Settlement in Egypt

Government Shows
Favorable Attitude toward Britain and West

An Egyptian Foreign Office spokesman indicated that Egypt would join the East Defence Command in the current dispute with the West, but that the Egyptian government would not be involved in this conflict.

The spokesman said that this "personal impression" of Premier, Aly Maher, was that Egypt would not be involved in this conflict.

He added: "This is the whole Egyptian position."

At a meeting yesterday met with the British and Canadian ambassadors of four powers, including the British and Canadian, who last October signed a new Middle East defence pact to defend the Suez Canal.

The Egyptian defence offer was made known by the government spokesman Mustapha Nahas, who was ousted from office by King Farouk.

British sources in London said that the Egyptian offer was made ready to make a decision to the Egyptian government, feeling that the Cairo government is willing to co-operate with western defence forces.

Premier Aly Maher said yesterday that he was prepared to accept any proposal that might have for the benefit of the situation in the Middle East.

Mr. Stevenson called on Mr. Maher yesterday for the first time since October.

Kemano Dispute Settled

VANCOUVER (CP)—Settlement of the labor dispute on the Kemano tunnel job for Aluminum Co. of Canada has been reached, it was announced today.

Two hundred workers who were off the job two weeks ago will be sent back under the terms of the settlement.

About 100 replacement workers who had refused to work, were expected to start working today.

Officials of the American Federation of Labor said the men would return to work on the rate of pay, $1.60 per hour.

Settlement of the dispute follows a conference of the AFL and members of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers here yesterday.

Another Royal Tour Commences

LONDON (CP)—Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh set out today on another long tour—visits to Kenya in Africa, Australia and New Zealand.

The King and Queen, Princess Margaret and the Prime Minister, Winston Churchill, were among a crowd of nearly 2,000 at the airport to see the royal couple board the plane for the 4,500 mile flight to Nairobi in Kenya.

During the five months tour they will fly 30,000 miles.

Deputy Minister Of Labor Dies

VANCOUVER (CP)—James Thompson, 64, deputy minister of labor for British Columbia, died today in hospital here after being suddenly stricken while on duty.

A former carpenter, he was a pioneer in the B.C. labor movement. In 1946 he was appointed deputy minister.

Minister Proposes Highway-Connected Landing Strip Here

Surprise Announcement of Local Federal Member
Greeted With Enthusiasm

Best news yet in Prince Rupert's long campaign for the establishment of an airport in the immediate vicinity of the city came today. E. T. Applewhaite, MP for Skeena, is in receipt of a communication from Hon. Lionel Chevrier, minister of transport, disclosing that active favor of Ottawa for a local landing field has turned from Tugwell Island, which would have involved a water ferry service from the city, to Ridley Island, which can be made readily accessible by means of existing highway extension and a small bridge. Ridley Island lies just across Porpoise Harbor from nearby Port Edward, 11 miles distant by highway and eight by railway.

Mr. Chevrier's communication, particularly the Ridley Island aspect, came as a complete and pleasant surprise and early enthusiasm was expressed—also gratification that the Department had been, apparently making thorough investigation into the local landing field situation.

The Ridley Island site would be more adequate than that at Tugwell. It would permit of a runway up to 9,500 feet long. The minister also suggests a weather station. The outstanding advantage, of course, is that Ridley Island would be accessible by road from Prince Rupert—supposedly an extension of the Port Edward road.

MINISTER'S LETTER
Mr. Chevrier's communication to Mr. Applewhaite is as follows:
I refer to the proposal to build an airport in the vicinity of Prince Rupert.

After carrying out extensive preliminary investigations my engineers favor a single strip development on Ridley Island. A site exists there which would permit initial development of a runway 6,000 feet long and 200 feet wide; with possible extension to an overall length of 9,500 feet.

To reach the site it would be necessary to build a bridge and four miles of road. These are expensive items but the final result would be an airport readily accessible by road from Prince Rupert. Very few of the other reasonably good sites in the area possess this advantage.

It is proposed now to carry out a complete engineering survey of this site and establish there, at the same time, a weather reporting station.

It, as a result of these further investigations, the site proves suitable, the question of when the government could act, and the manner in which the municipality might participate and assist in providing the land, will require active consideration.

