GALE WRECKS HOUSE—George Cairns of Toronto's suburban Long Branch looks sorrowfully at the raging waters of Lake Ontario which have torn away the living room and two bedrooms and flooded the remainder of his home. In Long Branch 44 families were left homeless and 21 houses were condemned as unfit for human habitation in on-the-spot checks by village councillors. The storm extended all along the Great Lakes area from Oshawa to Windsor and damage was heavy. (CP Photo)

Unseasonable Snow Here

Heavy, wet snow east of Prince Rupert kicked out telegraph lines early this morning and intermittently disrupted power supply by shorting transmission lines.
Meanwhile, it was a bewildered robin who sang mournfully this morning after a night's snowfall dampened his spirits to herald the coming of spring. Among the first of the red-breasts on the Prince Rupert scene, he was likely thinking—much the same as city residents—that the weatherman got his east-west directions mixed.
Following the downpour of rain yesterday, rain turned into snow last evening to fall nearly an inch, throughout the night, continuing heavily this morning.
Temperatures remain just over freezing level, giving snow that slushy texture.
No report was available this morning on highway conditions but railroad officials reported no trouble.

Applewhaite Slashes at CCF on Foreign Affairs

Sees No Need to Disturb Canada's Unity on NATO Support

OTTAWA (Special to Daily News)—A member from the West Coast, E. T. Applewhaite, Liberal, Skena, made a slashing attack on the CCF last night in the debate on external affairs.

Applewhaite declared that the currently debated war-of-peace resolution, moved by Percy Wright of Melfort, CCF National President, was the first non-confidence motion on foreign policy made in the Canadian Parliament for many years and brought to an end the proud boasts so often made by members of all parties that Canada was united on external policy and showed always a united front to the rest of the world.

Applewhaite expressed the opinion that the motion represented no large body of Canadian public opinion for, although the CCF national release of March 4 had opposed the armament goals set at Lisbon and had decried American dominance, the CCF News of Vancouver on March 5 had praised the accomplishments of Lisbon and urged less whining and sneering at the United States.

Applewhaite said, if the Canadian House adopted the resolution, the world press would carry such headlines as "Disunity in NATO" or "NATO attacked." Founder Member or "NATO," denounced as Purely Militaristic Organization" or "NATO Held by Canada to be Organ of Aggression."
He said no useful purpose was served by introducing the resolution as the debate was well under way before its introduction. He said that, far from helping in any way, it just added to the burdens of Hon. L. B. Pearson who already has on his shoulders greater burdens than should be borne by any one man representing only fourteen million people.

Slump Hits Gt. Britain

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Textile Industry in Bad Way—Many Unemployed

LONDON (CP) — For the first time in nearly two decades the term "slump" is being freely used to describe conditions in a section of British industry.
The shadow of short time and unemployment has fallen across the drab mill towns in the north of England, whose h-shaped television aerials and smoking chimney pots suggested a prosperity uninterrupted since pre-war days.

Sixty thousand workers in the textile industry, centred in Lancashire, have been temporarily laid off or are on the job only three days a week. Drying up of demand at home and abroad is blamed for the decline.
Exports of British textiles last year were valued at $415,000,000 in 1950. But the rot had already set in. Inventories were piling up in November and in the early months of 1952 the trend was sharply downhill.

Many complex factors may be at work. Perhaps the chief is that the pent-up post-war demand finally has been satisfied. Consumer resistance to the increasing cost of living may also, as one newspaper puts it, have thrown a spanner in the spindles.

CANADIANS CHOOSY
Textiles used to be Canada's biggest single import from Britain. In recent years Canadian customers have been more choosy and trade has diminished. Last year Canada bought 1,185,000 square yards of cotton piece goods compared with 1,845,000 square yards the previous year, and 219,000 square yards of rayon piece goods against 318,000.

Now, with import restrictions in the sterling area forcing British manufacturers to look elsewhere, the North American market will be increasingly important. Canadian officials in London are not hopeful that anything substantial can be done in textiles. The slump here coincides with a vigorous campaign by Canadian textile industry for increased protection.
Employment in Canadian mills has dropped by 10 per cent, while the Canadian share of the domestic market fell from 63 per cent in 1950 to 53 per cent in 1951.

Thus for Britain the outlook appears gloomy. Already newspapers are publishing stories of the plight of European volunteer workers, many of whom have no savings to cushion them against prolonged unemployment.
One hope appears to be that the growing rearmament program may absorb some of those no longer needed in the mills.

