CLEAN FACES IN KOREA PROMISED BY THESE GIFTS

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (P)—There should be a lot of clean faces among young South Korean children at the start of 1953. Children of the kindergarten and first three grades at Moose Jaw's William Grayson School hope so, anyway.

The children decided to forego the Christmas gifts they generally exchanged with each other at their annual party. They arranged instead to send a large gift parcel to youngsters of war-scarred Korea.

When all the packages had been collected, it was found there had been donated 208 bars of soap, 42 wash cloths and two towels. There also were two tooth brushes and six combs.

November Blast in Pacific Described as H-Bomb Test

CHICAGO.—A bulletin of atomic scientists concluded Sunday that the devastating blast at Eniwetok last November was caused by a second-stage hydrogen type bomb more than twice as powerful as the improved A-bomb.

The bulletin said the U.S. may have exploded its first H-bomb material in tests at Eniwetok 10 months ago, and that the November detonation must have been a follow-up experiment in which the amount of H-bomb material was increased somewhat.

Eugene Robinson, who wrote the article, based it on public announcement by the Atomic Energy Commission and news reports on last November's Eniwetok tests published in American newspapers.

One eyewitness account described the flame as about two miles wide, shooting five miles into the air. Another said the flash at a distance of 35 miles was as bright as 10 suns.

THE WEATHERMAN SAYS

An outbreak of Arctic air swept southward over Alberta and northern B.C. during the night accompanied by rapidly falling temperatures and this morning the thermometer at Prince George registered 32 degrees lower than yesterday morning.

Forecast: Fair with scattered clouds today; cloudy tomorrow morning will cover sections of the interior.

Christmas Trip Lands Youth Far Away in 'Snow-Land'

JOSE, California (P)—A 15-year-old boy who borrowed the family car two days before Christmas has been located on Alaska Highway near Whitehorse.

Anthony Guarascio, San Jose dealer, is flying north to bring back his son, John, who went off in the family car Dec. 24 after collecting his Christmas presents and drawing $200 from his savings account. The boy is at Watson Lake, in the Yukon.

Saturday night came a cold telephone call from the boy: "My car is broke, I'm broke, and it's snowing," he told his mother.

Arctic Bush Pilot Marooned for Week

By BERNICE MACIVER
Canadian Press Correspondent

CHURCHILL, Man.—A story of a man and a grizzly bear in the bitter cold of a sub-Arctic night was told by bush pilot Gunnar Laurmarooned with his plane a week in the Barren Lands, 1,000 miles north of Winnipeg.

RCAP search plane found him by Ferguson on a trail to Baker lake, 375 miles west of here, on Dec. 13. He said the weather closed in and he could see no landmarks. Radar blacked-out. He continued on course but later figured a strong tail wind had driven him past his destination.

"When the reserve of gas dropped to 45 minutes, I changed course to southeast," said Laurmarooned. "Still no luck. When only 20 minutes' gas remained, I decided to land."

LUCKY LANDING

"Visibility was poor. I had to fly 25 to 50 feet above the ground. At sight of an open spot I landed. In spite of the 13th, I was lucky. This was the only lake within a radius of 30 miles."

The radio blackout persisted and he could not raise Baker lake. "It was 30 below zero and the

More Rain, Less Sunshine In Past Year

Prince Rupert had more rain in 1952 than it did the previous year according to the Daily News records, and there was less sunshine.

Throughout the 12-month period 88.45 inches of rain fell over the city, compared with 79.20 inches in 1951, and Old Sol shone for 848.7 hours as against 972 hours in the previous 12 months.

The weatherman recorded 5.47 inches of rain in December and 17.1 hours of sunshine. Rain fell on 22 of the 31 days. Warmest day of the month was on the 13th when the mercury shot up to 52 degrees above, and coldest morning was on the 17th at 27.1 degrees.

Only half an inch of snow has fallen over the area this winter and the weatherman sees no sign of the white stuff in the offing.

Snow, however, did fall over Terrace on Saturday night with four inches covering the roads on the western side of the village and about 10 inches eastward.

Provincial government graders were on the job quickly and were followed by sanding crews to keep all roads open. Motorists were cautioned to drive with care because of ice formed by the melting snow on Sunday and again this morning.

Former Ontario Premier Dies

ST. THOMAS, Ont. (CP)—Mitchell F. Hepburn, 56-year-old stormy petrel of Ontario politics a decade ago, died today of a heart attack.

Liberal premier of Ontario from 1934 to 1942, he passed away in his sleep about 3:30 a.m. following an illness of about two days from a cold.

He was the second former Liberal premier of Ontario to die within a week. Gordon D. Conant, 67, who served for eight months in 1942-43, died last Friday.

Mr. Hepburn had been in poor health since leaving public life in 1945 and underwent several operations in the last few years.

In eight turbulent years, he won international prominence. His flair for showmanship and his feud with the late Prime Minister Mackenzie King made his stay in office one that attracted the eyes of all Canada.

Winnie' Sees Little Danger Of World War

NEW YORK (P)—Prime Minister Churchill said today that resisting Communism in Korea has "done more to improve the chances of world peace than anything else."

The British leader, arriving here for talks with President-elect Eisenhower, said the danger of a third world war "has receded during the last year."

He told a press conference aboard the liner Queen Mary that the Korean war means "that Soviet aggression has been resolutely and fully confronted."

"That has been the greatest event of the past five years," he said.

Financial Adviser Appointed

OTTAWA (P)—Gordon W. Hunter, 38-year-old Winnipeg-born accountant, today was appointed financial adviser to scrutinize spending in the defence production department.

In his hands will be the financial policy-making affecting hundreds of millions of dollars worth of defence contracts likely to be awarded by the department in 1953.

His appointment dovetails with the new line of thought in the department: It's time the government stopped pouring millions of dollars as investments into new defence plants and encouraged private investment to undertake the risk with greater depreciation allowances for income tax purposes.

A Losing Proposition

ONE of the features of the herring strike which makes progress so difficult is that both operators and fishermen are entirely on their own in their efforts to reach a settlement. There is little, if any, chance that outside help will come to their rescue.

In the first place, there is no apparent legal means by which arbitration can be introduced. Although the Fisheries Act does make it possible to implement the compulsory legislation proposed by union leaders, such arbitration would apply only to those operators who are licensed to catch and pack herring in the season in question. As only one company has taken out a license this season, there is no point in approaching the problem from that direction.

There is no way the provincial government can force arbitration on operators merely because they have packed herring in the past or because they expect to do so in the future. Moreover, serious though the present dispute is, the government would be ill-advised to adopt a practice of arbitrating every time a disagreement arose between a commercial buyer and a commercial seller. The calls upon it would be endless and it would find itself hopelessly ensnared in the affairs of individual business concerns.

