Marshall Gets Up Off Canvas To Knock Out Canadian Champ

Experts Term Bout 'Best Ever'

VANCOUVER (CP) — A 28-year-old Prince Rupert tinsmith, Andy Marshall, sent 1,500 fans into a turmoil here last night as he successfully started his quest of the 165-pound title in the first night of the 1954 Golden Gloves.

Marshall came off the canvas to knock out Canadian amateur middleweight champion Trent Ketchison of the Royal Canadian Navy with three furious last-round knockdowns.

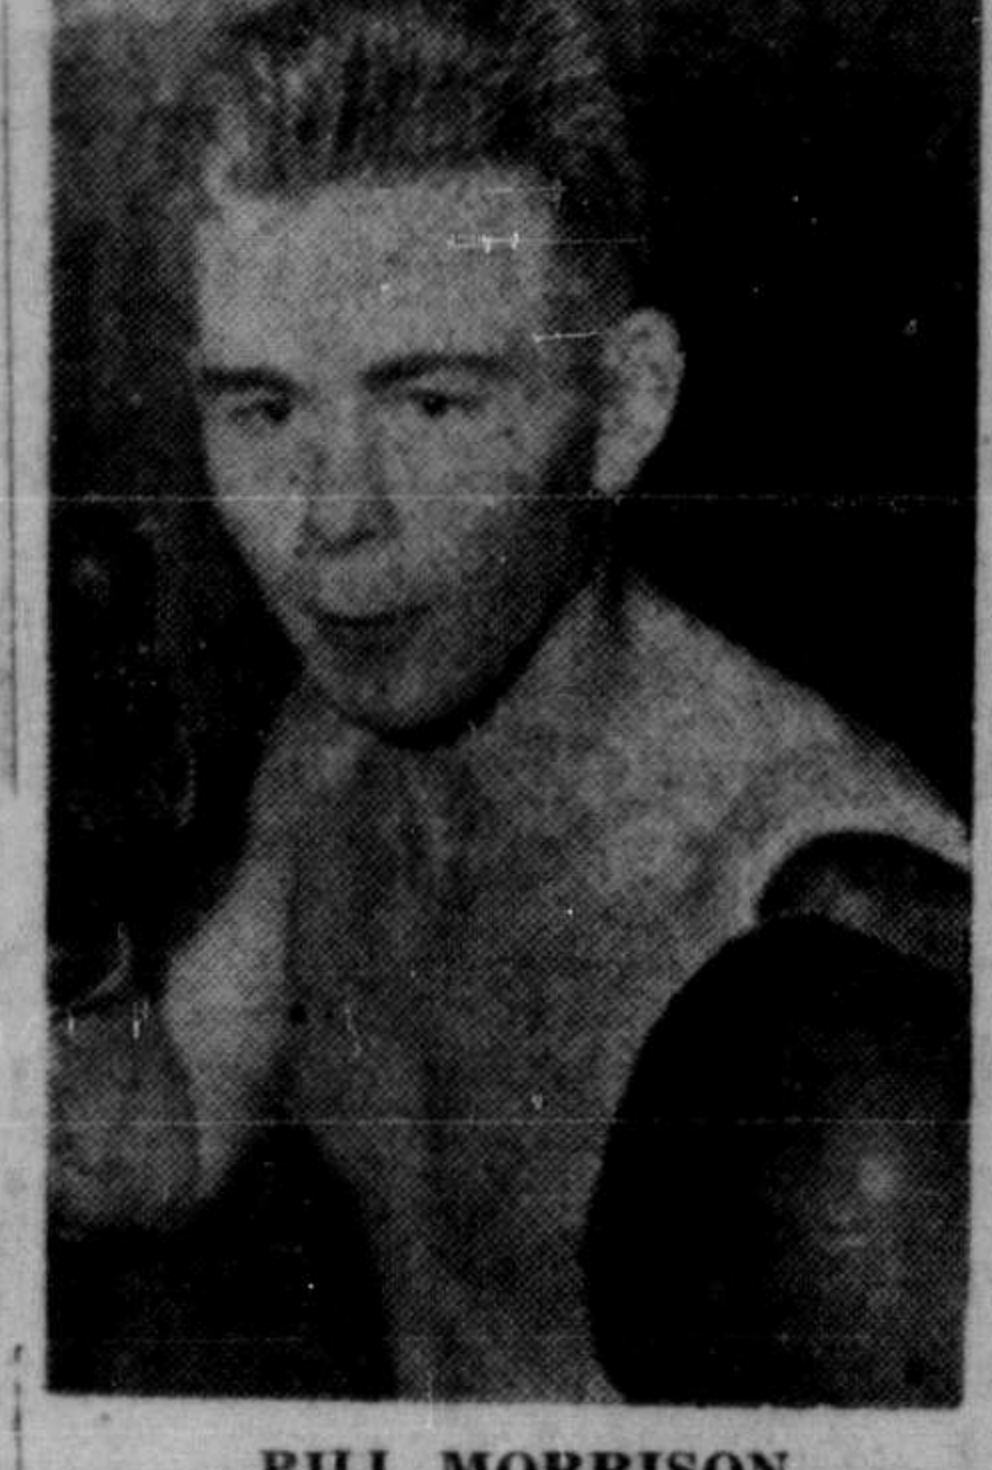

The bout was termed by the experts the best in Golden Gloves history here.

