Collapse of Peace Talks Hinted

WASHINGTON (CP)—The United States and its allies in Korea have begun exploring the question of what should be done if Korean truce talks collapse. It emphasized everything possible still will be done to help achieve a satisfactory truce and unnecessary risks will be taken which might complicate negotiations. There are reports that state department officials, military and Allied representatives have begun a serious policy study of what action may be taken if peace talks fail. Prospects of an agreement are looking somewhat

American Federation Taking Hand in Strike at Kemano

VANCOUVER (CP)—Leaders of the American Federation of Labor are here to fight what has been called an "engineered disruption movement" at the $50,000,000 Aluminum Company of Canada development at Kemano.

The AFL met with officials of the Morrison-Knudsen contractors on the project. A statement issued after the meeting disclosed there was a move to end the labor trouble which has halted work on an important ten-mile tunnel at Kemano for ten days. The AFL have gone on record stating that they will live up to their contract commitment, and will not join the Alcan project. The statement said the Building Trades Union (AFL) holds the master contract covering all workers on the power development phases of the Alcan undertaking. The statement was issued jointly and signed by Reginald Wilson, representing the company, and Cliff Priestly of the AFL, who acted as chairman of the AFL union.

The union is expected to tighten the barriers against the Canadian Congress of Labor which stated it will move in and join the International Union of Mine and Smelter Workers (Ind).

The disruption of tunnel work last week when 300 miners went on strike for higher wages and better conditions, ended the AFL union. Most of them are members of the Mine and Mill union.

The strikers were fired and sent back to Vancouver.

Meanwhile, 100 replacement tunnel workers who arrived at Kemano last Sunday have refused to take over tunnel work.

Work stoppage affects only tunnel work.

Four Children Burn to Death

DAUPHIN, Manitoba (CP)—Four children were burned to death during the week-end in their frame home at this fishing hamlet, 200 miles north of Winnipeg. Their 23-year-old mother, Mrs. Henry Einarsson, escaped clad only in night attire into sub-zero weather. Her husband, a fisherman, was away at the time.

The dead are Beryl Ann, aged 5; Yvonne Dorothy, 4; Jeannine Tonney, 3; and Karl Heigl, 8 months.

Their charred bodies were buried Sunday.

Mrs. Einarsson said she had gone to bed when she was awakened by the smell of smoke.

British Prime Minister
Calls Cabinet On Egyptian Situation

SOUTHAMPTON (CP)—Winston Churchill arrived home today on the liner Queen Mary and said to reporters:

"I am satisfied with my visit to America. I am sure it did good." The Prime Minister added:

"My visit freshened up old friendships and made new ones."

The Prime Minister is to meet the cabinet tonight on the serious Egyptian situation.

Britain's three chiefs of staff have been summoned to an emergency meeting today to discuss the dangerous situation in Egypt.

Germany Wants To Enter NATO

PARIS (CP)—West Germany Sunday night demanded membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization as her price for aiding western defence.

Prof. Walter Hallstein, chief German delegate to the six-power European Army talks now going on here, made the demand as delegates argued over the treaty to establish such a unified force within NATO. He said Germany should be brought into NATO immediately or, if this was not possible, under an interim system which would protect Germany's rights.

Just prior to Hallstein's statement, ministers had speeded up their efforts to draft a European Army treaty. But Hallstein's demand halted the conference. French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman asked a recess to study the situation.

Three Men Dead in Gasboat Wreck in Bella Coola Area

VANCOUVER (CP)—Four men are presumed to have been drowned in waters off the British Columbia coast. The body of another man was found Sunday in Burrard Inlet here.

Alexander Now Earl

Elevation for Retiring
Governor General of Canada

LONDON (CP)—Viscount Alexander has been awarded an earldom on relinquishing the post of Governor General of Canada. It was announced Saturday night.

Lord Alexander, the man who outwitted German Marshal Erwin Rommel in the North African desert campaign of the second world war, is expected to become Britain's defence minister in the near future.

The appointment of Vincent Massey, former Canadian High Commissioner in London as Governor General of Canada to succeed Lord Alexander, was announced here Friday.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill has been his own defence minister since he was returned to power in October. However, he hinted in Parliament recently that he might hand over the job

French Grain Ship Leaving Early Tuesday

Here since last Friday to load a full cargo of grain from the local elevator, the French motorship Jean D.L. is sailing early tomorrow morning for Japan.

Up to early afternoon, there had been no definite word of another Japanese ship, which is reported coming here, to load the fourth grain cargo from here this season.

Survivors said the fire broke out when the driver lit a cigarette and tossed the burning match to the floor near a leaking gasoline tank.

The gasoline caught fire. The driver dived through a window and fled. The bus crashed into a tree. Explosion followed and the bus caught fire.

Police are searching for the driver.

