APPEARS TO BE a smooth stretch of terrain in Indo-China is actually tough going for the French since the parched sands provide no support for mechanized equipment. The French named the area "Road Without Joy," in what might well be termed a "Desert Without Joy."

Passenger Helicopter Service May Operate In Northern B.C.

New Type Planes Being Tested in U.K.

BURNS LAKE—Prospect of a passenger helicopter service for northern B.C. as soon as equipment is perfected and available was seen by Grant McConachie, CPA president, in an address Thursday to the Central B.C. Board of Trade convention here.

"This type of country and the routes that need to be served lend themselves ideally to helicopter service," Mr. McConachie said. "Regular bus service by helicopter is a thing of the near future. Experiments are nearing completion in England on a helicopter designed to carry 40 passengers. An aircraft of this sort could be put to valuable use in a country where airports are not always feasible."

Outlining CPA plans, Mr. McConachie said a non-stop service will be introduced soon between Vancouver and Terrace. The flight will take two hours. Smithers also will be served. In addition, Convoys will be put into operation between Terrace and Edmonton on four-hour flights. A direct service between Prince George and Vancouver will also be introduced, with flights taking an hour and 40 minutes.

Park Resolution Defeated

A resolution asking for clearance by bulldozer of Tweedsmuir Park area to be affected by Alcan flooding was voted down. Introduced by Walter Wilson of Burns Lake, the resolution claimed that the economic and aesthetic value of the park's 3,500,000 acres will be destroyed if action is not taken to smash down or uproot trees around the perimeter of the reservoir to be created.

Mr. Wilson asserted that bulldozer clearance is being carried out at Prince George at $4 an acre and urged that the B.C. government be asked to take immediate action. Emphasizing that he was speaking in a personal capacity since his company was not involved in the proposed clearance, George Vincent of Alcan declared the job would be equivalent to clearing the shores of Vancouver Island.

Rupert Ideas Endorsed

Prince Rupert resolutions calling for promotion of the port as distributing point for incoming deep-sea cargo, establishment of additional campsites in northern and central B.C. and a highway link between Jasper and Prince George were passed.

Another Prince Rupert resolution that was carried asked that a survey be made by interested groups in B.C. and Alaska to determine means of promoting agricultural shipments from central B.C. to southeastern Alaska.

Also carried was a resolution submitted by the Terrace and Smithers Boards of Trade asking that the B.C. government confer with Alcan on the subject of immediate construction of a highway between Terrace and Kitimat.

The resolution was carried. It was pointed out that Alcan has already expressed willingness to co-operate in construction of this road which one delegate described as a key factor in the growth of the area.

Adenauer Defends Dulles' Right to Comment on Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States officials crossed their fingers today in concern over the effect State Secretary Dulles' outspoken endorsement of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer may have on German elections on Sunday.

The United States traditionally has kept its hands off elections in foreign lands to avoid any appearance of outside interference. But at his press conference on Thursday, Dulles threw that tradition out the window in Adenauer's case.

Failure to retain the Adenauer coalition, he said, would have a disastrous effect on the possibility of German unity and the prospects of restored sovereignty of all Germany.

Whatshan Tragedy To be Probed

VICTORIA — (CP) — Premier Bennett announced today Mr. Justice Clynne has been appointed a one-man royal commission to investigate rock slides that knocked out the Whatshan power project on August 11.

Mr. Justice Clynne will report his findings "with utmost despatch" to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council. The B.C. Supreme Court justice has the authority to call in any outside help he wishes and he is to probe circumstances of slides that knocked out the $6,000,000 project.

An order-in-council passed Thursday and released to the press today by the premier said Mr. Justice Clynne will ascertain whether negligence or faulty judgment of any person or persons in any way contributed to the disaster.

Group Asks Speedy Trial Before Fulton

The trial of five persons charged with being members of an unlawful assembly here August 2, was set for 11 a.m. Thursday, September 10 after they entered pleas of not guilty and elected speedy trial in County Court yesterday.

Appearing before Judge W. O. Fulton were Earl Batt, George Flewin, Clayton Jarvis, John McKenzie, and Arnold Jonassen. Bail of $500 for each was allowed.