Rocky Throws Wouters With 1st Round TKO
MINNEAPOLIS (CP) — Rocky Graziano last night scored a technical knockout victory over Roy Wouters of Vancouver in the first round of a scheduled 10-round bout. Referee stopped the fight after 2:45 of the first round. Graziano weighed 164 lbs. Wouters 162.

Police Catch Up With Man Who Jumped Bail

A Victoria man, who jumped $1000 bail after having been charged with false pretences in the capital city, is still in the Prince Rupert General Hospital while Detective N. Bath of Victoria awaits his recovery to escort him south.

Immediately on his return to Victoria Emile Calve, aged 44, will appear in police court there for preliminary hearing on a charge of obtaining $75 from Woodward's Limited by false pretences.

He was to have appeared in Victoria for preliminary hearing February 23 but failed to show up and the police went on his trail.

Last week he was located at Kemano and was brought on here. Then he took ill.

Plane Crash Is Seen by Boys

HALIFAX — Royal Canadian Air Force search planes were out today to search a canyon in the Dalhousie area where boys reported they had seen wreckage of a plane with men sitting within. It might have been the Maritime Central Airways plane which has been missing since the end of the week on a flight from St. John, New Brunswick, to Goose Bay, Labrador.

No Marijuana Smokes Here

R.C.M.P. Spokesman Spikes Current Rumor

Royal Canadian Mounted Police were asked by the Daily News today for a statement regarding reports that marijuana smoking had started among young people in Prince Rupert.

"There is nothing to back it up, nothing to substantiate the report," said one police spokesman.

An idle boast by one girl that she had smoked doped cigarettes may have led to the rumors, it was stated. The boast was investigated.

Asking Beef Floor Price

OTTAWA—The federal government was asked by representatives of prairie farmers' unions yesterday to establish floor prices on beef.

Meeting yesterday with Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of trade and commerce, and Hon. Stewart Garson, minister of justice, J. L. Phelps, president of the Saskatchewan Farmers' Union, asked for a minimum price of 28 1/2¢ per pound for prairie farmers on best quality beef.

The government was also asked to break the provincial embargoes against livestock and dressed meat from the prairie provinces unless the appeal to the provinces themselves was acceded to.

The Farmers' Union representatives also took up the matter of government grain prices and asked that No. 1 northern wheat be raised from $1.80 to $2.35.

Bad Floods In Alberta

Sudden Mild Weather Causing Washouts as Rivers and Streams Swell

MEDICINE HAT — Southern Alberta was threatened today with widespread floods from swelling rivers and streams due to sudden mild weather and rains. Unless the weather becomes colder, it may be the worst flood season the area has had.

Around Medicine Hat people have already been rendered homeless. At least one railway bridge is out.

