

LOOKING TO CANADA FOR ALUMINUM

Big Contract With Alcan Proposed to Bolster Stock Of White Metal Across Line

WASHINGTON (CP)—The United States government will lay before the aluminum industry today proposals for a major "third round" expansion of United States aluminum production, together with a step-up in stockpiling and long-term purchase contract with Canada.

Defence production Administrator Manly Fleischmann and other defence officials will meet with aluminum and copper producers.

Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson will confer with high government, business and industry leaders on the aluminum program Thursday. Informed sources here said a memorandum drafted by Fleischmann's aluminum chief, Samuel W. Anderson, will be discussed. It is said to suggest:

- 1—A 150,000-ton annual expansion of domestic output largely by newcomers in the aluminum field.
- 2—Signing of a contract with the Aluminum Company of Canada for substantial purchases over the next seven years. The figure of 250,000 tons a year has been mentioned.
- 3—Substantial expansion of national defence stockpile of aluminum. Proposed figures are not obtainable.

Train Crash In Indiana

GARY, Indiana (CP)—A loaded commuter express, outbound from Chicago, ran on to the wrong siding in Gary station Tuesday night and hit an empty car, injuring 54 persons. Only six of the 54 remained in hospital after treatment and their injuries are described as not serious.

All Yukon Meatless

Commissioner Appealing Against British Columbia Embargo

VICTORIA (CP)—The far north Yukon territory faces a complete meatless future because of the foot and mouth disease embargo.

Fred Fraser, Commissioner of Yukon, has asked the British Columbia Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Harry Bowman, to modify the British Columbia embargo on prairie meat because all of Yukon's supply has to be shipped through B.C. He suggested the sealing of vehicles or some other measure to meet the urgent need for supplies in the mining districts.

French Ship Is Loading Grain

Freighter Jean L. D., Capt. J. Batas, will begin taking on her wheat cargo this afternoon. The French vessel arrived at 7 o'clock last night for her second visit here this winter. Cargo is for Japan. The vessel took on oil at Imperial Oil Co. dock before proceeding to the elevator this morning.

Dental Clinic Discussed by School Board

Board of school trustees agreed last night that Mrs. Earl Becker should represent the board on the committee of the Prince Rupert Children's Dental Clinic but was chary about getting entangled in any financial commitments.

Mrs. Becker, who had already attended a committee meeting, was enthusiastic about the work of the clinic which is to start operations soon even if it means making a grant. Other members of the board, however, were inclined to take a more conservative attitude.

The board heard that the provincial government contributed half of the cost of the clinic which charged each child using its services $4. Fees charged by the dentists and the hours of work they would be putting in were discussed.

Burma Education Commission Here

Janitors' Problems

Janitorial problems were among the matters which occupied the attention of the board of school trustees at the regular monthly meeting last night.

Principal A. M. Hurst reported that the women cleaners at new Booth Memorial High School were having a hard time keeping up with their work and some additional help may be required. A big vacuum cleaner was recently provided for the school in the hope that it would ease up the work. However, "more wages, more help, there seems no end to it," observed one trustee.

Mrs. Earl Becker, chairman of the Booth Memorial School committee, was asked to check up. Over at the new King Edward School mud tracked in from the grounds after ashes had been dumped on them was making a mess of the floors and bothering the janitors. A. J. Dominato, that school's chairman, said it was hoped to get the grounds covered with sand, cinders or gravel and thus improve the situation. There has also been a request for a heavy duty cleaner which will be checked up on before any purchase is made.

Inspector Discusses Education

Education Week in Prince Rupert was observed last night with a public meeting in the Civic Centre when a fair-sized audience heard an instructive and interesting address by Inspector of Schools G. W. Graham, Robert Moore, principal of King Edward School, was chairman.

The Booth Memorial School Band played an attractive program, under the direction of Fred Huber. Mr. Graham held that Education Week was certainly something of importance. It would help in having the public gain a better impression of what is being accomplished today in education.

Changes had come. They had been gradual. There had been criticism as well as approval. Mention was made of where in some homes, as many as three generations had been reared. It would be in a home such as this where changes in a school system were more likely to be readily accepted.

There was reference to Dr. Hume, noted Canadian educator whose recent comment in Maclean's magazine concerning the pupils of today and the results of their studies is arousing much attention. He has been charging that a great deal is lacking, and this, he alleges, could be placed at the door of the present system. He was, of course, entitled to his opinions which possessed a value.

Mr. Graham gave a general review of educational thought and methods in British Columbia today. Students should think independently — for the good of everybody and along lines of reason and common sense. They should learn to accept responsibility, strengthen their own character and develop the moral fibre so that, when the time came to go out into the world, they could face up to the realism that must be met.

If, remarked Mr. Graham, a pupil showed slight inclination to study and it was evident his time in school was largely wasted, it was better, he considered, for him to be outside holding a job rather than to be a loafer either in or out of school. A condition of idleness, above all, must be avoided. It was most essential for the school to maintain contact with boys and girls of this type.

