WHAT COULD BE MORE TASTY than a lovely bowl of peaches and cream, and for those who appreciate any version of the above combination, Norma Jo Rushing, pretty student of Southern Illinois University poses with some luscious fruit, ripening in an Illinois orchard. The quality of this year's peach crop is unusual, according to orchard owners in Illinois. More than half a million bushels of the popular fruit are expected to be harvested in a record crop.

Asserts Reds Organizing More Effectively in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorney-General Herbert Brownell said today domestic Communists are "a greater menace now than at any time" and that "I suppose there are more in labor unions than anywhere else."

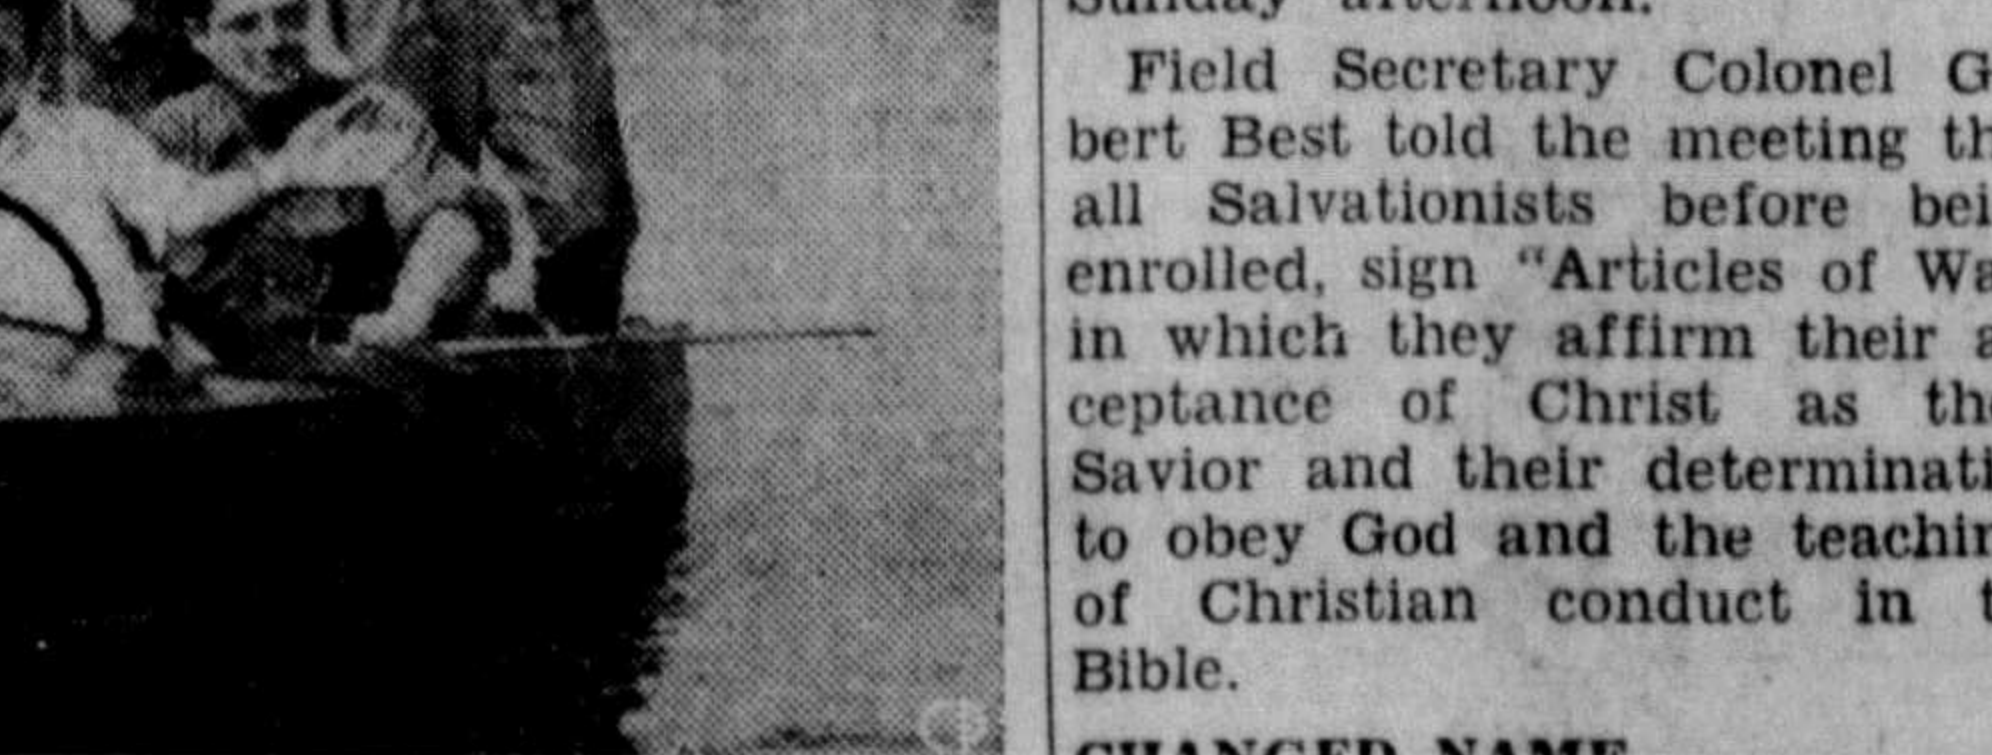

There was no mention of the name of J. B. Matthews, former staff director of the Senate investigations sub-committee headed by Senator Joseph McCarthy Rep.-Wis. Shortly after Matthews was hired by McCarthy, the American Mercury published an article in which Matthews wrote that "the largest single group supporting the Communist apparatus in the United States today is composed of Protestant clergymen."