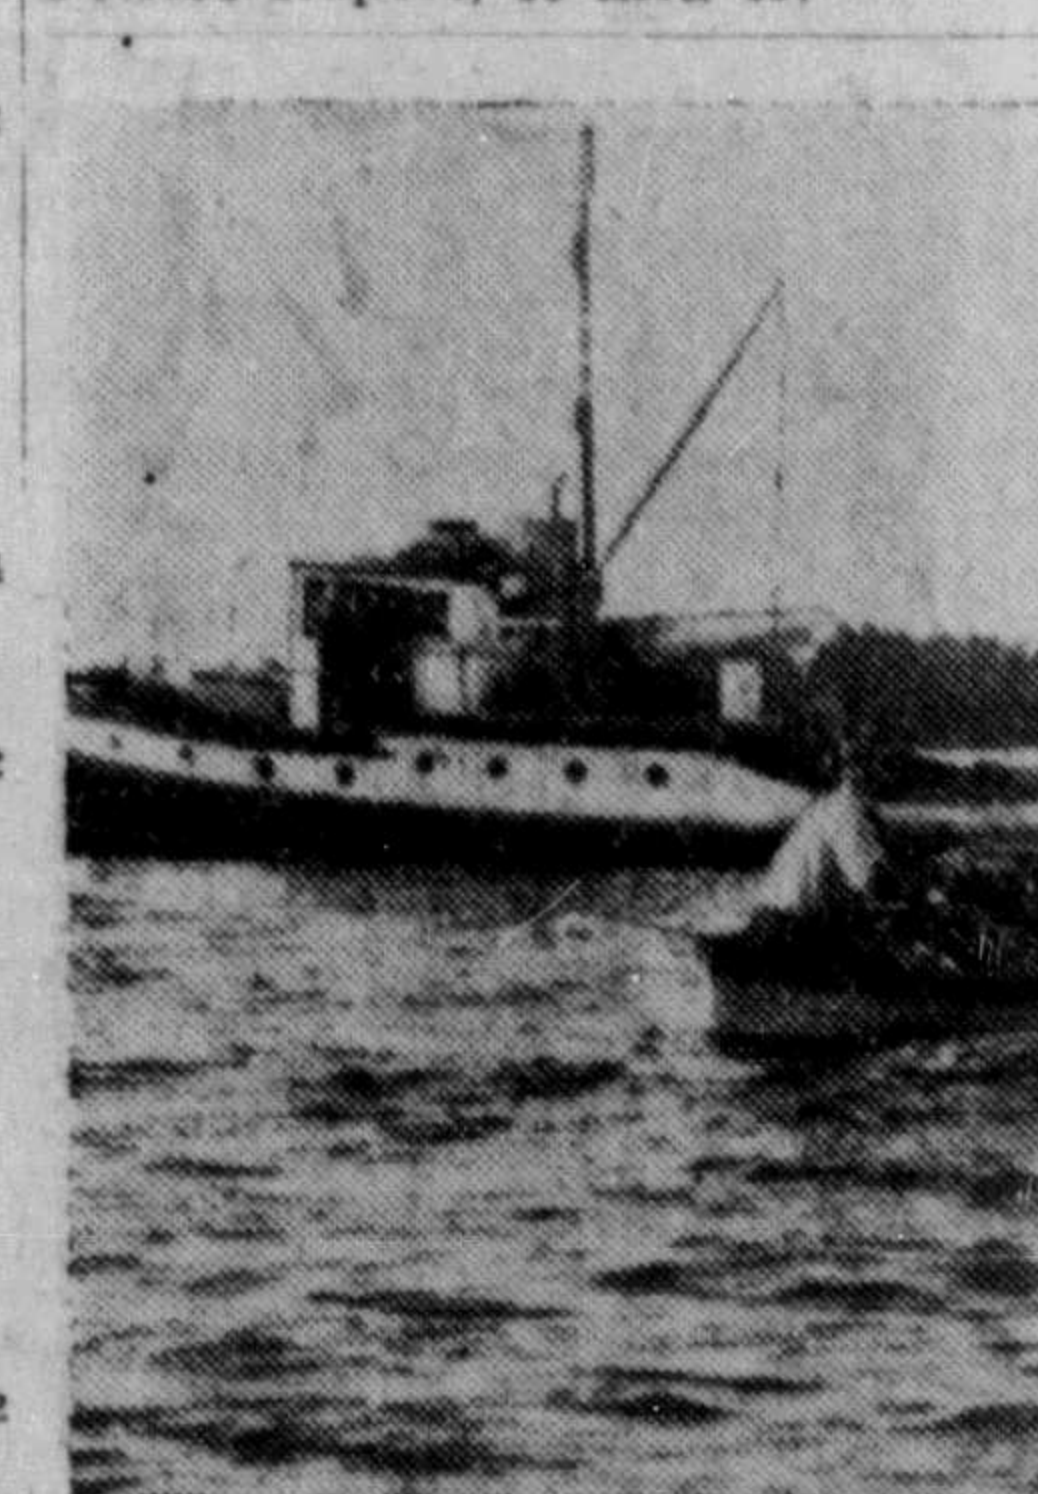

WEATHER

Synopsis

Present indications point to another two days of mild weather in almost all regions of British Columbia. A disturbance which has been almost stationary across southern Vancouver Island caused rain on the northern island and along the west coast. Elsewhere over the province there has been no appreciable precipitation. A new centre appears to be forming west of Victoria. Some rain is expected over southern Vancouver Island and the lower mainland tonight and Tuesday.

Forecast

North coast region — Cloudy today and Tuesday except briefly over the Queen Charlottes this morning. Wind—southerly (25). Lows tonight and highs Tuesday — at Port Hardy, Sandspit and Prince Rupert, 40 and 45.

WHERE 36 DIED—Thirty-six died when a United States plane from Korea crashed into the water while attempting an emergency landing at Sand pit on Moresby Island, 80 miles west of Prince Rupert. Of 43 aboard seven succeeded in scrambling to a wing after the plane struck and were rescued. A line from a tugboat is shown being hooked to the plane. Most of the bodies have been recovered.

COMMISSIONER AT CAIRO SLAIN

Fatality In Skiing

SEATTLE (CP)—A Seattle skier, hurtling onto a landing slope after a 150-foot leap, was killed Sunday when he smashed into another jumper. He was Bill Gunderson, 35, of Seattle, a native of Norway. The other jumper was Jack Brewer, 28, of Seattle. He was critically injured.

Railway Still Fighting Snow

Canadian National Railways again fought with snowdrifts in cuts in the lower Skeena Valley during the week-end. Led by a snow plow, the train, due here from the East at 10:05 last night, is expected at 3:30 this afternoon. Two freight trains will follow the passenger. Tonight's train for the East is set to leave at 8 p.m. There was less wind along the Skeena today although it was getting milder.

Ohio River Flood Hit

MARIETTA (CP)—Thousands of persons in Ohio and West Virginia moved to higher ground today as floods, caused by heavy rainfall, sent the Ohio River and other streams out of their banks. High water also hit portions of western Pennsylvania and northern Kentucky.