Speaking briefly of sport and the school boy, the inspector stated that sometimes it might be thought a lad's thoughts were concentrated mainly on sport, rather than on the course of studies. This, however, was a misleading impression. A boy could turn out to be a good student and at the same time give plenty of attention to his games.

Having charge of a school meant the practice of kindness, tolerance, firmness, impartiality, knowledge of a subject, as well as its worth.

War Avoidable But Could Be Violent, Sudden — Churchill

LONDON (Canadian Press) — Prime Minister Winston Churchill, speaking in Parliament today, expressed the opinion that world war could be avoided but, if it did come, it would be sudden and violent. Much would depend on the home guard for defence as regular troops would be abroad.

Mr. Churchill expressed disappointment at the slowness of delivery of United States aid to Great Britain and said that Britain would need four instead of three years to carry out its current defence program.

The Prime Minister spoke particularly of defence tools and said that $300,000,000 allocated by the United States to Britain had not yet been received.

A Labor vote of non-confidence on the government's ability to carry out the defence program is coming up tonight.

Germ War Ridiculed

LONDON — Charges that the United Nations are waging germ warfare in North Korea were again denied with ridicule in London and Washington yesterday.

In Washington Secretary of State Dean Acheson said such charges were "nonsense and entirely false." He challenged the Communists to permit an independent investigation by such an organization as the International Red Cross executive.

In London the charges were described as "fantastic and disgraceful." Epidemic conditions in North Korea had become out of control and the Communists were endeavoring to blame it on some one else.

One Communist Chinese charge was that shells had been fired into North Korea containing plague germs.

Enrolment Highest Yet

Total of 1474 Pupils Attending Public Schools

Enrolment at Prince Rupert city schools set a new high mark in February this year at a total of 1474 as compared with 1461 in January of this year and 1361 in February 1951. Two years ago in February the enrolment was only 1359.

All city schools showed increased enrolment this February with the single exception of Booth Memorial High School which, at 516, was one off from January although still well ahead of 488 in February 1951.

Enrolment figures per school this February and last are:

	Feb.	Feb. 1951
Booth High	516	488
King Edward	374	318
Conrad (including Seal Cove)	291	272
Borden	293	281

Total 1474 1359
Rural schools in the area reported enrolments as follows: Port Essington, 33; Port Edward, 98 ('85 last year); Digby, 14 (19 last year); Sunnyside, 35.

New Strike on Stewart Canal

STEWART — Recent operations at the Stewart Canal gold mine, under the direction of John Haathi, are proving a success. Crosscutting in the main tunnel through a felsite dyke, a body of ore was encountered the exact extent of which is not yet determined.

Assays are not yet available but Mr. Haathi is extremely optimistic that this new discovery will prove of value to the property.

Development on this find is proceeding apace.

The property is situated on Mount Rainey adjoining the Big Four and its easy access to Stewart and tidewater make it an inviting possibility as a potential producer.

B.C. Ban May Be Relaxed

VICTORIA — Hon. Harry Bowman, provincial minister of agriculture, said today that British Columbia's ban on imports of livestock may be relaxed in a few days. (Rt. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, federal minister of agriculture, is calling a conference of federal-provincial agriculture ministers to take joint action on measures against spread of foot and mouth disease.)

Substitutes Turned Down

Dim view was taken by the board of school trustees at its meeting last night of a request from six substitute teachers for an increase in the scale of pay from $7 to $9 per day and in Nelson they receive $4.50.

The board's reply denying the request will point out that Prince Rupert is already paying the highest substitute scale in the province with two exceptions — Terrace and Birch Island. In Vancouver substitutes get from $7 to $9 per day and in Nelson they receive $4.50.

One trustee facetiously suggested that, "if the substitutes apologize for bothering us with this request, we may not reduce their pay."

Population Adds 85 Percent in Last 10 Years

Way, Military Activity and Mining Factors

AWA (CP)—The Yukon, strategically important on its way back to a new mining heyday, is the fastest-growing area and it's got figures to prove it.

On a percentage basis, the Yukon far outstripped any other area of Canada in the growth of its population between 1941 and 1951, an 85.10 percent hoist to 9096 from 4914.

In sheer numbers that boost was by no means compared with, say, Ontario's jump of more than 800,000 in the corresponding period but the fact still stands: the Yukon nearly doubled its population in the last decade.

Why the jump in this land of legends about a gold rush that made the Yukon's 1901 population 27,000 and then collapsed? Officials cite a number of reasons.

The Alaska Highway has gone through in the last decade, putting the Yukon on a direct road link between Edmonton and Alaska. In the last couple of years another important gravel road has been built northward from Whitehorse into the booming mining district of Mayo, a distance of 250 miles.

MILITARY BASE

Whitehorse has become an important military base in joint Canadian-American plans to defend the north. The air force has a base there. It is the heart of the army's engineering system for maintenance of the Alaska Highway.

The air base was developed during the war as part of the staging route for taking planes to Russia. Now it is a key base in plans to fight off any planes that might come from Russia.

Whitehorse's population has boomed from 754 in 1941 to 2600. Dawson has dropped from 1000 to 773.

