WORST FLOOD IN 30 YEARS in some sections of Manitoba washes across wheat fields, uprooted families from their homes. This field near Brandon is typical of the damage resulting from torrential rains and swollen rivers. Highway and rail communications in the Riding Mountain area were disrupted.

George Hills Tops Poll In Record Balloting In Prince Rupert Riding

Second Count Needed To Decide Winner Of Provincial Election

Premier Bennett Returned in Kelowna

Three-Week Delay Necessary Before Ballot Distribution Starts

The Social Credit government of Premier W. A. C. Bennett may be returned to power in British Columbia with a firm majority, but it could still be defeated.

Second count under the alternative voting system will be necessary in the majority of ridings, but the lead piled up by Social Credit appeared to assure re-election with increased power.

Preliminary tabulation by The Canadian Press of the popular vote showed the Social Credit with 36 per cent of the total vote, compared to 27 per cent in last June's election.

The CCF with 32 per cent and the Liberals with 24 each were up one per cent in incomplete figures. The Progressive-Conservatives dropped to five per cent from 17.

Definite results in about 40 of the 48 constituencies will not be available until the necessary second counts are made June 30.

Second counts—and possibly third and fourth—will be held in a majority of seats, but under the B.C. Elections Act, a three-week delay is necessary before ballot distribution starts.

Here is The Canadian Press standing up to press time in the British Columbia election results:

Elected	Leading	1952 Elected
Social Credit	26	19
CCF	14	18
CCF	14	18
Labor	1	1
Liberal	1	1
Total	48	48
Social Credit	19	19
CCF	18	18
Labor	1	1
Liberal	6	6
Prog-Con.	4	4
Total	48	48

The long delay is necessary to return absentee ballots—cast by voters not in their own ridings on election day—to home constituencies.

It appeared the CCF might again be the official opposition, a post the party has held in the 48-seat Legislature for 20 years.

A similar situation prevailed last year with the final result coming 29 days after the June 12 election.

Premier Bennett took office with 19 members against 18 for the CCF. The Liberals had six and the Progressive Conservatives, four.

The Social Credit government was in power only seven months. It was defeated on its education costs program on the floor of the House last March 24.

CCF leader Arnold Webster, 54, was elected in Vancouver East, but Progressive Conservative leader Deane Finlayson, making his first bid for office, is behind in his constituency.

Finance Minister Gunderson topped the Progressive Conservative leader, taking an early lead.

Premier Bennett and three of his cabinet ministers were re-elected, but Liberal leader Arthur Laing is slightly behind Education Minister Mrs. Tilly Rolston.

Trailing in all constituencies entered were candidates of the Christian Democratic party and the Labor-Progressive (Communist) party.

Storm-centre of the election, John Perdue, president of the B.C. Social Credit League, trailed in the constituency of MacKenzie.

He was accused of having a criminal record by Dr. W. N. Kemp, independent candidate in Vancouver-Point Grey, who also trailed far behind.

Bennett 'Sure' Of Victory

By The Canadian Press

KELOWNA.—Premier W. A. C. Bennett said today the Social Credit party will form a majority government when second choice ballots are counted.

"Many people say that there must be a strong opposition but it is my opinion that there must be a strong one-party administration so that party can be responsible for legislation."

"B.C. is on the verge of great expansion and many large industries have been waiting for the outcome of this election. The Social Credit party will be fair to industry."

At Vancouver, CCF leader Arnold Webster said he has not conceded defeat in the election.

"We do not concede that we have failed to achieve the greatest number of seats," he told a CCF rally.

"We do not concede that Premier Bennett has any justification in taking for granted all is well, and that the Social Credit party can form a government in July."

"We believe that second choices will be a great factor in this election."

Cartoon Contest Deadline Nears

Deadline for entries in the 10-week cartoon contest sponsored by T. Norton Youngs, real estate and insurance, has been set at June 13—this Saturday.

Object of the contest, which opened March 28, is to number the weekly cartoons in order of merit. Prizes will be awarded to persons whose entries conform closest to the order the cartoons already have been placed by the judges.

First prize is $10; second, $5; and there are five prizes of $2 each. (See cartoons in page 6.)

Operation Budworm

EIGHTY-THREE AIRCRAFT, including six observation planes, are engaged in an assault on the spruce budworm in New Brunswick. Two Stearman planes are shown spraying insecticide on budworm-infested balsam firs. More than 1,000,000 acres is to be sprayed, the biggest project of its kind undertaken in Canada.

City Voting Believed Closest Ever Recorded in B.C. Election

The second provincial election in two years yesterday proved that in Prince Rupert the voting public is divided into three even camps or strongholds.

Perhaps nowhere in the province at any time was such a close three-way vote recorded as at the polls here. Candidates and veteran political observers alike stood aghast as they watched the city totals add up under each of the three names.

When it all ended, there it was—only 27 votes between the most popular and the least, and only nine more for the leading candidate than for his closest rival.

Like Bill Murray, Social Credit candidate, said last night:

"How close can this get? How can any one of us really win this way?"

But Murray was still confident of the fate of his allies in other ridings and said:

"It's in the bag for the Social Credit in B.C."

He went home early, long before Liberal candidate Bruce Brown went to call on CCF candidate George Hills to congratulate him on his lead.

But Brown was not in the least discouraged:

"If I can't take second place, I'll take this election."

Art Murray, Social Credit campaign manager, could not agree, and said that Hills "without a doubt will walk away on the second count."

So jubilation continued in both CCF and Liberal camps, where direct wires operated throughout the evening from Vancouver headquarters.

When the last of the party members cleared their respective campaign headquarters which appeared so virile and energetic just a few hours before, an atmosphere of oblivion settled over the emptiness, the torn and crumpled bits of paper and askew election posters.

But this election isn't over yet—not until after June 30—and then, who knows, the province may be looking forward to the next one.

Mrs. Fulton Dies Here In Hospital

A pioneer woman resident of the city and wife of a well-known judge died yesterday in Prince Rupert General Hospital after a lengthy illness.

She was Mrs. Anna Bertha Fulton, 67, wife of Judge W. O. Fulton of 201 Fifth Avenue East.

Born in Wisconsin, Mrs. Fulton moved to Vernon, B.C., as a girl of seven, where she was married. The couple came to Prince Rupert 42 years ago, where Mr. Fulton entered law practice.

