According to custom, empty egg shells placed by Puerto Rican families on their sisal trees reflect light that scares away lizards and insects from their gardens. That's cute Angelita Sierra maintaining the legend on a giant sisal.

First of Two Six-Car Barges Scheduled to Arrive Today

First of two six-car barges is scheduled to arrive here today to handle equipment being hauled via the CNR ferry slip to the pulp mill under construction near Ketchikan. The second is expected within 10 days.

The barges, which were equipped with trackage at the pulp mill, will replace the four-car barge presently in operation. Arrival of the new barges will probably mean that considerably more carloads of equipment will be hauled from here to the mill during construction period than originally planned, J. S. Foster, agent here for Straits Towing Ltd., reported.

He said it was first thought that about 200 carloads would make the trip. To date, however, approximately 150 cars have already been handled and the new service will triple the capacity before the mill is completed next spring.

Mr. Foster pointed out that, in addition to their greater capacity, the new barges will have an advantage over the present system in that they will make better use of tidal conditions. At present an average period of 18 hours is required at this end for a single loading.

When pulp starts moving from the Alaska mill, a 20-car barge now ready in Puget Sound will take over the service, Mr. Foster reported. It is expected that by this means 40 carloads a week will be hauled from the mill to Prince Rupert, which is about 2,000 tons of pulp.

The service then will operate from the permanent ferry slip which the CNR is constructing here. This is designed to eliminate much of the tidal difficulties. Having recently made a trip through Alaska, Mr. Foster said he was impressed by the interest shown in the new Canadian route. Operations from U.S. ports have been badly hampered by strike conditions and reductions in service, with the result that rail shipments through this port are looked upon as a hopeful solution. There is a report that businessmen in Ketchikan are considering construction of a ferry slip there and make connections with the service through Prince Rupert.

The five-man commission to be elected Tuesday night will replace the present Prince Rupert Basketball Association and will have final say over the season's cage play, disputes and any rulings that may be necessary during the 1953-54 season.

more easy to attain. By means of the narcotics forum, started without formal backing from any organized group, he hopes to improve the individual addict's understanding of the drug problem and give him a clearer knowledge of society's attitude. Dr. Signori would also acquaint the public with the needs and desires of the addict.

Dr. Signori hopes the forum's group discussions and lectures by special speakers can be expanded soon into a narcotics association, aiming at aiding all addicts, whether they are out to break the habit or not. With such an association, Dr. Signori believes at least a few of the addicts released from Oakalla might not be back in jail quite so soon as they usually are. The association wouldn't require applicants for membership to swear off drugs because, says the professor, "it has not yet been definitely established that all addicts can be cured."

"Many people talk about the drug problem," he says, "but they don't do much about it."

Eden Meets Ministers Separately

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

LONDON (AP)—The Big Three foreign ministers carried on their study of global cold war problems today with the question of whether to offer Russia a sweeping non-aggression pact at the top of the agenda.

U.S. State Secretary Dulles, Foreign Secretary Eden and French Foreign Minister Bidault scheduled their crucial second day huddle in the grey old Foreign Office off Downing Street.

Dulles, accompanied by U.S. ambassador Winthrop Aldrich, had an hour's private talk with Eden before the full conference got under way. The secretary will confer privately with Bidault before the afternoon session begins at 4 p.m.

In addition to the non-aggression pact, the ministers faced decisions on several other tough problems as they neared the half-way mark of their three-day session. Among these were:

- An urgent British proposal to bring an Israel attack on three border Jordan villages before the United Nations Security Council. Fifty-six Arabs were reported killed in the assault which Britain blasted Friday as "apparently calculated."

- Practical means of allaying Yugoslav anger over Trieste in view of the ministers' reported agreement Friday night to stand by the British-American announcement that Italy would be given Zone A of that strategic territory.

The ministers also must put finishing touches on drafts of British, French and American notes to the Soviet Union calling for a Big Four foreign ministers' meeting Nov. 9 at Lugano, Switzerland, to discuss a final Austrian settlement and German unification.

Gale Warning In Effect Along Coast

A steady downpour of rain and high winds hit Prince Rupert this afternoon as a storm moved inland across the coast from the Queen Charlottes.

The weatherman promised nothing but clouds and rain for this city tonight and tomorrow, in the wake of the storm.

A gale warning was issued this morning as the storm moved in from the islands, lashing the entire B.C. coast with winds up to 70 miles per hour.

