Budget 'Secrets' to be Told Citizens at 5 p.m. Thursday

OTTAWA (CP)—The government means that the budget will be a surprise to the Canadian taxpayers. The budget will be presented in the Commons on that day. Finance Minister Louis St. Laurent will present his budget. He will outline how he proposes to raise taxes, duties and sources of government revenue for the fiscal year starting April 1.

$29,000,000 higher in the next fiscal year than in 1952-53. But the government will end the year with a bigger-than-expected surplus—about $100,000,000 to $125,000,000—so the betting is strong that the budget will bend toward lower taxes. This is generally expected to be the last budget before a general election. Here are some of the ways Mr. St. Laurent could lighten the taxpayer's load: He could cut personal income taxes; scale down the impost on cigarettes, tobacco and spirits; eliminate the annual $2.50 radio licence fee and trim some of the duties on consumer goods.

Of course the finance minister may not do any of these things. He has already set his course but will retain his secret until he delivers his budget address in the Commons. Those who predict that he will favor the budget with tax reductions refer to a previous statement by Mr. St. Laurent. He said that increased production is the key to any possible tax cuts for the next fiscal year. And there are indications that national production is booming. The national production was worth between $22,600,000,000 and $22,750,000,000 in the current fiscal year.

CCF MLAs Seek Better Deal In Rupert, Atlin Constituencies

Indian Problems Outlined

By The Canadian Press

VICTORIA—Problems of two British Columbia minority groups were put before provincial legislature Monday afternoon.

Frank Calder (CCF—Atlin), only Indian member of a Canadian Legislature and spokesman for 28,000 B.C. Indians, suggested jurisdiction of Indian affairs be placed entirely under the province. Jurisdiction now is divided between the Federal and provincial governments.

Randolph Harding (CCF—Kaslo-Slocan) said Doukhobors should be granted full Canadian citizenship. They now are denied the right to vote.

Mr. Calder said nearly all natives in B.C. are non-treaty Indians; that is, white pioneers did not sign treaties with them.

ALL RESERVATION

"We still consider every inch of B.C. as Indian reservation," he said B.C. had done more for Indians than any other province although there is still much to be done. "We are practically free compared to Indians east of the Rockies."

Commenting on the government's announcement that it has given Frobisher Ltd. permission to make surveys for a possible hydro-electric project in the northwest corner of the province—Calder's riding—he said the company should undertake to safeguard northern communities.

He said a dam below Whitehorse, in the Yukon, might back up water so that it would wipe out the towns of Garcross and Atlin, cut the Alaska Highway and flood the Yukon and White Pass railway.

He wanted to see the north opened up, but the government should make certain that the province's rights are protected.

RESOURCES UNKNOWN

"As the Member for, and resident of, Atlin, I have always maintained that area holds a vast potential of development. The magnitude of the resources is as yet unknown."

"Any move to survey the area is most certainly welcome. However, any plan for its resource or water power development must be of such a nature as to give the greatest benefit to the B.C. economy and give a just return to the people whose natural heritage they basically are."

"B.C. must be careful to see that any development of northern water power will aid in provincial development and not solely be the utilization of our water power for establishing industry outside our borders."

(Frobisher plans to build a 5,000,000-horsepower project straddling the B.C.-Yukon border, using power for a giant chemicals industry.)

JOIN RCMP

Mr. Calder also suggested more Indians be assimilated into the public school system; that some Indians be accepted into the RCMP so they could police reservations; that Indians be permitted to buy land off reservations and they be protected from loss of trappings because of expanding timber interests.

Mr. Harding said the Doukhobor problem is "very, very serious."

School in his district, he said, had to be guarded at night from possible fire raids by Sons of Freedom sect members and trains had to carry guards. Settlers are refusing to enter the area.

City Resident Loses Brother In UK Flood

A city resident has been informed that his eldest brother and sister-in-law were drowned in their home by floods on the east coast of England.

Syd Hamblin of 420 Fourth Avenue East received a letter from a relative saying his brother William, 87, and his wife Della, 85, were trapped in the lower apartment of their summer resort at Ramsgate and drowned.

The senior Hamblin's son and daughter-in-law, living in an upper apartment, escaped.

Ramsgate is one of many areas on the English east coast devastated by tidal floods during the past two weeks.

And while reports from the flood-devastated countries of Europe continue to tell of the disaster, relief funds are swelling.

Additional returns from the house-to-house canvass by the Prince Rupert European Flood Relief Committee has swelled the fund to $2,528.30, Harry Scholten, secretary-treasurer announced this morning.

Meanwhile, an interesting entertainment feature has been planned by the campaign committee, headed by Eric Faure, next Friday at the Legion Auditorium. A free show will be presented of the film "Forests of the Future," which depicts the various activities of Columbia Cellulose Co. Ltd. Other pictures also will be shown. A collection will be taken for the fund.

Hills Asks Portion Of Liquor Profits

Special to The Daily News

VICTORIA.—A demand that the provincial government allocate a portion of liquor profits to the city of Prince Rupert to help defray costs of policing the city was voiced in the Legislature last night by George Hills.

Making his maiden speech in the House, the CCF member for Prince Rupert quoted the annual report of the Liquor Control Board showing a net profit on the operations of the Prince Rupert liquor store of $510,796.58.

"With this kind of profit," said Mr. Hills, "the government can well afford to assist the municipalities with their policing problem, a problem which arises in large part from liquor sales."

He noted that all British Columbia municipalities policed by the RCMP had recently faced an increase in cost per man, and that those with their own police forces were forced to pay larger salaries in order to attract and keep the right type of officer.

BRINGS SMILES

Mr. Hills said the Prince Rupert constituency, with 1.2 per cent of the B.C. population, consumed 2.6 per cent of the total liquor sold in the province last year.

The Prince Rupert member brought a smile to the house when he suggested that the Liquor Control Board "stop paying freight on water" shipped to the north coast from Vancouver.

"If and when the government considers the granting of further brewery licences I would suggest that applications from my constituency be given consideration, if only for economy's sake," he declared.

Mr. Hills, who prepared the house with gifts of canned crab and clams on each desk, confined his speech largely to matters of "keen interest in my constituency."

GENERALLY SATISFIED

While indicating that he was generally satisfied with the halibut fishing provisions of the International Fisheries Treaty, he asked the government to lend strong support to a bill currently before the federal house to expand the definition of Canadian waters on a "hearthland to headland" basis.

Such a definition was particularly needed, the speaker claimed, to reserve Hecate Strait to Canadian fishermen.

A second matter recommended for representation at Ottawa was the condition of Prince Rupert's Cow Bay floats.

"These floats are in deplorable condition," Mr. Hills declared, "and I warn the government not to let them rot."

Volcano Erupts Again

By The Canadian Press

KODIAK, Alaska.—The fiery volcano at the base of the Alaska Peninsula erupted again Monday for the second time in less than 24 hours, shooting a mushroom smoke cloud like an atom blast eight miles into the sky.

A dense pall of ash and smoke billowed outward for more than 100 miles in some directions from the angry cone, swirling on wind currents by the intense heat of the still unidentified volcano.

No villages rimming the thinly-settled wilderness area of the Mt. Katmai National Monument—region of active volcanoes and valley of 10,000 smokes—were believed in any danger.

Fishing Boat Overdue Here

The halibut ship, Balsac 1, notified B.C. Packers shortly after 3 p.m. this afternoon that she is safe at Marble Island, off the western entrance to Skidgate Channel.

RCMP and the U.S. Coastguard as well as Digby Island radio were alerted today by B.C. Packers Ltd. for the overdue fishing vessel Balsac 1, unreported since Jan. 17 when she cleared harbor here for the west coast of Queen Charlotte Islands.

The vessel, on a black-codding trip, was expected to return last week.

Besides her skipper, Einer Teiseth, the Balsac 1 carries a crew of four.

THE LINER GOTHIC will carry Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh on part of their round-the-world Commonwealth tour starting next November. The Royal Couple will fly to Bermuda and Jamaica. They then will sail through the Panama canal and across the Pacific to New Zealand and Australia on the Gothic. The ship was refitted for a 1952 trip, cancelled because of the death of King George VI. The liner is shown in the river Mersey.

An Unselfish Contribution

ALL over the world mankind is showing the spirit of fellowship, which is the highest mark of civilization, in its desire to help those who were battered and impoverished by a rampaging sea.

This is surely the silver lining of the heavy black cloud of disaster. At a time when international animosities occupy so much attention, there is fresh inspiration and hope in the sight of ordinary citizens everywhere rising to the help of those whom they have never seen, and whose language they may not speak, simply because they are fellow humans in dire trouble.