Outgunned and apparently outclassed by his veteran opponent, Marshall went down to a nine-count in the second round, and barely weathered Ketchison's following attack. Reeling at the bell, he was led to his corner by referee Tommy Paonessa.

Still wobbling on his legs, Marshall absorbed more punches as the third round opened, then knocked the national champion to one knee with a left hook.

That was all Marshall needed. In a flurry of punches along the ropes, he knocked the sailor to the canvas for a nine-count, his eyes glazed. Fighting gamely, Ketchison went down for the last time flat on the deck. The referee didn't bother to count.

Ketchison won the 1953 Canadian title in Montreal. The defeat was his first in three years and the first time in six he has failed to go the full distance.

Budget Coming Down Monday

VICTORIA (CP) — The budget will be presented in the British Columbia legislature Monday.

The debate on the speech from the throne was concluded and accepted yesterday.

The budget will give details of some of the legislation promised in the speech from the throne. It will tell how much money the government expects to earn in the fiscal year beginning April 1 and how much of that money the government plans to spend.

Asserts Asians Scorn Red Creed

MANILA (AP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent arrived here today on a world tour and said, "I don't think the people of Asia ever will be Communist. The Canadian leader said: "Happy people are not interested in communism—the people of Asia are naturally happy, and they have opportunity for future happiness."

Jurist Says Commission Guilty of Negligence

VICTORIA (CP) — A royal commission has found the three-man British Columbia power commission guilty of negligence in failing to take steps to avert a landslide that smashed a multi-million dollar power project in interior B.C.

Supreme Court Justice J. V. Clyne said in a report tabled in the legislature Friday the commission and its chief engineer were "negligent in failing to take reasonable steps" to prevent the danger of the slide at Whatshan, 250 miles east of Vancouver.

$1,000,000 IN DAMAGE

Two mudslides last August crashed down on the $5,800,000 Whatshan power project on the Lower Arrow lakes causing damage unofficially estimated at more than $1,000,000. Work of clearing tons of mud from the site still is underway.

HEARD 25 WITNESSES

Mr. Justice Clyne heard 25 witnesses in 22 days of hearings in Vancouver and visited the slide area personally.

Cleared of blame was H. G. Acres and Co., consulting engineers who helped plan the project. Engineering advice on which the commission had acted in building the plant was "sound," the report said.

Mr. Justice Clyne found the four men were negligent in not heeding warnings over almost two years that masses of mud behind the plant were shifting. The slide was caused by water leaking through a two-mile tunnel and saturating clay and silt mixed with huge boulders on the mountain side behind the plant.

SAID WARNED OF DANGER

Mr. Justice Clyne found that the commission and the chief engineer, A. W. Lash, were warned of the danger more than 18 months before the slides occurred and had done nothing about it.

The report was tabled the same day as it was received and Premier Bennett declined to comment saying the government was studying it. Mr. Lash

Cardinal Dies After Illness

ROME (Reuters) — Massimo Cardinal Massimi, 76, died here today, after a prolonged heart ailment.

His death created the first vacancy in the Sacred College of Cardinals since the Pope brought it up to its full strength of 70 a year ago.

The Italian-born cardinal was one of the 19 cardinals of the central government of the Roman Catholic church and prefect of the apostolic signature, the supreme tribunal of the Roman Catholic church. He was also a member of the Vaican congregations for the eastern church, sacraments, religious orders and propagation of the faith.

Born in Rome, he was ordained a priest at the age of 23. Pope Pius XI, predecessor of the present pope, created him a prince of the church in 1935.

Drug Problem "Not Serious"

NANAIMO, B. C. (CP)—Police in this Vancouver island centre admitted yesterday that drug addicts gravitate here from Vancouver but said the situation is not serious.

Staff-Sgt. A. M. Hutchinson of the RCMP, said addicts flee here when police pressure is too heavy in Vancouver, then move south to Victoria, on to Seattle and eventually back to Vancouver. He was commenting on a report Thursday by a Vancouver narcotics detective, Rex Gray, who said addicts were moving out of Vancouver to Victoria, Nanaimo, Prince Rupert and Prince George.

Strike Reset For Monday

Deadline for strike called by B.C. Projectionists (AFL-TLC) set for midnight Sunday has been delayed until Monday at theatre opening time, it was learned today from George Gerrard, local representative here.

Mr. Gerrard said that receipt of a wire from union headquarters in Vancouver cleared the way for the staging of the Moose Women's Variety show scheduled for the Capitol Theatre Sunday night. The deadline change is effective all over British Columbia.

Spaniard Asks Copy of 'News' For Collection

Daily News staffers puffed out their chests and chuckled the other day when they received a request for a copy of "The News" all the way from Spain.

The request came from one J. L. Diaz-Caneja of Villada, Palencia, Spain, who collects newspapers and periodicals from all over the world.

Rating the chuckles were the extreme politeness and minor errors in English in the letter, which reads, in part, as follows:

"Please forgive me for writing to you without having the pleasure of your acquaintance. My object in writing is as follows: I've a large collection ... from all over the world but as I've none copy of the 'News' from Prince Rupert, B.C., I'd therefore be much obliged if you'd kindly send me one copy of your newspaper.

