Doubting Thomas

THERE was one of the disciples, Thomas Didymus, who was not present when Jesus first reappeared among his followers after the crucifixion.

"Jesus saith unto him, Thomas, because thou hast seen me, thou hast believed: blessed are they that have not seen, and yet have believed."

Thomas' failing was that he needed all the facts before making up his mind. In lesser circumstances it might be called a virtue, but at that particular time it was in effect a disloyalty.

The "doubting Thomas" is not unusual. Today, in fact, he is the realist, the man from Missouri who must be shown. He is essentially a logical person and, perhaps for that reason, a discontented one.

That individual is, of course, quite right and quite safe. He is also barely more than half alive.

Tomorrow we celebrate the resurrection of One who lifted the thoughts of men above caution and their own security, who showed them and has shown ever since that the impossible can be accomplished and that actions which come from an unselfish heart are the most rewarding.

In acting on the theory that the only way to believe is to see, Thomas denied himself the one human gift that might have helped him when the facts were too much for his faith. It was the gift of hope.

This Easter there is reason to hope that men of all nations are drawing closer to a common understanding. If we leave it to the "doubting Thomases" this hope will never be realized.

As I See It

THE GENEVA conference has two strikes against it before it starts—and they are both due to the go-it-alone policy which John Foster Dulles is pursuing.

First, Mr. Dulles told the world in general and China in particular that the U.S.A. would refuse point blank to recognize the real government of China.

Second, Mr. Dulles asked the allies for a joint declaration on Indo-China, so harsh and so uncompromising that it would cut the ground from under the very feet of the negotiators before they start work.

Finally, to underline his hard-boiled approach, Mr. Dulles tells the American public that China is "awful close" to a degree of intervention in the Indo-China war which would induce the USA to take drastic retaliatory steps against her.

ON THE first point, there is not too much allied resentment. Whether the U.S. recognizes the real government of China is of course the business of the people and government of the USA.

MR. DULLES is completely right in warning the west that a total Communist victory in Indo-China would have far reaching consequences. But the plain fact of the matter is that it would be impossible to get the western nations to send contingents of troops to fight in Indo-China.

Obviously, one of the reasons British industry has landed orders on this scale is because British businessmen have visited Moscow in person to solicit trade. Indeed, some British businessmen still are in the Russian Capital.

It is clear from the latest press releases from the High Commissioner's office here that the United Kingdom proposes to give high priority to policies of trade with Iron Curtain countries.

I DO NOT believe that atomic bombing or hydrogen bombing of Chinese cities would end the wars and other troubles in Asia—but on the contrary I believe such bombing would come dangerously close to smashing the western alliance.

The Dulles approach is the wrong approach. The only hope of averting a human disaster of titanic proportions is an agreement to live and let live, by the rivals.

OTTAWA DIARY

There are definite signs in the Capital here of the growing impatience of Canadian industry with the slow pace at which plans for trade with Soviet Russia are maturing.

One such sign was the sharp re-acton in Toronto and Montreal financial and industrial circles against the recent speech of PC Leader George Drew advising caution in the matter of Soviet trade.

Actually, the source of the impatience of the Canadian industrialists lies in the reports of juicy Russian orders which have been going to British industry in recent weeks.

Obviously, one of the reasons British industry has landed orders on this scale is because British businessmen have visited Moscow in person to solicit trade. Indeed, some British businessmen still are in the Russian Capital.

New Building Ready by May 1

A new combined warehouse and office building being erected at Oceanside Cannery by the Canadian Fish Company, is expected to be ready for occupancy by May 1.

The new structure, a two-storey wooden building measuring about 39 by 55 feet will include warehouse facilities on the ground floor and offices on the second floor.

Work on the project started about three weeks ago.

Car Owners Can Cut Costs

According to the 1954 edition of the Canadian Motorists' Handbook, just off the press, the average car owner can cut his driving costs by several hundreds of dollars a year by proper timing of inspections and adjustments to his car, and by skillful driving.

While the modern complex car needs the care of a qualified service operator, if he wants to avoid costly repair bills, the car owner must have some knowledge of his car's needs so that he will know just when he should take it in to have it checked and serviced.

The new edition also shows common bad driving habits which add many dollars to driving costs and are responsible for most accidents. Other features of the new book are—a table showing traffic rules in all provinces; an outline of the legal liability of a car owner or driver to the public, to his passengers, to his employees, etc.