In the public uproar which followed, McCarthy defended Matthews. But after President Eisenhower assailed the statement, the senator accepted Matthews' resignation.

Amplifying his statement that U.S. Communist party is more dangerous than ever, Brownell said the Reds "have gone underground since the Smith Act trials started. They are better organized, and detection is more difficult."

Eleven top Communist officials were convicted in 1949 of conspiring to violate the Smith Act, which makes it a crime to teach or advocate forcible overthrow of the U.S. government.

Brownell said the Communist party has lost about 75,000 members, bringing it down to about 25,000, since that trial and several others which followed it.

Eight Airmen Safe In Churchill After Crash Landing In Bush

Crew of Lancaster Stick With Craft

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—Eight crew members of a Lancaster bomber that crashed near Churchill nine days ago probably owe their lives to the fact that they stuck by their plane and made a crash landing.

The airmen, safe in Churchill after searchers rescued them from the northern Manitoba bush Saturday, said they crashed with their plane rather than risk the dangers of bailing out and travelling in dense woods without the proper equipment.

The Lancaster, from the RCAF's No. 405 reconnaissance squadron at Greenwood, N.S., was reported missing Aug. 22 while on a routine navigation flight from Rockcliffe, Ont., to Churchill, 600 miles north of Winnipeg.

Crew members said they made a crash landing Aug. 22 in a severe electrical storm shortly after their last report to base around mid-night. They said mechanical trouble and the storm caused the crash-up.

The plane came down on tundra-like terrain and slid into a shallow lake. Two crew members suffered minor burns from an explosion and small fire that followed the crash.

The men said they spent the night aboard the plane because of a sea of burning oil surrounded them. In the morning they inflated a rubber dinghy and rowed to shore where they set up a make-shift camp.

Fighting rain and fog, they kept a fire going and when the sun came out used a heliograph mirror to signal for help. They were spotted last Thursday by a Dakota aircraft from No. 111 communications and rescue flight, Winnipeg. Weather conditions delayed their rescue to Saturday when the men were flown out aboard an RCAF Otter seaplane to Churchill.

When rescued the crew had food for another 21 days from survival kits salvaged from their half-submerged aircraft.

One of the injured men was F.O. A. R. Gossel of Granum, Alta., radio navigator, who suffered burns. He said he didn't consider them serious.

Search planes covered an area of more than 65,000 square miles before the downed plane was spotted.

Unification of Peninsula Korean Task Says Kim

TOKYO (AP)—The Reds Pyongyang radio said today North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung declared that unification of the war-torn peninsula "must be settled by Koreans themselves."

The broadcast, heard in Tokyo, said Kim listed that as one of two main tasks of the Korean political conference.

The other, Kim said, is to "kick out America and its allied troops from South Korea."

The broadcast said Kim outlined his stand in a one-hour speech before the North Korean Labor Communist party's sixth central committee.

Kim said North Korea will make "utmost efforts" for peace at the conference, the broadcast said, but he warned that "others cannot intervene in our internal political affairs."

Kim did not give any indication how his government feels unification of North and South Korea could be achieved.

Nor did he elaborate on his statement that "others cannot intervene." The political conference scheduled to begin before Oct. 28, is expected to involve many countries.

The United Nations general assembly decided in New York last week that its side would be made up of South Korea and UN countries which sent troops to Korea.

Churchill Pondering Shuffle

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Churchill is expected to announce a cabinet overhaul, involving a dozen or more ministers, before Parliament re-assembles Oct. 20.

Political sources here say Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden—whose future has been the No. 1 question mark since his three operations last spring—will continue to be groomed as successor to the doughty 78-year-old Sir Winston, expected to retire soon.

Eden, who has been out of action for five months, may lose his foreign ministry post, but he will be kept on as deputy prime minister and as personal aide to Churchill, these sources say. The government Saturday denied a newspaper report that Eden would be replaced as foreign secretary.

Churchill's plans are reported only in the drafting stage, but it is widely assumed they are based on his continuing for a while at least as prime minister. The process of grooming Eden to take over the reins of government will continue.

Harold Macmillan, housing and local government minister, and Sir Walter Monckton, labor minister, are joint favorites to take over at the foreign office.

Churchill is said to be thinking of reducing his much-erudited system of cabinet "overlords"—senior peers who take responsibility for the co-ordination of several departments. It may be replaced by a scheme giving the responsible minister a senior deputy.

ALASKA FISHING CLOSES AFTER POOR RUN OF PINKS

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—All seines and traps closed down in southeastern Alaska at 6 p.m. Saturday night. It rang down the curtain on what fishermen call the poorest show of pink salmon in half a century.

The scheduled September 2 closing was advanced to allow the few fish appearing safe escapement to spawning streams.

Food '24-Hour Subject' Says Returned Prisoner

VANCOUVER (CP)—One of 11 Canadian prisoners of war who arrived here Saturday en route to their homes after months in Communist prison camps said "food became a 24-hour subject" in camp.

