Atomic Project

THE HEART of Canada's atomic project at Chalk River, Ont. The big building in foreground holds the NRX nuclear reactor. Before the reactor broke down 15 months ago, it produced radioactive substances used in medicine and industry and enabled Canadian scientists to carry on atomic research. The reactor has been rebuilt and soon will be in full operation again.

Special Chair Brightens Life of Miller Bay Polio Victim

Victor Joseph, nine-year-old, chubby little boy in the next column is a patient in hospital, and suffers from polio. But his life is brightened by a special chair. The chair, which is a new lease on life for him, has been given him by the B.C. Polio Fund. Victor has been unable to stand on his own legs since he was born. But that odd-looking chair rig he's sitting in has given him a new lease on life. Little Victor feels more like fighting his disease when he can sit up, and

Churchill Continues to Push Top-Level Conference

CHURCHILL (CP) — Prime Minister Winston Churchill today held a meeting of the major powers to push for a top-level conference. Churchill said the meeting was "held in reserve." He added that such a conference should not be undertaken lightly.

The prime minister's long campaign for a meeting with Soviet Premier Malenkov, President Eisenhower and French Premier Laniel has met some resistance, largely from the United States.

Churchill expressed confidence in the coming Geneva conference will produce "fruitful results" and said there is nothing improper in meeting Chinese communist leaders "in negotiation for peace".

Royals-Flyers Play to 2-2 Tie

New Westminster Royals picked up their first point of their current prairie tour Wednesday night by drawing 2-2 with Edmonton Flyers, moving the west coast club into a fifth-place tie with Victoria Cougars in Western Hockey League standings.

Dog Team Pulls Detroit Man to Work

DETROIT (AP) — The city's buses will go to the dogs if Leonard J. Chouinard finds support for his idea to solve Detroit's transportation problem.

Chouinard, 46, rides downtown in a little red "dog wagon." Three dogs provide the motor power.

The construction worker says his dog wagon covers the three-mile distance from home in about 18 minutes.

"No 40 cents a round trip, no start and stop, no smell—exhaust fumes, that is—and no trouble finding a seat," Chouinard says.

Chouinard's dogs are Kenny and Kabitzo, Alaskan sled dogs, and "the big white one," a Siberian samoyed. They cruise about 12 to 16 miles an hour.

Bruins Dump Rangers 5-3

Boston Bruins weren't on the skids after all.

Their 5-3 victory over New York Rangers Wednesday night showed they won't be pushovers for the fourth and last playoff berth in the National Hockey League.

It was a key game for both clubs and the Bruins now lead the Rangers by three points, with 10 games left in the 70-game schedule.

President Ousted

LONDON (CP) — North Syria's Aleppo radio claimed today that rebel forces have overthrown Syria's president, Gen. Adib Shishkeky, but the radio station in the capital, Damascus, broadcast normally at mid-morning and made no mention of any trouble in the middle eastern country.

City Youth Arrested, Jailed Six Hours After Cafe Break-In

Quick Police Action Closes Theft Series

A 22-year-old Rupert youth was sentenced to 18 months in prison today, less than six hours after his arrest in the cafe he had burglarized four times in two weeks.

A two-hour police vigil in the darkened Central Cafe on Third Avenue, paid off with arrest of Michael Moshenko as he climbed through a rear window at 4:40 a.m.

In city police court at 10:30 a.m., Moshenko pleaded guilty to four charges of breaking and entry and theft, plus a charge of breaking and entry with intent, and was sentenced to 18 months in Oakalla on each charge, to be served concurrently.

Moshenko netted a total of $125 in the series of thefts which started February 10. On that occasion, evidence disclosed, he took $28 from a can in the cafe kitchen, where the night shift had left it for use of the early morning shift. The other thefts were from the till in the cafe, from which he took $50 February 11, $24 February 23 and $23 February 24. Each time he left some money in the till.

Police had suspected the youth, a former Central Cafe employee, since the first theft from the kitchen cache.

Only employees knew the location of the money. The trap was set when the cafe closed shortly before 3 a.m. today, with Constable Ted Trowella hiding near the window the thief had used in his earlier break-ins.

Moshenko had been convicted twice last fall in the city, once on a charge of false pretences and once for being in possession of stolen goods.

Magistrate W. D. Vance, in passing sentence, said he had tried leniency in the former cases, but that Moshenko apparently did not want to "go straight."

Naguib Isolated In Home

CAIRO (CP)—Egypt's ruling revolutionary council has dropped Maj. Gen. Mohamed Naguib, front man of the uprising that made a republic of this ancient land of the pharaohs, from the presidency and premiership.

The 11 young army officers of the council today named as premier Lt. Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser, 36, driving force of the bloodless coup that ousted King Farouk from the throne 19 months ago. He has been Naguib's deputy premier.

Nasser also succeeds Naguib as leader of the council. The presidency will remain vacant.

Naguib today was in army-guarded isolation at his simple, five-room home in suburban Helieh.

Capt. Gail Faizy, aide to national guidance minister, Salah Salem, said the revolutionary council "has no intention of taking any measures against Naguib."