But, aside from the military, the key to the Yukon's growth is mining. In 1946, for instance, the total value of minerals produced in the Yukon was $1,700,000, nearly all from gold in the Klondike.

In 1950 it was $8,000,000, with gold at $3,500,000, silver at $2,500,000 and lead at $1,900,000. Officials here think the total may hit $12,000,000 for 1951 and keep on going. The heart of this boom is the base-metal mining area around Mayo, between Whitehorse and Dawson.

Scale Printing

Production in February

in Prince Rupert for the first two months totals 52,630,909 compared with 36,000,000 of the corresponding period of last year.

The February was up 42 per cent as against 36,000,000 in the same period last year.

Figures, per species, were as follows	Figures for the same period last year
1,666,129	10,659,272
524,429	1,519,571
8,330,881	4,775,256

Figures for poles and piling were as follows this month: 1,110 lineal feet, 838 tons, 9,900 pieces. Last year in the same month 1,290 cords compared with 1,290 cords in the same month last year.

Spending Money Anyway

THE provincial legislature may not be going to do a lot as far as actual legislation or important decisions are concerned at the current session but it is, at least, going to provide for the spending of a lot of money.

The $2,000,000 we are to get for the Northern TransProvincial Highway may seem a mere bagatelle out of $142,000,000 but it's a lot better than we have been getting in the past so we are grateful for that. It is long overdue. Of course, as the government has already admitted, we could not be denied any longer in view of the great new development of our area. We will be needing another two million or more at the next session.

Another $9,500,000, we notice, is to be poured into the hospital insurance scheme to meet further deficit and bring the total government cost at date to $21,500,000. These are staggering figures and accent the necessity of getting the scheme of a sound and fair financial footing with a minimum of further delay. Meantime, the government would be well advised to get rid of the co-insurance nuisance which can be done even without legislative action by order-in-council which was the way that co-insurance was imposed in the first place.

The magnitude of the budget, the biggest in the history of the province, reminds us again of the big business provincial government has become and the importance of getting the present political circus over as soon as possible and settling down to the important business of running British Columbia and running it properly.

It Might Happen

THAT was serious reading yesterday in the account of Dr. Bede Harrison's address to the Registered Nurses' Association Monday night about the appalling possibilities of atomic bombing. Prince Rupert would very likely be on the front line in World War III and it is high time that we were realizing the fact and getting ourselves organized. There are plenty of things that can be done, of course, in addition to preparing for the crowning horror which would be atomic bombing.

We have been warned often enough about the importance of getting our civilian defence machinery into operation. The nurses are to be congratulated on the lead they are taking. The rest of the civilian defence organization in the city would do well to follow their example. This would be a likely target in another war.

German Boomerang?

MY OLD school chum Lester Pearson is home in Ottawa after the historic meeting of the NATO in Lisbon.

He and other principals at that meeting are now talking of its great success. From the short-range viewpoint of what they are trying for, their optimism is justified.

But right here I want to register a warning. I think the arrangement they are making with western Germany could turn out to be a terrible and tragic boomerang.

THE CORE of the Lisbon agreement is that NATO should set up a 50-division army, under command of General Eisenhower. This army would include 12 French divisions and 10 West German divisions.

The theory is that as the German, French, Italian, Dutch, Belgian and Luxembourg troops would all wear one uniform, all the old nationalisms of Europe would be forgotten.

I don't believe it for a single minute. In the last analysis, each soldier must obey his government. And from what I myself saw in Germany both in 1949 and 1951, German nationalism is the strongest of all the nationalisms. Every German, of every political persuasion, wants to regain his country's rights as a free agent equal with others. He wants his country reunited. He wants to get rid of ALL foreign occupying troops. And because he fears, and hence hates, Russia more than he fears, and hence hates, other foreigners, he would do almost anything in his power to get the Russians out.

WHEN West Germany is re-armed, she will quickly raise her quota of excellent divisions. The German soldier is as good as any in the world. There are plenty of crack generals available.

But for every division that we raise on our side the Russians will raise at least one GERMAN division on the other side. Ever since Stalingrad they have pampered a whole stable of German generals (such as Field Marshal Paulus) waiting to be trotted out at the head of a German army, allied with Russia.

There has been strong backing for this idea, anyway, ever since the days of the great Bismarck.

REMEMBER that the arch enemies Ludendorff and Lenin made a cynical bargain of convenience in 1917, whereby Lenin got back to Russia. Hitler and Stalin made another such bargain in 1939.

Now figure what would happen on some future day if the Russians said to the West German generals something like this: We will pull all our armies out of Germany and all our political agents too. You use your military power, in conjunction with your friends' power in East Germany, to set up one single government for all Germany. You can call that government

SCHOOL MEANS WORK—U.N. troops moved out of this school one day this winter. School boys moved in next morning to clean the yard and buildings. Classes started that afternoon. It's part of the young Korean's training in citizenship—which he also gets by street-cleaning chores once a month.