Tugwell Island, seven miles distant from Prince Rupert, would have permitted a strip 5,800 feet long with possible extension to 7,300 so Ridley Island, in development capacity, would have considerable advantage.

Ridley Island figured in early discussion of a possible landing field site for Prince Rupert but, during the war, its consideration seemed to be dropped and efforts had been concentrated during recent years on Tugwell Island. Lately there had been some discussion of Digby Island.

APPLEWHAITE PLEASED
Making public the communication he had received from the Minister, Mr. Applewhaite revealed that he had been aware that the Prince Rupert landing field project had been under active consideration at Ottawa for months but he had been unable to get an announcement from the ministerial level. The Ridley Island site was news to him but what he was most in-

Test Vote Is Coming Up

British Austerity Plan
Runs Parliamentary
Gauntlet Tonight

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill has asked for a vote of confidence on the government's austerity measures. It is expected it will be taken tonight.

Should the Labor motion, by any chance win, Mr. Churchill would have to resign but the Conservative majority of fourteen is expected to prevail when the vote comes tomorrow.

Yesterday Labor members of Parliament demanded a vote of non-confidence in the Conservative government for proposing curbs on Britain's costly social services as part of the drastic economy program.

The motion was filed in the House of Commons just before the start of a two-day debate on the Spartan proposals made on Tuesday by R. A. Butler, Chancellor of the Exchequer, to put the country on its feet financially.

The motion was in the form of an amendment to the one by the Prime Minister asking the House for approval of the Butler plan.

Loggers' Wage Demands Are Given Hoist

VANCOUVER (CP)—Wage demands for 1952 will not be decided until the March conference, the fifteenth annual convention of the International Woodworkers of America ruled on Wednesday. Decision was taken to send a resolution on wages to the wages and contracts convention called for March.

The convention, however, adopted in principle a resolution that a fifty cent hourly pay boost be sought and wages and contracts convention decision will make a final decision.

Delegates approved a motion to incorporate the cost of living bonus earned up to January 1, 1952, into the basic wage and that another cost of living figure be set payable from January 1.

A resolution was referred back to resolutions committee for study on standardization of wages throughout the logging and sawmill industry. This would mean some loggers would receive a cut in wages, one delegate said.

UNION SHOP
A motion making a union shop a major demand this year was passed.

Several resolutions dealt with overtime and hours of work. One called for 200 days guaranteed pay per year for loggers.

Two resolutions were passed calling for deletion of all exceptions to hours of work and overtime clauses and protection for "the right of any number or all of a crew who refuse to work overtime."

Candidates are Mr. Youngs and Herbert F. Glassey for two-year term, and Mr. Armstrong and H. M. Daggett for one year.

Plane Missing in Gulf of Georgia

VANCOUVER (CP)—At first light today, flying boats and rescue launches began an all out search for a Chipmunk training plane, missing in the Gulf of Georgia with two men aboard. An oil slick was spotted today.

Nothing has been heard from the plane since it broke radio contact with the airport control tower late yesterday and began its seaward flight. The aircraft headed out over the open waters of Georgia Strait.

Aboard the plane, owned by the Aero Club of British Columbia, were the club instructor, Harry W. O'Reilly, 33, RCAF veteran and Flight Lieutenant Jack Welch of West Vancouver.

The plane which carried only enough fuel to remain in the air until 10 o'clock last night was on a routine practice flight.

Churchill's Volte Face

MR. CHURCHILL'S volte face on acceding to the appointment of an American admiral as supreme naval commander for North Atlantic Treaty Organization has been the subject of much comment. Not in the usual Churchillian manner was the Prime Minister's explanation to the British House of Commons when he said that he had faced an agreement that had been made a year ago by Mr. Attlee on an American admiral and that he had yielded in the interests of unity. Anyway, he said he was in favor of a system like that of the war when each navy commanded its own zone under joint chiefs of staff. All of which sounds a little more like wriggling than we are used to with Mr. Churchill. Although he had in Opposition so emphatically opposed an American admiral for NATO's highest post, he found himself in a different and more responsible position when heading the government and had to act realistically.

However, the real thing that everyone should be interested in is that NATO gets the best man for the job—be he American, British, Canadian or what-not. And it might also be remembered that United States is really paying the most of the shot in actual dollars and cents although not possibly in the per capita proportion of austerity and sacrifice. All things being equal, Mr. Churchill and the rest of us would, of course, insist on a Briton.