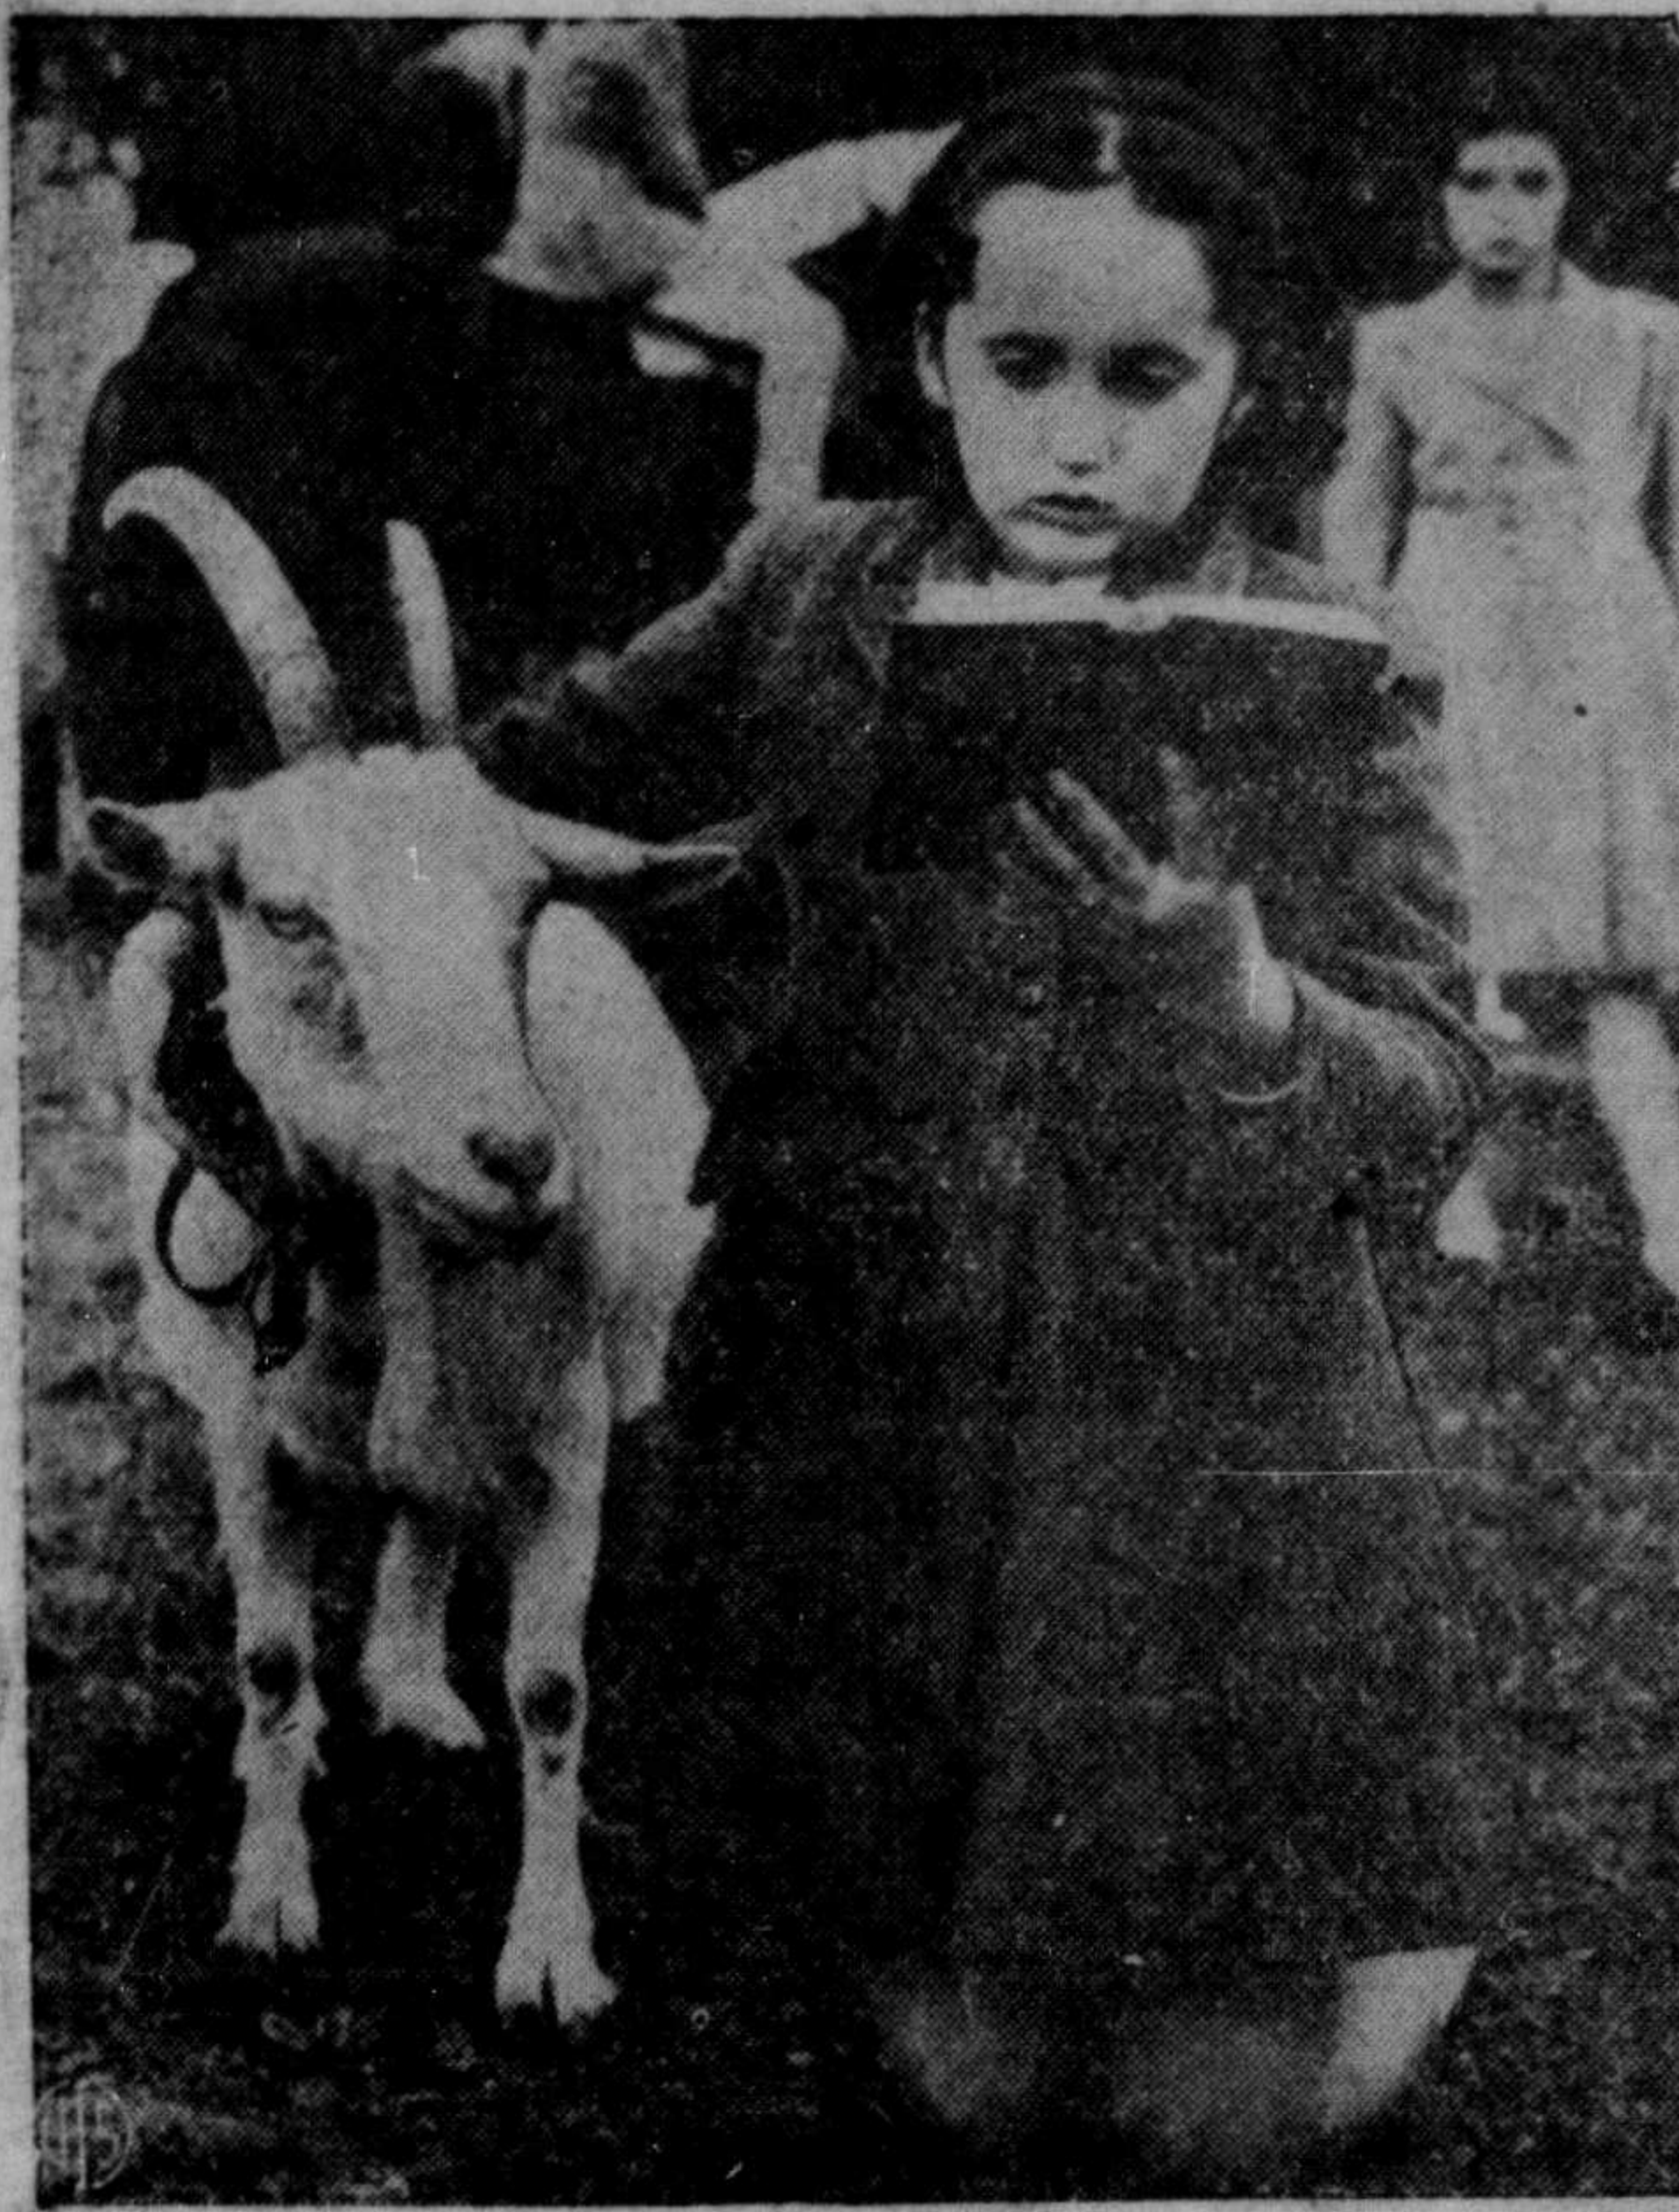

The weather synopsis said a moist southwesterly circulation will persist over the coast after the storm moves into the interior and showery weather will prevail in all coastal sectors Sunday. In most of the interior there should be intervals of sunshine tomorrow.