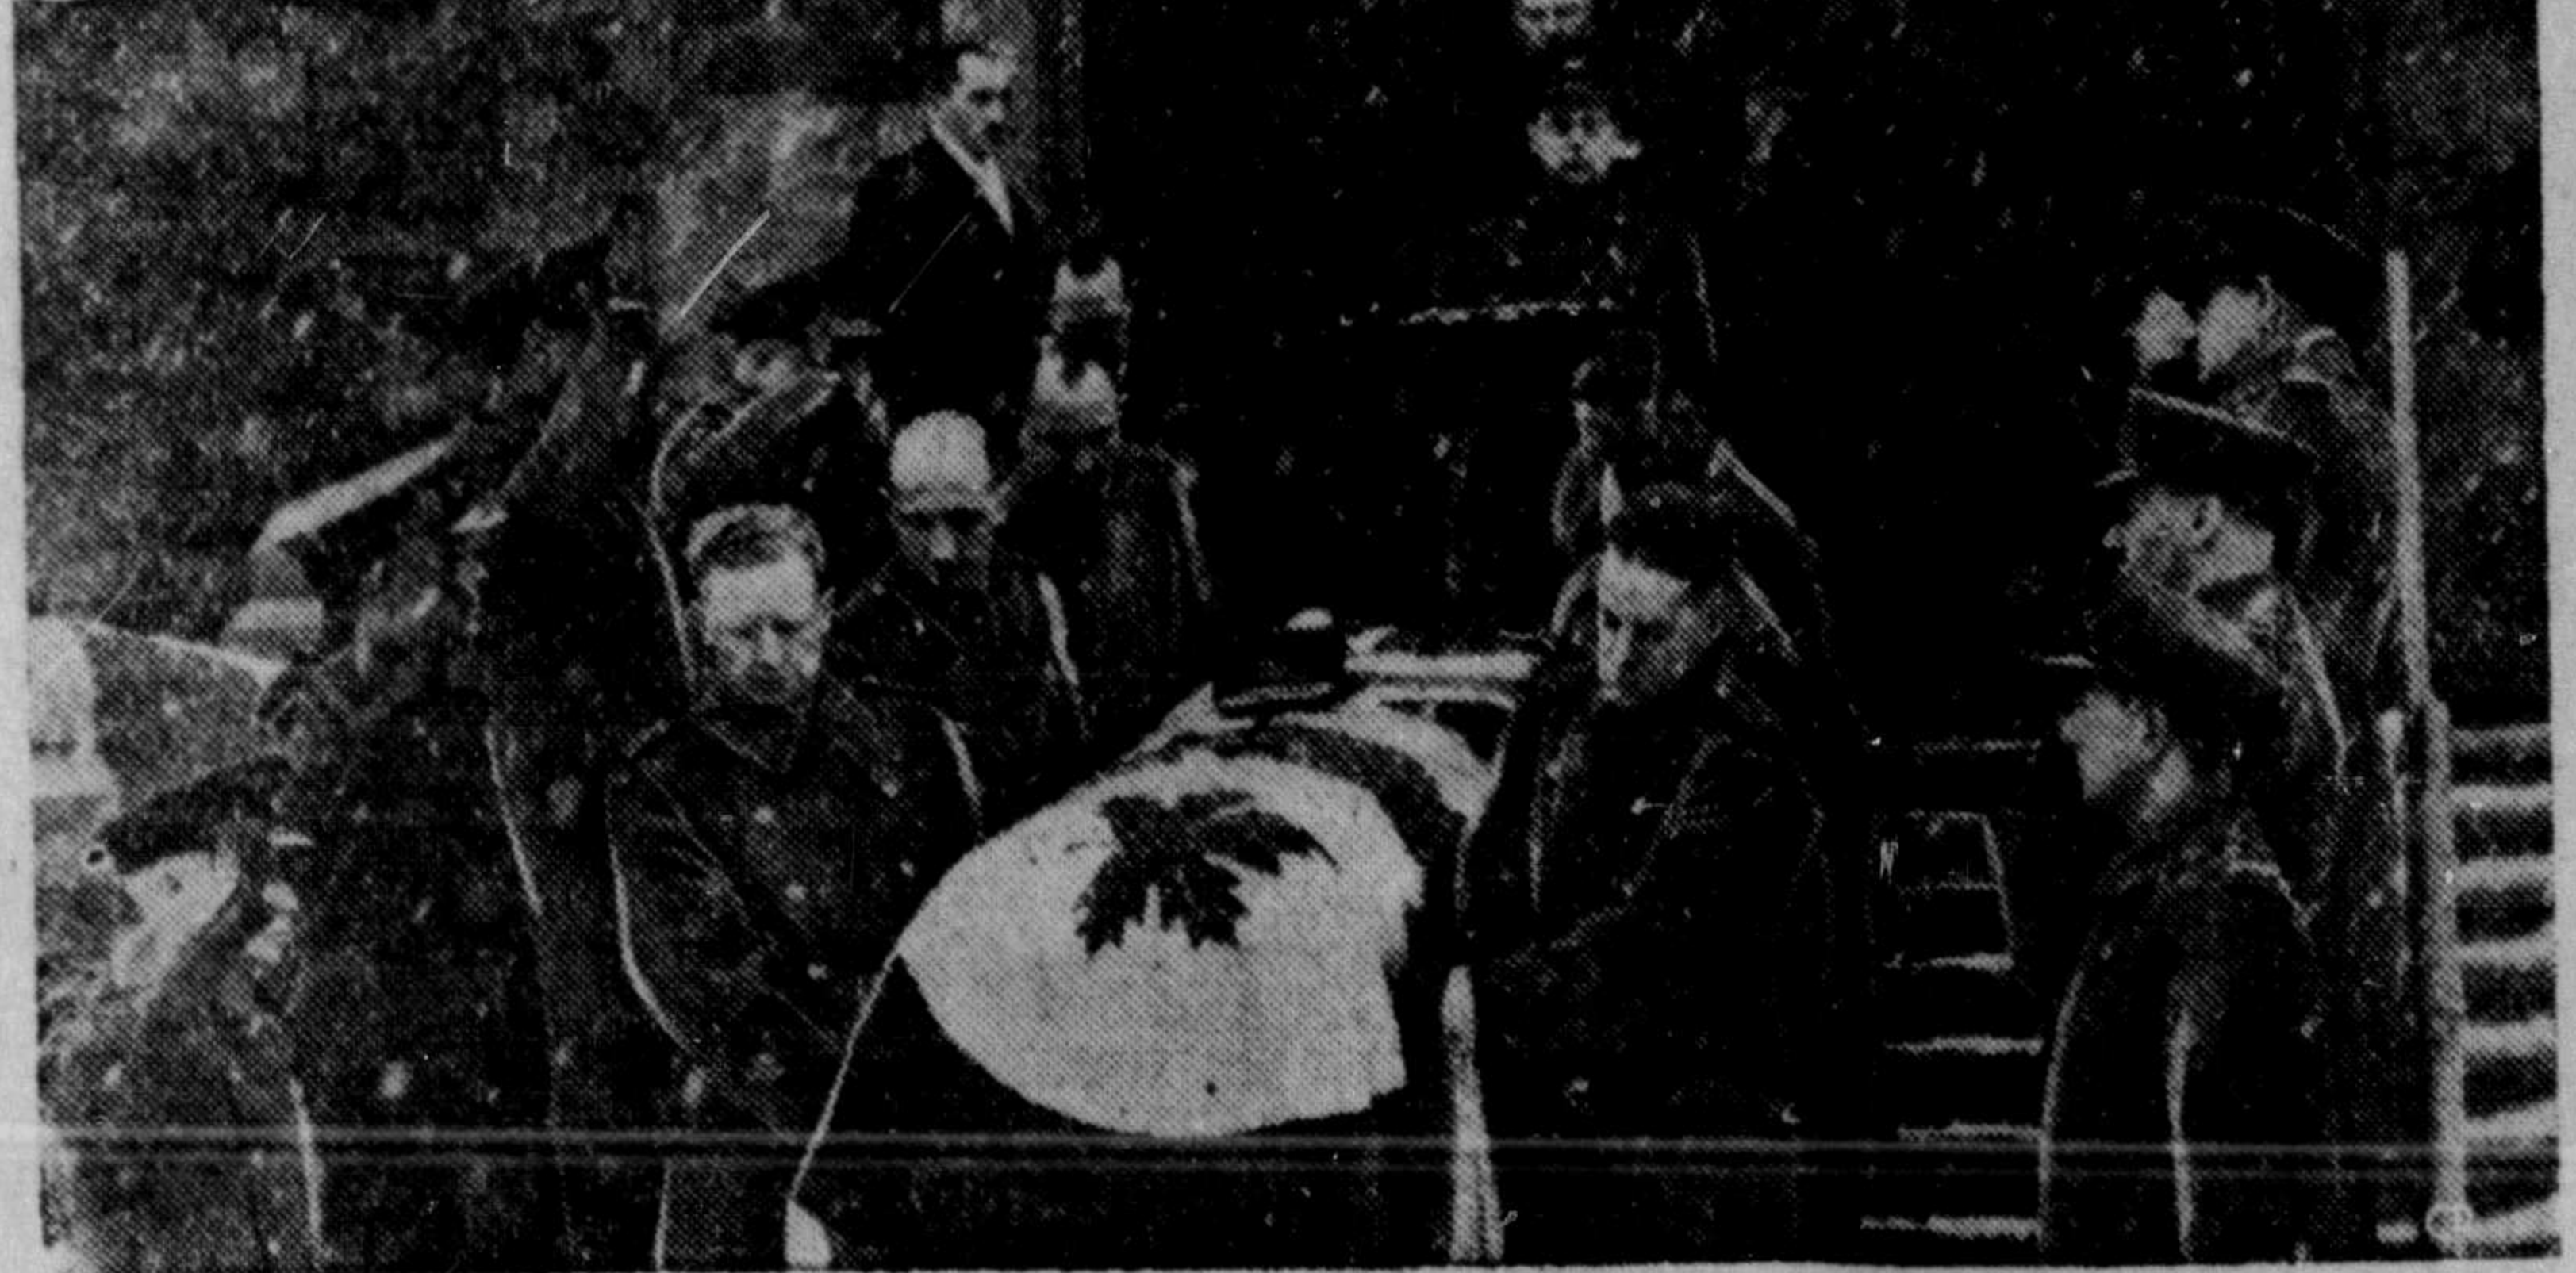

Trains east of Calgary have been held up with the track of the Canadian Pacific Railway washed out in at least six places near Lethbridge.

To Encourage Travel Here

VICTORIA—The Department of Trade and Industry will spend $55,550 on newspaper and magazine advertising with a view to encouraging visitors to come to the azure advertising in Eastern province. There will also be advertising spending within the province to encourage people to see other parts than that in which they live.

Air Force Is Inadequate

LONDON — "The Royal Air Force is far from adequate either to defend our country or to play its part in the defence of Europe," declared George Ward, Under Secretary for Air, in the House of Commons here.
"We would be woefully inadequate," he said, "if we had not powerful allies in the North Atlantic treaty organization."