Church Had Good Year

Growth and Expansion
In All Departments
Noted With Satisfaction

Reports presented at the annual congregational meeting of the First United Church, Prince Rupert, on Tuesday evening were a source of satisfaction to the whole membership. In every case there was a record of growth and expansion.

In his introductory remarks, Rev. L. G. Sieber, pastor, reviewed briefly reports of previous years and pointed out that there had been a steady growth. This had been even more marked in the past year.

Increased assessments had been made and in every case had been met. The church had had a very successful year financially. Commitments to the Missionary Fund had been increased and there had been more than met. The Men's Club had undertaken improvements and renovations and these had been taken care of. The women's organizations had, as usual, done outstanding work in raising funds for essential services and replacements. There were no outstanding accounts.

The Sunday School had increased and there was need for more teachers. Mid-week activities and new groups had been undertaken and members of practically all ages were now covered by the groups. Appreciation of the contribution to the services by both morning and evening choirs was enthusiastically expressed. The fine work of the organists, Mrs. G. T. Freeman and H. A. Pluym, was the subject of very favorable comment.

Work at Conrad Sunday School was at a high stage of success and sincere appreciation of the efforts of Miss A. M. Stewart was voiced. The increasing demands made upon the minister's time were the subject of discussion and were the basis of a recommendation that additional help should be provided in order that these increased responsibilities could be properly discharged. The future outlook promises that even more burdens will require to be borne.

High tribute was paid to Mr. Sieber for his leadership in the work of the church, spiritually, socially and materially. Mr. Sieber thanked the members for their words of appreciation but stressed his conviction that it was largely due to the splendid support he had had from many officers and the membership generally. W. Dunn was chairman and Miss Margaret McLeod secretary for the meeting.

LETTERBOX

BUILD ROADS, NO TAXES

Editor,
Daily News:
Social Credit declares that, "Anything, physically possible can be made financially possible."

Let us fancy we have a Social Credit government in Canada and the citizens of B.C. decide they will have an all-weather highway built, linking Vancouver and Prince Rupert. The Social Credit government gives the B.C. government the "go-ahead."

Surveyors, engineers, crew managers, laborers of all types, get busy. The job is progressing satisfactorily. Men draw their time checks, present them at the bank and receive their pay from the money stream issued by the government. This money from all the checks from all these men, spreads throughout the nation in exchange for goods, boots, clothes, flour, vegetables, meat, cars, everything, strengthening demand for more production. These checks have returned to their source, have done their job and are destroyed (cancelled). The money they draw from these checks has been absorbed again into the money stream.

There was no laxation, is no inflation, no principal nor interest to pay, backed by taxation, as compared to the same link being constructed under our present system.

This highway would be a national asset and tell us, where would one lose one cent because of its construction?

Water power, irrigation, schools, hospitals, homes, asylums, all improvements come under one or the other of these systems.

As I See It

The Boyer Murder

A FEW DAYS ago an infuriated mob of Egyptians broke into the Turf Club in Cairo and killed all men who looked English.

Among them was my good friend the Canadian Trade Commissioner, Macleod Boyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyer entertained me like one of their own family when I was in Egypt last year. They were as fine and friendly a Canadian couple as any I ever met. Macleod and I compared notes about old experiences in the first world war. He and his wife spent days guiding me around that fascinating country. Her home cooked Canadian suppers were a wonderful change from the exotic but unfamiliar food they serve in the famous Cairo hotels, like Shepheard's.

THE BOYERS went out of their way to minimize what they said were scare stories in the English speaking newspapers about conditions in Egypt.

They seemed almost pathetically eager to convince me that it was all wrong to imagine that the vast Egyptian student demonstrations against the west were really dangerous. Mrs. Boyer told me an amusing tale of how she and her daughter had gone shopping and lost their sense of direction. Suddenly an Arab youth turned up, panting with excitement.

"Ladies, ladies, you must get out of here, quick, quick." He went on to explain that there was to be a vast demonstration in the next block. But he offered to conduct them to their hotel, quickly and safely. They knew he was after a fee—suspected he was working a racket, and declined his offer.

Nothing happened. So, the Boyers told me, it did not do to accept at face value all the scare stories that one heard about Egypt.