Midnight Call False Alarm For Firemen

Prince Rupert firemen last night were called out on a false alarm.

Shortly after midnight an unidentified man called the department to a fire in his home. He didn't know the address but said he would be out on the street, on Sixth Avenue East, to guide them to the fire.

The firemen could find no trace of the man or a fire.

All-Canadian Concert Well-Received by Critics

NEW YORK (CP)—Carnegie Hall was the setting Friday night for the first major concert of Canadian music ever held in the United States.

A distinguished international audience representing most of the countries of the world heard Leopold Stokowski conduct his orchestra in the instrumental and vocal works of six leading Canadian composers.

In the New York Herald Tribune, Virgil Thomson says the coming of age musically of Canada "was clearly demonstrated here last night."

HEAR WITH APPROVAL

Olin Downes says in The Times that the concert was "heard with manifest approval by a brilliant audience," but calls this of "secondary importance where this review is concerned."

"The concert was of exceptional interest and artistic significance," Downes says. "Not one . . . score was of a merely controversial character" and each "revealed an individuality of more or less strength on the part of the composer . . . to show an impressive degree of technical mastery."

The six composers—Pierre Mercure, Alexander Brott and Francois Morel of Montreal, and Healey Willan, Colin McPhee and Godfrey Ridout of Toronto—were present to hear their compositions performed and to take bows from an audience which was heavily laden with Canadians, many of them prominent in music, radio and politics.

PRAISES MCPHEE

The Tribune's Thomson writes: "The evening's most brilliant and striking work was Colin McPhee's Tabuh-Tabuhan, composed in 1936, a 17-minute piece in three movements that evokes by direct imitation the music of Bali . . . It may be the ending-piece that all conductors are looking for . . . for it is completely brilliant, busy, sweet and fun."

Indian Guard Takes Prisoner From Area

By The Associated Press

PANMUNJOM.—Bitter squabbles flared between Allied and Communist officers today as all but nine of 430 Chinese war prisoners defiantly turned their backs on Red attempts to woo them back to communism.

It was a second stinging blow to the Reds, who persuaded only 10 of 500 to return in the first day of the explanations Thursday.

There will be no explanations Sunday under neutral nations repatriation commission rules.

The dramatic Allied-Communist tug of war reached fevered pitch today, not only in the clashes between the prisoners but also between UN command and Red observers.

A bitter flareup, punctuated by kicks and curses, flamed over one anti-Red Chinese PoW who was forced to listen to Communist explanations for almost three hours.

Before the PoW was led away, one Communist representative kicked a Chinese-American observer for the UN command in the leg. Another Chinese-American stood toe-to-toe with a Polish representative of the NNRC and screamed curses at him.

The PoWs themselves reacted with the same violence as they did the first day of the interviews.

Once in the explanation center they gave way to pent-up anger. Some shouted curses, others hurled chairs, kicked and screamed at the Communist officers.

Many were physically restrained by Indian guards. Most of the interviews lasted only a few minutes, but one—the cause of the bitter argument—lasted for three hours.

Only fast action by Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the NNRC, averted possible serious violence.

Thimayya whisked the prisoner away. He grabbed the PoW by the shoulders and took him from the angry crowds of officers on both sides, put him in his own car and sped away.

Engineers' Request Turned Down

Because the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service has instructed hospitals to hold the line on their budgets, the local hospital board has advised staff engineers that it cannot authorize a reduction in their working hours. The engineers, who are on a 44-hour week, have asked for a 40-hour week.

In explaining this action at a board meeting last night, chairman Robert Moore pointed out that the hospital budget is established by BCHIS which does not recognize any change in working agreements with employees which do not go through the procedure of a conciliation board.

If the engineers reject the board's decision, the matter then presumably will be referred to conciliation. Four engineers are employed on the hospital staff.

In further business at the meeting, Doug Stevenson, hospital administrator, and Miss Elizabeth Clement, nursing superintendent, were named delegates for the Prince Rupert General hospital to the provincial hospital convention at Vancouver, Oct. 27-30.

Burns Lake Pair Committed On Theft Charge

BURNS LAKE.—Two local men charged with breaking and entering and theft, have been committed for trial at the County Court session here next week.

Frank Hrudka and Steve Skoyarek were charged with breaking into a ranch at Francois Lake, owned by Clarence Snyder and stealing over $1,000 worth of personal property. The men, who allegedly used a truck to cart the loot away, were arrested at Vanderhoof.

Skoyarek also faces a charge of carrying concealed weapons, which were confiscated at the time of his arrest.

The charge was laid before Stipendiary Magistrate L. G. Saul here. County Court Judge W. O. Fulton will preside at the hearing next week.

Destroy the Rats!

IT IS DISMAYING to think that every time we put the garbage out we are dispatching another meal to the rats at the city dump. Much as we loathe and fear the vermin, we are doing our best to keep them alive.

It is a condition which must not be allowed to continue. The rat is not just a repulsive creature. It is a disease carrier which, as health director Dr. J. S. Carr has pointed out, threatens the health of the entire city. When cold weather comes, it usually deserts its feeding-ground at the dump and imposes on us further by seeking not only our food but the warmth of our homes.

The danger is then very close. This filthy guest may contaminate everything it touches. Moreover, it has on countless occasions attacked its human benefactors, particularly babies who are helpless against its vicious assault.

While it is optimistic to expect that we can rid ourselves completely of rats by killing them at the city dump, this would be a major step in their ultimate destruction. By eliminating the thousands of rats which are alive there today, we will dispose of the many more thousands yet to be born.

As Dr. Carr has observed, poison will not work as long as they have fresh garbage to feed on. For this reason he has recommended that a sanitary fill be commenced to which refuse could be temporarily diverted. Since there are plans to reclaim Algoma Park, the suggestion is that both undertakings could be accomplished together by doing the job there.

The idea seems to be a reasonable one. Tests have shown that layers of earth over garbage are an effective sterilizing protection against pollution and odor. Meanwhile this same compacted soil would provide a good surface for the park grounds.

It is thought there may be public disapproval of the plan. We doubt it. Anyone who has flashed a light on the dump at night will know the horror of that crawling spectacle. It is of first importance that we destroy it, and if in the bargain we can get good park grounds that pass expert health inspection, who will object?

All Aboard By G.E. Mortimore

Thousands of people who live in trailers can hold their heads a little higher now, at the risk of bumping them on the ceiling. Royalty has put the mark of social acceptance on the trailer as a dwelling-place.

Queen Mother Elizabeth recently bought a $2,500 luxury trailer (or caravan, as they say in Britain). Supplied with hot water, gas and electric light, the trailer will be parked in the grounds of the Queen Mother's castle in Scotland for use as an extra guest house.

This stamp of royal favor marks the last stage in the evolution of the trailer, or caravan. At one time, happy gypsies jogged along in caravans drawn by sleepy old nags. Then came the automobile and the motor-drawn trailer. Every year bigger cars roared across the country pulling bigger trailers. Trailers acquired trailers of their own.

The older families, stubbornly clinging to traditional ways, continued to live in houses. But now we may expect a rush on the caravan market as social leaders both sides of the Atlantic go shopping for trailers equipped with ballrooms, servants' quarters, tradesmen's entrances and door chimers.

Before the trailer went respectable, my wife and I lived in a trailer for about three years. If the Queen Mother's mobile palace is a Rolls among trailers, ours was a Model A Ford.