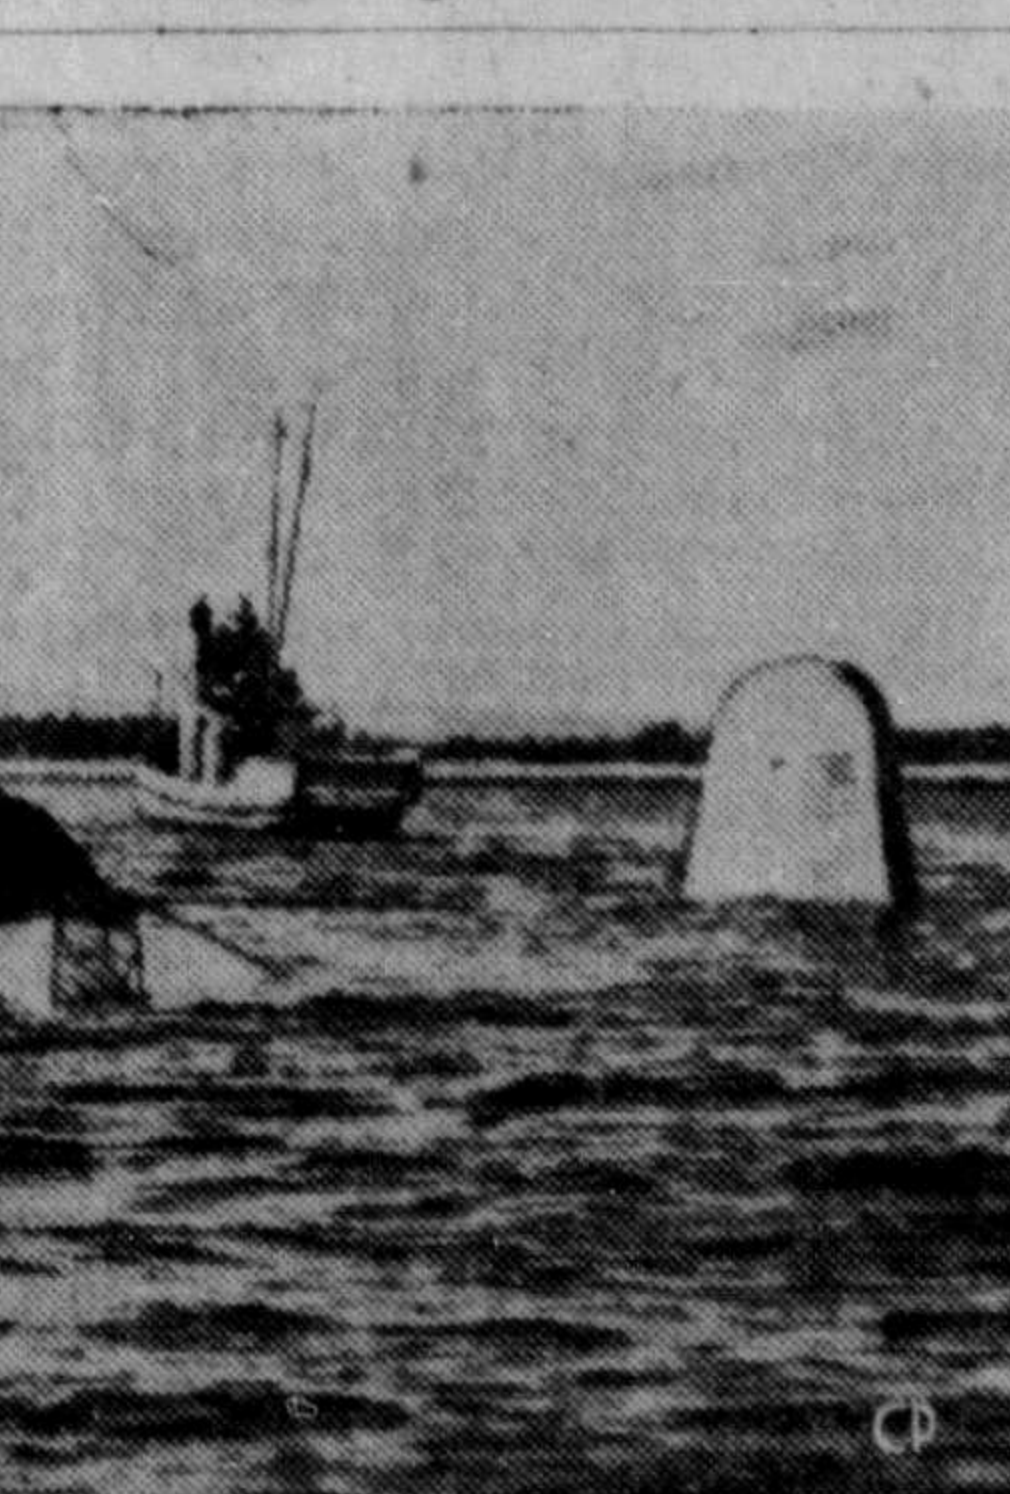

Trickle of Rain Again Welcomed

Trickle of water caused by rain and melting snow and ice around the week-end had a comforting sound. Also, one had a much less anxious time trying to walk. Going any distance on foot was not so wearying, being less of a struggle. There was a feeling of security in stepping boldly out on concrete or asphalt instead of taking timid steps on something one could not be quite sure of.

McGregor Is Tennis Champ

ADELAIDE (CP)—Big Ken McGregor pulled a starting upset today when he whipped Frank Sedgman 7-5, 12-10, 2-6, 6-2 to win the Australian tennis championship. In the battle between the two Aussie aces, McGregor staged two brilliant rallies to win the first two sets against Sedgman. He is generally regarded as the world's top player.

C. A. Berner, CNR divisional superintendent, arrived in the city last night after a trip over the line on official duties and is heading out again tonight to Prince George.

WHERE 36 DIED—Thirty-six died when a United States plane from Korea crashed into the water while attempting an emergency landing at Sand pit on Moresby Island, 80 miles west of Prince Rupert. Of 43 aboard seven succeeded in scrambling to a wing after the plane struck and were rescued. A line from a tugboat is shown being hooked to the plane. Most of the bodies have been recovered.

Ottawa Sends Protest At Incident in Egypt

CAIRO (CP)—J. McLeod Boyer, Canadian trade commissioner at Cairo was killed during Saturday's rioting here. Announcement of his death was made Sunday night by the British embassy. An official protest has been made at Ottawa.

Would Ask U.N. Action

PARIS (CP)—United States, Britain and France today formally announced they would demand United Nations action in the event of Chinese Communist or Russian aggression in Southeast Asia.

John Sherman Cooper of the United States said such aggression would be a matter of most "urgent and earnest consideration by the United Nations."

Selwyn Lloyd of Britain immediately declared his government associated itself with this important statement.

Francis Lacoste of France said his country would demand immediate and effective intervention from the U.N. if the Chinese Reds moved against Indo-China.

The three western spokesmen made their declarations in the UN political committee during the debate on the question of condemning Russia for allegedly violating her 1945 treaty with Nationalist China.

New Government Takes Over in Egypt—Tense Situation Continues

CAIRO (CP)—A new government was sworn in today in a shift directed by King Farouk, and viewed by some western observers as a step which might ease the bloody and violent disputes between Britain and Egypt. The new prime minister, the "strong man" Aly Maher Pasha, and his cabinet took the oath at Abdin Palace where they were received by the King.

Later the new government would read to Parliament the decree issued under martial law and was accorded a vote of confidence.

King Farouk last night turned Mustapha El Nahas Pasha's Nafdist party regime out of office after the government's nationalist campaign to drive out Britons culminated in a wild eruption of bloodshed and burning Saturday. Naha's government termed the outbreak an attempted revolution.

Meanwhile, Nahas Pasha said he has "his word of honor" that the new premier will pursue my policy toward the British.

A group of 25 young Nafdist (Nationalists) gathered today in front of Naha's Pasha's house shouting "we don't recognize your dismissal." Nahas told the demonstrators he had asked Farouk to relieve him of his post.

"I have been in touch with the new premier," he said "and he has given me his word of honor he will pursue my policy toward the British."

The new premier, in a radio address, pledged himself to fulfill the independent unity of the Nile valley — get Britain out — and maintain "stability, security and peace."

PRO-BRITISH
Maher Pasha, 69, before the Second World War, expressed pro-British sympathies but during the war was interned at British insistence because he had talks with Britain's Italian enemies. Now recent public statements have indicated he advocates a pro-western policy.

Farouk, in his letter dismissing Nahas Pasha and his Nafdist party regime said Saturday orgy of rioting, killing, looting and pillaging here "indictated the government over which you preside has not been able to preserve peace and security."

Western observers here anticipated the new government would be more inclined to work for a compromise settlement of the bitter dispute with Britain than had been its predecessors whose nationalist campaign to drive Britain out of Suez touched off the rising wave of often uncontrolled violence. One diplomat termed the shift in the cabinet the most hopeful sign in months.

British sources in London are more cautious although some said the premier was definitely pro-British. Others termed him more anti-British than Naha's.

These sources said they could not yet regard the change as a move toward settlement with Britain.

STILL MARTIAL LAW

With martial law still in effect throughout Egypt, Cairo continued to count its dead. Police estimated about 20 persons have been killed and 80 wounded in the outbreak by mobs infuriated by the killing of more than 40 Egyptian auxiliary police in the British siege Friday. The British reckoned their dead, wounded and missing at 15.

Police rounded up ringleaders in rioting and others suspected of fomenting violence. A spokesman said 300 had been arrested.

On Forest Management

THE QUESTION of forest conservation in British Columbia in relation to the government's sustained yield policy is much under discussion these days in view of the fight of small timber operators against a proposed forest management licence in the Fraser Valley area.

Here is what the Vancouver Province has to say editorially on the matter:

British Columbia is in the midst of a great industrial boom. Millions of dollars are being invested in the province in water power development, pulp mills and other industries. Millions of profit, made in our industries are being plowed back.

As these investments are made, it is assumed by the investors and by the people of British Columbia who are interested in payrolls, revenues and profits, that the industries thus set up will continue in perpetuity. But it is pertinent to ask if this assumption is based on accurate information.

At the beginning of the year, Hon. E. T. Kenney, minister of forests, made the statement that, by the end of the fiscal year, on March 31, the timber cut in British Columbia might reach 5,500,000,000 board feet for the year.

This is a record and far more than a record. In the calendar year 1950, the cut was 4,500,000,000 board feet and that for 1949 4,050,000,000 board feet. Had there been no layoff on account of drought in the summer of 1951 the cut would have been much greater.

Here the question arises: Has British Columbia 5,500,000,000 feet of timber to cut in any one year without reducing its forest capital? British Columbia does not, of course, make a physical inventory every year of the content of its forests.

But its forest department has an idea of the annual growth and of the annual depletion through fire, insects and fungi and wind loss. The latest figures give the net annual growth at 3,987,000,000 board feet. Thus, in 1949, we cut practically up to our net growth for the year. In 1950 we exceeded the net growth of the year by over half a billion board feet, and in the current fiscal year, on Mr. Kenney's figures, we shall exceed it by 1,500,000,000 feet or by 37½ per cent.

We are supposed, in British Columbia, to have abandoned the old "cut and get out" forest policy and to have adopted a sustained yield policy—that is, a policy which will give a perpetual yield of timber to the fullest extent of the forest land's productive capacity.

If we are cutting 37½ percent over our annual growth, how can we do a sustained yield policy?