As befits a country which, for all its young years, has consistently shown a mature awareness of the problems of others, Canada is responding with a ready heart to the call for help. It has paused in its affairs of state to consider the victims' plight and to formulate plans for assistance. Its first citizen, the Governor-General, has personally assumed responsibility for directing the national effort to answer the appeal.

Farthest removed of all Canadian cities from the calamitous scene, Prince Rupert is making up in generosity what it lacks in proximity. Led by those who have ties with the Netherlands but whose concern embraces all three countries affected, the people of this city are making an unselfish contribution for the relief of their luckless fellow beings.

It must be realized, however, that we are not coping with any fleeting misfortune which will be gone tomorrow. For some of those whom the floods struck, the grim aftermath will last for years. Fields once fertile have become salt flats where crops will be long absent.

The English, Belgians and Dutch are industrious and will not wait idly for the years to pass, but their future holds some anxious times. The more we give now, the less their anxiety becomes. The knowledge of this may be our only reward, but it is a great one.

British Fair To Display New Building Development For Canada

Britain's new prefabricated building industry is coming to the rescue of Canada's home-hunters and hard-pressed builders.

Canada's frantic scramble for more homes and schools, more workshops and hospitals for her expanding cities, new towns and development projects is being increasingly met by the use of prefabricated buildings from the United Kingdom.

Ever since the war ended, British construction experts have been busy studying the building needs of Canada and other countries. And in order to meet the general shortage of skilled labor and orthodox building materials, they have perfected the use of new materials and methods which confine most of the skill required to the factory.

A comprehensive array of the latest advances to be made in prefabricated structures will be on display for the first time at the British Industries Fair to be held at Earls Court, London, from April 27 to May 8.

Canadian businessmen, representatives of the services and federal, provincial and municipal building authorities will be given every facility to study and inspect at first hand a wide range of these good-looking, durable buildings, which can be immediately utilized for the establishment of whole towns.

Canadian visitors will be introduced to a "Sectional City" made up of prefabricated buildings, several of which have been specially designed for the Canadian market.

The display will include a complete school and a clinic constructed of aluminum and many types of prefabricated dwelling houses made of metal and timber which can be erected in three to eight hours.

Particularly in the supersonic age, he said in a CBC address, Canadians need the friendship of those millions of people who live in south and southeast Asia and who, in this divided world, are not sure which way to turn.

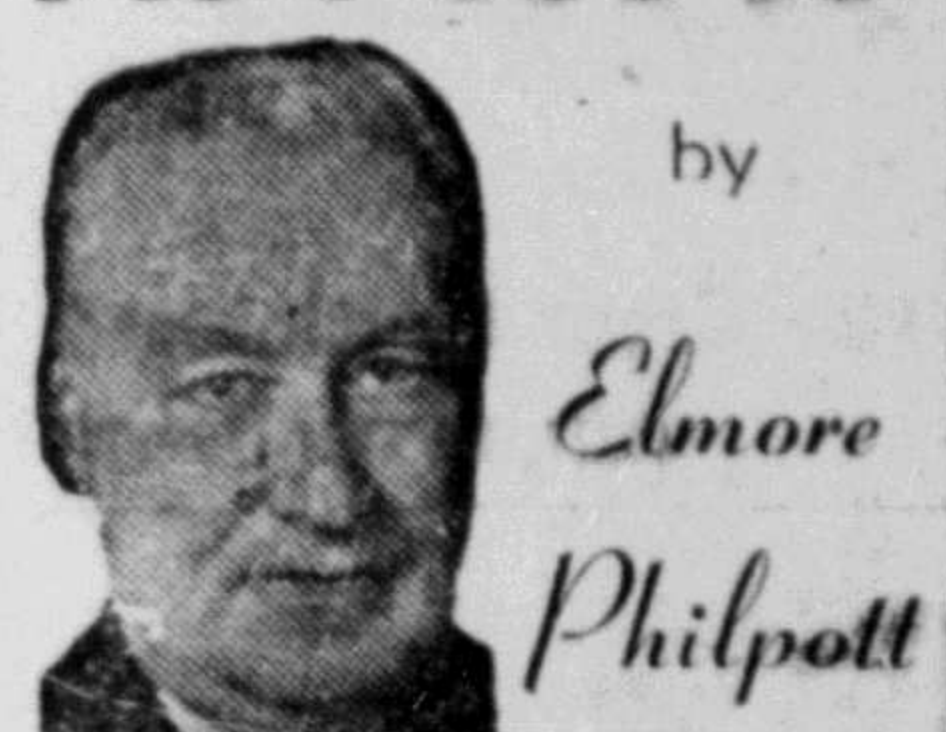

The Prime Minister's speech opened Brotherhood Week, a period devoted to the Canadian spirit of brotherhood, despite the differences in religious beliefs, racial origins and cultures.

The week-long dedication is sponsored annually by the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews. Prime Minister St. Laurent is honorary chairman of the observance. J. Gerald Godsoe, vice-president of British-American Oil Company is general chairman.

More than seven thousand communities in Canada and the United States are participating in this year's program marking the fifth annual Brotherhood Week observance and the fifth anniversary of the Canadian Council of Christians and Jews.

As I See It

London Likes Plan

THE trade plan which I have promoted through this column for years back has now won powerful support in the British House of Commons.

On his return from Canada Mr. Harold Wilson told his fellow M.P.'s there is "widespread interest" in Canada in the suggestion that some of our Canadian purchases should be paid for in sterling and any surplus which might develop held in the form of sterling balances on Canadian account in London.

He described my own column on this as "very constructive and realistic."

Mr. Wilson is a former Labor president of the Board of Trade. Hence I see great significance in the fact that my own arguments on this matter have won sympathy and attention from J. M. Macdonell, the chief Conservative financial expert in our parliament.

HERE AGAIN is the main outline of the plan. Canada and Britain would make a new kind of deal, based on agreement to keep net balance of payments equal year by year.

In effect, this would solve Britain's Canadian dollar scarcity problem, and regain markets we are losing fast.

Canada would say to Britain "We will accept your money, sterling, for everything you buy from us—lumber, salmon, apples, wheat, metals, and so forth."

This money would be deposited by the individual buyers in a Bank of Canada account in London. The Bank of Canada would pay the Canadian sellers of the goods in Canadian dollars. When the British sold goods to Canada they too would receive payment in pounds sterling out of the special account — the Canadian buyers paying in the equivalent in our dollars.

So far all that is simple and familiar. But the key to the plan is this:

In any year where Canada had a net surplus on the total trading account we would take steps to wipe out that balance by investments in the sterling area.

LET US TAKE two typical years and see how this would work out. The Canada Year Book shows that in 1939 Canada bought from Britain goods worth $114 millions. We sold to Britain goods worth $328 millions.

Had the plan been in operation that year it would have been necessary for the Canadian government to arrange for purchase of stocks and bonds on the British market to the value of $214 millions.

In 1948 we bought $299 millions from Britain and sold $689 millions. Had the plan been in operation that year it would have been necessary to buy British-held securities of properties to value of some $390 millions.

Our government, or the Bank of Canada, would of course arrange for the re-selling of these securities on the Canadian market.

It should be noted that there are very large holdings in Britain of Canadian mortgages and stocks, such as CPR or Hudson's Bay, etc.