I had the distinct impression, even then, that "the lady doth protest too much." That is, I felt that Mr. and Mrs. Boyer were unconsciously trying to reassure themselves, even more than they were trying to reassure me. For after all I was staying only a few days.

EGYPT, and indeed all that part of the world, seemed to me even then a country perceptibly shaking with the first tremors of a coming political earthquake. It seems astonishing to me that the British government would have authorized a military attack on the Egyptian police base at Ismailia without first having taken steps to protect the defenceless women and children, not to mention civilian men, scattered throughout Cairo and other parts of Egypt.

That was not only an act of war. However justified it was, it was precisely the kind of act which was bound to touch off the explosion of revenge which it did touch off.

ONE DAY Mr. Boyer drove me out to see an Egyptian irrigation canal. There were hundreds of men cleaning out the muck. They were in human gangs of chains, about twenty to a gang. The middle man would reach down in the muck under the water, take two handfuls of it. He would hand it to his neighbor—and so it would go, hand to hand, till what little was left of it reaches the bank.

One bulldozer would have done the whole job better in a fraction of the time.

THE WHOLE Arab world is waking up now with a frenzy of determination to catch up with the west. There is an elemental determination to get free from foreign control. We could not block that if we tried. But we might help to guide it if we accept its inevitability.

LONDON @—Since the Duke of Edinburgh criticized the lighting system on some commercial vehicles, authorities have been investigating. It has been decided that 40,000 road service vehicles will be equipped with two red lights, reflectors and a back stop light.

Reflects and Reminisces

Special obligations rest on Canada in 1952. One is that out on the coast something better than a small snow-covered boat is immediately available when 36 air passengers from Japan are heard just off shore.

Austerity, introduced by Churchill, maintained by Attlee, is back again in Downing Street. It's the kind of word that somehow seems to "cover the works." But this may not mean it's going to feel as threadbare and harsh as it sounds.

PLENTY TO SAY:

Prince Rupert's mayor deplors the tendency of the aldermen to speak so little. They appear to be a silent lot. And that reminds me of the first city council—Fred Stork, Duff Pattullo, Jack Hilditch, Doc McIntyre and the rest. Sometimes they were eloquent, frequently saying something, and more than often on the point of doing so. Rarely, if ever was conversation, argument or just small talk lacking. And, it can be truthfully recalled there was a lot to think about. The good old days—at least they were neither afraid or silent then!

WESTWARD HO!

A special train of Maritimers will visit in British Columbia next July and, like enough, this will be a first occasion for most of them. Call it the air age, and all that, yet the distance is still vast. A long, long way from the Bay of Fundy to Hecate Straits. Knowing your country, not from reading or hearing descriptions, but from close observation is what really counts.

He didn't use his right name and is called an impostor but one hates to consider him that, because of his cleverness. It's not hard to admire him. This is all about Ferdinand Demara who, known as Dr. J. C. Cyr, served in the Royal Canadian Navy. It was aboard the Cayuga he saved a life. There was a bullet near a soldier's heart. Let Demara tell about it.

"I couldn't have been more nervous even if I felt like it. Practically everyone of the ship was standing there watching me. I kept one basic principle in mind. The less cutting, the less patching later. The bullet was within a fraction of an inch of the heart. I was afraid he'd hemorrhage when I saw but he did not. I saw gelfoam into the wound, clotted almost immediately. The chest was wrapped the soldier an injection of 600 units of penicillin was given. Hours later he walked the ship."

Railways Seek Higher Rates

VANCOUVER (CP)—Possibility of a new application for higher freight rates by Canada's rail- roads was seen Wednesday in comment here by Donald Gordon, president of the Canadian National Railways.

Mr. Gordon, in an interview, discussed the general railway situation and noted that mater- ial, labor and other costs were still rising and "there is no other way we can obtain re- venue." He said railway freight rates had risen far less than other things in general.

Mr. Gordon said he expects the Kitimat-Terrace CNR link for the big Aluminum Company of Canada project will be com- pleted by 1955.

Former Digby Woman Passes

Mrs. Annie Emmerson, widow of the late Rupert G. Emmerson, who was for several years chief operator of Digby Island wireless station, passed away last Satur- day at Comox, where she had made her home of recent years. The funeral took place on Tues- day at Courtenay.