Representing the Crown was T. W. Brown, Q.C. Defence Counsel for Batt, Flewin, Jonassen, and Jarvis was Mrs. Willa Ray. Doug Hogarth represented McKenzie.

The accused were given choice of speedy trial by County Court judge or trial by jury at the coming Assizes.

The charges arose out of downtown disturbances Saturday night August 1 when a crowd of approximately 450 persons later gathered on Fulton Street outside the city hall early on the morning of August 2. Stones were thrown through city hall windows and the crowd was dispersed when the RCMP used tear gas.

Twelve persons were subsequently charged with being members of an unlawful assembly. Two teen-age girls from Nanaimo and a native youth pleaded guilty to the charge in magistrate's court and were given a year's suspended sentence.

At the preliminary hearing which followed to establish if there was sufficient evidence to commit for trial, three men had charges against them dismissed and six were committed for trial after the hearing. One of them, a native woman, unable to raise bail, appeared before Judge Fulton 10 days ago and was given a year's suspended sentence and bound over to keep the peace.

Abercrombie Trial Set For Tuesday

Clifford Abercrombie of Port Edward pleaded not guilty and elected for speedy trial yesterday afternoon when he appeared in County Court before Judge W. O. Fulton charged with having in his possession goods known to have been stolen.

The charge arose after five cases of salmon, property of Nelson Brothers Fisheries Ltd., had been stolen and recovered.

Judge Fulton set trial date for 11 a.m. September 8.

W. N. Poole, representing the Crown, endeavored to have another charge added to the indictment but argument by defence counsel Mrs. Willa Ray, saw Judge Fulton rule that if such a move by the Crown is found to be in order, Mr. Poole will have the opportunity to add a second charge when the receiving charge is read at the trial. Bail of $500 was allowed.

School Days Here Again

SCHOOL zone signs are up again. Next Tuesday thousands of girls and boys throughout the province will be starting back to school.

Hundreds of six-year-olds will be going to classes for the first time. When school is in, the motorists 'school zone holiday' is over.

Wherever there is a crosswalk, the motorist should slow down. Even if there is no 15 mile-per-hour speed limit, take extreme care.

Many Grade 1 youngsters aren't used to busy streets and extra caution is needed to safeguard their lives. They are our future citizens. Give them a break, watch for them, go slowly, when in doubt, STOP.

But, it isn't only the young pedestrians of the schools that provide a hazard to the motorist. The boys and girls on bicycles can get into accidents just as quickly.

Often the motorist doesn't give these youngsters enough consideration. They aren't experienced in traffic and their judgment is not as quick as the motorists. So let's also show them courtesy. Don't crowd cyclists—give them a safe chance.

Young people learn by example. It's up to the grown-ups to set them an example of safe and considerate driving.

Support the Army

EVERY year at this time the public throughout Canada are asked to help one of the world's greatest welfare organizations — The Salvation Army.

On Tuesday, the appeal will be launched in this city. It deserves the consideration of everyone.

We feel it is everyone's duty to contribute something towards the service for which the Red Shield stands.

The work of the Salvation Army in Prince Rupert ranks tops. Give them the support they deserve.

Common fallacies of household management and budgeting:

1. The Bargain Fallacy. Nearly all Canadian wives believe that you can save money by purchasing something you don't need at a bargain price. It doesn't matter a darn what Canadian husbands say. No force on earth will prevent Canadian wives from snapping up a set of chrome-plated finger bowls which is selling at $19.98, today only, or a table-sized horseradish dispenser which is going at $14.99 plus tax because it is shop soiled.

There is only one way to recoup your losses on this type of deal. Scour the neighborhood for someone who actually wants a horseradish dispenser, and trade it to him for an article you can use. Your chances are slim, however.

2. The Hobby Fallacy. Thousands of Canadian husbands delude themselves with the idea that hobbies can be made to pay.

One example of this fallacy is the sport fisherman who thinks he can save money from the meat bill. When he has paid for lost tackle, broken rods and doctors' bills for poison-ivy rash, each fish has cost him $101.05, not counting what he paid the storekeeper for it on his way home.