"Enclosed you'll find some stamps. This's all I'm able to send you into this letter but I hope however that they may be of some interest to you ... I apologize once more for writing this letter and I'll be most grateful if you can oblige me in this request."

Seizure of Arsenal in New York Like Fictional Spy Story

Police seized a cache of arms in a deserted Manhattan store Friday night. The arms, alleged to be of the Batista regime, were swept into the store at 99th street, and with crates of mortar and hand guns. Garand rifles and shells.

Later Mario Cruz, 34, and Roberto Oscar Acevedo, 36, were booked on charges of violating the weapons law.

Police Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams described them as members of a Cuban organization opposed to the regime of Fulgencia Batista, president of Cuba.

Eight other persons were questioned by police and released. Among these, Adams said, were six men and a woman known as members of anti-Batista organizations.

"Retaliation" Speech Prompting Canadian Officials

still trying to figure it out, too. The chief questions in Ottawa are: Would the U.S. be prepared to "go it alone" under certain circumstances of aggression? And before the U.S. took any action, would Canada and other U.S. allies be consulted?

Canada was not consulted before Mr. Dulles made his New York speech Jan. 12 in which he said:

"The way to deter aggression is for the free community to be willing and able to respond vigorously at places and with means of its own choosing ...

"The basic decision of President Eisenhower and his advisers was to depend primarily upon a great capacity to retaliate, instantly, by means and at places of our choosing."

CANADA INVOLVED

The "free community" presumably would include Canada and other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. But, officials here asked, would they be consulted, or how could they, if the U.S. decided to "retaliate instantly?"

For instance, if the Chinese sent troops to help the Communists in Indo-China and the U.S. decided to retaliate instantly with an attack on Russia, other NATO countries might be unwilling to go along with such a decision.

Certainly Canada would want to be consulted about any action that would result in a major war.

WITH STORK WON POLICE AND AMBULANCE

A city ambulance driver and RCMP won a close race with a stork yesterday, delivering a Native woman prisoner to hospital 20 minutes before her baby was born.

The ambulance sped through town from the city jail, where the Prince Rupert General Hospital at 5:35 p.m. a boy, was born at 5:45 p.m.

The woman, who has been held in jail since mid-January on a robbery with violence charge, fooled her captors on the birth schedule. After being taken for a walk in the afternoon, she said she thought it was time to give birth, but her doctor thought not.

The driver and police escort were reported as still a

Tunnel 25 Miles Long Planned For PGE North of Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 25-mile tunnel through the mountains immediately north of Vancouver has been proposed to bring the provincially-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway into the city.

An engineer, who asked to remain anonymous, said a tunnel would be less costly in the long run than open track along the shores of Burrard inlet and through heavily populated West Vancouver. The latter route, proposed by the government, has been bitterly opposed by residents of the municipality.

To offset cost of the tunnel, estimated between $50,000,000 and $75,000,000, the engineer said there would be about 2,000,000 yards of crushed rock removed worth $3 a yard in Vancouver and $5 in Seattle.

Extension over the old right-of-way would cost $12,000,000 and require 32 men for maintenance. A tunnel with straight

THIS IS THE ARCHITECT'S MODEL of the proposed National Gallery of Canada which is to be built in Ottawa. Designed as a national centre of the arts for Canada, the cost of the proposed structure is estimated at about $5,000,000. To be built on Sussex street, the building consists of three floors and a basement, and contains provision for expansion later. The design was submitted by the firm of Green, Blankstein, Russel and Associates of Winnipeg. It was selected from entries by 103 contestants.

Education For All

(Since national attention will be focussed next week on the achievements and problems of education, The Daily News today carries the following guest editorial by the Prince Rupert Trades and Labor Council on this subject which is of such importance to all.)

CANADIANS today have far greater opportunities to become well-educated, happy and useful citizens than ever before, but we have a long way yet to go.

The progress that has been made in educational standards, facilities, methods, etc., is due not entirely to the efforts of those directly entrusted with the supervision and administration of education, but also it reflects the increasingly active interest and support of Canadians in all walks of life, and the shortcomings that still exist in our present educational system can only be overcome through the continuance and extension of that interest and support.

That is why Labor has joined with other organizations across Canada in sponsoring Education Week and to urge special consideration of the matter which is vital to your family, your community and your country.

The principal shortcoming in our present educational system, against which Labor has consistently objected and for the elimination of which it will continue to strive, is that in spite of the fact that considerable sums of public money are being expended on our universities, the sons and daughters from the less fortunate families are being deprived of the opportunities for advanced education offered through those institutions because their parents are unable to afford the expenses involved. We submit that society would be greatly enriched if ability and talent of the student, coupled with his or her willingness to work at it, were the only qualifying factors for admission.

The interest, ideas and active participation of all those in the labor movement in Canada are vital to the improvement of education in this country.

All organizations affiliated to the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada are urged to support Education Week in their various communities and to bear in mind that education is truly "Everybody's Business".

Exaggerated Report

REPORTS from Vancouver that drug addicts are invading Prince Rupert are baloney.

