Man Testify Jury

Discloses Held Facts

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A grand jury today heard testimony from a witness who broke a long silence to disclose the kidnapping and later quiet inquiry.

Louis Shoulters, 41, of Austin Hall, who was the kidnap-slaying of Bobby Greenleaf, 17, of St. Louis police Shoulters' handling brought his resignation. The investigation of his reputation as a "fixer" after 27 years on the job.

Witness waiting to testify in the case of John Hager, St. Louis driver who gave tip that helped police find rest in St. Louis of Mrs. Bonnie Brown, 1-year-old divorcee, and Hager in the case.

Shoulters is expected to testify against both Hager and Tuesday.

Shoulters would refuse to testify before the jury because he does not wish to divulge the names of informants who caught the kidnap.

Shoulters said he would disclose his sources of confidential information in the district attorney's office before the jury.

Shoulters had indicated he would disclose the names of informants before the jury.

Inquiry in St. Louis following reports that Hager had found disbursements on officers' accounts.

Hager, 71-year-old millionaire father of three, among Tuesday's witnesses.

Shoulters only that he had some things.

Shoulters paid a record amount, approximately $50,000, was recovered.

Shoulters picked up Hall as a reporter Tuesday and didn't think the kidnapping ever got to St. Louis.

Shoulters was around Hall and seemed to be in the case where he could be taken from him.

Shoulters' knowledge," Hager said.

Shoulters await decision on marriages.

Dental Clinic Goes in Red But Service 'Must Continue'

Princed Rupert Children's Preventive Dental clinic is not only broke, it has a deficit of around $200, delegates to the annual meeting at the Civic Centre were told last night.

Yet the work of caring for pre-school and first grade pupils in city schools must continue, said president J. S. Wilson. Between February, 1952 and June of this year, 338 children made 1,000 visits to city dentists and 260 of them had work completed on their teeth.

Mr. Wilson stressed that donations from organizations in Prince Rupert were badly needed and unless a total of guaranteed grants were made up to between $400 and $500 the clinic would go further "in the hole."

It was suggested that two or three service clubs could combine in making support of the dental clinic an annual project, or that a service club could coordinate donations from its own members and other organizations to insure continuance of the clinic's valuable work.

DEPARTMENT HELPS
Total estimated annual cost of operating the dental clinic was approximately $2,200 the meeting was told. Half of this amount is provided by the provincial department of health. Another $700 is raised by the minimum charge of $4 per year per pupil treated at the dentists.

The financial report showed collections sometimes provided the money to pay the dentists for their time, other times, the government grants came through in time. Up to this week the clinic had a bank balance of $111, only to have another bill presented them which put the clinic in the red.

Figures provided by secretary-treasurer F. L. Derry showed that between February, 1952 and June, 1953 the following children were treated for dental troubles:

King Edward school: 76 children made 252 visits with 63 having work completed; Conrad school: 111 children made 298 visits, 86 completed; Borden: 81 children made 255 visits, 62 completed; Annunciation: 34 children made 99 visits, 31 completed. Thirty-six pre-school children made 96 visits with 27 completed between September last year and last June. Average number of visits among pre-schoolers was 2 2/3 visits per child. Average visits among school children is three visits per child.

TOUGH WINTER LOOMS AS BIRDS HEAD SOUTH

VANCOUVER—It will be a tough winter, if you believe the birds.

There is a great migration of birds to the south, the heaviest in years.

Some believe this is a sure sign of a heavy winter, while other experts aren't so sure.

Game department official James Cunningham says in all his 64 years he has never seen such a conglomeration of south-bound ducks settling round the lower mainland.

Issuance of Truck Licences Scored by B.C. Chamber

VANCOUVER (AP)—The second annual convention of the British Columbia Chambers of Commerce ended Tuesday night with the charge that "anyone can obtain a trucking licence as long as they have the money."

The resolution, proposed by the chambers' directorate and approved by delegates, said authorities responsible for enforcement of the Motor Carrier Act in Canada's west-coast province have been "derelict in their duty."

Licences were being issued, it charged, "regardless of whether there is a need for additional trucking services. Conditions are worse than in the 1930's, when there was no trucking industry control."

Blame for the breakdown was laid to "government officials" who discontinued public hearings formerly held to determine the necessity of additional trucking services.

"Several civil servants in key positions have resigned," the resolution said, "because the government had turned its back on violations of the act."

Earlier, Earle D. MacPhee, director of the school of commerce, University of British Columbia, told delegates B.C.'s future rests on development of an extensive highway system.

"I hope Canadians never forget what they owe to the Canadian workers."

Joint Meeting May Prevent Strike
VANCOUVER (AP)—Union and company officials will meet tomorrow in another attempt to avoid a strike of 1,100 electric power workers which could cripple industry and public transit on the lower mainland and Vancouver Island.

Announcement that talks will resume in the dispute involving 600 B.C. Electric Co. workers plus another 500 electricians employed by contractors who do work for the BCE, followed a meeting between company president Dal Grauer and John Raymond, vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Miner Believed Killed After Rocks Bury Camp

Two Prospectors Survive Big Slide

DORREEN.—An elderly Dorreen man is missing and two others are recovering from shock suffered late last night when a giant rock slide crushed their placer mining camp on Lorne Creek, 2½ miles north of this CNR flag-station.

Oscar Nelson, about 50, hiked out from the camp this morning and told W. E. Horwill, store-keeper here for the past 30 years, how the sudden slide carried Anton Iverson, 60, away, and knocked over Oscar Sikora, 45, injuring his left leg.

Nelson helped Sikora to their cabin, about half a mile from the mining site, and then spent the rest of the night searching for the missing man.

After seeing that Sikora was comfortable this morning, Nelson made his way to Dorreen, arriving shortly before noon.

After Nelson related his story to Horwill, three loggers left for the scene to take first aid to Sikora and continue the search for Iverson. The three—Roy Scully, Ernie Lewis and Herb White—were taken on a CNR speeder part way and planned to cross the creek by rowboat.

There is no direct access to the location on Lorne Creek and it is expected RCMP from Terrace, who were notified, will travel the same way.

The prospectors, who have lived in Dorreen for many years, had been at the Lorne Creek site for the last two months. They were working at a spot about 1½ miles up the creek, which flows into the Skeena.

Nelson said it rained heavily all day yesterday and the creek at the base of the mountain was flowing rapidly just prior to the slide at 8 o'clock last night.

The missing man is believed to have been carried into Lorne Creek, with the tons of rock and debris that crashed over the camp.

Provincial government mines inspector J. W. Patterson is leaving Prince Rupert tonight and is expected to reach the scene tomorrow morning.

Dorreen is about 35 miles northeast of Terrace.

Dean To Offer New Formula On Peace Bid

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Arthur Dean, United States special envoy, Wednesday will offer the Communists a new formula for setting up a Korean peace conference. Today he voiced confidence "we are going to work something out."

Dean's optimistic prediction followed the third session of preliminary talks to plan a Korean political conference. There was no noticeable progress at the two-hour, 40-minute meeting.

The Communist delegate insisted in a 2,500-word statement that Russia be seated at the peace conference as a neutral.

Dean replied that Russia logically should attend the conference—and sit with Red China and North Korea—since Communist armies in Korea "were equipped with planes, tanks, guns and munitions sent from the Soviet Union."