Business Signs Point To Slump Australia Fears

By LOUIS L. LECK
Canadian Press Correspondent

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—The economic picture in Australia has changed with dramatic swiftness. A few months ago all the talk was of rapidly worsening inflation but business men now are talking uneasily of a recession.

So far their fears have not been expressed to any great extent in falling prices and it is generally expected that the increase in the basic wage due in February will be even bigger than the 14 shillings weekly rise in November. Basic wage movements directly reflect movements in the official index of cost-of-living, that is, of the prices of food, clothing, household goods and rent.

But these are the signs to which businessmen point in justification of their fears:

The Commonwealth government, through the Central Bank, has clamped down on bank credit. Money is tighter. Hire purchase business—especially in the motor-car trade—has shrunk by an estimated 33 to 50 per cent.

Retail trade has quietened. Big stores are cutting prices. The rate of increase in business over 1950 has dropped from nearly 50 per cent in March to about five per cent in October.

The stock exchange is in a slump. The rate on Commonwealth bonds has gone from 3½ to 3¼ per cent. Prices of equities were marked down to bring yields into line but have continued to sag under the pressure of quietly remorseless selling and very moderate buying support.

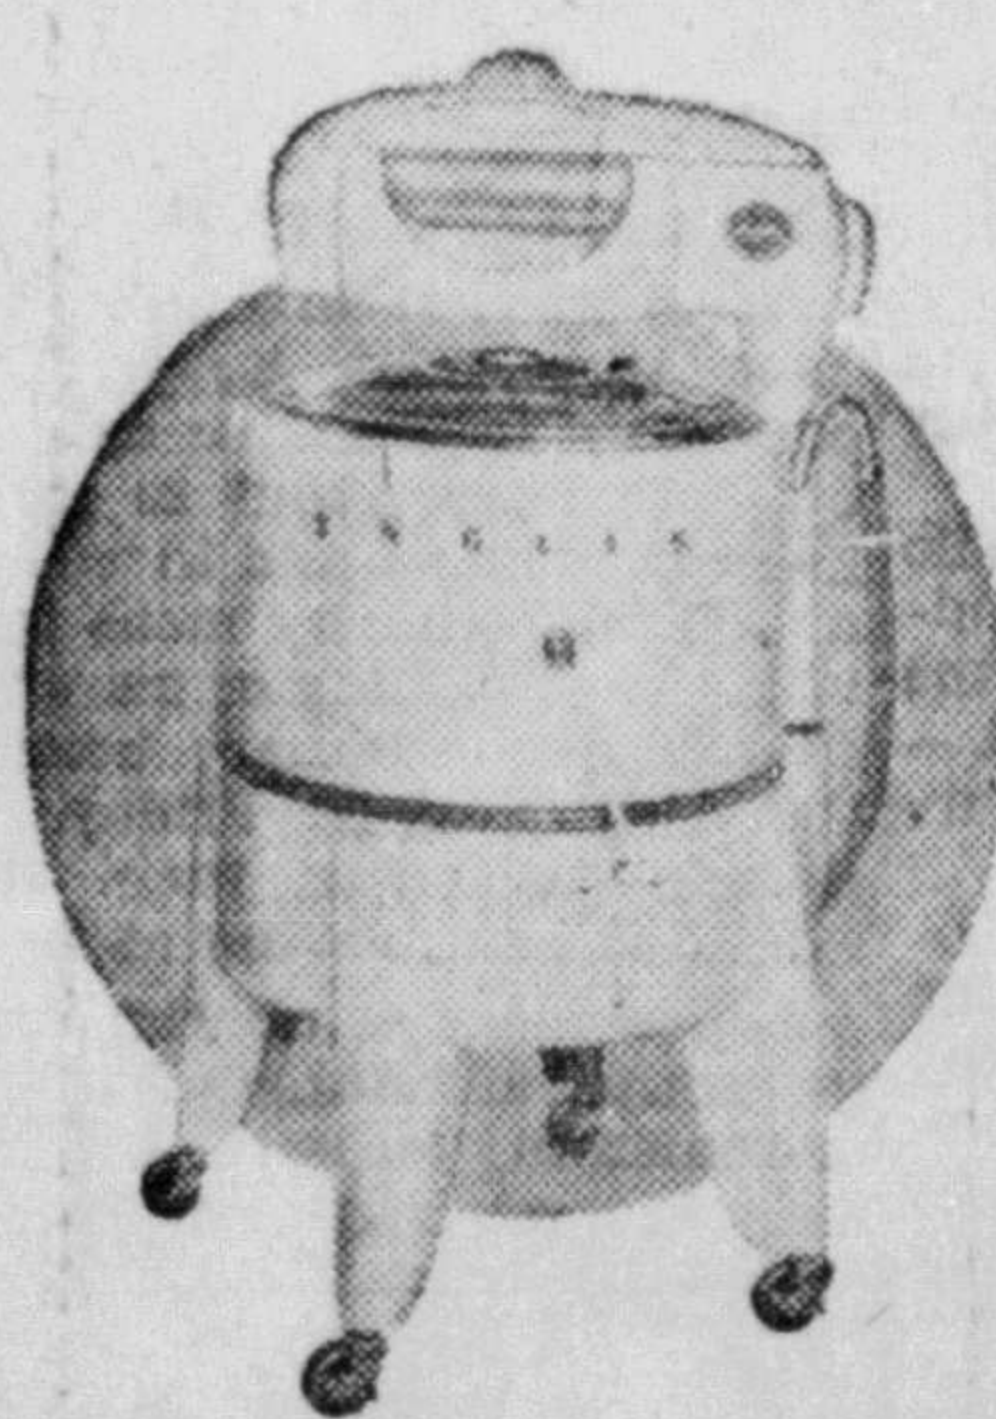

Despite the housing shortage home building has contracted. Prospective buyers can't find money so easily and many of them are concerned about the present level of costs.

Wool prices, though still well above 1949 levels, are down 50 per cent from the boom levels of early 1951. Monthly export income did not show the usual seasonal recovery toward the end of the year but imports continue to run at a high level. In 1950-51 Australia had a visible favorable balance of around £220,000,000. This year that may become an unfavorable balance of £250,000,000.

The number of vacant jobs at the end of November was 15,000 less than at the end of October. This was the first time for years that such a movement has been reported.

Bank clearings are declining. The October total was about 15 per cent below the September total.

The Commonwealth government, on the other hand, is well content—officially at least. Its view is that the squeeze on non-essential industry is tightening. Dismissals from non-essential service trades will provide more labor for defence work and for the essential reconstruction jobs in the transport and power industries.

As I See It

by Elmore
Philpott

No Thanks, Congressman

ANOTHER American Congressman wants the U.S.A. to annex Canada! But that's an old American custom.

The tragedy is that the mightiest, most powerful nation in the world is governed by a mixture which includes many able men, but also a few outright ignoramus. This fellow from Chicago does not even know that King George has no more desire, legal right or physical power to "sell" Canada to Uncle Sam than he would have to sell Uncle Sam's Alaska back to Russia.

OF COURSE there have always been Congressmen and others who wanted U.S.A. to take over Canada.

But Canadians, up till now, have always said "no thanks, Uncle."

My grand old dad, who is now in his eighty-sixth year, has only one vivid memory of his own father. It was at the time of the Fenian raid into western Ontario, back in the 1860's. Young Captain John Philpott had hidden away on his horse at the head of a company of local militia. But he came home, sword and all, a few days later, using very strong language. The Fenians had run back across the border before dad's dad had had any chance to fight. What a let-down!

My mother too, also eighty-six, can remember her father, Bob Menzies, going off to that same fracas, wearing his scarlet coat as a sergeant in the Queen's Own.