A TISKET, a tasket, a wire paper basket—that's the song Ivy Polar Bear sings as she catches the container which someone threw to her at London's Zoo (top). And what does she do with it (bottom) but fashion it into an Easter bonnet that she'll wear in the Easter Parade—with all the chills upon it.

Attend CHURCH SUNDAY

Saturday Sermon

By CANON BASIL S. PROCKTER, St. Andrew's Cathedral
THE LORD'S DAY.—Revelation 1:10

Easter Day is all the Sundays of the year brought into one focus, just like the colors of the spectrum being combined to give clear light.

It is also all our Christian life and belief also brought into one focus ... the focus of hope ... in which we must live and in which we must die. So, there is a logic about assembling for worship at this time even for those who seldom do this.

The validity of our worship fortunately does not depend on us so much as it does on the direction of the worship. Sincerity matters, but don't be too worried about the thought of consistency. For you cannot tell to what extent you will be the prey of your emotions, your temptations, and the frailty of your physical being next week or tomorrow.

If, at this moment you will acknowledge the power and love of the living Christ, you are living in the eternity of this moment and perhaps there is no other kind of eternity than that of the moment, for us creatures of time. Which is why the Bible says, "Today, if we will hear His voice, harden not your hearts." And again, "Now, is the day of salvation."

From the Gospel record it seems that the resurrection life of our biological existence impinge at three points. First, He was recognized in a garden. From this can be concluded that when we are walking in and working with the natural world, we are not far from "that world." Second, He was recognized at a meal. In the fellowship of food, we are not far from "that world." Third, He was recognized by the scars. The pain and the wounds have, or can have, some eternal significance.

Tiny Tony Leswick Wins Cup For Wings

By W. R. WHEATLEY

DETROIT (CP)—The name of Anthony Joseph Leswick, tough little left-winger on Detroit Red Wings' No. 1 checking line, was written today in the annals of Stanley Cup hockey as the man with the golden goal.

It was Tony who fired the winning goal last night in the Red Wings' hard-earned but well-deserved 2-1 overtime victory over Montreal Canadiens.

That big goal for Tony and his mates meant the seventh and deciding game of the final, the massive cup itself and $18,000 in cash instead of the losers' $9,000.

TOUGH BREAK
As it turned out, the winning goal at 4:29 of overtime was a tough break for Canadiens who had put up a fighting battle against the National Hockey League champions. The puck whipped into the net off defenceman Doug Harvey's gloved hand.

It cost them the cup they had won only a year ago, and now it goes to the Red Wings for the sixth time since this city came into the NHL in 1926. Canadiens have also held it six times.

Floyd Curry had scored for Canadiens in the first period and Red Kelly for Detroit in the second.

The electrifying overtime goal came quickly and for a second the record hockey crowd in Olympia Stadium of 15,791 was stunned. Then bedlam broke loose.

Tony, who scored only six goals during the regular season, came coasting into the Montreal zone while tall Glen Skov, centre on Tony's line, went into the left corner. Skov dug out the puck and sent it across the front of the Montreal goal. Tony pounced on it and let drive from about 30 feet out.

Garry Gerry McNeil saw the shot coming and was set to play it. But Harvey stuck up his hand to block the shot. The puck struck his hand, caromed off and went into the net over McNeil's left shoulder.

That ended one of the most brilliant hockey battles of the series: A battle that went undecided through six games and was carried into overtime in the seventh before it was settled.

Only once before in Stanley Cup history has a seventh game been decided in overtime. That was in 1950, also in Detroit and also won by the Red Wings. It was a 4-3 decision over New York Rangers, and the man of the hour then, after 8:31 of a second overtime period, was Pete Babando.

Red Wings won the opening game 3-1 and lost the second by the same score here. They squelched Canadiens twice on Montreal ice, 5-2 and 2-0. The Montrealers struck back to win in Detroit, 1-0 in overtime, and in Montreal 4-1.

Ponce Fails To Come Through As Los Angeles Blanks Seals

By The Associated Press
He's still throwing the same knuckler and slider that he used with such devastating effect last season, when he won 23 games and lost 20, but Tony Ponce, workhorse of the San Francisco pitching staff, isn't winning games this year.

Tony came up to the Seals late last season after burning up the California League, and at 32 he was the Pacific Coast League's most sensational rookie.