"The Soviet Union has openly supported your side by word and deed," Dean declared. "The USSR has thus played a direct role in the Korean hostilities."

"I still think these are only preliminary skirmishes and there is still a possibility we are going to work something out of these preliminary talks," he told reporters.

"It seems to me I can detect an attitude of interest on their part and that they really want to come to some conclusion on this matter," he said.

Of his new offer to the Reds, Dean said:

"I plan to propose a formula to them tomorrow to see if we can't get to work on a time and place first."

Meanwhile, the chairman of the Korean repatriation commission today said three Korean and Chinese prisoners have been slain by fellow PoWs in a camp for anti-Communists in Korea's neutral zone.

Hospital Staffs Seek Pay Boost

VANCOUVER (AP)—A 10 per cent across-the-board wage increase will be sought by workers in three lower mainland hospitals in forthcoming negotiations, it was reported here Tuesday.

Involved are 1,200 nurses and lay workers at Vancouver General hospital and another 600 non-professional employees in North Vancouver General and Royal Columbian hospitals.

William Black, business agent of the Hospital Employees' Federal Union (TLC) said the union will request "standardization" of pay rates for carpenters, electricians and other tradesmen employed in the hospitals and covered by the union's contract, plus increased holiday-with-pay benefits, Mr. Black said.

Terrace Oldtimer In Hospital Here

Brash Private Crashes Buckingham Palace To Congratulate Hero of Gloucester Stand

LONDON (CP)—Pte. George Wood is a proud by anxious man.

He's worried about another meeting with Lt.-Col. James Carne, commanding officer of the famed Gloucester Regiment, who Tuesday received the Victoria Cross at Buckingham Palace.

Wood, a member of B. Company and captured with Carne at the Imjin River battle during the Korean war, wanted to be the first to congratulate "the Old Man" following the palace ceremony. Police at the palace gate were sympathetic but firm: No admittance.

Undaunted, Wood wandered around the corner and into a pub where he met a service car driver, due to enter the palace grounds in a few minutes. The driver was persuaded to take along a passenger and Wood sailed through the gates and up to the red-carpeted stairs leading to the state ballroom.

When Carne emerged from the ceremony, Wood was waiting with outstretched hands. Photographers took pictures.

U.S. Gives Cold Shoulder To Russian Peace Talks

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP)—American officials have turned a cold shoulder toward a new Russian hint that Premier Malenkov may be ready for peace talks with western chiefs of state.

President Eisenhower, they said, will consider such a conference only after Russia has proved its sincerity on specific moves to ease East-West tensions, such as German and Austrian peace settlements.

Britain's Prime Minister Winston Churchill has been plugging the idea of an informal meeting with Malenkov, but informed officials Tuesday night said he has promised State Secretary Dulles to delay any move toward arranging one.

There had been speculation that Churchill was planning to go to Moscow by himself. He was said to have stuck to the view, during recent talks with Dulles in London, that some such meeting is needed if the West is to find out at first hand what Malenkov is like and what his views may be.

AWAIT MOSCOW REPLY

But officials said Dulles won an agreement from Churchill not to take any direct action at least until Moscow replies to the latest western invitation for a Big Four foreign ministers' meeting, and France and the other signers have been given a chance to ratify the proposed European Defence Community treaty.

The new Russian hint that Malenkov might be willing to meet with his western counterparts came from Russia's United Nations delegate, Andrei Vishinsky. Vishinsky told UN correspondents in New York Tuesday that "there is no special problem" in arranging face-to-face discussions between Malenkov and western leaders.

He insisted such a meeting could be called "without a preliminary test of sincerity and good intentions of the Soviet Union"—the conditions Eisenhower and Dulles have laid down.

Body Found In Montreal

MONTREAL (AP)—A man's body with head, hands and feet missing and tied in a green blanket with butcher's twine was found today in a lane in eastern Montreal.

Montreal police said the discovery by an early-rising Bourbonniere street householder indicated a gruesome murder and an "expert job" of trying to conceal identity of the victim.

They said the heavily-built victim was aged between 25 and 40 and the killing was recent.

Sidney Phinn, a factory foreman whose wife looked out a rear window of their home to see the bundle, reported the case to the police.

The 37-year-old foreman told police the blanketed bundle containing the body was not in the lane behind the Phinn residence when he went to bed last night.

Police, on the scene in five minutes, found the head, hands and feet of the victim had been cut off. The neck had been tied with the same kind of twine wrapped around the blanket. The victim weighed from 180 to 200 pounds.

Tension Eases In Dispute

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Straining tensions over the hot Palestine dispute have eased since Israel suddenly offered on Tuesday to hold up her Jordan river hydro-electric project while the United Nations Security Council debates the issue.

The council postponed until Thursday its Palestine hearings to give the General Assembly's political committee a chance to resume debate on American charges that the Russians ran a torture centre to extort germ warfare "confessions" from captured American airmen.

UN informants said the United States was prepared to present further evidence "of a more effective nature" to support her charges. Nationalist China also was expected to submit documentary evidence on the issue.

Israel's chief UN delegate, Abba Eban, made the surprise offer to suspend work on the Jordan as the council debated Syria's complaint that the project deprived the Arabs of water for irrigation and breached the Arab-Jewish armistice.

Right Kind of Interest

IT IS with pride that we learn Prince Rupert's J. T. Harvey has been elected first vice-president of the B.C. Chamber of Commerce. This is an honor which not only carries much personal distinction for Mr. Harvey but also reflects creditably on the city as a whole.

In recent months Prince Rupert has not been fortunate in the type of publicity it has received. Whether man or the elements were to blame, our misadventures always seemed to take on particularly large proportions. We were apparently incapable of getting into trouble in anything but a big way, with the result that news about us made headlines right across the country.

Our true place in the provincial scene cannot be judged on the basis of occasional poor publicity. The future of Prince Rupert is far more secure than that. Nevertheless, it is a gratifying experience when one of our citizens goes forth and gains favorable recognition for the city.

Mr. Harvey's new position is one of considerable importance and will do much to attract the right sort of interest to this part of the province. He is to be congratulated that his trip to Vancouver was rewarded with such success.

As Others See It

DRUGGISTS, we noticed by a news story a short time ago, have indicated that they prefer to be called pharmacists, or something like that. We wish them luck but we suspect for the average man on the street they will remain druggists and their place of business a drugstore, not a pharmacy, or a pharmaceutical dispensary.

It illustrates a current trend to give everyone a fancy handle, if possible. Junkmen in some quarters are called secondary products purveyors, we understand. Some big companies which had difficulty getting applications for file clerks got on much better when they advertised for a records attendant, custodian, administrator, etc. Some went the whole hog and called the job director of records.

The same thing held true for a city that wanted a rat catcher, and couldn't find one. But it was easy to find a Rodent Extermination Officer.

People are funny, but if it makes them feel any better to have their jobs graced with grandiloquent title, we suppose it doesn't do any harm.

CAPTURING HOLLYWOOD

The west is hearing there's a strong chance of Hollywood playing it up again next year in the Jasper and Banff regions. Young Woman Tries To Take Life in Jail

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 27-year-old woman was thwarted by the Vancouver city jail matron in two attempts to take her own life in jail during the week-end. Police matron J. M. As I See It

Frank Beswick, MP

A FEW days ago I wrote about the humiliating riddle of the world-wide British Commonwealth.