LOOKING BACK a bit further, still in the family record, I see where "a party of Americans, disguised as Indians, destroyed the first Philpott log cabin in Elgin county, western Ontario in the war of 1812. They burned all the buildings in the new Talbot settlement, stripped the people naked, drove off all the livestock. The record, with a masterpiece of understatement, says the settlers were left "very much annoyed."

The American general who ravaged all western Ontario in that episode was from Kentucky, by name MacArthur.

SOME EASTERN Canadian business men were telling me a few months ago how they had a chance to meet the present great warrior and U.S. hero, General MacArthur.

At a dinner given for him there were two separate conversations, both about the same subject.

"What is to stop Canada from becoming part of the United States? The answer, as given by one Canadian sales manager was:

"Nothing, but a reason, in our own minds—we don't see why we should."

EVEN MY GENERAL, personal friend Dick Neuberger, who is a state Senator in Oregon and a regular contributor to the Saturday Evening Post, has written newspaper articles giving reasons why he thinks Canada should be glad to amalgamate with the U.S.A.

Maybe I shall answer Dick's article one of these days—giving his arguments in his own words, just as he wrote them with my own rebuttal sandwiched in paragraph by paragraph. What say, readers?

I DO NOT THINK that Canada will ever willingly become part of the U.S.A. We have our own personality, individually. This nation, Canada, is not only a part of the British Commonwealth—but the key and vital part in it.

If Canada were to fold up and quit, there would still be an England, Scotland and Wales, but there would be no British Commonwealth.

The only way that I can see whereby the boundary between Canada and the U.S.A. could be wiped out would be for the entire U.S.A. and British Commonwealth to combine—but on a self-respecting, free and democratically equal basis.

We don't want to elect U.S. Congressmen from Canada. But we might listen to a proposition to set up a single parliament for the whole English speaking world.

Members of Commons Study Possibility Of Indemnity Rise

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Some members of the Commons are discussing the possibility of government action at the forthcoming session to increase the indemnities of members of parliament.

Although they have received no indication from the government that an increase will be proposed, they have worked out on paper what members would receive, after taxation, from indemnities at various levels up to $10,000.

A source close to the government said the question is strictly a matter of "corridor gossip." There has been no indication, he said, that the question has received or will receive serious consideration by the government this year.

The session is to open in February or early in March.

Any increase must be sponsored by the government and approved by a majority in both the Senate and the Commons before it could become effective.

Some members believe the government may move to increase the indemnities and at the same time introduce a pension plan for members of the Commons.

Such a plan has been worked out by officials of the finance department, but details have not been made public. It is understood it would provide pensions for members who have served in parliament for at least eight years.

The plan would not apply to the Senate where appointments are made for life. Members of the Commons must seek re-election at least once every five years. Some of them, after devoting their life to politics, are defeated and left in necessitous circumstances without means of support.

ANNUAL BASIS?

The members believe the indemnities might be increased to $8,500 or $10,000 and be paid on an annual rather than a sessional basis. Under such a system they would receive the same amount annually no matter how many sessions were held.

Under the existing system, where indemnities are paid on a sessional basis, members have received as much as $10,000 a year when two sessions were held. That was the case in 1951.

At present, members of the 262-seat Commons receive $4,000 for each session of more than 65 days' duration. In addition they receive an annual $2,000 tax-free living allowance. Members of the 102-seat Senate receive $4,000 for each session and a $2,000 taxable living allowance.

The Prime Minister receives a salary of $15,000, a sessional indemnity of $4,000, a living allowance of $2,000 a year and an annual motor-car allowance of $2,000.

Cabinet ministers and the leaders of the opposition receive salaries of $10,000, sessional indemnities of $4,000, living allowances of $2,000 and motor-car allowances of $2,000. Parliamentary assistants receive $4,000 a year in addition to the regular sessional indemnities and living allowances.

The government leader in the Senate receives $7,000 a year in addition to the sessional indemnity of $4,000 and the living allowance of $2,000, or a total of $13,000. The opposition leader in the Senate receives $10,000.

Canadian indemnities are much higher than those paid to members of the Commons in the United Kingdom, but they are lower than the salaries paid to members of the United States Congress.

U.K. INDEMNITY

In the United Kingdom, an ordinary member of Commons receives £1,000 a year. He can claim an income-tax deduction for out-of-pocket expenses.

The British Prime Minister receives £4,000 tax-free expense allowance and a salary of £4,000. The leader of the opposition re-

PICKING UP BODIES

Editor, Daily News:

It gave me a big surprise to read in the Daily News on January 24 of a fisherman claiming that bodies could have been recovered early from the wrecked aircraft at Sandspit. I would like to inform Monty McIntyre that permission is not needed to bring a body or bodies up to the surface. Anybody seeing bodies underwater is duty-bound to try and bring them up securing them alongside ship. Bodies should not be touched with hands but brought to port. If a body is seen floating it should be tied to ship, towed to port and reported to nearest police. Every master of a ship is, in fact, a police officer. I am in doubt if the police would have tried to prevent Mr. McIntyre from doing his duty.

Royal Babies' Sturdy Minds

LONDON (CP)—Prince Charles has a will of his own, an inquiring mind and clear blue eyes capable of an "unwinking stare," says P. H. Mitchiner, senior vice-president of the Royal College of Surgeons at Lincoln's Inn Fields.

Speaking at a ceremony at which Princess Elizabeth received the honorary fellowship of the college, Mitchiner said the young Prince's qualities "augur well for the future of this country under the rule of Charles III."

As for Princess Ann, he forecast a fine independence of character coupled with a forthrightness of speech. He said he deduced this from her habit of pushing her parents and relatives to one side when being photographed.

HARDY BUTTERFLY

EDMONTON (CP)—The calendar said January, but eight-year-old Donald Orn found a butterfly in the basement of his home.

"I thank you, too, for the glimpse you have given me of the greatness of this nation and the even greater future which is within its grasp. I have seen this future in the eyes of hundreds of thousands of your children..."

(Princess Elizabeth in her farewell speech to Canadians, St. John's, Nfld., Nov. 11, 1951.)

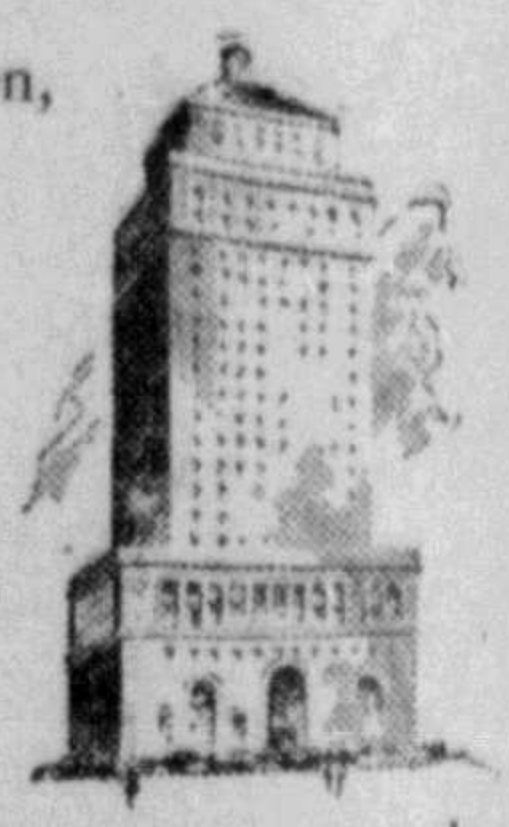

What will his eyes see?

His eyes, so far, have seen little more than his mother's face. Soon they will see further... his home, his school, his town, his province, his country—the Canada that one day will be his.

From year to year, The Royal Bank of Canada's Annual Financial Statement is a measure of Canada's vitality and growth. The figures are cold, as figures must be, but the story they tell is an exciting story, for you and for your children.