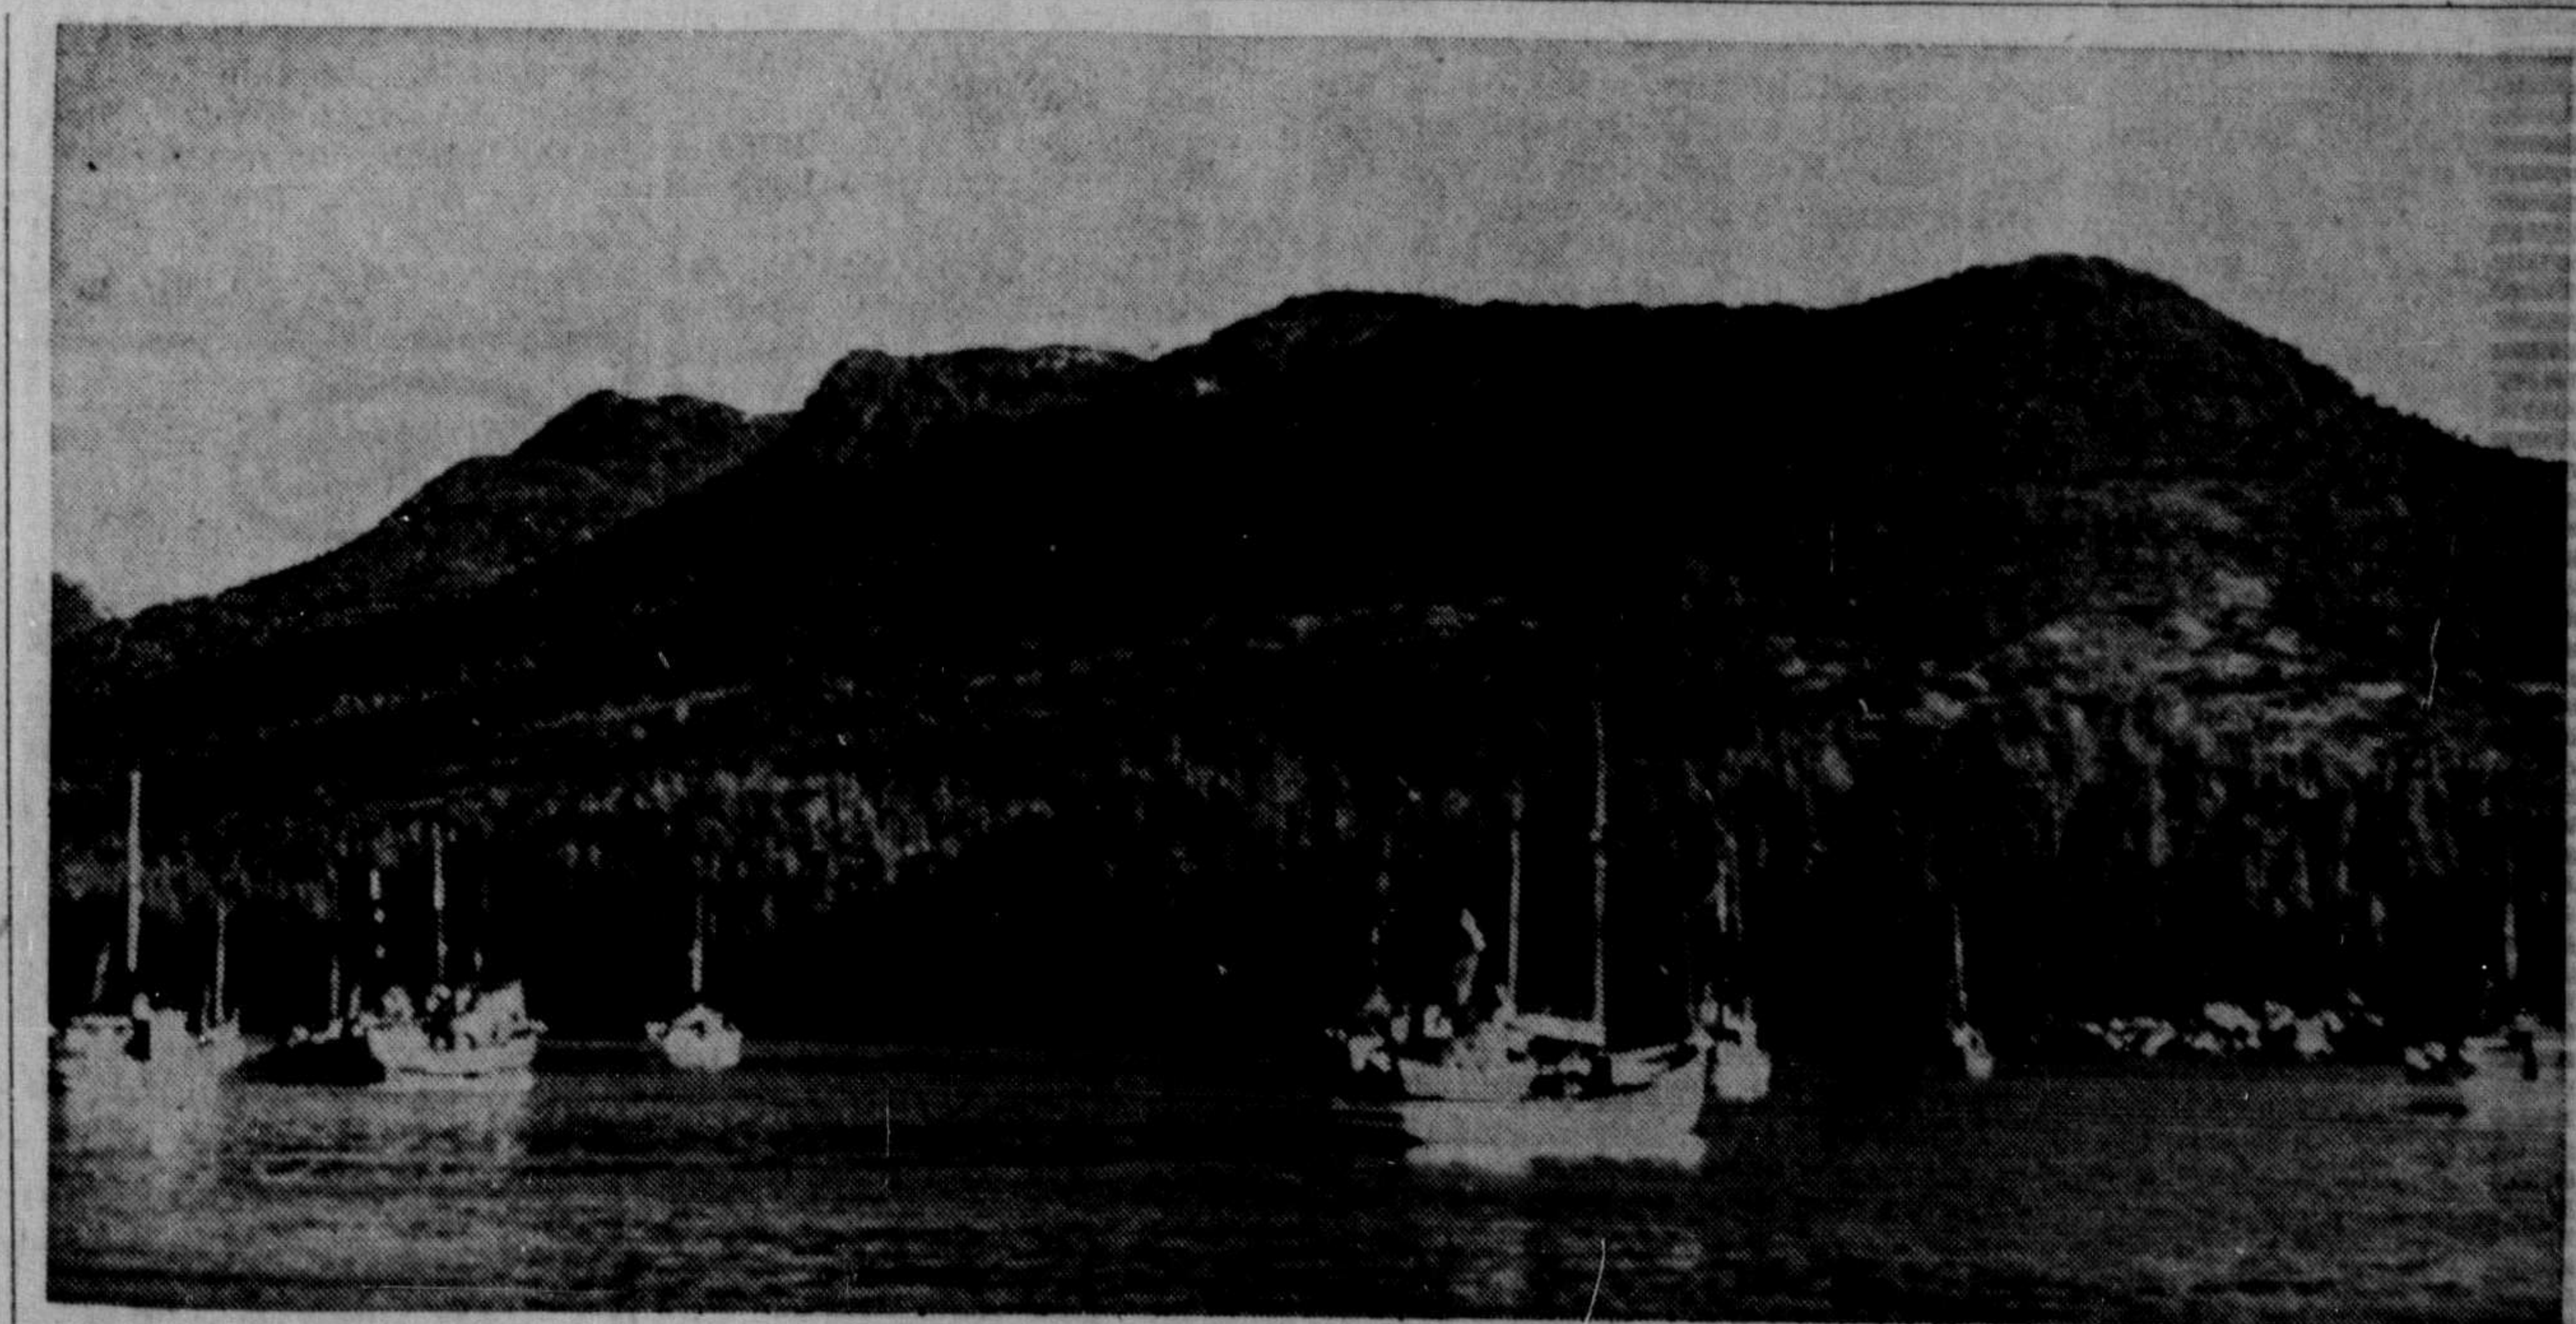

Mrs. Fulton is survived by her husband, a daughter, Mrs. Alexander (Thekla) Graham of the city; two sons, Oscar of Saskatoon and Rupert of this city.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Friday, from First Presbyterian Church.

Salmon Price Demands Cut

VANCOUVER (CP)—The United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union reduced sockeye and coho salmon price demands at a meeting here with the British Columbia Fisheries Association.

They dropped sockeye price from 25 to 24 cents a pound and coho from 13½ to 13 cents.

ONE HALIBUT SEASON ended yesterday—that of Area 2A—and more than 25 of the largest schooners are on their way to Area 3A in the northern waters off Alaska after discharging their last catches in Prince Rupert and taking on provisions. But the northern Pacific is no place for the smaller fishing vessels. They will now prepare for their regular business, the salmon fisheries. Above, several large schooners are seen just before heading out from Squadara, base of operations for Area 2A, where the quota of 25,500,000 pounds of halibut has now been taken.

Socreds Getting Mandate

WHETHER one is pleased or not with the developing results of the provincial election, there is this single overriding consideration—B.C. appears at last to be on its way to having a government in firm control.

As the dramatic story unfolds, it becomes evident that the people meant what they said at the last election and are now underlining it. Barring some strange development in the mechanics of the alternative vote, they are giving the Social Crediters a definite mandate which will oblige that party to settle down without more ado to the tough and demanding business at hand. The fair chance which Premier Bennett asked for is being provided. The public can now expect action of the most emphatic and useful sort.