KOREA SURVEY

Stop-Gap Schools With Poor Equipment Problem

(Editor's Note: Bill Boss, Canadian Press Staff writer in Korea, has completed a two-week survey of conditions among the civilian population during the Korean winter. This article is the eighth of a series based on interviews with United Nations, Korean Republic and civilian sources.

By BILL BOSS Canadian Press Staff Writer

SUWON, Korea (CP)—A group of Korean school boys trudged along a road outside Suwon, carrying rush brooms, shovels and rice-straw mats. "We're getting our own school back today," said one. "The Americans moved out yesterday. We're going to clean it up this morning and then classes will begin."

The mats were to be seats, because there was no furniture. Since last August the 400 students of Sam II Middle School had gone to class in the undamaged Methodist Church. Principal Kim Dong Wha said Sam II school would have no heat, though the temperature was around zero, but there were "good paper windows" and a sound, corrugated-metal roof.

As for students cleaning their own school, that was nothing, he said.

"This is sanitation day when all middle school students, boys and girls, come to class with brooms and spades.

"Once a month they must spend two hours cleaning the city streets. It's partly to help the city, because in wartime there aren't enough men to keep the city clean, but mostly it is practical training in citizenship."

Wherever possible in Seoul province schools have been reopened. Classroom repair is under way, using free lumber, nails, glass and cement provided by the United Nations Civilian Assistance Command.

"We're working on 155 classrooms now," said the provincial team commander. "We'll increase the allocation as the work proceeds and materials become available."

Jack Purves, of Cranbrook, B.C., the C.A.C. welfare officer, said:

"The kids are going to school in buildings without windows, in tents, in unheated quarters—but they're going to school."

"Once school buildings are released by the army they are returned to the civilian authorities."

Texts and notebooks are scarce but there are reports that Canadian pulp is on the way and that it is to be turned over to the ministry of education.

Meanwhile, Seoul's colleges and universities are functioning in anything you want. All we demand is ironclad guarantees it will never be turned against us.

THE POINT is that the Russians can deliver to all Germans what all Germans want. We can't.

There is no answer to the "German problem" unless we liquidate rival nationalisms and nationalist power politics altogether. The German as a person would be an ideal citizen of a large federation. As a soldier in a World Police Force, carrying out the laws of a World Parliament, the German would be tops. It's Germany, the rival military power, that is the menace. We revive it at our own peril.

Does Education Cost Too Much?

By JOHN S. WILSON (Principal of Borden Street School)

My answer is, "Yes, far too much"; and the end of the price to be paid is not set yet. In my own lifetime, two world wars and the possibility of another are the proof that the cost of education is far too high. What aggravates the situation is that the nations have not learnt the lessons for which they have paid so dearly. But the topic I have been asked to write about is more local in its application. Yet even here we should be clear as to what we mean by education.

Education is the sum total of all the influences, conscious or unconscious, that the community exerts upon the citizens. For the child these begin in the home and indeed some are prenatal. What a child assimilates in the home has an important bearing on what he will assimilate outside. But what is even more important than the facts he may acquire are the attitudes he develops. When he plays with his companions on the streets he gains further education. Then in the wider ranges of school, though under more supervision, he adds to his education through contacts with his fellow-students. When he leaves school his education is influenced by his fellow-workers. Profitable agencies for the education of the child are various church activities and other organizations such as the Cubs, Boy Scouts, Sea Cadets, Army and Naval Reserves. The total of these is the community influence, and here is where every citizen has a grave responsibility, both by his spoken word and by his conduct. However, as this is named ray... Reflects and Reminisces

For the first time in 38 years, railway building will again be under way in northern British Columbia before long. Steel will link Terrace with Kitimat. Construction crews, location sites, land clearing, blasting, bridge building—once again the stirring sights and sounds like when the Grand Trunk Pacific was dynamiting its way along the Skeena, down to the sea.

This little line—it may cost twenty millions—will mean much to Skeena and the whole north, generally. It will spur the vast Alcan enterprise and stimulate affairs that tie in with Prince Rupert and Terrace as well as with developments in other directions. And some day, after the present monster contracts are finished, the Kitimat, Prince Rupert, Terrace jaunt will make an attractive holiday trip, not too long or costly and with scenic charm on land and water, both salt and fresh.

SPIKE DRIVEN

Comparatively few who saw Prince Rupert's first train arrive are left. There was little ceremony anywhere, that sunny afternoon back in the early summer of 1914. The spike driving home the final rail, in the upper Nechako Valley, was made of gold. It was the eve of long awaited fulfilment. People felt cheerful. Two oceans united at last. Now watch this new terminus away out in the new northwest outclass everything else!

The roomy, rambling Premier Hotel, painted a dull red and situated handy to where the cinder path today leads down to the railway yards, did a good business the rest of that epochal day. The pioneers could see swift development, for hadn't the greatest railway system with the lowest grade on earth, been actually built? They could see plenty—except the shadow of a war that has not ended yet.

RAILROADERS AGAIN

Nevertheless, it arouses one to hear of something new in railroads and to speculate on its future. In the years to come, there will be more than a strip of metal twixt Kitimat and Terrace. The north is still a virgin land. The immensity of what is going on now in an industrial sense, demonstrates this.

