balls which are placed in the centre of pineapple slices. Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise dressing.
Pineapple in dessert such as Pineapple Rice Bavarian Cream also is delicious. Ingredients:

one tablespoon gelatine, one-half cup cold water, one-quarter cup sugar, one-quarter teaspoon salt, one cup cooked rice, one cup whipped cream, one teaspoon vanilla, one-half cup canned pineapple.
soak gelatine in cold water for five minutes and dissolve over hot water. Add to hot rice and sugar, salt and vanilla. Beat well, cool, and when it begins to thicken add fruit and whipped cream. Chill. Garnish with maraschino cherries. Serves six.
RHUBARB—Rhubarb also is in the news at this time of the year. The housewife interested in preserving this fruit might try Rhubarb Conserve.
Ingredients: eight cups rhubarb (cut in small pieces), five cups sugar, one cup chopped nuts, one cup raisins, one orange (finely cut). Simmer slowly one hour.
Baked Rhubarb requires four cups rhubarb cut in one-inch pieces, one cup sugar, one cup warm water, orange or lemon peeling. Clean and cut rhubarb and pour boiling water over it.
Place a little rhubarb in a two-quart pan and sprinkle with sugar and the finely chopped peeling. Continue to fill the pan in the same manner, then pour the cup of warm water over it, cover closely and bake in a slow oven 30 minutes.

POSSIBLE ADDITION TO ROYAL CANADIAN NAVY

Packing 10 times the wallop of present carrier-attack planes, the new Martin AM-1 Mauler is mentioned as a possible addition to the Royal Canadian navy. Known affectionately as "Able Mabel" of the U.S. fleet, the high-speed workhorse can carry more than five tons of high explosive. The Mauler, establishing a new record, flew a test with a gross takeoff weight of 29,332 pounds, of which 10,689 pounds was armament. The Mauler, in the foreground, is carrying a destructive payload including three 2,200-pound torpedoes, twelve 250-pound bombs and four 20 mm. aerial cannon with 800 rounds of ammunition. It has a range of 2,000 miles.

THREE FINED ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Three men received fines with alternative jail sentences in city police court Thursday on charges of assaulting a taxi driver and obstructing police officers in a case arising out of a dispute over payment of a taxi fare a week ago.

Found guilty on a joint charge of assault occasioning actual bodily harm to Bill Nesbitt, city taxi driver, were Wendolyn Schwab, Richard Adkins and Jimmy Adkins. Richard Adkins was fined $100 or two months while Schwab and Jimmy Adkins each were fined $50 or one month on the same charge.

The charge arose out of an altercation on the night of April 22 when Nesbitt received a broken nose, a sprained thumb and facial injuries near the dry dock gate.

The accused trio claimed that they had been provoked by the charge for a taxi ride from Third Avenue to the dry dock.

The three men each entered pleas of not guilty to a charge of obstructing police officers but changed their pleas to guilty after prosecution evidence had been entered.

Schwab altered his plea on advice of his counsel, A. Bruce Brown, who also was instructed by the Adkins brothers to reverse their plea. Mr. Brown appeared for Schwab in the assault case.

Police Corporal A. H. Taylor pointed out that violence is not necessary to constitute an obstruction charge. Any act which might interfere with the work of a policeman in his duty could be considered obstruction, he said.

On the obstruction charge, Richard Adkins was fined $25 or 14 days, Jimmy Adkins was fined $10 or seven days and Schwab was sentenced to the time he had served in jail.

LEO DUROCHER IS SUSPENDED

CUP FINAL COMING UP

LONDON (AP)—Some 100,000 rabid fans have jammed the huge Wembley Stadium today to watch the year's biggest soccer game, the Football Association cup final. This year it is Wolverhampton Wanderers and Leicester City clashing for the trophy which Manchester United won a year ago. Betting was strongly in favor of the Wolves, who are currently placed well in the English League, First Division, while Leicester City is struggling near the bottom of the Second Division. However, it is axiomatic that anything can happen in a cup final.

