Four Enjoyable Days

WITH THE seventh annual music and drama festival well underway, Prince Rupert is in the middle of a four-day event which, to participants and spectators alike, is both educational and entertaining.

As this occasion becomes yearly more popular, it is evident that the arts are occupying an increasingly important place in our community life. A populace which is entirely pre-occupied with the business of making a living, and which relies wholly on commercial entertainment for its recreation, has little to commend it. It would, in fact, be extremely dull.

What the festival means to us is well expressed in the forward of its program, which says:

"We must not think of our festivals as competitions for a few people—but rather as a means of bringing to all our people the knowledge and understanding of music and the dramatic arts.

"Nevertheless, the spirit of competition is a natural element in many such human affairs and cannot be avoided by evasion. This love of competition is particularly keen in young folks and may be utilized as a stimulus to promote earnest work; it should be encouraged in a manner to develop the best elements in character. Thus our festivals are also an excellent means of teaching good sportsmanship."

In Burton L. Kurth and Ian Dobbie, the festival has two highly qualified adjudicators who may be counted on to give helpful advice as well as keen criticism. Added interest is provided by the good representation from points outside the city. By all indications, the festival should be the best yet.

A Salute From Prince Rupert

THE NORTHERN Sentinel acknowledges the friendly salutation of the Prince Rupert News to the arrival of this newspaper on the journalistic scene. Sentiments expressed by The News editorially are much appreciated.

The News, however, in a kindly way, wagged an admonitory finger at us when it remarked that some differences of viewpoint were bound to arise—for instance The Sentinel's opening statement that it would be logical, one day, for such products as grain and lumber to move through Kitimat because ships coming here would be available to handle such bulk cargoes. The News felt that Prince Rupert was already set up to look after that trade and that Kitimat would merely complicate its life by attempting to do too many things.

For our part, we foresee no occasions when we need be at odds with Prince Rupert over the rival claims of two sister sea-ports.

Anything that happens here at Kitimat will rebound to the economic advantage of Prince Rupert. It is the long range plan, in our opinion, that Kitimat should one day become a city of some 50,000, the effect on the Skeena River hinterland of the City of Prince Rupert would be highly favorable. In fact, for the first time Prince Rupert would have a hinterland that meant something to it in terms of actual large scale buying power.

The three communities in this part of the world—Prince Rupert, Terrace and Kitimat—will certainly find they have more to fight for in team with one another than they have to fight over competitively.

There's a lot of good sense in the old adage: "Let's not quarrel over who gets the biggest piece of pie. Let's just get together and bake a bigger pie."

Salutations, Prince Rupert News! We're going to enjoy working with you for Northern British Columbia recognition and development.

—Kitimat Northern Sentinel.

VICTORIA REPORT

By J. K. NESBITT

VICTORIA—The government may well weaken before the next session of the Legislature and give MLAs a boost in pay—and themselves, too!

Last session private MLAs were complaining because all they get is $3,000 a year. They insist that an MLA's duties keep him so busy nowadays that he should get much more—at least $5,000.

But the government saw otherwise, and so there was no pay boost for MLAs. That made them unhappy.

Several members of the opposition said that cabinet ministers should have a boost in pay. Well, perhaps they should. Everyone else in the province has had pay increases except cabinet ministers. The pay of cabinet ministers hasn't been upped since 1922.

If cabinet ministers and MLAs are to get more money, next session will be the time to do it. It will be far enough away from a general election so that the public will have forgotten about it. The public doesn't like what it calls salary grabs on the part of its elected representatives.

As a matter of fact, $7,500 a year isn't high for a man who must give his full time to his job of cabinet minister. In addition, of course, he gets his $3,000 a year sessional indemnity, so that you can't say he's exactly hard up. The Premier receives $9,000 a year, plus the $3,000 indemnity.

Before 1922, the Premier received $7,500 a year, the cabinet ministers $6,000. Those were quite fabulous salaries in those days.

In 1909 the Premier's salary was $5,000, and $4,000 for cabinet ministers, plus the sessional indemnity, then $1,200.

In 1885, the Premier and cabinet ministers received $3,400, plus the $400 sessional indemnity.

The increases through the years, therefore, in cabinet ministers' salaries have not been great—not nearly as great as indemnity increases to members of the House of Commons.

In 1903 MPs received a $1,500 sessional indemnity; today it is $10,000.

There's nothing wrong with paying good wages to those who represent us in important law-making bodies. Even a politician must live, and try to save for rainy days, and, besides, politicians have expenses other people don't have.

The public wouldn't mind paying higher salaries to cabinet ministers and MLAs if only there wasn't so many of them!

The smart thing for the government to do would be to cut the size of the cabinet and the Legislature and increase the pay.

That'll never happen, of course; who ever heard of a Legislature passing a law that would put many of its members out of jobs?

LETTERBOX

WORD OF APPRECIATION
The Editor,
The Daily News.

The solution of Comet disasters offered by your brilliant correspondent deserves a word of appreciation. The line of reasoning is somewhat too involved for simple minds, but its starlike brilliance inevitably tempts one to look for more. Having indisputably united the Comets to the North Star in such forceful and poetic lines, would he not deign to solve other problems as well? For instance, I have obscurely felt that there is some logical connection between the facts that Captain Cook was devoured by cannibals, that the Dominion Construction Company is good at playing bridge, and that the CPR spans the world.

Yours in titillating expectation,

EDWARD J. G. LETCHFORD,

Report From

PARLIAMENT

By E. T. APPLEWHITE, MP Skeena

It looks as though our efforts to get improved post office accommodation for Houston will be successful this year. The present post office premises have only 216 square feet of floor space; it is proposed to provide 900 square feet. It is proposed to lease a one-storey frame building to be built for the purpose. This is a none-too-early recognition of the growing size of Houston and the increased volume of business now being handled by the post office there.

The Department of Public Works proposes to extend the floating breakwater at the fisherman's floats at the north end of Prince Rupert. It is considered that the construction of two additional sections of floating breakwater would provide the required protection. I am given to understand that tenders for this work will be invited immediately.

The question of increasing the power of radio station CFPR at Prince Rupert is now being given a very thorough investigation. This was brought to a head by the urgent requests for greater power (and thus better coverage) for the fishermen's broadcasts. The Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-op has been pushing this, and Hon. James Sinclair, Minister of Fisheries is giving it his active personal support.