A tragic case of the Hobby Fallacy was that of the wood-working enthusiast whose home-made table collapsed, shattering a priceless vase. Nothing daunted, the man spent so much time in his workshop that his wife sued him for divorce. He is now several thousand dollars poorer. Don't fall into this trap, men.

3. The Little Tin Box Fallacy. Some women have the idea that if you put the milk money in one little tin box, the bread money in another, the rent money in a third and entertainment allowance in a fourth, you can't go wrong.

A friend of mine files into rages because his wife is guilty of the Little Tin Box Fallacy. He says it shows the illogicality of the female mind, to treat the money in the little tin boxes as though it was different in quality—a different KIND of money—rent in pounds, shillings and pence, entertainment in pence, bread in rubles and milk in dinars.

The fact is that the money in the little tin boxes is all the same kind of money, and it has a way of disappearing from one box into another, until all the little tin boxes are full of IOUs. You can accomplish the same result by keeping all the money in one box and making entries in an account book. The Little Tin Box Fallacy is, in fact, only a variation of . . .

4. The Budget Fallacy. Any one but a born fool knows it is impossible to keep a budget these days, whatever you do. That's why I need a raise, boss.

OTTAWA DIARY

By NORMAN M. McLEOD

One thing about the demon statisticians who keep turning out their constant deluge of figures on every conceivable subject down in the Dominion Bureau of Statistics is the fact that they're not weak sentimentalists, but stern realists.

By way of demonstrating it they've recently been doing a job of debunking on those frequently lamented "good old days."

It seems that they weren't by any means as good as present times—at least if material standards are used as a yardstick.

For a decade ago every man, woman and child in Canada was able to spend on an average over the year just $289.03. In contrast to this figure, the comparable current average annual expenditure of your individual Canadian is $760.91. That's a whopping increase of 154.45 percent which makes the so-called "good old days" look pretty much like an austerly period.

Of course, the Federal statisticians don't claim that the two figures are strictly or even approximately comparable. They recognize that prices have advanced sharply during the decade—that a dollar doesn't buy anything like as much as it did ten years ago.

But even allowing for that factor there's been a big gain. And the statisticians are prepared to prove that, too.

Actually, today's dollar, in comparison with the dollar of 10 years ago, is worth just a little over 62 cents. That's on the basis of comparable living costs as measured by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics' cost-of-living index.

Thus, a spending power of $760 today is equivalent to a spending power of $471 ten years ago. Hence the gain in spending power over the 10-year period for the average Canadian—man, woman, and child—is really the excess of $471 over $289. That is $172, or a little better than 57 percent. That's still a substantial increase to achieve in a ten-year period.

But the figures of the Federal statisticians go further. They show conclusively that, on a purchasing power basis, Ontario and British Columbia residents enjoy a higher standard of living than falls to the lot of their fellow-Canadians. With just 33 percent of the nation's population, Ontarians account for 39 percent of all purchases, British Columbians, who with eight percent of the population account for 10 percent or all purchases, do relatively as well. Newfoundlanders are at the opposite end of the scale: with three percent of the population their share in the gross buying of the nation is only one and one-half percent.

Boyhood Friend Of Will Rogers Erects Monument

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—A 72-year-old boyhood friend of the late Will Rogers, after hiking 300 miles, has erected a monument at the spot where the famed humorist died in a plane crash beside the Arctic Ocean in 1935.

The sturdy oldtimer is Jesse Stubbs, who set out from Anchorage on his mission last winter. He hiked with his dog along the highway to Fairbanks, vowing he would make the trek all the way to Point Barrow.

Friends talked him out of it. They provided an airplane ride to the Arctic.

An airline crew was amazed to find this week that Stubbs had completed a spired concrete memorial at the spot where Rogers and Wiley Post, his famed pilot, crashed to their deaths. It commemorates the Second World War dead in honor of Rogers.

The 72-year-old Alaskan hauled his construction materials over mushy snow and tundra to the site 12 miles from Point Barrow, northern-most tip of North America.

Survey Shows Only Small Number Of Businessmen Want to Retire

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Those future retirement days may not just be fishing and fun. In fact, you may even have to be taught how to relax and enjoy all that leisure time.