The proposal that the federal government save the situation by subsidizing the fishing industry also runs into trouble. If the industry were threatened with collapse by conditions beyond its control, the plan not only would have merit but would become a national obligation.

Circumstances of the herring strike, however, do not embrace any danger of this kind. The difficulty has been caused wholly by a condition in which a product is pricing itself out of the market. In the case of herring, the price of the operators' product has dropped about two-thirds in the world market. Yet the industry is being called upon to sustain a level of earnings which are already far higher than the wages earned by the average Canadian.

The whole edifice is, in short, artificial. A government which encouraged it to remain so would receive few thanks from the taxpayers, and particularly from those whose own wages are far below those of the fishing industry.

Since the solution lies completely with the parties involved, they gain nothing by standing apart as far and as long as possible. Nobody is going to lead them by hand towards a truce. Nobody is going to help them and, at the same time, nobody is going to force them to do anything they do not wish to do. Their loss is shared by the public, but theirs is the greater part of it.

Perhaps the adamant stand being taken is proving something, but at the moment we cannot see just what—and we doubt that the families concerned can see either.

Dr. Nunn May Wants Chance For New Start

LONDON (CP)—Dr. Alan Nunn May, hunted by reporters since his release from Wakefield prison, has issued a statement saying he thinks he "acted rightly" when he gave atomic secrets to Russia during the Second World War.

The signed typewritten statement was handed out by one of the reporters stationed outside the home of Nunn May's brother Ralph at Chalfont St. Peter, near London.

Nunn May's sister-in-law gave the reporter the statement. The scientist himself did not appear. The sister-in-law said she typed the statement while Nunn May dictated.

"I was shocked to see how worn out and ill he looked," she said. "He must have had a terrible time of mental strain and worry during his imprisonment. He looks years older than his age—41. My husband and I have our duty to care for him."

Explaining why he thinks he did the right thing, Nunn May's statement said:

"I was wholeheartedly concerned with securing victory over Nazi Germany and Japan and with the furtherance of the development of the peaceful uses of atomic energy."

"ACTED RIGHTLY"
"I myself think I acted rightly and I believe many others think so too. To those who think I did wrong I would like to point out that I have suffered the punishment which was inflicted on me by the law and I hope I shall now be entitled to at least the consideration normally granted to released convicts: an opportunity to restart life."

Nunn May was arrested in London in 1946 soon after his return from Canada where he worked with British scientists on the Canadian atomic research program.
Evidence seized in the exposure of Canada's spy ring identified him as the myster-

As I See It

Harry Cassidy Fund

IF I WERE ASKED to list people born in B.C. who had done the most to make this old world a better place to live in, I would surely name the late Harry M. Cassidy as one.

Harry Cassidy was one of my own closest friends, so it is difficult to write with detached impartiality about him. But, steering myself not to be unduly influenced thereby, I honestly think that Harry Cassidy did more than any other single individual of our times to bring the truly scientific method to bear on the social welfare problems of this nation.

If it is true—and it is—that Canada has evolved one of the most intelligent and sane social welfare set-ups in operation in the whole world today, that fact is due in no small part to Harry Cassidy.

HARRY CASSIDY was a teacher par excellence and it was probably as a teacher at our universities that he left his most lasting mark. He had that priceless gift of the born teacher—the way that not only to train the mind of his pupils, but also able to bring from his inimitable spirit to set adrift even the least readily inflammable of those human flames.

He was a shining example of the truth that far good results you need not only clear thinking to derive the right methods of action. But you need enlightened men and dedicated women to apply that thinking through those methods, or your whole program is as meaningless as dead stone.

HARRY CASSIDY had a religious sense of humor. He himself would be the first to see the joke. The irony of the fact that he should have become most famous for his last few days of life than for the full half-century he had lived and worked among men.

"The Last Days of Harry Cassidy" have been immortalized in the new famous Maclean's magazine article by that name. But why? Simply because a fine writer, or told the factual story of how a great Canadian social scientist, knowing that he had only a few more days to live, tried out those last few days and left a tiny desk with all unfinished business in good hands.

THEY ARE setting up a fund as a memorial for Harry Cassidy. It is in the kind of fund that Harry himself would have approved. In fact, you might say, the fund is to defray the cost of raising a baby which Harry himself fathered. It is a ten year project to do key research at the level where it needs doing most. Dr. Cassidy's lifetime of experience as a teacher, social worker, and government administrator had convinced him that vast sums of money were being wasted in day-to-day operation of welfare services because of inadequate knowledge further back, and higher-up. He believed prevention was better than cure. This fund is designed to save taxpayers' money and to save human beings unnecessary misery.

Dr. A. E. Gruener, President of the B.C. Electric Co. of Vancouver, is national chairman of the fund and cheques should be sent to him, payable to the Harry M. Cassidy Memorial Research Fund.

SMUGGLED OUT
Home Office officials quietly smuggled him out of the prison in order to evade reporters and forestall "undue publicity."

However, he was located 36 hours after his release.

Nunn May's statement said he did not wish to discuss details of the action which led to his imprisonment. The statement ended with a line saying he would grant no interviews.

All he asked was that he be permitted to restart life doing some "useful scientific work in which I can be of some service" (Continued on Page 4)

Parliament Hill

By Edward T. Applewhite, M.P., Skeena

Two days ago I found one of those lapel-labels they give you at conventions with your name and address on. I also found that this one, given to me at the first annual meeting of the B.C. Chamber of Commerce, is just the right size to fit the name-plate slot at our apartment.

As it says in black capital letters: EDWARD T. APPLEWHITE, M.P. PRINCE RUPERT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE. You will understand what has happened if someone claims that the office of the Prince Rupert Chamber is in the Burnaby Apartments, Ottawa. At that I think it pays to advertise.

Any one interested in foreign trade, particularly Trans-Pacific trade would be well advised to get the December 21 issue of "Foreign Trade" published by the Department of Trade and Commerce.

1000 Die in U.S. Planes During 1952

WASHINGTON (AP)—Airplane accidents took the lives of almost 1,000 civilians and hundreds of military personnel in the United States last year.

The civilian toll was less than in 1951, but the military loss may have been greater.

The Civil Aeronautics Board places at 245 the number of persons killed in commercial transport operations—scheduled, non-scheduled and cargo air lines—300 passengers, 36 crew members and 19 persons on the ground.

The comparative total for commercial operations in 1951 was 228 deaths.

The board estimates the number of persons killed in private flying during the year at 44, between 400 and 650, compared with 700 in 1951.

The Defence Department says its figures on military air accidents, deaths, domestic and foreign, are secret.