AIR CHIEF'S FUNERAL—Warrant Officers of the RCAF carry the coffin of Air Chief Marshal L. S. Breadner, 58, former RCAF chief of staff, who died in Boston March 14. An officer walking behind the coffin carries his decorations and medals on a cushion. The only Canadian to attain the rank of Air Chief Marshal he was buried with full military honors in Ottawa. Air Chief Marshal Breadner was returning to Ottawa from Florida—where he had gone under doctor's orders for his health—when he was stricken in Boston and taken to a hospital where he died. Canadiens and Red Wings Take Strong NHL Play-off Lead

Montreal Victory Costly Through Loss of Mosdell—Broda Fails to Inspire Leafs

MONTREAL (CP) — Rookie Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion fired three goals and Montreal Canadiens, with sensational goal tending by Gerry McNeil, blasted Boston Bruins Thursday night for Montreal's second straight victory in the Stanley Cup semi-finals.

Rookie John Wilson's first period goal, which the veteran Turk Broda, playing in his tenth Stanley Cup play-off and brought back from virtual retirement, gave Detroit Red Wings a 1 to 0 victory over Toronto. Like the Canadiens, they, too, have a two-game lead in their best-of-seven semi-final series.

Montreal scored their triumph on home ice.
The Canadiens travel to Boston for the third game of the best-of-seven series Sunday.
Detroit's victory was also on home ice.

House Approves Health Charges

LONDON — A government bill to impose small charges for medicine and other items in Britain's national health service cleared its first big hurdle in the House of Commons early Friday.

By a vote of 304 to 279 the House rejected a Labor party motion to kill the bill on its second reading.

Six Liberals joined Labor in voting to kill the bill.

"Menace to Community," Says Mr. Justice Clynne At Nanaimo Assize

NANAIMO — Gordon Jackson, 26-year-old fisherman, convicted of manslaughter in the rifle death of his brother, was sentenced to life imprisonment yesterday.

The brother, Percy Jackson, 25, of Quatsino Sound, was shot to death last September 27 during a drinking brawl.
"You are a menace to the community," Mr. Justice John V. Clynne told Jackson. "It is unsafe for you to be at large."

Mrs. John Wick, Mrs. Bernhof Pedersen and son, Rolf, and Mrs. Martha Johansen are leaving on tonight's train for New York where they will embark April 5 on the steamer Oslfjord for a visit to their native homes in Norway. All are well known members of the local Norwegian community.

Proper Business

WHETHER the exchange rates are favorable or whether they are not, the government services should do business like other people have to do in the matter of handling United States money. In fact, such places as the Post Office (and the liquor store) should set the example in good business methods and service.

It is pretty ridiculous that the Post Office, as it is doing, should just not accept American money because there is a discount against it at the bank and, if the clerks take it, they have to pay the discount themselves. Naturally, if that is the best the Post Office authorities can do, the money has to be turned down with all the inconvenience and ill feeling that may be entailed.

There will be a lot of American money offered at the Post Office here this year, particularly by the thousands of tourists, and the government should at least arrange to accept that money, even if it does involve a charge being made. It should be easy enough to make the arrangement.

It's just poor business if the Post Office is going to say unceremoniously to its American patrons: "Take your money away! We do not want it!"

The Post Office did not say that when American money was at a premium and we do not remember the premium being allowed either.

The whole thing may not seem too important but the principle is wrong.

Conquer Cancer Here

PRINCE RUPERT'S annual Conquer Cancer Campaign will be held soon.

Canadians who enlist in the campaign against cancer will, this year, have the satisfaction of knowing that they are part of a truly international crusade. The International Union Against Cancer, working under the auspices of the World Health Organization of the United Nations as co-ordinator of 55 countries, have now united their technical and voluntary resources against the disease.

The aims of the Society are three-fold. They are: education, research and welfare.

The Society's educational program is directed toward acquainting people with the need for early diagnosis and adequate treatment; and toward dispelling the sense of fear which has existed for too long a period of time.

As far as research is concerned, much emphasis can be put upon this aspect of the Society's endeavors. Cancer continues to baffle our doctors and scientists. We must encourage them to pursue their investigations aimed toward the ultimate eradication of one of the worst human scourges of all time.

In the field of welfare the British Columbia Division helps needy cancer sufferers with costs of transportation to and from a treatment centre; with nursing home care; with drugs; and with house-keeper service in the home. The Society does not pay for diagnosis or treatment but its welfare program ensures that a cancer sufferer need not delay treatment because of inability to meet these additional and related costs.