The experts say the wealthier you are the less receptive you'll be to taking things easy. They've got figures to prove that all those plans of travelling, visiting with the grandchildren and just plain enjoying life don't pan out.

They came up with some startling facts at the convention of the Gerontological Society, attended by medical and social scientists studying diseases and problems of the ever increasing numbers of elders.

DON'T WANT TO RETIRE

About 75 per cent of business executives don't want to retire, said Harold R. Hall, a Wellesley Hill, Mass., business consultant, at a recent convention.

Hall, a former Harvard professor, learned in interviews with some 500 top-drawer executives that it isn't money but work that keeps the successful man happy.

He explained the tycoons did not want to leave their associates, give up the prestige and power of their positions, and—most of all—be benched from the "team" with which they worked for so many years.

He and other speakers suggested that companies prepare their personnel for retirement by setting up conditioning programs showing them how to spend their leisure time.

Retirement to many wealthy people, Hall said, is distasteful and they procrastinate in planning for it. They think: "The company won't do this time." It does.

In another report, Drs. J. H. Bunzel and Louis Gare of the New York City mayor's advisory committee for the aged declared that many people can't enjoy their retirement income because they compare it to previous earnings.

Their findings showed that those enjoying their retired, full-time leisure were in lower income brackets. The studies came from a one per cent sample of 25,000 pensioned New York City teachers and city employees.

TOO MUCH THINKING

The New York report also found that "increased income may release time and energy to turn the attention of the retiree to other and perhaps more distressing problems."

Both Bunzel and Louis Kunland stressed that unhappy old people are powerful enough in numbers to upset a stable society.

"And the radical forces in society stem from instability," Bunzel said.

Kunland, California's old age division chief, used stronger words in warning that malcontent, frustrated seniors can make themselves "quite effective at the polls."

"A group made up of such disgruntled oldsters will take what it wants for itself without any consideration for the needs of children, health programs, schools," he said.

Mechanical Pipes 'Sound as Good' As Real Thing

LONDON (Reuters)—Englishmen have heaped the final indignity on Scotland's bagpipers by inventing bagpipes which play all by themselves.

This contraption, which works on electricity and plugs in just like a washing machine, will give daily recitals at Britain's annual radio and television exhibit, which opened Wednesday.

Weighing about 50 pounds, it skirls out pibrochs with the aplomb of a kilted Highlander.

Woe, woe, Caledonia. Not only does this strange beastie work, but on the admission of Scottish visitors to the show, it sounds as good, and possibly better, than some human pipers.

A Scottish visitor to the exhibit listened to the wail and drone and commented: "Man, they just can't do this to us. Imagine if they make their Black Watch regimental pipers march about with this thing strapped on their backs, looking for a place to plug themselves in."

The false bagpipes, which have two loudspeakers, are so simple that even a tone-deaf infant could work them. The tunes are played, as in an automatic player piano, by a perforated tape. All the scale is there, the bagpipes' qualities, and even the characteristic drone of the real instrument.

Invented by technicians of a leading electrical firm, the machine reels off pipe tunes in breathless succession—"Bonnie Dundee," "The Barren Rocks of Aden," "Highland Laddie," and many more.

Shark To Museum

HALIFAX (CP)—The head and tail of the monster basking shark which Ray and Stan Purdy harpooned off Devil's Island will be sent to a museum at Ste. Therese, Que., at the museum's request. The rest of the carcass, which was viewed by about 15,000 persons here, has been destroyed.

Ray REFLECTS and REMINISCES

A waiter in Chicago is reported to have been placed under arrest for speeding. Somehow this does not appear to have ever been possible.

A professor says the average man has no head for figures. But their eyes have.

A man's body is extremely sensitive. Pat him on the back and his head swells. — Guelph Mercury.

Townships will spend $8,500 on a garage according to comment from the office of the London Free Press. Of course you could remember when it was quite possible to build a residence with four good sized bedrooms for that figure. Nor is that all. Usually there would be enough cash left over for a car.

