Modern Parable

IN THE latest bulletin of the B.C. Chamber of Commerce there appears a tribute to community effort which we think is worth reprinting here. Speaking of the Gavel of the Year awards, the bulletin says:

"The award to a community under 3,000 population went to Bella Coola Board of Trade.

"This board, in an isolated district with only 2,000 inhabitants, has a membership of 109.

"Many activities stand to the credit of Bella Coola Board of Trade, but one of the main reasons for the award was its ingenious solution to provide some form of road outlet.

"This question has vexed citizens in this lovely valley community for many years and was one of the reasons for forming a board of trade. Dissatisfied with years of government inactivity, the board decided to go it alone if necessary. The board explored a completely new road route over 40 miles long through the Coast Range. With donations and loans, 32 miles of road were built from the western extremity of the Chilcotin road towards the coast. But they ran into some expensive rock work which threatened to nullify their efforts.

"Attracted by this example of self-help, the provincial government appropriated $50,000. With this help, the board cut the final four miles through and today a road connection, rough but passable, exists for Bella Coola.

"The entire responsibility of engineering, exploration and maintenance was and is being borne by the board of trade. A road camp was established and maintained for 10 months. As a result of this effort, British Columbia has a third highway outlet to the coast, midway between Vancouver and Prince Rupert, opening up a large area for settlement and development as well as tourist traffic."

To our way of thinking, the building of that road is a sort of parable from which other communities might draw a lesson. If the effort is strong enough and the purpose clear, help usually comes and success always does.

Cheer up! Remember, today is the tomorrow you fussed about yesterday.

Elizabeth and Edinburgh retired early Thursday, feeling tired, sleepy and grateful. They had been dutifully watching games. Heavy rainfalls are often welcome, but this time, rainy weather found them in a sheer delight.

FINDING THAT HAT

"If this government is going to use its powers to decide what is good for business, that is socialism no matter what it may be called," said Hon. George A. Drew, Leader of the Opposition in the course of his nine page speech concerning the address. "Oh, I can hear the suggestion that it is ridiculous to describe the members of this government as socialists. Do they not work hand in hand with big business? They certainly do. Are they not to be found in all the best clubs? They certainly are. This is socialism in a silk hat."

LEARNING TOO LATE

The reality of life, we learn too late, is in the living tissue of it from day to day, not in the expectation of better nor in the fear of worse. Those two things, to be always looking ahead, and to worry over things that haven't yet happened and very likely won't happen—those take the very essence out of life.

McCarthyism

Behind all the fuss and furor of the international controversy over the Harry Dexter White case is a really important issue.

Some responsible Canadians here in Ottawa are afraid that McCarthyism might be taking over the Republican Party.

So far as I can find, nobody around Ottawa ever did really fear that Senator Joe McCarthy might become the next President of the United States. But what some are now discussing is whether the hard-boiled politicians are adopting McCarthy's tactics, as a matter of deliberate choice.

The way these people see it is that McCarthy, the man, is not so terribly important. But McCarthyism as a political technique is of supreme importance to future good relations to the whole western alliance, and to U.S.A. and Canada in particular.

IT IS interesting to examine the parallel what has happened in recent months in Britain.

Aneurin Bevan has won a tremendous following especially among the rank and file members of the Labor Party. He has done so chiefly by taking an increasingly strong anti-American line. Mr. Bevan himself would indignantly deny that his attitude was anti-American. But neither Mr. Bevan nor anyone else in close touch with the facts, could argue that he was not saying what many people wanted said.

"Old Nye is the boy to tell Uncle Sam where he gets off." Such is the common saying among workmen and others with whom Mr. Bevan is most popular.

Again this year the Bevan wing won a sweeping election victory at the annual party conference. But the victory fell as flat as a pancake when the leader of the Labor Party, Mr. Clement Attlee, himself took the position in foreign affairs which was almost 100 percent Bevanite.

In other words, the right wingers in the British Labor Party avoided a showdown with the left wingers led by Mr. Bevan by the simple expedient of adopting the entire left wing program in foreign affairs. Attlee stole Nye's thunder.