For the most part, however, the soldiers returning from Korea indulged in horseplay but parried reporters' questions.

Happiest of all the POWs was 2nd Lieut. C. G. Owen of North Vancouver and formerly of Prince Rupert, who was greeted at the airport by his wife and two small children.

In a more leisurely interview at his home Sunday, the lieutenant, who was listed as missing until only one week ago, said what he missed most in the prison camp was meat.

"Food became a 24-hour subject," he said. "I dreamed of meat and when I finally got back into camp I talked about meat. We talked food most of the day, the restaurants we'd do to when we got back. The food we had at home, favorite recipes."

"Believe me, it's good to be back."

Lieut. Owen said he still carried "a few pieces" of Communist shrapnel in his back.

Pte. William Cranston of Hamilton, said the men were forbidden by army regulations to discuss details of their imprisonment.

His statement was backed up by Bill Boss, veteran Canadian Press war correspondent who returned with the POWs after reporting the Korean fighting since the first contingent of Canadians was sent to the Far East.

"The men have been warned against the press by army briefing officers since they left Panmunjom," Boss said in an interview.

"They signed the Official Secrets Act and were warned that violations of it meant penitentiary terms."

Railwayman Injured In Accident

Two Prince Rupert men were brought to Prince Rupert General hospital Saturday evening following an accident about 3 p.m. at Kwinitsa on the Highway 16, when a panel delivery truck driven by Charles Wilkinson, CNR foreman, went off the road and plunged into the Skeena River.

Mr. Wilkinson suffered lacerations and possible fractured clavicle while his companion, Paul Birmingham, formerly of Toronto, was not seriously injured. However, the latter was detained in hospital until today.

The car landed on the mud flats and passersby were able to remove Mr. Wilkinson from the back of the truck. He and Mr. Birmingham were proceeding to Prince Rupert at the time of the accident. The work train further back up the line was sent for and when it arrived, Mr. Wilkinson was placed on a stretcher and transferred to the train. Trainmen applied for through orders and the train was given the right-of-way into Prince Rupert.

Militant Aspect of Salvation Army In Fight For Christianity Outlined

The program of the Salvation Army is not merely one of welfare a large audience attending the Citizens Rally of the Native Congress gatherings at the Salvation Army Citadel were told Sunday afternoon.

Field Secretary Colonel Gilbert Best told the meeting that all Salvationists before being enrolled, sign "Articles of War" in which they affirm their acceptance of Christ as their Savior and their determination to obey God and the teachings of Christian conduct in the Bible.

CHANGED NAME
The Salvation Army, he said, was founded by the Rev. William Booth and originally known as the Christian Mission. However, the name was changed to Salvation Army and Mr. Booth became its first general.

The well-attended rally was the wind up of six Native Congress gatherings held over the week-end.