That while we include within our own borders nearly a quarter of all the human beings; and have within our own lands every known resource to produce abundance for all—yet we have more and more fallen to the status of poor relations of Uncle Sam. We have learned that those who take handouts also take orders.

With three or four times the population of either the U.S.A. or U.S.S.R. we are ourselves disjointed and hence unable to compete with either of those two giants.

I re-stated my own conviction that the British world realm could only regain its old place of world leadership if it did so on a moral and spiritual basis by vitalizing UN.

A FEW HOURS after that article appeared in print I had a phone call from a British Labour MP—Frank Beswick, who sits for Uxbridge, just outside London.

I had never met Mr. Beswick, but had heard about his magnificent one man crusade. He is a sort of Ross Thatcher in British Labour.

In a nutshell, the Labour MP from Britain stands anew for a very old cause—the federation of as many free and self-governing British nations as care to join. He is now enroute home from Australia and New Zealand where he has made scores of speeches to all parties, and all types of audiences. They have listened, with respect.

After hearing Frank Beswick's story I suggested that he was about half a century too late. Had there been enough statesmen of his vision in what we used to call the British Empire, back around 1900, we would already have had established a working British Commonwealth advance model of that "parliament of mankind."

MR. BESWICK (who in the typical British tradition pronounces his name "Besick") directly challenges my reasoning. He says that all the countries like Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, Pakistan, Ceylon and all the rest had to go through the stage of nationalism before there could be any hope of forming a true federation.

This was for two reasons, he says. A nation, like Australia or Canada has to demonstrate to all the world that it is a nation, fully free and of equal legal status with all other nations. But it has to do so before it can itself fully realize and freely decide that separate nationalism is not enough.

(I thought of Edith Cavell's historic phrase "Patriotism is not enough" and wondered how many people ever stopped to figure out what the gallant British nurse, who was executed by the Kaiser's men in world war one, really meant.)

MR. BESWICK recognizes my point that Canada has an unique relationship with the U.S.A. which would make it impossible that this country would ever join any federation which did not include both Britain and the United States.

His immediate aim is to get Britain, Australia and New Zealand to federate. That is, he wants them to have one completely free trade area, one area where people would be free to migrate as they chose, as we now do within Canada, say. He believes that if those three countries all used the same money, with the consequence of wiping out all the present exchange restrictions—great mutual benefit and prosperity would result.

OTTAWA DIARY By NORMAN M. MacLEOD

The curtain of silence which has descended upon the government's recently announced housing policy is beginning to give rise to a wave of speculation amongst Parliament Hill observers.

Usually when governments come up with a solution for a problem as important as the national housing situation has become they are understandably flamboyant about it.

But in the present instance, after its first announcement of its scheme to lower down payments by lengthening the term of housing loans, the government has said no more on the subject. It has simply "clammed up," suspiciously as though on second thoughts it wasn't too sold on its own scheme.

While informed sources say that the government intends to carry through the alterations in loan policy which it announced, they acknowledge that the public reaction to the changes was far less favorable than had been expected. Furthermore, the soundness of much of the criticism is being conceded by the Cabinet's economic advisers.

Particularly do Federal economists admit that the urgent need of the moment isn't so much for more houses as for cheaper houses. The truth is that at the present time houses are being built at a rate which represents close to the maximum which the availability of labor and materials permits. The trouble is that building costs have risen so high that the average individual of moderate middle-class income cannot afford to enter the market.

Retiring Lockmaster To Start Search Of Rideau Canal for Buried Treasure

OTTAWA (CP)—Allan Moses, retiring after 31 years of locking boats through the Rideau Canal here, is planning to search the canal area for buried treasure.

The 60-year-old lockmaster says he won't have to go outside the city limits to look for money stolen when the canal was being built back in the 1820s. He thinks he knows where some of it lies. But he claims there is also buried treasure at other points along the old canal which links Ottawa and Kingston.

He says records of the early canal builders show a great deal of money was stolen in a payroll robbery. The money was in coin shipped from England in iron-bound barrels.

Mr. Moses hints about certain evidence he has found but says that until recently he couldn't do much about it. He adds there probably isn't as much money hidden as some people think because he believes the packers of the barrels in England were an untrustworthy lot.

The Rideau Canal was built at a cost of about $4,200,000 to provide a safe water route between Montreal and the Great Lakes in the event of war with the United States. The War of 1812 proved the more-direct St. Lawrence River route a dangerous and expensive transportation artery.

Numerous boatloads of supplies heading up the lakes were captured by the Americans. Some 2,000 laborers were employed annually on the big project. Nowadays only pleasure boats and the occasional commercial craft travel the picturesque route. Nevertheless the canal serves as a storage place for 255,000-acre-feet of water from the Rideau River watershed. It is regarded as one of the biggest such storage areas in Eastern Canada and the transport department values it at nearly $13,000,000.

Leander Manley, secretary-manager of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, said it would also "be favorable to increased sale of sulphites to the Japanese textile market." Dissolving pulps are used in the manufacture of textiles, customs duties on which would be cut under the proposed pact. "If the agreement is negotiated," Mr. Manley said, "it will have a stimulating effect on Canadian production of dissolving sulphites."

THE LETTERBOX

NOT THE FACTS

The Editor, The Daily News—The article appearing in your paper October 24 over the signature of M. M. Stephens, entitled "Old Council Facts," was not fact at all. It compels me to revert to 1913 when T. D. Pattullo was mayor of Prince Rupert and the all-important question at that time was power.

Mr. Pattullo staked his political future with a group of citizens purporting to be directors of a power company with considerable land holdings at Port Edward and capable of delivering power to the city gate. The scheme was strongly opposed by S. M. Newton who contested and defeated Mr. Pattullo for the mayoralty on the power issue.

He therefore became father and founder of the city hydro plant at Woodward Lake that was immediately installed after the election in January, 1914.

Victor Basso Bert was a member of that council that Mr. Newton presided over and W. J. Raymond was reporter on the Evening Empire. Apparently Mr. Stephens was having a long sleep at that period.

Next Mr. Stephens tells us Col. McMordie was not connected with the city council in 1926 when the exchange in police force was made. What a blundering statement to be published as a fact. McMordie, Stephens and myself were all members of the 1926 city council. And well I remember that, under McMordie's pressure, I reluctantly accepted chairmanship of the finance committee that enabled McMordie to become chairman of the utility committee, 1926—Again we are given a fact when we are told that the provincial police cleaned up or closed Comox Avenue. That job was performed by the Army authorities during the war, five years after the provincial police took over.

I have no idea what temptations Mr. Stephens encountered while serving as a police commissioner, but I do know there are a number of police commissions in the province and the cities they are connected with appear to be doing all right. I think Mr. Merrick and Stephens would be well advised to leave that red-bait stuff to Senator McCarthy. GEORGE B. CASEY

Mother Asserts Children's Deaths Brought Her Peace

DETROIT (AP)—A slight, 27-year-old mother accused of strangling her two children says the act brought her "peace of mind."