IT COULD be that the political professionals who induced General Eisenhower to run for the presidency, and who now surround him, have decided to do in the U.S.A. exactly what Attlee did in Britain.

Just as Attlee was threatened by Bevan so the official leadership of the Republican party, was threatened by the turbulent Joe McCarthy. But just as Mr. Attlee cut the ground from under the feet of Nye Bevan, so it could be, that hardboiled machine politicians like Mr. Brownell have decided to do likewise on this side of the water. McCarthyism like Bevanism is a demonstrated big vote getter.

THE SPONTANEOUS and indignant reaction in Canada to the recent McCarthyism of the Brownell wing of the Republican party has served as a warning from Canada to the U.S.A.

The overwhelming majority of the people of Canada will resist any attempt to let McCarthyism spill over into Canada; and attacks on Canadian public men by sensational smear-and-fear mongers in the Congress of the U.S.A. could have really serious effects on the long standing friendship between the two countries.

MAINTAINING THE MONOPOLY
By Arch Dale in the Winnipeg Free Press

OTTAWA DIARY

By Norman M. MacLeod

The possibilities of television in an economic sense have been suggested spectacularly in the Northern Ontario city of Sudbury, where the nation's first concrete experiment in commercial telecasting has been in progress now for a fortnight.

During that fortnight some 2,000 TV receiving sets have been sold within the Sudbury telecasting area. Their aggregate value reached in excess of $1,000,000.

Under the law as it now stands, the CBC receives the proceeds of a 15% tax on the value of every TV receiving set sold at retail. Hence in the past fortnight from Sudbury alone CBC revenues have been in the neighborhood of $150,000.

When it is realized that the Sudbury example is scheduled to be repeated in approximately a dozen other Canadian centres over the months ahead as new private TV stations go on the air, the magnitude of the business stimulus can be appreciated. What the motor car and the radio were to past business, television now is becoming to the present era.

The TV shot-in-the-arm for local business is on its way to cities stretching all the way from Sydney and Saint John on the Atlantic Coast to Edmonton in Western Canada. The new station in London, Ontario, goes officially on the air tomorrow. The new Hamilton station will be in operation as rapidly as construction can be completed and equipment assembled. The same factors will govern the opening of the Kingston, Kitchener, Regina, and Saskatoon stations.

The CBC management and technical staff spent an entire day during the past week in conference with the licensees of the new private TV stations. Technical problems as well as important questions of policy were discussed.

The meeting was behind closed doors. But when the parties to it emerged for a press conference afterwards, the prevailing atmosphere of solid satisfaction all-round was apparent. The commercial licensees told the newspapermen privately that the CBC attitude had been one of complete co-operation. One of them even commented: "If private radio had got off to the same start with the CBC that private TV did today, there wouldn't be the friction that exists today between the private operators and the government system."

One difference which may do much to account for the present CBC attitude is the fact that the government system is financially interested in the success of private TV. It gets that 15% cut on the price of all the TV sets that are sold in the areas where private telecasting stations are set up.

CHRIST STILL LIFE'S STORMS

By REV. R. W. STARRETT, Pastor of The Pentecostal Church

"Then He arose and rebuked the winds and there was a great calm."—Matthew 8:26

We are all voyagers on the sea of life, and we shall not get across, any of us, without storms. Some of us may have very much less of these than others. Some sailors get easy winds and sunny days, and prosperous voyages, and happy escapes. Others are always unfortunate, as they say. They are becalmed, or overladen, or badly manned, or ill-plotted. Almost every voyage is a mishap; and they tumble and scramble through their life, beggared and shipwrecked at every turn. But the weather of this voyage or its chance is a secondary question. Let the first question be, is Christ with us in the ship? It matters little how calm and smiling the sea at the outset if He be not with us. Most of us, in youth, flatter ourselves that the voyage will be easy and prosperous. But the treacherous waters may soon tell another tale. Yet if He be with you, and in you, it matters little how the waters rage.