There are addicts in the city, undoubtedly. Any city with an element of transients is certain to have the problem to some extent. But the suggestion that we are harboring a community of hop heads is complete bilge.

This is not a question of being smug. Consider it factually. The give-away of a drug addict is his need for money. To keep the supply coming, he must be able to pay well, and normally the person so addicted is not in a position to earn the cash required. His course, then, is to get the money by other means.

If Prince Rupert were experiencing an extraordinary outbreak of crime there might be something to support the Vancouver reports. But there is no such thing.

Vancouver police might as well realize—as they undoubtedly do—that they cannot get rid of the problem that easily. Even an addict in the deepest throes of his craving will know he has a better chance of buying his shot in the big city where detection is not nearly so sure as it is publicised and where crime is more or less routine.

FATHER MARRIES OFF FIVE DAUGHTERS, SON

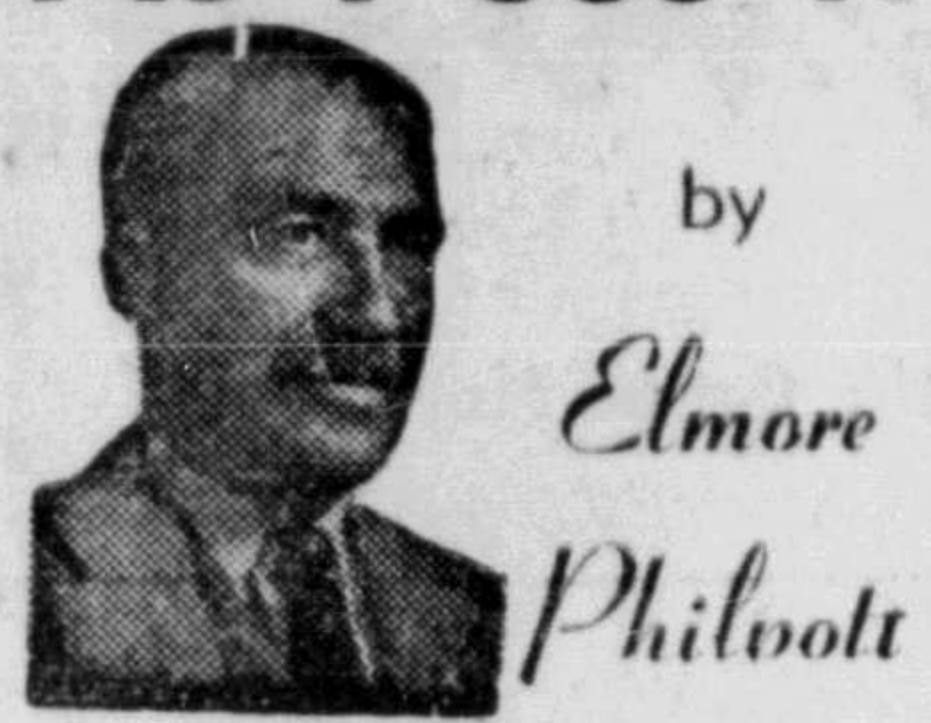

ENSCHOT, The Netherlands (Reuters)—Farmer Henricus Kort married off five daughters and one son here Tuesday—one after the other. Nearly all of the village's 3,215 inhabitants turned out for the all-day festivities. Four of the brides are going to emigrate to Canada next month with their husbands.

Trans-Canada Route Clarified

OTTAWA (CP)—The government Wednesday reaffirmed the decision against a northern route through the Rocky mountains for the trans-Canada highway. A reply tabled for Ambrose Holowach (SC-Edmonton East) said the route designated by provincial governments concerned is through Regina and Calgary. It would cross the Rockies through the Kicking Horse pass.

As I See It

by

For OAP's of $60

A GREAT many old age pensioners have written me regarding a recent column "Who Lives on $40.00?"

A good many of the letters started out with a good, lusty crack at MPs in general and me in particular.

Some of them said "If you want to know how to live on $40 a month, give up your $10,000 a year and try it." But on the whole the writers recognized that I was seeking for detailed facts and explanations. A few old people did send in letters to show that they were barely "getting by" on the $40 per month old age security payments. But in almost all such cases these "were people who had some special advantage, like a house already paid for, or some living accommodation with relatives.

MANY living on the $50 a month—that is, on the old age pension with means test—sent along budgets with their costs per month itemized down to the last cent. Here is one such budget, sent in by a man who lives alone in the interior of B.C.

Owe store last month	$ 1.82
Rent for month	18.00
Electric light	1.85
Fuel	4.25
16 quarts milk	3.84
Sugar	1.05
15 loaves bread	2.70
Sausage	2.65
2 lbs. margarine	.72
Apples	.50
Turnips	.33
Potatoes	.45
Boiling beef	3.84
Flour	.85
Rice	.84
Jam	.89
2 lettuce	.36
Socks	.85
Syrup	.68
Salt	.18
Fish	.33
Cheese	.44
Eggs	.78
Prunes	.50
Cigarettes	.68
Soap and soap powder	.76
1 lb. coffee	.98
1 lb. tea	.95
Saturday "Sun"	.40
Owe storekeeper	$52.99
	$ 2.99

A GREAT many more budgets come out to approximately the same as the above—though I notice that most of my correspondents list the cost of the newspapers six days a week, instead of just for Saturday.