TRY IT SOME TIME

We are hearing a lot about holidays and the absolute necessity of taking one at least annually. Also, plenty of folks have grown to maturity without ever having left the province in which they were born. Well, if you see all there is in only one of the ten, we'd call that a rattling good vacation.

The new House of Commons will include three women from Ontario. Two are Conservative. This can be called a start but darned little else.

What would you say if I told you John Diefenbaker would be the next prime minister of Canada, says Tempus in the Financial Times. The way I get this is from my wife's friend Lillian. Lillian is a Liberal and is well satisfied with the result. The Liberals will be politically senile.

Woman Dies Calmly In Electric Chair

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (CP)—Mrs. Earl Dennison, 55, died calmly in the electric chair early today with a plea for forgiveness for the poisoning of her infant niece.

Mrs. Dennison was executed after Governor Gordon Persons rejected a last-minute plea for mercy. She was sentenced to death for the arsenic poisoning of blonde, curly-haired Shirley Diann Weldon.

The child died in convulsions on May 1, 1952, in the same hospital where her aunt worked as chief operating room nurse.

Mrs. Dennison related in a confession how she left the bedside of the dying niece and paid an overdue premium on a $500 insurance policy on the child's life.

Doctor Saw Prisoners Die 'For No Apparent Reason'

FREEDOM VILLAGE (AP) — "I saw many men die for no apparent reason," the doctor said.

"They had premonitions they would die."

"A fellow would tell his friends, 'don't bother to wake me in the morning. I am going to die.'"

"I examined them. I could find nothing organically wrong. Yet the next morning they would be dead."

These were the men who lost hope in the Communist prison camps in the terrible winter of 1950 and in the first half of 1951. They thought they had nothing to live for.

Capt. Sydney Eesensten of Minneapolis, Minn., an army doctor who was released today after 33 months in Red prison camps, described his efforts to save them.

Sometimes, Eesensten said, Communist doctors did their best to save the lives of dying prisoners. But often they were more interested in teaching Communism.

Eesensten said many of the Americans who died in Camp 5, Pyokton, suffered from malnutrition but did not die of starvation.

"There was one boy about 19," Eesensten recalled. "I could not get anywhere with him. I told him I couldn't find anything wrong with him. He should try in his mind to get well."

"He said, 'Doc, there is nothing you can do to make me live.' I went across the room to another patient. Two minutes later I happened to look back. The boy was dead."

Eesensten was captured Nov. 27, 1950, while serving with the U.S. 25th Division.

He said he and the other American doctors attempted to keep a record of the Americans who died in prison camp, but the Communists made them stop.

THESE UNITED PRESS PHOTOS comprise a study of Brooklyn Dodgers manager Charlie Dressen as he stands in the third-base coaching box signaling and yelling instructions to his team, which is currently leading the race for the National League pennant. Dressen looks over the situation (upper left) with apparent calm, but his crossed arms might be a signal for Dodger doings designed to cross up the opposition. Now Dressen adjusts his uniform (upper right), then rubs his leg (lower left), but these, too, may be coaching signals, you never can tell. Finally, Manager Dressen shouts a verbal command (lower right) to keep his Dodgers on the ball.

Braves Ask League's Aid To Reduce Dodger Lead

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Milwaukee Braves, still cherishing pennant ambitions, hustled home today and sent out a 'help wanted' plea to the rest of the National League.

The Braves need lots of help to threaten front-running Brooklyn. With 21 games to play they trail by nine. Even 21 consecutive victories wouldn't guarantee the flag unless the Dodgers were beaten at least 10 more times.

Success sounds impossible. But then a year ago anybody predicting that Milwaukee would be a contender for the 1953 pennant in either major league would have been hurried off to the nearest doctor.

Milwaukee has 15 home games left, starting tonight against St. Louis Cardinals, and six road games. The Braves have played slightly better ball on the road than at home. They've won 44 and lost 27 out of town and have a 38-24 record in Milwaukee.

Brooklyn, a sensational home club this year, has only six more games at Ebbets Field and 15 on the road. The Dodgers have won 55 and lost only 16 games in Brooklyn. Away from home they've won 36 and lost 26.