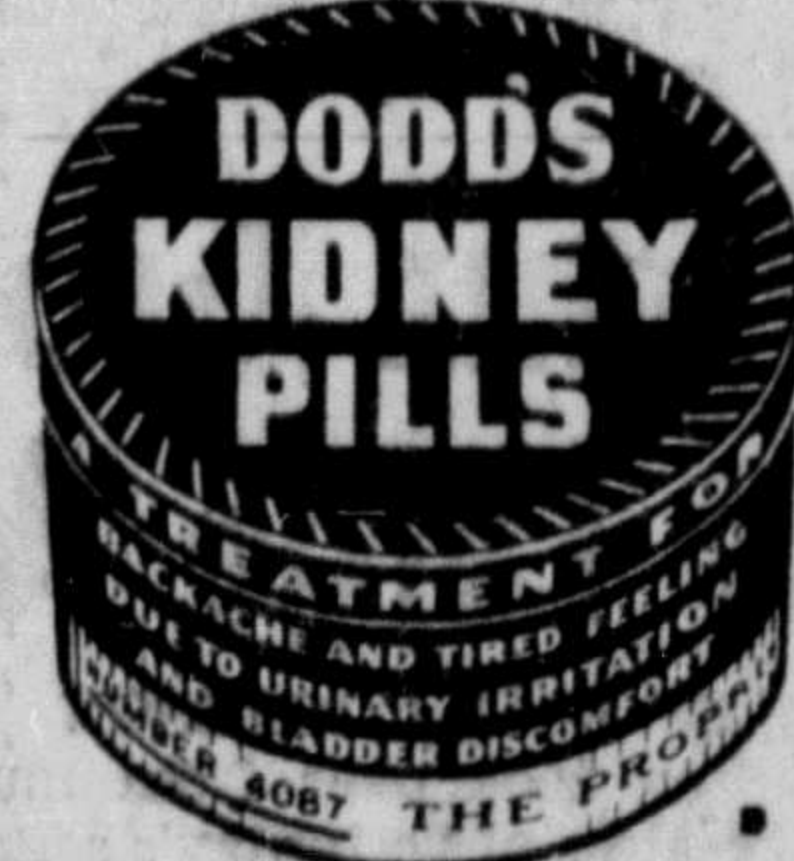

I am looking forward with very real pleasure to meeting George Mitchell when she comes down here to participate in the Rotary Club of Ottawa's "Adventure in Citizenship." I believe that this is the first time Skeena students have taken advantage of this opportunity. This year we will have two, as the Rotary Club of Smithers is sending Vern Dettwiler.

It was a great joy to see Dr. "Mitch" Greene down here this week—for two reasons. It was a pleasure to meet an old friend from home, and it was encouraging to learn of the practical steps the Prince Rupert community is taking in connection with the airport project. I shall not attempt to report on Dr. Green's activities here; I shall leave that for him to do when he returns, but I do want to say how very useful his trip was just how useful. I hope will appear as time goes on.

In his recent speech to the Toronto Canadian Club Mr. Howe remarked that "The only people who seem to believe that there is some kind of financial panacea for all economic ills are the funny-money theorists who, I notice, are curiously reluctant to put their theories to the test when they get the chance." It is true that the only Social Credit governments in the world, those of Alberta and British Columbia, do not attempt to practice Social Credit. But Alberta's Attorney-General Maynard recently appeared before our Banking and Commerce committee and advocated really a gigantic inflation by the simple expedient of putting millions of dollars of new money into circulation. Where is this money to come from?

Mr. Maynard had a ready answer—borrow it from the Bank of Canada without interest. That sort of thing has been tried for over 2,000 years, with the consequent economic collapse (to give only a few examples) of the Roman Empire, the Bourbons in France, and the Continental Congress of the U.S. Remember the expression, "not worth a Continental?"

Wednesday, May 5, was the 100th sitting day of this session—and we have still a tremendous amount of work to be done. The Veterans Affairs committee has not yet been set up; the Japanese trade treaty has not yet been discussed; the estimates of only one department (Public Works) have been passed—two others have been discussed to some extent; none of the budget resolutions (tax changes) has yet been passed; and there is a lot of legislation on the order paper. It will be a considerable time yet before we get home. On the last day of April, at the request of Mr. Drew, the Prime Minister made a full statement to the House concerning the government's legislative programme for the remainder of this session. New bills still to come include: Amendment to the Veterans Land Act; a new measure concerning inventions by members of the public service; further amendment to the Post Office Act; the usual Canadian National Financing and Guarantee bill; a bill to round out the Superannuation Act by providing a system of contributory death benefits for civil servants and members of the regular forces; and to discontinue the issuing of individual policies under the Civil Service Insurance Act; amendments to the Judges Act, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Act, the Department of Transport Act, the Navigable Waters Protection Act, the Radio Act, the International Rapids Power Development Act, and the Citizenship Act. Furthermore, as perhaps you know, very recently the Minister of Transport had discussions with representatives of the various provincial governments concerning the control and regulation of the interprovincial and international highway transport, that may result in new legislation. And should "unforeseen circumstances arise" there could be a few additional requirements, but they should not substantially add to the above program. See you before Labor Day—I hope.

OTTAWA DIARY

By NORMAN M. MacLEOD

Less than a handful of Parliament Hill's really experienced observers believe that an All-Canadian St. Lawrence seaway will ever be built. The Prime Minister's apparent eagerness in pursuit of such a project is looked upon as mainly a shrewd bit of stage-play to prod Washington legislators into action.

For what recent press despatches haven't made quite clear is that when Congress voted a few days ago in favor of a St. Lawrence bill, the matter wasn't finally settled. True, the Senate previously had passed a similar bill. But the trouble was that the two bills, while harmonious in respect to their major provisions, differed in some of their minor clauses. And these differences must be resolved before a final measure can be submitted to President Eisenhower for his signature.

In Ottawa the House of Commons and Senate frequently disagree in respect to individual clauses in a bill which both chambers approve in principle. And in both Ottawa and Washington the method of composing such differences is the same. Representatives of the two chambers meet and work out a compromise.

This is what will have to be done in Washington before the St. Lawrence bill can go to the President for signing. It could mean a delay of anywhere from a few days to a fortnight, or more, depending upon the proclivity of the Washington legislators for procrastination. In an extreme case it could lead to a deadlock between the two Houses, although that is unlikely in the St. Lawrence issue because of the minor nature of the differences in the two bills.

In any case, the Ottawa authorities regard any delay lost from their hopes of getting the great project under way by early July as very precious time indeed. Hence the Prime Minister's emphasis upon Canada's willingness to go right ahead with the scheme alone. It was a way of telling Washington Senators and Congressmen that if they wanted to participate in the project, speed was of the essence.