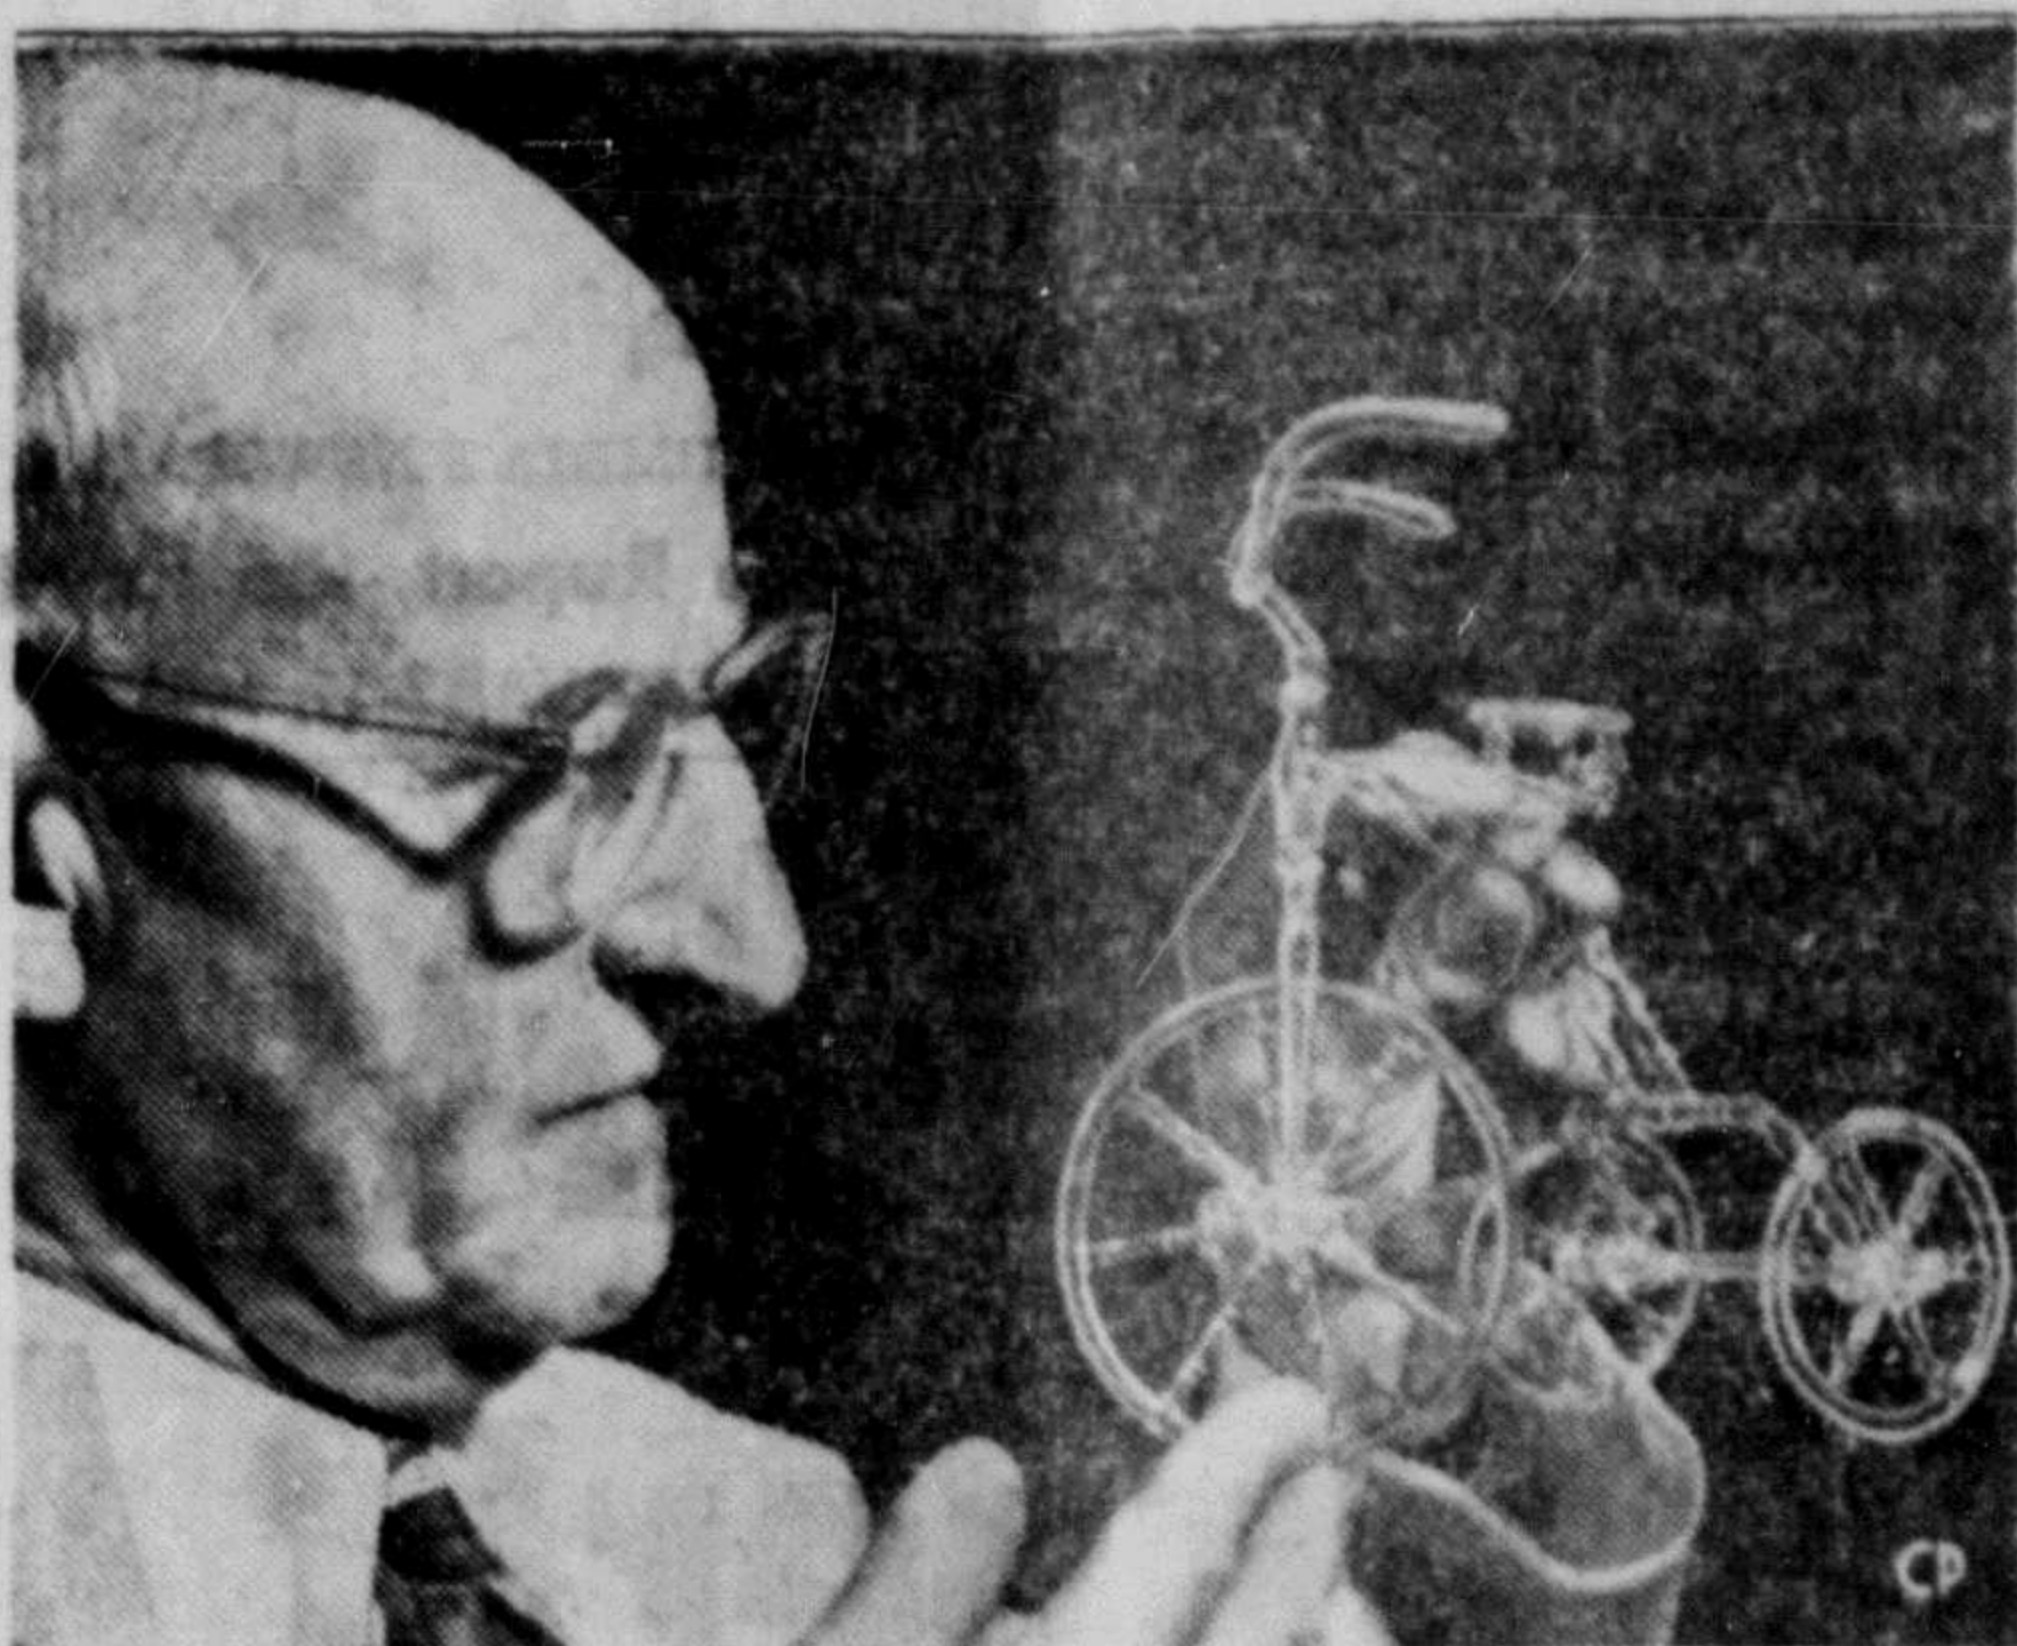

THE PRINCIPLE of the plan is exactly the same as two great Liberals Franklin Roosevelt and Mackenzie King worked out on a single day in the Hyde Park agreement. It worked between Canada and U.S. and if we want to it will work between Canada and Britain—maybe even tide us over the next big U.S. slump.