Locally it is apparent that the voters felt less generous. If the present trend is sufficient indication, this riding will again be represented in the opposition. No doubt there are a number of reasons for this, but we suggest one is that the Social Credit government of the past did not show itself particularly impressed with our potentialities up here. Certainly not much attention was turned in our direction.

If the Social Crediters are returned, we earnestly hope that this will be corrected. Our progress will contribute to the whole province's.

Meanwhile, without forfeiting their right of censure, the constituencies of this area will assuredly give the new government their full support whether they are represented in it or not. Right now leadership is needed far more than abuse.

Good Neighborliness

A PLEASANT instance of good neighborliness between our friends in Alaska and ourselves was provided with inauguration yesterday of a new service by Queen Charlotte Airlines between Prince Rupert and Ketchikan.

Those who were on the special trip to Ketchikan were somehow made to feel they were the most welcome visitors to be received in the city for a long time. There was genuine enthusiasm that another communication link was being forged between the two cities and a real hope that the citizens of each would spend more time exchanging visits.

Good neighborliness not only featured the trip but made the whole service possible, for the air route is being pioneered jointly by QCA and Ellis Air Lines, of Ketchikan, who combined their efforts to start the operation and are sharing their facilities. Rarely does one find a competitive situation handled in such a friendly manner.

A fine international spirit is being shown up here on the coast, and it is hoped that we neighbors will get to know each other still better.

LETTERBOX

CAMERA TELLS ALL
The Editor,
The Daily News:

There was a letter in Tuesday's letterbox column headed "Flags Have Meaning" which was signed by Jean Aird.

The letter states, in part, "...out of step sailors and the absence of the White Ensign."