The truth is that the St. Lawrence government wants to get on fast with the seaway, and it wants the United States as a partner in the work. The reason for speed is that the employment outlook for winter 1955 is not any too solid, and the 15,000 jobs that the St. Lawrence scheme is estimated to provide for five years could be vitally important. The reason favoring United States partnership is just as simple. In time of war the St. Lawrence seaway will be one of the continent's most vital defence works. On the precedent of continental defences generally, therefore, it should be a joint undertaking. It almost certainly will.

YOUTH ESCAPES BLAZE IN HOME

NANAIMO B.C. — Wayne Olson, 19, had a narrow escape from death when the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ole Olson was gutted by fire.

Olson senior climbed to the roof when flames were discovered while the family was still in bed. Mrs. Olson attempted to save her son and she and the youth were rescued by Gordon Craig, Nanaimo machinist and an unidentified youth. The younger Olson received burns to his arm and side. Fireman James Raffle was taken to hospital for treatment.

DISTRICT NEWS

FRANCOIS LAKE—The lake ferry made its first trip of the season yesterday afternoon, cutting through rotting ice to cross the lake. The ferry will continue trips at two-hour intervals until conditions allow the regular summer schedule to be resumed.

A baseball club has been organized here with Sam Shaffer as president. Organization got underway at a meeting of 19 local residents at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Shaffer, when other officers named were vice-president Lewis Snyder, secretary Bruce Snyder and manager Frank Bye.

The Great Pyramid of Cheops in Egypt, 450 feet high, spreads over nearly 13 acres.

Good road conditions between Prince Rupert and Francois Lake were reported by Clarence and George Corliss who made the Highway 16 trip by car recently.

PERSONALS

Dr. H. M. Daggett, professor of chemistry at the University of British Columbia, arrived here yesterday aboard the Prince Rupert to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Daggett, 528 Seventh Avenue East.

Mr. Bill Cruikshank, former Prince Rupert resident, paid a brief visit with old friends here this week. He came here 30 years ago as general passenger agent for the CNR and was transferred to Vancouver three years ago.

AUXILIARY TEA SUCCESS

Public Ignores Hospital "Open House"

The staff and directors of the Prince Rupert General Hospital were a little on the gloomy side today.

It was Hospital Day yesterday, and while an afternoon tea, staged by the Hospital Auxiliary, with enticing food hampers and other prizes at stake, proved quite successful, the "open house" session at the hospital last night was completely ignored by the general public.

Some 14 members of the hospital staff, most of them giving up other activities, stood unconfortably in the hospital lobby, waiting to show interested Prince Rupert people around the hospital. After an hour or so, they decided there weren't any interested Prince Rupert people.

Nine visitors showed up, and they, with the exception of one couple, were staff or board members who had seen the hospital many times.

As a result of last night's flop, the public may not get another chance to see the hospital, except as patients.

R. G. Moore, hospital board chairman, said "It's very disappointing, and unfair to the staff, some of whom came back to the hospital after hours of work, ready to answer questions and explain hospital routine to 'visitors.' The staff may not be asked to do it again next year."

Beautiful spring flowers graced the tea table for the afternoon tea in the Nurses' Residence, convened by auxiliary president Mrs. Sidney Elkins.

Pink and yellow tulips with a mass of lovely bluebells in a low silver bowl, and pale pink tapers in silver candlesticks formed the table centerpiece.

Pouring tea were Mrs. C. C. Mills, Mrs. D. C. Stevenson, Mrs. R. Hood and Miss Elizabeth Clements.

Home cooking and sewing sales were featured at the event with Mrs. W. S. Kergin, Mrs. R. Yamada and Mrs. J. A. Macdonald at the home cooking stall, and Mrs. C. H. Elkins in charge of sewing.

Serving tea were Mrs. J. Scott, Mrs. A. Roche, Mrs. Neely Moore, Mrs. A. D. Vance, Mrs. J. Foster, Mrs. Arthur Kemp and Mrs. L.

M. Greene. Mrs. Greene also was responsible for decor, and looking after the tea table were Mrs. C. Foreman and Mrs. L. Raabe.

Mrs. W. Doumont was in charge of the grocery hamper and Mrs. R. E. Gladding was cashier.

A spray of spring flowers in a silver basket, drawn for by little Miss Barbara Ayres, was won by Mrs. W. H. Doumont. Miss Eleanor Greene drew for the grocery hamper, won by Mrs. Neely Moore and Mrs. N. Beketov.

Former Yankees Bad Luck For Dodgers, White Sox

By REN PHILGAR
New York Yankees have some fresh ammunition to use against the critics who have blasted them for hoarding talent during their pennant rampages of the last five baseball seasons.

Exhibits A and B are Lew Burdette and Don Johnson, a pair of 27-year-old right-handed pitchers who once toiled in Yankee pinnacles. Burdette, now a front-line member of the Milwaukee mound staff, mowed down Brooklyn Dodgers on one hit Wednesday for a 5-1 victory. Johnson gave up only two hits in pitching Chicago White Sox to a 1-0 verdict over Boston.

Detroit held on to first place in the American League by 27 percentage points despite Johnson's victory by beating Washington 4-2. The Yankees edged Cleveland 5-4.

Philadelphia replaced Brooklyn at the top of the National League, downing Chicago Cubs 5-4. New York Giants defeated Cincinnati 2-1 and St. Louis slugged Pittsburgh 13-5.

Lefty Ted Gray pitched his first complete game and scored his first victory for the Tigers this season as he scattered six Washington hits. Jim Busby reached him for a home run in the ninth.

The Indians kayoed Eddie Lopat with a four-run uprising in the eighth but Sain came to the rescue and saved Lopat's fifth straight triumph. The victory, the Yanks' second in a row over the Indians, deadlocked the two teams in third place, a game and a half behind Detroit.

The only hit off Burdette at Brooklyn was a home run by Gil Hodges in the fifth. Burdette kept the Dodgers pounding the ball into the dirt and first-base man Joe Adcock made 17 put-outs.

Harry Perkowski of Cincinnati had a two-hit shutout working at the Polo Grounds until the ninth when with one out and one on Bob Hofman unloaded his second pinch-hit homer of the season.

Rookie Wally Moon of the Cardinals got five hits in six tries against Pittsburgh and Red Schoendienst went four-for-four as the Redbirds battered Pirate pitching for 21 hits.