OTTAWA DIARY

By Norman M. MacLeod

Confidential over-the-shoulder look at the New Year's resolutions of some of the Cabinet Ministers and more prominent Ottawa politicians.

Prime Minister L. S. St. Laurent: "I will NOT be too hasty about calling a general election. I WON'T take advantage of the 'wave' while they are confused by the Currie report."

External Affairs Minister L. B. (Mike) Pearson: "I will NOT wear a bow tie to the Commonwealth."

Finance Minister Douglas Abbott: "I will solicit the best public relations advice I can procure as I certainly need it. I may even refuse to see my best budget."

Defence Minister Brooke Claxton: "I will NOT name Montreal Auditor George Currie as my campaign chairman when the general election comes round."

PC Leader George Drew: "I will NOT pattern myself after President-elect Eisenhower and appoint any liberals to my Cabinet when I come one—which won't be long now, I hope."

Bilingual Donald M. Fleming (PC, Toronto-Ridings): "I will NOT deliver any speeches in French to my Toronto constituents."

John Diefenbaker (PC, Laurier): "I will NOT seek the post of Tory Leader in Saskatchewan."

Jean Francois Pouliot (Liberal, Terrebonne): "I will accept appointment to the Senate—if I am offered it."

CHURCHILL VISIT

One of the chief subjects of speculation in the Capital over the New Year's week-end is the role—if any—which Canada is to have in the imminent Churchill-Eisenhower tour.

So far no communication has been addressed to the government here on the subject. The situation could be that the discussions between the two leaders—both the informal ones before the President-elect's inauguration and the more formal ones after—will be simply a direct exchange of views between the two heads of governments, with no third party intervention.

That would be a return to pre-war practice and a departure from the custom which grew up during World War II whereby the Canadian Prime Minister used to be called down to Washington before any talks between the British Prime Minister and the President were concluded. On the rare occasions when such practice wasn't followed, the British Prime Minister would normally be accompanied by a Canadian visitor to report to the Cabinet here on his Washington discussions.

There is no assurance that either of these courses is going to be followed in the present instance. A new era of direct Churchill-Eisenhower co-operation may be opening up instead.

The first overseas journey around the world was made by Sir George Simpson, Canadian statesman and explorer, in 1841.

Ray REFLECTS and REMINISCES

The radio reported snow in Florida and Alabama last night. Had it been on the job it could also have reported no snow, no ice, a full moon and a temperature like October way up in Prince Rupert 4000 miles north.

The way to avoid alcers, an expert says, is to develop power of mind. And worrying how to obtain the latter will give you alcers.

Financial aid is being asked in Prince Rupert. They made it too. For there come times when something cooking sounds more attractive than something pasted.

Bones of contention are responsible for most of the world's wars. General Eisenhower, returning from Korea, never said it, but he might have, and pronounced a great truth.

NOT QUITE
What a difference there is between the right word and the word that is almost right. For example you can call a woman a kitten, but not a cat; a chicken, but not a hen; a victim, but not a sight.

Spending the holiday season in or around Prince Rupert will be cheerfully described by manifold and critical visitors now returning.

SO NOW WE KNOW!
Predictions concerning the end of the winter continue. All are similar. However any winter will be tough or not tough. (Jan. 5, February 15, 3).

Proper Preparation of Surfaces Necessary For Success in Painting; Story Tells How

One of the most vital secrets of a successful paint job is the proper preparation of the surface before painting, according to paint authorities.

It must be clean, smooth and free from grease, oil and foreign matter. With a smooth, clean surface, even a beginner can achieve professional results.

Before painting your house exterior, excessive accumulations of dirt and grime should be washed off with soap and water. If there are occasional small rough, blistered or peeled spots, the surface should be scraped by hand with a putty knife or wire brush and the edges smoothed with sandpaper. All nailholes and cracks should be daubed with paint or linseed oil, puttied, sanded smooth and dusted. Bare spots need touching up with undercoat paint.

Joints around chimney and around door frames and windows in brick walls require re-calking, and loose putty must be replaced. Repair leaks in roof, walls and around windows. All surfaces must be thoroughly dry before painting.

DISCOLORATION

Discoloration caused by the action of certain sewage gases on paint can be removed by sponging with peroxide or a mild solution of muriatic or acetic acid. Rinse with water, and let dry.

Even when over-all house painting is not necessary, many parts of the house are sure to need a paint touch-up. Touching up walls, trim, roof or porch no longer need result in splashes of color standing out because of a mis-match with the surrounding color.

Today the home-owner can buy as little as a half-pint of paint to match to perfection the color of any surface to be touched up.

METAL SURFACES

Metal surfaces such as posts, grille work, balustrades, trim and piping should be examined for rust before painting. If rust is found, loose particles should be removed with sandpaper and the surface coated with a rust-preventing metal primer before painting.

Wrought iron work should be sanded and given two coats of clear lacquer, brushed in and finished by waxing. Smoke-stained brickwork can be cleaned with a stiff brush or steel wool and a scrubbing powder. The brick color can then be brought out by applying a soaking coat of raw linseed oil.

PAINTING CONCRETE

Before applying oil paint to concrete, the free lime should be neutralized by spreading on the concrete a solution of zinc sulphate and water. The solution should be applied freely, and allowed to soak in and dry for several days before painting.

If the concrete has already been painted with an oil paint, this treatment is not necessary unless the paint is badly peeled. If the paint is peeled, it indicates that the lime was not neutralized before the old paint was applied. Therefore, the entire surface should receive the zinc sulphate treatment before repainting.

to this country and to my fellow men."

NOT TREASON

"There is just one of many erroneous statements of fact which have been made about me which I should like to correct now. I was not convicted of treason, nor was this word used by the prosecution or judge at my trial, and I certainly had no treasonable intentions."