She has been confined to hospital under guard. Police chief Charles Deplanche of suburban Inkster said Mrs. Boyd told him she strangled 18-month-old Mark Richard and choked the life out of seven-year-old Terry Robert because "the Bible told me to do it." "I loved my children but today I saw Satan in their eyes," the woman was quoted as saying. "I've been in hell all my life. I feel wonderful. I have peace of mind."

Her husband, Claude, 29-year-old factory worker, was not at home when the tragedy happened.

Mrs. Boyd called a Detroit doctor who had delivered both children and told his nurse of having killed them.

Assistant prosecutor John Mowatt quoted the woman as saying she "knew the Devil was in the baby" because he had hissed at her, and that she knew the Devil was in Terry Robert, too, "otherwise he couldn't have fought against me so hard."

Britain Still Refuses After 37 Years To Let Remains of Irish 'Hero' Go

DUBLIN (Reuters)—Britain has refused once again, as she has during 37 years, to let the remains of Sir Roger Casement go home for burial at Murlough Bay in County Antrim.

The London government's latest refusal was made known in the Dail Eireann by Concha O'Brien, spokesman for Prime Minister Eamon de Valera.

Persistently since Aug. 3, 1916, when Casement was hanged in England as a traitor, Irish Nationalists have pleaded that the bones be laid in a grave made ready for him 37 years ago in the tiny cemetery at Murlough Bay.

De Valera made the latest appeal to Britain during a recent visit to London.

MAKES PLEA Before the bearded, fiery-eyed Casement was hanged at Pentonville Prison, he said: "When they've done with me, don't let my bones lie in this dreadful place. Take me back to Murlough to lie there."

But when his body was cut down from the gallows it was buried in the prison yard beside scores of murderers in unmarked graves, for it is an English law that condemned men's bodies shall rest where they are hanged.

British officials, through the years, have insisted that removal of Casement's bones would set a "difficult precedent." But many have argued that the remains should be

Bill Lambie Sets New Sales Mark For Monarch

The rain may fall on Prince Rupert but the sun shone brightly for Bill Lambie in September. Bill, who is northern supervisor for the Monarch Life Insurance Company was a busy man last month... so busy, it was learned today, that he set a new sales record by producing $280,000 worth of new business for his company.

The tall, ex-ball player, and popular sports fan was too modest to let the figure out, but while he was in the south watching the World Series on TV, his company compiled the figures. Bill has made an outstanding study of annuities during his spell with Monarch and, as he says, he'll be glad to discuss the subject with anyone any time they wish.

Kiddies' Music Appreciation Class Planned

A music appreciation class for pre-school-age children will get under way tomorrow at the Civic Centre. Miss Rusty Thain will conduct the course for youngsters aged three to six years, using records and piano music to teach the children a sense of rhythm and some appreciation for descriptive music, particularly music descriptive of the elements and of the animal world.

She plans eventually to introduce the youngsters to the classics through such suitable works as the Peer Gynt and Nutcracker suites. Assisting Miss Thain at the classes to be held every Thursday afternoon at 2 p.m. will be Mrs. L. Holby and Mrs. Roy Wicks. The latter will also teach singing to the youngsters.

Nanaimo Seeks Visit by Duke

NANAIMO (CP)—The Duke of Edinburgh, who will visit Western Canada during the period of the British Empire Games in Vancouver next year will be asked to visit Nanaimo while in B.C. Ald. Robert Fawdry fathered the motion, suggesting that he visit the largest pulp mill of its kind in Canada, the Harmac mill near Nanaimo, operated by MacMillan & Bloedel, Ltd.

J. S. Wilson Re-Elected Dental Clinic President

Any suggestion of fluoridation of the Prince Rupert water supply as a means of preventing dental decay should come from a group of citizens rather than a government body, Dr. S. F. Carr, Skeena Health Unit director told the Prince Rupert Children's Preventive Dental clinic last night.

Questioned by clinic president J. S. Wilson, Dr. Carr said it had been found in the United States that any move towards fluoridation that came from a government agency was nearly always voted down. When the matter was approached from the citizens themselves in an effort to prevent dental decay in the community the operation was usually passed when the matter came to a vote.

DEMAND CHLORINATION

He likened the battle which he said customarily followed any move toward fluoridation of a city's water supply to that which resulted in Prince Rupert when the army authorities, alarmed at the gross pollution of the city water had demanded chlorination.

Dr. Carr said he had on hand all necessary information as to the various methods of fluoridation, including cost, to put the system into operation in Prince Rupert.

At the meeting J. S. Wilson was re-elected president of the clinic and Father O. P. Mohan named vice-president. The incoming executive, composed of two members from each school P-TA, Dr. Carr for the B.C. government and a dentist in an advisory capacity from the B.C. Dental association, would appoint a secretary-treasurer.

CO-OPERATION GOOD

Mr. Wilson said the clinic had had wonderful co-operation from city dentists and it was suggested that to help the dentists it would be advisable that the P-TA representative accompanying the children should stay in the waiting room to keep control of the youngsters.

Money for the clinic service, $4 for each child, should be sent in with the applications. Secretary-treasurer Derry said that next Wednesday those children in Grade 2 whose dental work was incomplete when they were in Grade 1 could be started. The following week, he believed, work on the new Grade 1 pupils could begin.

Those attending were Mrs. M. Ridsdale for the IODE; Mrs. M. Ritchie and Mrs. E. Orom for Conrad; Mrs. H. Pinniger, Borden; F. H. Thomas, Kinsmen; L. M. Rice, Canadian Legion; Ald. William Bremner, City of Prince Rupert; Alex Haig, Rotary club; Dr. S. F. Carr, Skeena Health Unit; Mrs. E. Sinclair, King Edward; J. S. Wilson, P-TA Council.

The meeting passed a motion extending sympathy to Mrs. Jens Munthe and noted the clinic's indebtedness to Dr. Munthe who helped originate the children's dental clinic here.

Leroy L. Rowe, Rupert District Pioneer Passes

Leroy Leland Rowe of Usk, a resident of this district for many years, died last night at the home of his son, Vernon Rowe, 549 Ninth Avenue West. He had suffered a stroke Monday at his home in Usk.

Born in Minnesota, the 63-year-old man had been farming at Usk since this spring. He came to this district in the early 1900's and was employed by the CNR in the early years. More recently he was employed at the Prince Rupert chlorination plant for two years. He had resided at Kitwanga for five years prior to moving to Usk.

Besides his son here, he is survived by his wife at Usk, a son, Marvin, at Kitwanga, six grandchildren, a sister, Mrs. A. Rowe at Bellingham and distant relatives in California and Auburn, Washington.

Funeral service will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Anglican church in Kitwanga.

First United Rites Unite Slack-Jonas

A quiet, pretty wedding was performed at 7:30 Monday night, October 26, in the First United Church, Prince Rupert, when Beryl Jonas, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Fry of Oliver, B.C. was united in marriage to Percival James Slack, son of Mrs. Eric Carter of Kelowna. Rev. L. G. Sieber officiated.

The brunette bride, wearing a charcoal grey suit was attended by Miss Sheila K. Bennett. Groomsman was Bastian Groeneweg.

The groom, who works for Heppner Motors and the bride, employed at the Singer Sewing machine company plan a wedding trip at a later date. They have taken up residence in the White apartments, Fourth Avenue.

Mother To Avoid Color Bar By Taking Daughter To U.K.