Stampeders Defeat Aces 2-1 Lead 4-1 For Edinburgh Cup

CALGARY — Calgary Stampeders are within an ace of the end of the 1953-54 hockey season.

Stampeders handed Quebec Aces a 2-1 defeat here Wednesday night to take a 4-1 lead in games in their best-of-nine series for the Edinburgh Trophy. The clubs meet again tonight and a win for Calgary will give them the silverware.

It has been a long season for Stampeders. They have played more than 90 games since the Western Hockey League season opened in October.

In the current series, Calgary won the opener 8-1, dropped the second 2-1, and took the other contests by scores of 5-5, 7-4 and 2-1. Wednesday night's victory was hard-earned. They lost the services of Pat Coburn who suffered a cut above the right eye when struck by the puck back of the Calgary net. Ten stitches were required to close the wound.

A crowd of 5,867, smallest of the series, turned out for the game. They saw Aces fight desperately for a victory but fail.

GELINEAU REPLACED

Quebec went with Jean Marois in the nets, replacing Jack Gelineau who handled the goal-tending chores during the other games. Marois was good, but not good enough. He had no chance on the shots that got past him. Art Michaluk was first to find the range, scoring unassisted at 8:29 of the first period. Bill Shvets gave Stampeders another goal, scoring at 18:21 of the second period on a play with Walt Trentini and Archie Scott. Ray Powell, back in action after sitting out one game with a leg injury, scored Aces' lone goal at 7:48 of the last period on a play with Kelly and Raglan. Calgary goalie Bill Brennan

Records Topple In Mixed Loop

Last Monday saw all records established the previous week broken as the Spring Mixed Bowling League went into its second week.

Armando De Rae, anchor man for Wrathall's, bowled high single game with 335, and Ray Gordiano of Headpinners rolled 808 for men's high three.

Jean Sharpe of No Names had ladies high single with 281, and gained double honors by taking high three with an even 700.

High team honors went to Leftovers with 1,300, while the Headpinners rolled 3,600 for high three.

Results:
No Names 4, Lucky Strikes 0; Wrathall's 4, Hotshots 0; Headpinners 4, Tiger Cats 0; Aces 3, Whalers 1; Cantels 3, Chums 1; Leftovers 3, Family Market 1.

Standings:
No Names 8, Wrathall's 7, Aces 7, Leftovers 7, Cantels 6, Headpinners 4, Tiger Cats 3, Chums 2, Whalers 2, Lucky Strikes 1, Family Market 1, Hotshots 0.

was outstanding throughout the game, but particularly in the second period when Aces pressed. Quebec pulled Marois in the last minute of play but couldn't get the equalizer.

Edmonton Kings "Easiest Yet"

TORONTO — The coach of the east won't predict it and the coach of the west certainly will deny it.

But it appears that it is only a question of "how long" before St. Catharines Teepees win their first Memorial Cup in 12 years of junior hockey competition.

And tonight the Teepees can come to within one game of that goal when they meet Edmonton Oil Kings in the third game of the best-of-seven finals for the Canadian junior hockey championship. Teepees won the first game 8-2 and came from behind for a 5-3 victory in their second meeting.

But despite the two-game deficit coach Ken McAuley of the Oil Kings thinks Edmonton will come back.

"We improved 100 per cent for the second game and we're going to improve even more," he said. "I still don't think Teepees are any better than we are."

EASIEST OPPOSITION

Rudy Pilous, coach of the eastern champions, won't go out on a limb but he does admit that Edmonton is the easiest opposition that Teepees have faced to date.

Both coaches, however, agreed on one thing—the officiating.

McAuley said referees Paul Bozak and Ike Morrison, both of Moose Jaw, were intimidated by Pilous. Said Pilous: "It's news to me." Somewhat wistfully he admitted, "I've never scared a referee in my life."

But Pilous said he was hoping for more accurate refereeing in future games.

"They've been ignoring too much interference and slashing," he said. "I don't say Edmonton is a rough club but they get away with a lot of chippy stuff. My players are covered with bruises."

McAuley countered: "Pilous started to scream after the second period in the second game. Then the referees gave us the business. But we'll still win despite the referees. We're only starting to go."

OVERCOME BY RECEPTION

Although he wasn't too impressed with St. Catharines' play, he was overcome by the city's civic reception Wednesday.

The Oil Kings were tendered a civic banquet by the city of St. Catharines and then were taken on a tour of the Niagara Peninsula and Niagara Falls as guests of the Teepee sponsors, a St. Catharines manufacturing company.

"We had a wonderful time," McAuley said. "The boys really enjoyed every minute of it."

MARTY MARION dumps sleeping pills from a bottle into a wastepaper basket upon announcing, "Man, I'm really living again." The lanky ex-"Mr. Shortstop" of the Cardinals says today he is a carefree coach with the league-leading White Sox, but only a few months ago he was the anguished manager of the last-place St. Louis Browns. Pointing at the pills, he said, "I hadda use 'em all the time when I managed the Browns. I just couldn't sleep at night. Worry, worry, worry, that's all it ever was with 'em."

Canadian Grid Broadcasts In U.S. Will Be Big Boost

MONTREAL (CP)—The deal that sends Big Four football games over the NBC's television network throughout the United States is a tremendous thing geographically and politically for Canada, Lew Hayman said today.

"This unlimited publicity will not cost Canada a cent," said Hayman, general manager of Montreal Alouettes and chairman of the Big Four's TV committee.

"It will associate four of our major cities, Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa and Hamilton, in the minds of American TV viewers and this area of eastern Canada will become as well known as southern Texas or South Dakota or Alabama."

"The NBC will romance these games by 15-minute prologues about the city, the stadium, the individual players and the Canadian game itself."

At the same time Hayman said he felt that U.S. players signing with teams in the western Canadian league "will lose all identity and potential publicity."

INTERNATIONAL FIGURES

Even pro players in the U.S. are seen on TV only in local or sectional areas, said Hayman. Players in the Big Four become "not only national figures in each country but international."

"This TV arrangement maintains the identity of any Canadian boy who has football talent. His name becomes a household name."

Probe Slated Into Amateurs

ATHENS — Avery Brundage today said he expects the International Olympic Committee to start an investigation immediately into the problem of so-called amateur athletes who are subsidized by their governments.

Brundage, American president of the IOC, said the investigation may begin with a questionnaire to each Olympic national committee "asking point-blank questions on how their athletes are selected, maintained and trained."

Brundage told The Associated Press in an exclusive interview that "one thing particularly to be enquired into is training camps. Under the Olympic rules and requirements, state training camps of more than two weeks are against the Olympic spirit."