UPPER HAND
The Braves gained one distinction over the Dodgers Thursday. They beat them 6-1 and ended their visits to Brooklyn with a 6-5 record, the only team in the league to gain the upper hand over the Dodgers at Ebbets Field.

Eddie Mathews broke a 1-1 tie with his 44th home run in the eighth. It came with two aboard. In the same inning Jim Pendleton belted an inside-the-park blast that scored two more. Lew Burdette won his 14th against three losses, best record in the league.

In other games Philadelphia Rattler Colony GRASSY LAKE, Alta. — (CP) — Four youths found a colony of rattlesnakes on a river bank near this southern Alberta town. In less than an hour they killed 17, several of which were four feet long.

Spokes Edge Broncs in 12

By The Canadian Press

The Spokane Indians hold a two-game edge in the showdown with Lewiston for the Western International League second-half championship but no one is conceding them the pennant.

Thursday night the Indians and Broncs struggled 12 innings before Spokane pulled out with a 9-6 decision. The Broncs, who shot up from nowhere two weeks ago to become a pennant contender have three more chances to stage another comeback.

The series will continue Friday night. Saturday and Sunday the winner will meet Salem, the first half champion in the post season playoff.

A crowd of 2,663 fans, believed the largest ever to watch a ball game at Lewiston was in the stands.

Only a fourth of that number turned out at Victoria for the first of four games that may decide whether the Tyees will keep their WIL franchise. Earlier in the week the Victoria club announced that unless 2000 fans pay their way to see each of the games the Tyees may not be able to meet the payroll Saturday. Only 647 answered the plea Thursday night as the Tyees were shaded 5-4 by Vancouver.

Elsewhere around the league, Yakima defeated Wenatchee 5-1, Salem Clipped Calgary 9-6 and Tri-City subdued Edmonton 11-3.

In the Pacific Coast League last night Seattle checked San Diego 2-0, San Francisco clobbered Hollywood Stars 13-2; Portland split a doubleheader with Sacramento 5-5 and 5-6; Los Angeles edged Oakland 4-3.

DES MOINES, Ia. (AP)—New York Giants scored two touchdowns in the second half Thursday night to defeat Chicago Bears 14-7 in a National Football League exhibition.

The Bears scored their touchdown in the first quarter in an 18-yard toss from George Blanda to Billy Stone.

New York's first touchdown came in the third quarter after Don Brantly recovered a Chicago fumble on the New York 43. Chuck Connerly, Eddie Price and Kyle Rote ran the ball to the Chicago 7, and Price carried it over.

The winning touchdown was set up when Paul Douglas intercepted Blanda's pass and ran it back 42 yards to the Chicago 33. On the next play Connerly passed to Rote for the score.

Quadruplets Fail to Live
VANCOUVER — Mrs. Arthur Schroeder, 24, gave birth to quadruplets Tuesday, but the four — all boys — died within hours.
 The news was released today by St. Paul's Hospital officials where an eight-hour battle to save the premature babies ended in failure.
 It was the first such birth in Vancouver since 1931 when four girls were born at the same hospital. In that case also, all died.
 Mrs. Schroeder, wife of a food buyer, was rushed to hospital in a 12-minute cab ride from their Lulu Island home, 10 miles from Vancouver. The quads were born within a six-minute period.

Cuba's Strong Man, Fulgencio Batista Came Into News Twenty Years Ago

By BEN F. MEYER

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Twenty years ago this week, the world heard for the first time of an army sergeant named Fulgencio Batista.

It was a name new in Cuba, too, but he became the strong man of the little republic and stayed in power 11 years.

Sept. 4, 1933, the 32-year-old sergeant-stenographer led the first successful revolution ever staged by a non-commissioned officer in Latin America. Batista struck when the officers were asleep and President Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, in office three weeks, was in Matanzas province surveying damage from a hurricane which caused 100 deaths.

POLITICAL CHAOS

Batista took over a land in political chaos. In addition, Cuba was in the throes of world depression, the army was split wide open between officers and enlisted men. And the country still was reeling from a revolution of a few weeks before which had overthrown Gerardo Machado, the dictator-president.

After Batista's coup, a 5-man commission was named to run the government. Batista's was the power behind it. The government was such a shaky structure the United States sent warships to try to keep the island republic from falling to pieces.