Total assets of the Royal Bank have now passed the $2.5 billion mark, a figure never before reached in Canadian banking history. Total deposits exceed $2.3 billion, another Canadian record. Interest bearing deposits of nearly $1,124,000,000—the highest point ever reached by the bank—are an indication of the thrift of Canada's citizens. Loans to Canadian farmers, fishermen, to manufacturers, to firms large and small, and to individuals exceed $600,000,000.

These impressive figures are more than an index of the Royal Bank's record of accomplishment; they are a clear indication of Canada's economic health, and the scale of opportunity that is ours.

President of Indian Affairs, M.P., W. O. R. Jones of the Columbia Cellulose Company, and the traditional song-tribute to the poet.

The dinner and the toast of the Secretary, J. S. Macdonald, among other messages from the President, J. R. Cameron, and the toast to the poet.

After a toast to the poet, the Chairman presented the cream of the Prince Rupert Burns Club.

Miss Laila Husoy, a junior at Eastern Washington College of Education, recently revealed her engagement to Sgt. Darrell Pope, St. John, Michigan.

Miss Husoy is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arne Husoy of Prince Rupert, and her fiancé is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald H. Pope of St. John.

A summer wedding at the bride-elect's home in Prince Rupert is planned.

Responding to the toast, "The Lassies," W. C. R. Jones expressed thanks for being invited and referred to his visit to Edinburgh and looking along Princess Street up to the Rock, and feeling that every one of that nation must feel exceedingly proud of the living-place of Mary, Queen of Scots.

Enlivening his talk with anecdote he said that the names of Scots lassies stood out in history. In looking over the parts of the British Empire which still proudly exists, he noted the power and influence of the men of Scotland but, while noting that men come far to the fore in this province, he wondered why the women have not. And yet it was perfectly logical. The women remained in the background, keeping and passing on the home-life which played so great a part in producing the men of courage and exploring spirit, pushing them forward as in the past—as in the case of the immortal Bard and so many others—that help from behind the scenes that has been the Scot's main strength. "The Lassies of Scotland—they have the toast coming to them."

Two minutes' silence was observed at all standing as tribute to the memory of the late Mr. J. A. Teng.

Due to transportation difficulties, many from outside who had intended to be at the Women of the Moose mid-winter conference were unable to attend, but, in spite of adverse weather conditions, a successful event was staged Sunday afternoon and evening.

Ceremonies were in charge of Senior Regent Mrs. Grace McIntyre, of Prince Rupert, while grand regent, Mrs. Thomas Glenn was conference leader in the absence of Senior Regent Widdowson of Prince George.

Out-of-town visitor was Mrs. H. Stewart, of Stewart, who participated in the closing ceremony. Mrs. Amy Kasper, former deputy grand regent, spoke on the College of Regents' administration fund.

A banquet which followed was highlighted by a group of children in costume exemplifying the Moose 9 o'clock ceremony. The children all dressed in pyjamas and carrying candles entered the darkened lodge room to form a heart around the altar. They knelt while repeating in unison the ceremonial scripture verse.

Participating were Barbara Hinton, Larry, Sharon and Sydney Dickens, George McIntyre, Lynne and Ray McIntyre, Karen and Irene Bellamy, Dale Walker, Joey, Dougie and Micker Mulder, Wayne and Bobby Grimble and Gail Parkin.

Honorary pallbearers were T. H. Priest, A. W. Burnip, Harry Calderwood, John E. Davey, F. E. Anfield and M. Lemon.

Active pallbearers were Alex Mitchell, Thomas Dahli, Theo Fortune, James Eddon, Alex Saig and John Davidson.

Following the church service, interment was made in Fairview cemetery.

Members of the Masonic Lodge, Canadian Legion Women's Auxiliary, Job's Daughters in a body, and other organizations were represented.

There were many beautiful floral tributes.

Personals

D. O. Wiant, of Columbus, Ohio, sailed last night on board the Chilcotin for Vancouver.

Mrs. Gordon Fraser and young son returned on the Princess Norah today following holidays in Vancouver.

Capt. and Mrs. H. C. Flood and son returned to the city on the Camosun last evening from a trip to Vancouver.

R. Leslie Brash, newly appointed secretary-manager of the Canadian Legion here, arrived in the city on the Camosun last night to assume his duties here.

Miss Helen Balagno, sailing on the Princess Norah tonight, returns to Seattle following a holiday here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Balagno.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Wallace sailed last night by the Camosun on their return to Stewart, Mr. Wallace having been here for a few days on business in connection with his logging operations for Columbia Cellulose Co. at Stewart.

Portrait of Ald George B. Casey, who has been in Vancouver for the past week or so, appears in a newspaper of that city. Mention is made of the fact of Ald Casey having served for a period of 22 years as an alderman in Prince Rupert, as well as his activity in general community matters and labor affairs. His age is given as seventy-six.

Engagement of Laila Husoy

CHENEY, Washington, Jan. 23—Miss Laila Husoy, a junior at Eastern Washington College of Education, recently revealed her engagement to Sgt. Darrell Pope, St. John, Michigan.

Church Was Overflowing

Large Congregation Gathers to Pay Final Tribute to J. A. Teng

A congregation, which filled the First Presbyterian Church to overflowing, gathered Saturday afternoon at the final rites for the late John Albert Teng, well known Canadian National Railway employee, vocalist and churchman, who passed away last week following an accident in the local railway shops.

Rev. Dr. E. A. Wright, D.D., officiated and referred touchingly to the "vacant chair" which had been left in community, church and home. He paid high tribute to the worth of esteem and the serious loss his death would mean in many quarters.

The pastor also spoke words of comfort to the bereaved—widow, son and daughter.

Mrs. E. J. Smith presided at the organ to accompany the singing of hymns which were "Spirit of God, Descend Upon My Heart" and "Lead, Kindly Light."

Members of the Masonic Lodge, Canadian Legion Women's Auxiliary, Job's Daughters in a body, and other organizations were represented.

There were many beautiful floral tributes.

Honorary pallbearers were T. H. Priest, A. W. Burnip, Harry Calderwood, John E. Davey, F. E. Anfield and M. Lemon.

Active pallbearers were Alex Mitchell, Thomas Dahli, Theo Fortune, James Eddon, Alex Saig and John Davidson.

Following the church service, interment was made in Fairview cemetery.

Mrs. Rhodes Passes Away

A sufferer from heart trouble for some years, Mrs. Synneve Rhodes, wife of Murray (Dusty) Rhodes of this city, passed away at 6 o'clock this morning at her home in the Elizabeth Apartments. She had been in hospital on occasions and ten days ago had been discharged.

Fifty-three years of age, Mrs. Rhodes was born in Norway and left there when three years of age, coming to Annieville near New Westminster. Then she went to Bella Coola to live with Mr. and Mrs. Adolf Christensen. In 1923 she married Mr. Rhodes and they lived at Ocean Falls for twenty-three years, then moving to Port Mellon for five years before coming to Prince Rupert two-and-a-half years ago.

Mrs. Rhodes is survived, besides her widower, by a daughter, Mrs. David (Joan) Wood of this city, and a grandson and granddaughter.

Other surviving relatives include a brother, George Lande of Port Edward, and a foster-brother, Norman Christensen, and foster-sister, Mrs. George Currie, both of Prince Rupert.

There are also three sisters and a brother in New Westminster and two foster-brothers and one foster-sister at Bella Coola.

Deceased was a member of the Order of the Eastern Star and the Anglican Church and at one time of the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire.

Remains will be sent tomorrow on the Camosun to New Westminster where interment will be made.

Former Local Veteran Dies

A former war veteran who lived in Prince Rupert for some time died in Shaughnessy hospital last week in his sixty-seventh year. His name was Nikfor Bokshytz and he is understood to have come from Russia. He was here in the early days, having been employed on railway construction. He served as a private in the 62nd Battalion in the First Great War and later lived in Prince Rupert at 428 West Seventh Avenue. He was buried in the soldiers' section at Mount View, Vancouver.