A communique from the revolutionary council accused Naguib of seeking to draw Egypt "back to absolute dictatorship," declared he was suffering from a "psychological crisis," and reported unanimous acceptance of a resignation it said he submitted Monday.

Cairo remained quiet today. There were no signs of unusual military or police activity.

Political observers believe there will be little immediate change in the foreign policy of Egypt's new government.

Nasser, however, is rated the most fiery exponent of Egypt's current bid for British withdrawal from the canal zone.

Young Woman Learns To Run Dog Team When Husband Burned in Gas Explosion

KOTZEBUE, Alaska (CP) — Not all Eskimos know how to run a dog team. Bertha George learned the hard way.

The young woman's feat of endurance took her over 30 miles of frozen tundra in far below zero weather in the dead of the Arctic night, running most of the distance behind a team hauling her burned husband, Raymond, to the nearest village.

She probably saved his life, physicians at the Alaska Native Service Hospital here reported yesterday. He has a good chance of complete recovery and another trapping season in the wilderness.

Her story: They were trapping alone on the Seward peninsula. She was awakened by an explosion and his screams. She saw him enveloped in flames. A gasoline tank had exploded.

She pushed him out of the tent into a snowbank and rolled him about until the fire was snuffed out. She rubbed his scorched flesh with butter, and tore strips from her own clothing to make bandages.

With no previous experience handling nine unruly malamutes, she managed to hitch them to the sled, place her half-conscious husband aboard, and began her wild run for help. Using all her strength, she rode the brake on down grades and ran behind, pushing, much of the way.

Finally they reached the nearest village, and help.

B.C. Premier Urges All-Out Support Of Red Cross Drive Opening Soon

In a message to citizens all over B.C., Premier W. A. C. Bennett today endorsed the forthcoming Red Cross Campaign for funds which opens here soon.

"As Premier of the province of British Columbia, I wish at this time to commend to all the citizens of our province, the annual appeal of the Canadian Red Cross Society for financial assistance.

"Considering the wide range of services performed by the Society, the sum of $623,000 does not seem a large amount of money to be raised.

"Every thinking citizen must be fully aware of the magnificent work that is being performed by the Canadian Red Cross Society in normal times as well as in periods of emergency.

"I am confident that the appreciation of our citizens will find expression in generous financial support."

'MARRIAGES OF CONVENIENCE'

Church Spokesman Says Working Wives 'Selfish'

TORONTO (CP)—The growing practice of newly-married Canadian women to continue working was criticized today by a spokesman of the United Church of Canada.

Dr. J. R. Mutchmor, secretary of the United Church's board of evangelism and social service, said an increasing number of men and women "find it to their advantage, generally selfish advantage, to team up with both partners working." He added:

"This joint arrangement, scarcely to be dignified by the name marriage, makes it easier to pay the rent, purchase stylish fur garments, buy the TV, operate the car, pay for the cocktail parties and generally to 'go modern'."

Dr. Mutchmor listed increasing "marriages of convenience" as one of five "bad signs" in Canadian home life in a report prepared for delivery to his board's annual meeting here.

The other four: A high divorce rate; more than four per cent of all live births are illegitimate; the size of families is falling; the "father-mother-son - daughter" family is on the way out.

More About PGE

SINCE we spoke yesterday in these columns against the provincial government's plans for the PGE, a brief has arrived from West Vancouver which offers further arguments that are of interest here.

It is understandable that, in a very local way, West Vancouver should be opposed to an extension of the PGE into North Vancouver. Such a project would bring a serious decrease in real estate values along the right-of-way and prove generally undesirable for many residents.

At the same time, West Vancouver's arguments cannot be dismissed for this reason. The municipality has taken a long look at the whole proposal and has emerged with some arguments which should tire uneasiness in any taxpayer who will bear part of the $30,000,000 load needed for the undertaking.

Pointing to how much closer Prince George is to eastern points by direct route than by way of Vancouver, the brief asks:

"Is it reasonable to suggest that the primary products, mostly lumber, that move out of the Prince George and Quesnel areas destined to any point in Canada or the U.S.A. east of Calgary or Edmonton, which is the logical and in some cases the only market, should be hauled these many miles further over the PGE's mountainous heavy grades and curves to sea level to turn the traffic over to other railways to haul over three mountain ranges to get it to its eastern destination; when it could move over a much shorter and level route?"

"Regarding freight such as grain, minerals and lumber destined for export by water, none of this requires processing or storage in Vancouver and rail extension to move it from one point to another on the same seaboard is unsupportable. These commodities must, of necessity, travel the very shortest distance and must terminate at the nearest tidewater for export. Therefore Squamish or Prince Rupert is their logical export terminus and not Vancouver."

A somewhat sinister note of mystery is struck when the brief remarks on the report that Premier Bennett instructed the PGE management "to release no statistics or information whatsoever."

"What has happened recently must be of vast import as the Premier last September told the Legislature that $17,225,000 was needed to make the PGE safe; that 325 miles of tracks are 'so outworn as to be dangerous,'" the brief continues. "He said at the same time that the 83-mile extension from Quesnel to Prince George had not made the PGE pay its way and that the long-sought Squamish-North Vancouver would not make the PGE pay either. The Legislature and the public have a right to know the reason for such a change of opinion that justification is claimed for a further expenditure of $30,000,000."