TOOK OVER POST

Between Sept. 4, 1933 and Oct. 10, 1940, Cuba had seven presidents named with the approval of Batista. It was not until Oct. 10, 1940, that Batista himself took over the job. He served a full term and stepped down turning the office over to Ramon Grau San Martin. Batista, who had once sent Grau into exile, lost no time himself in seeking exile abroad. But for a man who had run the nation for 11 years, his action in turning over the government to the enemy the people had chosen brought applause from democracies throughout the world.

Grau and his administration now are charged with mishandling $174,000,000 in government funds. The government of Carlos Prio Socarras, Grau's hand-picked "torch-bearer," is charged by Batista with thievery of about $150,000,000. It was to "rid Cuba of anarchy once again," Batista says, that he staged a coup March 10, 1952.

Prio fled, and now lives in Miami, Fla. Grau stayed in Cuba. Technically, he has been on trial since the graft charges were filed in January, 1949, but he is at liberty.

FULL SUPPORT

Today Batista is credited with full support by the military forces Cuba is at peace, but under emergency measures. Batista suspended constitutional guarantees such as liberty of press, of assembly, of speech. The emergency measures, backed up by censorship, came after a band of political opponents attacked two army garrisons in eastern Cuba.

A new "Law of Public Order" gives the government practically unlimited authority to jail men for circulating rumors, slander, libel and disrespectful criticism. Before censorship was imposed, Batista and his government were widely criticized in newspapers, magazines and on radio and television.

British Boys Praise Canada

LEEDS, England (AP)—Canada comes in for some complimentary statements from a group of 40 British school boys who spent a month touring Quebec and Ontario.

In letters to the Yorkshire Post, Bradford, Yorks, students along on the tour credited the Canadians they met with deep loyalty to the Queen and Commonwealth, overwhelming hospitality, foresight and independence.

On the debit side were "terribly slow" store service and high prices, the latter criticism tempered by a knowledge of equally high wages and standard of living.

One youngster advised Britons to forget any notions they might have that Canada favors closer ties with the United States, at the expense of the Commonwealth.

In fact, he added, Canadians think the Queen should spend more time in Canada, and they lay heavy emphasis on their desire for more emigrants from the United Kingdom.

Hospitality was almost "unbelievable," as illustrated by the Vancouver pen pal who travelled to Toronto to see his English counterpart. The distance involved impressed the party.

Also remarked on was the satisfaction of the Canadian with his own "very fine" way of life as compared with a Briton's. Noted, too, were air conditioning, a Montreal store's practice of providing a free taxi ride home for persons purchasing more than $10 worth of goods and the large number of Montreal and Toronto churches just completed or being built.

The group was drawn from England and Scottish cities under the auspices of the W. H. Rhodes Canada educational trusts, started by Bradford businessman, W. H. Rhodes in 1933.

UK Army Chief Urges Arms Increase

VANCOUVER (CP)—The west must increase its military strength to a point where the communists will not dare start an atomic war, Field Marshal Sir John. Harding, chief of the Imperial General Staff, said here.

"We are not yet strong enough in the west," said the stocky, mustached field marshal, who arrived by air from eastern Canada on a cross-Canada inspection of the Dominion's military establishments.

"What is needed, I think, is a sustained effort over a period of time to build up our forces so as to make as certain as we humankind can that the communists won't risk war."

"Few things are certain in this world today. But one thing is sure—an atomic war would be devastating."

Sir John, who was once a staff college pupil of field marshal Montgomery, inspected the Royal Roads Military College yesterday and is scheduled to fly to Abbotsford, today before proceeding to Calgary by rail.

Court Dismisses Driving Charge

SPECIAL TO THE DAILY NEWS SMITHERS—A charge of impaired driving laid against Roger Mantha of Houston, following collision of a pickup truck and a three-ton truck was dismissed by Stipendiary Magistrate O. H. Hoskins here.

The charge had been reduced from one of drunken driving. The accident occurred August 12 on Highway 16 seven miles west of Smithers.