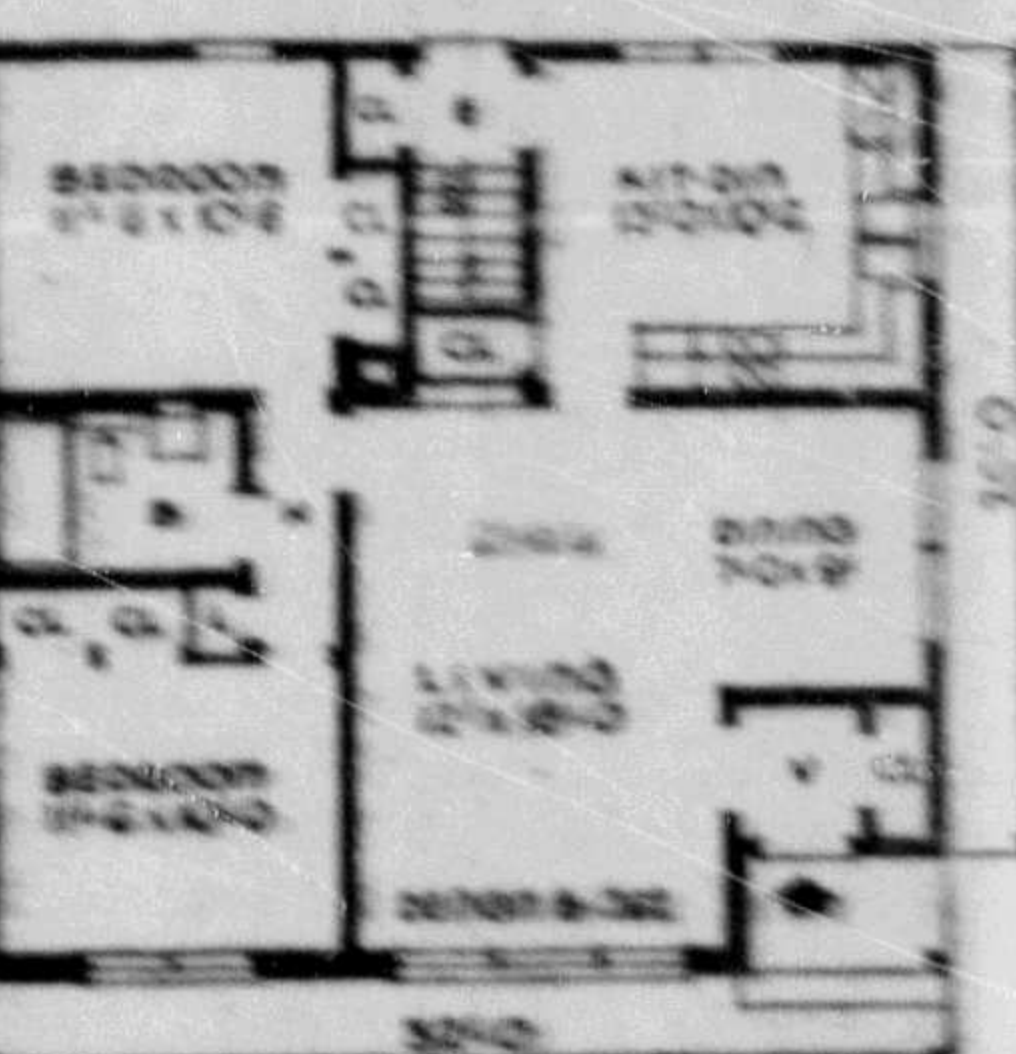

"Now that my imprisonment is over, I can only wish for the same consideration and fair treatment which I received throughout the long period of my sentence from the prison officials and my fellow prisoners."

'Best Housing Buy' Uses Combined Trade Secrets

Out of a series of over 40 unprecedented conferences in which leaders of the building industry pooled their trade secrets has come a house which Life Magazine calls "the best housing buy in the U.S. today."

The new $15,000 house, created by members of the National Association of Home Builders, is the subject of an exclusive article which shows complete details about the house, currently being constructed by 25 builders in 14 states, and how it came to be designed.

In October, 1951, NAHB members in the west and southwest held the first "Trade Secrets" conference. The intent was to break down, by round-table discussion, the traditional secrecy barrier among builders, to exchange ideas and learn from each other how to build a better house for less money.

During the following months, builders from all over the country sat in on other "Trade Secrets" conferences. On the basis of the confidential data on methods and materials which NAHB members have since exchanged at some 40 meetings, the "Trade Secrets Committee" designed a house combining features that in the past have been included only in homes out of the range of most buyers.

NOT TOMORROW

The "Trade Secrets" house has 1,340 square feet of living space, three bedrooms, 1½ baths, a big fireplace and a flexible open-floor plan. Of contemporary design, perfectly adaptable to most sections of the country, it can be erected by a mass builder in almost every part of the U.S. for $15,000 or less, exclusive of land.

The "Trade Secrets" house is not a house of tomorrow. It is today's practical, easy-to-build house. Though no single feature is new, no builder's house has ever incorporated so many advance methods and principles that have been tried and proved sound. Because it is engineered for efficient production, it is possible to make the house larger, give it more storage space, better outdoor living areas, a better design and a more attractive exterior.

Almost all of its parts fit a uniform unit of measure so that the windows, doors and walls may be pre-cut and quickly slipped into place. Roof trusses are assembled on the ground, quickly hoisted up. Because builders save money and time, this house goes up in eight weeks or less, they can give buyers many extras usually reserved for high-priced houses. Life says.

Mau Mau Lawyer Freed From Court Charges

Nairobi, Kenya, (Reuters)—The Kenya Supreme Court has found D. N. Pritt, British lawyer defending six alleged leaders of the Mau Mau, not guilty of contempt.

He had faced a prison sentence for sending a cable to four Labor members of Parliament in Britain declaring arrangements made for conducting the defence at the Mau Mau trial "amount to a denial of justice."

Chief Justice Sir Hector MacGibbon ruled the widely-published cable was a criticism of conditions created by the government and did not refer to the magistrate of the court at Kapenguria, where Jomo Kenyatta and the other African leaders are on trial.

On Pritt's application, MacGibbon awarded costs against the government, overruling Attorney-General John Wanyika's contention it had been his duty to bring the action.

"It is most unusual to award costs against the Crown," Wanyika said.

Lawyers and spectators surrounded the chubby, bespectacled British lawyer, former left-wing Socialist member of Parliament, after the judgment was announced, shaking him by the hand and patting him on the back.

Hundreds of Africans and Asians lined up on the steps outside the Supreme Court to cheer him.

Pritt now is free to resume the defence of the six Africans accused of murdering the Mau Mau. Their trial has twice been adjourned through Pritt's absence and now is due to be resumed in the Kapenguria schoolroom, in the northern Kenya, serving as a makeshift courtroom.

Refinishing Furniture at Home Easily

There are several methods of refinishing furniture which can be used by the home decorator. Among them are the stain, shellac and wax finish; the varnish finish, the oil finish and the oil varnish finish.

All of them require as a first step a thorough removal of the old finish and a thorough cleaning of the wood before applying the new finish.

After the wood is thoroughly cleaned and rubbed down lightly with sandpaper and steel wool, apply a stain with a brush or a rag. Apply several thin coats until the color is built up. Be sure the stain is thoroughly dry before going farther. Apply a thin coat of shellac using ½ shellac and ½ methyl hydrate. Let dry. Rub shellac finish with fine steel wool, wash with solvent and allow to dry.