In West Vancouver, we have an ally. If both of our communities appear to have selfish reasons in opposing PGE extension, it is because we are so obviously being slapped. When the rest of the taxpayers are required to produce millions of dollars to support a bad investment, they will feel selfish, too.

Viscountess Plans Camp In Canada, U.S.

LONDON (CP)—Viscountess Allenby of Megiddo and Felixstowe is planning eight weeks of "rough living" in Canada and the United States, starting late in May.

The viscountess wants to visit three Canadian and three U.S. youth camps to absorb up-to-date North American ideas for a similar camp here.

As vice-president of the 3,000-strong Kent St. John Ambulance Association Cadets, Lady Allenby heads a committee planning the first post-war youth camp for Kent. She will "live in" with campers in Ontario, Quebec and camps in the Adirondacks, finding out from personal contact just what makes North American camps so popular.

"I think Canadian and American camps are about the best in the world, and I want our Kent youngsters to have the best."

Lady Allenby has not yet chosen the camps she will visit.

Buy British

A GROUP of Toronto business men heads up a new Canadian national organization designed to buy more British goods.

These men were no doubt strongly influenced by the success of the B.C. salmon deal.

Britain has shown that she will buy more from those who buy from her. What she has already done in regard to B.C. salmon she could well do for B.C. lumber and for B.C. apples as well as for the products of other parts of this country.

IT IS NOW CLEAR that the present government of Canada will not simply "accept sterling" on the over-simplified basis that has sometimes been suggested, inside and outside the parliament of Canada.

The main reason for this refusal to accept sterling is that Mr. Abbott is betting on complete convertibility, fairly soon, as between the dollar countries and the sterling area. His optimism may or may not be justified. But meantime the Canadian government is as anxious as the British government to facilitate trade deals which have the effect of increasing two-way trade.

The word "barter" is in very bad odor with this government. But the government of Canada is all for arranged deals, which have all of the advantages of large scale barter, but without the disadvantages of that old fashioned form of international trade.

NOW THAT B.C. SALMON is back on the supper tables of Britain, surely it is time to get Okanagan apples there too.

Organization of exactly the same kind of a trade mission as arranged the big salmon deal could easily divert to Britain enough extra money to finance the sale of a million or more boxes of B.C. apples—with a like amount from Nova Scotia.

THE TORONTO business men who are behind the new "Buy More in Britain" drive are not flag-wavers or mere sentimentalists.

They are well aware that Canadian trade with our two best customers is so lopsided as to constitute an outright menace. We are buying far too much from the U.S.A. in relation to what we are selling her. We are buying far too little from Britain, in relation to what she is buying from us.

So far we have been able to keep our total international trade on even keel only because U.S. investors are pouring into Canada an immense flood of investment money. Our Canadian dollar stands at a slight premium over the American dollar for no other reason than that the American investor thinks his dollar is safer or more profitable in Canada than it would be in his own country.

But this is a happy confection for Canada which could literally change overnight. If for any reason the flood of American investment money was cut off, or even cut down, the whole Canadian economy would suffer, disastrously.

IT IS ONLY elementary prudence to wipe out the lop-sided feature of our main trade.

We should be buying less from the U.S.A. and we should be buying much more from Britain. We may disagree as to how best to attain those ends—but there is no room for disagreement as to the ends themselves.

OTTAWA DIARY

By Norman M. MacLeod

It is an old government adage that a drop of more than ten per cent from the peak level of business is an economic danger signal. For the decline never stops there. The people who lose their purchasing power in the ten per cent group affect those dependent on them. The downturn becomes cumulative.

In the immediate economic situation now before Parliament, one of the difficulties has been to measure the extent of the present down-swing. Car-loading figures and department store sales, which used to be accepted as standard economic yardsticks, have been contradicting one another now for a matter of months. At the moment, for example, car-loadings are showing a drop of more than 15 per cent, while department store sales actually are running about the same as a year ago and, in some weeks, even a little better.

But the drop in car loadings obviously has to be discounted by the increased volume of freight being moved by highway transport since higher freight rates priced the railways out of a substantial slice of the nation's carrying trade.

At the same time, department store sales are equally open to objection as an economic indicator. For the department stores have been moving goods by sacrifice methods consisting of slaughter prices abetted by the inducement of maximum credit terms—no cash payment at all, in many cases, and as long as 30 months to complete the transaction. Turnover secured by these means clearly reflects a situation of distress rather than of well-being.

In contrast with the car-loading and department store yardsticks, there is one indicator which government authorities still accept at its face value. That is the unemployment figure. And it definitely has passed the warning signal level—and still is heading upwards.

Why, then, did acting prime minister C. D. Howe tell the Commons that the government wasn't unduly alarmed?

The answer is that the unemployment figure, despite its bulk at the moment, is still well below the level which an active construction and engineering industry can cure. These industries are largely seasonal. They will not become fully effective in mopping up unemployment until spring weather enables them to resume maximum activity. But all prospects point to a record year in construction and development projects of all kinds.