In a sermon, "The Divine Benediction," occurs the following: "One beautiful morning when the train stopped at Falls View to give the passengers a glimpse of the Falls of Niagara, I helped out an old lady who was taking the first railroad trip in the 83 years of her life. She was coming West to die in the home of her son, who lived in Illinois. He was the only child left of the eight she had reared to manhood and womanhood. The passengers, as is their custom, fell into clusters on the train. I watched her as she waited to see what power of interpretation she could get out of the venerable grandmother and mother of seven children. She stood silent and motionless. At last the bell rang and she turned the side of her face to me. There were traces of tears in her eyes, 'Mister, there is a great deal of trouble there is'; and that was all there is a great deal of trouble waters' at Niagara, but down, the water, was troubling; and even the waters of Niagara find peace last in the bosom of the ocean.

Friend, if you find the rough of this life rough and troubling, always remember that you will find peace in the home of the Lord Jesus Christ. He will put your trust in Him, let Him come into your life.

Again this year, the Kinsmen will be offering for sale the handy Party Pack containing, in separate containers, almonds cashews and peanuts.

Harold Newman, chairman of the committee in charge of the campaign, said today plans are rapidly being finalized for the drive. This year the city has been divided into sections with teams of Kinsmen being assigned to cover each section.

Starting December 7, these teams will try to contact each house in their section. Houses not called upon on opening day will be visited during the rest of the week.

Money raised by the drive will be used for the numerous projects supported by the Kinsmen Club.

Notable among these is the annual Kinsmen Christmas Party held at Miller Bay Hospital. This year the party for the kiddies in the hospital will be held on Sunday, December 20.

Members of the Kinsmen Club with "Santa Claus" will visit the hospital taking gifts and treats to the shut-in children. After the distribution of gifts, club members will visit the children.

The Kinsmen Kiddies' Christmas Party for all of the children in town has been discontinued. Money usually used for this party will be set aside for a more worthy project to assist children.

FREIGHTER EXPECTED

The Greek freighter Andreas sailed earlier this week after taking on 9,400 tons of wheat at the Prince Rupert grain elevator. Expected tomorrow from the United States to take on grain is the Peruvian vessel Mapo.

MADE WITH THE NEW Avco-set rayon fabric, this smart tweed classic now can be popped into the family washing machine and be ready for wear again in a matter of hours. It was designed by Dorothy Hubbs.

By DICK AYRES

Word on the grapevine is that tonight's cage fest between Senior B league-leading Manson's Omegas and the cellar-dwelling Gordon and Anderson's will be a sight to behold. The Jewellers have won as many as the Hardwaremen have lost and the magic number is "4." There are those who nurture the thought that G & A will look like a new squad tonight, determined to make the above by-lined sports editor eat his words of Tuesday past. There are some folk who believe that Manson's are too good and that there's no one in the immediate district who can take them. Others feel that no such soul-searching as we mentioned was necessary and that G & A just hadn't found their range in the still young season. And there are a few people, including us, who figure that the Hardware boys, looked at each other, spoke freely of this and that and then said, "Okay you guys, no-one can make monkeys out of us, least of all ourselves. Let's go get 'em." So take your pick basketball fans. It should be a good game.

In other hoop fixtures tonight, second-place General Motors meet last-spot Nelson Brothers in the Inter-B loop and Watts & Nickerson's, with a no-win-three-loss record, seek their first victory when they tangle with second-place Fraser & Payne in the Inter-A circuit.

A weird play occurred in the Hamilton Ti-Cats-Montreal Alouettes game last week-end when the Als' last desperate offensive stalled and they were forced to kick. Ray Truants of the Tiger Cats gathered the ball and was downed on the Montreal 38. On the next play Bernie Custis headed full tilt for the Montreal goal line. Suddenly, John O'Quinn, red-headed Montreal end who had just left the game, and couldn't stand the sight of this goal-bound Hamiltonian, leaped from the bench without his helmet, sprinted over the sideline and nailed Custis. After the resulting bedlam, referee Hap Shouldice penalized Montreal half the distance to their goal line. Shouldice decided that an eligible Montreal player might have caught Custis before he got over the line so instead of awarding a touchdown he placed the ball three yards out. On the second down Lou Kasserow plowed over and Hamilton was in the Grey Cup final.