As time goes on, as more examples of major enterprise are seen, more lines of steel will cut through the forests of British Columbia, Yukon and Alaska. It is all a mighty wilderness full of resources and some of these are wanted.

Manitoba Embargo

WINNIPEG (CP)—Manitoba has placed an embargo on all livestock shipments from western Canada. This was announced by Hon. F. C. Bell, Minister of Agriculture, who stated in the provincial legislature Monday afternoon that the embargo order followed the outbreak of foot and mouth disease in Saskatchewan.

It was put into effect by an order-in-council, passed at a meeting of the Legislative Council.

Mr. Bell stated the embargo will include all shipments of cattle, sheep, swine and meat carcasses. It would not apply to cooked or canned meats.

Education Week

(This is another of a series of essays for Education Week by pupils of Booth Memorial High School. The subject: Should John Quit School and Get a Job?)

(By MARNA MARK, 12-1)

Suppose, for an example, you take John who comes from a poor family on the wrong side of the tracks. His family, which consists of four boys and three girls, are very badly off financially. Because John is the oldest (he is 16) he feels that he should join the working throngs to help his father support the family.

Although his mother and father have only Grade Six education, they realize that the young people of today need at least High School graduation. John has no job lined up but he feels he should quit school to look for one in spite of the fact that his parents wish him to graduate.

John is very popular with his classmates. His teachers all feel he is a responsible person. John is in good health and goes in for sports in a big way. By no means do sports interfere with his studies. His high scholastic ability has earned him top marks.

This John would be foolish to quit school. He has no job in sight. His parents wish him to remain at school. They feel that they can manage until he graduates. Because he gets on so well in school he has a chance for a good job after graduation. No doubt, if he did go to work, he would get along as well as he does in school, but his education means a good future for him.

RICH BOY

John II is a rich boy, rather spoiled, and good looking. He lives with his father and half a dozen servants. His parents are divorced, John's father runs a large plant which, no doubt, will in turn be run by John. His father doesn't really care what John does as long as he stays out of trouble. He doesn't bother with Parent-Teacher meetings and signs John's very poor report cards without a word.

Being an only child of a broken home has left its mark on John. He is spoiled and conceited. Although he has the ability to get good marks in school, he doesn't bother. He knows that his father can get him a good, high-paying job at the plant. John doesn't go in for sports. He doesn't get on well with teachers or classmates.

This John should not quit school either. He needs University education to help him fill the top executive position which will be his when his father retires. John should buckle right down and apply his abilities. However, if he balks at this, his father should insist that he gets a job at the plant and works his way up to the top from the very bottom.

AVERAGE

John III comes from an average Canadian family. His parents aren't rich but they have plenty with which to get along. John doesn't have to go to work. His allowance is as much or more than other boys his age get. His family, however, presents a problem. They feel that school is a waste of time. John's father gets along well enough and he didn't complete high school. If a teacher gives John a talking to, John's mother gives the teacher a talking to. P-TA is just a nuisance.

John is the youngest in a family of four. His older brothers and sister are either working or married. In school John is rather dull; in spite of his efforts his marks are poor. He is good in sports. Through his industrial arts courses, he has found that he has a high mechanical aptitude. Last summer he had a job in a garage and found that he liked that kind of work. His employer found him a very reliable boy.

Since he came back to school last fall the owner of the garage in which he worked offered an apprenticeship in garage mechanics. John would like to apply for this but feels that if he quits school his future may be harmed by not enough education. His parents keep urging him to quit school and go to work. They think he is "dumb." Of course, he isn't mentally dull; he just hasn't much scholastic ability.

John would probably be well advised to quit school if he can get the apprenticeship. Once he has completed this training he will have behind him a good background for a job as a mechanic anywhere. Good mechanics are always in demand. Because John's interests lie in this field he will probably never regret taking this step.

DOES EDUCATION COST

Education Week, perhaps most of our thoughts deal with the schools. And in this connection I am certain that education does not cost too much. It is the lack of education that raises the cost of education. Some citizens look at their tax notices and interpret the school mill rate as the cost of education... and grumble. But a study of the real cost will show that the city gets a substantial grant from the provincial government to offset a large portion of this so that what the citizen pays is really much less. But if the amount paid were correct, I would still say that we do not pay too much for education. I speak from a long experience of teachers, and agree with the comment of the columnist Elmore Philpott when he refers to the teachers as being "over worked and under paid." There is no body of employees who do more conscientious work than teachers. That is why so many leave the profession and seek other lines of work that are less demanding and often better paid.

For many years, school buildings have been neglected and have now reached the stage where replacements must be made. This is considered a great expenditure of money. Yet any business firm with similar commitments would have insisted on more modern buildings and equipment years ago. The cost of adequate buildings is not too high.