Apply second coat of shellac, being careful to avoid sags and bubbles, and allow to dry. Rub again with steel wool, with the grain. Wash with solvent. Apply third coat of shellac, allow to dry for at least 12 hours. Rub the final coat of shellac with pumice powder and linseed oil until it is satin smooth. Clean so that all oil and sand are removed. Polish with wax or a grade of furniture polish. The result will be a beautiful finish but it must be remembered that it is not impervious to water spotting.

Real Problem For Mover Of Furniture

BALTIMORE (AP)—This, said 75-year-old Jesse Beck, "is the stupidest thing I've ever done," and he pointed to three rooms of furniture setting on his sidewalk.

Beck was out in the chilly air Thursday guarding the furniture—all because of a hole in his pocket.

He and some movers had a job yesterday, with Beck acting as supervisor. Beck was called in to oversee the job by a friend who was moving into an apartment.

After packing the lamps, chairs, stoves, refrigerators and so on, Beck scrawled the new address on a slip of paper and put it in his pants pocket. When the truck came Beck reached into his pocket and found his finger poking through a hole.

He didn't remember the address, and the tenant couldn't be found. The movers had to have their truck back and that's how Beck wound up with three rooms of furniture on his sidewalk.

7 Airmen, Soldier Get High Awards

OTTAWA (AP)—Seven members of the RCAF and one Army sergeant received awards for Pacific theatre service in the Queen's New Year's honours list. Defence headquarters announced Wednesday.

The awards:

Air Force Cross—PO Robert M. Edwards, 24, St. James, Man.

British Empire Medal—Cpl. Jean Baptiste P. A. Trudel, 31, Lewis, Que.

Sgt. (Army) Kenneth G. Tuttle, 31, Vancouver.

Queen's Commendation for Valuable Service in the Air—

Pt. Lt. Robert E. Burn, 30, of Hespeler, Ont.; Pt. Lt. Edward B. Wolkowski, 27, of Tiny, Sask.; and Corporal, Sask., John P. Wilson, 30, Montreal; Sgt. George Howard, 31, West Summerland, B.C.; Sgt. Louis C. Potekal, 29, Fernie, B.C.

PO Edwards won the Air Force Cross for "exceptional ability and resourcefulness" as pilot on 26 round trips across the Pacific on the Korean airlift.

The Army man, Sgt. Tuttle, was decorated for "energy, resourcefulness to duty." He is acting camp sergeant-major at Eban camp, Tokyo, through which Canadian troops pass going on recreation leave in Japan. He was wounded in the Korean fighting.

Cpl. Trudel, stationed at the Haneda air base in Tokyo, was cited for skill in the maintenance of aircraft and devotion to duty, which "contributed immensely to the efficiency with which the Korean airlift has been conducted."

Like the other Air Force men, those receiving the Queen's commendation all are engaged with 408 transport squadron of the RCAF on the Korean airlift. Their citations generally are for skill, resourcefulness and devotion to duty.

Timely RECIPES

Hot breads often make the meal. These "Apple Crumb Muffins" do just that and we'll venture to say they'll be appearing on your menus frequently.

APPLE CRUMB MUFFINS

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 egg
2/3 cup milk
2 tablespoons melted shortening
2/3 cup unsweetened cooked dried apples.
Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, sugar and spice. Blend in crumbs. Beat egg. Add milk, shortening and apples. Add to first mixture, stirring only enough to moisten dry ingredients. Fill greased muffin pans about 2/3 full. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) about 25 minutes. Makes 1 dozen medium-sized muffins.

Famed Ship Total Loss From Fire

YARMOUTH, N.S. (CP)—The schooner, City of New York, last of Canada's large windjammers, was termed a total loss by port officials as she lay fire-blackened and broken Wednesday on a reef off this western Nova Scotia port.

It was an ironic ending for the once-fleet vessel used by Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd during his Antarctic exploration.