OTTAWA DIARY By NORMAN M. MacLEOD

The battle of the next Federal general election won't be fought for the first time when polling day actually comes. It's being fought almost daily already, in the Parliamentary lobbies and in the offices of the M.P.'s.

It is true that the warfare is unofficial and that the results which are being reached won't entitle the M.P.'s concerned to take their seats in the next House unless the voters formally confirm them. Nevertheless, these arm-chair campaigns aren't without their element of significant interest. If they don't necessarily furnish a reliable clue to the nature of coming events, they at least provide a barometer of the hopes in which the different political parties are approaching the contest.

DOWN TO CASES

Instead of learning just the tricks of the trade, why not actually learn the trade?

Yousuf Karsh, distinguished photographer has been giving us the lowdown about the Maritimes. It seems George Washington once fancied trying to capture what is today down east, and that in 1812 there seemed a fair chance of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia taking over the State of Maine. Maybe so, but when we went to school no one ever mentioned any such thing.

Next to one of the biggest drawbacks to a foreign army invading the United States would be to find enough parking space.

What was recently circulated as a "petition" in Omaha included the following words from Abraham Lincoln's immortal speech at Gettysburg: "The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, it was submitted to fourteen persons, none of whom recognized it. One said 'sounds fishy to me.' Another remarked 'where does it get you?' And a third observed 'I don't think these protests ever do any good.'"

LIQUOR SITUATION

Editor,
The Daily News:
It seems all the legislature at Victoria thinks about is the liquor business. They would be more useful if they would turn over on the bread and butter question, that is, provide jobs for the workers so they can feed their families.

We all know that the liquor business in British Columbia has been a racket for a long time; the bosses of the business get the money out of the people and give no value in return. That's your Capitalist System—all for the big fellows.

As far as the retailing of liquor is concerned, it isn't necessary to be in hotels only—let the hotels accommodate their travellers. A good restaurant with enough grace to provide music or other amusement would be a lot better for the people all around. Patrons could get a drink before meals, whisky, beer or wine, whatever they like. Then workers would have a place to get out of the wind or rain when the weather is inclined to be bad. If one takes one too many and causes a disturbance he could be handled by the police without kid gloves!

In a city a place like that should be located in the centre of a block, never at a corner, and don't forget the stuff should be sold at reasonable prices, not try to soak the people as they do now. In villages, grocery stores could be permitted to sell the stuff to responsible people only. This is my solution of the liquor problem.

We would appreciate it very much if people coming in here for any reason whatsoever, would co-operate with us and leave the birds alone and not shoot at them or molest them in any way.

They nest here and stay here the year around and it is not a very sportsmanlike act to shoot at birds that you can get so close to you could knock them over with a stick.

We attract even the tiny chickadees to come and visit us. We saw some at a neighbor's home this past week. At this same place a snow goose has visited the past two or three years and to prove it this neighbor took a snapshot of it.

We are all greatly interested in the various birds that come to partake of rowan berries, etc. We have noticed some this past winter with orange colored heads and the same color on tail feathers, while shoulder feathers had that greeny metallic sheen like a mallard drake head. The Prince Rupert Aero Club has been authorized to provide ground school training and flying instruction for air cadets selected from the Prince Rupert squadron for the RCAF scholarship.

Three cadets who must attain their 17th birthday by Aug. 1 this year will be selected for the course, F/L Dick Garrett, commanding officer of the squadron, told cadets on parade last night. Successful candidates, chosen from 16 in the squadron of eligible age, will be given 60 hours of ground instruction and 17 hours flying time as provided for by the scholarship. An additional 13 hours of flying to make a total of 30 hours necessary for a private pilot's certificate, will be provided by the Air Cadet League, said F/L Garrett.

Selected students will be given their licences upon completion of the course. Cadets received this news with enthusiasm. The private pilot's licence may be a basis for obtaining their commercial licence if they wish, and would be of considerable aid to them should the candidates join the RCAF in future.

Canada Does Not 'Condemn' U.S. For Formosa Move

OTTAWA (C)—The Canadian government "regrets" that the United States found it necessary to demoralize Formosa, but does not "condemn" it for that, External Affairs Minister Pearson said Monday night in the Commons.

In a foreign-policy speech replying to demands for clarification of the Canadian attitude on the U.S. Formosa move, Mr. Pearson said the government has expressed "concern" to U.S. authorities.

He said in a week-end visit with State Secretary Dulles of the U.S., he had expressed "anxiety" lest anything be done that would extend the war in the Far East.

He said Canada had made known there should be a distinction drawn between action taken by the United Nations and action taken by the U.S.

Dulles, he said, had made it clear that some of the fears that have been read into the Formosan action are not justified.

Mrs. Peterson, Roominghouse Owner Dies

Mrs. Edwin (Mabel) Peterson, 51, owner of the Pioneer Rooms, Third Avenue, died in hospital yesterday after a lengthy illness.

Born at St. Louis, Missouri, Mrs. Peterson moved to this city in 1939 after 16 years at Alice Arm, where her husband was engaged in the logging and mining business. She moved to B.C. in 1905.

Mr. Peterson, who died two years ago, became well known in 1937 when he found a $100 gold nugget while placer mining north of Alice Arm and sold it in San Francisco where it was on display at the exhibition.

There are no known survivors. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

How would you build a 200-foot television tower without a single construction worker leaving the ground.

Here's how Bell Telephone Company did it. They made eight-foot tower sections out of aluminum tubing. Then they placed the first section within a base on the ground. Next they hoisted that section and fastened another section underneath it. They kept on repeating the process—raising the completed part off the ground by means of a hand winch. One test tower was dismantled and re-erected on another site, all in one day. Just goes to show that we live in an age of speed—and aluminum. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan)

Due to the gift of Queen Elizabeth II, the floats which were placed on the desk of member Mr. Hills declared asset pack to be "the anywhere" and asked the government to consider lowering lease rentals which he said "are manifestly unjust."

Improve, if necessary, a royalty on the annual that the lease rental raised nearly 500 per cent a year, Mr. Hills said. He constituted fixed over-which was particularly in a small pack year.

Increased royalties, the government would realize just as money in a good year working undue hardship years.

IMPROVE SERVICE "In addition to making medical and hospital services more accessible to hundreds of people," Mr. Hills told the house, "it will improve mail and freight services and have the effect of doubling the number of passenger ship connections with the mainland."

The Prince Rupert member rapped the government for a "printed promotion piece, circulated all over the province" which took credit for settlement of fishing disputes.

"I would bring to the attention of the government," he declared, "that there was no settlement of the herring strike, and that the province has lost an entire herring catch as a result."

Concluding, Mr. Hills promised the legislature that he would be heard from again.

"I propose to speak in the budget debate," he said, "on B.C. Highway 16, and with particular reference to that section between Prince Rupert and Terrace."

KENNETH BEEDS, 23, of Lloydminster, Sask., had a word to say to Canadian girls as he brought his Japanese bride with him after his service in Korea. Beeds said Japanese are providing stiff competition for Canadian girls and that Japanese marriages are increasing. A member of the 2nd battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, said one big reason is that Japanese girls are more attractive to their husbands. He met the former Teruko Matsuo of a year ago.