The material teachers work with is the most valuable in the land. It is the children of the nation. Reasonable thinkers agree that such raw material must be handled by the best trained experts and under the best conditions that can be obtained. Teachers take a demanding course in preparation for their work. They are ready to adopt the best of new and proven methods. It is only as a nation recognizes the importance of teachers that education will progress. The return on such investment is manifold. At a parent-teacher meeting some time ago Rev. L. G. Sieber emphasized the fact that world unity stems from the community. That is one more reason why education of the child is supremely important. For on the education of the children of our own and other communities depends the safety and peace of the world. For such a return, no expense is too great. But we have not reached that stage yet. It is well that we should ask the question. I am convinced that the correct answer is that that phase of education, which may be more precisely called schooling, does not cost too much.

At School Board

The board heard from the architects of the two recently-built new schools that there were certain items still to be completed by the contractors. The board was told that there were workmen at the schools now cleaning up these details. There will be a final check at next meeting of the board to ascertain that everything has been completed.

School accounts for February totalling $26,833.54 were passed at last night's board meeting. Spent from bylaw funds was $1,838.42. Additional January bills amounted to $276.82.

Cagey Opening Lead Sets Mr. Dale by Four Tricks

"I still want to know," said Mr. Champion, "how you managed to lose four tricks on this hand. The two red aces are your only losers—unless East got off to the impossible lead of the ace of diamonds and another one."

"Just a minute," replied Mr. Dale. "It's very easy to look at all 52 cards and say I couldn't miff this contract. First, let me say that the lead you call impossible is the lead East actually made. And after the cashing the ace of diamonds, he continued with the deuce."

"Now consider my problem," Mr. Dale continued. "I knew East was a fine player. I couldn't figure his leading away from an ace-queen. It seemed more likely that he had opened from the doubleton ace-deuce, hoping to get a third round ruff."

"It looked like Mr. West had the queen of diamonds and that

JUTE PRODUCTION UP
 NEW DELHI (CP)—Food Minister K. M. Munshi reported that jute production in India rose from 3,300,000 bales to 4,700,000 bales in the past year. An additional 500,000 acres were put under production of jute, a vegetable fibre used for making sacks and many other products.

HICCUP SUFFERER
 LEEDS, England (CP)—Fred Ramsden, 65, who suffered severe hiccups for six months, died in hospital here. He believed the main cause of his ailment was his action in diving into a canal six years ago to save a girl from drowning.

Telephone Superintendent Eric James asked the school board at its meeting last night what plans there might be for development of the grounds on the east end of Hays Cove Circle in front of the new High School building. This would have a bearing on telephone cables which were to be run through there. Mr. James will be advised to bury his cables deep as a terrace plan of ground development is contemplated.

Piano and radio from the recently closed school at Port Simpson have been brought to the city. The piano is being sent to Mike Colussi for tuning before being taken to Conrad Street school. The radio has been checked and repaired and will probably go to one of the rural schools.

G. E. Freeman, vice-principal of King Edward School, advised the board that, for reasons of health, he would have to be away until after Easter. He is now in Vancouver where he has undergone an operation. A substitute is taking care of his duties while he is away.

Rent of the school board offices in the Besner Block has been upped from $50 to $62.50. There was nothing that could be done about it, the board conceded, although trustees looked around and wondered if some repairs might not be asked for to brighten up the place. The registered letter, which brought notice of the increase, was filed.

Miss B. E. Trembath, who has taught school in Vancouver for thirty-seven years and is described by Owen J. Thomas, assistant superintendent of Vancouver schools as an excellent teacher, wants to come to Prince Rupert as an exchange teacher for a year. She is an elementary teacher, specializing in library work. Local staffs will be circularized about exchanging and the matter is left to the inspector of schools.

The board met a request from the Department of Education for copies of the minutes of each board meeting so that it may keep in touch with what is going on. The board felt that this was a reasonable request in view of the substantial grants which the Department makes towards the operation of the schools.

In view of requests that the teachers' unions are making in some places, the Department of Education reminded the local board that there was no provision in the School Act for boards to make contributions to medical service schemes for employees.

Davis Shoots High With 22 in Exhibition Cage Thriller

Challengers 66, Merchants 33

Davis barged from behind the guard curtain to score 22 points for Co-op Challengers, of them with his favorite "fall-away" shot from the key, in a rough and ready hoop exhibition swamped New Metlakatla Merchants.

Rupert cagers scored twice as many times as the Merchants, the game was without competition. The Alaskans played with as much spirit as any team on a rink. There were many and ref-erence whistles to allow a fair play.

Next basketball game at the Civic Centre features the second of a best-of-three final series between Mansons and Elks on Thursday night.

$500 Fine For Saddler

MONTREAL (CP)—The Montreal Athletic Commission Tuesday followed up disqualification of Sandy Saggier with a $500 fine and released the world feather-weight champion's purse.

After a special meeting of the commission, Chairman Emile Gauthier said Saddler's forthcoming induction into the United States Army would be taken into consideration but "if it was an ordinary time, we would suspend him."

Saddler was warned repeatedly by Referee Tommy Sullivan for holding, hitting on the breaks, heeling and other illegal tactics in a bout Monday night with Armand Savoie.