The only man who wrote with facts and figures to show that a person could live on $40 a month was in an isolated up-coast point. He wrote a fascinating letter, to show how an old couple could get cheap wood, fish, game, etc., if they were willing to live away from the big centres. I agree this is true for hardy, self-reliant old couples. But it does not seem a practical proposition to me for most city-bred people, especially as one of the old folks is bound to pass away before his or her partner, thus leaving the other alone.

THE NUMEROUS letters forwarded by old age pensioners will be of great assistance to me when I make my next speech in the House, giving reasons why old age pensions should be increased. As for years past, I still strongly advocate $60 per month.

Spring Music
MIDLAND, Ont. (CP)—The croaking of frogs, normally a sign of spring, was heard here at a watery spot late in February. All winter a robin or two was seen around the outlet of the spring, and a warm spell late in winter usually brings out the frogs.

Snapped by Richard Robinson, who is employed at Canadian Kodak Co. in Toronto, the picture, "Gannet," won a trophy for excellence in nature photography in Kodak's 19th International Salon.

OTTAWA DIARY

By Norman M. MacLeod

One of the favorite conversation pieces around Parliament Hill these days is the weather. But lest this should seem a somewhat platitudinous and useless topic to occupy the minds of statesmen, it should be pointed out at once that it isn't the ordinary Ottawa weather that is the subject of interest. It's the special weather along Ottawa's lengthening international Diplomatic Row.

It's a matter of sudden and pleasant discovery to the whole Capital generally that the weather along Diplomatic Row has greatly improved. Metaphorically speaking, there's more sunshine along it. And as a consequence there's a very much more friendly atmosphere. The whole environment is warmer and vastly more comfortable.

For example, the invisible but subtly-erected barriers that divided the foreign embassies into mutually exclusive groups between whom only the most frigid social intercourse—if any—existed, have gone as if by magic. Now members of the different foreign missions mingle indiscriminately and without displaying any of their previous stiffness, tension, or suspiciousness of one another. The result is a much more pleasant atmosphere for all to breathe. The present social season along Ottawa's Diplomatic Row is by far the most successful that has been held in many years.

Ray REFLECTS and REMINISCES

Word from Paris says long flowing capes, similar to what's worn by the French police, is the newest note in spring fashions. It is doubtful, however, if the RCMP can borrow any novel notions in the way of service dress, which has been greatly admired.

NEVER PAYS OFF
For every dollar spent on education in the United States, two dollars must be expended on crime prevention and penalties. Crime was never known to pay off to any individual. It's worse for a nation.

Weight of authority when it makes itself heard as well as felt can be a vastly disturbing fact. Thursday a solemn warning was given against the possibility of more attempted assassinations. What was there then—what is there at this moment—to perpetrate something the same as the Washington outrage a few days earlier. It is not essential to mention names but world leaders are known, and how vital it is that their security be strengthened. The recent shooting aggravates and inflames a world situation, none too happy. The warning has gone out and may well be kept in mind.

No little of the credit is being given to the new Soviet ambassador. His Excellency Dmitri Chuvahin is definitely an individual of parts, with a particular talent for friendliness. The warmest and most attractive personality to have represented Moscow in the Capital since the Russian Embassy was opened, he moves easily and without self-consciousness among diplomatic circles. Already he has won a reputation in the Capital as an unsurpassed host. And it unquestionably is as a result of his example that many of the old reserves between some of the foreign missions have vanished.

Senator McCarthy of Washington wouldn't like it, but it's no novelty any more for diplomats from the Western powers and the Soviet Union to meet at luncheon or dinner, enjoy one another's unaffected hospitality, and to discuss world affairs and their own differences of policy with good humor and a courteous attempt at mutual understanding. Parliament Hill thinks it's a good thing. The new order of things is being not only enjoyed but approved. All this doesn't mean that the cold war is over. But it's evident that there's a new spirit of mutual tolerance in the Ottawa diplomatic air at least. That may be a small sign in the larger world picture. But it's at least a hopeful one.

All Aboard By G.E. Mortimore

Everyone has heard of the man who was moved by a strong premonition of disaster to cancel his seat on a certain aircraft and take the next flight instead. The aircraft that he would have boarded developed engine trouble and crashed. Passengers and crew came to a messy end. Other men report having been deterred by prophetic dreams from boarding ships that sank and trains that plunged over cliffs.

Seldom if ever do we hear of a man who had a premonition of disaster and cancelled his seat on an aircraft, only to learn afterwards that the aircraft flew on merrily to its destination and arrived without incident, except for a stewardess repelling some advances by an admiring passenger.

Some people do have such hunches, but they never tell you about them. "I had such a strange feeling about the Empress of Boing that I went right down and cancelled my passage," a man might say. "And you know, that very ship steamed straight across the Atlantic in record time, and docked half a day ahead of schedule."

It doesn't make such a good story that way. If a man is to add to that having hunches, he likes to create the impression that they are good hunches.