Born at Moser River, Nova Scotia, Mrs. Emmerson, before coming west, had experienced the Halifax war explosion disaster in 1918. After that she and her husband came to this coast. Mr. Emmerson, who had been trans- ferred from here to Cape Lazo in the government radio-tele- graph service, died there a couple of years ago. Two sons, Fred and Harry, both live at Comox where they are in busi- ness.

Probe Kemano Work Stoppage

VANCOUVER (CP)—John Clark, international president of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (In- dependent), will investigate the work stoppage by miners at Ke- mano.

The men walked off their jobs two weeks ago at the hydro pro- ject of the Aluminum Co. of Canada, repudiating a contract held by the Construction and General Laborers' Union (AFL). The men demanded higher wages.

Mr. Clark, here for a national convention of the Mine and Mill Workers which opened Thursday, said he would investigate charges that officials of the mine-mill union had been raiding the American Federation of Labor. The charges, he said, had been made by members of the Canadian Congress of Labor.

Just smooth Jergens on your hands after every watery job . . . because it's Jergens quickly supplies the softening, smoothing moisture that dry, thirsty skin needs. I always keep a bottle of Jergens Lotion handy in both kitchen and bathroom . . . use it regularly . . . and by the end of the day, my hands are soft and smooth as can be. Ask for Jergens Lotion. A Roaring Blizzard always makes me think longingly of warm summer: sands and sunshine. And that brings on enticing thoughts about my holidays next summer. I haven't decided yet where I'll head to for fun 'n' frolic, but I've done one very important thing as part of my 1952 Personal Planning program . . . I've opened a Sunshine Account at the BANK OF MONTREAL. That's the one way to be sure that you'll have the necessary cash when winter's snows are gone and the beach is beckoning. Resolve now that lack of holiday funds won't force you to make do with a "second-best" vacation. Open a Sunshine Account at the B of M tomorrow. Then, save a definite amount each pay-day, and you'll be all set to enjoy every sunshine-filled moment when your holidays come 'round.

Ever Had Six Youngsters (be- tween the ages of 4 and 8) come to visit you? I have —and we had our- selves quite a time. But when it was all over I was ready for a good, relaxing cup of coffee. So I made myself a cup of CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE. Good? Yes! For Instant Chase & Sanborn is made by coffee ex- perts . . . it's the only instant coffee backed by over 85 years coffee experience. But you don't need to know this to appreciate its hearty, deep-dim flavour. Every sip tells you that here is something special. And Instant Chase & Sanborn is so quick to make—takes no longer than boil- ing the water. Economical too— for there's no waste. Look for it next time you're shopping. I know you'll be impressed!

They're The Proudest in Canada the rich "Arctic" tomatoes that go into HEINZ TOMATO PRODUCTS. Mellow—glowing— delicious—they're sun-ripened on the vine—then cooked to perfec- tion in Heinz gleaming kitchens. Yes, Heinz Tomato Products add delicious variety to mid-winter meals. Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup—so good as a first course or in meat and vegetable dishes. Heinz Tomato Juice—Heinz Chili Sauce and Heinz Ketchup—add zestful flavour to main dishes. Incidentally, I like to buy Heinz Ketchup in the big, economy-size 13-ounce bottle. Compare it with the 11-ounce bottle of some brands. You'll see how little it costs for Heinz extra value . . . ketchup so rich that a few drops go a long way!

Like To See that "Oh What A Wife!" look in your husband's eyes? (Makes you feel wonder-ful!) Well, here's how! . . . Give him a sparkling, deli- cious JELL-O JELLY POWDER dessert. (Seven, exciting "locked-in" flavours to choose from.) Here's a recipe he'll like—and so quick, easy and eco- nomical to make, too! And the fresh Jell-O flavour is locked right in until you release it by adding hot water . . . Raspberry Jell-O— Delicious — 1 cup hot water 1 cup cold water 8 marshmallows, quartered 1/2 cup diced canned pineapple or diced grapefruit sections Dissolve Jell-O in 1 cup hot water. Add 1 cup cold water. Chill in shallow pan. Cut in cubes. Pile in dessert glasses, combining cubes with remaining ingredients. Garnish with whipped cream. Makes 8 servings.