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Bettine Field Bruce, daughter of the publisher and department store magnate, Marshall Field, is seeking court permission to take her daughter by a previous marriage to England to rejoin Mrs. Bruce's present husband, a Negro.

The 30-year-old Mrs. Bruce says that because of racial difference she did not elect to live with her husband, Eldridge

Bruce, 34 in "a segregated community" in Washington while he was studying at Howard University.

However, she says he now is studying in London and that they have bought a home in England in "a non-segregated community."

Mrs. Bruce's action was disclosed Tuesday in New York Supreme Court. It concerns her daughter, Bettine Goodall, 9, by her marriage to Dr. McChesney Goodall, Jr., a Yale medical school professor.

Custody of the girl was given Mrs. Bruce in 1947 when she obtained a Nevada divorce from Goodall. He was given rights of visitation. Goodall contends that the custody agreement prohibits either party from taking the girl out of the country.

Guild To Run Bazaar Booth

Women of the Moose Hospital Guild will take care of the sewing booth at the fall bazaar, it was reported at the regular meeting held at the home of Mrs. S. Anton, 1453 Piggot Place.

At the conclusion of the business meeting cards were played with Mrs. F. Shannon winning first prize and Mrs. H. Tweed second.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to wind up the evening. Those present were, guests, Mrs. H. Tweed, Miss S. Johnson, Mrs. F. Shannon, and Mrs. MacDougall; co-workers, Mrs. H. Harrison, Mrs. S. Anton, Mrs. H. Antonliuk, Mrs. Hamilton and the chairman Mrs. R. Montgomery.

Newly-Selected Rupert Basketball Commission Invites High School To Provide Senior Team

A newly-elected Prince Rupert amateur basketball authority last night invited Booth Memorial High School to provide one team for the senior league in the 1953-54 season and also nodded approval to an offer by Terrace to join the league.

Heading the new basketball commission as chairman is Fred Jones, Civic Centre representative. Other members are R. H. (Slim) Davidson, school representative; Jack Marchant, Rusty Ford and Bob Armstrong, members-at-large.

Mr. Marchant was named secretary, and Mr. Jones will also act as treasurer.

The offer to the high school to join the senior circuit was unanimous from the new board. Formal acceptance or refusal by the school is expected in a few days. Three other teams—Mansons, Gordon & Andersons, and Columbia Cellulose—already have registered.

But the commission ruled that each senior team must have at least nine players "benched" on league opening night—Nov 7—to qualify. The ruling was made to give an opportunity to a maximum number of eligible players to register on senior teams.

The board understood that several qualified senior calibre players were forming a team for Inter A competition. If High School accepts the board's invitation into the upper loop, the Inter A division would be eliminated for lack of enough players, reported Jack Evans, representing Mr. Davidson in his absence.

The board also accepted an offer by Ab Hart, representing the Terrace Basketball Association, for an exhibition game here opening night between the interior town and a city team. While Hart's further request to join the league was approved in principle, further study of his bid will take place.

When asked if the Terrace team was of a calibre to compete with the city seniors, Hart declared:

"Our team will stack up to any of your teams."

Meanwhile, the commission is faced with some major problems:

- It is short two coaches. (Mansons and Gordon & Andersons are uncoached so far.)

- It feels coaches should have more authority over teams and is seeking to put some "teeth" in administrative policy.

- It is seeking a more satisfactory method of player registration in the senior league.

According to information received by certain commission members, last year's coaches Alex Bill (G&A), Don Hartwig (Mansons) and Helge Holkestad (CCC) were "not interested" in coaching again.

Commission chairman Jones suggested that reason for this was the lack of authority the coaches had over players.

"We have to stand behind the coaches," he said. "Players must be taught once and for all that they don't run the show, they just put it on."

NO-NAMES, RESIDUALS TIED IN MIXED BOWLING LEAGUE

Shirley Ginn and Marie Hiltz tied for ladies' high single in the Friday Night Mixed Bowling league when they rolled 223. Betty Wade took ladies' high triple honors with 586.

Don Fraser with 278 took men's high single and Helge Holkestad won men's high three with 680.

No-Names came through with high team single of 1109 and Residuals with 3147 took team high triple.

No-Names and Residuals are tied for first place in the standings with 14 points apiece. Other standings are Conboeds 13, Northland Dairy 12, MB Wildcats 12, Savoy 10, Bulger's 10, MB Lucky Strikes 10, Timber-Ties 9, Pilots 6, Hi-Ballers 5, Nelson Bros. 4.

$350,000 Dangled as Bait For Sugar Ray to Fight Olson

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, who came out of Harlem a skinny kid to become one of the greatest ring fighters of them all, has been a big-timer for all of his career, and he will not change now that he is playing the medium night clubs as a song-and-dance man.

When he announces he has been urged to come out of retirement and challenge Bobo Olson for the middleweight title which he, Robinson, renounced last year, the lure dangled before him is a cool $350,000, a figure worthy of the Robinson imagination.

The fact the promoters would need to gross at least $1,000,000 at the gate and through television to pay such a guarantee, didn't faze the great man.

There wasn't a doubt in our mind that the powerful International Boxing Club had, indeed, caught Robinson backstage and begged him for the sake of $350,000 and the present 48 states to attempt a comeback—until we stumbled over the concluding paragraph. "Of course," Robinson was quoted as having said, "the final decision will have to be made by my manager, George Gainford."

That sounded a gong back somewhere in the inner recesses. Since when was Sugar Ray Robinson depending upon Gainford or anyone else to make his decisions for him? It spoiled the whole story then and there, even before officials of the IBC professed their bewilderment.

The men on the fight beat have known almost from the first that Gainford nor anyone else ever told the gifted young pugilist what he was to do, either inside or outside the ring.

Filchok Thorn In Fans' Sides At Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (AP)—Flinging Fran Filchok brings his Saskatchewan Roughriders to town tonight for the first game of the two-game, total-point Western Interprovincial Football Union semi-finals, and Winnipeg Blue Bomber fans are jittery.

In six starts against the Bombers this season, the Roughriders have managed four wins, two of them with Filchok handling the ball in the back. In his last appearance in the new Winnipeg stadium, the old master called a flawless game and pitched a touchdown strike as his team won 13-13.