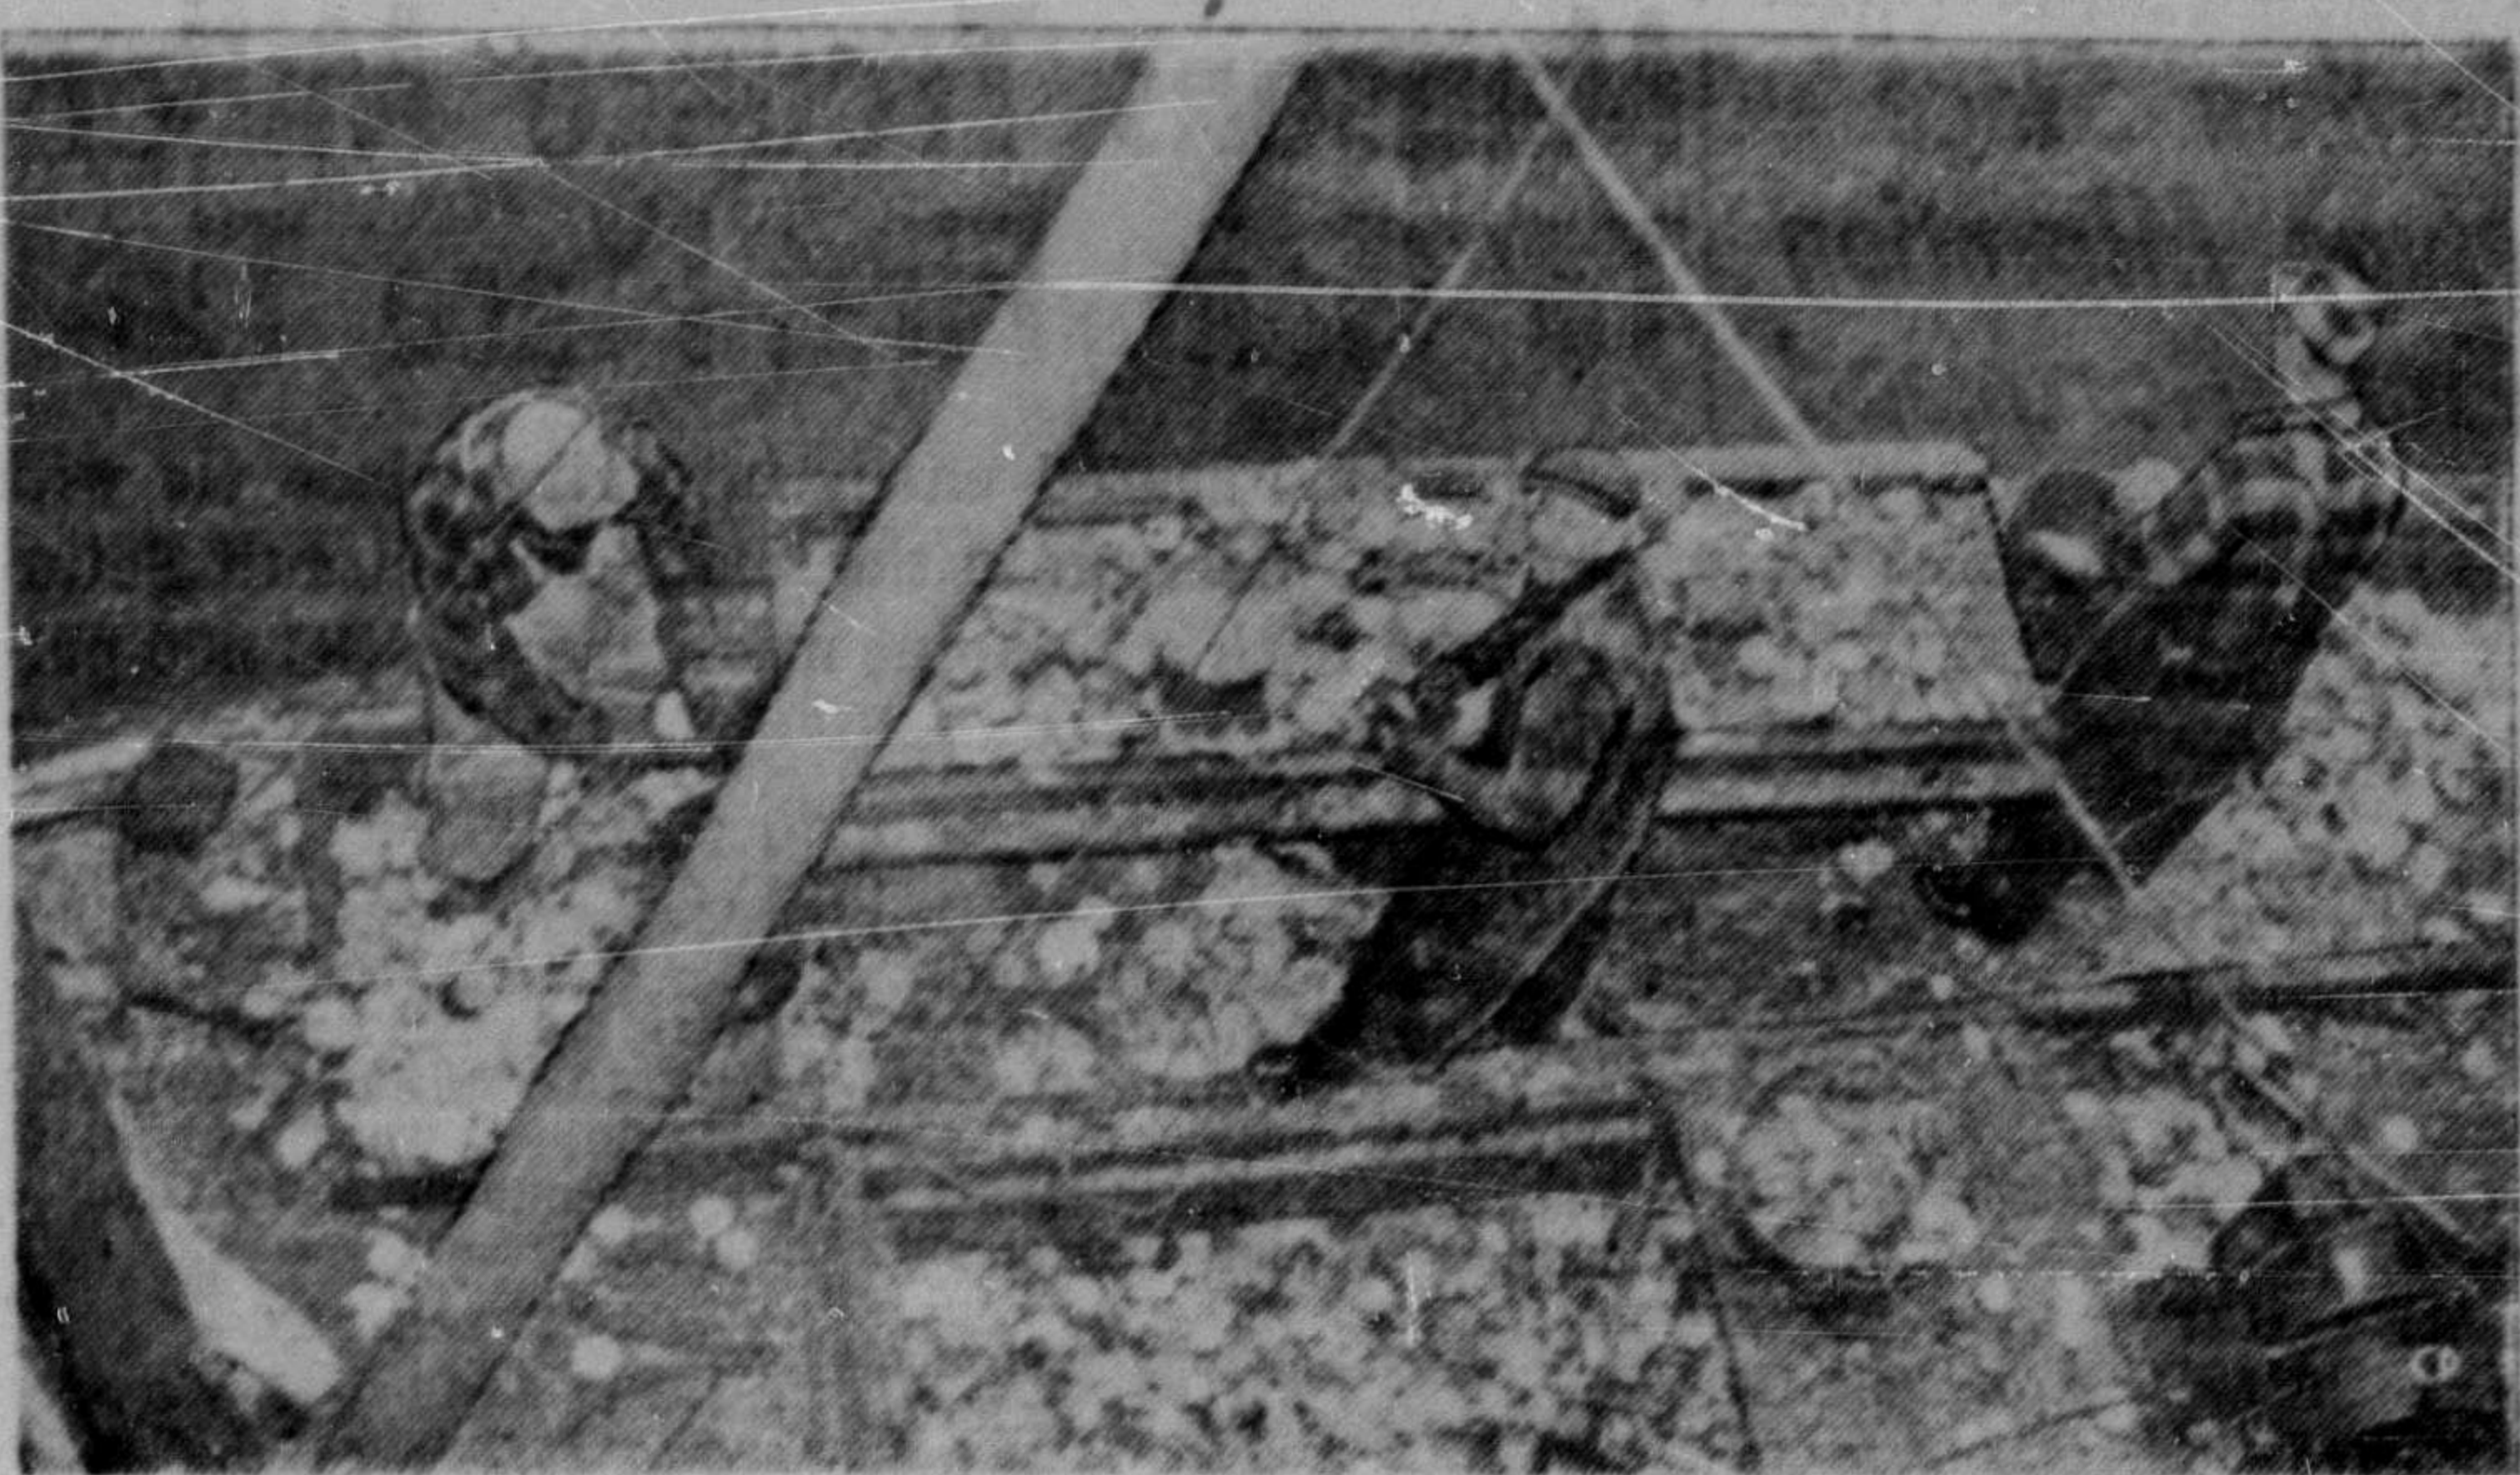

But her 34-inch topsides and 40-inch bottom planking—which bucked the ice of two frozen continents—were laid open Tuesday night on the jagged Chebogue Ledge, where she grounded after snapping her towline.

The three-masted schooner, converted to a coastal cargo ship and stripped of her topsails when bought in 1943 by Capt. Louis Kennedy of Conquerall Barks, N.S., was being towed to Lunenburg when the line broke.

Before the crew could attach another line, she ran aground. The seas apparently upset the cabin stove and fire spread quickly.

Six crew members were rescued by an RCMP patrol boat.

The City of New York was built as the Samson in a Norwegian shipyard in 1885 and, after Byrd's history-making voyage to the Antarctic in 1928, converted to a floating museum for the World's Fair in Chicago.

CHOWDER IN THE RAW—Digby scallops—fried, chowder or any way you like them—are top items on Nova Scotia menus. Fishermen at the Bay of Fundy port tackle the job of shelling the day's catch. There are plenty more in the hold when they clean up the array on deck.

Two Women Shoot It Out With Mau Mau

NAIROBI, Kenya (CP)—Two white women grabbed guns and shot it out with a raiding band of Mau Mau natives in their bedroom Friday night.

They killed three of the Africans and wounded a fourth. The Africans broke into their bedroom on a lonely farm in the Mweiga area of Nyeri, hot spot in the anti-white terrorist campaign waged by the Mau Mau secret club.

The two women were Mrs. Dorothy Raynes-Simson and Mrs. Kitty Heselburger.

Kurt Mueller Named in New Purge Trial

BERLIN (CP)—East Germany's Reds set the stage Sunday for their long-heralded purge trial with an anti-Jewish backdrop. The ruling Socialist United (Communist) party announced adoption of a resolution which amounted to indictment of two former high officials who have been behind bars for more than two years.

They are Kurt Mueller, No. 2 Communist of West Germany until he was kidnapped on a visit to East Berlin in May, 1950, and Paul Merker, a Jew, former state secretary of East Germany's agriculture ministry and member of the Politburo until September, 1950.

Merker is charged with harboring the Zionist viewpoint.

SLEEPY HOUSE BREAKER NOW RESTING BEHIND BARS

BERLIN, Reuters—Kurt Hofschlag, 23, is spending the next 18 months behind bars because he fell asleep on the job. A householder testified in court that he came home to find his house burgled and Hofschlag asleep on the couch.