I have no doubt that there are men alive today who had premonitions and cancelled their passages on aircraft, causing themselves to kick their heels around the airport for an extra three hours and arrive late for a vital appointment, while the aircraft they should have taken not only got there safely, but all the passengers received gold watches for being aboard the company started business. Hunches could be a real nuisance for a travelling man, if he kept having them. I can imagine a man itching to get out of town and pursue an important errand for his firm, yet being warned off a succession of boats, planes and trains by an irritating little inner voice.

After he had been loitering around the depot for a week or so, a wan and haggard figure, it would be an ironic stroke of fate if an earthquake brought the roof down on his head.

Students To Take Over City 'Future Citizens' Day'

Prince Rupert high school students will take over the city for a "Future Citizens' Day" on Monday, March 8, by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The mayor will elect a mayor and a council to run the city for the day, while other students will "take over" city offices, institutions, and government offices and wind up the day by a sponsored party.

The students will compare notes on their experiences.

The chairman of the committee planning the day is Mayor George Clark. Other members include Clerk Bill Long, City Engineer J. H. Booth, and other school students.

The election along with the election of a mayor and a council will be held by the student council clerk who will call the election, set a nominations day and arrange for a voters' list, campaign speeches and so on.

When the mock council is elected, it will sit with city council at its regular meeting March 22, with the student mayor presiding along with Mayor Hills and the student aldermen sitting alongside their counterparts around the council tables.

At present, Jaycees are canvassing city business establishments, making up a list of "job vacancies" which will be sent to the school. The students will write applications for the particular jobs they are interested in and the applications will be handled by the mock council, thus giving the children experience in applying for work and experience in evaluating applications.

No student will be forced to participate in the plan, but those in grades 10 to 13 will be given the opportunity to take jobs, where possible, in the field they hope to enter in adult life.

The entire project is designed to give the youngsters a preview of life in their future careers and to enlighten them on civic affairs.

Following the "Future Citizens' Day" the youngsters may be asked to write essays on their experiences.

Death of Gordon Emmerson in Saint John Recalls Incidents of City's Early Days

One of Prince Rupert's earliest residents, Gordon C. Emmerson, died suddenly in Saint John, New Brunswick, last Tuesday after only one day's illness.

Mr. Emmerson, who came to this city when it was only a survey camp in 1906, was 72 years old.

He had been a resident of Saint John for the last 35 years and at the time of his death was assistant warehouse manager for the New Brunswick Liquor Control Board.

Born in Peticodiac, Westmorland County, son of the late Judge Frederick Winslow Emmerson, he moved with his parents to Sackville, where he was educated.

A civil engineer by profession he came to Prince Rupert in 1906 where he pioneered with the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and helped in laying out the townsite.

He stayed with the GTP until 1909 when he opened a real estate office which he operated until he enlisted in the 30th Battalion, C.E.F., shortly after the outbreak of the First World War.

The battalion was broken up and Mr. Emmerson was sent to the 7th B.C. Battalion in which he was severely wounded at Festubert and sent back to Canada in 1919.

RECALLS EARLY DAYS

L. F. Grant, of Kingston, Ontario, who worked with Mr. Emmerson here in the early days, in a letter received here today told of early-day life here with Mr. Emmerson.

Mr. Grant arrived here in May, 1907, and worked for the townsite department of the GTP until 1909.

Among others here at that time, he recalled, were Bishop F. H. Du Vernet, R. L. MacIntosh, the first postmaster and Mrs. MacIntosh, H. G. Munro, Prince Rupert's first architect, Vickers of the provincial police, Crippen, an acting constable, Major Gibson, now of Vancouver, George Morrow, later collector of cusoms, Kenneth Munro who held several agencies.

"In the railway staff were James H. Bacon and chief engineers Joe Pillsbury his assistant, G. H. Pethick, Count Zanardi-Landi, after whom Lanardi Rapids was named, A. W. Agnew, S. B. Lucas, W. A. Casey, Mr. Sing at the Rupert Hotel, A. R. Barrow, land survey for the company, and H. L. Robertson, who later became a pilot at Victoria.

"James Whitcomb and Mr. Woods, who I think became the city clerk, were the company's clerical staff.

"Nearly all the above who were of an appropriate age served in the First Great War and Agnew, Casey and Crippen were killed. Prince Rupert's Victoria Cross winner, Col. C. Peck was at that time living at Port Simpson and came to Prince Rupert in 1908."

Mr. Grant recalled the start of the first newspaper here and told how John Houston started in business in the summer of 1907, at first getting his paper—the Empire—printed in the south and sent here for distribution.

"After a few weeks, he ordered a press which duly arrived and was unloaded onto the dock.

"The day after its arrival the chief official of the GTP ordered the staff in the drafting office to seize it, and put it into the company's warehouse.

"As the chief official was an American, some of us objected to interfering with a Canadian newspaper at his orders and refused to take part in the seizure—a disobedience of orders for which we expected to get fired but were not. Emmerson and myself were two of these.

"Houston immediately got a police order requiring the Grand Trunk to restore his property to him, and that evening it was taken out of the warehouse.

"The company, however, refused to give him a place to set it up. However, John Houston was a resourceful man, and he immediately staked a mining claim in a convenient locality to which the company could make no legal objection. He did engage annual assessment work to hold the claim and continued publication until the town opened in 1909.

"Naturally he was a bitter enemy of the company."