MONTREAL ACTRESS ELEANOR STUART has been given the gown she wore as Countess Rouillon in "All's Well That Ends Well," one of the plays in the successful Stratford Shakespearean Festival. The veteran actress, who has played important roles in the United States, England, and France, with such stars as the late George Arliss and Ethel Barrymore, was given the gown by members of the festival cast as a mark of appreciation for the help she gave them in voice and dramatic training.

Mrs. Keen Fails To Play Hand To Best Advantage

The usual reliable Mrs. Keen lost today's contract by failing to handle a certain combination of cards to the best advantage.

Mr. Muzzy led the 10 of hearts, dummy and Mr. Meek played low and Mrs. Keen won with the jack. To make her contract, she saw she would have to develop some spade tricks. At trick two she led the ace of spades and followed with the eight. Mr. Muzzy covered with the nine and Mrs. Keen put up the 10 from dummy.

Mr. Meek won with his lone queen and returned the seven of diamonds. Mrs. Keen played the four. Mr. Muzzy the trey and dummy's ace won. Out came the trey of spades with a prayer that the suit would break 3-3. But no luck.

Mr. Muzzy won with the seven spot and led back the nine of hearts which was permitted to win. On came another heart and Mrs. Keen won with the ace. Since there was now only one entry on the board and Mr. Muzzy still had a spade stopper, there was no chance for nine tricks.

Of course Mrs. Keen might have been set no matter how she played. However, she did not give herself the best chance in her play of the spade suit.

When her eight was covered with the nine, she should have ducked in dummy. Mr. Meek would have had to play his queen anyway and this would have left the jack and 10 on the board to drive out the king and pick up Mr. Muzzy's seven. This is by no means a double-dummy play. It is based on the logic of the situation. Mrs. Keen was willing to lose two spades and if the spades were divided 3-3, that's all she would lose. However, if they were 4-2, she could not afford to use dummy's jack or 10 to drive out a lone queen or king.

If the outstanding spades were 3-3, then, it made no difference what was played from the board on the second round of the suit. If they were 4-2, the best play was to duck in dummy and hope Mr. Meek had started with a doubleton honor.

The only situation where this play would lose would be where Mr. Muzzy had started with K Q 9 6 in spades. But with that holding it is almost certain he would have gone in with the queen over the lead of the eight spot.

Armless Man Overcomes Great Handicap

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (AP)—Armless and suffering from a crippling spinal condition, 23-year-old Raymond Sageloly has just completed a device for projecting pictures from records.

Raymond, who was born without arms, works entirely with his feet, preparing drawings, assembling the intricate parts and soldering wires into position.

The invention, which he calls re-co-vision, is the transmission of a picture cut in a phonograph record, projected through a specially-designed tube on to a glass screen. His object is to present a picture of the singer or instrumentalist, a landscape suggested by the music, or an advertisement of the firm sponsoring the record.

Whether or not the invention proves to be a commercial proposition, it has focused attention on Raymond's battle against great physical handicap.

Born in Blind River, it seemed as though he would never be able to walk, but his dexterity in picking up pins and coins with his feet amazed his mother. At four he managed to walk but then he was stricken with meningitis which aggravated the spinal condition and crippled his legs. He was 12 years old before he was fit to attend school at Sault Ste. Marie where the family had taken up residence.

PRIZE-WINNING MODEL

During the intervening years he had developed his feet so that he could make models of houses and machines with matchsticks and wire. The model of an airplane netted him $10, first prize in a competition.

Raymond completed three years in secondary school and is still studying. He is also tackling engineering with special reference to radio and television.

In the last year he has constructed five radio sets, every joint soldered with precision. The soldering iron, held with his right foot, is steady as he works. Using both feet, he sorts out the tangle of wires.

The young man would like to instruct other handicapped people in radio mechanics and demonstrate the facility with which he has overcome his handicap. Above all, he would like to work in a radio laboratory as an assistant, or have his own work-bench in order to earn money to help his family.

Living in an apartment with his aging parents, Raymond has taught himself to be useful in a variety of ways. He writes a good, legible "hand," peels potatoes, cooks simple meals, plays both piano and guitar and can shoot a rifle and pistol with accuracy.