REMEMBER WHEN

By The Canadian Press
Murphy Chamberlain, rugged player of the Toronto Maple Leafs hockey team, was sold to Montreal Canadiens for the option price of $7,500 just 14 years ago today. Chamberlain was a main cog in the Canadian teams that won the Stanley Cup in 1944 over Chicago and in 1946 over Boston.

OUTDOORS With Marty —

Two people are fishing together, perhaps in a small boat on lake or harbor, or maybe they are side by side on the bank of a stream. Quite consistently Joe gets fish, but Bill does no business at all. This same thing, happens on almost every trip this pair makes, and Bill only stays with it because partner Joe can be relied upon to catch eating fish for two, besides hoping that some of Joe's good luck will rub off on himself!

Sometimes in disgust Bill changes places with Joe, sometimes Joe insists upon swapping tackle with Bill, but still Bill rarely catches a fish. Why should this be? Why is one angler luckier than his companion? Or is he?

Perhaps without realizing it, Joe has developed his angling skill to the point where he has a sensitivity of touch in high degree, where he immediately sizes up the current flow, the depth of water, the position of rocks and obstructions which govern the flow of food particles, the obvious "holding places" where fish are prone to lie in wait. The sum total of knowledge gained from hours innumerable spent fishing is promptly and possibly unwittingly applied to the situation of the moment, so naturally Joe catches fish. This is experience, not luck. All anglers will acquire some as time goes by, so to you Bill, I say "Stay with it!"

The new, highly advanced planning of the provincial game management program again manifests itself in the announcement of the opening of all mainland lakes for angling at any time when it is not necessary to chop a hole in the ice in order to get a hook in the water. Together with a lowering of the trout size limit down to six inches in about half-a-hundred lakes, these things foreshadow even more moves of this kind, that might have appeared quite starting a few years ago. This column fondly hopes to see the time when many more anglers will learn the joy of returning more and larger fish to the water, removing mostly those fish with noticeably cannibalistic tendencies, (no need to cut the fish open to see if he feeds on fish, the hard bulge in his distended abdomen will tell you that) and those whose shape and general conformation is not of the best type, and of course any others that are definitely required for the frypan.

Those local sportsmen who originated the idea of obtaining Oliver Lake for the exclusive use of junior anglers, did so with the idea of inculcating in these juniors the love and use of fly tackle only. Since it is so easily possible for any kind of fisherman to catch a mess of fish by any crude angling method around the town, and now that Oliver Lake is expropriated from public use, Marty believes that the original excellent purpose should be adhered to. Spinning tackle is not purist fly tackle, it is certainly highly efficient for "chucking 'em a mile," and is deadly for capturing a lot of fish but little Oliver Lake cannot stand up to an overly heavy take of fish, nor can it replenish itself except artificially.

Here is opportunity to teach our successors the delight of a pretty cast, how to work for and against wind, the gentle and precise placement of the dry fly, casting to the rise, and also the meaning of Old Izaak's phrase, "This not all of fishing to fish! Then let us do so!"

Sellout Crowd To Be on Hand

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—A sellout crowd of hockey fans, who braved pneumonia to purchase their tickets, will bear partisan witness tonight when Penticton V's take on Sudbury Wolves in the sixth game of a best-of-seven series for the Allan Cup.

Tuesday night's 6-5 overtime victory by Penticton was credited with sending long lines of Kelowna citizens out into a pounding downpour where they stood for up to two hours Wednesday waiting for the ticket office to open.

The defeat left Wolves leading the final 3-2 and rekindled the hope that Penticton's "comeback kids" could just possibly do it again.

All 2,800 seats were accounted for Wednesday and ticket-sellers reported a brisk business in standing room—which is expected to swell the crowd to 3,500 capacity.

Wolves won the first game 2-1 in Penticton, lost the second 6-2 in Vernon, won the third 3-1 here and the fourth 8-2 back in Penticton.

V's were facing elimination, down 3-1 in games Tuesday night. The game had only 15 minutes to go and Penticton was behind 5-2 before a rash of penalties gave them a new lease of life, a 5-5 regulation time tie and a 6-5 overtime victory. The winning goal came with only 15 seconds remaining.

Should V's take the Wolves tonight, the seventh game would go to Penticton Saturday.

Max Silverman's Wolves had a chartered plane standing by to fly them, and the Allan Cup, back to Ontario after Tuesday night's game, but had to postpone the trip. The veteran coach said his team planned to arrive in Sudbury for a big civic welcome Wednesday.

Audience Enjoys Singing and Drama

selection he said their three-part work was well done and he enjoyed their singing.

Anita Rogerson and Eloise Lahti in a two-piano number "Festival March" gave lively performances at a merry pace, Mr. Kurth told them.

They needed a little more steadiness as the rhythm was ragged in spots, he said.

Edith Bowman and Aletta Gilker also in a two-piano performance captured the mood of Arthur Benjamin's "Jamaican Rumba" Mr. Kurth told the audience. They maintained a light infectious tunal level and he thought that Benjamin would have been very pleased with their rendition.

In the morning and afternoon large audiences turned out at the Civic Centre and Capitol Theatre to hear choral singing and pianoforte.

DELICATE TONE

Two Grade 2 choirs, one from Annunciation, the other from Conrad St. School opened the morning session. Mr. Kurth said these were two lovely choirs. The Annunciation choir had a very delicate tone, their words were most expressive. They sang with a very pleasing manner. The Conrad St. School had a nice tone, good clarity of words. They sang well together but had a little trouble with their pitch, he said.

There followed pianoforte solos (under 10 and under 11). The pieces in this section were of excellent choice and delightful to listen to. Mr. Kurth said that anyone having trouble with uncertainty in their playing, could remedy this by slow practice which creates steadiness of fingers. Sonia Berg gave a very fine musical performance for which she was awarded the high mark of 88.

Two more choral selections delighted the audience. Grade 5 from Conrad St. School sang with toning of good quality, clear words and with melody. The Borden St. Grade 5 Choir made the music flow with a graceful rise and fall of tone. Words were clear and animated.

A pianoforte study (under 12) was next on the program. This was a charming number. The melody could have been brought out a little more, with a little more contrast in the playing.

Two quick piano studies drew congratulations from Mr. Kurth for Suzanne Kergin and Anne Eyoifson.

Three selections on two pianos closed the morning session. These performances were very pleasing to the audience, and the adjudicator.