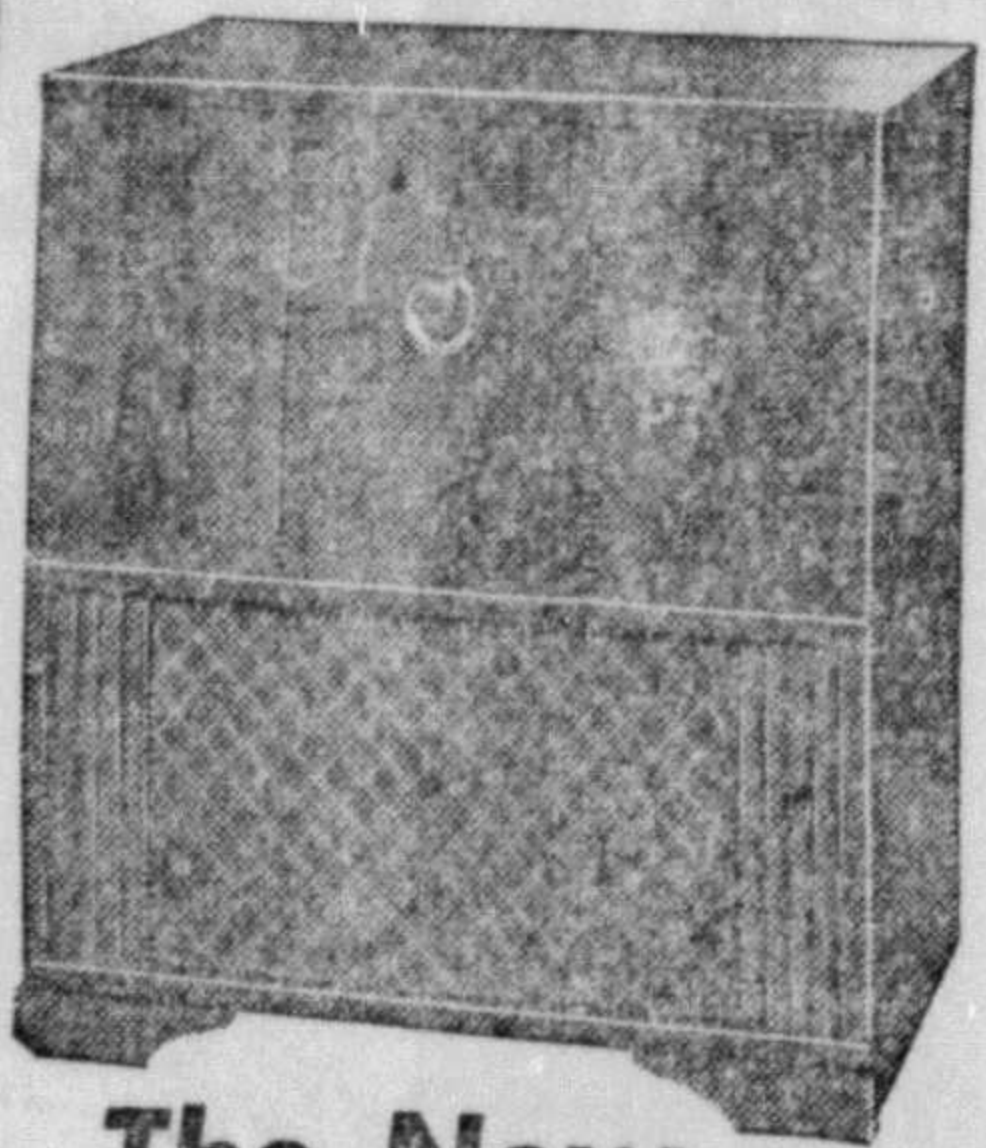

Filchok was forced back to active duty when import quarter Glenn Dobbs took to the bench with a hip injury.

Jets, Sirens
 Fail to Worry
 Wild Ducks

VANCOUVER (CP)—International Airport, sprawling over the rich delta land near here, has again taken on something of a "wartime" appearance.

This time the enemy is the ordinary wild duck, and airport workers have declared open season.

Ducks by the thousands have been coming in for landings and taking off. Their favorite landing area is at the end of the new 8,600-foot jet-age runway which cost more than $1,000,000 to build.

The ducks pay no attention to airplanes. In one week, two Trans-Canada Air Lines planes were grounded for compulsory checks after flying through flights of ducks.

One Trans-Canada North Star was held up for 19 minutes while the ground crew plucked feathery remains from engine and exhaust pipes.

OLD ROOSTING SPOT

The trouble came when the huge runway was extended 4,000 feet, cutting through the centre of an old field, long a roosting place for ducks.

Maintenance crews have fired very rockets among sitting ducks and nothing has happened. Jets scream low over flocks and they go right on feeding. Crash trucks, sirens screaming, have been driven back and forth across the runway just before the airliners are due to arrive.

Officials are investigating a siren reputed to make a weird and thunderous noise that can't help but scare away the ducks. The tone is too high pitched to be heard by human ears.

U.S. Prisoners Who Helped Communist Captors To Be Ousted From Services

By EDWIN B. HAANKINSON
WASHINGTON (AP) — Informed Senators indicate that

CIGARETTE

All United States military prisoners in Korea who co-operated with their Communist captors or gave false confessions will be quietly ousted from the services. Legislators, who asked not to be named, said the ousters will be based on individual cases.

The reported Pentagon promise that those who broke under Communist persuasion or tortures will be separated from the service may head off a potential investigation by the Senate armed services committee.

Senator Richard Russell (Dem. Ga.), top minority member of the armed services committee, in a letter to Defence Secretary Wilson in September questioned the defence department's policies on former prisoners termed by their colleagues as "progressives."

MOST DIDN'T CRACK
Commenting that a majority of U.S. military personnel understood Communist cruelties or blandishments without cracking, Russell wrote:

"My views may be extreme, but I believe that those who collaborated and the signers of the false confessions should be immediately separated from the service under conditions other than honorable."

The army has said that some men accused informally by their soldier buddies of collaborating with the enemy have already been released from service. Wilson has said the cases of such men, and of those known to have given false confessions about such things as germ warfare, are being investigated.

Wilson said the investigation would determine "whether... there has been an unreasonable failure to measure up to the standard of individual conduct which is expected even of a prisoner-of-war."

The army has not announced the bringing of charges in any such cases.

Skipper Tells Of Worst Storm In 24 Years

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. — When the 1,200-ton French fishing trawler Vaillant arrived in port here recently, crew members told an adventure story that ranked with the most nightmarish tales ever recounted in St. John's.

During a tornado 400 miles southwest of Ireland, a mountainous wave struck the ship, swept away part of the superstructure, smashed wooden partitions in the officers' quarters, flooded the crew's quarters with three feet of water and swept 40 barrels of coal off the deck.