Mr. Grant also spoke of meeting Bill Raymond, writer of the column which appears daily in this paper—"Ray Reflects"—and recalled that he and "Ray" formed the first Prince Rupert rifle association in 1909.

"We built a range with firing points on trestles over the creek flowing out of one of the salt lakes across the harbor.

"There was color to life in Prince Rupert in those days which I found very attractive and I look back on my years with many happy memories."

After returning to Canada from war service, Mr. Emmerson remained in his native province and was associated with the Confederation Life Insurance Company before his appointment with the New Brunswick liquor control board.

He leaves his wife, the former Ethel Maude Thompson, whom he married here in 1914, and three sons, Philip and Stanley, both of Lancaster, N.B., and Charles Emmerson of Fredericton.

Prayer Service Attended By More Than 100 Women

More than 100 women representing nearly every church in Prince Rupert attended a service in the First Presbyterian Church yesterday afternoon to mark the Women's World Day of Prayer, celebrated by Christian women in almost every country.

The local service, directed by Mrs. H. Calderwood, president of the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church, netted a collection of $45 which will go to the Women's Inter-Church Council of Canada for distribution. Collections from the services all over Canada go mainly toward Christian literature for distribution all over the world, as well as for training of missionaries and other Christian projects.

The church was graced with beautiful spring flowers for the service at which the sermon was given by Mrs. W. C. Poulton on the text: "I am come that ye may have light."

Soloist at the service was Mrs. W. C. Hankinson, contralto, singing "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings" by Liddle, accompanied by Mrs. E. Smith, organist.

Prayers were read by women of the various churches represented and ushers were Mrs. J. Bremner and Mrs. W. Spark.

Girls of the 1st Prince Rupert Guide Company held a similar service Thursday afternoon at St. Andrew's Cathedral, led by Mrs. Basil S. Prockler.

The service, based on the women's service, brought an additional $1.15 for the inter-church council projects.

HERE'S HOW YOU CAN PLAY:

In the space provided on this full page layout design an ad for each merchant whose signature appears in the individual block advertisements.

Try to work a slogan, rhyme or jingle into the ad as additional marks will be awarded for originality in this manner.

If you feel that an illustration is necessary, try to sketch a reasonably good representation of same. In the case of the winning entry, The Daily News will endeavor to match your sketch as closely as possible from their illustration service.

Entries will be judged on the following points of merit:

- (a) Originality.
- (b) Balance in separate ads and balance of entire page.
- (c) Merchandise display.
- (d) Neatness and legibility of copy.

Entries must be in the hands of The Daily News not later than Wednesday, March 17th and they may be either mailed or delivered in person. The decision of the judges will be final, and all entries become the property of The Daily News and the Merchants advertising on this page. The winning entry will be published in the Daily News on Saturday, March 20th, so... WATCH FOR IT!

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Hero-Worship Gives Inferiority Complex

It's an encouraging note for less experienced players that many of the fine plays which the experts tell about are basically simple in nature. Don't let hero-worship drug you into believing that you can't make these same fine plays yourself. Actually, you're better than you think. At least you can be—if you'll work at it a little.

Take end-plays, for example. Some hands involving end-plays really "play themselves." Look at today's hand. Mr. New, the avid kibitzer, got into a four-heart contract and the opening leading was the nine of spades. Mrs. Keen won with the queen and ace and put dummy in with a third lead of the suit.

Now Mr. New was completely unconscious of the fact that he had a pretty fair chance for his contract. He was sure he would have to lose two diamond tricks for down one.

He took three rounds of trumps. Next he cashed the ace and king of clubs—only because he wanted to put off until last the sad sad moment when he would have to break diamonds.

But when he led the ace of diamonds and followed with the deuce, something happened. The eight was played from dummy. Mrs. Keen won with the queen and at this point the defence was through.

Mrs. Keen had only black cards left. She returned a club and Mr. New, still wondering why somebody hadn't cashed the king of diamonds, had sense enough to discard the tray of

A few days away from the daily routine and it's a tough job getting back into the swing of the sports world. But something always happens while one is away. The season goes along in an established pattern, fans have the eventual league standings fixed in their minds and boom! people go crazy.

Watts and Nickerson got the nod from fate after a frustrating season and go and knock off Fraser and Payne to take a one-game lead in the two-out-of-three game Inter-A semis. CCC 300 Club trimmed Gordon and Anderson with Sid Scherk, Freddy Christensen and Bill Sunberg chalking up more points between them than the hardwaremen scored altogether.

And then the Bo-Me-Hi Rainbirds came through for Sheila Hicks downing Frosty's and then just to prove that winning wasn't a fluke went down to Kitimat and took two more games from the girls down there. Last night in the second game of the semi-finals their eight-point lead gave them the series despite the heroic efforts of Nellie Pavich who scored 15 points, only three less than the Bo-Me-Hi squad chalked up altogether.

So it just goes to show that you aren't turn your back for five minutes lest someone switches the percentages on you.

Tonight we're back in the big leagues with CCC and G & A playing for keeps to see who meets Manson's Omegas in the Senior B final. We for one, are not making any prediction as it

RAINBIRDS EDGE FROSTY'S IN GIRLS SEMI FINALS

Bo-Me-Hi Rainbirds last night captured the Girls' basketball league semi-finals and the right to meet Dom's department store in the final when they edged Frosty's Lockers 26-25 in the second game of the two-game total point series.