Wednesday afternoon in the Capitol Theatre, Mike Colussi's Accordion School Bands presented a lively and cheerful performance. There were 23 young players in the Junior Band and 16 players in the Intermediate Band. Mr. Kurth congratulated the conductor on his clean performance, choice of music and certainty in beat. He thought playing in these two bands a very fine experience for young performers.

Then followed several pianoforte selections. "A German Dance" was a difficult number that requires vigor and abrupt changes, while the rhythm remains stable, Mr. Kurth said.

Test piece, "Romance," although played by a sensitive player, with well shaped expressiveness, was not interpreted as the adjudicator expected.

The Beethoven Section opened with test piece, "Two Country Dances." This was played with much musical charm, and the passage work was neat and smooth, the adjudicator said.

Test piece "Minuet in G" was well played. It needs a firm touch to make the notes distinct.

Tset piece, "Rondo" revealed designs of music. It has a definite pattern. Starts with a theme, moves on to something else, then returns to the theme.

ADJUDICATOR PLEASSED

In the pianoforte (open) Beethoven section, the adjudicator was very pleased. He said the three capable players, Mrs. Nora Thompson, Sena Pavlikis and Lorna Melvin produced something unusually fine. They gave a beautiful interpretation of Beethoven's Sonatas. Mrs. Nora Thompson was awarded the high mark of 88 for her poetic and artistic rendition.

Selected School Choruses Grades (1-6) came next. Borden Street School choir gave a lovely performance. Mr. Kurth said they had a charming tone, good pace, steady and rhythmic. Their singing was alive and musical. Conrad Street school sang in unison and although they gave a very fine performance, they were a little handicapped by their pitch.

Studies of modern composers composed the next and last section of the afternoon. Mr. Kurth said these modern compositions are not as difficult as the classics but sometimes do not turn out just the way they should. Tempo and rhythm are most important.

Politics and Promotions on Merit Chief's Conditions on Taking Job

By WHITEHEAD
Copyright 1964
Associated Press
OTTAWA—Thirty years after the 1924-25 U.S. Attorney General Harlan Fiske Stone named a dark-haired man over his glasses as the Federal Bureau of Investigation's chief, J. Edgar Hoover, a partnership that has endured through and into the administrations of five presidents and 11 attorneys-general.

The greying FBI chief looked back over those 30 years the other day and recalled the 1924 Stone interview.
"I told him I would take the job only on two conditions."
"I said the bureau had to be divorced from politics, with appointments made solely on merit. Second, promotions would be made on proved ability. The FBI would not be a catch-all for political hacks, and would be responsible only to the attorney-general."

NO GESTAPO
In the course of the talk, I put to Hoover a question that has cropped up intermittently.
"Is there a danger of the FBI becoming a gestapo? What is to prevent the FBI from using police-state methods?"
Hoover's reply: "No, not if we have men of character in the organization and an alert public opinion."
I asked about reports and insinuations that FBI files are open to some congressional investigators—and that the FBI "tips off" members of Congress to subversive cases where its own agents can't get evidence for a court case.
Hoover snapped: "I can say unequivocally that is an absolute lie."

TESTIMONY CREATED STIR
On the political side, Hoover created a flurry when he appeared as a witness last November to testify in the case of the late Harry Dexter White after Attorney General Herbert Brownell charged former President Harry Truman promoted White despite FBI reports of espionage activities.
Why did Hoover testify in the White case?
"After the attorney-general made his speech on the White case, stories and rumors were widely circulated that I had been a party to an agreement to promote White and retain him in government."
"That story was absolutely untrue. The Jenner committee the Senate internal security subcommittee headed by Senator Jenner of Indiana called me twice and asked me to testify on the White case and twice I refused."
"I agreed to testify on the third request rather than face a subpoena. I agreed because I wished to avoid a subpoena and because the story which was going around reflected on me and on the FBI."
Then Hoover added: "During

Medals Still Being Held For Veterans Nine Years After End of Second War

By DAVE MCINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—Nine years after victory in Europe, the veterans affairs department is holding 1,294,615 campaign stars and medals still not applied for by second world war veterans.
And it still has between 20,000 and 30,000 medals for First World War veterans. Incidentally, the official title of the First World War is "The Great War of 1914-19."

Lt.-Col. H. M. Jackson, director of the department's war service records division, says the majority of Second World War veterans who have not written in for their medals are those entitled to only one or two. There are also some who just don't care about medals, even if they are entitled to seven or eight.
The medals, packed in cartons, are stored in specially-constructed vaults in the division's Slater street building here.

ties. There are still 4,631 bars to be issued and the department carries on a ceaseless hunt for the next-of-kin. It could find only six last year.
Long before the medals now in the vaults are cleaned out the records division will be issuing the United Nations Service Medal and the Korea Medal to some 23,000 servicemen who participated in the Korean War.

Chinese Bride Meets Husband For First Time

VANCOUVER (CP)—Shing Lee, 31, has arrived back in the land of her birth and has been united with her husband she had never seen.
Her arrival marked the last lap of a journey which began in the western shadow of the Rocky Mountains, wound through the Orient and the courts of two countries and which will end at Port Alice, B.C., pulp town on the northern end of Vancouver Island.

Miss Lee was born in Cranbrook, B.C., and taken to China by her parents when only a few months old.
After 30 years in the Orient, her marriage to Woo Kee, 53, Port Alice widower, was arranged by Mr. Woo's mother and her parents in Hong Kong. They were married by proxy under Chinese law 12 years ago.
Five years ago Mr. Woo sent for her, but the Canadian immigration in Hong Kong contended she was not the Shing Lee who was born in Cranbrook.

After years of wrangling, Canadian attorneys drew a writ against the attorney-general of Canada for declaration that she was a Canadian citizen.
The slim bride, looking younger than her 31 years, made the trip here via Formosa, Tokyo, Anchorage and Seattle. She will be married to Mr. Woo under Canadian law.
"My, this is a beautiful country," she said through an interpreter.
"I am going to be happy here."

SIGNATURES NECESSARY
A veteran has to write in for his medals so that the division has a signature which tallies with one on its records. But Col. Jackson says cases of persons applying for medals to which they are not entitled are rare. Medals could not be issued to veterans because in many cases they moved after the war and the division has no addresses for them.

First World War veterans also had to write in for their medals. These medals were minted in Britain and were engraved with the veteran's name and regimental number. Second World War medals, made in Canada, were not engraved. For this reason, the veterans affairs department has issued 39,810 engraved memorial bars since 1951 to next-of-kin of fatal casualties. There are still 4,631 bars to be issued and the department carries on a ceaseless hunt for the next-of-kin of fatal casualties.