May I suggest that Miss Aird, and all other persons whose observation is not up to par, take a good look at the picture in the top right-hand corner of the left hand panel of photographs taken of the Coronation Day parade which are on display in Van Meer Studio window?

This photograph shows no evidence of the color party being out of step, or the absence of the White Ensign.

When one stops to consider that in this photograph which was taken with an American camera, on film made to an American formula, and printed on paper made to an American formula, and that the Stars and Stripes (if you can see it) was closer to the camera than the White Ensign, one is forced to realize that our naval ensign must have been most prominent in the parade to offset the preponderance of Americanism connected with the photograph.

On closer inspection of the photograph it will be noted that the White Ensign, owing to the slope of the staff, is actually ahead of the Stars and Stripes in the parade. And if you are not too blind, you will notice that all seven of the naval personnel in the color party are most perfectly in step—look at their left feet just leaving the ground in perfect unison!

I think that if you take the trouble to inquire you will find that in Queen's Regulations the place in a parade for the flag of a visiting unit from a foreign service is to the left of the flag of our own service unit.

As I See It

by

Elmore
Philpott

This Year See B.C.

IT IS STRANGE but true that when the people of British Columbia go away on their summer vacations they pour south across the border, hell-bent for Hollywood.

Yet B.C. itself is one of the finest lands in all the world to travel in.

In B.C. you can get just about any kind of holiday fun you want. If you want a nice relaxing sea trip, with a sure-fire guarantee that you won't get more than one or two hours' rough water on the entire journey, there is the voyage to Prince Rupert. The whole Skeena is a wonderful country to explore.

If you want to travel by boat, bus or train you can pick any one of a hundred wonderful places for a holiday. Vancouver Island sea-bathing is unequaled anywhere in the world.

Our family holds out points—the majority holding out for the Cariboo country, around Lake Canim. But I am an unshakable Rocky Mountain fan myself—Radium Hot Springs being my favorite spot, especially in early or late summer, when the crowds are not too dense.

THERE are dude ranches galore in B.C. for those who like dude ranches. You can be as lazy or as energetic as you choose.

There are camps for millionaires. But one grand thing about holidaying in B.C. is that you can stretch just about any size of purse into a really grand holiday.

B.C. has a whole network of government-run picnic spots and camping grounds. You can spend two weeks or two months travelling by car throughout B.C. If you carry your own family tent with you, and stop at the government-provided spots, you will not need to spend a cent for hotel accommodation. For the grand outdoors there is ready and waiting. And there is no spot on all the earth finer than B.C. in summertime.

PEOPLE go to Switzerland from the ends of the earth, in wintertime.

Kashmir is held by many experts to be the loveliest beauty spot on earth, especially when the lotus is in bloom.

But with all due respect to those magnificent places, neither one of them has any greater natural beauty than has our own B.C.

The difference that I see between Switzerland or Kashmir and B.C. is that in those famous European and Asia beauty spots the natives themselves are acutely aware that they are living in a place specially favored by Old Mother Nature.

Here in B.C. we take it all too much for granted. We don't look at those mountains often enough and say, how lucky we are.

IF THE Americans (and not the Canadians) owned Vancouver they would transform it into a summer resort far more magnetic than, say, Atlantic City. We have the finest (undeveloped) beaches on earth.

It is a fact that the Americans are swarming up to B.C. while the people of B.C. are swarming to get away from B.C. We all know it is true that a change is as good as a rest.

But this year, for a change—see your own country—above all see B.C.