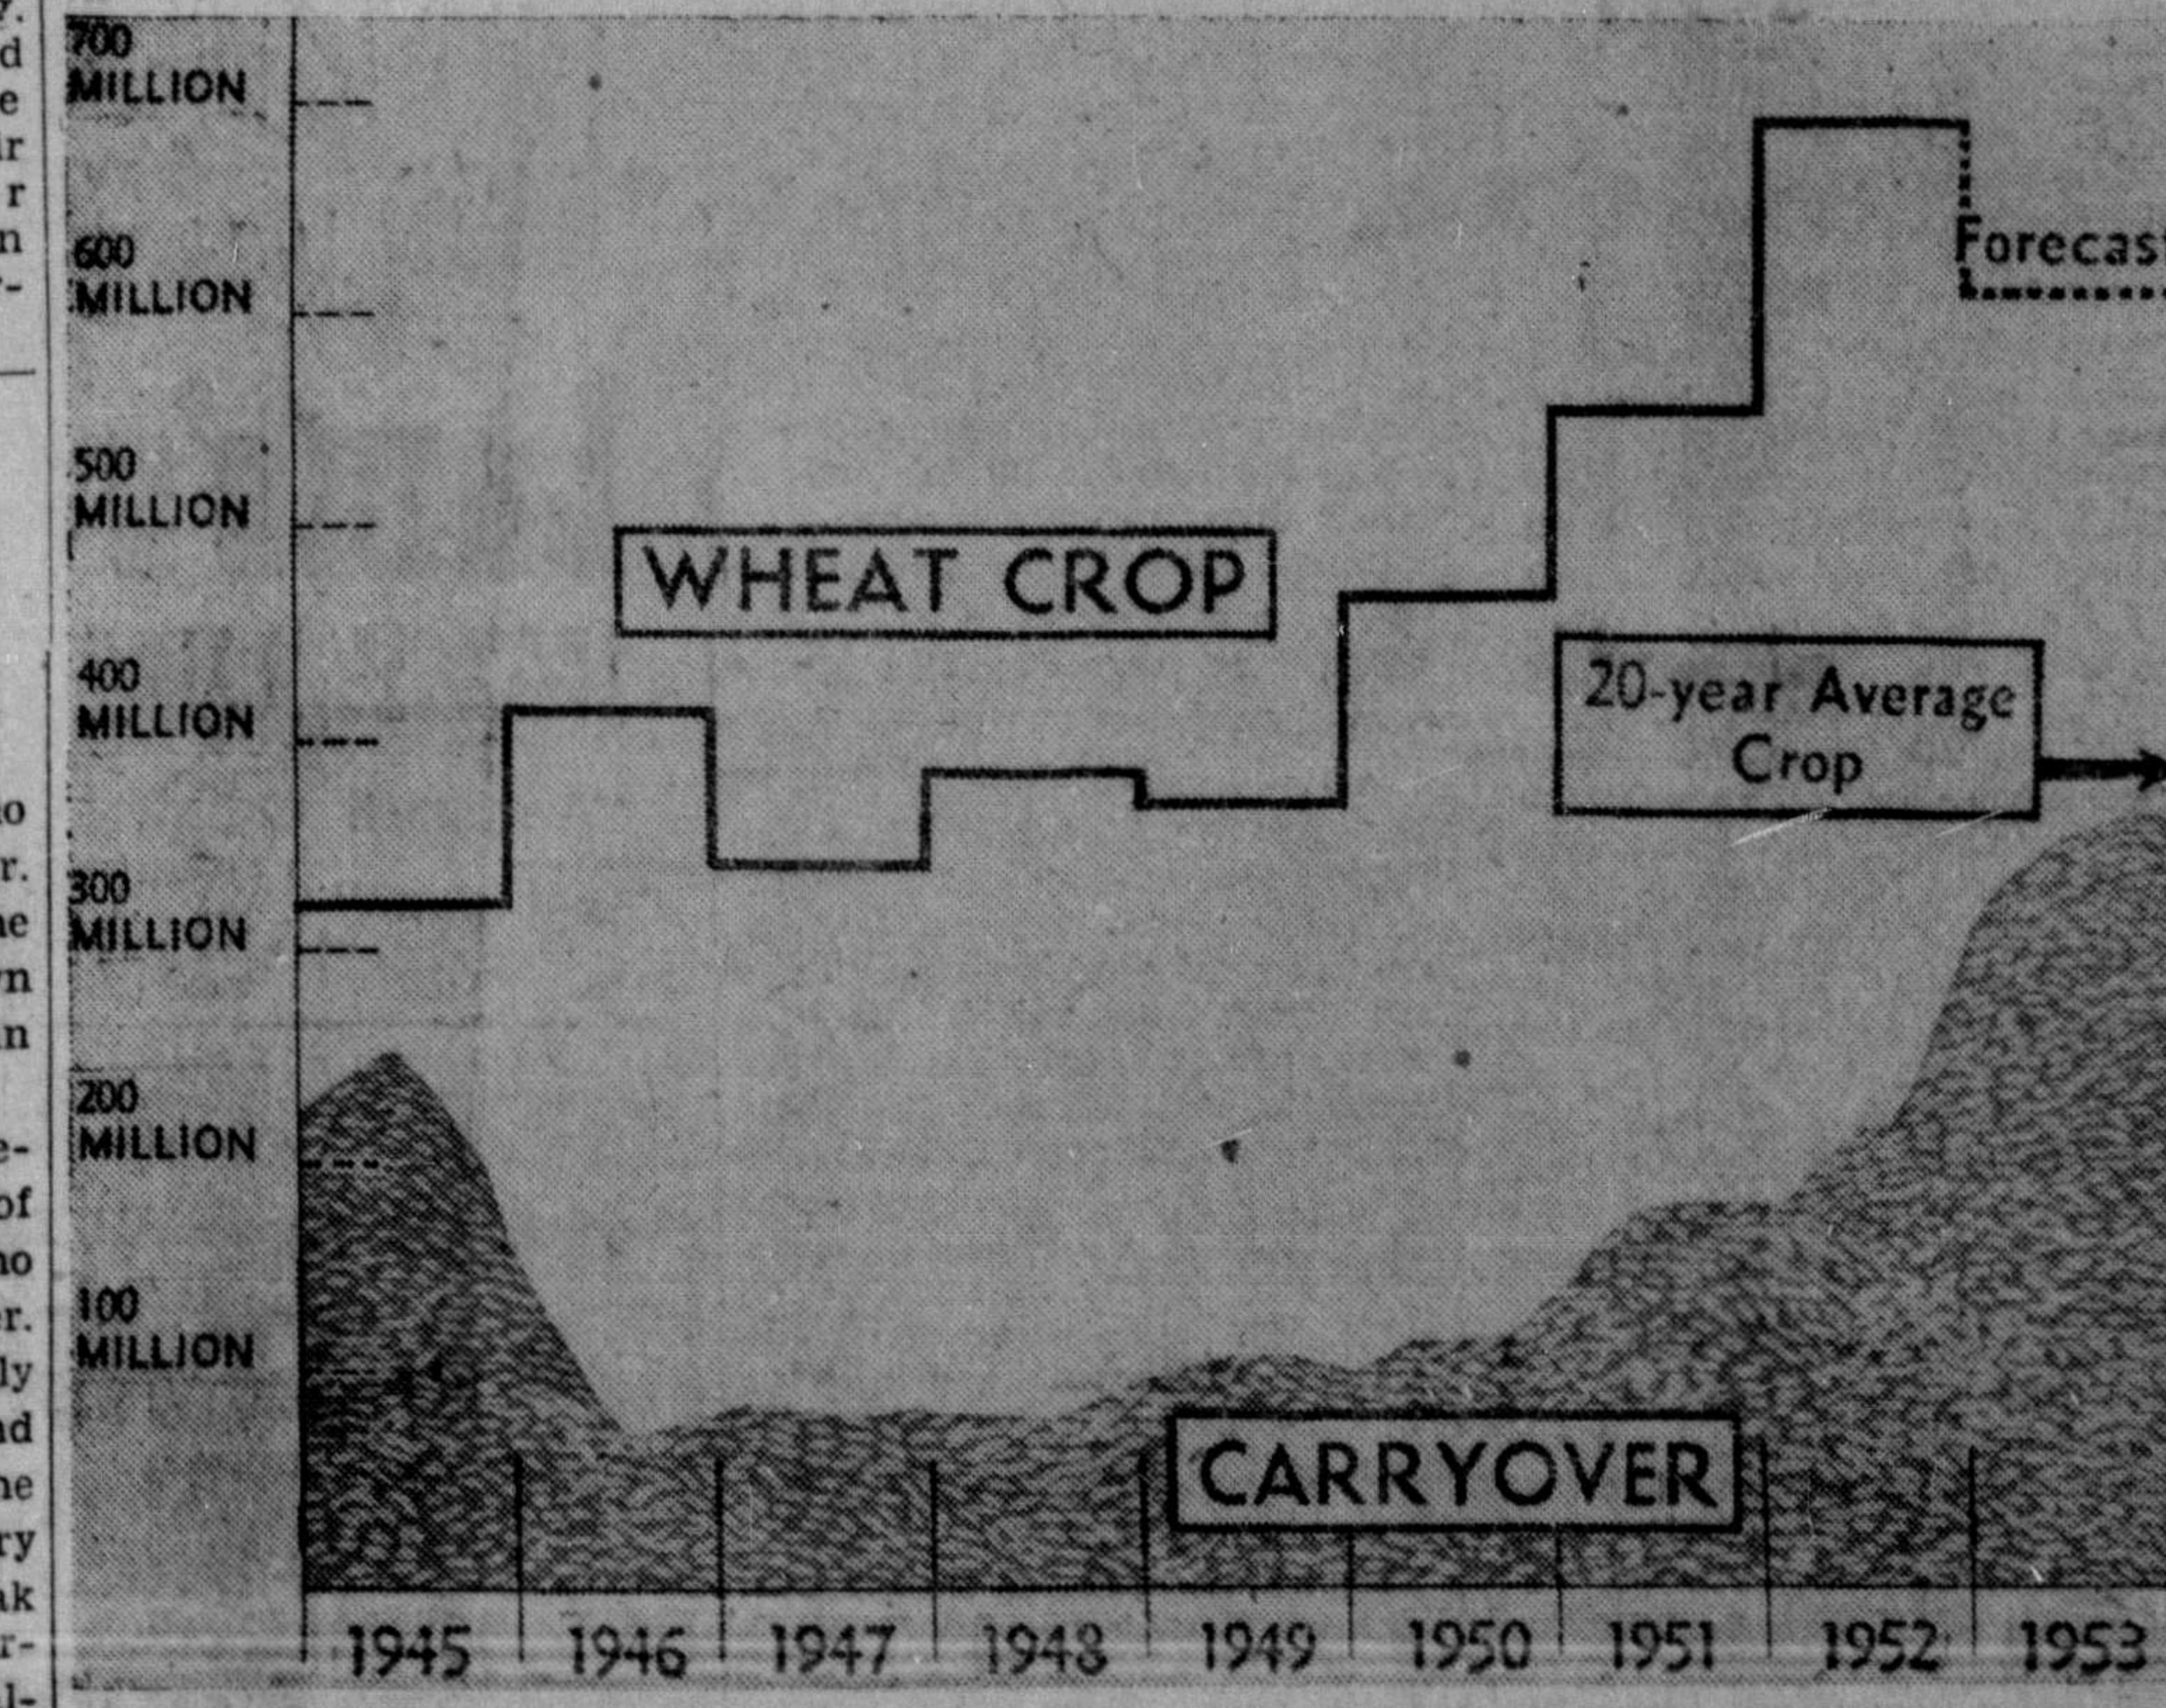

Attending were Mayor Harold Whalen who expressed his pleasure in being given the opportunity to be present and E. T. Applewhite who brought greetings of the Federal government.

Mr. Applewhite, MP-elect for Skeena riding paid tribute to the seven-day-week service of practical Christianity given by the Salvation Army. He assured the Natives of the friendship of the federal government and counselled his audience to achieve a high standard of Christian citizenship with its privileges and responsibilities.

VISITORS THANKED
The devotional exercises were conducted by Major William Poulton, district officer, who presented the mayor and Mr. Applewhite. He thanked the latter for the interest shown by the federal government in the Native salvationists.

Local churches were represented by Rev. Fred Antrobus, of the First Baptist Church who led the congregation in prayer. Also contributing to the rally was the Canyon City Band and Songster Brigade who under the leadership of Bandmaster Henry Azak and Choir leader Roy Azak provided several vocal and choral selections including the "Hallelujah Chorus."

Accompanying Col. Best was his wife, who directs the activities of the League of Mercy across Canada.

A GRAIN STORAGE GLUT exists in Canada as large wheat and coarse grain crops ripen in the west. The Bureau of Statistics forecasts that the 1953-54 wheat crop will be 603,793,000 bushels, second highest in history. The 20-year average crop from 1933 to 1952 was 388,326,000 bushels. A near-record carryover of 362,700,000 bushels of Canadian wheat is estimated to be on hand.