Speaking of grid football, Coach Mance Park of Huntsville, Texas high school, thinks a boy can kick a football farther and more accurately without shoes. He has a bare-toed booter de-luxe this season. Huntsville High has won nine games without a loss, and has averaged 50 points a game. Shoeless Ken Coleman has kicked 44 extra points in 48 attempts. Recently he made school-boy history when he booted 12 extra points in 12 tries. Sounds alright but it would be a little nippy on the feet on a day like today in Toronto.

POST SCRIPTS—Chuck Place and Billy Tsuchiya, local light-weights, go into action Saturday, December 12, in a boxing card at Terrace. Joe Ward, the boys' trainer, has finally received word from Terrace but still has yet to learn the names of the opponents lined up for the Prince Rupert scrappers. Also slated to mingle in an exhibition bout on the same card are B.C. light-heavyweight champ Andy Marshall and heavyweight title-holder Mouse Morrison. Jerry Lord at Nelson Bros. Fisheries is the lad to phone if anyone is interested in entering a team or joining with others to make up a 12th team in the Friday night Mixed Celco Five-pin bowling league. Times to phone is between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. News that Rogers Hornsby has landed on his feet again and will supervise an extended series of baseball instructional films for a national U.S. showing is a most welcome item. It is highly probable that the former batting wizard knows as much about the finer points as any man living. A release from Gonzaga University sings the praises of a lad with a 82-inch armspread named Jerry Vermillion, who currently paces Gonzaga's basketball Bulldogs as the Zags swing into their fourth week of practice. Last year, Vermillion, who is an All-American candidate, averaged 15.7 rebounds per game and hit his peak against Portland University with a 31-point night. UCLA meets Michigan State in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day. Michigan gained its berth in the annual classic by a committee room decision. UCLA clinched its bid last weekend by defeating Southern Cal 13-0 for their sixth victory against one loss.

Hunters Help Cow Moose In Distress

Special to The Daily News

SMITHERS—Two local hunters found their moose literally tied to a tree but were doomed to disappointment when it turned out to be without horns. Driving out the Cronin road toward the Babine mountains a cow moose was seen at the side of the road with her left leg entangled in a downed bush telephone line. In its struggle the big beast had fallen over windfalls and was lying down.

Eddie Malkow risked unwinding the wire while his companion, Bill Martin, covered the moose with his rifle. After being released the animal remained down for several minutes before rising to move off slowly into the forest.

Luck was all against the hunters that day, for just prior to spotting the cow moose they missed a shot at a young bull that crossed their path.

Frosty's Come From Behind To Dump Rainbirds in Girls Cage Thriller

An improved Frosty's Locker crew shook off the chills last night and by means of determined third and final quarter bids downed Bo-Me-Hi Rainbirds 23-17 in a scheduled girls' league basketball game at the Civic Centre.

The win moved Frosty's up into second slot with a one win-one loss record and dumped the Rainbirds into the cellar with their second loss of the early season.

Rainbirds with two full squads from which to draw took the first quarter easily 7-4 and ended the half with a 11-6 lead. Sparked by Dot Marshall with 10 points and Nina Youngman with 8, Frosty's staged their comeback. They took the third stanza 9-7 and with close checking boosted their lead with an 8-3 last quarter. Top point-getters for the losers were Myrna Knutsen with 10 and Sue Martin with 7. The latter scored 4 of the 6 free shot points garnered by Rainbirds out of 17 chances. Frosty's only sank one free shot in 11 tries. Frosty's committed 17 fouls, with Nina Youngman fouling out, and Rainbirds were penalized seven times.

In the second junior league fixture Sea Cadets moved into a first place tie with Sports Shop when they defeated NBC Power 34-24. The NBC squad now shares the basement with Bulgars with two losses and no wins. Ormes who defeated Annunciation School 26-15 in the opener are tied with the school-boys for second place with one win and one loss each.

For Sea Cadets, Newfield was top scorer with 8 points as the Sailors lost the first quarter 3-6, took the second 10-1, the third 10-5 and were edged 11-12 in the last canto. Stewart with 11 points led the powerhouse gang.