But this year Ponce has lost his first two starts. He gave Los Angeles only three hits Friday night but two walks, an error and a pinch single by Max West in the eighth inning scored two runs and made Los Angeles a 2-0 winner. San Francisco got seven hits off Cal McLish and Ponce had the edge in all the statistics except the run column—the one that counts.

Oakland moved into a second place tie by tripping up Hollywood again, 8-1. The Oaks teed off on starter Rog Bowman, drove him out, and kept the attack against his successors. While Jim Atkins was holding the Stars to four hits, Oakland was pounding out 17.

Sacramento, although consigned to last place by the critics before the season started, apparently didn't read the notices. The Sacs whipped Seattle again Friday night, 10-9. It was the fifth straight for the Solors and they had to fight an uphill battle, scoring three runs in the eighth as Bob Dillinger and Hank Schenz hit consecutive triples to highlight the rally. The win boosted Sacramento into a tie for second with Oakland and shoved

Seattle into the second division. The fog was so thick in San Diego that the umpires finally were forced to call the game after five innings, but Buddy Peterson, Padre shortstop, and Harry Elliott, outfielder, were able to see the ball well enough to help pound out a 10-1 decision over league-leading Portland. They got three hits apiece and Jack Merson poyed a homer with two on in the San Diego cause.

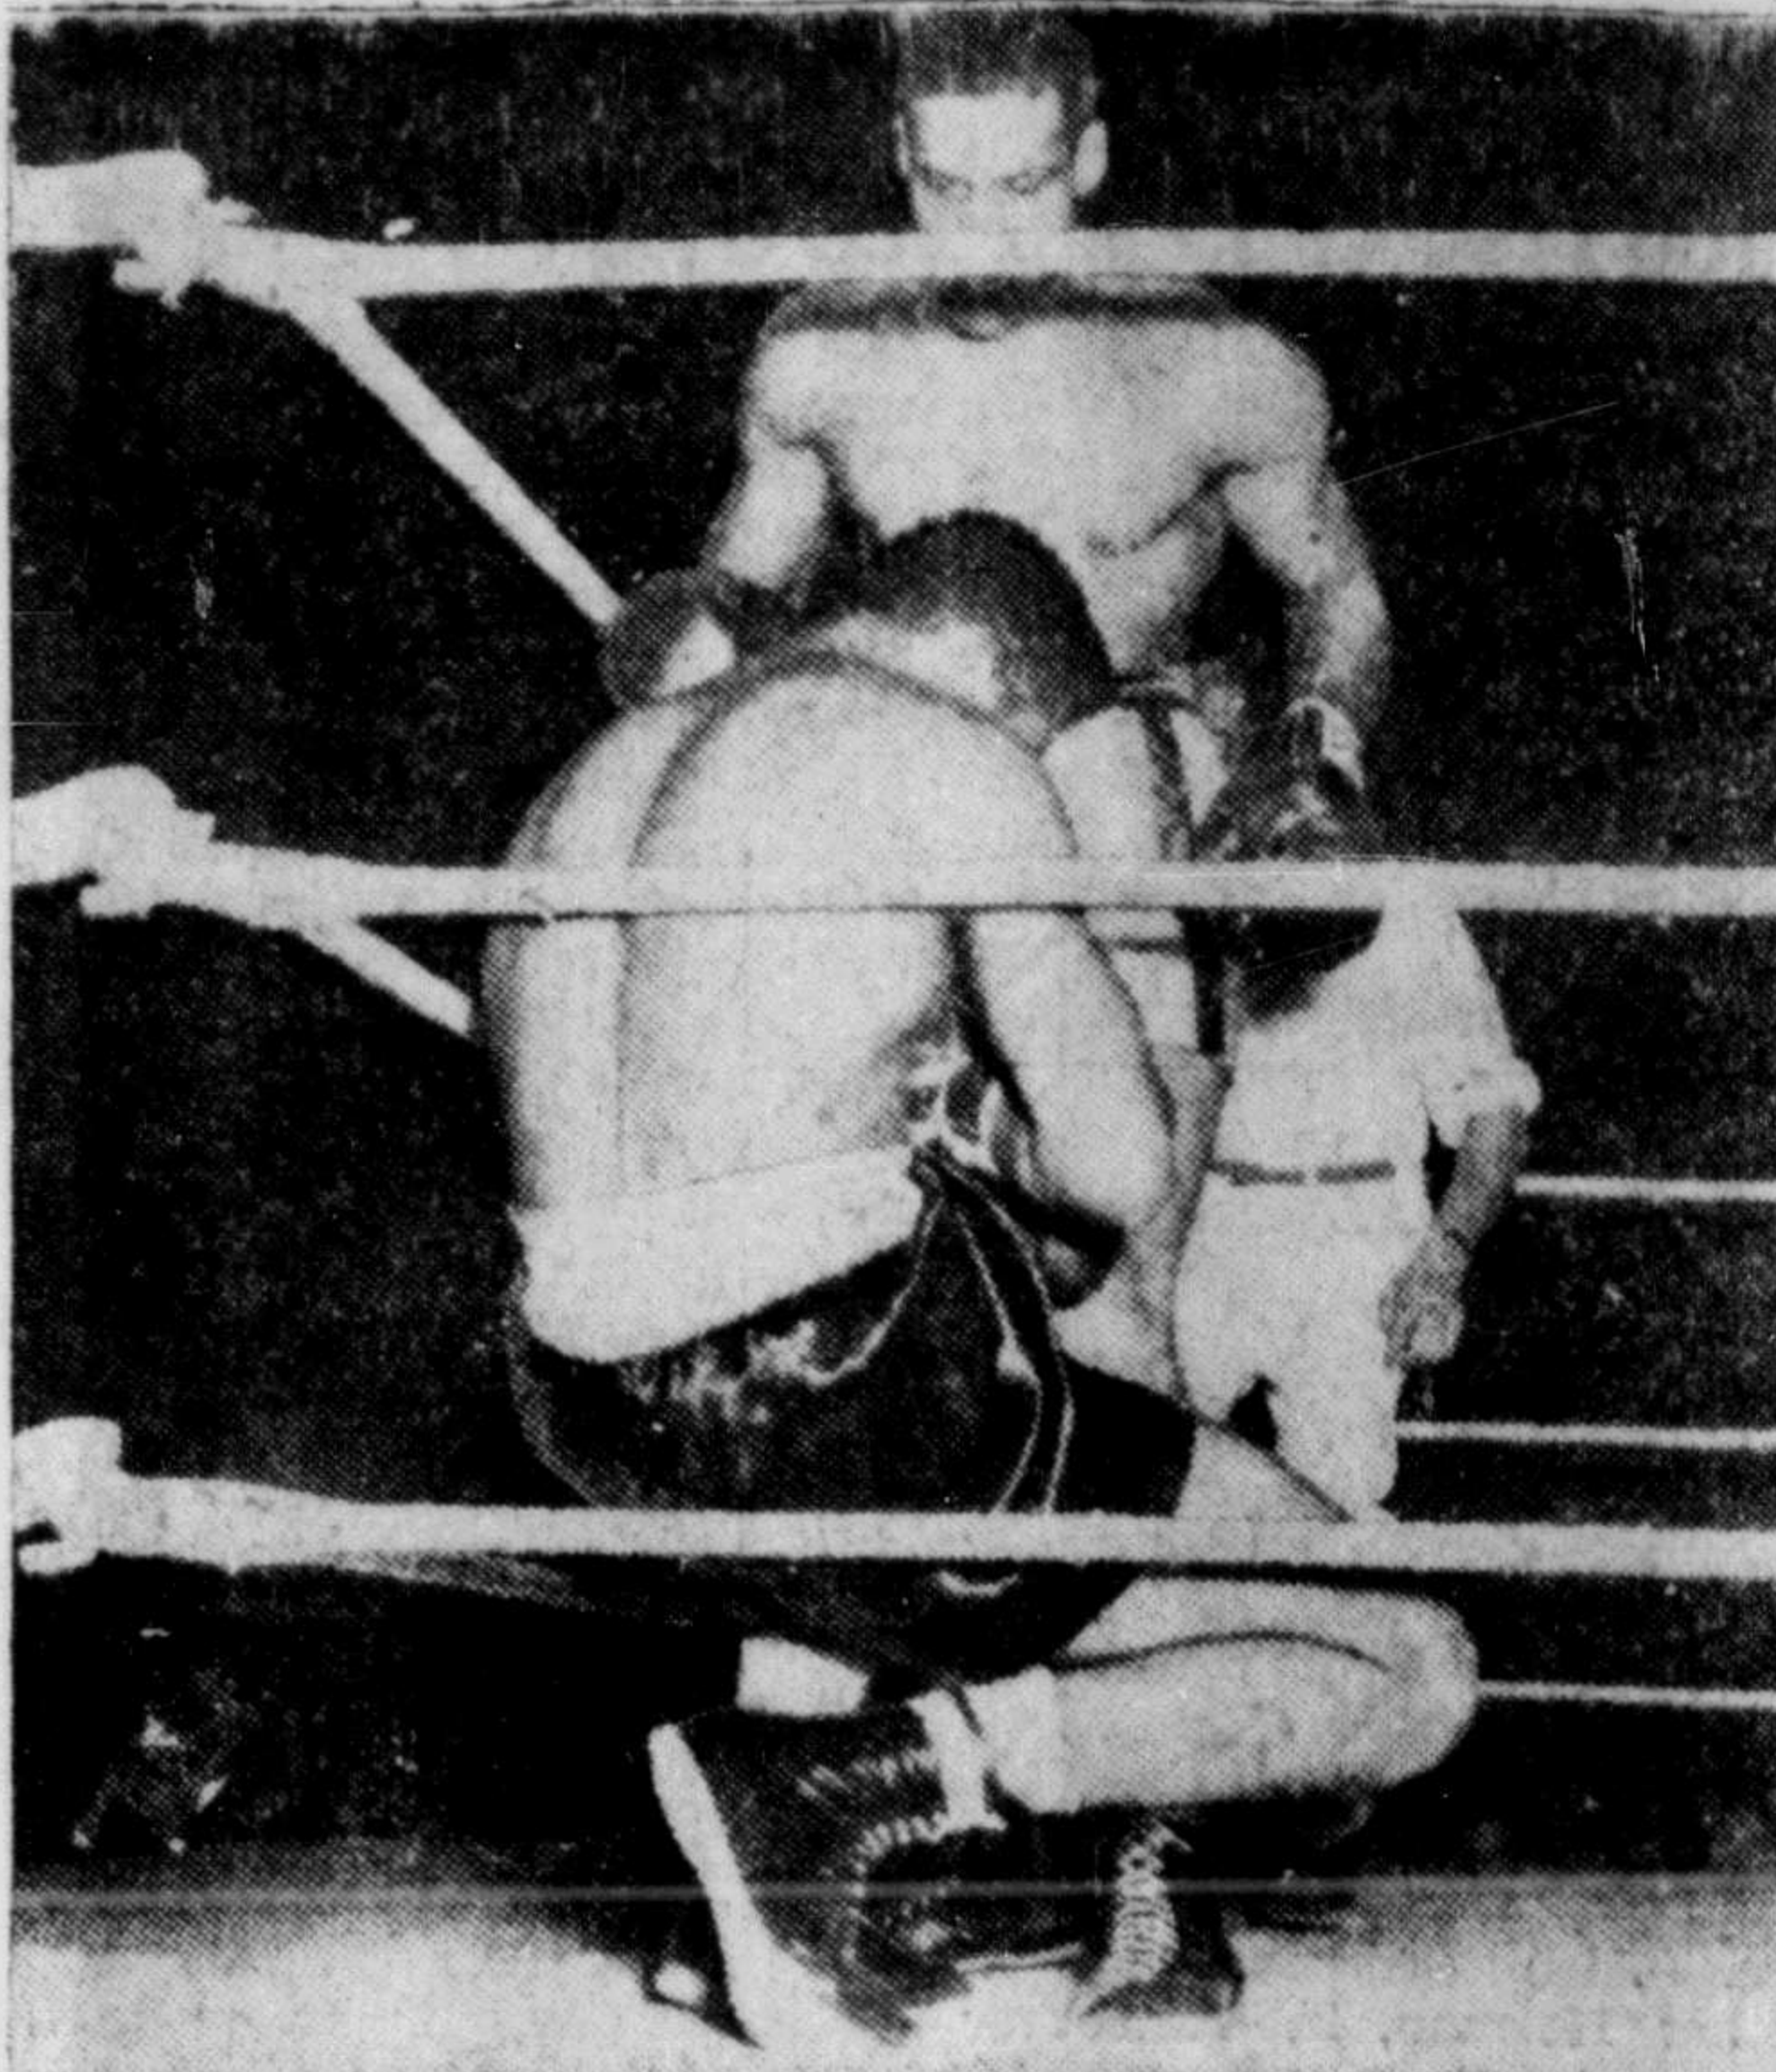

Walls' Manager Wants Decision On Beshore Fight

TORONTO (CP)—Sid Jones, manager of Earl Walls, Canadian heavyweight boxing champion, said Friday he has wired the Edmonton athletic commission and promoter Jack Berry for a decision on a Freddy Beshore-Walls bout.