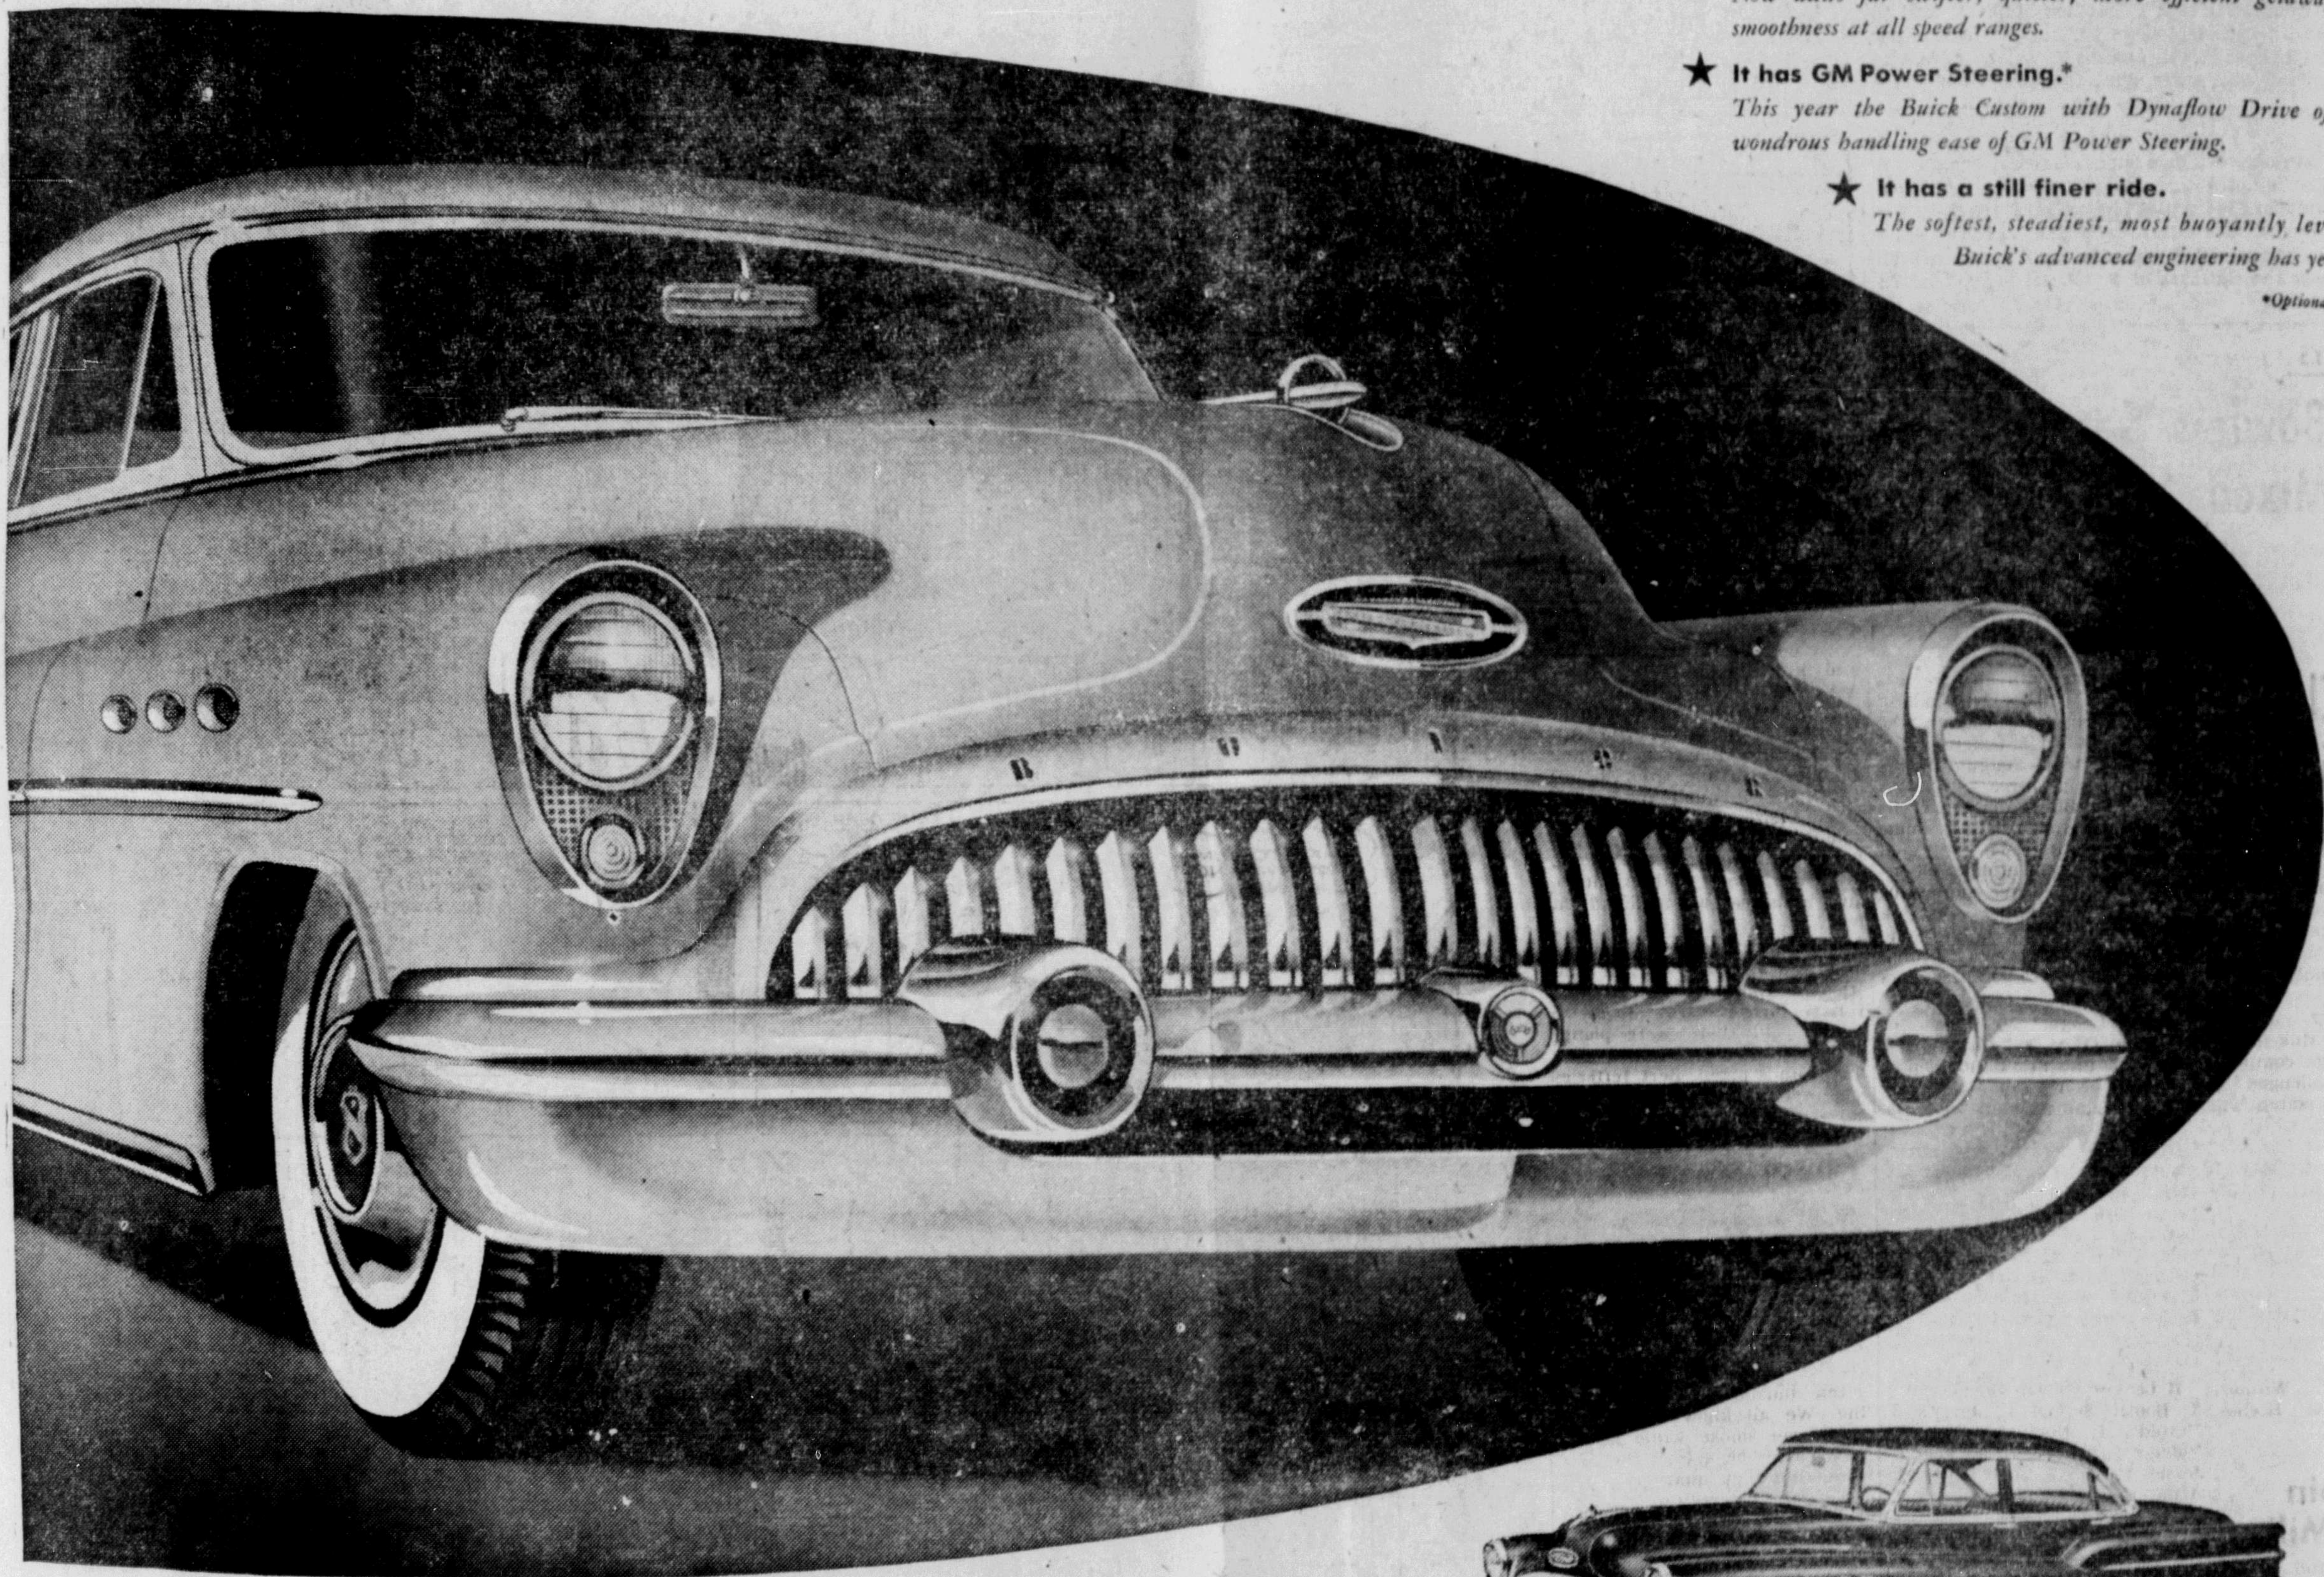

ANNOUNCING BUICK'S GREATEST CARS IN 50 GREAT YEARS

HERE you see pictured the Golden Anniversary Buicks—engineered, styled, powered and bodied to be fully worthy of their paragon role in this fiftieth year of Buick building.

A quick listing of simple facts will reveal just cause for celebration. Let's start off with the new 1953 Buick Custom.

- ★ It has a newly-designed Fireball Straight-8 Engine.
The importantly stepped-up Fireball Straight-8 actually gives the 1953 Custom with Dynaflo even better performance than the 1952 Roadmaster. And this brilliant new performance is achieved with amazing economy and without the need for premium fuels.
- ★ It has Fireball Horsepower.
Engine horsepower per pound has been increased to 130 on Dynaflo-equipped models and 125 on cars equipped with Synchron-mesh transmission for more brilliant performance.
- ★ It has a compression ratio of 7.6 to 1.
New combustion chamber raises compression to 7.6 to 1 with Dynaflo, shortens flame travel for greater power and fuel efficiency.
- ★ It has a new "Twin-Turbine Dynaflo Drive."
Now adds far swifter, quieter, more efficient getaway to infinite smoothness at all speed ranges.
- ★ It has GM Power Steering.
This year the Buick Custom with Dynaflo Drive offers you the wondrous handling ease of GM Power Steering.
- ★ It has a still finer ride.
The softest, steadiest, most buoyantly level ride that Buick's advanced engineering has yet produced.

WORLD'S NEWEST V8 POWERS The Super-The Roadmaster

Yes, there's wonderful news about the 1953 Buick SUPERS and ROADMASTERS, too. For instance, they're powered by a completely new V-8 engine with one of the highest compression ratios in the industry. It develops 188 horsepower for Roadmaster, 170 for the Dynaflo-equipped Super, and it's so compact that a new, more manoeuvrable chassis has been built around it!

But no listing of facts and features can do justice to the phenomenal Golden Anniversary Buicks. No words can really tell you the beauty you see, the comfort you feel, the excitement you experience when you make first-hand acquaintance with these big, beautiful, bounteous Buick Customs and Supers and Roadmasters for '53.

So come in and see for yourself that these are, in simple truth, Buick's greatest cars in 50 great years!

OUTDOORS— with MARTY

There still remains some misunderstanding about telescope sights, and the whole thing boils down to the fact that you get what you pay for. There is a case in mind of a recently purchased mail order scope at less than $20, its owner is completely dissatisfied because it lacks light-gathering ability.

This scope, and others in its price range, are perfectly good instruments, but are built specifically for the 22 rifle with its small recoil; we all know that it is fairly safe and also necessary to crowd the sighting eye close up to the eye lens in order to get enough light for indoor range work with the 22, but never install this type telescope on any high-power rifle.

If needs must, by all means save your pennies until you have the $60 to $100 required for the correct type hunting scope. Bear in mind that a scope equipped also serves as a spotting glass, and gives the added advantage of placing the user in position for an immediate shot.

Remember, nobody's vision is so good that it cannot be enhanced by a telescope, nor is there any rifleman so skillful that his sighting deviations will not stand out under magnification. It is suggested that a snapshooting range, for practice at running-deer targets, be built in conjunction with the present trapshooting set-up; until a regular wire and pulley contrivance is ready, a rolling barrel could be substituted.