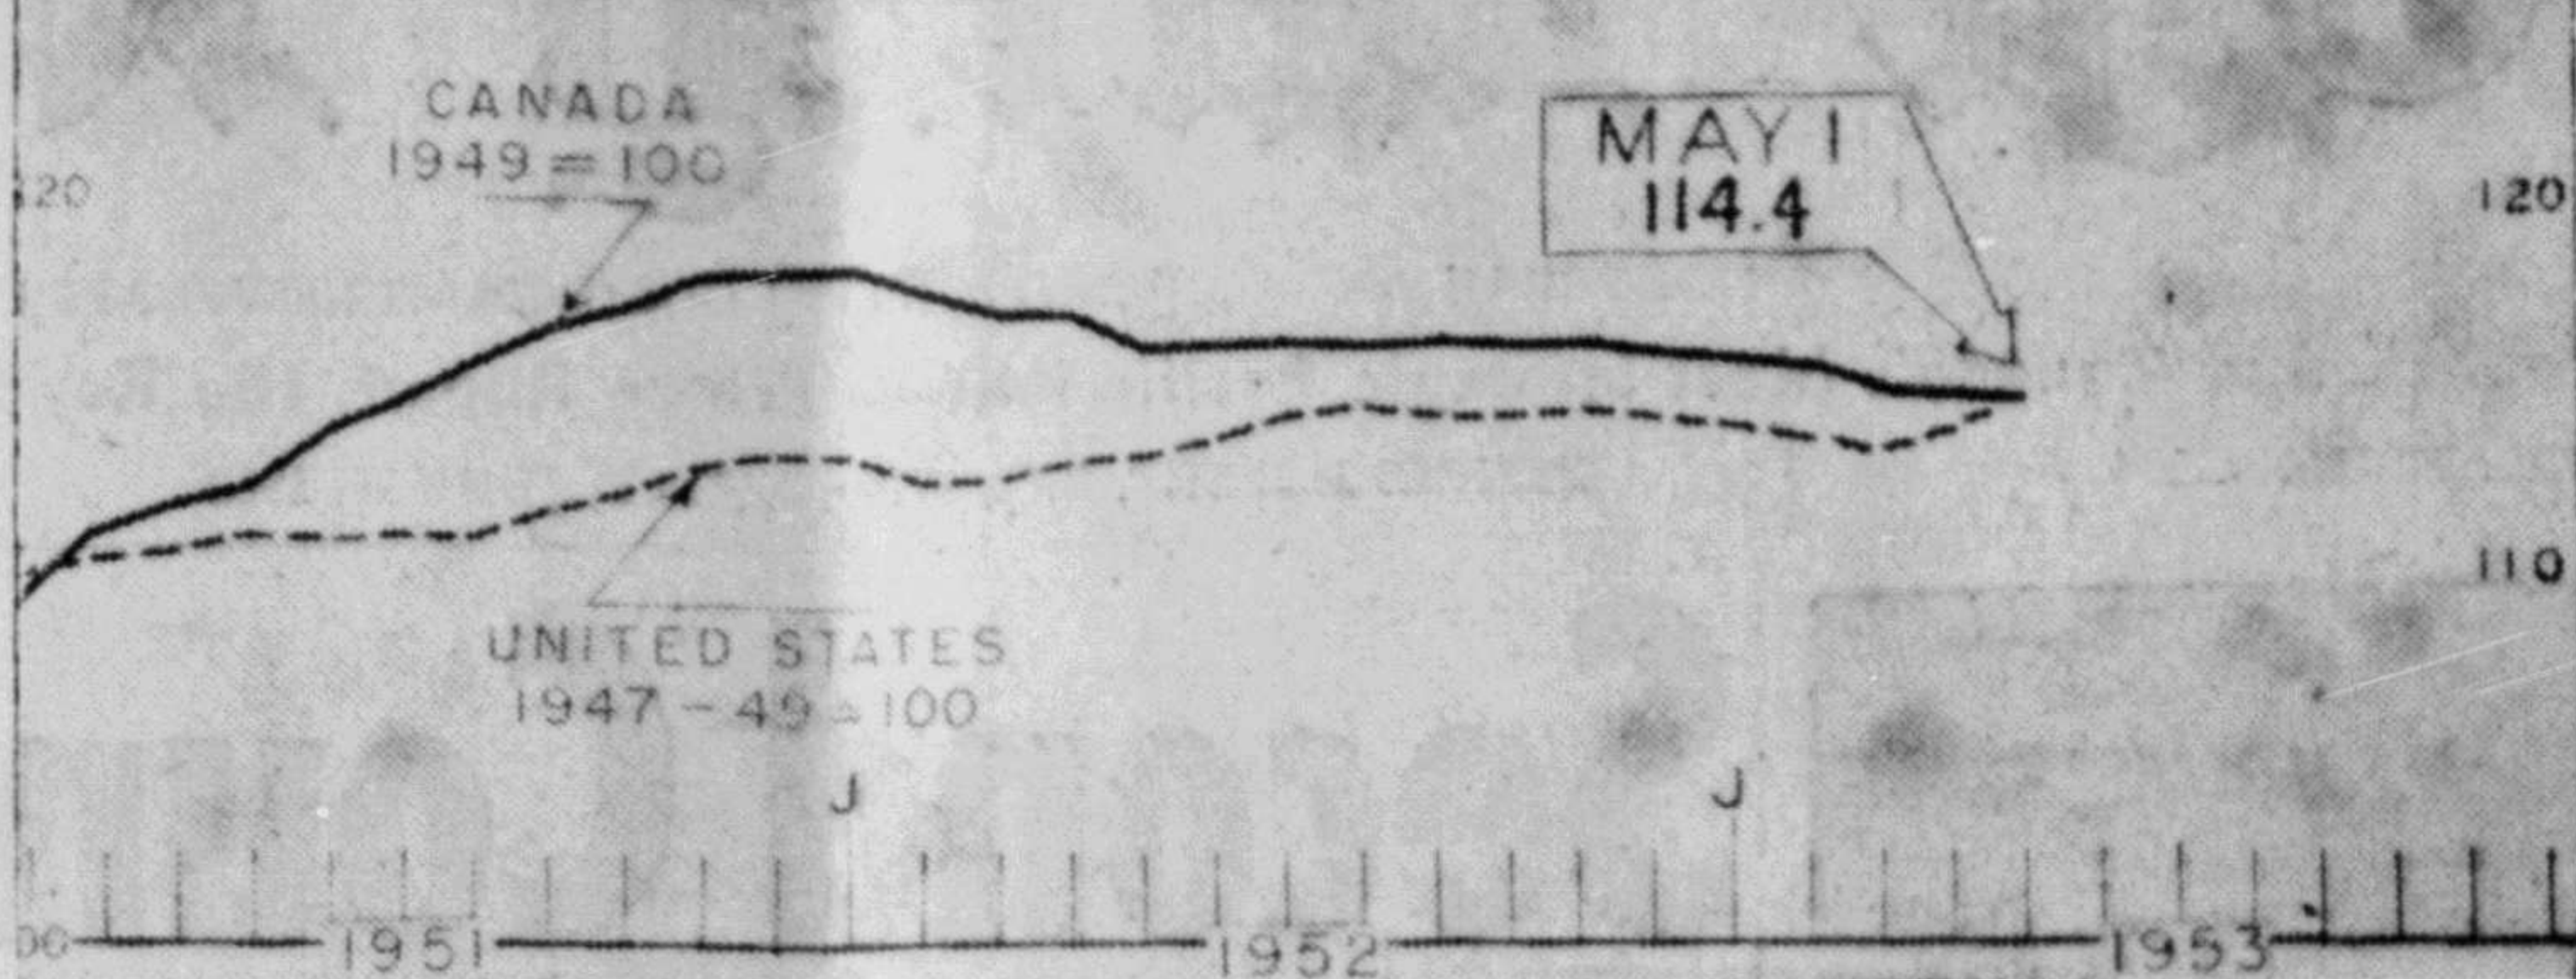

See the Kelowna regatta. See both kinds of Kelowna peaches—the kind they grow on the trees, and the kind that pick other kind of peaches. See Nelson—where they run a wonderful figure skating school every summer.

Fish in any one of ten thousand lakes. Take the wonderful trip on the Arrow Lakes, and if you can visit the grand old gentleman and physician who runs the Halcyon Hot Springs—and who doggedly refuses to raise his rates—inflation or no inflation.

IF YOU WANT to combine a holiday with work that is fun and pays pretty well, why not try the Okanagan in fruit picking season, especially apple picking time? But for work or play—try B.C. this year!

When the ancient Greeks and Romans stopped warring in pursuit of peace, wonders of the ancient world were collected and shown at fairs, including works of art, literature and culture.

CONSUMER PRICE INDICES

CANADA'S CONSUMER PRICE INDEX declined by one-fifth of a point during April to 114.4 from 114.6, the sixth month in a row that living costs have dropped. The decline reflected lower prices for a number of food items, gasoline, and seasonal price drops for coal in Ontario and Quebec. The peak was 118.2—with 1949 prices equalling 100—was reached in December, 1951. The dotted line shows the United States consumer price index which advanced between mid-March and mid-April to 113.7 of the 1947-49 average. Living costs there now are near the peak set last November when the index was 114.3. These indices measure percentage changes in prices in each country but should not be used to compare actual levels of prices between the two countries.

POLITICAL ROUNDUP

by J. K. Nesbitt

VICTORIA.—Out of the catcalls, the cries of liar, the personal abuse, the wild promises, the scandals and smears that have deluged B.C. the last six weeks, the poor voters, holding their heads, went to the polls yesterday to try and sort out the confusion and come up with some kind of an answer.

When historians a century from now look up the newspapers of today, they'll insist that B.C. in 1953 was inhabited by a race of madmen who screamed and ranted in the streets in the dark of midnight, trying to get elected to the Legislature, at $3,000 a year. They'll decide that everybody kept talking and talking for weeks and weeks, and it didn't matter much what they said, as long as they said something, anything, in a Herculean wooing of the voters.