NO ALLIED BASES IN DENMARK

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Minister Hans Christian Hansen this week ruled out any chance that Allied air forces will be based in Denmark in peacetime "despite the risks we are facing." The Danish Socialist told the Foreign Press Association that public opinion in his country would turn against the Atlantic alliance if foreign forces were brought there at this time.

Eisenhower May Be Destroyed By Own Party Says Hutchinson

President Dwight Eisenhower is in grave danger of being destroyed from within his own party, in the opinion of Bruce Hutchinson, well-known Canadian political writer. In an article in the current issue of Maclean's Magazine, Hutchinson describes the savage assault on the presidency, spearheaded by Senator Joseph McCarthy.

"Eisenhower meets the naked inquisition of his weekly press conference as a figure of personal victory," Hutchinson says. "Before this year is out he could become a figure of political tragedy."

McCarthy's open attack on the President is only the most garish aspect of the highly organized secret opposition to Eisenhower that comes from the whole right wing of the Republican Party, Hutchinson says. "The quarrel covers all the basic issues of policy. It goes to the very root of things," he points out.

So far the U.S. President has not mastered his job, Hutchinson believes. His concessions to the tepid opposition "professionals" have only made him more vulnerable to further attacks. "If McCarthy is in process of destruction, the President has not managed it," Hutchinson says. "He has hardly begun to grasp the political pro-

Choice Between Two Men For Canadian Army Boss

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (AP)—The choice for commander of the army's 1st division—Canada's first peacetime division—apparently lies between two brigadiers.

The two are Brig. Jean Victor Allard, DSO and two bars, and Brig. John M. Rocky Rockingham, DSO and bar. There may also be a dark horse. Whoever is appointed will be promoted to major-general.

U.K. Prices Up As Margarine, Butter Freed

LONDON (Reuters)—Unrationed butter and margarine went on sale throughout Britain this week for the first time since 1940. But housewives made no rush on their corner grocery stores.

Most firms agreed it was too early to gauge public response. "With butter prices so high we do not expect housewives to flock into our shops," said a spokesman of one large concern. "Supplies are adequate for the moment."

For weeks manufacturers of butter and margarine have been vying for the British housewife's favor with big advertising campaigns.

When rationing ended officially at midnight Saturday the price of butter, which was subsidized, was 51 cents a pound. The unrationed price today is about 63 cents.

Under the rationing system the nation's margarine supplies were uniform, costing about 21 cents a pound. Now qualities vary, some selling at prices below the ration level and some above.

Cheese was also freed today from rationing and price control.

Today's relaxation of the war-born food control system leaves only fresh meat and bacon still rationed but the government has announced that these will be removed later this summer.

LAURA AUGUST (right) of Seattle, Wash., models the regular Bikini, while Jean Ferguson of Philadelphia wears the new Wikini, a Hawaiian-influenced suit that features holes at either side for ventilation. You can be sure both girls will absorb plenty of sunshine and attention at Las Vegas, Nev., where they modeled the swim suits.

The army itself appears slightly in favor of Rockingham, but the cabinet, which will make the final decision, may name Allard. There are comparatively few French-speaking Canadians in top defence posts.

Both men, big in stature and personality, have eminent qualifications. Both commanded infantry battalions and then brigades during the Second World War. Both have commanded the 25th Canadian infantry brigade in Korea.

Brig. Allard, due home in June from Korea, will be 41 June 12. Born at Nicolet, Quebec, he joined the Trois-Rivieres tank regiment in 1939 as a major. He won his first two Distinguished Service Orders while commanding the Royal 22nd Regiment in Italy—at the battle of the Arielli river near Ortona in December, 1943, and the break-through of the Gothic line in September, 1944.

Brig. Allard was promoted to his present rank in 1945 and appointed commander of the 6th Canadian infantry brigade in The Netherlands. He won his third DSO at Groningen.

He was Canadian military attaché at Moscow from after the war until 1948, then became commander of eastern Quebec area. He later attended the Imperial Defence College and was vice-quartermaster-general.

Brig. Rockingham was born in Australia Aug. 24, 1911. He was commissioned in the Canadian Scottish in 1935 and in 1942 became a major in the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry.

He took command of the 9th Canadian infantry brigade in August, 1944. His unit fought at Caen and Boulogne and were the first Canadians to cross the Rhine into Germany.

He joined the British Columbia Electric Company at Vancouver after the war, but came out of army retirement in 1950 to command the 5,000-man special force in Korea. He later became director-general of military training at headquarters, attended the Imperial Defence College and now is commander of the 3rd Canadian infantry brigade.

Sliced Bacteria May Aid Fight

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Sliced bacteria, cut like bologna, may be a new aid in the study of normal and cancerous growth, a Princeton University scientist said today.

Dr. George B. Chapman, describing his recent successful preparation of germ slices to make them stable enough to allow real pay-off study with an electron microscope, said the technique already has provided new information on the process of cell division—one of the basic mechanisms of all growth.

He told the Society of American Bacteriologists in a prepared paper that bacteria only 1-25,000ths of an inch in circumference and only three times as long have been sliced lengthwise as thin as 1,250,000th of an inch. The bacteria, imbedded in plastic, were attached to a rotating wheel brought to bear against a stationary knife.

Chapman said studies of these slices with science's super-slicing electron microscope disclose new information. When a single-celled bacterium undergoes a kind of pinching-in process which eventually results in there being to germs instead of one, only a single layer of material is involved in the "partitioning" process.

THESE FIVE KOREAN TOTS are orphans. Padre Anderson, soldier-chaplain with the Canadian Brigade in Korea, is their unofficial foster father. These are only five of the 130 war orphans of the Young Nak Bariwon Orphanage situated in Seoul, Korea. Padre Anderson has become one of the main links between the Canadian Brigade and the orphanages in Korea. He distributes to them the donations of clothing and money that come from the brigade and various Canadian welfare groups. As senior Protestant padre with the Brigade he is kept busy with the spiritual welfare of the soldiers under his care but still finds time to offer a helping hand to the needy children of Young Nak Bariwon. Padre Major J. M. Anderson, MC and Bar, is from Acton, Ont., and Niagara Falls, Ont.

Cork Saves Girl From Drowning

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (P) — Ten-year-old Darlene Roaten, who does not swim, supported herself with a small piece of cork for more than three hours while the current swept her 10 miles down the Mississippi river.