The fight was scheduled for last March 8 and was postponed when Walls suffered a hand injury.

The Canadian Boxing Federation placed a temporary ban on Walls until investigation proved he could not have gone through with the fight at that time.

The suspension was lifted in time for Walls' fight with Tommy Harrison of Los Angeles here last Monday. Walls lost a 10-round decision to Harrison in their first meeting and knocked him out in the first round of the rematch.

A TIGERISH EARL WALLS of Toronto blasts Tommy Harrison of Los Angeles to the canvas in a dramatic first-round knockout in their scheduled 10-round heavyweight fight at Toronto, Walls, Canadian heavyweight champion who lost a decision to Harrison Jan. 27, unleashed a two-fisted attack to finish off the American negro. Walls was ranked eighth, two behind Harrison, among contenders for the world title before this bout.

Three Groups To Aid Pony League; Registration Forms Issued Today

Three city organizations expressed their willingness to sponsor teams in Prince Rupert's unofficial Pony baseball league at a meeting of the new association Thursday night.

Prince Rupert Gyro club, Elks Lodge and Moose lodge representatives all told the newly-elected executive that their organizations were willing to back teams in the new league. It was also indicated unofficially that two other organizations would contribute financial support.

With this encouragement the pro tem executive was endorsed as a full time body and representatives from the three sponsors were added to the executive. The league officers are now as follows: Ross Clayton, president; Maurice Scott, vice-president; Harley Lewis, secretary treasurer; Bert Young, Bob Anderson and Doug Wood (executive members).

Sponsors were authorized by the meeting to choose their respective managers and coaches and the meeting decided to hold a group workout as soon as weather permits. Team managers will be present at the workout to get a line up on material available for forming teams.

Copies of two sets of forms were drafted, one for reference information for team managers and the other the official registration form for league players.

Registration forms will be issued to Pony league prospects starting today with these forms being available from Doug Wood at Wallace's Department store, and Harley Lewis at Jerry's Barber shop.

Little Leaguers 8 to 10 Years To Be Screened

Little Leaguers 8 to 10 years old inclusive, will get the once over Monday night at Algoma Park when a mass workout will be held and team managers and coaches will tabulate each player's speed, ability and potentiality.

Prince Rupert Little League officials at a meeting Thursday night called the workout for 6:15 p.m. in preparation for the Players Auction to be held April 29.

Boys in the 11 and 12-year-old group will be called out at a later date.

At Thursday's meeting managers and coaches were allocated to the four teams to play in this year's official Little League.

Kinsmen team manager will be Verne Ciccone with coaches E. Turner, Dave Hill and J. Robertson.

Art Olgilvie will be managing Lipsetts with coaches Frank Comadina, J. Sharp and A. Slater.

North Stars manager is Andy Marshall with Ralph Pay, G. W. Dockendorf and Mrs. Careless.

Carl Erickson will manage Super Valus with Dan Johnston, John Rosedale and Dan Morrison as coaches.

Players agent Art Williamson said that each team manager will be allocated 36,000 points with which to buy his team of 15 players. Each team must have five players 12 years of age, five players 11 years old and five in the ten and under group.

The meeting was also told that the Parks board has set aside Algoma Park for use of the Little League.

Big Year For Rookies Seen If Early Play Indication

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The four-day-old major league baseball season is still in the budding stage, but it's starting out as a big rookie year.

With Friday an open date no club has played more than three games, but already 47 first-year men have seen action. A batch of others, including several highly-touted freshmen, are almost certain to get into the lineup soon.

Rudy Regalado, Cleveland's spring sensation, has been used only as a pinch runner. It's hardly fair to make any comparison at this early stage, but the most outstanding performances thus far have been turned in by Forrest Spook Jacobs and Vic Power of Philadelphia Athletics, Gene Baker of Chicago Cubs, Frank Bolling and Bill Tuttle of Detroit, Bob Skinner and Curt Roberts of Pittsburgh, Bill Skowron of New York Yankees, Harry Agganis of Boston Red Sox and Wally Moon of St. Louis Cardinals.

The majority of the rookie pitchers who have had an opportunity to work so far haven't been particularly effective. Jack Harshman, Chicago White Sox southpaw, was the only one to get a starting assignment, and he failed to last through the fourth inning. However, several kids have looked good in relief.