The real truth of the matter, as Parliament Hill economists see it, is that if consumer goods only were involved, the nation would have a real-scale depression on its lap right now. But happily the cure of present conditions is no farther away than the few short weeks to spring and the resumption of building, highway, and engineering construction. Wishful thinking may be an element in this view of the Parliament Hill economists. But it's hard to pick any flaw in the reasoning behind it.

In Australia more people play tennis, all year round, than any other game.

Ray Reflects and Reminisces

Premier St. Laurent in India has made it plain that before leaving the Far East that the attitude of the United States and Canada must be clearly understood. Nothing can be left to lingering doubt or question. This is the time when, if there is a thing to be more fully, or in a more comprehensive way explained it is today and not tomorrow.

More men wearing cowboy hats live in Calgary, but this does not mean they are cowboys. Somehow it's necessary to keep the stampeo idea permanent. The nearest Prince Rupert ever came to seeing anything like a rodeo years ago, was when the city staged a horneless runaround. The cowboy experts making the runaround one hand, but had to use usefulness with saddle.

ANYWAY A BALANCE

Cost of coffee is reported to be going up, though it isn't yet noticed. It was not that way yesterday. As for sugar, that pleasant and useful article of food is believed today to be going down. This is known as striking a balance, although we do not presume to know all the ins and outs.

It seems a horsemeat sandwich dinner was given somewhere or other the other evening, and when a man was responding to a toast, a listener shouted "Whoa". The poor chap choked to death right there.

Canada Dubious of New Plan For UK Orphan Children

LONDON (CP) — Thousands of homeless and orphaned British children would be sent to Commonwealth countries for settlement under a plan soon to be submitted for government approval.
The idea comes from the parliamentary migration board set up last year by the government.
A board official said that if the plan is adopted, children from voluntary institutions and homes run by local authorities will be sent to private homes and institutions in the Commonwealth.

Costs of the children's fare, care and education would be met by the receiving country.
Canadian immigration officials said Canada would "consider any child migration scheme carefully."

They said there were two main obstacles to Canada's possible entry to the scheme:
1. Child welfare schemes are under the authority of the provinces and the federal government could not accept the children without the approval of the provinces;

2. Child welfare facilities in Canada "are already bursting at the seams."

Canada was completed by the

 ahead of most women, with spring days at hand. But you'll find you can get through an amazing amount if you use PRISCILLA BIAS FOLD TAPE. My enthusiasm for it is shared by so many other women, that more of them prefer Priscilla to any other tape. You'll understand why when you use it yourself. Colors are so pretty—twenty-one to choose from! You may prefer the gay checks, or the pretty two-toned effects. Remember that Priscilla Bias Fold Tape is made in Canada and absolutely guaranteed last to boiling. I like the special finish given to the fine lawn with which Priscilla is made—makes it so easy to use!
We've Had More Fun lately than I can remember for years—building the house we're going to build and the specifications include a built-in vanity in the bedroom and a kitchen with a design all of its own—something I've been plotting ever since I began to wash dishes! It all costs money, you know, and we've come a few more paydays, and well have in our savings account a BANK OF MONTREAL. It's fun to save something concrete, so to speak, to save the secret of successful saving, and I don't want to spread the secret around! It's really low faithfully you can save when it's for something you really wishful thinking never bought a dream... so my advice to you to set your sights on that "something" you've always wanted—save for it at "MY BANK".

Prince Rupert 41, Ketchikan 40

Bo-Me-Hi Rainmakers have regained the Frank Thistles trophy. Victory came last night before a packed gymnasium of cheering, happy fans who sat through one of the fastest and most eagerly played games of the season in the Civic Centre.

Frank Thistles' Fred Kristmanson scored the winning point in the dying minutes of the game, leaving the Ketchikan High School Polar Bears.

It was a well-earned victory and one that saw the score saw back and forth as the two teams set a terrific pace. Referees Fred Calderoni and Don Hartwig handled the game exceptionally well, keeping control of play throughout as the squads played at lightning speed.

Booth coach Jack Evans received a round of handshakes and congratulations for piloting his team to victory and his chore was made all the more difficult in the fourth quarter when two of his players fouled out and he was forced to reshuffle his line.

The trophy, held by Kay-Hi since 1950, was last won by Booth in 1949. In the four-game series last year, each school won two games. In this year's contest, the teams split in Ketchikan and Bo-Me-Hi won Tuesday night's game here 43-32.

In the dying minutes of the game last night, with the score tied at 40-all, Kristmanson was fouled by Ketchikan's Bob Vincent. Kay-Hi immediately called for time out.

Tension was high and as time end was called for a hushed silence fell over the crowd.

Kristmanson missed the first try, but his second attempt dropped through the basket to give Booth a 41-40 lead which they protected until the final whistle.

Hearts of the Rupert fans sank as Gilbert missed the basket by a fraction just before the game ended.

The crowd surged onto the floor to congratulate the winners, after which Ray Bassett, coach of the Ketchikan team, presented Kristmanson with the Thistles trophy.

Rod Tait, who played an outstanding two-way game for Bo-Me-Hi, was the star of the evening with 17 points.

