TUDOR PLANE CRASH WORST IN CIVIL AVIATION HISTORY—This Avro Tudor II is the same type as the craft that crashed near Cardiff, Wales, with a loss of 75 lives. The plane, which carried a crew of five, and 78 passengers, had been chartered to carry sports fans from an international rugby match in Belfast, back to Llandough, Wales, across the bay from Cardiff. The plane apparently nose-dived into a field while coming in for a landing. It is believed to be the worst air disaster in history.

Ward "Flying Saucer" Report Corroborated by City Woman

Another city resident added her name to the long list of North Americans reporting the sight of "flying saucers." Hubert Ward, a local marine surveyer first stated he sighted the mysterious object Friday at 5 p.m. and yesterday Mrs. Thor Soilien, 426 Fourth Avenue East corroborated his report.

"At first I thought it was one of those balloons used here during the war," she said. "I thought it came from the air base at Seal Cove, so I didn't look any longer."

She described the thing as long and probably flat. "Its color was black," she added.

According to Mrs. Sollien, the saucer appeared to be moving slowly or hovering in the direction of the C.N.R. railway station. The object was still there, she said, when she moved away from the window. She didn't know the direction of flight.

"After reading about it in the Daily News," she remarked. "I thought what I saw must have been the flying saucer."

STREET CAR CRASH

VANCOUVER — Eight passengers were injured today and 20 shaken up in a street car collision at the corner of Hastings and Seymour in downtown Vancouver. Five were taken to hospital and others were treated at the scene. Injured were thrown from their seats when a westbound No. 14 crashed into another which was awaiting a traffic light. It, in turn, ran into another. Brake failure was blamed for the accident. In hospital are Robert T. Whiessiel, Miss Bea Woodward, Charles Donaldson, Mrs. Martha Harris and Miss Lois Grey.

ARSENAL WINS

LONDON-Arsenal today defeated Chelsea to 0 in overtime to win their way into next month's English Football Association Cup soccer final at Wembley. The game, played before 64,-482 fans at Tottenham Hotspurs Park, was a replay of last Saturday's 2 - all thriller. The winning goal was scored by Right Winger Cox in the fourteenth minute of overtime.

RIGHTS FOR CHINESE

OTTAWA-The federal government today was asked to repeal the present Chinese immigration law and give Chinese the same immigration rights as those enjoyed by Europeans. The request was made in a brief presented to Citizenship Minister Harris by a delegation representing the Committee for the Repeal of the Chinese immigration law. The brief emphasized that no request was made for implementation of a policy of extensive Oriental immigration.

CATHOLIC SCHOOL TAXES

VICTORIA—The provincial government was yesterday asked to free Catholics from paying taxes for public schools while at the same time maintaining their own separate schools. A delegation of Catholic laymen presented the brief to the cabinet, outlawing taxation reforms as "justice demands."

CADOGAN RETIRES

LONDON - Sir Alexander Cadogan, Britain's "perfect diplomat," is retiring from the post as permanent British representative on the United Nations Security Council, the Foreign Office announced yesterday. Sir Alexander, aged 66, will be succeeded by Sir Gladwyn Jebb who, at 50, is the leading Foreign Office expert on the United Nations.

CONFESSES MURDER

TERRE HAUTE, Indiana—A slender, greying barber, who told police he was too little to carry the body of a big man, admitted last night the butcher slaying of a window washer in Terre Haute, Indiana. Detective Clint Seward said 65-year-old Clarence Taylor broke down after 22 hours of questioning and, between sobs, told a grisly tale of how he killed George Willis Baldwin.. HIS THRONE DEPENDS ON PARLIAMENT-Former King Leopold of Belgium is seen strolling with his second wife, the Countess De Rethy (left) and his daughter, Princess Josephine, at Nice, France, where he is vacationing until Belgian Parliament determines whether or not he will return to the throne. Observers declare his marriage to the countess, a commoner, in 1941, and his failure to oppose the Nazis during the war will probably influence the decision. The agricultural north of the little lowland nation, ruled since 1944 by Leopold's brother, Regent Prince Charles, favors return but the industrial south are against it.

Tenuous Politics

SSUES OF CONFIDENCE on which the British Government would have to resign if it were defeated are, in the main, the great matters of Finance, Defence and Foreign policy. It goes without saying that in any major debate on those, the Government of the day could not remain in office after defeat. Likewise there would be certain issues of policy which the Government could not choose but regard as crucial. Which particular issues were so regarded would depend on the importance attached to them.