Jacobs, the pint-sized second baseman who was drafted from Brooklyn Dodgers' farm system, has been impressive both at bat and in the field. He's rapped six hits in nine times at bat and has handled 12 chances flawlessly. Power, the Negro outfielder who led the American Association in bating with the Yankees' Kansas City farm club last year, distinguished himself Thursday with a remarkable throw from deep centre field to nail a Yankee runner at the plate.

Detroit's rookie trio of second baseman Bolling and outfielders Tuttle and Al Kaline have pleased manager Fred Hutchinson so far. One of Bolling's three hits in three games has been a home run.

Anfield Tops Centre Rifleman

At the Thursday meeting of the Civic Centre Rifle Club 22 boys were present and the following scores were chalked up:

Frank Anfield, 98 per cent; Harry Schrader, 96; Bill Holgate, 95; John Clibbett, 95; Gerry Jensen, 95; Ralph Olson, 92; Eddie Turcotte, 91; Robert Pederson 91.

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Players Often End Up In Wrong Contract

Mr. Abel could have made a lot of tricks at no trump. I regret to report to you, however, that bridge players do not always end up in the right contract. Maybe the 100 honors had something to do with it, but in any case Mr. Abel insisted on a contract of four spades.

Of course he could have made that, too, if he had played properly. Mr. Dale led the king of hearts and followed with the ace. He led a third heart and dummy's queen won. Mr. Abel discarded a small diamond.

MUZZY DISINTERESTED

Mr. Muzzy was taking no interest at all in the proceedings and probably he would have given odds of a 100-to-1 that he did not have a key defensive card in his hand. He would have lost that bet.

If, starting at trick four, Mr. Abel had laid down the ace of trumps and followed with the queen, he would have had no trouble winning 10 tricks. Since Mr. Dale had opened the bidding, he was certain to hold the king of spades, so that a finesse against that card was something of a hopeless gesture.

Regardless of this logic, Mr. Abel led a spade from dummy and finessed the queen. Mr. Dale won with the king and it now appeared to him that the only hope for another trick lay in the trump suit itself. If Mr. Muzzy held any trump higher than dummy's five spot, there was a chance.

Mr. Dale pounded out another heart. Dummy ruffed with the five of spades and Mr. Muzzy gathered his wits sufficiently to overruff with the eight. Mr. Abel found it necessary to play his ten of spades to win the trick.

This left him with A J 3 in spades and since Mr. Dale had left three spades to the nine, the nine was bound to win the setting trick.

"Thank you partner," said Mr. Dale.

Mr. Muzzy looked puzzled. "For what?" he asked.

"For holding that eight of spades," Mr. Dale replied.

Mr. Muzzy nodded sagely. "Got to keep on your toes in this game," he said importantly.

Siamese Twins in Montreal Lose 20-Day Battle For Life

MONTREAL (CP)—Siamese girl twins after a 20-day battle for life against prohibitive odds, died Friday despite an emergency operation aimed at saving the life of one of them.

One of the baby girls, children of Mr. and Mrs. James Savage, died while being transferred from Catherine Booth Hospital, where they were born, to the Montreal Neurological Institute. Doctors operated in an attempt to save the life of the other twin, but failed.

The twins were born in a rare triple birth March 27. The third child, also a girl, is doing well at home. The mother and the normal child were released from hospital a week ago.

Although there have been two previous reported cases of Siamese twins arriving as part of a triple birth, medical annals show none has survived. In both previous cases the children died shortly after birth.

It was reported that doctors attempted to separate the twins in a bid to save the life of the healthier girl. Officials at the hospital would not officially confirm or deny the report.

The babies were joined by skin and bone at the crown of the head such that they were forced to lie end-to-end.

Clearing, Surveys Started On PGE Sections

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia Forest Service has started clearing brush from the 12-mile stretch of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway right-of-way between Horseshoe Bay and Squamish, forest service officials have disclosed.

Premier Bennett said today that orders have been given to start surveys on the planned northerly extension of the Pacific Great Eastern railway from Prince George to the Peace River. The surveys will be started as soon as weather permits.

Mr. Bennett, who is president of the government-owned railway, said clearing and construction from the Prince George terminus northward will go ahead "as fast as it can be done."

"It's all one project," said Mr. Bennett. "Both ends will go ahead this year."