The game started off with Kay-Hi going into the lead on two foul shots by Vincent and Valentine. Tait tied the count and put Rupert ahead 4-2, then added four more points during the quarter to give Rainmakers a 14-9 lead at the breather.

In the second quarter, Kay-Hi changed to a tight-zone defence forcing the Rainmakers to shoot from outside the key, where they could make only two out of 16 shots. Both of these were again made by Tait.

John Gilbert, shooting well from outside the key, threw in two long shots and a foul to bring the score to 19-18 in favor of the Rainmakers at halftime.

Visitors Go Into Six-Point Lead

As the third quarter got underway, Kay-Hi jumped into a six-point lead with baskets by Dixon Tucker, with five points, and Jim Auger with two.

Kristmanson again evened the count with three good hook shots, and the two teams battled for the rest of the quarter scoring 13 points apiece, with Tucker counting nine of his team's points in the quarter.

Kristmanson got eight in the session. Score at the end of the third left Rainmakers ahead 32-31.

With speed still predominating the fourth quarter opened as Tucker scored a lay up to put Ketchikan ahead by one point. Ron Ciccone retaliated with a long shot to make the count 34-33.

Vincent put Kay-Hi ahead with six minutes to go, with a shot from the corner, but again Ciccone scored one of his long ones to regain the one-point margin for Booth.

At the four-minute mark, Vincent tied the score when he sank a free throw after he was fouled by Dick Nickerson.

The game really tightened at that point for Rainmakers when Nickerson and Reynold McKay both fouled out and Ciccone was forced to leave the floor with a split finger.

Coach Evans immediately reshuffled his team playing Tait and Kristmanson as guards, with Ron Black and Art Helin on the forward line.

Rainmakers set up a stalling offence, which paid off on a foul shot with less than two minutes to go when Helin counted to make the score 39-38.

With only 54 seconds left, Gilbert put Kay-Hi into a 40-39 lead scoring a set shot from the end of the key.

Gary Morrison tied it up when he made good a free shot after he was fouled by Jim Auger.

With only 18 seconds left and both teams playing ball-control and every pass counting, Kristmanson was fouled by Vincent.

Near bedlam broke out as his second shot was good.

Top man for Kay-Hi was Tucker with 12 points, followed by Vincent with 10, and John Gilbert with nine. Auger added five and John Valentine, four.

For Bo-Me-Hi, Tait was tops with 17 points. Other scorers for Rupert were Kristmanson with nine, Ciccone with seven; Nickerson, four, McKay, two, Art Helin and Morrison, one each.

In a preliminary exhibition game, Miller Bay defeated Nelson Brothers on a last-second foul, scored by Art Sankey, when fouled by John Newton. The score was 45-44.

The game was close and hard-fought throughout, setting the tone for the main event.

For Nelson Brothers, John Newton and Steve Yamanoto led scorers with 11 points each. Nelson Morven garnered seven points, Kayoshi Matsuo, five; and Toru Nakatsu, with two.

For Miller Bay, Art Sankey led with 15 points, followed by Jim Stewart with 14, Bob Gray, nine, Bob Sankey, four, and Doug Sankey, three.

Kenora Team Readies For Trip to Japan

KENORA, Ont. (AP)—Kenora Thistles, the first Canadian hockey team to tour Japan in 18 years, needs more than $9,000 before it leaves Vancouver by ship March 1.

The Thistles will be on an expenses-paid trip from the time they land at Yokohama March 16 until they leave for home March 30.

The Thistles, acting as Canada's ambassadors of goodwill for the eight-game exhibition series against Japanese clubs, were 1953 western Canada intermediate champions. The club was awarded the trip by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association after winning the title 4-2 in games over Ponoka, Alta. Stampede.

Last Canadian team to tour Japan was a North Battleford, Sask., club in 1936.

The Japanese Skating Club, which asked the CAHA to choose a team for the tour, pays the shot from the time the Thistles leave Vancouver until their return to the British Columbia port.

OUTDOORS With Marty —

By ERIC MARTIN
What weight mono-filament is best suited to fast water fishing for steelheads on spinning tackle? The water in mind is the Cloyah of course, and one of our local anglers has learned the hard way.

When we consider the terrific fight the steelhead will put up, one readily sees that the ultra-light line is not the thing to use, quite true the four- and six-pound stuff will toss lures a country mile, but it snaps just as easily the first time it balls up against the lower guide; good-bye another lure.

Marty considers ten pound about the lowest test for Cloyah. Each individual fish when hooked, stays well away from the angler until he is near-spent, at this stage he is well downstream from the rod and then it is up to the rodder to overstrain tackle bringing a stubborn, open-mouthed fish to the gaff against the rush of the water. Should this fish go to bottom and sulk, or make a pass around one or more rocks, then something is pretty certain to let go; naturally the light lines let go first.

Mono-filaments give only one chance before breaking, for this reason your columnist likes fine-pound braided tournament line, at least it gives some warning, for it will show fraying signs before quitting. This is not too easily obtained locally, but it is expected that demand will create supply; tournament braid is selected because of its high degree of limpness combined with fairly good lasting qualities.