There! THAT'S Better! What a relief it is when you get rid of nagging chest-cold, rheumatic or neuralgic pain by rubbing BEN-GAY (Baume Bengale) on the aching areas. Yes, that's all you do. Just rub in wonderful Ben-Gay and relief is almost instant. And no wonder—for Ben-Gay contains up to 2½ times more of those two famous pain-relieving agents—methyl salicylate and menthol—than 5 other widely offered rub-ins. Ben-Gay is so comforting—so pleasantly warm when you rub it on . . . and kind to your skin, too—for it contains skin-soothing lanolin. That's why, when "Peter Pan" strikes, I always reach for Ben-Gay. Wonderful relief—for just 75c a tube!

Mr. Dale Opens Away From a King;
He's Crazy Like a Fox—As Usual

"That's something I never do," whispered Mr. Muzzy sagely to another kibitzer, as he saw Mr. Dale open away from the king of clubs in today's deal.

BIRTHPLACE OF CRICKET
Hampden in Hampshire, England, where cricket was played as early as 1750, is known as the cradle of modern cricket.

He saw no reason to comment on Miss Brash's raise to two hearts. Surely, with such a flat distribution, she would have done better to bid one no trump. But that's not too important here as Mrs. Keen had a big hand and might well have reached a heart game anyway.

Here was Mr. Dale's reasoning in choosing the seven of clubs as his opening lead. First, his hand was woefully weak in high cards. He had two principal assets—his club honors and his four-card trump holding.

DEVASTATING

He figured his best bet was to play the forcing game; that is, to try and force declarer to ruff until his trump holding was shorter than Mr. Dale's. With this idea in mind, he led from his strongest suit. The result was devastating.

Mr. Abel won with the ace of clubs and returned the suit. Sensing danger, Mrs. Keen made a nice play by dropping her small spade instead of ruffing. Her hope was that Mr. Abel had started with only three clubs so that if he got in later with the king of diamonds he could not force her again.

A club was continued at trick three and this time Mrs. Keen trumped. She led to dummy's king of hearts, and back to her ace. On the second trump, Mr. Abel showed out, discarding a spade.

The situation was grave. Everything now depended on the diamond finesse. Mrs. Keen took two more rounds of trumps, then led the queen of diamonds and let it ride. Mr. Abel won with the king and the following club trick set the contract.

"Mighty lucky opening," remarked Mr. Muzzy.
"Yes, I just shut my eyes and pulled one out at random," Mr. Dale replied. "I make all my opening leads that way."

Truck Through Francois Ice

FRANCOIS LAKE—There was quite a lot of excitement on both sides of the lake on Wednesday morning when Pete Heibert's truck, loaded with lumber, broke through the ice as it was coming across. The front of the truck stayed up but the back end settled down into the water. With the help of willing neighbors with cables and poles they managed to keep the truck from settling into the deep water as it was half a mile from shore. The next morning it was unloaded and the truck hauled onto the ice. It looked none the worse for the experience.

Pentiction First Stop in Hoop Race

Expert Travels South Senior A Play-off

Prince Rupert's all-star basketball team, the Challengers, will head for Pentiction to play the first game on the opening leg of the local Senior A playoff schedule. Decision was made last night by the local Basketball Association and that the B.C. Amateur Basketball Association pays travelling expenses.

will not enter the Junior Medal tournament to be held in Pentiction.

Executive, which has only dealt with Senior basketball, was not prepared to play off against a team of playoff calibre. News that BCABA was planning to send a team to Pentiction was a pleasant surprise, said the executive.

Challengers' first series with the best two of three games. March 7, 8 and 10 (if necessary). Winner meets the team of the Lower Mainland and series which will be held in five games.

schedule laid down by the B.C. Association. It also provides that, if Pentiction should win against Prince Rupert, first game of the series would be played in Pentiction. If all parties are agreed, the series will most likely be held in two of three games.

champion team goes on to Alberta's champions and until the Canadian championship has been decided. Challengers and their supporters are looking forward to the thought of a series which confronts the local team with the best of the province.

Greens Crack Defence To Rout Ocean Falls

By ROSS INGRAM

Hi-Greens 31, Ocean Falls 10

In a second half rally, local students overran the visiting Ocean Fallers to end with a lead of 21 points in the first of a two-game exhibition series here last night.

The first half saw Charlton Hi-Greens completely baffle Hi-Greens with their tight zone defence. With smart plays by Meldrum and Reed, Ocean Falls held down the locals to three field goals by half time.