SATURDAY SERMON

THE TWENTY-THIRD PSALM

By Archdeacon E. Hodson (St. Peter's Anglican Church)

There are spiritual songs in the Old Testament and in the New, but the Old Testament transmits the New in its spiritual songs. To know a people we must know its songs, as witness the songs of Bobby Burns and Bonnie Scotland.

The Psalms come to us steeped in memories of home and the homeland. Many of us learned the Twenty-Third Psalm at our mother's knee along with the Lord's Prayer, while to some it brings back the memory of an old village church surrounded by its city of the dead.

How wondrous the life of this psalm is. Men have faced death with it upon their lips. It has lifted penitents out of despondency and despair. The Hebrews sang it in old Judea, the captives by the waters of Babylon when they sat down and wept. The Maccabees sang it as they spent their life-blood for their nation. The shepherds sang it as they watched their flocks in Bethlehem and the early Christians chanted it within the catacombs as they worshipped in fear of their lives.

The Book of Psalms is the book for all men. It is the book of all experiences, aspirations,

Halibut and Salmon Seasons Opening— Bringing Alaska Fish to Prince Rupert

Both the halibut and the salmon trolling seasons will be under way next week, restoring life to Prince Rupert waterfront which has been semi-dormant over the winter. Just what kind of a season it will be no one can predict, but the fisherman's incurable optimism will not let him believe that it will be anything but good.

Since Thursday, 150 fishermen have taken out halibut licenses here, believed to be as great a number as ever started the season out of this port. In addition to this, 80 salmon trolling licenses have been issued, bringing to well over 200 the number of revenue-producing boats which have sprung suddenly into action.

While the halibut men will begin their activity early tomorrow morning, the trollers probably will be slower to start, although the weather will be a deciding factor in that. Trollers agree that dark, rainy weather seems to keep the fish at great depth with resulting poor catches.

This season will see more fishing camps in operation near the halibut grounds than ever before, making it possible for small boats to fish without ice and make quick runs to market. The fishing companies all have their regular camps out and some have one or two more than usual. The Co-op has ten camps out this season, two more than last year.

Just what prices will be offered on the exchange here this year is a matter that will be decided when the first cargo is put up for sale. However, it is not expected that it will be lower than last year's opening prices of 15 cents for mediums.

Area Three has put in a call to a larger number of boats than usual this year, mainly because the skippers of the bigger boats feel that the rush in Area Two will make fishing the closer area less profitable. Seven boats cleared for Area Three this week, an unusual armada for the Canadian fleet to send north while the southern district is open.

The Seattle packer Satrania, which has been chartered by the Canadian Fish and Cold Storage Co. for its Alaska packing service, arrived in port here Friday morning enroute to Ketchikan under command of Capt. Jason Ellis. She left a short time later for the northern port.

The Satrania is the second packer to be brought from Seattle within a month for the same purpose. On March 30, Capt. Ellis came north with the Beloit II which will operate along with the Satrania in bringing Alaskan salmon to the Cold Storage plant here.

Capt. Ellis, one of the youngest skippers on the coast, is a cousin of Robert Ellis, mayor of Ketchikan and operator of an air line. He is 23 years old. He was skipper of the packer Kiska which was lost last year when she was rammed near Ketchikan.

The converted sub-chaser Randy A which was packing for the Canadian Fish and Cold Storage Co. last year under command of Capt. L. J. Beayer, is expected north this week to join the fleet of chartered packers bringing fish from the north this season.

Union steamer Coquitlam, Capt. Alf Aspinall, call in at Port Edward Friday afternoon on her weekly sailing north and disembarked 4 passengers, mostly carpenters to work at the Watson Island project of Columbia Cellulose Co. The Coquitlam arrived here at 1 p.m. and sailed at 10 o'clock last night for Masset and Port Clements on her fortnightly call to the north island.

Opening of navigation is expected to start soon on the

PRETTY SETTING
The curtain went up on a dimly lit stage arranged as the interior of a French Cafe. Six young couples sat chatting round six candle-lit tables as the strains of the romantic "Toujours L'Amour" floated from off stage. All rose to dance—a pretty picture indeed with the girls in their varicolored formal dresses and the boys in dress suits. The couples were Joyce Peterson and Dixie Gilker, Daisy Arden and Richard Tweed, Shirley Hudson and Dick Hedstrom, Doreen Bateman and Henry Dixon, Hazel Tweed and Percy Welter, and Margaret Wide and Lloyd Petersen.