A simple way to rig whole herring when mooching or still-fishing for Springs, is to place an ordinary 1/0 hook and a long-shank 7/0 hook on the terminal snap or leader. Impale the herring through the bony part of the head with the small hook, and pierce him somewhere amidst the scales with the 7/0; by allowing a slight bend in the body the lure will rotate easily. Be certain that the big hook is very sharp.

If you should be a beginner at fly fishing, do not go overboard in your initial purchases of flies. Your columnist is ready to advise how many, what size and kind; actually very good work can be done with so few as ten patterns. Professor, Royal Coachman, Brown Hackle, Silver Doctor, Black Gnat, and Butcher will take trout almost anywhere. I much prefer the smaller sizes from 8 to 16 for general work, but 6 to 2/0 are better for Steelhead, while Coho are completely indiscriminate and indifferent when found on feed.

Several of the faithful ignored Sunday's assorted weather and tried the Harbor salmon trolling. I have no successful reports to render, but there were plenty of new run grey cod of over ten pounds taken. Bert Jefferies is undergoing conversion to part-time salt-chuck fishing, and met some reward at the Yacht Club. Mark the date eight days hence for what is expected to be the finest Rod and Gun Club dinner ever held here, plenty of visiting talent and interesting speakers, good food, imbibitory delights, and the joys of the dance all in one great evening; don't let it go by!

The danger of rabies is still with us, two cases up north, so watch your dog closely if traveling. We all know of hunters who never smoke while in the woods after big game, the idea being that their quarry will not detect their scent so readily; this might be OK if the hunters' clothes were not already permeated with tobacco smoke, so it is a good stunt to leave your top outer garments outdoors overnight to prevent them absorbing too much odor during the evening "bull session" in camp.

Quite true the beaver is an accomplished engineer, but he cannot fell trees just where he wants them to go; examination of many beaver cuts will show that animals of varying sizes work away at the same tree sometimes, and the wind, speed of cut and its consequent depth and whether or not another beaver cuts a kerf on the other side all contribute to where and how the tree will fall.

'Poison Man' Kills Coyotes In Alberta

LETHBRIDGE (CP)—Jim Archibald of Lethbridge is known to many as "the most poisonous man in Alberta." Plenty of dead coyotes would vouch for the name if they could.

Archibald, a representative of the field crops protection service for the provincial department of agriculture, has the job of killing coyotes. He's one of three men in Alberta able to use a deadly chemical known as "compound 1080."

He also helps in the province's "coyote-getter" campaign—setting cyanide cartridges which explode into the coyote's mouth when it investigates a scented lure.

Since Nov. 1, the coyote-control program has taken Archibald about 9,000 miles into remote corners of southern Alberta.

The move to eliminate part of Alberta's 200,000 coyote population started with complaints of damage from sheep and poultry farmers. In settled regions the job fell to the crop protection service.

The first action was taken two years ago with the "coyote-getter." Only trained men can set the trap because of the danger.

The site of every gun is mapped. So far unold numbers of coyotes have been killed along with a few curious dogs and two or three cows.

The coyote program with compound 1080 was started on an experimental basis last winter. Archibald has done most of the work. Results from the poison showed good protection with livestock losses cut to a minimum.