Our trailer was one of about 20 in a trailer camp. Outside people regarded the camp as a sort of picturesque slum on wheels. Each Sunday, squadrons of tourists drove to the camp and looked the trailer folk over, nudging one another in the ribs when they spotted a particularly colorful looking vagabond painting the roof or hanging out the clothes.

We residents of the trailer camp would have been glad to sit on stumps and offer the visitors some quaint, homespun philosophy, but we were too busy with our textbooks. All the trailer folk were students and their wives and children.

The camp was run on a co-operative system. All the residents took turns shirking the work of cleaning up the central hut and feeding the fires. Occasionally we had parties in our trailer, squeezing a dozen or more people into a space the size of a small closet. One of our visitors had a fine baritone voice, which he loved to use at 4 a.m.

Because of shortage of chairs and floor space, we fell into the habit of lying down on the bed while receiving people. A habit like this, once it takes hold, is difficult to shed. If a man removes his shoes during a cocktail party and reclines on a chesterfield, you can bet the olive in your martini that he's an ex-trailerite.

When people of the smart set take to trailer life, they will have to solve a problem of etiquette: Is a trailer a house or a vehicle? If a trailer is a house, a gentleman will open the door and let a lady out ahead of him. If a trailer is a vehicle, a gentleman will get out first and give a lady his hand.

My wife and I tackled this question in a fairly simple manner. Whoever could push harder got out first. Both of us developed good shoulder muscles that way, but we are getting flabby since we moved to a house.

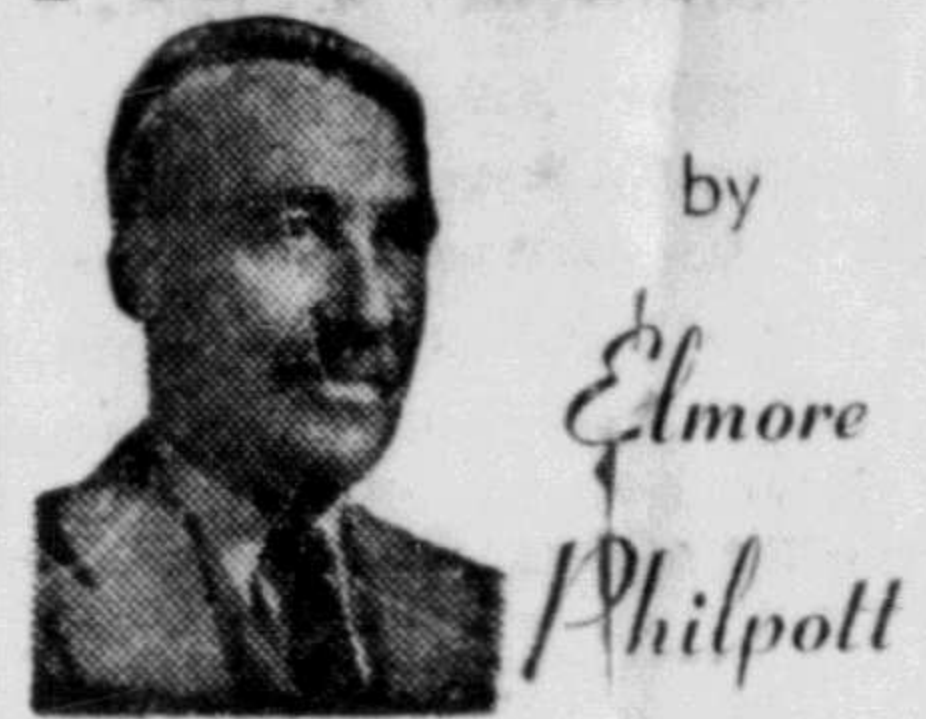

The City of London, England, was already a busy trading centre when Christ was born.

As I See It

Guiana Dilemma

THE British Labor party laid the foundation for self government in British Guiana. For that reason, and others, we may be sure that it will demand a convincing explanation of the measures taken by the Churchill government to nip off what the British Colonial Office calls a "Communist plot" to set up a Red dictatorship.

British Labor itself has good reason to remember how British Tories once won an election by producing a fake letter which purported to show that the Labor party was on the payroll of Moscow.

Here in Canada at the time of the Winnipeg strike, even fine men like J. S. Woodsworth and John Queen were smeared in newspaper cartoons as being involved in a Bolshevik plot to overthrow law and order.

In 1931, the day before Humphrey Mitchell was elected as Labor MP for West Hamilton, the Toronto Mail and Empire carried an eight-column banner headline on page one reading: "Shadow of Kremlin Falls Over Hamilton."

Yet the man who later became the Minister of Labor in the King government was one of the strongest anti-Communists in the entire trade union movement.

BUT British Labor, remembering Czechoslovakia, will know very well that it is also possible that the extraordinary measures taken by the Churchill government were justified by a genuine emergency.

The important thing is: Was the People's Progressive party a true democratic party or one tied to Moscow?

The essential difference between democracy and either communism or fascism is that democracy is based on the people's right to throw a government out whenever they get tired of it. Both communism and fascism operate on the basis of the One Party State—that is, of course, the police state, which permits no free speech or opposition.

LORD RUSSELL poses the dilemma in British Guiana but himself answers half his own riddle: "We have a right to say we will not have a Communist government for that is one which cannot be changed by subsequent changes of opinion." But in so doing he unconsciously reveals the ruling class aristocratic Englishman's assumption that somehow or other he has a divine mandate to rule over "lesser breeds without the law."

There happens to be in power in Britain a government with enough soldiers and warships to enforce the veto on the people's choice of the ruling party in British Guiana. That veto may be right or wrong.

But what happens, say, in a great nation like Italy, when it elects, by a free vote of the majority, a Communist regime? The obvious truth then is that no outside power can step in to overrule the votes of the people of the country concerned without substituting actual foreign dictatorship for a potential domestic dictatorship.

The one thing certain is that whenever half of the people in any country vote Communist, democracy is finished in that country, indefinitely.

POLITICAL ROUNDUP

by J. K. Nesbitt

VICTORIA.—Despite all the talk—and the writing—that this has been a dull legislative session, when we analyze some of the sayings of MLAs it becomes, indeed, an extremely interesting session. There has been, as a matter of fact, some very good legislative debate, and some moments of intense drama. It's just that it hasn't been as rough-and-tumble as heretofore.

Take the speech of Social Creditor the Rev. Mr. Parker of Peace River, for instance. It had lots of drama in it. The Rev. Mr. Parker's a big, boyish type of man, always smiling and generally generous-hearted.

He told us about the Peace River district, that wonderful district of grainfields, oil wells, coal fields. It's a great place, is the Peace. said Mr. Parker, but do you know, Mr. Speaker, there aren't any roads in the Peace River district. Everybody looked astonished at this. No roads? No, Mr. Speaker, 315 roads, only mule trails. That's what Mr. Parker said—and he should know.

Then, suddenly, Mr. Parker remembered. Oh, yes, Mr. Speaker, there's a bit of pavement in the Peace River district, after all; 6.5 miles of pavement and it runs from Dawson Creek to—now, where do you suppose, Mr. Speaker? Why, to the liquor store in Pouce Coupe. Mr. Parker said he'd sure like some pavement to his church, but oh, no, only pavement to the liquor store! Mr. Parker painted a picture of such grim road conditions in the Peace River country that MLAs could not see people up there, unless they trek back and forth between the liquor store, swallowing dust in summer, up to their necks in gumbo in winter.

And then, having rid himself of the troubles of folk in the Peace River, Mr. Parker went for a bit of a swim in the pool of politics. He thrashed about, and insisted on kicking up a great splash all over the Liberals. He didn't bother with the CCF. He said, said Mr. Parker, you know, Mr. Speaker, the Liberals have only four members left in the House? And do you know why, Mr. Speaker? Mr. Parker answered his own question. Because, Mr. Speaker, they've finally reaped what they've sown—and, Mr. Parker said, believe him, it's a crop failure.