Remember that spinning tackle is successful only against fish which will fight, the four-pound nono is suitable for lake fishing where trout around two or three pounds will be met, but woe betide the angler who tries horsing such fish out of the lily pads! Balance your rod against the line, consider the weight of fish you are going after, and a thought for the general water conditions (still or fast), keep lure weight down to one-quarter ounce and your native common-sense will answer for you.

With everything considered, the good spinner rodder can never beat the good spool reel caster at distance work, and it is still not possible to overcome the difficulty which prevented spinning tackle becoming the vogue forty years ago, namely, the inability of soft action spinning rods to fight back at a sulky fish hugging the bottom.

Word is back from Vancouver that the young fur seal which went to Stanley Park Zoo, died from pneumonia which it was unable to fight in its weakened condition caused by swallowing oil. There are still at least two ailing in Tuck Inlet, and caution should be used before shooting at what seems to be a strangely friendly hairsal, look for the very noticeable ears which stick out an inch or more before drooping downwards; this is the unmistakable mark of the fur seal, they are plain to see even without telescope sights.

An unusual capture made at the Yacht Club on Sunday at full tide. FRED DUROSE was fishing an unweighted fishstrip looking for an early salmon when he got a strike, a short scrap followed before a three-foot wolf-eel was decked.

These unpleasant-looking well-toothed customers reach a length of eight feet and are not commonly taken on hook-and-line, perhaps it would be a good idea to bottle a specimen in formaldehyde for the Museum here.

Welcome to yet another evidence of growth and advancement in the Interior. Houston now has its own Rod and Gun Club, with FRANK EDMUNDS as president and KEITH CARLSON (an overseas forestry buddy of Marty's in the Second War) as secretary-treasurer. Minors are granted associate membership under the guardianship of a regular member, but all interested folk may attend meetings in order to become acquainted with the aims of the club. One of the immediate projects will be the establishment of a rifle range. Splendid work, Houston. We look forward to your challenges and co-operation!

Charles Garcia & Co. of 53 Park Place, New York City 7, will send a pocket size magazine, quarterly, to any spinning tackle enthusiast who cares to request it. This gives lots of interesting items on who caught what, where, and on which lure, together with some clever articles on spinning in general.

Russian Hockey Team Reported Biggest Threat

By ARCH MACKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON — The world hockey championships at Stockholm which get under way tomorrow include Russia for the first time, and European hockey circles are speculating that the debut may be momentous.

From tales of visiting teams and second hand information a picture has been built up of hard-skating, helmeted Russian players who do a lot of passing and ignore body-checking.

Visits to Russia by Norwegian, Swedish and other national teams including Czechoslovakia invariably have ended in a sound trouncing for the invaders, consoled by lavish hospitality.

Canada, which passed up the 1953 world competition, is represented by Toronto Lyndhursts of Ontario Hockey Association Senior B grouping. The Canadians will square off with Sweden, Czechoslovakia and Russia.

STIFF COMPETITION
The warning is still that the Canadians had better be good. Expatriate Canadians here and some European hockey folk have long felt that Canada deals too lightly with the matter of representation at the world championship.

This year, they're arguing that European hockey has improved a lot—and that nobody knows how good the Russians can be.

"The Russians showed themselves capable of playing really great hockey," the captain of a Swedish team reported on returning from a 13-1 lacing in Russia.

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Should Have Forced Lead From Opponent

"The trouble with you, Abel, is that you try to do everything yourself," said Mr. Champion after his partner had gone down one at four hearts.

"But every card was wrong," defended Mr. Abel.
"Not so," Mr. Champion replied. "All you needed was to find Dale with as many as four diamonds and he had four diamonds."

This somewhat cryptic remark was lost on Mr. Abel for the moment, but let's start at the beginning and find out what was meant.

OPENS TRUMP

Mr. Dale opened a trump and the nine in the closed hand won. Now Mr. Abel saw that he had two possible losers in both spades and clubs. It occurred to him that if Mr. Dale had the queen of spades he would have to play it on the lead of a low spade toward dummy's jack.

If that happened, then the jack of spades would later knock out the ace and on the king of spades, a club could be discarded from the board. But when a low spade was led at trick two Mr. Dale played low. The jack was put up and Mr. Masters won with the queen and returned the jack of clubs. After this, there was no way to avoid the loss of two clubs and two spades.

RUFF DIAMOND
Mr. Champion's suggested line of play was based on the obvious fact that it would be highly desirable to get a spade or club lead from Mr. Dale.

He would have played as follows. After winning the opening lead, cash the ace and king of diamonds and ruff a diamond. Enter dummy with a trump and lead a fourth diamond. When Mr. Masters failed to follow suit, discard the six of clubs from the closed hand.

Mr. Dale would have to win and would have only spades and clubs left. Any return would lose a trick for the defenders and let Mr. Abel make his contract.

Spain Wants Church Land

MADRID — The Spanish government Tuesday sent to Parliament for approval a bill to acquire all property in Spain belonging to the Roman Catholic bishops of Ireland at a cost of 2,000,000 pesetas (about $50,000).

Some of the property has belonged to the Irish church since the 16th Century, when Irish priests began training in Spain because of religious persecutions in their homeland.