Last year but 68 per cent of the registered voters bothered turning out at the polls. Yesterday there were 229 candidates, of all parties and political beliefs, fighting for election, and all but 48 will be bitterly disappointed.

The political eyes of all Canada were on this province for the second time within a year. Not for 50 years have two general elections come so close together. The rest of the country eyed this province for, as B.C. goes, so could well go the rest of the west in the federal election in the late summer.

B.C. has often shown the way, and the bandwagon idea quickly catches on. It was this province that gave the CCF its first great strength, but now what?

If Social Credit wins it'll be in power for at least eight years—two legislative terms. If it goes down that will be the end of it. That's why Liberals and CCFers were so desperately anxious for victory. They know it's now, or not for a long time. Social Crediters know it's now, or never.

Take a last look at some of the election promises:
CCF—More for the taxpayers from development of natural resources; socialization (government control) of the B.C. Electric, breweries, in time the $500,000,000 aluminum industry at Kitimat.

Conservatives—A glass of milk every day for all B.C.'s public school children; equal pay for equal work, regardless of the sex of the worker.

Liberals—$10-a-year motor licence fees; restaurant meals of any price exempt from the sales tax; no sales tax on articles under 30 cents; abolition of co-insurance.

Social Credit—10-per-cent reduction in auto licences; sales tax off restaurant meals up to $1; removal of milk price control above the producer level; extra taxes on logging and mining profits; cocktail bars, not many, rigidly supervised, with bright lighting, as recommended by the Stevens liquor inquiry commission.

That's a bunch of fancy

GROW OLD ALONG WITH ME!

As we grow older and more decrepit, Dr. R. L. Cecil, in an address to the American Geriatric Society, has almost reconciled us to our own impending old age. He made it sound so attractive. The aged should have their small and amiable vices. Indeed, they should be encouraged to indulge in them. Take occasional little snorts, says the good doctor. It's good for the circulatory system. Eat heartily and what you like. Smoke, if you're used to it. In other words, sin makes the twilight of life seem happier. Let's have our pension cheque and a double martini, if you please!

Trading Vessel Runs Aground

VANCOUVER.—The 270-ton motor vessel Fort Ross, former Hudson's Bay vessel trading in the western Arctic, ran aground at low tide in a heavy rainstorm at Bear Point, 75 miles north of here, early Saturday.

No injuries were reported among the crew of 16 and the vessel was refloated, leaking, assisted by the tug Hecate Straits.

After temporary repairs, the Fort Ross headed for Vancouver under her own power.

OTTAWA DIARY

By Norman M. MacLeod

Federal economists have been looking south of the international boundary line during recent weeks. And what they've seen hasn't been too reassuring. In fact, it's giving them considerable food for long-term reflection.

For one thing, they've noted that in April industrial production in the neighboring Republic registered its first downturn since July, 1952, and that the month of May just ended failed to show any recovery.

If this two-months' marking-time on the part of United States industry should be the signal for the levelling-off movement in the Republic's economy which some of the experts have been predicting for several months past, the repercussions upon Canada's economy could be—indeed, would be—a major nature.

But an even more specific feature of the United States economic scene is rivetting the eye of government experts here. That is the monumental total to which consumer credits there have climbed. They're now well in excess of $26,000,000,000. To Canadian economists here that figure seems dangerously high.

Recently Canadian consumer credits attracted warning statements from both Department of Finance and Bank of Canada officials by rising from $467,000,000 to $818,000,000 in the past year. The corresponding figure to the Canadian total in terms of the economy of the United States would be under $12,500,000,000. But the actual United States total is more than twice the figure which would be proportionate to the sum which in Canada is regarded as close to the danger point.

Recognizing the extent to which the United States and Canadian economies now are interdependent, government economists here aren't too happy over the long-term outlook.

That the installment purchase system is here to stay government economists aren't foolish enough to question. They recognize the highly useful and essential function which it fulfills. But there's an uneasy feeling amongst them that the system

Agreeing with his views, Har-manager for QCA at Vancouver, said there was enough traffic between the two points to keep both companies fully occupied.

He predicted that the service, which will be operated jointly by the two lines every day except Sunday, will prove a definite vacation attraction to residents of the Ketchikan and Prince Rupert areas.
Members of the visiting party were interviewed by radio stations KABI and KTKN and by the Ketchikan Alaska Chronicle and the Daily News. It is expected that the interview over KABR will be rebroadcast over CFPR in a few days.

Before departure in the late afternoon, the guests were entertained at the Elks Club where they were welcomed by Herb Hetherington, president of the Ketchikan Chamber of Commerce.
In addition to Mr. Suddes, those who made the trip from Prince Rupert were Orme
Stuart, president of the Chamon, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce; John Maer, publisher of the Daily News, and Crawford Moore, manager of the local travel agency. Capt. Roy Berryman was pilot.

These who welcomed them on arrival with Mr. Nebel were Norman Gerde, secretary-treas-

Native Towns Get Modern Water Systems

Modern water systems for domestic use and fire fighting have been installed in the native villages of Kincolith, Greenville and Aiyansh on the Naas River, F. E. Anfield, superintendent of Indian affairs here, said today.

Housing about 1,250 persons the villagers may now install modern plumbing in their homes. Many homeowners are expected to do so if the summer produces a good return from fishing, said Mr. Anfield.

Labor on the jobs was provided by the village residents.
O. Finsand, project engineer for the Indian Affairs branch, reported that he had received splendid co-operation from the villagers. In the past three years he has installed 27 water systems in Indian villages but nowhere, he said, had he worked with finer people than on the Naas.

Work has also been completed on a water system at Kitkatla and at Hartley Bay a similar project is under way where work on a new wharf, float and loading facilities has also begun.

Biggest water system project of all is expected to get under way soon at Port Simpson where a new bridge from the mainland to Rose Island has just been completed by Tom Gosnell, first Indian contractor hired by the department.

Missionary Wins Award For Picture

A United Church of Canada minister has won a special award for his missionary film "The King's Man," shot and recorded in Africa.

Rev. Anson C. Moorhouse, of the Committee on Missionary Education, is the winner of the award.

The competition from which the winners are chosen is sponsored by "The Canadian Film Institute," "The Canadian Association for Adult Education" and "The Association of Motion Picture
Producers and Laboratories."
There are 45 professional motion-picture producers in Canada and there were 66 entries.

There were nine companies, including The United Church of Canada, receiving awards.

"The King's Man" has been received in the United Church of Canada with enthusiasm. In eight months 1,600 showings have been given, and although there are 22 prints they are in constant use.

Mr. Moorhouse hopes to leave this fall for India, where he will film the work of United Church missions in that country.