British Exporting More Midget Cars

OXFORD, England.—The British makers of the M. G. Midget plan to ship 90 per cent of their total output to the United States in the first three months of 1952.

Last year the little two-seaters earned more than $5,000,000 in their biggest selling centres, California and New York State. About 75 per cent of the total output was shipped.

Britons must still wait four or five years for delivery of one of these little cars which are designed to give more than 30 miles to a gallon of gasoline and better than 80 miles an hour. Selling price is about $2,000.

Output in three months, limited by rearmament demands on raw materials, will be about 1750 cars.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Mr. Abel Credited With An Able Assist
As Miss Brash Makes Her 5-Club Bid

Typically enough, Miss Brash opened the bidding with an ace and two queens. She hoped to find a fit with her partner in one of her long suits. If the opponents held the balance of the high card strength (as seemed likely), a profitable sacrifice spot might be located.

She felt that she had to start bidding early in order to have a better chance of showing both hearts and clubs.

This reasoning paid off very well with Mr. Abel's help. Against the final contract of five clubs, doubled, Mr. Abel led the king of spades.

Miss Brash won with dummy's ace and promptly led the nine of hearts. Mr. Abel won with the jack and returned a club. But it was too late to attack the trump suit.

The club lead was won in the closed hand and a heart was ruffed on the board. Miss Brash returned to her hand twice more to ruff two more hearts on the board, clearing the suit. She got to her hand by ruffing spades.

After this sequence she still had two trumps left. She entered her hand once more by ruffing dummy's last spade, took out the remaining trumps and spread her hand, conceding a diamond.

COULD HAVE WON

Mr. Abel could have defeated this contract by opening a trump. When he was in with a heart as the second trick he could have led another trump so that Miss Brash would have been able to ruff only two hearts with dummy's clubs.

The bidding and his own particular holding should have guided Mr. Abel to the right opening lead. Mr. Dale had refused to raise Miss Brash's first bid suit but had strongly supported her second one. Mr. Abel had strength in all three side suits.

There was no danger of Miss Brash quickly getting rid of any losers. With these points in mind, the trump opening was indicated—to prevent Miss Brash from ruffing losers on the board.

John McLeod, Stewart, Dies

Pioneer Hotel Man of Northern Mining Camp Passes Away

John McLeod, for many years proprietor of the King Edward Hotel at Stewart, passed away at the northern mining town Sunday morning, the victim of pneumonia.

Mr. McLeod was about sixty years of age and was born in Stornoway, Scotland.

He took an active part in public affairs during his long residence at Stewart. He was a member of Enoch Lodge, A.F. & A.M.

Besides his wife, Mr. Leod is survived by two sons, Ian of Goldbridge and Donald of Prince Rupert, and two daughters, Mrs. Donald (Isabel) McLeod of Stewart and Miss Janet McLeod of Golden.

Miss Janet McLeod was aboard the Camosun last evening, having been called to Stewart, and the son, Donald, sailed from here on the same vessel.

Checkers, Chess Nearing End of Second Rounds

Play-offs for both the checker and chess round robin contests, continue Tuesday night at the Civic Centre and should see completion of the second round and a start on the third round. Standings will be announced Wednesday.

Yet to play in the second round of the checker tournament are Dean Freeman vs. D. W. Carr-Harris and Gerry Lemire vs. John Bulger. Third round opponents are Bulger vs. Jack Stirn, L. Stanwood vs. Carr-Harris and Freeman vs. Lemire.

In the chess tourney, most of the second round opponents have played off. Third round opponents are D. W. Carr-Harris vs. G. G. Bird; J. W. Stokes vs. S. White; Archie Mitchell vs. J. F. Stirn; G. H. Trapp vs. L. Stanwood.

Checker and chess play-offs will be held in separate rooms. Mr. Stirn is in charge of the tourney.

PEROW NOTES

The Wilson Bros. sawmill has made a drastic cut in operations, laying off the entire crew.

Bill Nicholachuk went with K. Byman by car to Prince George last week. Mr. Byman plans to buy a sawmill and commence operations there.

Harold Wiht has recently sold his camp and timber limit and will soon move down the valley again.

Edmonton Allan Cup Hockey Team

Edmonton's Cup hopes this season ride on a "play-for-fun" hockey team, mostly composed of semi-professional players, which was formed only a month ago by several sportsmen at a morning coffee.

The team, Edmonton Pats, is run by an organization known as the Edmonton Senior Hockey Club. Originally the team was to have been Edmonton Capitals but it was learned another team here bore the name. So officials changed the name to Pats.

Many good senior players were in the city when Edmonton players graduated, last fall the Senior Western Canada team to the professional Pacific coast circuit.

Pats were born when Jim Graham, coach of the 1950 champion Edmonton Mercurys, remarked that a terrific Cup contender could be made from this player surplus.

At the time all players came from semi-retirement for practice. Graham was appointed coach, and white uniforms ordered and a series of exhibition games were lined up.

At the first time as near as can be recalled that players, in Edmonton at least, took the initiative in forming a team to compete for the Allan Cup.

The team line-up reads like a Who's Who as far as Edmonton fans are concerned. All are senior players of many years' experience. They are to gain nothing in a money way unless there is a pot to be won at the end of the season.

Placing netminding duties with Wilbur Delaney and Jack Brown, with Mercurys' 1950 championship squad.

The defence corps consists of the Watt and Eddie Cutts, with the Senior Flyers last year, Frankie Morris of Toronto, star guard of Edmonton's Eskimos the last few years, Jim Ryan of Winnipeg, prairie baseball star, Jimmy Kilburn, another 1950 Mercurys.

The first forward line of Billy Alex Pringle and Freddie Brown was a unit when Flyers were Edmonton's only Allan Cup team.

The second trio up front is Billy Black, Harry Allen and Van Deelen. Black was in the 1948 Flyers, Allen with champion Mercurys and Van Deelen with Regina's Senior Caps in the Saskatchewan team in the Western Major title in 1949.

The third line has Bill Doherty, with University of Alberta Bears; Bill Hodgson, with Edmonton's Junior Oil Kings last year, and Doug Campbell, a Western, Alta., product.

Vincent Proves Winning Factor for Ketchikan

By ROALD FENESS
Rockets 55, Challengers 43
Revenge was sweet Saturday night when down and under Ketchikan Rockets laced into Prince Rupert Challengers to defeat them by a dozen points in the last of a three-game international hoop series. The Alaskans had been highly outclassed in two preceding games.

And it was all a matter of one extra player for the Rockets. Duane Vincent was added to the line-up following his arrival from Seattle.

From the start Ketchikan took the lead and hung on to it grimly, playing twice the quality ball they portrayed previous nights. Challengers fell completely apart in their floor play and to quote a trite phrase: "couldn't hit the broad side of a barn door."

For Ketchikan, Vincent proved and lived up to his high expectations of his team. Like lightning on his feet he made top Rupert stars look like beginners. Both Scherk brothers, in trying to stop Vincent, hit the skids with a full count of fouls.

King Edward Beats Borden

Supported by cheer-leaders and a large crowd of students King Edward white-washed Borden 31 to 7 in a Pee-Wee Basketball League preliminary game Saturday night.

Borden was in poor form and Irvine Rensvold and Shelton Wong, their star players, turned in a disappointing game.

King Edward played their best game of the season.

Scoring was led by John Lambie and Don McIntosh for King Edward each with eleven points while Fred Wong was high for Borden with three.

Quarter time scoring was: 13-1, 18-1, 28-5, 31-7.

Result of Hard Work

Completion of the Prince Rupert Curling Club's rink, about to be completed at Seal Cove, will culminate four months of hard labor and more than a year of planning by a small group of curling enthusiasts here.