Allowed to Go On Hoop Tour

Although not very enthusiastic about it, board of school trustees last night granted permission to Leslie Matthews of Booth Memorial High School staff to go to Penticton for the forthcoming Senior A provincial basketball play-offs. He will, however, be required to forego salary during the period of his absence and a suitable substitute must be provided.

Alex Bill, coach of the local team which is challenging for provincial senior hoop honors, asked the board to give Mr. Matthews' permission to go and the request also had the blessing of R. H. Davidson, president of the Prince Rupert Basketball Association and also vice-principal of Booth Memorial School.

The team leaves next Tuesday for Penticton and, if it is eliminated at Penticton, will return March 16. If it wins at Penticton it will go on to Vancouver and return home March 23.

Parents See Only One New School Problem

King Edward Open House Occasion of Interest—Everybody Happy

More than 100 parents, many accompanied by future pupils, took advantage of open house at King Edward school yesterday afternoon during the annual celebration of Education Week. For many parents it was the first time in the new school and they saw:

1. One of the most modern school buildings in the province.
2. Classrooms well prepared to receive them with distinct projects featured by murals, blackboard drawings, cut-outs, etc.
3. Happy looking teachers who welcomed them sincerely.
4. Proud children whose grinning features showed how they felt about their parents taking an interest in their work.
5. An orderly, yet completely frank and informal atmosphere throughout the well-kept school.
6. A program of entertainment provided for them by the children and teachers which showed a high degree of co-operation and intensive effort.

Between 1:15 and 1:45 p.m., parents were urged by teachers to mix with their children in the classrooms, following which principal R. G. Moore directed the program in the school gym where seating was provided for an enthusiastic audience.

THE PROGRAM

There was singing in two-part harmony and square dancing by Grade V pupils under direction of Class Teacher Joe Goscoe. Miss Ann Beketov paced her Grade I class through the choral recitation of "The Furry Bear."

A comedy play with a moral was presented by Grade IV pupils under direction of Mrs. Patrewit, which featured a Red Cross theme and prevention of accidents. Partly maimed and moaning children were cautioned by the "nurse" to "use your heads."

Pre-school children, accompanying their parents, visibly enjoyed the program as well as the adults. A ripple of laughter in the audience was sustained when one youngster kept swinging his arms and shouting at the stage: "Christopher! Christopher! Christopher! . . ."

Folk dancing, action songs, a basketball drill and a portrayed class in social studies were directed respectively by Mrs. L. Rapp, Miss Edith Jack, Paul Toppalan and Principal Moore.

A "silver" tea, prepared and served by King Edward PTA with the help of teachers, was enjoyed in the school lunch room. Proceeds will be turned over to the Preventive Dental Clinic.

the school authorities in addition to $3000 worth of instruments which are on loan from the Navy.

Principal A. M. Hurst suggested that the new High School was not being used to the best advantage yet since there was some carpentry work still to be done. Mr. Hurst suggested that a carpenter be engaged for a week. The school committee will look into the matter.

Influenza epidemic hit hard at attendance in city schools during February and cut down the percentage attendance records. At Booth Memorial High School as many as 100 pupils were stricken and the malady also caused absenteeism among teachers.

LULLINGSTONE, England (CP)—Archaeologists excavating a Roman villa here unearthed 7000 shattered pieces of murals believed to have decorated the home of a Roman official. Besides being broken, the pieces are discolored by fire.

Original wage increase demands were 25 per cent. The union has accepted the $30 a month increase the city offered last week, which is approximately half of the increase sought originally.

Allan Griffin, district passenger agent of Canadian National Railways and Canadian National Steamships, arrived on the Prince George today for an official business trip. He is making the round trip to Ketchikan and will proceed from here by tomorrow evening's train to Jasper enroute back to Vancouver.

T. G. Bateman, principal of Conrad Street School, who is an enthusiastic curler, was granted permission by the school board last night to take a couple of afternoons off later this month to participate in the Prince Rupert Curling Club's bonspiel providing his rink reaches the finals. It was one of the few requests that the board, which seemed to be in a rather critical mood last night, granted with enthusiasm.

Heading the committee in charge was Mrs. J. McKay, senior regent of the Women of the Moose. Mrs. R. Barwise was mistress of ceremonies.

W. S. Orr Named Commissioner

STEWART.—At the last meeting of the village commissioners here, W. Shields Orr was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Ernest Love who resigned this year to take up the position of village clerk vacated by T. Forsyth. Mr. Forsyth resigned to take up a similar position at Burns Lake.

He was the Policewomen. It was their duty to hail any offenders before the M.C. and have them fined for infractions of the rules governing the dance.

It was a gala affair, residents of Premier and Hyder, Alaska, joining with those of Stewart to make it a success financially and socially.

The men were only allowed to ask a lady to dance when it was men's choice, otherwise a fine was imposed on any daring male who was guilty of an infraction of the rule.

Fresh flowers for the table were imported by plane from Prince Rupert and these were auctioned off at the end of the dance.