Nauru Islands in the Pacific,

FREE PACIFIC NATIONAL EXHIBITION ADMSION TICKETS have been mailed to all Prince Rupert school children. Above, Audrey Nairn, Marilyn Uphill, Evelyn Olson and Mrs. Cam Fleming, members of the PNE staff, are completing the mailing of 175,000 free fair tickets to school principals. Each year the PNE sends tickets to every school student in British Columbia, including High Schools. City of Vancouver students can only use the free tickets on "Children's Day," Monday, August 31. All others can use their tickets on any day of the fair which runs from August 26 to September 7, inclusive.

BUYING FOR YOUR HOME

New Waxes Make Life Of Homemaker Easier

By ELENORE LESTER

The long, lazy summer days are near and you, the homemaker, will want to be as lazy as every other member of the family. But you also want a clean, cool-looking house—and that usually takes work.

You can, however, reduce your cleaning chores by "wax housekeeping."

Wax rubbed into the window sills, for example, will give them a good, hard surface from which dust is easily whisked away. Use wax on your table tops for the same purpose. You'll notice less finger marking, too.

Lifting large rugs from the floors and giving them a good waxing with one of the products that also cleans will give the rooms a cool, polished look and save you the trouble of lugging the vacuum cleaner on hot days.

A new creamy kitchen wax cleans and deposits a hard, dry protective film on your appliances as well as on walls and woodwork. Thus you guard against dirt in the room most vulnerable to it. The same kitchen wax may be used on stainless steel, chrome and brass.

Q—"Now that my new summer furniture is out on the terrace I notice that the lamps I've put there look awfully wintry and out of place. What kind of lamps would look well out of doors?"

A—"There are many summery looking lamps with bamboo or simulated bamboo stands and shades of webbed plastic that look like wooden slats. These and lamps on wrought iron bases tend to give a lighter, fresher look to your terrace.

Canadian Forces in Korea Plan Sports Day For July 1

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

IN KOREA (CP) — Pre-rainy-season sports activities are in full swing here.

Early in May Brig. Jean Allard, 25th brigade commander, called in his wife and sports officers and launched a policy of greater emphasis on sports.

Summer rains, due in July and August, meant that regular schedules could be arranged only up to the time the rains came and for the month or two of good weather afterward before cool autumn sets in.

Dominion Day, July 1, was set aside as brigade sports day when championships in brigade sports would be held.

SOFTBALL SCHEDULES

Lieut. Doug Scott of Toronto, senior sports officer, divided the brigade into northern and southern softball conferences. He drew up schedules which June 24 will produce two teams from the south and three from the north to compete for the brigade title.

Softball diamonds in the brigade area were increased from five to 14, and bulldozers were allocated to speed the job of leveling them. Volleyball courts, enclosed by untrimmed camouflage nets, were increased from six to 19. One unit is even building a tennis court. Most units of any size have at least one diamond and one volleyball court and use them for intra-unit games as well as for the home-and-away scheduled league games.

Allard also authorized construction of a brigade sports centre near the rear headquarters of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

Almost completed, it comprises a softball diamond, two volleyball courts, two horse-shoe pitches, a 440-yard track, suitable areas for field events, a boxing ring and an outdoor theatre.

SAME COMPETITION

The brigade is conducting a competition for a name, the winning suggestion and its nominator to be announced at the Dominion Day festivities now scheduled for the centre.

Teams from the Canadian base units in Japan are to be flown to Korea to compete on Dominion Day for the Canadian Far Eastern championships.

Canadian teams also have been entered in a Commonwealth division sports day, scheduled for June 19.

Musial Worried Because of Batting Slump

BROOKLYN (AP) — Even the greatest athletes worry when they're not doing what is expected of them and Stan Musial is no exception.

The St. Louis Cardinal star, in the throes of one of the worst batting slumps of his career, is far from frantic over his lowly 247 mark. But he admits he is worried.

"Suppose you were in business and it fell off 50 per cent," he asked. "Wouldn't you worry? Well, baseball is my business and I would say my work has fallen off 50 per cent this year."

Musial's frank appraisal of himself is typical of Stan the Man. He gave no excuses. He doesn't blame his batting slump on injuries. The poor weather hasn't affected him.

"I just haven't been hitting the way I should," he said. "My timing is off. Don't ask me why, I just don't know."

Remember When

Archworth, winner of the 1939 King's Plate at Toronto, was left at the post in the running of the $5,000-added Open Memorial Handicap at Long Branch race-track near Toronto 14 years ago today. The good colt slipped far behind in the race won by Mona Bell, which had been second to Runt Lawless in the 1938 King's Plate.

Expert Hunters

NATAL, B.C. — For the second year in a row the same two youths shared the honors of bagging the first bear of the season in this area. Jackie DeLuca of Michel and Ronnie Matt of Natal shot a black bear.

Indian Yogi Enthusiasts Plan Assault on Mt. Everest

NEW DELHI (AP) — A group of Indian yogi enthusiasts plan an assault on Mountain Everest soon without clothes, oxygen cylinders, sleeping tents or food. If they reach the top they plan to sit there praying for a few days before returning.

The mystics propose to journey by way of the Bazar, 150 miles east of Kathmandu, climbing day and practicing yoga by night.

A spokesman of the group said Sunday he is in correspondence with top yogi specialists about the proposed attempt on the world's highest peak, but insisted on absolute anonymity until permission has been obtained from the Nepal government.

The spokesman said Everest's real name is Chomolungma, meaning goddess mother of the world.

"The way to approach it," he declared, "is not the irreligious materialistic approach, using warm clothing, oxygen cylinders, tinned foodstuffs and liquors, but the usual, well-known, pious, loving approach of a naked baby to the arms of its fondling mother."

Wide picture windows frame spectacular views of lake and towering mountain scenery.

Spread over four wings, the building covers an area of one-and-three-quarters acres.

"Bookings are almost at capacity for the entire season," said H. J. Gunning, manager.

"We have the largest number of conventions in our history this year, and we expect to have one of the best, perhaps even a record season."

NELSON, B.C. — Ed Kelter, a Nelson resident until 1947, will return next fall as district superintendent of recreation. He has just completed an assignment as provincial recreational divisional superintendent on Vancouver Island.

131 Killed, Hundreds Hurt As Tornadoes Stagger States

FLINT, Mich. — Tornadoes roared through southern Michigan and northwestern Ohio Monday, staggering the two states with an appalling toll.

Some 131 were known dead and more than 700 were injured. Devilish, savage wind whipped Flint, leaving an unofficial toll of 11 dead and 450 injured here alone.

More than 200 homes were smashed into grotesque piles of splinters and confetti of bricks. Damage was estimated up to $14,000,000.

The angry Flint twister whirled down one path—a cold water road—for eight miles.

Only the name remained. Up-rotted sagging power lines and muddy paths and emergency flares are all that is left.

It has been a road with modest, mostly wooden houses. Factory workers lived in most of them.

The Flint tornado which hedge-hopped east through Michigan's "thumb" to Lake Huron dwarfed half a dozen others which struck along a 350-mile north-south line from Tawas City, Mich., to Bowling Green, Ohio.