But in the third and fourth quarters, Greens began to break up the Charlton strong defence and steadily racked up a heavy lead with the help of sharp shooting by Clark, Webber and Sankey.

Strong point for the visitors was their tight and fast floor play but they lacked in shooting confidence as they made only three field goals in the game. Should their shooting improve with practice today, tonight's game could be a real thriller.

At half time break, the Bo-Me-Hi drill team and majorettes performed a "C" parade for Charlton High and a B for Bo-Me-Hi. With the help of cheerleaders, the girls put on a smart performance.

RETURN OF GIRLS

Spectators welcomed the return of girls on the basketball court and in the preliminary event Rupert Peoples Store outscores Bo-Me-Hi Rainbirds three times to end 33-11.

Rusty Thain led the winners to victory with a high scoring 15 points, followed by Miss Budinich with 10. For the losers, Dorothy Webster scored high with seven points in a final quarter rally.

Scoring:
Hi-Green—Clark 6, McAfee 6, Ford 5, Webber 4, Sankey 4, Shepherd 2, Becker 2, Rhodes 2, Kristmanson, Penneff, Wood. Total 31.
Ocean Falls—Frew 3, McAllister 2, Reed 2, D. Hunter 1, Neville 1, Mildrum 1, Lafontaine, Fisher, Dowling, B. Hunter, Jepson. Total 10.

Second night—Fourth and fifth place and second and third.

Third night—Second and third and first and winner of fourth and fifth.

Fourth night—Second game of first place and fourth and fifth place winner.

Fifth night—First game of the final — winner of second and third place teams meets winner of first and winner of fourth night playoff. Sixth and seventh night—second and third game of finals.

In a changing and uncertain world... nearly five million Canadians face the future with greater confidence because Life Insurance serves them these four ways!

- Each year, life insurance provides many thousands of Canadians with money to meet some of their most important needs. Last year, life insurance companies paid out $240 million in benefits to Canadians. Out of this vast sum widows and other beneficiaries received $90 million in death benefits. For many of these people, life insurance payments made all the difference between being supported by relatives or charity — and being financially independent. Through life insurance they can still live in their own homes, keep their children at school and pay their bills! But a much larger portion — $150 million — was paid to living policyholders! It provided income for people in their later years, enabling them to live comfortably and keep their self-respect... sent sons and daughters to college... paid for long dreamed-of trips and helped people reach many other goals.
- Today, more than ever, Canadians rely on life insurance as the easiest, surest way to provide financial security for themselves and their families. A record total of almost $2 billion in new life insurance was purchased by Canadians in 1951. This brings the value of life insurance owned by the nation's policyholders to another new record sum of $17 billion. Their confidence in this form of security is well founded. For, through a whole century of wars, depressions and epidemics, life insurance companies have kept faith with all of their policyholders.
- Canadian communities from coast to coast continue to progress — thanks in part to the investment of life insurance dollars. Last year, more than $225 million were invested by life insurance companies, on behalf of their policyholders, in mortgages, bonds and other sound securities. In this way, life insurance dollars helped to build more new schools, homes, highways, power plants, waterworks, oil pipelines, industrial plants and other aids to better living for all Canadians.
- Life insurance dollars help to check inflation! One of the most powerful forces at work to protect the value of your dollars is the sum of money entrusted to life insurance companies by their policyholders. This "money for the future" helps check inflation and thus strengthens Canada's economy.

Alberta Oil Boom Differs

Lacks Excitement of Texas But May Be Bigger

HOUSTON, Texas (AP)—A geologist with a sense of humor took a map of the United States, drew two narrow lines from the Texas Panhandle to Calgary, Alta., and labelled it "Texans' Corridor."

He was playfully spoofing the hundreds of Texans headed for the biggest oil boom in years, in western Canada.

It's a tremendous boom—but totally different from the wild scenes of the big ones in Texas—East Texas, Borger, Ranger and even Snyder, heart of the vast Scurry county find.

"You miss the explosion of the boom for the vastness of the area," is the way Marlin Sandlin, vice-president of the Woodley Oil Company and president of the Western Prairie Exploitation Company, put it. "There was no wild scratching for leases, or trying to get an acre or two, or sinking as many wells as you could get on your land and running them wide open."