North Vancouver's SC Mr. Tomlinson said that to him it appears that legislative speeches are nothing but remnants of election speeches. Mr. Tomlinson didn't think he liked this fact—and, of course, it is a fact. He said personal prejudices among politicians should be left at home, on the hustings, not dragged into the legislative chamber, that marble-pillared, blue-carpeted repository of the province's highest law-makers. However, despite such high-sounding sentiments, Mr. Tomlinson hauled into the House some of the hustings' talk. He said oppositionists are always asking what's Social Credit, and that oppositionists says Social Crediters don't even know themselves.

"And do you?" barked Burnaby's CCF Mr. Winch. Mr. Tomlinson, figuratively if not literally turning his political nose at Burnaby's Mr. Winch, said he would explain Social Credit. It's quite simple, said Mr. Tomlinson. Social Credit, said Mr. Tomlinson, is "it," with a capital I, and "so here we are a government." Thus spoke North Vancouver's Mr. Tomlinson, and he looked completely amazed that, all of a sudden, he should be part of a government.

SATURDAY SERMON

By MAJOR W. C. POULTON, MBE, Salvation Army
THE DRAMA OF SALVATION

Text: 1 Thessalonians 4:11. "... Study to be quiet and to do your own business ..."

There are a score or more ways to interpret that scripture, in and out of its context. So far as the people of Salonika were concerned its probable meaning was that they should avoid contention in their midst, or as Dr. Weymouth translates it: "Vie with one another in eagerness for peace."

But all Bible students know that there is much more besides its original intention. Read out of its context with other passages it loses its chill and takes on warmth and a fuller purport.

Quietness," says Paul, and along comes the ancient Isaiah to add "And Confidence," the sum of these two is strength—strength for the work God will give us to do.

"Be quiet," says Paul, and David adds this fine word "Fret not." Do not worry overmuch because of the people who seem to be making wickedness pay: wait patiently for God.

"Patience," says Paul in effect, and the Psalmist adds "For He shall strengthen thine heart."

And right back through the Bible the message of the Apostle wakens the echoes: "Wait upon the Lord. Wait I say. Wait." Then out of the darkness and the vastness of time peals the ancient command, "Be still and know that I am God."

Patience is the root of the matter, with forbearance and an avoidance of the merely dramatic. Having said that I come to the undeniable fact that Salvation is very dramatic. Thus we have the power of the Gospel shown in its great opposites. Be quite quiet, but also be quite ready for drama and I cannot agree with those who take fright at every emotional and dramatic personal religion. Religion bed of these things become real. That drama may take forms but it has to be the Christian life has to be reverence that it has to be torpid then take heed to come so quiet that you have to sleep. The thrill of the ascetic Road kept Paul going after the quiet of the Desert had been forgotten. ... and do.

May God so guide and you, because your mine needs more drama.

Comadina-Wrathall Rites Among Loveliest of Season

Two pioneer Prince Rupert families were united yesterday at one of the loveliest wedding ceremonies of the season in the Church of the Annunciation.

Popular principals were Olive Marie Wrathall, daughter of Mr. William W. Wrathall, 336 Fifth Avenue West, and the late Mrs. Wrathall, and Joseph Comadina, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Comadina of Prince Rupert. Both were born in this city.

Her floor-length gown featured a skirt of net panelled with intricate lace over satin, long sleeves, yoke of net and tiny collar trimmed with seed pearls. Her shoulder-length embroidered veil cascaded from a Mary Queen of Scots headdress and she carried a beautiful sheaf of Pink Delight roses.

endants in New Colors

The groom's sister, Mrs. W. A. Wrathall, was matron of honor, wearing a pretty gown of Queen's lace over tulle with bodice and a long-sleeved jacket with a blue velvet collar and a blue velvet collar. Her bouquet was of pink and white roses.

The bride's maid was Miss Audrey Wrathall, wearing a net, tulle and lace gown with a new shrimp shade, with a net over tulle and a blue velvet collar. Her bouquet was of pink and white roses.

The ceremony at which the bride and groom were joined in marriage was given in marriage by Mr. H. R. Wrathall, brother of the bride's father, Mr. Frank Comadina, who was Mr. W. A. Pierce.

Decor for Reception

A heart-shaped arch covered with pink and white paper and decorated with pink and white roses graced the entrance to the reception.

The bride's table, covered with a white cloth of drawn linen, held a three-tiered cake topped by a small of deep pink rose buds, and decorated with white tapers surrounded by pink and white candles in crystal holders.

The table from which the bride and groom were served was a beautiful cut-work cloth with a white cloth. The bride and groom were seated at the head of the table.

Trespassing ... With Sandy

The rainy climate of this city may bother the citizens, but it gave a visitor here this week great delight. The man—

Charlie Friend—left this morning for Vancouver after a two-day visit with nothing but praise for the scenic beauty of Prince Rupert and a good word for the rain.

Charlie, who is a field inventory inspector for the CBC, hails from Auckland, New Zealand. A jewelry salesman until a few years ago, he hitchhiked a ride to Canada aboard an Indamer Corporation plane and shortly after his arrival joined the CBC.

Charlie makes his home in Montreal now, although he says he feels much better out west where it rains and the scenery is so wonderful. He has a good time in Vancouver where he and Harry Mossfield see the sights.

Cliff Gilker is used to the rain in Rupert but his latest tale is about the motorist heading here from Vancouver who found driving conditions far from good... and at one time after his car became bogged in a huge pothole he saw a fish swimming in the water. He didn't say whether he caught the fish.

Congratulations are in order for the Legion members who once again staged a bang-up party for members last night. Entertainment committee members Bob Bone and Harold Anderson wore big smiles throughout the evening as members arrived to enjoy the fun.

The ladies of the auxiliary, who did the catering, however, were the pride of all. Helping to keep the crowd happy with delicious food were Mrs. Rothwell, Mrs. Jean Goriot, Mrs. Fred Reich, Mrs. Anderson and Myra Gilchrist.

Good wishes for a pleasant trip are in order for Mr. and Mrs. Ted Applewhite, who are leaving by boat tomorrow night for Vancouver. They will visit in Nelson before enroute for Ottawa, to attend the opening of Parliament in November.

Mrs. Applewhite received high praise for her paintings which were on display at the Rotary tea on Thursday.

They will reside at 336 Fifth Avenue West in Prince Rupert.

Junior Red Cross Members' Donations Help Handicapped

Behind every child brought to Vancouver for medical check-up or operation stands a veritable army of young people, 123,000 strong, members of Junior Red Cross in British Columbia who pick up the bill.

The Juniors in B.C. have contributed to a crippled and handicapped fund since 1925. They themselves earn the money and it comes into Red Cross House in Vancouver in pennies, which mount into dollars.

It has mounted into so many dollars since 1941, $129,120 has been spent from the fund to assist less fortunate children back to health. Operations which could not otherwise be managed have been done. The cases are screened through public health departments throughout the province and recommended to Junior Red Cross officials and arrangements are made for transportation to Vancouver and subsequent care.

In that space of time 1,985 cases have been handled with an average cost per case of $65.05.

Besides this, 52 cases have been loaned wheel chairs, invalid walkers, crutches. The mountain of pennies has added up to restored health for many B.C. and Yukon Territory children.

UN Security Council May Have To Handle Hot Border Issue Between Israel and Jordan

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The UN Security Council, already confronted with an Israeli-Syrian dispute over the waters of the Jordan river, may be asked to try cooling off a hot border issue between Israel and Jordan.

Britain Friday night asked the Big Three foreign ministers' meeting in London to haul Israel before the council on charges of endangering peace in the Middle East.

The move came shortly after the British government accused Israel of an "apparently calculated attack on three border Jordan villages."

Earlier Friday, Syria fired off a protest to the Security Council that Israel's diversion of the River Jordan constitutes a threat to Middle East peace.

The alleged Israeli assault Wednesday night reportedly cost 56 Arab lives.

In Baghdad, Iraq Premier Fadhil Jamali asked the United States and Britain, through their ambassadors, to take serious measures against Israel for the attack. There was no official comment from Israel.