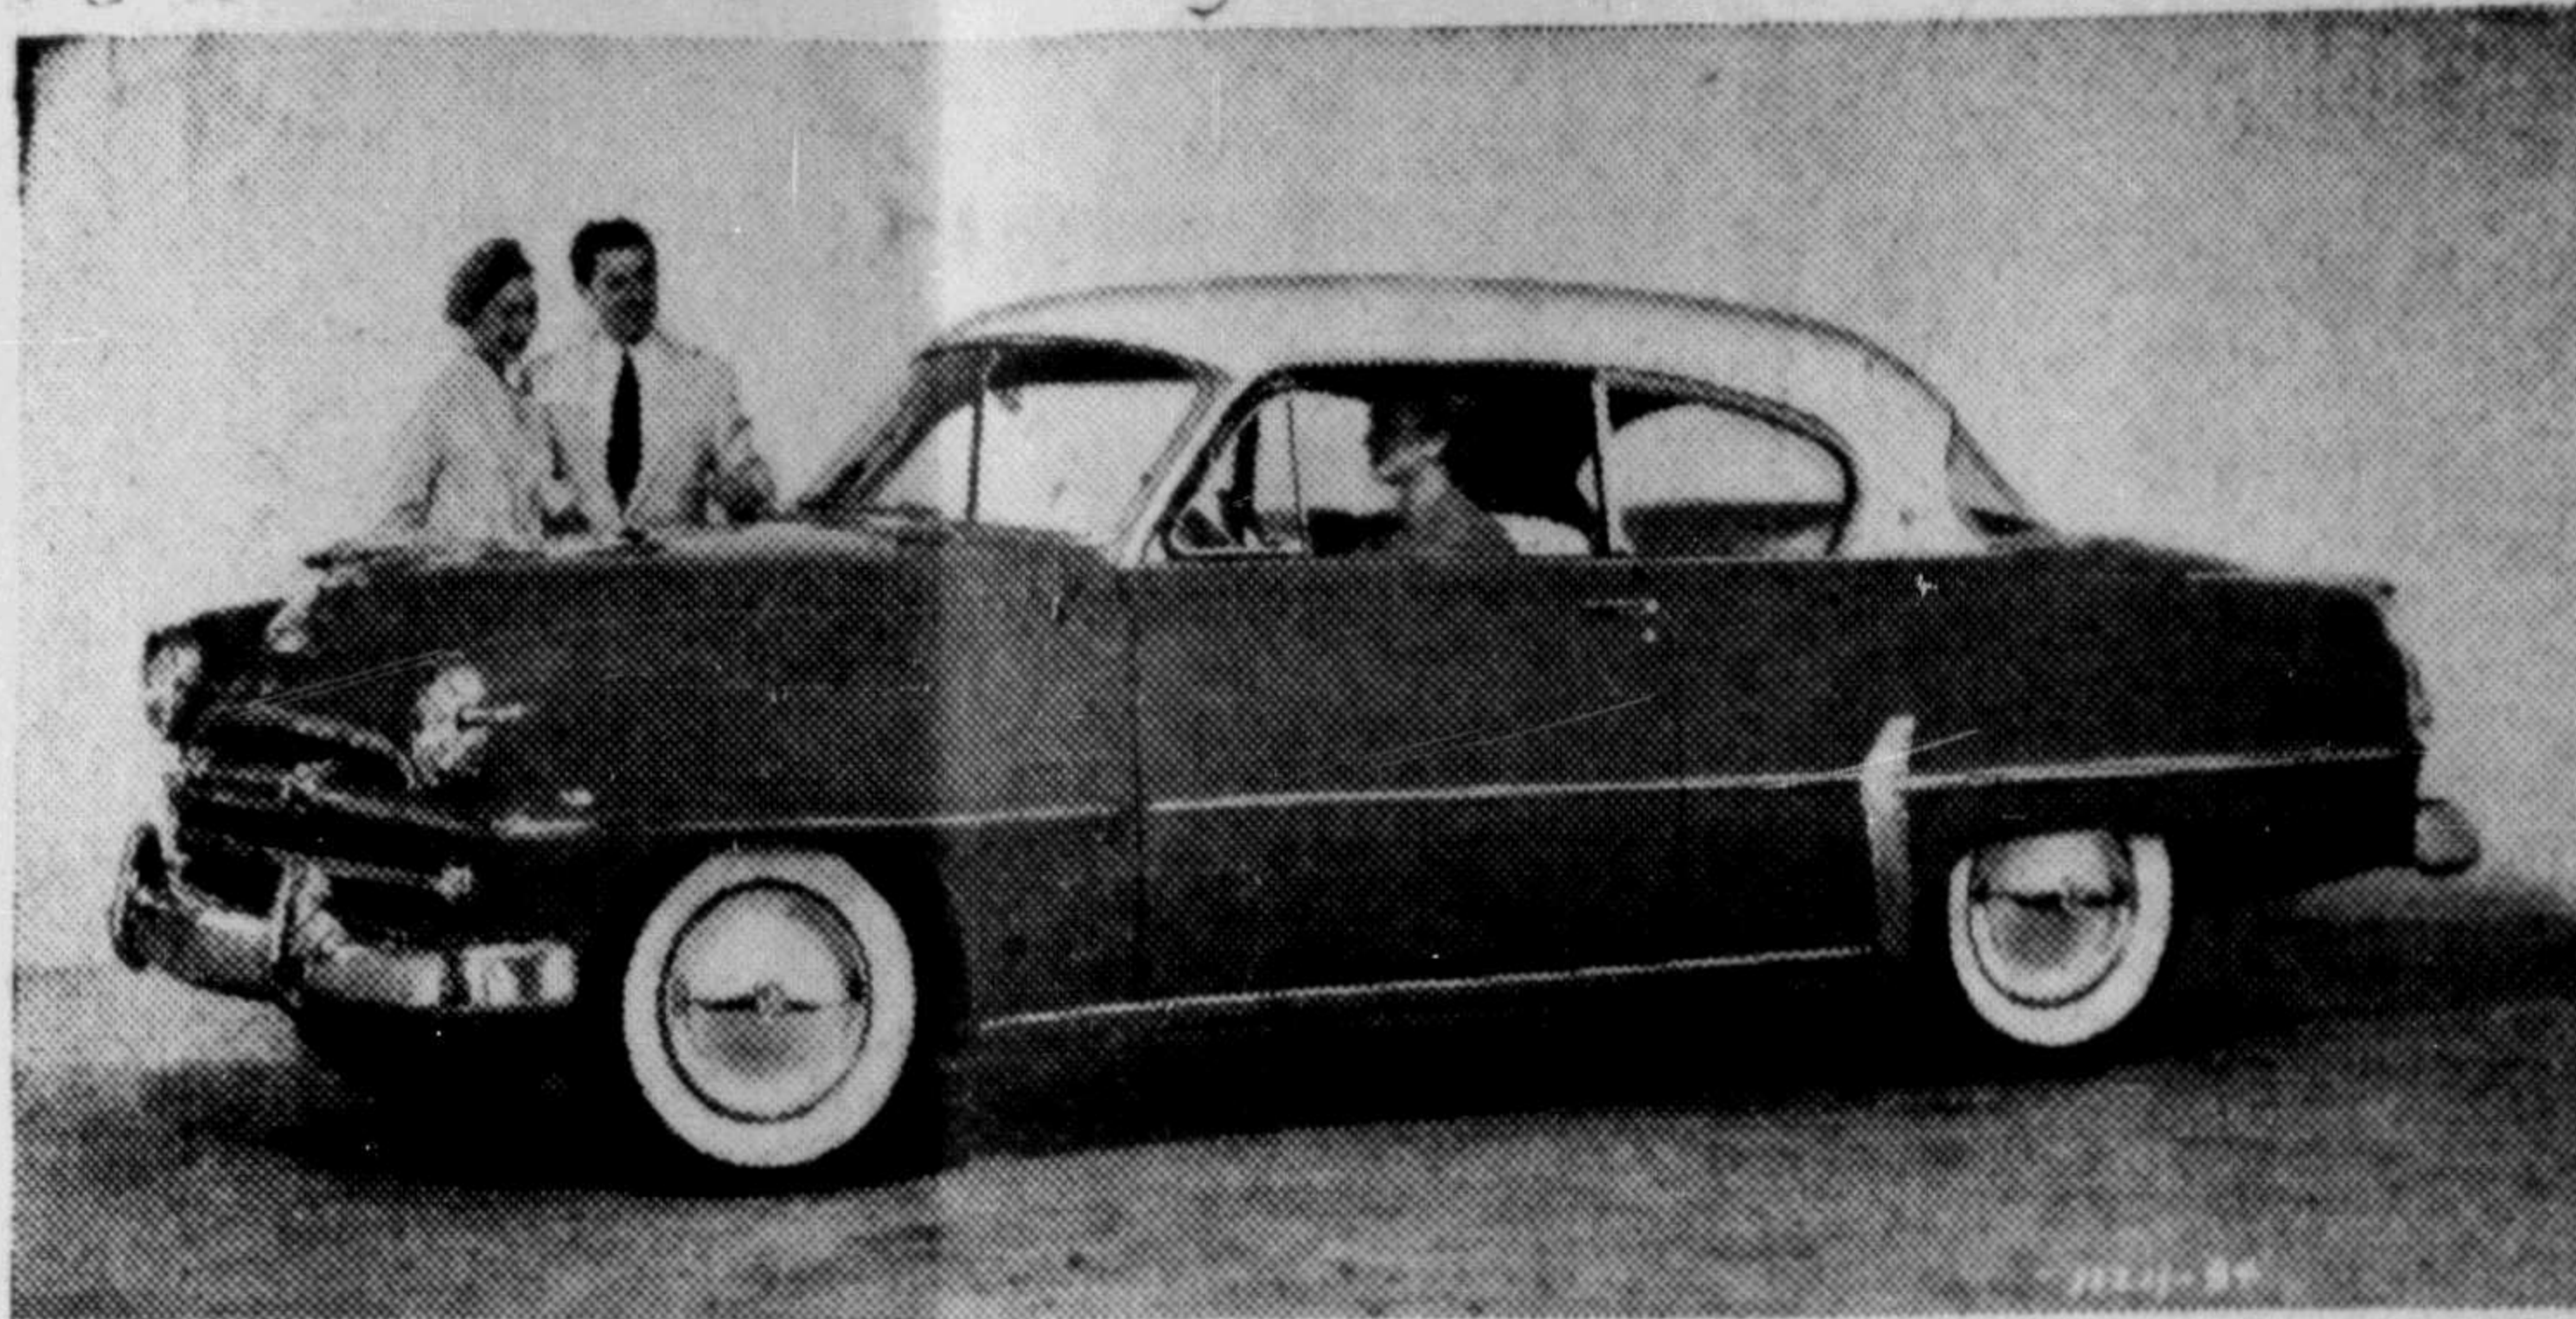

Everything above deck was warped and twisted when the ship put in here for repairs. Capt. Michel Desjardin and his 40-man crew from Fecamp, France, told of the chaos during the remaining 17 hours of the storm.

"I am lucky to be alive," said the skipper. He had just left his room when the wave struck, carrying away the sink and the door.

The ship shivered and appeared likely to founder. After several tense minutes it put on a burst of speed and came out of the trough spilling water like a diving sea monster. The trawler took another dip, rose laboriously to the crest of a wave and rallied from then on.

Capt. Desjardin said he had never seen such a storm in 24 years at sea.

THE BELVEDERE IS STYLE LEADER OF 1954 PLYMOUTHS

The longer, more graceful lines of the 1954 Plymouth Belvedere hard top shown above are accentuated by the increased use of new chrome trim throughout the entire length of the car. Fresh styling is also evident in the extended chrome headlights and the redesigned, brighter grille. The centre bar of the grille sweeps out and along the side of the car cutting through a perpendicular stone shield. Interior trim and upholstery makes full use of the latest vinyl materials and nylon and rayon fabrics to achieve complete colour and design harmony with the car's exterior. Plymouths for 1954 are available in three series: the practical Plaza, the distinctive Savoy and the style leader Belvedere.

Former UBC Professor To Sail Seven Years In Search of Data on Earth's Magnetism

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON — Backed by Canadian dollars, a Siberia-born scientist sets sail this week to spend the next seven years looking at oceans to find out why the earth is magnetic.

Versatile Dr. Bohdan Medusa Cwilong, formerly associate professor of physics at the University of British Columbia, once paddled 200 miles through Poland in a washbasin. This time he plans to use a conventional 74-foot yawl, replaced later by a smaller craft now under construction in Vancouver.

Dr. Cwilong, whose accomplishments include prize-winning plays in blank verse and a runner-up spot in a New Zealand national chess championship, weighs anchor from Hamble in Hampshire today or Wednesday. With him will be his English wife, Marie, and five assorted crew members, including a chef from a luxury liner and a 16-year-old ship's boy, Roy Nash.

SEVEN-YEAR SCHEDULE

Here is Dr. Cwilong's schedule: Three years in the Pacific, covering as much as possible of an area of 15,000,000 square miles;

Two years in the Indian Ocean, 6,000,000 square miles;

Two years in the Atlantic, 3,000,000 square miles.

"We want to find out why the earth is magnetic," said the 44-year-old scientist.

"The ocean is the best place to do it because there we are free from the interference caused by land masses."