Political Mystery

ALTHOUGH his party would have been defeated in 1952 in its first serious bid for office had not the alternative system of voting been in vogue, Premier Bennett was quoted recently as intending to return B.C. to the straight type of balloting. A similar preference for the old system has been expressed by Arthur Laing, whose Liberal party would have been completely without representation had the voting in the June election stopped at the first count.

This opposition to preferential voting by those who have benefited from it is one of the current mysteries of provincial politics, ranking second only to the double-talk that is surrounding compulsory hospital insurance. The mystery deepens when account is taken of the fact that both parties concerned lost ground to the CCF in the non-preferential voting of the federal election. Since the Socialists also favor the single-choice ballot, it seems that the days of alternative voting in B.C. are definitely numbered.

If there were something basically wrong with the system, the situation might be understandable. As it is, however, the free enterprise parties appear anxious to hand over control to the CCF for no other reason than to simplify the work of the voters and election officials. If they do this, their gesture will go down as the weirdest and most self-effacing form of generosity in provincial political history.

Speed Essential in Searches

ALTHOUGH much has been made of the large reward offered, those who have taken part in the search for the Ellis Hall plane deserve credit far beyond all mercenary considerations. In the two weeks since the New Mexico oil man and his party disappeared, scores of planes have flown hundreds of hours over country which at any time could precipitate another disaster. On the ground and on water others have pressed the search over which the shadow of failure now throws a pall, though efforts continue undiminished.

While the occurrence has provided still another example of the human concern for the traveler in trouble, it also has served notice that locally we are poorly equipped to meet such emergency. In the absence of any established arrangement for handling rescue operations, precious time was lost until something was organized. Thanks to the initiative of the Aero Club, a system was quickly improvised by which air searchers coordinated their activities. Even so, there was little or no direction from Vancouver where RCAF operations are supervised.

In cases such as this, the first few hours can mean the difference between life and death. We should always be ready to go into action at once.

OTTAWA DIARY

By Norman M. MacLeod

A touring taxpayer from the Maritime Provinces got into a wrong corridor the other day in the course of his tour of the Parliament Buildings. As a result of his mistake, he sought out the authorities to ask a perfectly natural question.

He wanted to know the explanation of the boat that was being built in a ground-floor hallway of the Senate, just outside the door of the suite of offices that, for a scant three months every year, houses the inquiries of the Senate Divorce Committee into the seamy side of life.

When the authorities heard about the boat's existence, they too wanted an explanation. Their first idea was that the tourist had been the victim of hallucinations. But when they went down to investigate there the boat was—keel carefully laid, stoutly ribbed, and work proceeding apace on its hull. Busily wielding hammers were members of the Senate carpentry staff.

The authorities are still checking into the boat building that apparently has been going on under their very noses, but without their knowledge. The incident is likely to become the subject of an official investigation before the Senate Internal Economy Committee when Parliament meets. Meantime, the faces of the officials, revealed as ignorant of such goings-on under their very noses—are remaining very red indeed.

The explanation of the episode so far is simply that a senior Senate official wanted a boat built and commissioned the Senate carpentry staff to build it. The purpose of the present investigation is to discover whether, in addition to using the Senate precincts as a make-shift drydock, the project also utilized government lumber and was being carried on by the use of labor time for which the government paid. Those points will remain officially without answer.

Some of the Senators who have heard about the business are quite disturbed. They're afraid it may tend to give the Senate a bad name—to publicize it nation-wide as a somewhat unbusinesslike institution. They are a bit sensitive on such a score, because they harbor the suspicion that already the Senate's reputation as a business-like institution isn't any too high. The idea of time hanging so heavily on the hands of its staff that they take in boat-building contracts as a sideline isn't the sort of advertising that most of the Senators want.

Meantime, a closer check is to be kept on the meanderings of tourists around the Buildings. That's for sure. There's no telling what other things they might discover if they got into other wrong corridors. No chances are to be taken.

All Aboard

By G. E. MORTIMORE

A San Francisco carpenter who calls himself "Canada Ernie" recently toured the United States from coast to coast preaching a "Crusade for Canada's Independence."

Canada Ernie, whose real name is Ernest Schallbaum, Jr., feels that Canada should throw off the chains of British rule and start her own government. As a further sign of independence, this country should then join the United States Ernie says.

Independence for Canada, eh? How is it that we Canadians never thought of an idea like that? All these years we have been mousing along in the same old subordinate way, sending a telegram to the King or the Queen to ask for new traffic lights, writing to the Colonial Office in London for permission to paint the back door of the post office.

We knew SOMETHING was amiss, but we couldn't tell what it was until Ernie spoke out loud and clear. Quick as a wink, a foreigner solved a problem which had baffled generations of Canadians. Independence! That was the answer. There is no doubt that Ernie is right. Canada should have her own parliament.

And if we proved after a period of probation that we could govern ourselves, we might be admitted to the union as the 49th or 50th state.

There is no telling how many American eyes Ernie opened during his cross-country tour. All kinds of people who used to think Canada was a Central American state have been set right. They now realize that we are a British colony dangling from the northern tip of the United States.

The people down there can tell that Ernie knows what he is talking about, because he went to school near Winnipeg for some time. Geography and history courses in Manitoba must be unique, to say the least.