CCL Calls For Substantial Reduction In Interest Rate For Home Builders

OTTAWA — The Canadian Congress of Labor said today lenders will get a high rate on mortgage loans and suffer no risk under the government's new housing legislation.

The 375,000-member labor group said in a brief prepared for submission to the Commons banking committee that if the government is to insure mortgage-lenders it should cut the interest rate "substantially."

"To give them a rate of 5 1/2 per cent or more and almost complete immunity against loss... is foolproof and completely protected enterprise. A high interest rate is supposed to compensate the lender for risk. The lending institutions, under the bill, would get the high rate, without the risk."

The bill would allow the government to insure 90 per cent of housing loans by banks.

The brief said that if Parliament wants to bring home ownership within reach of lower-paid workers it must provide for a much lower interest rate.

It urged a lower interest to allow more persons in the low-income groups to meet income requirements of the National Housing Act. Under the act, a prospective home owner would be limited to 23 per cent of his annual income to pay back a mortgage and the carrying charges.

By dropping the interest rate to two per cent from 5 1/2 per cent on a 25-year mortgage for a $10,000 home, it added, income requirements would be cut by $855.

Half urban wage and salary earners received incomes of less than $3,000 a year, the brief added. It quoted figures purporting to show that was not enough to buy a $9,000 house, the cheapest available under the act, with a 25-year mortgage at 5 1/4 or 5 1/2 per cent.

The CCL estimated Canada's backlog of houses at 500,000 units. The replacement figure for sub-standard and slum dwellings was about 140,000.

CONSTANT BACKLOG
Canada's record 105,000 housing starts in 1953 was "just about enough housing to keep pace with the current need, and making little or no impression on the backlog."

The current need of 100,000 homes was made up of 90,000 federal - provincial - slum clearance plan.

more for the number of destroyed each year.

The 500,000-unit backlog, CCL said, could be eliminated about 20 years if the housing industry operated at an annual rate of 125,000 to 135,000 units. That schedule would give rise to between 60,000 and 70,000 new homes.

The CCL urged the government to consider direct home-owners through Mortgage and Housing Commission, and sought more subsidies for housing under the government - provincial - slum clearance plan.

with the whole morale problem inside the armed forces, said that when Stevens' stand became known, morale didn't just climb, "it zoomed."

The squabble between McCarthy and Stevens began over the promotion and honorable discharge of a New York dentist and reserve major, Irving Peress. Peress disputes as "sheer nonsense" McCarthy's contention that he is a Communist.

McCarthy has said Peress was known by the army to be a Communist and that Peress in a closed session of his investigations sub-committee refused to answer questions on Communist affiliations, citing the guarantee against possible self-incrimination.

The senator has demanded that the army provide him with the names of all those responsible for granting an honorable discharge to Peress, and the names of those responsible for his promotion.

It was while he was seeking that information that he told Brig-Gen. Ralph Zwicker, commandant at Camp Kilmer, N.J., where Peress was released to inactive duty: "You are not fit to wear that uniform."

Zwicker is a decorated veteran of the Normandy beach-head.

Thieves Active While Woman At Funeral

VICTORIA (CP) — Mrs. E. W. Clarke came home from the funeral of her noted sculptor husband Tuesday to find that thieves had broken into her home during the ceremony and stolen a metal cash box containing wills, insurance policies and private documents.

Mr. Clarke, who taught for years at Victoria High School, had moulded busts of several famous Canadians.

Canada's Anti-Submarine Fleet Getting New Sub-Killing Weapon

OTTAWA — Canada's anti-submarine fleet now is being equipped with a new sub-killing weapon.

The weapon is an anti-submarine mortar known as a "squid." Chances of destroying enemy submarines with it are much greater than with earlier weapons such as the depth charge and hedgehog used during the Second World War.

The squids, usually fitted in pairs, are linked to an asdic set—a form of radar—through an electronic fire control system. The weapon is three-barrelled and can fire a pattern of large high-explosive projectiles ahead of the ship with extreme accuracy.

The projectiles can be set to explode at pre-determined depth.

The navy disclosed today it has taken delivery of the first squids to be manufactured in Canada.

MADE IN VANCOUVER

The new weapons are being fitted in frigates and other ships being converted for service as anti-submarine vessels. They will also be used in training establishments ashore.

It costs about $100,000 to equip a ship with the new weapon.

The squids are being produced in the Vancouver plant of Dominion Bridge Company. The electrical equipment used with them is being manufactured by the Canadian Westinghouse Company at Hamilton.

The squid is of British design and is being produced in Canada under licence from the British admiralty. Certain alterations have been made to facilitate production in this country. The barrels, formerly made from tubing, are being made in Canada from steel plate formed into two half-circles, welded together and machined.

This method, the navy said, results in a straighter and more accurate barrel. It was developed by the navy, in co-operation with federal mines department.