Of Quebec province's total area of 594,000 square miles, freshwater lakes and rivers cover 71,000 square miles.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Taking a Gamble Pays Off on This Occasion

Mrs. Keen decided to go for the nine-trick game and give up her honors in hearts. Mr. Champion led his fourth best club, the five spot, and Mr. Abel played the jack. Now, the problem was how to time the play. Should Mrs. Keen win the first, second or third club lead? The contract depended on the correct solution.

Mrs. Keen let the jack hold the first trick. But she stepped in with the ace on the club return. She now cashed all five of her hearts and the ace of spades.

Mr. Champion followed to four leads of hearts and discarded a spade on the fifth lead of the suit. This left him with nothing but clubs and the one-guarded king of diamonds. Mrs. Keen then led her last club and Mr. Champion was in. After cashing three club tricks he had to lead away from his king of diamonds into the queen-ace.

Suppose Mrs. Keen had won the first club, then, as before, had cashed her hearts and the ace of spades. A following club lead could have been won by Mr. Abel and his diamond return would have meant eventual defeat of the contract.

Winning the third lead of clubs would have been just as bad, since, after cashing the hearts and the ace of spades, Mrs. Keen would have had nothing left but diamonds. In that case, Mr. Champion could have won a diamond trick and that, plus four clubs, again would have given the defenders five tricks.

The way the hand was actually played, Mrs. Keen saved a small club for an out card. She hoped, of course, that the third lead of clubs would put Mr. Champion on lead, just as it did.

But if it happened to be Mr. Abel who won the third club, that would be all right, too. In other words that would mean Mr. Abel had started with at least three clubs and therefore Mr. Champion could not have held more than four. The defenders, then, could win only three club tricks and a trick could be lost to the king of diamonds without jeopardizing the contract.

Don Crowe of MCs and Agnes Ritchie of Chumps took top honors for single games of 225 and 187 in the mixed ten-pin league Sunday.

Hing three scores were rolled by Don Arney of Chumps, 589, and by Marisa Windle of Spares with 473.

Other "over-200" bowlers were Joe Giordano, 200; D. Arney 202; B. Watson, 203.

Team highs were bowled by Chumps with 857 and 2339.

Results—Delnor 4, Northern Distributors 0 (default); Chumps 3, Spares 1; Art Murrays 2, MCs 2.

Standings—Chumps 22, Delnor 19, Spares 18, N. Dist. 15, Art Murrays 14, MCs 8.

Jaycees Turn To Curling

Twenty-four city businessmen were initiated into the besom and stone game—curling—last Sunday when the "Seal Cove" sinks were thrown open to the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

If the curling was not of top quality—most of the hands were brand new to the "roarin' game"—there was no lack of enthusiasm in response to calls for turns and out-turns.

Neely Moore, Fred Acheson and Bob Bone were coaches.

Following are the results of the eight-end match:

Deary 8, Simpson 5; Gonick 2, Brown 8; Miller 12, Tucker 1.

Savoie Beats World Champion

MONTREAL (CP)—Armand Savoie, Montreal Canadian lightweight champion, won a unanimous 10-round decision over world lightweight champion Jimmy Carter, in a non-title bout Monday night. Savoie weighed 138½, Carter 136½.

In the eighth round the Canadian staggered Carter with lefts and rights and kept up the advantage in the ninth. In the final round he was trying repeatedly for a knockout.

MOUNTIES IN TRAINING

THE RCMP'S OFFICERS, non-commissioned officers and constables who will ride in the Coronation procession next June, are in public relations is considered important. They are taking classes in the subject at Ottawa under Sgt. J. Allen.

Sgt. B. PONFRET, physical training instructor, conducts a squad drill at Ottawa for the contingent. All have good conduct records and a minimum of five years' service with previous qualifications in horsemanship.

RCMP HORSES which will take part in the procession also are in special training. Blank cartridges are fired near the horses to accustom them to sudden loud noises of large crowds. Tin cans and other devices also are used.

GROOMING is considered essential. Here, Constable J. Curries his horse. Members of the contingent range in age from five-foot-nine to six feet and are drawn from all provinces and the Yukon.

Red Leader Says Canada Could Conserve Resources

REAL — Solon Low, leader of the Social party, says Canadians should consider whether Canada is attempting to achieve self-sufficiency or continue the program of "more and more dependence on foreign trade."

Low, a service club, Mr. Low's economic self-sufficiency has become more than a slogan in the United States; it is "almost a reality."

Low makes that fact much more important in that so many in the world are in very great need of scores of things which only the United States can supply."

As to Canada, "with our eyes wide open we have tied ourselves to the United States market, although the United Kingdom and Europe were, at one time, Canada's best customers."

"Does our future strength and well-being depend upon more and more trade? Or, in the alternative, should Canada be following the trend that is quite apparent over the whole world—more and more self-sufficiency?"

Dulles Urges Speed-Up In Formation of EDC

Europe Must be United To Guarantee Security

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary John Foster Dulles says "there is a good chance" for formation of a European Defence Community, but he hopes that "concrete evidence" of progress will be forthcoming promptly.

Pearson Sees Urgent Need For Decision

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said he hopes Britain will move even closer to the European Defence Community and denied that Canada views European defence with "olymplan" detachment.

He said Communist conspiracy is world-wide and that no action by any Western power should be taken without considering its global effects.

Collective security arrangements had become interdependent, he said. No exclusively regional arrangement such as NATO would be sufficient to meet the global threat of communism.

The strength and progress of NATO's 14-nation alliance would have to be linked closer with the move towards European unity.

Mr. Pearson said there had been hopes that the six-nation pooling of military strength known as the European Defence Community would be in existence by now but both France and Germany had shown hesitations and doubts.

EDC is the plan to set up a common army for France, Germany and other European countries.

These delays had "perhaps caused more surprise and disappointments in some quarters than they should have."

But there was a need for decision soon.

He said Britain had recently taken more steps to bring herself closer to EDC without formally joining it and "we hope she will be able to take even further steps to that end" without jeopardizing her ties with the Commonwealth.

Dulles, reporting on his recent trip to European capitals, cautioned that the alternatives to a European Defence Community are considered by President Eisenhower to be weak.

He said the security of Europe itself and in some degree the security of the United States against the power of Russia depend upon successful accomplishment of the undertaking.

SIGNED TREATY IN MAY

Italy, France, West Germany, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg signed a treaty to create the EDC last May. Dulles said it was then expected that this treaty and related arrangements for tying it to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization would be ratified and made operative in six months. Actually, he noted, months have passed and ratification is still lacking.

This has been "disconcerting" to the U.S., Dulles said, because U.S. security plans are based upon eventual inclusion of German military strength in the Western European Defence system. That, he said, is what the EDC was designed to accomplish.

AFFECTS U.S. SECURITY

In the last seven years, he said, the U.S. has contributed $30,000,000,000 to Europe and stationed "tens of thousands of our armed forces" there because European security vitally affects U.S. security.

"But our effort will not permanently serve Europe, or ourselves, or humanity, unless it fits into a constructive program for European unity. Nothing that the U.S. can do will ever be enough to make Europe safe if it is divided into rival national camps."

President Eisenhower himself said recently he was impressed with the "feebleness" of alternatives to the European defence community.

B.C. Pays Third Highest Pension in 65-69 Age Group

OTTAWA (CP)—A total of 41,601 Canadians between 65 and 69 were receiving pensions under the Old Age Assistance Act at the end of the last fiscal year, March 31, 1952.

The new act, effective Jan. 1, 1952, provided for pensions to needy persons in the 65-69 age group. The provinces can fix the maximum amount of the pension, but the federal government pays 50 per cent of the cost of pensions of up to $40 a month.

A report tabled in the Commons by Health Minister Martin showed the highest average monthly pension is paid in Quebec—$38.61. No figure was given for Newfoundland where the federal-provincial agreement did not take effect until April 1, 1952.

Average pension in other provinces: Alberta $37.36; British Columbia $38.28; Manitoba $38.45; New Brunswick $36.91; Nova Scotia $34.09; Ontario $37.28; Prince Edward Island $21.72; and Saskatchewan $36.93.

The report did not cover the universal old-age pensions, paid to Canadians 70 and over regardless of need. More than 300,000 Canadians now are receiving the universal pension of $40 a month.

Mr. Martin tabled a separate report dealing with pensions to blind persons. The federal government pays 75 per cent of the cost of $40-a-month pensions to needy blind persons between 21 and 69. Once they reach age 70, the blind persons are covered by the Old Age Pensions Act.

The report said there are 19,076 blind persons of all ages registered with the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. At March 31 last, 8,079 were receiving pensions under the Blind Persons Act. Another 3,200 were receiving the old-age pension.