"I was just tired," Hofschlag told the court. It was his fifth house breaking job that night.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD
Mr. Dale's Attack Against Slam Almost Is Fatal

Old Mr. Dale believes in making attacking leads against slams. His lead of the five of clubs in today's hand didn't work out so well. In fact, it was almost fatal to his side's chances of defeating the contract.

Leading into declarer's 10-ace holdings is not the best way to pick up tricks and yet Mrs. Keen did that very thing later in the hand and it effectively killed Mr. Abel's chances.

Mr. Abel won the first trick with the queen of clubs and led a heart to dummy's king, getting the bad news about the distribution in that suit.

He came out with the queen of diamonds and the contract could have been beaten if Mrs. Keen had ducked. But, being human, she went in with her ace. However, she did not wood-only return a club. Mr. Abel could have won a club return with the ace, picked up all of Mr. Dale's trumps, cashed the king and jack of diamonds, and dummy's three high spades would have taken the last three tricks.

After winning the ace of diamonds, Mrs. Keen took time out to think—a highly recommended and often neglected practice. She reasoned that her partner surely had more hearts than dummy. If he didn't, then Mr.

Abel had a seven card heart suit and in that case he certainly would not have seen fit to bid three no trump on the third round of bidding.

She then turned her attention to the spade suit. She could see 11 spades in her hand and dummy. If Mr. Dale had none, he could ruff a spade return. If he had one, then Mr. Abel also had just one. In this latter case, a spade lead would cut Mr. Abel's transportation to the board in everything except the trump suit itself.

So Mrs. Keen returned a spade and the contract was doomed. If Mr. Abel tried to take discards on the spades at this point, Mr. Dale would ruff. If he picked up Mr. Dale's trumps, he would have no way to get back to the board.

Caribou Stage Huge Migration From Northland

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—Caribou herds migrating south from the tundra of the Northwest Territories this year were the greatest in nearly 25 years, veteran trapper Ed Kronlund of Great Island, 90 miles northwest of Churchill, reported here.