Prince Rupert will come more fully under the Cancer Society's benefactions with the first traveling clinic due to visit here next week.

Pots of shamrock were seen in the House of Commons on St. Patrick's Day and, generally speaking, the austere chamber was not above committing quite a few "shenanigans." Well, the Prime Minister's mother was Irish although it must be admitted that St. Laurent does not sound like Erin's Isle.

PLENTY ALREADY!

Canada has enough problems without presuming to assist South Africa in helping solve troubles of her own. It's there they belong exclusively and not in Canada on the other side of the world. Some misguided individuals have been wondering if Johannesburg would not like to hear a few suggestions from Ottawa.

When he says your face looks familiar, that's what he's trying to be!

The moving of business premises from Third Avenue to Third Street was accomplished this week—the first time such an operation has been seen in years. Another building on Third Avenue, some years ago, attempted a forward movement all on its own, but received no encouragement. It's still on the same site when it was erected 43 years ago.

EACH WAS A HIT

Another song writer, whose simple melodies had a virtue that gave power, has passed away. He was Percy Wenrich, 72, of New York. His songs? One can mention a few. "Put On Your Old Grey Bonnet." Do we ever hear it hummed today? Hardly. Or "When You Wore a Tulip and I Wore a Big Red Rose."

Canadian casualties in Korea total 713 with 131 dead and 517 wounded. There's nothing cold about that.

The SPCA of Victoria feel indignant. It seems an old lady with enough money to keep more than a hundred cats as pets died recently, with instructions to destroy all the toms and tabbies. There must have been a poor shot somewhere for the casualty list included wounded. Hence, SPCA wrath, which was to be expected. A cat is a useful and harmless little creature, and even a hundred can be distributed among homes or aboard ships to advantage, no matter how their original owner felt concerning their fate.

That New Anthem

THE Conservative London Spectator is an excellent weekly. But surely it made a mistake when it picked the following as the prize winner in the contest for a substitute fifth verse in God Save the Queen:

Not for these isles alone Endures thine ancient throne. The verse goes on to say that in lands across the sea, proud nations brave and free acclaim "Our Queen."

But she is our Canadian Queen too; and we Canadians would feel pretty silly singing "not for THESE isles" when THOSE isles are thousands of miles away.

NOW THAT we have a queen again I realize how old I am, and also how far the world has moved in the RIGHT direction in a half century. I started to school in 1902, a couple of years after Queen Victoria died.

But as the older members of the family all sang the words of

THE SOLDIERS OF THE QUEEN, I knew them off by heart even then.

"It's the soldiers of the Queen, my lads, who've been my lads, who've seen my lads, in the fight for England's glory, lads, when we have to show them what we mean. And when we say we've always won, and when they ask us how it's done, we'll proudly point to every one of England's soldiers of the Queen."

You just could not get people to sing those blatantly jingo words now, unless they did it as a joke.

SOME WIT wants to know why I am so excited over a standard version of "O Canada." He says it does not make any difference what the verses are supposed to say — because most people just sing O Canada, O Canada, O Canada over and over and over again right through the whole song.

One year I went on a coast to coast lecture tour for the Canadian Club and so had a chance to compare the way they sing "O Canada," right across the country. Of course the French Canadians sing it with far more verve and vitality and what they call "elan" than the rest of us do.

But in English speaking Canada I only found two cities where they played the song and sang the song as anything but a dirge. They were Winnipeg and Nanaimo. In most other places they droned it out like a dead march.

BUT I don't feel so ashamed of Canadians not knowing "O Canada" when I go down to the States. For there you soon find that hardly any Americans really know "The Spangled Banner" right through either.

I get a lift out of many good

Entry List Yet for and Drama Festival

Entry list since its inception has been re-ear for the fifth annual Music and Drama four-day event which opens here May 6. with 250 entries on hand, said Mrs. MDf president.

Among the entries, which include participants from Terrace, Ketchikan and the northern Indian village of Aiyansh, the pianoforte class tops the list with 96. There are 23 junior school and church choirs and two adult choirs; eleven instrumental groups; 14 dancing ensembles and 63 candidates in the drama department.

Plans have been under way to provide two $100 scholarships, one each in music and drama, for outstanding performers. But Mrs. Becker says some financial aid will be needed and the Association will welcome any contribution for this purpose.

If there is a financial surplus after the festival operating expenses and next year's operating expenses have been accounted for some contribution will be made towards defraying travelling expenses of visiting participants, said Mrs. Becker.

New Courts on Second Avenue to be Opened Soon

Another sport is headed for an appearance soon in uptown Prince Rupert with opening of the Rotary tennis court this spring and the first game played may be a Rotary-Gyro Club challenge.