Her father, J. S. Roaten, meanwhile swam more than two hours to rescue his wife and their son, Bobby, 8, after they and Darlene had stepped off an under-water sandbar into the swift Mississippi current.

Roaten threw them pieces of old life jackets and leaped from their 17-foot motorboat and swam to the rescue of his family. He left another son, Michael, 4, in the boat with the motor idling.

The boat began drifting and Roaten swam after it for more than two hours before he regained it. Then he used the boat to pick up his wife and Bobby but Darlene had drifted out of sight.

Darlene was picked up just before dark by a towboat. A witness said the piece of cork supporting her was about half the size of a cigar box.

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Be Ready to Cash in on Slipups by Defense

You may have run across the fact that the defense is not always perfect. You must be alert to imperfections when they occur—and take full advantage of them. Mr. Abel failed to do this in today's deal.

On the bidding, a heart or club lead seemed to be called for. But after long thought Mr. Muzzy selected the seven of diamonds. Mr. New won with the ace and returned the suit. This was about the worst start the defenders could have got off to, but Mr. Abel still failed to make his bid.

At the second trick he overtook his queen of diamonds with dummy's king. He didn't think diamonds would go around again, particularly since Mr. Muzzy had played the deuce on the second trick. However, there was nothing better to try, so he led the jack of diamonds and got rid of a club.

SWITCHES TO TRUMP

Pleased that everybody followed suit, he now switched to a trump. But Mr. Muzzy proved to have two sure trump tricks and these, with the ace of diamonds and a club trick, set the contract.

Of course, Mr. Abel should have led the last diamond from the board at trick four and discarded his last club. This play could not lose and, in this case, would have gained a trick. It was a safety play against all four outstanding trumps being in one opponent's hand.

HALF SAFE

The effect of it was to deposit a loser on a loser or, in other words, to get rid of two losers on one trick.

Here was a case where the contract could have been set two tricks by proper defense. The opening he got gave Mr. Abel a chance to make his contract—that is, to pick up two full tricks. He picked up one but, as Mrs. Keen remarked, "Why be half safe?"

2,000 Different Cars Built But Only 20 Survive Today

By FORBES RHUDE

Canadian Press Business Editor
To re-live some of the memories of a past motoring age, pull up a chair beside T. J. Emmert, executive vice-president of Ford Motor Company.

He has done a lot of research on early Canadian motoring history and, in a recent speech in Toronto, drew some of the shadows out of the past and put them back on the road again.

Here are some of the items: More than 2,000 different cars have been produced in North America, but only 20 survive.

As early as 1893, Dixon carriage works built electric carriages in Toronto; while the first gasoline-driven car, a U.S. Winston, was imported to Toronto in 1898.

In 1904 Ford set up its first Canadian factory in a former wagon works at Windsor, Ont. The McLaughlins followed at Oshawa, Ont., progenitors of General Motors in that city. Chalmers started at Windsor, later became Chalmers-Maxwell, and in 1925 Chrysler.

Among early ventures was E.

R. Thomas Motor Company, Toronto, later Canada Cycle Motor Company, then Russell Motors, finally Willys-Overland.

Stratford, Ont., had Brooks steam motors; London, Ont., Ruggles truck; and Montreal Parker Motor Company.

Then, over the years in Ontario were Durant at Leaside; Gottfredson at Windsor; National at Hamilton; International at Chatham; Tudhope at Orillia; Everett-Metzger-Flinders made EMF at Windsor and in 1911 became Studebaker.

The Universal Giant and Oxford were produced at Montreal; McKay at Amherst, N.S.; Maritime Six at Saint John, N.B.; Winnipeg Six at Winnipeg; Hayes-Anderson Truck at Vancouver; and, in Ontario, the London Six at Ottawa; Fisher and Regal Underslung at Windsor; Schacht at Hamilton; Reo at St. Catharines; Galt at Galt; Superior at Petrolia; Graham at Ottawa; Atlas at Brockville.

For each company in Canada, 100 appeared in the United States.

The Duck, produced in 1913, looked like an ordinary touring car except that its steering wheel was mounted in the rear seat and the passengers sat in front.

However, if there are laughs out of the past, there was also sound engineering. Mr. Emmert reminds us:

"Automobiles were built nearly 60 years ago that could travel 90 miles an hour, surmount almost any hill in high, and were so well built that some of them are running today, even if with expert attention and loving care."

British Film Will Dramatize First Trans-Atlantic Flight

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (P)—The first transatlantic flight from Newfoundland to Ireland in 1919 will be dramatized on the screen before the end of this year but there will be few scenes from this rocky starting point.

London Film Productions will shoot most of the Newfoundland scenes in England and Scotland, apart from one shot of this rugged coastline fading away.

This scene, taken from the gun turret of a modern military plane, will show Alcock and Brown's last sight of land before they guided their canvas-covered biplane over the horizon. Lester's field, the takeoff point, has been devoured by expansion of St. John's, and takeoff scenes will be done in Scotland.

OLD-TIMERS HELP

Graham Wallace, scriptwriter of the movie, has spent a month here talking to old-timers who witnessed the take-off, gathering faded photographs and looking for old friends of pilot John Alcock and navigator Whitton Brown.

He said the movie, still unnamed, will also include the two unsuccessful attempts earlier in 1919. Raynham and Morgan crawled out of their wrecked plane just a few miles from Lester's field, while Hawker and Grieve dropped in mid-ocean to be picked up by a passing freighter.

Mr. Wallace had no difficulty getting eye-witness accounts. There are still many men around eager to tell the part they played in giving Alcock and Brown a Newfoundland send-off. Some even remember the adventures carried in their lunch cans "meat sandwiches and cocoa."

This plane like the other two, was shipped here from England by boat, and flights were started from this side because of prevailing tail winds.

HISTORIC TAKE-OFF

The whole town turned out for the take-off. About 40 men grabbed the plane and held it while Alcock and Brown revved the motors.

When the two Rolls Royce engines attained full speed, chocks were pulled from the wheels, the men let go, and the clumsy craft rumbled along the bumpy field into the air. Seven thousand people, many of whom waited since early morning for the mid-afternoon takeoff, cheered and waved to the fliers.

Some of these people stayed up all night waiting word on the plane which lost its radio generator shortly after takeoff. No word was received until the next morning when church-goers saw the bulletin on the post office building. The notice said the plane landed in an Irish bog 16 hours and 12 minutes after leaving St. John's.

Alcock was killed in a plane crash the following year. Brown died in 1946.