Observers at the United Nations said anger over the Jordan village incident undoubtedly gave impetus to Syria's protest over the Jordan river. Jordan is not a UN member, but Syria is looked on as her spokesman here.

Although Syria is the sole plaintiff, her stand will have support of other members of the Arab League who belong to the United Nations.

Security Council President William Borberg of Denmark has scheduled the protest for next Thursday and UN observers expressed confidence it would be approved for discussion.

Israel sources here said the Tel Aviv government was ready to have the Security Council adjudicate the water dispute and has so indicated to Danish Maj.-Gen. Vagn Dønnike, chairman of the UN mixed armistice commission.

In view of the British and American reaction to the border attack, diplomats here said both nations probably would vote in favor of placing the Syrian protest on the agenda.

In its protest, Syria denounced Israel's diversion of the river as a flagrant violation of the Syrian-Israeli armistice.

Syria claimed the mixed armistice commission called on Israel to halt the work but she refused.

Conference Date Set

Monday, October 26 has been set as the date for a conference in Ottawa between the Native Brotherhood of British Columbia and Citizenship Minister W. E. Harris to discuss the new Indian Act, Bill 79. The conference will last for three days.

Equalization Hearing Starts Next Tuesday

Residents of Stewart received a shock on Wednesday when they looked out their windows and saw the earth covered with a blanket of snow. This is the earliest arrival, in town, of the white fluff stuff.

Torrential rain late in the day erased the fall, leaving mud and pools of water in its wake.

The Silver Tip crew arrived in town during the week-end having completed a very successful season's work. Hunter Smith the mine foreman, says he is confident of the ultimate success of the property. Developments this year have been very satisfactory indeed, he says, and next season's work should definitely prove up the property as a producer.

Recently, a very aggressive black bear was shot near the village dump by C. W. Wilson. It was variously estimated to be anywhere from 600 to 1,000 pounds and had a fine hide which Chuck Walker is having tanned.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion are having a sale of home cooking in the Legion clubrooms tomorrow.

Arrangements are well under way for the Remembrance Day Cenotaph Service, Poppy Day, and the annual dance of the Stewart Branch of the Canadian Legion.

The bungalow owned by Teague McGee on Seventh Street was destroyed by fire last Saturday. It was rented to Mr. and Mrs. G. Cairns who were not at home at the time. When discovered, the fire had a secure hold and despite strenuous efforts by the volunteer fire brigade, gutted the structure. Origin of the fire was thought to have been caused by the overflowing of an oil stove.

Russ Aircraft 'Violate' Border

VANCOUVER — Russian reconnaissance aircraft must be violating Canada's Arctic borders, Gen. Lucius D. Clay said Thursday.

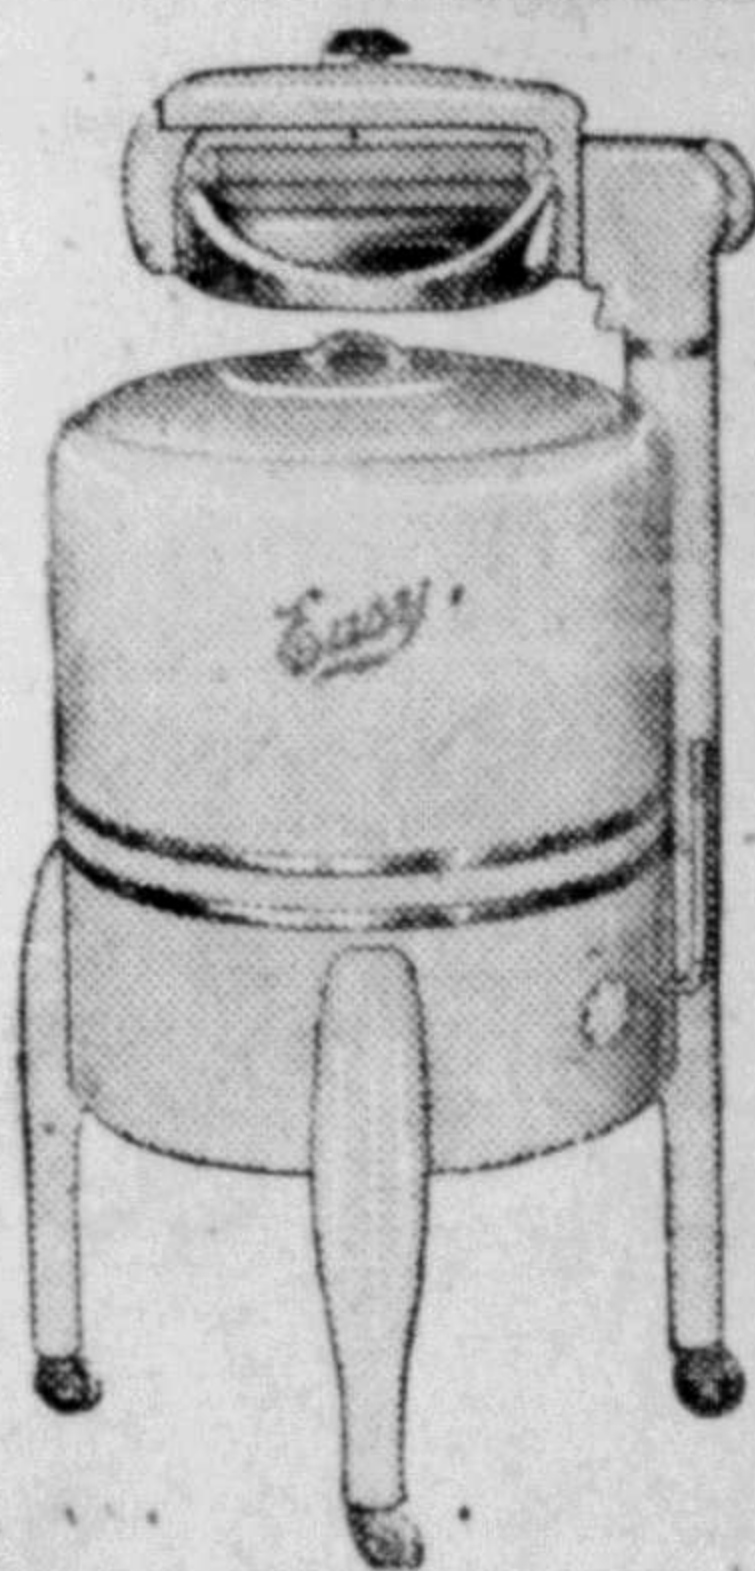

Questioned during a press conference here on recent reports that Russian planes are flying over Northern Canada, the former military governor of the United States zone of Germany hesitated noticeably before answering, then said:

"It would be inconceivable to me that in view of the strained international conditions Russia, with her capabilities, was not making such flights."