More than 15 strings of animals, travelling a few hundred yards apart and altogether forming a steadily-moving stream 1½ miles wide, moved past his cabin on Great Island in the Seal River. He said it took the animals 22 days of steady travelling to pass the point.

Mansons Trounce Millers To Gain First-Place Tie

Mansons soared easily into first place tie with Gordon & Anderson in the senior hoop circuit Saturday night with a 25-point massacre of CCC 300 pulp millers.

Score ended 61-36. Ray Spring sparked the hustling jewellers with an 18-point tally as Mansons overran the millers without too much difficulty.

The one-sided affair featured little defence work by the losers, or much hustle. Meantime, they committed 19 fouls to Manson's eight. Each side had one technical foul called against it by Referee Bill Morrison and Sev Dominato. Carlson and Sid Scherk of CCC fouled out in the last period.

INTERMEDIATES
In the Inter "A" division, North Star edged Esquires 48-44 in a close and hectic contest which featured a two-way tie in top scoring honors: 14 points by Ron Christoff of Esquires and by Garry Morrison of North Star. Meanwhile, General Motors trounced Sports Shop 33-23 in the Inter "B" bracket behind the 21-point combined scoring of Stewart and Sedgwick.

TORONTO (AP)—Joseph Henri Maurice Richard, around whose name fame has burned brightly for 10 years, has been voted Canada's top athlete and her outstanding sports personality of 1952.

Winner of a multitude of honors during his professional hockey career with Montreal Canadiens, Richard was a decisive winner of two divisions in the annual Canadian Press poll of sports writers and sportscasters.

The Rocket was not only selected as the "outstanding individual performer" but also as the "outstanding personality in any capacity."

He was an easy winner in the athlete division with 69 points on a 3-2-1 voting system. In the voting for outstanding personality, he edged out Jack Kent Cooke, publisher and owner of Toronto Maple Leafs of the International baseball league, by two points. Cooke was selected in a sporting news roll this week as the outstanding minor-league baseball executive.

Selections among the 56 ballots returned covered almost every field of sport, including hockey, football, golf, baseball, basketball, tennis, boxing, skiing, swimming, shooting and even coaching.

Second choice to Richard as top athlete was a 17-year-old Saskatoon high school student named George Genereux, who until 1952 was virtually unknown in the Canadian sports world.

Genereux, a six-foot, three-inch youth with a bushy cut and an easy smile, won Canada's only gold medal at the 1952 Olympic games with a display of trap-shooting skill that amazed veterans of the sport many years his senior. Comparatively unknown in Canada, he had been winning shooting titles since he was 13, including the junior championship at the Grand American Trapshoot at Vandalia, O., centre of the sport in North America.

Genereux was also fifth choice in the outstanding personality voting. Third and fourth places respectively went to football coaches Frank Clair of Toronto Argonauts and Frank Filchuck of Edmonton Eskimos.

Third choice as outstanding athlete was Detroit Red Wings versatile star Gordie Howe. The 24-year-old right winger from Floral, Sask., was voted 33 points, 22 less than Genereux.

Football's rising popularity in the Canadian sports scene was reflected in the over-all picture presented by the poll. Although no gridder managed a top berth, nearly 44 per cent of the names that made the list were either football players or coaches.

Among those mentioned were all-star middle Vince Mazza of Hamilton Tiger-Cats, quarterbacking Witkowski of Toronto Argonauts, 1952 Canadian champion; Bob Shaw, Calgary Stampeder's lanky outside who set a scoring record of 113 points during the season; giant outside fullback of Edmonton Eskimos; and glue-fingered Al Brown, Argonauts' miffy punter-catcher who covered himself with glory in the Eastern Finals and the Grey Cup final.

Probably the most important single factor contributing to Richard's win triumph was the goal he scored Nov. 8 in Montreal Forum, during the second period of a game with Chicago Black Hawks.

It was the 11th goal of Richard's NHL career, and it set an all-time scoring record in professional hockey, surpassing Nels O. Pooner, Stewart's mark of 124, established over 15 years of competition.

The goal came 39 years to the day after Richard scored his first goal in NHL play. Richard has been a member of the first all-star team six times, and the second all-star team three times. He has been among the top 10 scorers six times in the last 10 seasons, set records for the most goals in one season—50 in 1945; the most goals in NHL playoffs—12 in 1946; and won the Hart Trophy in 1947 as the most valuable player to his team.

High up in the voting was Cliff Eastman of Toronto, winner of his third world swimming championship at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto last August. Others scoring well were golfer Bill Mowbray and Stan Leonard of Vancouver and Jerry Kesselring of Kitchener, Ont., tennis champion Brendan Blackner of Montreal, and amateur hockey star Jean Marie Beliveau of Quebec who recently scored three goals in one game while playing with Canadiens.

Beliveau also won mention on the outstanding personality list. Among others who won votes were Glenn Synge, managing director of Toronto Maple Leafs; sports columnist Elmer Ferguson of the Montreal Herald; Jerry Longman, sponsor of Tillamook Livestock basketball team; and Maurice Stewart, Canadian women's close golf champion.

Curling Opens With Bonspiel For Members

The Prince Rupert Curling Club will reopen Thursday with a mixed novelty bonspiel, attracting entries to club members and their wives, or members of the Ladies' Curling Club.

Entries close at 7 p.m. Wednesday.

The draw for the first round of the draw was made in part on Sunday and the following teams will start play:

7 p.m.—Dixon vs. Eydall; Kellough vs. Stewart; Slet vs. Matthew.

9 p.m.—Aston vs. Moore; Kenzie vs. Thom; Bateman vs. Warren.

The above draw is for the primary competition and losers will enter the secondary competition. Yesterday a fairly large winning party put boards between the sheets of ice with the hope of giving curlers "truer" ice on the individual sheet.

Detroit Boosts NHL Lead With Hawks' Defeat

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Red Wings boosted their National Hockey League lead to six points again with a 5-3 decision over Chicago Black Hawks Sunday night.

Hawks are tied with Montreal for second place. New York Rangers, league cellar dwellers, meanwhile capitalized on a pair of penalties to defeat playoff contending Boston Bruins 5-2.

The victory was the Rangers' first since Christmas and only their sixth of the season in 35 starts.

Veteran Actor Dead at 69

NEW YORK (AP)—Charles Hopkins, veteran actor and producer, died here on his 69th birthday. Hopkins made his first stage appearance in 1908 at the Empire Theatre here. Included among his Broadway productions were "The Perfect Alibi," "The Ivory Door," "Mrs. Moonlight" and "The Unknown Warrior."

Interest-Free Cars

VANCOUVER (AP)—Seventy-seven of the B.C. government's fleet of 982 cars are being sold to civil servants as an economy measure.