Ormes waited until the final quarter to put on the heat, losing the opening session 3-8, taking the second 6-0, tying the third 4-6 and finishing up in a blaze of glory, 13-3. Leeman with 6 points was top marksman for the Druggists and Letourneau netted 6 points to lead Annunciation.

Referees for the night were Nickerson, Dean, W. Morrison, R. Ciesone and Smith.

The victim, Fred Daniels, 25, suffered slight injuries to the shoulder and right ear.

Police charged that Robinson, armed with a double-barrelled shotgun, crouched in hiding outside his home for more than three hours Tuesday night,

Police said Ronald Robinson, a witness, talked Robinson into surrendering his weapon.

Courts To Rule in New Year on Shaw Bequest For Study of 40-Symbol Alphabet

By DEREK JAMESON
LONDON (Reuters)—The courts will decide early next year whether George Bernard Shaw's bequest for the study of a 40-symbol alphabet is a practical proposition or just the Irish dramatist's last fling against convention.

The government public trustee, who is administering the playwright's complicated will, has asked the court how he should spend the money.

Shaw died three years ago at the age of 94 and left £367,233 ($1,030,000). Death duties ate up about half the estate.

After bequests to servants and relatives, it is unlikely that more than $100,000 will be left for studying the possibility of introducing Shaw's lifelong ambition—an English phonetic alphabet.

For propaganda purposes, Shaw also ordered that his play Androcles and the Lion should be translated into his alphabet by a phonetics expert and distributed to libraries. The money was to have come out of his estate.

ASKS RULING

Faced with the problems of executing Shaw's difficult—and expensive—plans, public trustee F. Wyndham Hirst will ask the high court to rule whether the beneficiaries next in line should get the money.

They are the British Museum, where Shaw studied at the start of his career, the National Gallery of Ireland and the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art.

Few people have the remotest idea of what Shaw's alphabet looks like, though he claimed it would save a writer two months in every year.

Generally speaking, it is based on the existing 26 letters with additions of shorthand symbols to mark phonetic sounds which normally require a combination of letters.

Under his system all words would be spelled exactly as they sound.

Shaw's will has been severely criticized in Britain. Lady Astor, a lifelong friend of Shaw, called it ridiculous.

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Champion's Foot Bigger Than Heinsite's Mouth

If you have a Mr. Heinsite in your bridge crowd—and you probably do—you will know he never gets a bad result. According to him, that is. If he goes set 300 points, he promptly says his opponents had a game. If he goes set 800 points, then of course his opponents could have made a slam.

If he gets into a two spade contract and barely makes it, he remarks, "What a result, partner. They could have made three or four hearts. I had nothing. All I had was the king of clubs and five spades."

The "five spades" he refers to in such an off-hand manner are likely to be A K Q J 9. His comment in this case is intended to show what a brave bidder he is. A small child probably would have won the same number of tricks on the hand.

He doesn't get away with this kind of thing when Mr. Champion is in the game. In today's deal Mr. Dale had a tough decision on his second turn to bid. He could raise spades or double for penalties. He finally chose the latter course because the two heart bidder was Miss Brash and she might have been in there on considerably less than she had.

The king of clubs was led and Mr. Champion played the queen.

a convention play asking for an underlead of the ace of clubs at trick two. Mr. Dale co-operated and Mr. Champion won with the jack.

He returned a heart. Miss Brash won with the ace, still hoping to ruff a spade on the board, laid down the ace, then the ten of spades. Mr. Champion won the second spade and fired another heart. On this defense Miss Brash was able to win only five hearts and the ace of spades. She was down two, 500 points.

"It's all right partner," said Mr. Heinsite. "They can make four spades. All we get is two hearts and a spade."

Mr. Champion sneered. "In making that analysis," he said, "you are of course counting on making a stupid defensive error."

Pressed for an explanation, Mr. Champion pointed out if Miss Brash cashed two hearts, then led a third heart, Mr. Heinsite could ruff with the seven of spades. Mr. Champion would have to over-ruff with the jack and then Miss Brash would be bound to win two spade tricks later in the hand.