Churchill's Government was in fact defeated in ago. General traffic is not open the Commons during the war. It was not on a major issue, important though it was to certain parts of the life of the nation. He came back to the Commons promptly and demanded a vote of confidence. He received it, fully. The two Labor Governments in the inter-war years were defeated on occasions without resigning. But it was made clear beforehand that this or that would not be looked upon as an affair of confidence

A government must not be without a majority in the House of Commons. It must not let its prestige suffer. It must be able to demonstrate as offen as a division may be challenged, that it sulphur and molasses there will be no more doubt. commands the support of its Party in the House. Financial reand certainly well beyond the Budget, which is now expected to be brought in after the middle of April.

Debating more equally matched than at any time these many years past certainly makes Parliamentary life more interesting. Ministers still have the advantage, since they have the facts on any subject, drawn from official sources in a way that Opposition leaders can scareely have, save exceptiqually. But a Minister must certainly prepare himself-wery well and see that he is well furnished with fact and argument when he knows that the voting strength on the other side of the House is all but as great as on his own

WORTHWHILE AFFAIR

ORINCE RUP'RT'S annual Music and Drama Festival is opening today and will be in progress for the coming three days. It is an outstanding cultural event featuring healthy competition for recognition of merit in the fields of harmony and histrionic expression. As such, the exposition is worthy of encouragement. With youth in large degree participating, it is all the more gratifying to see the interest that is being taken. To all those who have taken part in the organization of the festival and HOT are engaged in its staging, appreciation is due. Theirs is a good and valuable community effort.

If one thing more might be desired in connection with the Festival it is that there should be more widespread participation from the district as a whole. Possibly the difficulty and expense of transportation may be a handicapping factor. One remedy for that might be the timing of the event in another year at a more auspicious date for making the trip to the city.

ACCREDITED AGAIN

TMUST be a matter of satisfaction for the good name of Prince Rupert's educational facilities that once again the Booth Memorial High School of this city enjoys the standing of an accredited school -that is one whose teaching staff can be trusted with the responsibility of promoting students for University Entrance without the necessity of having to write government examinations. Principal A M. Hurst and his staff are to be congratulated on having established a standard which has resulted in the decision to recognize their standing and fitness to assume the responsibility. Staff and student body alike will, there is no doubt, accept the new status with the realization that, now they are on their own again, it is all the more important that they maintain the standard, now that the check in the way of formal government examination has been removed.

MOTHER FIGHTS BRUSH

WOLVES-A story of attacking

wolves was related by Mrs.

Alfred Stewart, of McKerrow,

Northern Ontario. She and her two daughter, ages 11 and nine, were pulling a small sled

of groceries about five miles from their home when two brush wolves sprang at her.

Using the sled as a shield and a weapon, she kept in between her children and the wolves and managed to drive them

"Is it my imagination, Al, or has that gas we just bought got more zip?"

THE CANADIAN ARMY - "INSURANCE FOR PEACE"

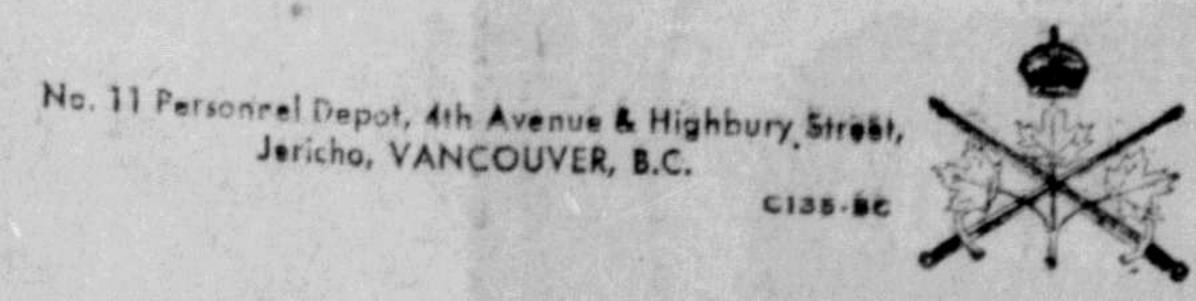

NERVE CENTRE of the Army

Communications are vital to every phase of Army operations. A single message could be the deciding factor of victory or defeat.

The men responsible for this key operation are trained in the use of the most advanced equipment and methods - wireless, telegraphy, electronics, telephone. The opportunities to learn and advance in the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals are boundless. The Corps offers a wide selection of specialist trades: wireless and teletype operation and maintenance; line and cable laying; switchboard installation and operation. All training is carried out with the most advanced equipment and methods.

The new Canadian Army can offer young men truly outstanding career opportunities. For complete details visit your nearest recruiting office. You are eligible if you are 17 or over and can meet Army requirements. Bring with you certificates of age and education.