First Prize! from Paris

PARIS 1953

ANTWERP 1952

LUXEMBOURG 1951

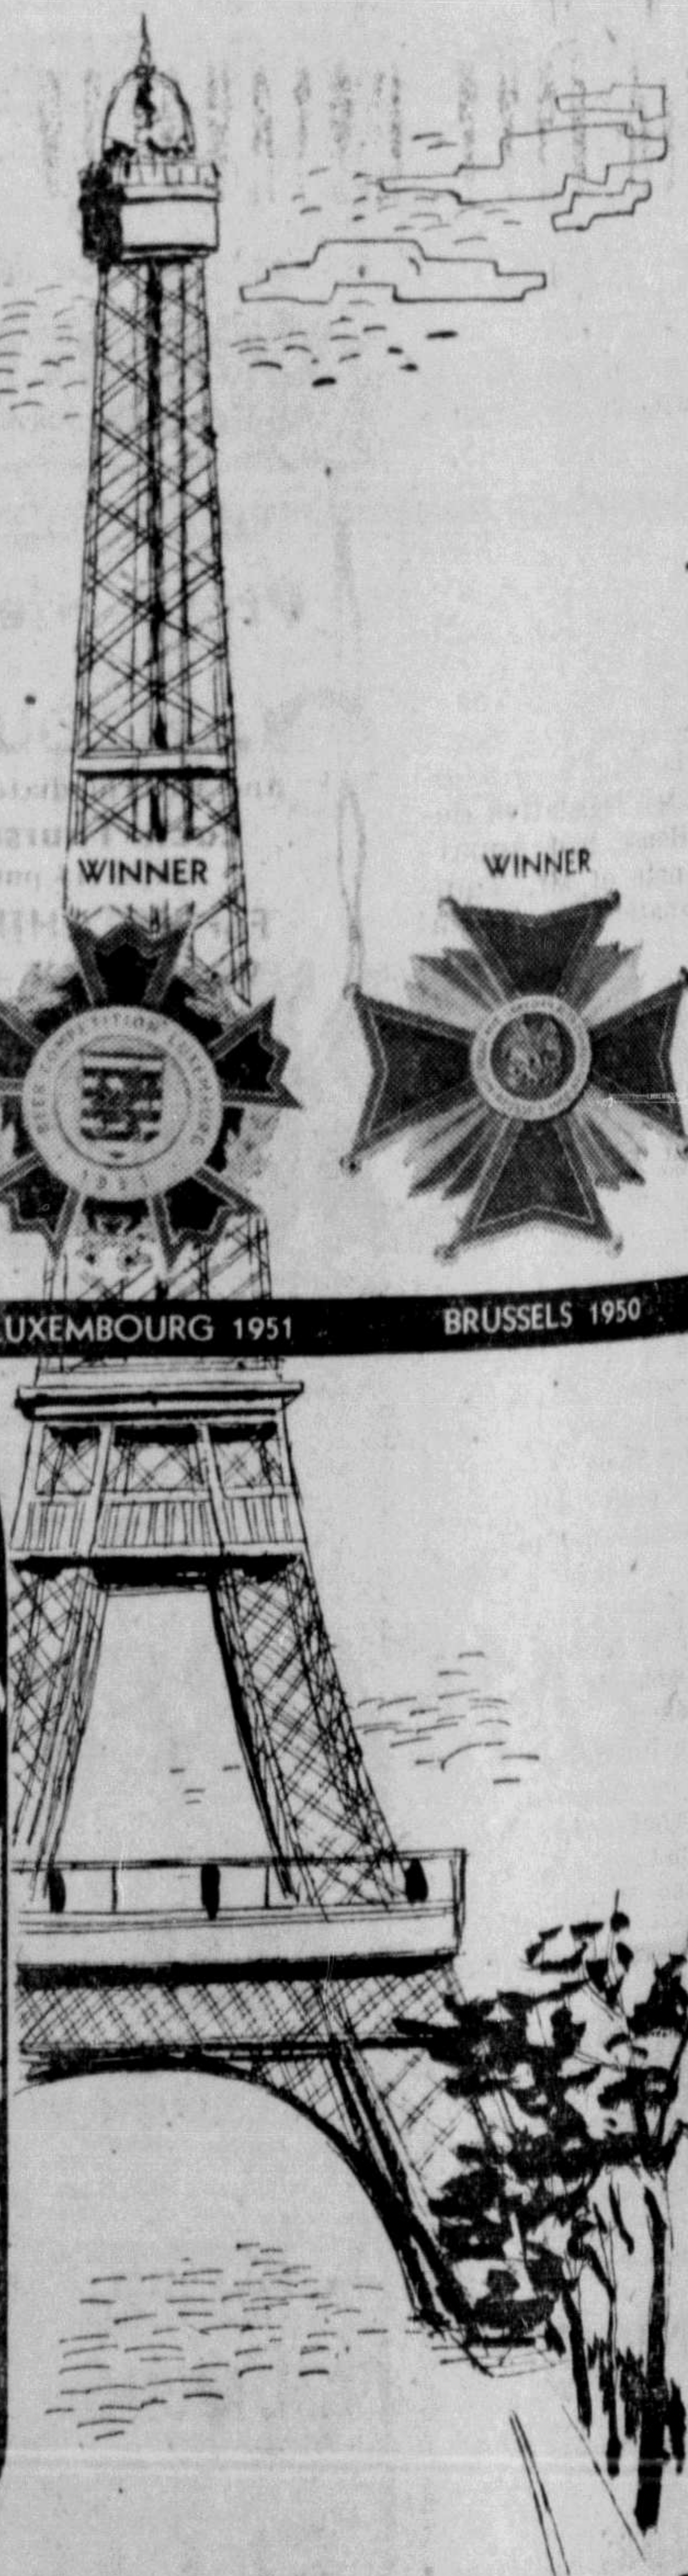

BRUSSELS 1950

"Congratulations!" said the renowned Masters of the Brewing Industry at Paris, France, where they again awarded Lucky Lager the "Star of Excellence" in international competition. "Yes!" said these great European connoisseurs of good food and drink as they caught the bouquet and scrutinized the other qualities of this finest of Canadian beers.

For many years now, more and more people here on the Pacific Coast have shown an ever-increasing preference for Lucky Lager beer. They have probably made it THEIR beer because of its dependable goodness.

These yearly awards from abroad confirm the good reasons for its popularity at home.

Lucky Lager is consistently proven the finest beer brewed in Canada.

Manitoba University Student Develops Plastic Cover to Protect Grain Crops

WINNIPEG (C)—A new plastic cover, whose basic element is a gas—may help western farmers solve their emergency storage problem.

In normal storage jammed fields, many farmers are forced to store grain outdoors in bins of plywood or other material. In a normal storage period, a farmer can store about 30 bushels of grain close to a 700-bushel bin due to frost and the Speers, an engineering student at the University of Manitoba, has been working with Canada's major manufacturing firms (Canadian Industries Limited) to develop a cheap, plastic cover for such bins to cut weather losses to a minimum.

The material polythene is produced from natural gas at a big plant on the outskirts of Edmonton.

SUCCESSFUL TEST

In tests conducted by the company last winter at Anerley, in interior Saskatchewan, a 1,300-bushel plywood bin was covered with the gaily-colored plastic. The covering was in place from November to June. There was no damage.

A Winnipeg firm (Speers Petrochemicals Limited) is putting the covers into commercial production for this year's crop. The light plastic, similar to that used for grocery bags and other containers, is fabricated by a heat-seal process.

The material is reasonably strong and will withstand the weight of snow. It is susceptible to heat and, unless protected by added ingredients, will crack in hot summer sunlight. Its normal life is one season. Temperatures as low as 60 degrees below zero do not affect it.

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Well, it turns out that Chuck Dessen is not to manage the Baltimore Orioles after all, but will spend at least one season piloting the Oakland club for his old friend Brick Laws.

The man who surrendered the Brooklyn job as a matter of principle had been approached by an intermediary and told that the new Baltimore group was very much interested in obtaining him as its manager, probably under the over-all leadership of Bucky Harris.

With that in mind, Chuck Dessen, Brooklyn president, Walter O'Malley with considerable confidence and demanded a three-year contract. He was turned down cold.

To add to his woes, Clarence Miles, president of the Baltimore group, entered a hospital for a physical checkup, and there apparently was no one else with the authority to purchase the team.

Ottawa Coach Fires Halfback

OTTAWA (CP)—Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four Football League Friday night fired their 27-year-old halfback, Pete Karpuk.

Coach Clem Crowe said Karpuk was dropped from the roster for "indifference."

The player was sent back to dressing quarters during the club's practice.

Crowe would not say exactly what he is alleged to have done. But he commented:

"It was the only thing to do. If a player keeps disobeying you, it's time to let him go. There can be only one boss on the club."

There had been no previous indication that Karpuk was to be taken off the roster.

Karpuk, five-foot-10 and 165 pounds, came from Toronto. He broke into Big Four football with the Rough Riders in 1948.

Five-Pinners Begin Play on Monday

Regular league play in the men's five-pin bowling league begins Monday.