In Ohio, at least 12 persons were killed in two tornadoes. Elsewhere in Michigan—four persons were known dead near Erie.

75 DEAD

The worst tornado in New England since 1878 smashed across central Massachusetts before sundown last night.

The death toll is still mounting. Unofficial figures placed dead about 75. Red Cross officials said up to 40 were injured.

One hundred are in Worcester hospitals.

Crusader Commander Awarded DSC

OTTAWA — Skipper of the train-busting champion of the UN navy headed a list of eight awards to Canadian seamen Monday for their deeds in the Korean war.

The Distinguished Service Cross was awarded to Lt. Cmdr. John Bovey, 36, of Montreal and Victoria, commander of the destroyer Crusader which has run up a better record than any other UN ship in the business of molesting Communist trains.

The Crusader's record is 4½ trains wrecked, three of them completely.

The citation praised Lt. Cmdr. Bovey's leadership, coolness under fire, excellent judgment and cheerfulness.

Mentions in dispatches were awarded to five others, including the late Lt. Cmdr. John L. Quinn of Prince Rupert, who was killed on that October 2 when PO Jamieson did things which won him his medal.

Car Sales In Province Up 18 Percent

VICTORIA — British Columbians are buying new cars this year at a fast clip.

The department of trade and industry reported car sales are up 18.4 per cent in the first quarter of 1953.

It is the only major field where a sizeable sales gain is recorded, trade and industry minister Ralph Chetwynd said.

The department's economic survey also showed employment down in the logging, fishing and mining industries "owing to unsettled labor and market conditions."

Employment in sawmills and shipyards is higher than last year.

April exports through B.C. customs ports were valued at $39,923,000 compared with $66,435,876 a year ago.

The report said the total value of exports for the first four months of 1953 is 18 per cent below the corresponding period last year.

Officials said a major part of this drop may be attributed to the grain shipping strike in Vancouver.

"THE WORLD BY AIR"

Leper Suspect to be Allowed To Return to Home in China

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 22-year-old Chinese who is believed to have leprosy will be allowed to return to China instead of being confined at a leper colony.

The man, Woo Sik Main, was confined to a Vancouver isolation hospital after he was picked up in Chinatown after arriving here from Calgary.

Dr. G. D. W. Cameron, federal deputy health minister, said today he knows of no legal barrier to prevent the youth from leaving Canada to return to China.

The immigrant told city health officer Stewart Murray he is convinced he is not a leper, but said he would submit to a medical examination.

Although Dr. Murray said no confirmation of the affliction could be made until tests are completed this week-end, Calgary health officer W. H. Hill said his diagnosis definitely showed that the youth has the disease.

Meanwhile, Woo said if he is cleared in the examination, he will fly to Hong Kong; if not, he will submit to the care of federal health authorities.

Woo, who came to Canada last year, said he wants to return to China "for a change of climate" to clear up his "skin trouble."

He added that he intends to come here again if the trouble disappears.

Woo arrived here by a train from Calgary last Thursday. He had been allowed to stay at his father's home there because city health officials were not able to enforce a quarantine.

Methods Now Known to Cure Lepers

NEW YORK (AP)—Missionary leaders say the world now has the tools to wipe out leprosy—one of the most widespread and crippling ills—and to restore its victims to active, independent lives.

But there is insufficient machinery for putting the tools to work.

"For the first time," said Raymond Currier, executive secretary of American Leprosy Missions, Inc., "we now have proved methods, both for stopping the disease and for repairing damage it already has done."

Latest development in this twin long-range achievement is credited to a 39-year-old British surgeon, Dr. Paul W. Brand, who has perfected new techniques for restoring the paralyzed hands of those disabled by leprosy.

But while the means for whipping leprosy now are available, Currier emphasized that facilities and personnel for extending these means to the world's estimated 10 million leprosy sufferers are acutely lacking.

MOST CRIPPLED

Brand, who has spent four years developing surgical procedures for rehabilitating cases previously thought hopelessly disabled, said more than half of the millions afflicted by leprosy have been crippled to some degree. The new surgery can make nearly all of them capable of useful lives and full employment.

More surgeons trained in the procedure, he said, is the key to the "biggest unsolved crippling problem in the world today, dwarfing polio," and means returning previous beggars into wage-earning citizens.

The American Missions organization operates 158 treatment centres and colonies in 30 countries.

Brand worked out his operation at the Christian Medical College in Vellore, India.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

When You Try a Fast One, Do Your Thinking Ahead

One requisite of a successful deceptive play is speed. If you think two or three minutes before making your play, declarer will almost certainly become suspicious.

In today's hand, Mr. Masters made a desperate and brilliant play to coax Mr. Abel into making a losing finesse. He did most of his thinking and came to his decision as to the necessity for the play before the crucial moment arrived.

Mr. Dale led the six of hearts and the queen was taken by Mr. Abel with the king. A quick survey of the situation showed one of the minor suits would have to be brought in without loss. If the opponents got the lead, they could cash at least four hearts.

The decision wasn't even close as to which minor suit should be tried. There were two key cards to be finessed against, in diamonds and only one in clubs. Therefore Mr. Abel naturally planned to go after clubs.

At trick two, then, he led a small diamond to dummy's ace. Mr. Masters quickly played the king.

Mr. Abel pulled short and considered this unexpected development. With the 10 and five of diamonds still left in his hand and the important nine and eight in dummy, he could cash in the entire suit even though Mr. Dale had, as it appeared, started with four diamonds to the jack.

Why take a chance on clubs when diamonds had been "proven" to be safe? So Mr. Abel returned to his hand with a high spade, led the 10 of diamonds and let it ride. Mr. Masters won with the jack and led a heart, enabling Mr. Dale to cash six heart tricks and put the contract down three.

In making his play of the king of diamonds under the ace, Mr. Masters had reasoned as follows: Clearly Mr. Abel could not take more than two spade tricks. He had only one heart trick or two at the most. So it was just as obvious to Mr. Masters as to Mr. Abel that one of the minors had to be cashed in its entirety.

Since Mr. Abel disdained the finesse, there was no question but that he planned to go after clubs. And Mr. Masters knew the club finesse would be successful because he himself had the king.

There was a remote chance that the "sacrifice" of the king of diamonds might give Mr. Abel an extra trick. But what is 30 points compared to a fine chance of defeating declarer's contract?

Prize Offered For Best Story

The Community Council of Vancouver today announced details of its second annual one-act playwriting competition, which closes July 31.

The competition, sponsored by the literary section of the Community Arts Council, has been enlarged to include short stories and poetry.

Plays which have already been performed for profit, or published or have received an award in any previous contest are not eligible.

Competitors must be residents of British Columbia. Entries should be sent to the executive secretary of the Arts Council in Vancouver.