Music was supplied by Addie Bremser, at the piano, and Axel J. Melville on the traps, both employees of the Sibak Premier mine.

Terrace Hospital WA Active Body

TERRACE.—Women's Auxiliary to the Terrace Hospital has purchased an inhalator for the hospital and the equipment is now in use. The WA also has provided the hospital with a number of hot water bottles.

The Auxiliary has been finding a series of galloping teas profitable and has raised $25 by means of same. They will be continued with the treasurer, Miss Elliott Head, and the secretary, Mrs. George McAdams, receiving the proceeds.

To raise funds to provide curtains for a new lounge, a telephone bridge and canasta party will be held.

A fashion show will be staged to make money towards the purchase of bedding for the ten new hospital beds.

Twenty-nine members attended the last meeting in the hospital lounge which has been found too small, necessitating a new meeting place. The next gathering of the WA will be held March 27 at the home of Mrs. Norton.

WA members named to the hospital visiting committee were Mrs. W. Martin, Mrs. W. Fell, Mrs. M. Weir and Mrs. D. G. Little.

Refreshments were served by the social convener, Mrs. W. C. Osborne.

Francois Lake Dances Popular

FRANCOIS LAKE.—Francois Lake dances are drawing record crowds. On Friday evening more than two hundred dancers enjoyed a "Sadie Hawkins" dance. Prizes were offered for the most realistic L'il Abner and Daisy Mae. Although everyone was wearing slacks and colored shirts and gingham and looked fine, there was no question who were the winners when Bill Gilligan led his pretty little blonde wife onto the floor, for it was just as though L'il Abner and Daisy Mae had stepped right off the comic strips.

A Burns Lake trio, Marie Lachigne, Helen and Harry Propp, were so realistic with the girls dressed in gunny sacks and Harry with a long black beard that they were presented with a prize each. They then sang two comic songs which delighted their audience.

There were eight square dances which are now so popular, as well as waltzes, schottisches and foxtrots.

Telkwa Brownies Being Organized

TELKWA.—Keen interest is being taken in the forming of the Telkwa Brownie pack under the leadership of Mrs. Les Donaldson. Twenty-five members turned out for the last meeting. Sixteen of these are of Brownie age and nine will be "cadettes."

The afternoon was spent in teaching the fundamentals of the opening and closing ceremonies. The study periods will commence at the next meeting and the discussion of uniforms will be brought up.

This is a new activity for Telkwa. It is hoped that Girl Guides and Boy Scouts may be brought into being later on.

Milk Inspector Visits Telkwa

TELKWA.—Douglas Milward, Department of Agriculture inspector of New Westminster, arrived from Vancouver at the middle of last week to visit the dairy farms in the district.

Mr. Milward is sent out by the government to check on the record of performance of the pure bred milk cows. He stated that a new process in the evaporation of milk will soon be in effect. This will be a boon to shippers as it will reduce the bulk in shipping and handling.

a splendid view of the distant mountain peaks.

George Ogston of Vanderhoof stopped off for a brief visit before journeying on to Terrace on business.

Mrs. Katie Chapman, who has started in business, is located in the office which was used by the Co-operative Association.

Mrs. Bunny Bradley has accepted a position in the government office in Smithers where she commences duties Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Griffiths left on Monday for Vancouver driving a newly purchased car. Mr. Griffiths was acting superintendent of the Copper Ridge mine for the past year, and Mrs. Griffiths has been visiting her husband here for several months. In all probability they will be back.

The Leap Year dance at Round Lake was well patronized. A 528-3rd Ave., Prince Rupert, B.C. number from here attended.

Bingo games are again in session every Friday night in the Catholic Club rooms. A fair crowd was in attendance last week.

To Instal Rotary Club at Smithers

Prince Rupert Rotary Club is planning a pilgrimage to Smithers for the induction of a new club there on March 15. Several members are planning on going. George Mitchell is organizing the trip.

Mrs. Steve Marcy and Robert spent the week-end with Mrs. Marcy's parents near Prince George.

Mrs. Henkel is now staying with Mrs. Keefe who has just returned from Vancouver.

Mrs. Van Tine called in on Saturday morning on her way to California for a holiday.

Career of Gus Kahn Pictured

Career of Gus Kahn, who ranks with George Gershwin, Jerome Kern and Cole Porter as one of the great popular music writers, forms the basis for "I'll See You in My Dreams," coming to the Capitol Theatre here this Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Danny Thomas takes the role of the composer of 800 hit tunes during an era of Ziegfeld musicals, gay cabarets and the Broadway of twenty-five years ago.

The film also has the popular Doris Day as Kahn's wife and partner, Frank Lovejoy as his collaborator and Patrice Ymore as a musical comedy star.

The film traces Kahn's life from the day he walks into a music publishing house with a set of lyrics including "I Wish I Had a Girl," until he reaches the heights of song writing with the score of the biggest Ziegfeld production of the day.

Some of the well known favorite tunes in this picture include "Memories," "Carolina in the Morning," "My Buddy," "Making Whoopee" and "Yes, Sir, That's My Baby."