The 22-team league will be split into two sections—12 in A Division and 10 in B Division. The schedule, to be drawn up over the week-end, will be published in Monday's paper.

The teams this week completed four weeks' play to establish averages.

My Hero Wins Caulfield Cup

MELBOURNE (AP)—A 10-to-1 shot, My Hero, a New Zealand horse, won the Caulfield Cup today by a head over Wodalla, a 14-to-1 hazard.

Most Regal, 25-to-1, was third, a length back of Wodalla. Silver Phantom, the favorite at 9-to-4, ran out of the money.

The Caulfield Cup is one of Australia's richest races and the first leg of Australia's biggest racing double. The second race of the double is the Melbourne Cup to be run Nov. 3.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

New York St. Nicholas Arena
Lulu Perez, 127½, Brooklyn, knocked out Joey Cam, 128½, Boston, 8.

BOGNOR, England — Bill Hanson, 51, a bathing hut proprietor at this Sussex seaside resort, is emigrating to Australia in disgust at the growing number of swimmers who change into bathing suits right on the beach.

Canucks Continue One-Goal Winning Margin in WHL

It doesn't seem to matter to Vancouver Canucks whether they play top-place contenders or the boys holding everyone else up on the Western Hockey League totem pole, they still win—by one goal.

The league leaders did it again last night, scoring a 2-1 win over Seattle Bombers, the fourth one-goal Vancouver victory in five games. The other game was a tie.

The loss shoved Seattle into last place along with Edmonton Flyers, who lost 4-3 to Victoria Cougars in the other WHL game Friday night. Each team has one point.

The win was Victoria's first in four starts. The two points were good enough for fifth place.

Bob Manson, a new forward, Reg Abbott, Eddie Dorohoy and Sam Bettio scored for Victoria and Francis O'Grady, Len Haley and Buddy Boone counted for Flyers.

Tempers became ragged in the third period at Vancouver. The scoring ended at 1:45 of the second period when Andy Bathgate scored the winning goal on a backhand shot.

Les Hickey had scored the first Canucks goal and Vic Lofvendahl Seattle's lone marker.

Tonight, Victoria is at Seattle, Edmonton at New Westminster, and Calgary visits Saskatoon.

New Names Make Appearance in NHL But Faithful Fans Still Like Vets

The veterans are playing second fiddle to the rookies in the National Hockey League.

Names like Beliveau, Reibel, Henry and Gathrum are injecting new interest into a league that sailed into the doldrums last season.

The veterans Howe, Richard, Bentley and Kennedy can still draw the faithful fans but their experience is overshadowed by the exuberance and color being shown by the youngsters.

Take Dutch Reibel, Detroit Red Wings' rookie. Friday night he scored two goals in the third period to give his team a 2-2 draw with Chicago Black Hawks.

The league coaches are looking for their rookies to add further zest to an already-promising season during the six-game week-end.

Tonight, New York Rangers are at Toronto, Boston Bruins face Montreal Canadiens, and Chicago is at Detroit.

Sunday, Toronto plays Chicago, Montreal is at Detroit, and New York meets Boston.

RANGERS GOT FAITH
Frank Boucher, manager-coach of the Rangers, says his is a better team this year because it believes in itself.

"When the boys tell each other how much better they are, they play that way," said Frank. Boucher looks to Paul Ronty, Don (Bones) Raleigh and Mox Bentley for the experience and to little Camille Henry, centre rookie from Quebec Citadelles, for the fire.

Montreal needs a win to stay on top of the scoring column. Detroit's tie Friday night put the Wings within one point of the Canadiens and another victory tonight, coupled with a Montreal loss, would give them the lead.

FLORENCE CHADWICK smiles brightly as she dries herself after emerging from the chilly waters of the Bosphorus at Istanbul, Turkey. Her practice swims paid off when she swam both ways across the Bosphorus to and from the Turkish capital. Her time for the impressive round trip was 1 hour, 10 minutes and 5 seconds.

LEAGUE MEN'S TEN-PIN

A meeting will be held Sunday, October 18 at 2:30 p.m. at the Bowling Alleys. All entries must be in by this time as league play will get under way the following Wednesday, October 21.

Arcaro To Ride Crafty Admiral

CHICAGO (AP)—Despite a concession of 13 to 25 pounds to his rivals, Crafty Admiral was a solid 2-to-5 favorite to raise his all-time earnings to more than $500,000 in today's Gold Cup at Hawthorne.

Overnight contenders for the $100,950 feature at a mile and a quarter numbered eight.

The five-year-old Crafty Admiral, owned by Charfran Stable, goes into the race with a purse bag of $433,150, all but $10,350 of it earned in 1952 and 1953. Should he win, he'd collect $68,100, making his over-all total $501,250. His jockey is Eddie Arcaro.

Vernor: Jumps Into First Place In OK Loop

Vernon Canadians — with a helping hand from their famous brother act—took over sole possession of first place in the Okanagan Senior Hockey League Friday.

They climbed out of a first-place tie with Penticton V's by clipping those self-same V's 3-1 in Penticton.

The win was the fourth straight for the new league-leaders. Aside from leaving Penticton behind, Canadians also handed V's their first loss of the season.

Tonight, Kelowna plays at Kamloops and Penticton meets Vernon again, this time in Vernon.

Civic Centre Plans Popular Dancing Club

The club has been suggested by local dancing enthusiasts who complain at the lack of dances in Prince Rupert. It is proposed to hold sessions from 9:30 to 11 p.m. Fridays, just dancing to recorded music. There will be no instruction.

Club membership will be limited to 25 couples, and those interested have been urged to register immediately at the Centre. The club will be open only to Civic Centre members.

U.S. Army Lacks Information On Secret Data in Red Hands

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Army said today it still has no evidence that microfilm copies of secret data from its Ft. Monmouth, N.J., Signal Corps laboratory have fallen into hands of Communists in Germany.

Under wartime lend-lease arrangements, the army said in response to questions, free exchange of information with allied nations was authorized.

Thus it indicated belief that if any microfilm copies of Signal Corps documents are in Communist hands they probably are some given the Russians during the period of Second World War co-operation.

Chairman Joseph McCarthy (Rep., Wis.) of the Senate investigations sub-committee has said closed-door hearing in New York uncovered evidence of a spy ring at Ft. Monmouth, U.S. radar defence headquarters.

McCarthy has described Julius Rosenberg, executed last

BEG Committee Expresses Regret Duke Coming Late

VANCOUVER — Disappointed British Empire Games officials Friday expressed regret that the Duke of Edinburgh will be unable to officiate at opening ceremonies due to "prior commitments."

The duke leaves London by air July 29, arriving in Ottawa July 30. The games open in Vancouver July 31, the day the duke is scheduled to be in Chalk River, Ont.

Stanley Smith, general chairman of the B.E.G. Society, said that not only will the duke's absence on opening day rob the games of much of their glamour, but it would make it impossible to have either Governor-General Massey or Prime Minister St. Laurent here.

Status of Troops Nears Settlement

Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA — A tangled international dispute concerning the jurisdictional status of Canadian troops in Japan appears to be nearing settlement.

Informed sources say a United States-Japanese agreement probably will provide the key to solution of an impasse which has beset Japanese and Canadian negotiators for more than a year.

The trouble began, not when Canadians first went to Japan in 1950 to fight the Korean war, but following the Japanese peace treaty of April 1952. Until that time Canadian and other UN forces in Japan enjoyed the same privileges and immunities as American occupation troops.

This meant that if they committed a crime against Japanese persons or property, they would answer only to their own army discipline.

Japan claimed that UN forces should not expect to be given the same consideration and privileges as the Americans, who were there to "protect" Japan.

The Commonwealth countries said they would not settle for anything less favorable than the treatment accorded U.S. forces.

Under the new agreement, U.S. soldiers who commit crimes against Japanese persons or property can be arrested and tried by Japanese authorities.

Now, say informed sources, the Commonwealth position probably can be reconciled with Japanese demands. Negotiations are expected in the near future.