VOLUNTARY LABOR

More than $14,000—raised on a voluntary basis—will have been spent on building and equipment.

Only $1,000 has been spent on paid skilled labor, most of this for welders. Nearly $2,000 worth of labor has been contributed by voluntary workers—curling club members and non-members.

THOSE WHO WORKED

Following is a breakdown supplied by the club executive of work done by volunteers:

Nearly 1,600 hours of labor by members; by non-members, 254 hours. Seven members head the top of the list with a total of 598 hours:

L. C. Eby, 100 hours; B. E. Eydson, 97½ hours; W. T. Jennings, 67 hours; Jack Laurie, 101½ hours; W. G. Mackenzie, 95½ hours; G. Neely Moore, 63½ hours; M. A. Mathew, 111 hours.

The Prince Rupert Curling Club, of which the nucleus was formed a year ago, raised $15,000 by selling $100 memberships.

IDEAL SITE

A stroke of good fortune came when the club was offered a former RCAF mess hall at Seal Cove for $3,000. Only a few hundred feet from a large commercial

Scene in Tennis Match, Australia

ADELAIDE (CP)—Dick Savitt, storm boy of international tennis created a scene local fans will long remember as he lost to Ken MacGregor 6-4 6-4 3-6 6-4 in Australia's semi-finals championships Friday.

Irked because the tall Australian permitted to wear spiked shoes, after a brief shower in the fourth set, the Orange, New Jersey, star set down in a sideline chair and refused to continue to play for 13 minutes.

Not until Sir Norman Brookes, president of the Australian Association, talked to him did Savitt consent to resume play. After the match, Savitt said he thought it unfair for his opponent to wear spikes when he (Savitt) did not possess a pair.

Defeat of Savitt, defending champion, brings about the all-Australian final Monday between MacGregor and his Davis cup teammate Frank Sedgman.

freezing unit, the building was considered ideal for a rink.

Freezing facilities of B.C. Packers plant will be rented with brine pumped into a network of pipes now ready to be lowered into the rink floor. Pipe was purchased for $6,000.

A 14-foot addition to the building is now nearly completed and considerable work has been done to provide comfortable club rooms and lounge in the rink building.

LADIES' CLUB

Meanwhile, a Ladies' Curling Club also has been formed with Mrs. Neely Moore president. Currently, this club is offering membership to all women interested in curling and those interested will contact Mrs. E. Boulter.

Canadiens Clean Up

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Canadiens swept to two week-end National League games to move within three points of the second place Toronto Maple Leafs who emerged with one tie and one victory.

The league-leading Detroit Red Wings and the tail-end Chicago Black Hawks came up with one victory and one defeat in a home-and-home series.

Canadiens turned back Boston Bruins 5 to 3 in Montreal Saturday night while the Leafs blanked the Bruins 3 to 0 in Boston Sunday night.

Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion scored three goals, two of them within two minutes in the first period to lead the Canadiens to their victory over the Rangers. A near sell-out crowd of 15,243 saw the Canadiens jump into a 3 to 0 lead with a trio of goals before the eight-minute mark of the first period, then keep ahead of the desperate Rangers the rest of the way.

Geoffrion, 20-year-old rookie, who now has eighteen goals this season, got his first two goals while Defenceman Buller was serving a hooking penalty in the first period. He got his third at the 9:20 mark of the final period, showing the puck under Goalie Chuck Rayner on a passing play with Billy Reay and Paul Meger.

The Hawks turned on the wind for a 3 to 2 victory in Detroit Saturday night but Detroit blanked the Hawks 2 to 0 in a Sunday afternoon game.

Ski Heil

Weather took a firm hand over the week-end to dictate there would be no skiing. Several Ski Club members, however, reached the hill "just in case the rain would stop."

And among those waiting patiently was interesting visitor Marcel Hubert, third mate on the French freighter Jean L. D., and ardent member of the French Alpine Club of Paris.

More a mountain climber than a skier, he says, he has scaled most of the 12,000-foot (4,000 mtrs.) peaks in the Southern Alps of France and entertained local club members with photos of his trips.

Also, Marcel extended to Prince Rupert Ski Club best wishes and luck of his own club with presentation of a dried "Eidelveis" a rare Alpine flower which grows on the 3,000 foot level of the Alps. The white, furry blossom is about as hard to find as the proverbial four-leaf clover, says Marcel.

John Skladney, former Olympic skier, also was on the hill to conduct his first instruction class for club skiers, but the weather put a crimp in any anticipated activity.

With a little frost, however, and about half an inch of dry snow skiing conditions would never be better, and that's what local planksters are waiting for—but any kind of snow will do in a pinch.

SHIPS AND WATERFRONT

Capt. James Hunter was in command of Union steamer Camosun which arrived in port at 9:45 last evening from Vancouver via Kamano Bay and other points. He is relieving Capt. John Boden, regular master of the ship, who is ashore in Vancouver for medical treatment. The vessel brought north forty passengers for Kamano this trip. She had a fair-sized list of passengers for here. After discharging here, the Camosun sailed at 3 a.m. for Alice Arm, and Stewart whence she is due back tomorrow to sail south at 12 noon.

Having been delayed by stormy weather on the Queen Charlotte Islands, Union steamer Chilcotin, Capt. William McCombe, returned to port at 3:30 this morning from her regular voyage to south island points and, after a brief pause here, continued to Vancouver and waypoints.

CPSS Princess Norah arrived at 8 a.m. today on her regular Vancouver - Kamano-Kitimat-Prince Rupert run with 30 passengers, mostly Alcan site employees returning to Vancouver. The Norah sails tonight on her return south.

Election at Pt. Simpson

New Voting Procedure Under Amended Indian Act

To conduct nominations prior to election of the native council for the year, Indian Superintendent F. Earl Anfield is at Port Simpson today, having sailed for the north on the Camosun last night. An election will be held a week hence unless there should be unnecessary through acclamations today for the chief councillorship and seven council seats.

Port Simpson is the first village in this agency to have its election under the new federal Indian Act. The procedure is very similar to that of elections under the British Columbia Municipal Act. Whereas formerly a slate of councillors were elected who chose their own chief, now there is separate voting for the chief councillor in a manner similar to choosing a mayor of a city. The councillors, like aldermen, are elected in a group by the highest number of votes method.

It is now mandatory that the Indian Superintendent conduct the election in each village personally which will involve considerable travelling for Mr. Anfield in coming weeks to Kinco-

"Legal" Bright Capitol Comedy

A bright comedy which pokes good-natured fun at domestic foibles and divorce commences tonight at the Capitol Theatre in "Let's Make It Legal," presenting a trio of stars in the persons of Claudette Colbert, Macdonald Carey and Zachary Scott.

The story deals with the troubles of a wife who gets fed up with her husband's gambling proclivities after twenty years and tries to recapture the romance of her youth with a former suitor. Macdonald Carey is the husband and Zachary Scott, the suitor. Carey's final gamble to win back his wife furnishes an hilarious climax to the picture.

The cast includes Barbara Bates and Richard Wagner, a new and vibrant juvenile pair, who play an important part in the disturbing situation.

lith. Hartley Bay, Kitkatla, Greenville and Llanish.

At Metlakatla there will be no election at this time, the 1951 council carrying on until enfranchisement of the village is finally consummated when all already elected council will take over under the B.C. Villages Act.

For best results, advertise!

What is Nickel, anyway?

"Nickel is a metal, the same as copper and silver are metals. It is a very useful metal because it has a silvery-white color, does not rust or corrode easily, and is strong and tough."

"When we want to make other metals whiter or stronger or more resistant to rust or corrosion, we add nickel to them and then we can make things like white gold or stainless steel."

"The reason our new television set works so well is that nickel and electricity work so well together. Telephones and radios work better because nickel is used. Nickel is a good metal and Canada produces 90 per cent of it."