Average monthly blind pension by provinces: Alberta $38.89; British Columbia $39.25; Manitoba $39.37; New Brunswick $39.25; Newfoundland $39.26; Nova Scotia $38.39; Ontario $39.20; Prince Edward Island $38.10; Quebec $39.48; and Saskatchewan $39.25.

The Northwest Territories and the Yukon paid the maximum of $40 a month.

Saulteaux Indians Return To Reservation After Meet

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP)—Four members of the Saulteaux Indian tribe, one of the few remaining pagan tribes in North America, have returned to their reservations in east-central Saskatchewan following a visit to Prince Albert to attend the annual northern Saskatchewan trappers' convention.

The Saulteaux, or Saultauers, number about 600 and live on four reservations with about 1,900 Christianized members of the tribe.

Despite the fact they worship the sun and "Ksuy Manitou" spirit, the Saulteaux fit into a normal Canadian life of trapping and farming. Many of them own their own tractors, trucks and other farm machinery.

'Big Man' Is Ex-Convict

MONTREAL (CP)—The "Big Man" who disposed of goods stolen by cat burglar Roland Desrochers is an ex-convict well known to Montreal detectives said here.

In Vancouver last Wednesday, Desrochers told police about the "big man" in the east.

"If I tell you who he is, you would laugh at me," Desrochers was quoted as saying. "He's a big man. Everyone knows him."

Montreal detectives said they know who the "fence" is but have been powerless to act because of lack of evidence. They said the man's name is well known in police circles but doubted it is known by the general public.

Vanguard of British Mountaineers Set For Another Assault on Everest

LONDON (Reuters)—Six British mountaineers have set off today to continue the hitherto-vain struggle to conquer Mount Everest, the world's highest mountain.

Argentine Envoy Talks With Stalin, But Not About War

MOSCOW (AP)—Stalin has told Argentina's new ambassador to Russia there would be no war if each country stayed out of the internal affairs of other countries.

The ambassador, Dr. Leopoldo Bravo, said he had talked Saturday night with the Soviet leader for 45 minutes. The envoy said war was discussed only generally and the Korean war not mentioned.

Bravo had requested the interview when he presented his credentials to President Nikolai Shvernik Jan. 16. Moscow papers front-paged the Stalin-Bravo talk.

Bravo said he had given Stalin the "cordial greetings" of Argentina's President Peron, and "in his name I expressed a wish for strengthening relations existing between the Soviet Union and the Argentine republic in the economic field."

Considerable significance may be attached to Stalin's gesture in seeing the Argentine ambassador. It indicates Soviet interest in broadening relations between the two countries.

Bravo stressed how vigorous he thought Stalin appeared. This first-hand impression confirmed the way Stalin appeared at his last public appearance Jan. 12 at a concert.

make Britain's second post-war assault on the 29,002-foot peak sometime in April. Theirs will be the 11th organized attempt—nine of them British—since their fellow-countrymen first tried to plant the Union Jack atop the gale-whipped summit in 1922.

All climbers who have optimistically started up the Himalayan mountain have been forced to retreat by thin oxygen, fierce storms and arctic cold.

This British team is to be headed by Col. John Hunt, 42. He is ill and did not join the six men who sailed for India last Thursday on the liner Stratheden. But he and three other team members will leave soon by air.

Hunt's attempt will be made from the southeast face of the mountain. He will follow practically in the footsteps of the second unsuccessful Swiss expedition, led by Dr. Gabriel Chevalley, which reached the highest known point on Everest, 1,000 feet from the summit, last fall.

After his fruitless bid to reach the top with the Chevalley expedition last year, Swiss climber Raymond Lambert explained the importance of the time element in an Everest climb.

"There are only two or three good days in the year on Everest during which the peak can be conquered," he said. "It is a question of getting to the right point at the right moment to take advantage of those few days for the final assault."

Only other climbers believed to have gone higher than the Chevalley expedition were George Leigh-Mallory and Andrew Irvine of Britain in 1923. They were last seen at a point believed to be about 800 feet from the top. They never returned to their base camp.

Groom Should Be Mum About Term In Jail

LONDON (CP)—Lord Pakenham, First Lord of the Admiralty in the Attlee government, believes a man about to be married should think twice before confessing to his bride-to-be if he has served a term in prison.

Speaking in the House of Lords in support of a plea to restore a government grant to marriage guidance organizations, Lord Pakenham said that while in office he had advised against such confessions.

He related how he had often visited a man in prison. After completing his sentence, the man had called at his office and confided that he planned to get married within a week's time. "He asked me if he ought to tell his prospective bride he had been in prison," Lord Pakenham recalled. "I said he ought not to tell her as it might prevent the marriage coming off. I need hardly say that about a year later the lady discovered it and I got the blame. I hope, however, I saved the marriage for as far as I know it is going well."

The motion calling for an increased grant was sponsored by Lord Merthyr, chairman of the National Marriage Guidance Council. He argued that more than 200 times the money was being spent helping people get divorces than was provided in safeguarding family ties. More, not less, should be spent on marriage guidance.

The current grant of £6,000 a year was described as "pitifully small" by the Earl of Halifax, Britain's secretary for war in the early months of the Second World War.

Lord Lloyd, under secretary at the Home Office, said the government would give early consideration to restoration of the full grant.

Canuck Fleet Not Affected By U.S. Move

VANCOUVER (CP)—Withdrawal of the United States fleet from Formosa will not affect Canadian naval units in the Far East, Vice-Admiral E. R. Mainguy, Canada's Chief of Naval Staff, said in an interview here before leaving for Korea to "see now things are going" with the Canadian naval units.

The Canadians, he explained, are operating exclusively in Korean waters.

"Our position is exactly the same in Korea," he said. "I foresee no change. We said we would place three ships in Korea and we will keep three ships there." It will be Admiral Mainguy's first visit to Korea.

THIS IS A DRAWING of the Coronation of Queen Victoria in Westminster Abbey in 1837. Queen Elizabeth will be crowned here June 2.

Peers Must Choose Pages Shortly to Carry Coronets

LONDON (CP)—Peers of the realm taking part in the Coronation procession inside Westminster Abbey will shortly be required to choose pages to carry their coronets. The youngsters must be between 12 and 15 years of age and not exceed five-feet-six in height.

At the coronation in 1937 of King George VI, about 40 peers were accompanied by pages and a similar number will be selected when the Queen is crowned June 2.

Mistresses of the robes to the Queen and Queen Mother Elizabeth will also be entitled to one each.

Pages, by tradition, are required to wear the livery colors of the peers whose coronets they carry. But some variant must be used if they are scarlet and gold as these colors are reserved exclusively for the royal train-bearers.

At current prices a page's ceremonial outfit will cost about £200, chiefly because of the large quantity of gold lace required. However, a peer whose livery colors are white may cut the cost by using silver braid.

Grieg Anniversary
BERGEN, Norway (CP)—The world-famed American conductor Leopold Stokowski has accepted an invitation to conduct two concerts at the Bergen international music festival June 1-15, commemorating the 110th anniversary of the birth here of Edward Grieg.

A group of newspaper men, taken on a sample round, visited a famous pub in High Holborn, Collin's Music Hall in Islington, said to be the world's oldest, another pub in Covent Garden and a Leicester Square night club.

This is believed the first time organized night coach tours have been held in London. They have long been a feature in most continental cities.

German Relief
STOCKHOLM (CP)—The Swedish committee for relief of Germany's children estimated it had provided $5,600,000 worth of assistance for German orphans, refugees and handicapped children. At present the work is aimed at helping refugee children from East Germany.

SCREEN FLASHES

NEW YORK (AP)—RKO Radio Pictures says it has obtained a licence to use a new camera to produce three-dimensional films.

The announcement did not say to what extent RKO would convert to three-dimensional films, nor did it mention the methods of projecting the films in the theatres.

A number of other Hollywood studios have announced the planned production of new three-dimensional films. These plans either involve the use of three-dimensional films that must be seen by spectators through special glasses, or the use of extra-wide screens with special projection methods. This latter process is not three-dimensional but obtains the illusion of depth through the use of the wide, curved screen.

The RKO announcement said the camera it will use is the only camera built especially "for stereoscopic depth-dimensional motion picture photography" and is "not two conventional motion picture cameras joined together."

Universal-International's Technicolor "Cave of Outlaws," starring MacDonald Carey and Alexis Smith and opening tomorrow at the Totem Theatre, tells the exciting story of a search for hidden gold in a mammoth network of caves in the late 1800's. The lust and greed of many of the people hunting for the buried ore forms the basis of the plot and carries the story through unusual situations to a surprise climax.

In 1908, the New Westminster lacrosse team—later the famous "Salmonbellies"—became the first team to win the Canadian Lacrosse Championship.