The party will likely be Lisbon, then Madeira and the Bahamas. Dr. Cwilong, whose resources include a $600 grant from Dr. Norman MacKenzie, president of UBC, hopes to be in Vancouver in about a year to pick up his second boat, a 34-foot demagnetized yawl which will be called Non-Magnetic III.

STUDY STORMS

The party plans to spend several months in the doldrums, studying tropical storms and taking films of waterspouts.

"It sounds dangerous," said Dr. Cwilong, "but actually you can get quite close, they move so slowly."

The seven-year search of the seas, if successful, should add much to current thinking about terrestrial magnetism. As things stand, magnetic lines of force can be measured and neutralized, but little is known about how or why they came into existence. One recent theory attributes regional magnetic changes to "flow movements" in the earth's molten core.

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Overall Looks Weak, But Just See Results

Today's Mr. Truex is a high-ranking player and the winner of many tournaments. His vulnerable overall against nonvulnerable opponents looks rather thin, but he got a very fine result on good dummy play plus weak defence by Mr. Abel.

The hand is from a team-of-four tournament, and when it was first played Mr. Truex's teammates, holding the East-West cards, bid and made five clubs for a plus score of 400 points.

It is hard to criticize Mrs. Keen's decision to double the one heart overall. She had practically enough for an opening bid, apparently two heart tricks and a singleton in her partner's diamond suit.

Mr. Abel, with a minimum opening and a lone heart, might have taken the double off with a bid of two clubs. Anyway, he didn't, and one heart doubled became the contract.

Mrs. Keen led her singleton diamond and Mr. Abel won with the king and returned the queen of spades. Dummy's ace won and a diamond was returned. Mr. Abel ducked, the jack was played from the closed hand and Mrs. Keen ruffed.

She led back the nine of spades and Mr. Abel won with the jack. If he had led the ace and another diamond at this point, that would have assured him of a one-trick set. Instead, however, he led the nine of hearts. This was covered with the king and Mrs. Keen won with the ace. She cashed the ace of clubs and led the king of spades.

Mr. Truex was now in a position to make his contract simply by ruffing low and leading the queen and a small heart. This would have put Mrs. Keen in the lead with nothing left but clubs and a club lead would put dummy in for the cashing of two good spades and the king of clubs.

With a big gallery looking on, Mr. Truex made it look a little more sensational. He ruffed the king of spades with the queen of hearts and led a low heart. With 10-six of hearts left, Mrs. Keen went in with the 10 for her side's sixth trick. But now she was stymied as before. A heart return would be won by dummy's eight spot and a club return by dummy's king. In any case, Mr. Truex would be able to discard his three remaining diamonds on dummy's good cards.