"But stand back and look at it as a whole," Sandlin says of the Canadian development, "and it's the biggest boom in years, maybe in the history of the oil industry."

The boom started Feb. 13, 1947, when Imperial Oil Limited brought in its Leduc discovery well in the central Alberta plains. This was at a time when Canada's one major field, the Turner Valley, was far past its prime and when all North America was keenly conscious of the need for a tremendous new oil supply.

In four years the boom boosted Canada's proven oil reserves from around 40,000,000 to more than 1,000,000,000 barrels. It saw these big discoveries in that time: Leduc, Woodbend, Redwater, Golden Spike, Bon Accord, Whitecliff, Simmons, Norhamville, Excelsior and Stony Plain.

Navy Ready To Protect Ship Lanes

Could Spring Into Action On 24 Hours Notice

If war should come again the Navy would not be caught unaware but would be well prepared to give a good account of itself in fulfilling its primary function of protecting the shipping lanes against enemy attack, Cdr. R. D. Barrett, executive officer, trade, assured the Prince Rupert Gyro Club in an after luncheon address yesterday.

His subject, "Seaborne Trade and the Navy," Cdr. Barrett informed the club of the organization of naval control of shipping which played such a vital part in time of war and which, with a personnel of 2500, was today ready to spring into operation at twenty-four hours' notice to its task of protecting merchant shipping.

"We think we know the capabilities of the new Russian U-boats," Cdr. Barrett declared, "and we are rapidly building the vessels which will be required to combat their menace should war arise."

In an interesting discourse, interpolated with humorous asides and appropriate anecdotes, many from his own experience as a naval officer in command of convoys during World War II and in chasing Chinese pirates in the Orient, Cdr. Barrett traced the development of navies from the earliest days of history. Water from the start had been the easiest and cheapest method of transport. As trading vessels moved farther afield, piracy developed and means of protection had to be devised.

It became apparent as time went on that self-armed trading ships could not carry the weight of all means required for their protection from attack so systems of convey with accompanying protective vessels were devised. As early as 1337 dues were levied in Britain upon merchant ship for such protection.

DEPENDENCE ON SEA

Today Canada was tremendously dependent upon seaborne trade both for her imports and exports and, should war come, this trade would have to be instantly protected. It was the primary function of the navy to protect merchant vessels and lines of communication open—not to engage in actual combat. Canada's part to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was escort vessels which would be available, if needed, to protect all allied vessels against the attack of enemy. Plans were now perfected whereby that protection could be set up effectively within 24 hours.

Cdr. Barrett described many of the problems and details of well-organized organization that was required in providing and making up convoys such as routing, timing and protection—all of which necessitated training. Under convoy, there was complete control of shipping which could be provided if ships moved as separate units.

Offering to answer questions, Cdr. Barrett was asked what he thought of Canada having a Texans who travelled their "Corridor" to Calgary, entered a pioneer land, says Sandlin.

"The people are open-hearted and open-minded and ready to make you welcome. They want their country developed and they're ready to meet foreign capital more than halfway."

Much of the vast area in Canada under development is leased from the government. A million acres is hardly more than two inches blocked off on a map of the country.

That alone makes this boom different from the turbulent discoveries in Texas, where leases was a frantic prize and acreage was small.

Drilling for oil in Canada isn't much different than drilling in Texas or any other place, Sandlin says.

For the extreme cold weather, operators "winterize" their equipment. This means building enclosures at the top of the rigs for the operators, or using steam heat. They do this in the cold states, too, like the Dakotas, Colorado and Wyoming.

A rig worker can be more comfortable in Canada than in West Texas in the winter.

Sandlin said lack of refineries and pipelines will retard but won't stop development of this basin of oil.

"These same deficiencies were encountered in the U.S.," he reminded.

And when they are fixed, Sandlin and other oil men expect Canada to produce as much oil as the United States.

coastguard service like that of the United States. He thought such was hardly warranted due to the tremendous expense since the job was already being carried out to considerable extent by other agencies such as Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Royal Canadian Air Force, the navy itself and other agencies.

President Marc Gormley was in the chair and there was a good attendance of Gyro members with Lt. J. L. Langham, RCN, Capt. J. Kougham and G. A. Bell as guests.

Next week's Gyro speaker will be George G. Vincent of the public relations department of Aluminum Co. of Canada, from Vancouver.