Rotarians heard member Bob McKay report Thursday afternoon the court would be ready for hard-surfacing within a few days, weather permitting. A Rotary Club project for some time, the court is located on city park land near First, Second and Third Avenue intersection.

The challenge was suggested by Tony Crawley. Others supported it and the idea will be considered.

Harry Black reported the Rotary Sunday concert had been successful. The luncheon meeting endorsed recommendations of directors, one of which was for the nominating committee to return a list of candidates by April 3 for annual elections to be held soon after that date.

Visitors and guests were J. C. Chislett, plant supervisor of Canadian National Telegraphs, of Edmonton, and Thomas Woods, inspector of C. N. Telegraphs, Smithers.

A letter to the editor dealing with the question of daylight saving has been received at the Daily News office. If the writer of the letter would advise the editor of his identity and sign same, it could be published. Letters to the editor must show their origin.

Forest Bug Class Here

Forestry staff of the British Columbia Forest Service and the Columbia Cellulose Co. have been back to school for a couple of days with D. H. Smith, forest entomologist for the Dominion Science Service in Victoria, as their teachers. Classes were held at the common lounge in the Civic Centre and some twenty foresters were brought up to date by lectures and pictures and with reference to insects.

Mr. Smith said that insects rated perhaps as high as forest fires in the damage done to trees and the forest wealth. He discussed measures of controlling insect ravages, describing the insects and telling how to identify them. He enlightened the field staff on problems of particular interest to this part of the country.

The classes here were organized by L. B. Boulton of the Forest Branch office here and R. C. Telford of the Columbia Cellulose Co.

Mr. Smith left on last night's train for Terrace to conduct similar classes there.

Grandpa Is Tops As Baby Sitter

MONTREAL (CP)—Fred Harding, one of the oldest baby-sitters in this city at 70, can change a diaper, prepare a formula, feed a baby, mind four children and it's no "bother at all."

He took over his wife's clientele a few years ago when she was bedridden, and Mrs. Harding has been trying to get her job back ever since—without success.

Mr. Harding holds the same formula for ruling children as Hollywood's Mr. Belvedere—Clifton Webb.

"Children aren't hard to handle, you just have to know when to be firm with them," he says.

And parents say that he seems to know just when to rule with an iron hand and when to play.

"He's taking all my business from me," says his wife, "and when mothers call to make appointments I can hear the kids yelling 'we want Harding.'"

The 70-year-old sitter is called "grampa" and "gramps" and just plain Harding by his 75 "customers."

Any Old Suit in a Brainstorm Bidding Pays Off Big for Miss Brash This Time

Miss Lucy Brash's fantastically optimistic bidding hands her opponents some big penalties. On the other hand, there are times when they think they have her—and they don't. Like in today's hand, for example.

Mr. Champion was licking his chops from the moment Miss Brash opened the bidding with one spade. He never dreamed his poor opponents would end up in a spade contract—and especially at the level of four.

Of course you and I wouldn't consider opening the South hand with a spade. But to Miss Brash, any old suit is biddable as long as it has at least four cards.

LAUGHS

Mr. Champion laughed aloud when Miss Brash redoubled. He whispered something to the assembled kibitzers about women bridge players. "They don't seem to get the essential feel of the cards," he said pompously.

It was fortunate for Mr. Champion that he got his laugh in at this particular time. He had no chance later. He took exactly one trick on the hand.

His opening lead was the king of clubs. Miss Brash ruffed, led a spade and showed no surprise when dummy's eight spot held. She returned the 10 of hearts and let it ride. She took another heart finesse, then cashed the ace, felling Mr. Abel's king.

SWETS

When a fourth heart was led, Mr. Champion had begun to sweat. He ruffed with the nine of spades and was over-ruffed by dummy's 10. Miss Brash entered her hand by ruffing a club and led her last heart.

In exasperation, Mr. Champion ruffed again—and again was over-ruffed by dummy. Another club was ruffed in the closed hand, getting everybody down to four cards.

Mr. Champion had the king of spades and his original three diamonds. Dummy had the ace of spades, the jack of diamonds and two clubs, both high.

WHO'S CRAZY?

Miss Brash had her original Therefore, he led the nine of diamonds and Mr. Champion won with the queen. He couldn't return the king of spades as

Maple Sap Runs Slow

SPARTA, Ont.—Seven hundred sap pails have been set up in W. B. Roberts sugar bush, but maple sap is running very slowly. Warmer weather is needed. There is only a dribble from the trees so far this season.

The ideal maple syrup weather calls for warm days and frosts at night—but not too heavy frosts and not too chilly daylight hours.