Scientists Find Nothing to Back Claim Smoking Causes Cancer

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
MONTREAL — The president of Canada's biggest tobacco company says exhaustive research is more in the public interest than scarce publicity, in determining any relationship between smoking and lung cancer. "Regardless of the merits of claims either way, any suggestion that a product is related to ill health does scare people," E. C. Wood of Imperial Tobacco Company said in an interview. "We have had in the past widespread scares that a certain vegetable became poisoned through canning and that use of a certain type of metal pot or pan in cooking foods engendered poisoning. The claims were established scientifically."

CLOSER DIAGNOSIS
"I don't mean to imply categorically that there can be no relationship whatever between smoking and lung cancer. But so far the reported increase in lung cancer cases has been statistical rather than clinical. "Medical science has advanced tremendously in diagnosis, and cases established as lung cancer today were undoubtedly labelled something else a comparatively few years ago. Also, science now is giving closer study to lung cancer in relation to occupational diseases and to the increasing air pollution of our fast-growing industrial areas."

Mr. Wood said his company is taking no particular counter-measures to combat current claims. There had been no effect on its sales. Publicity given the question had not brought any inquiry to the company from the public. "We don't feel that propaganda is the right thing and we are not doing any window-dressing as an offsetting measure," he said. "We are not doctors and it would be pointless for us to get involved in propaganda which might only serve to establish a basis of suspicion."

"But we do co-operate and keep in touch with medical and scientific organizations. Our own laboratories are continually studying all phases of tobacco itself as well as its growth and preparation."

A NEW FIVE-CENT STAMP with the Queen's portrait will be issued by the post office department April 1. The stamp was engraved from a photograph supplied by Dorothy Wilding of London. Blue in color, it will replace the current design from a photograph by Yousuf Karsh of Ottawa. The other three stamps, showing Canadian wildlife, will also be issued at the same time. The 15-cent black stamp shows a gannet in flight against a night sky; the grey four-cent stamp shows a walrus; and a blue five-cent stamp shows a beaver. The walrus and beaver stamps are short-term commemorative stamps.

Blood Transfusion Service Operates 24 Hours Per Day

Ninety thousand miles was chalked up by the Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service transport department last year. And it wasn't all clear sailing. Take the driver on her way from a clinic at Prince Rupert in the middle of winter. She took 19 hours to drive 100 miles through conditions none would drive through normally, but she had to because her truck was loaded with blood which had to get to the laboratory in Vancouver. "We take the roads as they come," says Mabel Erickson, head of the transport department who is on her seventh year in the service. She can tell many hair raising stories about her staff of eight. How would you like to sit up all night in a big refrigerator truck loaded with blood waiting for help on a lonely snow-bound road? No ordinary person would but the girls who drive the blood trucks are dedicated to a life-saving job. They drive as far north as Prince George and they fly into the rough and ready places like Kamano.

NO ACCIDENTS
They drive through snow storms and floods and if an emergency crops up they are on their own. In seven years of driving they can boast of only the odd crumpled fender. There has been no accident.

The Red Cross blood service operates 24 hours a day and supplies 96 hospitals in British Columbia. From the laboratory on the Shaughnessy Hospital grounds goes all blood to the province. It arrives in Shaughnessy from clinics, is tested and sent out, guaranteed as to blood group.

British Army May Be Given Guided Missiles

LONDON (Reuters)— Britain announced Wednesday her army may soon be equipped with atomic guided missiles for "purposes of offence."

War Minister Antony Head said the army is "nearing a decision" on the introduction of the atomic weapons. Three days ago, Sir Winston Churchill's government announced it is equipping the RAF with atomic bombs from secret stores.

Britain exploded her first atomic weapon off the Australian coast Oct. 3, 1952, and further atomic tests were held on the Woomera rocket range in central Australia last October. Head, in a statement to Parliament on army estimates for the 1954-55 year, said:

"We have given a great deal of thought to the defensive and offensive aspect of the introduction of atomic weapons. Defensively, training has gone ahead in various methods of protection and detection. Radiac (instruments for detection of radioactivity after an atomic explosion) are now in production, and training versions are already in the hands of troops.

"We are nearing a decision on the introduction of an effective army weapon of offence. This will probably take the form of a ground-to-ground, medium-range guided missile."

"All possible steps are being taken to insure that the introduction of atomic weapons will find the army well prepared in the offensive use and in methods of defence."

He said a three-day indoor exercise held near London last August and attended by representatives of all Commonwealth countries made "a close study of the problems of supply, communication and movement under atomic attack and also of the tactical and strategic use of atomic weapons."

Canada Club

LONDON (CP)— Lord Strathcona 61, former Conservative member of Parliament, has joined the committee of the Canada Club, an Anglo-Canadian association formed in 1810. The club is sometimes called the second oldest Canadian institution in London after the Hudson's Bay Company, founded in 1670.

Body Believed Crew Member From Tugboat

CAMPBELL RIVER, B.C. (CP)— The nude body of an elderly man, believed a crew member from the tug C. P. Yorke which sank last December, was washed ashore Tuesday near the south tip of Quadra Island, 120 miles northwest of Vancouver.

The body was found by George Johnson of Cape Mudge who was searching the shore for driftwood. RCMP brought the body here where it will be examined by a coroner.

Only two of the Yorke's seven-man crew were picked up alive after the tug was run down by its tow during a gale. Four other bodies were found.