As the music died away, attention swung to the parted curtains at the back of the stage from which emerged a lovely Parisienne lady in a billowy blue gown, Vin Elliott, who rised her voice to sing "Encore, Cherie" and then joined with her partner, Jim Hemmons, to perform a graceful semi-ballet ballroom dance.

As the dancers left the stage, waiters Jim Hemmons and Frank McFadden appeared with traysful of soft drinks for the "Cafe patrons."

After all had been served, captivating Iona Hardy appeared in the limelight as feature performer for a gay little number called "Poppy, Don't Preach to Me." Miss Hardy's graceful animated gestures, no less than her lovely voice, served to make this number a standout. Her colorful plumed costume was entirely her own design.

The lights dimmed and attention shifted to a wistful-faced young lady in raincoat and beret leaning against a make-believe lamp post. As the six couples sang the poignant war love song "Lilli Marlene," Elaine Steffens, as Lilli, aroused pathos as she strolled sadly from table to table, examining each face in search of the lover who never came.

With lights gleaming on her scarlet gold sequined gown, petite graceful Anne Whiting performed a solo dance "You're Too Dangerous, Cherie" during the course of which she accepted, then spurned, the attentions of two suitors, Ernie Braman and Frank McFadden.

One of the waiters, Jim Hemmons sang the well loved "The Last Time I Saw Paris," in which he was joined on the second chorus by pretty husky-voiced Carol Brentzen.

Vaughan Tattersall's violin and the romantic song, "In Dreams I Kiss Your Hand, Madame," made music as the gaily dressed young "gypsy" violinist serenaded the couples in the cafe.

Carol Brentzen, in a frothy black gown, portrayed a charming cafe singer "Mimi" as she danced onto stage alone. She was, however, stolen away by Frank McFadden to finish the number in graceful duet dance.

With a crash of music and the rhythm of a tambourine, two gaily dressed gypsies whirled onto stage to tell the fortunes of the young couples. The lady gypsy, lovely Iona Hardy, raised her voice to sing the exciting gyps' ballad, "Golden Earrings," then joined her handsome partner, Ernie Braman, in an expressive gypsy dance.

The haunting melody "Mamselle" formed the basis for the next number, sung first by Percy Welter to his pretty partner, Hazel Tweed, then sung by the couples while Hazel and Percy danced.

A scintillating can-can revue performed by Margaret Symes, Shari Ingalls and Ruth Ketcheson, drew a wave of applause and a demand for an encore. The girls excelled themselves in a delightfully exuberant dance that captured the hearts of the audience.

Waiters Jim Hemmons and Frank McFadden introduced in song the next number, "Darlin', Je Vous Aime Beaucoup," which was sung by Richard Tweed to his lovely partner Daisy Arden. The young couple danced by themselves for the second chorus, and on the third were joined by all the couples on stage in a dazzle of color.

COLORFUL FINALE
Vin Elliott led off in a solo on the finale song, "Au Revoir Again," in which she was joined on the second chorus by the entire cast of both parts of the show. The words of this song were especially arranged for the Y.P.A. show. The curtain went down on a happy show, which sent home a happy audience.

Accompaniments were played by Mrs. Helen Marchildon, Y.P.A. supervisor, on piano, and Vaughan Tattersall on violin, and lighting.

Charlie Graham took and Sally Welter and Gilker dressed in formal to enhance the romantic atmosphere of the show, usherettes.

After the last curtain cast gathered on stage made presentations of beautiful bouquets of spring to the director of the show, Mrs. Helen Marchildon, Miss Marie Boulier in recognition of the assistance rendered the show. A bouquet also sent to Miss Sylvia who put a tremendous amount of work and effort into the large array, the flowers used in the show. W. D. Griffiths and Kelsey assisted with the flowers used in the show and lighting.