Ernie should follow up his successful tour of the U.S.A. with a lecture tour of Canada. After that he might tour France, urging the people to rise in arms and overthrow Napoleon. Then he could carry on through Europe and Asia, exhorting the tribes to unite against the menace of Genghis Khan.

I can visualize Ernie making a triumphal return to the United States and embarking upon yet another patriotic journey: nothing less than a tour of the American colonies, during which he would stir the people to rebellion against the wicked rule of George III. He might take as his slogan "No Taxation Without Representation," or some such phrase to catch the fancy of the multitude.

Of course he wouldn't have to use exactly the words I have suggested. I'm sure a keen and original mind like Ernie's can create a better slogan than that.

Jasper Village Booms As Movie Folk Abound

JASPER, Alta (CP) — Jasper village has "movieitis."

Not in a bold, brash way, of course. Just a tinge at the sight of a famous face of the silver screen come to life on the village street. And a pleased smile at the tune the town's cash registers are playing.

Four full-length motion pictures are being made in Jasper National Park this summer. All the big movie companies have set up headquarters in Jasper village.

Three miles from Jasper, where some 500 American visitors daily enjoy the comforts of the new $3,000,000 Jasper Park Lodge, the sophisticated guests also have contracted the disease. They don't quite gaze, but they like to see the stars passing through the lounges and being ushered to their dining-room seats.

A movie company on location resembles a circus in its equipment and personnel. For every star and featured player shown on the silver screen, there are perhaps 15 behind-the-scenes workers — prop men; make-up men and women; dramatic coaches; wardrobe people; publicity and script writers; electrical and sound engineers; cameramen and assistants; carpenters; scene painters; protective officers and hordes of technicians.

The souvenir shops are filled with shopping movie people. If the shoppers include a cinema personality come to town from the lodge — perhaps Marilyn Monroe—it doesn't take long to attract a crowd.

Taverns are filled to overflowing by movie folk who have worked a full 12 hours in sun and wind. Cowboys, some with Texas and Oklahoma draws, tread the main street. Adding color to the scene are the Indians standing silently on street corners or sitting on benches at the railway station.

Austrian-born director Otto Preminger is held spell-bound by majestic Mount Edith Cavell. "I love that mountain," he says. Preminger had part of the script of "River of No Return" rewritten to include a shot of the mountain.

Canadian World's Top Weight Lifter

STOCKHOLM — Canada's one-man entry in the world weight-lifting championships here Sunday night captured the world's heavyweight title and twice broke the record for the press to boot.

Doug Hepburn of Vancouver lifted a total of 1,030½ pounds in taking the top honors.

John Davis of the United States was second with 1,008½ pounds and Humberto Selvetti of Argentina was third with 991½.

On his second try, Hepburn set a world press record and then broke his own record on the third attempt.

The 26-year-old Canadian acquired his winning total with the world record of 369 pounds in the press, 287½ pounds in the snatch and 363½ in the jerk.

U.S. team coach Bob Hoffman registered two protests against Hepburn, charging that the press was not properly executed and later that his snatch had actually been something of a press.

Hepburn, also Canadian and Empire heavyweight weight-lifting champion, lost out on the first complaint and called the press "no good." Each contestant had three chances in each event, however, and the Canadian overcame the loss by making good in his other two tries.

Suffering from a sore leg, the Canadian failed on his first attempt at 341½ pounds, but then won the press event with a lift of 364 pounds—a world record.

Shortly afterward he topped this record with a lift of 369 pounds.

Selvetti was second in this event, lifting 352½ pounds, and Davis, reigning world champion before the contest, was third with 341½ pounds.

Tiger Cats, Bombers Score Victory

By The Canadian Press
The 1953 football season opened on four more fronts Saturday in the first big gridiron weekend.

Hamilton Tiger-Cats rolled to a 14-10 victory over Ottawa Rough Riders in their Big Four opener and in the curtain-raiser of the Western Canada Conference, Winnipeg Blue Bombers beat Edmonton Eskimos 7-6 and Calgary Stampeders routed Saskatchewan Roughriders 29-17.

Playing at Toronto in 95-degree temperature, Sarnia Imperials defeated Toronto Balmy Beach 30-5 in a senior Ontario Rugby Football Union encounter. Tiger-Cats started slowly, came from behind a 6-2 count in the last half and stood off a strong Ottawa bid in a way that sent the 12,000 sweltering fans wild.

In the West, the Stampeders showed the most offensive strength, striking for four touchdowns in the first quarter, three of them converted, for a 23-0 lead. Saskatchewan struck back for two unconverted touchdowns and a single point in the second quarter. The Stampeders tallied a converted touchdown in the third session and the Roughriders matched this in the fourth with a converted major.

A missed field goal by Edmonton on the last play of the game enabled Winnipeg to beat the Eskimos. Ted Taylor, who attempted a salvage and all the while Sarnia, a defensive champion, moved into place tie with Kitchener on the strength of a victory.

Five Records Beaten, Two Others Tied As National Loop Sluggers Go on Spree

The slugging National League, winging toward a home run record, stole the thunder from the pitching-conscious American League Sunday, setting five records and tying two others with 22 circuit blows in seven games.

Brooklyn's lead in the National was cut to 10 games by Milwaukee.

despite a 20-4 romp over St. Louis Cardinals and New York's 8-1 margin over Chicago in the American remained untouched when the Yankees divided a double-header with the White Sox.