The High school girls went into the game with an 8-point lead and it stood them in good stead. Frosty's, led by Nellie Pavich with 15 points, outscored the winners 4-3, 6-2, 9-7 and tied the Rainbirds 6-6 in the final quarter for a 25-18 score. Yvonne Jackson with 10 points was tops for Bo-Me-Hi.

In Junior Boys' league play last night, Bulger's trimmed Sports Shop 31-14 and NBC Power defeated Annunciation 37-33.

Figures Favor Canadians To Take Russia Tomorrow

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Can-Russia, playing in an international hockey tournament for the first time, beat the Canadians at their own game?

Pending the meeting Sunday at 9 a.m. EST, between Moscow Dynamos and Toronto East York, the last two unbeaten teams in the world hockey tournament, the experts pored over the statistics of each club's six games in the eight-game round-robin series. The figures show that the Canadians have an edge—at least on paper.

Following are the comparative records of the two leaders against the other six teams:

	Canada	Russia
Czechoslovakia	5-2	5-2
Sweden	8-0	1-1
Germany	8-1	6-2
Finland	20-1	7-1
Norway	8-0	7-0
Switzerland	8-1	4-2
Totals	57-5	30-8

SPORTS BRIEFS

ALBERNI, B.C. — The underdog Alberni Athletics crushed Vancouver's vaunted Eilers 72-53 here Friday night to win the opening game of their best-of-seven series for the British Columbia senior men's basketball championship. Second game will be played here Saturday.

VANCOUVER — University of British Columbia Thunderbirds upset the highly-touted Golden Bears from the University of Alberta 61-49 Friday night in the first game of a best-of-three series for the western Canada inter-collegiate basketball championship.

The second game is scheduled here Saturday night with a third, if necessary, Monday.

CHICAGO — New York Rangers last night missed a chance to move ahead of the Boston Bruins into sole possession of the fourth and last playoff berth when they were held to a 0-0 tie by Chicago Black Hawks. The tie kept them deadlocked for fourth place with the Bruins.

DENVER — Striking for seven goals in the middle period, Denver University crumbled British Columbia 13-1 in an intersectional hockey battle Friday night before 2,935 spectators.

STOCKHOLM — Switzerland and Finland played a 3-3 draw in the world ice hockey championships here today.

LONDON — The leisurely game of cricket is getting to be too slow for even the English.

In an effort to rid the game of stonewall tactics, slow scoring and sloppy fielding, a group of cricket lovers plan to present star players with trophies and monetary prizes this season.

Tactic approval has been given by the Marylebone Cricket Club, the "government" of the game.

VANCOUVER — Vancouver Canucks are back in a first place tie as Vancouver took Seattle Bombers 4-1 last night and Victoria Cougars booted New Westminster Royals 8-1.

DeMarco Wins Lightweight Championship

NEW YORK (AP) — It took Paddy DeMarco nine years of fighting to learn self-control, but when he did, it brought him the world lightweight championship.

Paddy, a little guy from Brooklyn supposedly on the downgrade as a boxer, won the title Friday night by decisively outpointing Jimmy Carter in 15 rugged rounds at Madison Square Garden.

It was an astounding upset in the eyes of the crowd of 5,730, which roared DeMarco in, but Paddy had a simple and logical explanation for it.

"It was my smartest fight," he said. "I held control, did what I was told, boxed and jabbed him."

Carter, usually the calm, confident fighter, apparently didn't know what to make of all this. He was counting on DeMarco to fight in his usual style—bull-like rushes and wild swinging that left him open to hard counter-punching. Paddy just didn't.

UNANIMOUS VERDICT

The upshot was that Carter, a slow starter, never could catch up and DeMarco breezed in to win the unanimous verdict from referee Ruby Goldstein and the two judges.

Goldstein's card, the closest, gave it to DeMarco 7-5, with three rounds even. Judge Harold Barnes scored nine rounds for DeMarco and six for Carter while Judge Arthur Aidala made it 9-6-1 in favor of Paddy. The Associated Press had it 10-4-1 for DeMarco.

The victory didn't bring any great financial reward for DeMarco, who at 26 has been fighting professionally for nine years. But it did bring a lot of satisfaction.

Oddly, it was DeMarco who was supposed to get the title shot when Carter won it from Ike Williams three years ago. But he was taken sick and Carter got the chance to win in an upset as surprising as his defeat.

Under contract terms, Carter will get a return bout within 90 days.

PHILADELPHIA — Jimmy Soo, 135, Philadelphia, stopped John Long, 135, Elizabeth, N.J., 3.

BERLIN — Hans Stretz, 162½, Germany, and Emile Delmine, 162½, Belgium, drew, 10.

KIEL, Germany — Karel Sys, 202½, Belgium, outpointed Heinz Seelisch, 194, Kiel, 10.

Alberta Wins Curling Title

EDMON (CP) — Alberta won its fifth Canadian curling championship Friday when Matt Baldwin's rink from the Edmonton Granite Club defeated New Brunswick 10-5 in the last round of the five-day tournament.