Game Council Sees Victory in Conservation

This is the final of a two-article series by zone representative and director Jarvis McLeod, explaining the work of B. C. Game Council. Mr. McLeod urges the support of all sportsmen.

By JARVIS McLEOD

One of the greatest victories won by the B. C. Game Council is the increase of the B. C. Commission's budget. After a long fight, assistance has finally been given that 75 per cent of all received through the Game Department will be turned over to the commission.

In many years sportsmen of the province felt the Game Commission was under financed. The Fish and Game Commission demanded that all be derived from wildlife be returned to the province for its use only. This money derived from tourist camp operators, trappers, sport hunters, fishermen, more should be spent on sport fish hatcheries, law enforcement officers, research of wildlife propo-

After resolution presented to the government asking for this, but always the same answer, "No." Sportsmen have always felt was not any point in raising fees when all such went into the fund of revenue. But with the increase of more funds for the commission, the council recommended in recommending an increase in licence fees. The increase becomes law April 1, so progress has been made for better conservation.

Conservation is another facet of the council's work. The council operates a film from which films are made to all Rod and Gun clubs throughout the province. Recently, the local club showed films at its annual picnic. Films, "Realm of the Skena River Trappers" and "Two of the finest ever seen on wildlife." Fish Board Okays Pact

JUNEAU (AP) — The Alaska fisheries board has approved the American-Canadian-Japanese fisheries agreement at its annual meeting here.

In an official statement, the group said it could see no reason to change its earlier approval of the agreement. Members said that opposition comes only from those who are not fully informed and from those who refuse to face the fact that Japan is once more a sovereign nation with all the rights of other nations to freedom of the seas.

However, the board urged the inclusion of an Alaskan on the board governing the international fishing agreement. And it recommended that species of fish other than salmon, halibut and herring be included under the protective measures.

Looks Like Inside Job

Farrington "Cigarette Case"
Proceeds in County Court

A former wholesale warehouse receiver told county court Judge W. O. Fulton yesterday afternoon it was "practically impossible" for anyone but warehouse employees to remove goods such as cigarettes from the premises.

Lionel Dixon, called as witness by the crown in the Farrington "cigarette case" told the court all cigarettes at the Kelly-Douglas Co. Ltd. warehouse were kept in a "bonded or strong room" under lock and key. If cigarettes were stolen he thought it likely such an act would have been done by employees.

Frederick Farrington is on speedy trial on a charge of retaining 23,300 stolen cigarettes, property of Kelly-Douglas.

Crown evidence alleges accused was "making a deal" to sell the cigarettes to a former city cafe owner November 23, when he (Farrington) was apprehended by an RCMP corporal and constable. A truck which figured in the "deal" belonged to Dixon, who testified accused had asked him for permission to use the truck November 22.

Dixon was at that time employed as receiver of the warehouse but had not returned to his job after November 23 "because I wanted to wait until all this was cleared up."

"By all this, you mean the Farrington case?" asked Crown Prosecutor T. W. Brown, KC.

In cross-examination, Defence Counsel Doug Hogarth asked Dixon why he quit. He gave a similar answer but added that the manager, of Kelly-Douglas had seen him the following day to say he (Dixon) was not under suspicion in connection with the missing cigarettes.

Under further cross-examination, Dixon replied he thought it "likely" that, if cigarettes were stolen from the warehouse, it must have been done by employees.

"You didn't take cigarettes, did you?" asked Mr. Hogarth.

"No, I didn't," Dixon said that when he received valuable merchandise, such as cigarettes, from cartage trucks, he signed the bill of lading. Then the merchandise was loaded on to an elevator and delivered to a second-storey strong room, where it was "signed in" again.

The strong room "or bonded room" was always locked, said Dixon. He did not have a key, he said, nor had he a key to the warehouse.

Witness said orders about signing for and accounting for every piece of valuable merchandise were "very strict" especially after a case of cigarettes had been found missing earlier, "about a month before."

In previous evidence, C. N. Parker, Kelly-Douglas manager, also testified a case of cigarettes had been missing in October. No trace of it had ever been found, he said.

RCMP Corporal Anderson and Constable Martin both testified they had received telephone calls from cafe owner Jack Clough afternoon of November 23, with information which led them to the Three Sisters cafe. There they had seen Farrington and Clough enter the rear of the cafe with two cases of cigarettes which the police had seized. Farrington was apprehended, following questioning.

A panel-delivery truck had been parked near the cafe, from which, Clough testified, Farrington had handed him a case of cigarettes and had taken another. Police witnesses said it was the same truck later claimed by Dixon as his own.