Major league records tied: 1. Eight home runs in one game by Milwaukee. The Yankees hit eight on June 28, 1939.

National League records: 1. Eight homers in one game by Milwaukee. Seven teams had hit seven.

2. Twelve homers hit in double-header by Milwaukee. The Giants hit nine in a doubleheader in 1939.

3. Twelve home runs in two successive games by Milwaukee. Pittsburgh hit 11 in two successive games in 1925.

4. Twenty-eight home runs on the road by Milwaukee's Eddie Mathews, who rapped three Sunday to boost his season's total to 43. Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner hit 25 on the road in 1949.

5. A hundred runs scored by Stan Musial of the Cardinals for the 10th consecutive season to break his own league mark.

National League records tied:

1. Twelve runs in the seventh inning by Brooklyn, Chicago's Cubs scored 12 runs in the seventh on May 28, 1925.

2. Five runs batted in by Brooklyn catcher Roy Campanella to give him 122 for the season. Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs first set the record of 122 RBIs for a catcher in 1930.

While the 22 homers fell three short of the National League's record of 25 July 16, 1950, the circuit raised its total home run output to 4,008, only 92 short of its all-time mark set in 1950.

Spearheaded by rookie Jim Pendleton's three homers in the first game and three by Mathews in the twin bill, the Braves crushed the Pittsburgh Pirates 19-4 and 11-5 to practically assure themselves of second place.

Brooklyn's 19-hit assault on four Cardinal hurlers made it easy for Carl Erskine to register his 7th victory of the season against five defeats. Musial scored his 100th run on his 20th home run of the season.

Four home runs powered the Giants to a 10-1 victory over Chicago, but the Cubs came back to win the second game 6-2.

The Phillies swept a double-header from Cincinnati, 4-3 and 4-2.

Billy Pierce outpitched Jim McDonald as the White Sox won the second game 1-0 after the Yankees had slugged their way to a 10-6 first-game win.

Cleveland Indians stretched their winning streak to six games, beating Boston twice, 6-5 and 8-4.

Rookie Don Larsen hurled a two-hit 3-0 shutout for St. Louis Browns but Washington came back to win a second game, 9-3.

Detroit's Steve Gromek and Al Aber hurled seven-hitters as the Tigers swept both ends of a doubleheader from Philadelphia Athletics 10-1 and 9-1.

Solons Maul Seattle Hopes

Any hopes Seattle may have had of catching Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League pennant race all but faded Sunday after the Rainiers lost a double-header to seventh-place Sacramento.

The Solons stopped Seattle 12-8 and 8-1, and the Rainiers are now 10 games back of Hollywood with time running out.

On Sunday twin bills saw Hollywood bow 5-2 to Los Angeles in 12 innings, then win 5-0; Portland went 10 innings to edge San Diego 2-1, but lost the nightcap 5-4, and San Francisco and Oakland divided 7-6 and 2-6.

In the Western International League at Wenatchee, Tommy Munoz tripled Harry Bartoome home with the winning run in the 13th inning Sunday night as Wenatchee shaded Tri-City 6-5 in the nightcap of a WIL double-header. The Chiefs also won the first game 1-0 for an even split in the four-game series.

G & A Blanks Commercial to Win Title

Gordon & Anderson's Freddy Christensen backed by the almost errorless ball playing of his team mates, shutout Commercial Hotel 6-0 yesterday afternoon at Roosevelt Park to win the G & A the league championship.

Of the 24-game schedule Gordon & Anderson won 17 games and lost 7. Yesterday's game left Commercial with 15 wins and 9 losses. Esquires were in third place with 9 wins and 15 losses and Terrace trailed with 7 wins against 17 losses.

Only four Commercial batters managed to hit Christensen.

In the top of the fifth when Herb Morgan became the first hotelman to tag Christensen for a double the G & A pitcher bore down and struck out the next two batters. With two down in the sixth Williamson singled only to go out when Gunn hit first on a second error.

Minor Simundson's double in the seventh with one down availed him little as Carlson grounded out and Simundson was out at third. After Cameron's single in the eighth with one down Christensen fanned the next two batters.

With G & A it was a different story.

A tired Gordy Cameron walked the second G & A batter up in the first inning and a resounding three bagger by Sid Scherk brought in the first two runs with only one man down. Cameron got the last two batters with strikeouts, the last out coming after he'd allowed Andy Marshall a double and Ralph Enridge a single.

Cameron was combed for a total of seven hits with two more valuable ones coming in the third when Christensen laid down a perfect bunt, stole second and was brought home by Enridge's homer.

Errors saw G & A score again in the seventh when Don Scherk got on, stole second, went to third on a passed ball and came in while Enridge was safe at Cameron struck out 14 batters and walked three. He allowed seven hits and three runs. Christensen (2-0) and walked none and hit one batter.

"Most reliable in our fleet"

World's leading money makers on any job!

"Chevs are the backbone of my trucking business. They produce a better ton-mile profit for us, stay on the road longer between servicings and cut operating costs right to the bone."

This is a familiar sentiment to anyone connected with trucking. From coast to coast, Canadian truck owners and operators are quick to praise the superior value that's built into Chevrolet trucks. And the facts and figures back them up, because Chevrolet trucks cost less to own, less to operate, less to maintain, and consistently show highest trade-in values. That's why more people buy Chevrolet trucks than any other make.
