You Have a Big Job, 1954

) ERHAPS you do not realize it at such an early age, 1954, but you come at a time when there is the first hint of a real and lasting peace. Man has created for himself instruments so awful he is beginning to fear them more than he does his neighbor.

For the first time, his creations threaten to become his master. Through the ages he has had as nis weapons an axe of stone, a spear, sword and arrow, gunpowder and TNT. These in their own time were feared but were always local in their destruction. In the last war whole cities were levelled but many more were never touched.

Now man has taken apart matter itself and has released an agency of death more dreadful than the bubonic plague. He is on the verge of creating a bomb which, in a single blast, could erase humanity. It is said that already the activations following explosion of a hydrogen bomb will remain forever in the upper reaches of our atmosphere. Several such explosions would create a lethal cloud infecting the atmosphere of the entire world.

Now work has started on the cobalt bomb which, we understand, will make anything that has gone before seem primitive. After the cobalt bomb there will be something worse.

So you see, 1954, man is exceeding himself. By his own efforts to kill, he himself will die. The realization of that, perhaps, will impress itself on his sanity. He has killed his neighbor without scruple, but has always shown a nice regard for his own safety.

Therefore, 1954, those who even now are calling for the British from 1917 on. for war will receive cautious treatment by others who know how final such an act would be.

That means your job here, Master New Year, is to turn man from useless words of anger to thoughtful discussion of self-improvement. Thousands die daily from starvation. Millions trudge through life illiterate and mentally blind. Millions are cursed by crippling disease. Surely the resourcefulness man has shown in devising means of death can be directed towards helping these.

We have great hopes for you, 1954. We believe you will be a historic year. Do no let us down.

Here is news from the world of science, promising a richer life in 1954:

I can't tell you much about the pre-shrunk pork sausage, except that it was advertised on the radio recently by a big packing firm. I don't even know how it is made. Perhaps from pre-shrunk pigs.

The electric socks? I doubt whether they would be of much use to me. They may be all right for ordinary cold feet, but in winter my feet always feel like blocks of per-cooled ice, with pipes rculating brine through hem instead of blood

To generate enough electric warmth to raise my foot temperature by an appreciable amount, I would have to trail around a small dynamo on wheels.

THE death of Stalin was no doubt the most crucial event of 1953 from the point of view of power politics. But one of its effects was to leave the west knowing even less of the inside story of Russia than was known while the Great Red Czar was alive.

We do know that a short, sharp struggle was waged for the number one job in the Soviet government. We do know that Malenkov has won out, to date.

But we do not know, for sure, whether Beria ever was caught. secretly tried, and executed, as the Malenkov regime now claims. For all we know, he may have escaped, or still be hiding in

No longer can Beria be allowed to stand out for what he was for decades—one of strongest men in the Soviet regime. Now nothing is too bad to say about him—and his fellow top Reds are saying worse things about Beria than his enemies and victims ever did.

IN SPITE of the swift and apparently efficient ruthlessness with which the new Red Czar has disposed of his rival for the position of peak power, it seems to me the events of this year have revealed the worst weaknesses which have yet shown up in the Russian-led world Communist party. It is now so clearly morally bankrupt that that fact must be clear, to ever-increasing numbers of its own ad-city, which classed them as manufacturers.

I home nobody tells those cows the judge's decision. Just let them find out they are manufacturers, and you won't be able to talk to them. They will amble off to join the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the Rotary Club, and perhaps run for aldermen. Next thing you know, the cows will be hiring goats to make their milk, or importing coconut milk from South America.

SET A REALISTIC ADVERTISING BUDGET FOR 1954

This is the time when every person who appeals to the public for patronage should plan his advertising program for the coming year. It's smart business to know as nearly as possible where you are going in the next 12 months. If you're a retailer, allow yourself 10 per cent of your normal markup for advertising purposes. Then spend it in varying monthly amounts according to the percentage each represents in ratio to gross sales. Of course, the best and first place to spend it is in the Daily News, the lowcost medium that greets your Best Customers every single day.

TWENTY DIED when this Toronto-Montreal express bus crashed into the Williamsburg Canal 20 miles west of Cornwall, Ont., July 31. The bus, with 39 aboard, was speeding through the early-morning darkness when it struck a truck on the road and both vehicles plunged into 20 feet of water. Max Roodman, 40, of Toronto, the truck driver, was later convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to a year in reference for his cartery for his cartery for his cartery and sentenced to a year in reference for his cartery for CANADIAN FORCES held part of the Korean buttle line at the time the cease-fire went into effect in July ending the Korean war after more than three years of fighting. An artillery unit is shown firing the last Canadian shell a few minutes before the truce went into effect. The Korean war cost to Canada has been more than $200,000,000. A total of 26,723 Canadian servicemen have seen service in the war. Fight Canadian navy ships have done 15 tours of duty in Korean waters and the RCAF has flown 1,000 trans-Pacific transport flights, logging 6,500,000 hours. RCAF pilots also took part, as exchange pilots with the United States Air Force. Casualties suffered by Canadian troops were listed at 1,543 including 256 killed in action, nine presumed dead, 38 died of wounds, 1,101 wounded, 101 injured in action, six missing and 32 returned from prisoner of war.

AN ELECTRIC ARC flaring in the darkness put; the last weld in the 711-mile pipeline stretching from Edmonton to Vancouver. Transmountain Pipeline Company's line from the Alberta oilfields was finished in October and became Canada's second major oil pipeline. It was built across the mountains at a cost of $97,000,000. Two years earlier the 1,137-mile Interprovincial pipeline between Alberta oilfields and the head of the Great Lakes was finished at a cost of $90,000,000.

THE BEAR-PAWED BODIES of three United States hunters, missing more than a month, were found in July near Gaspe, Que. The slayings touched off an exhaustive investigation throughout much of the province and resulted a month later in a charge of murder being laid against a 37-year-old mining prospector, Wilbert Coffin. Coffin was charged with the murder of Richard Lindsey, 17, of Brook Mills, Pa., and held criminally responsible for the death of Fred Claar, 20, of East Freedom, Pa. The third victim was Eugene Lindsey, father of Richard. This photo of Richard and Claar was developed in police laboratories from film found in a camera on the scene. It shows them outside their Gaspe cabin only a few days before they were slain.

PRIME MINISTER ST. LAURENT, leading his Liberal party in a Canadian general election for the second time, led it to victory at the polls Aug. 10. The party, which also won the 1949 general election under its 71-year-old leader, took 171 of Parliament's 265 seats. Two months after the election Mr. St. Laurent announced plans for a world-girdling air journey early in 1954. The prime minister said the trip would enable him to return visits made to him in Ottawa by the prime ministers of France, Germany, Italy, Pakistan, India, Australia and New Zealand.

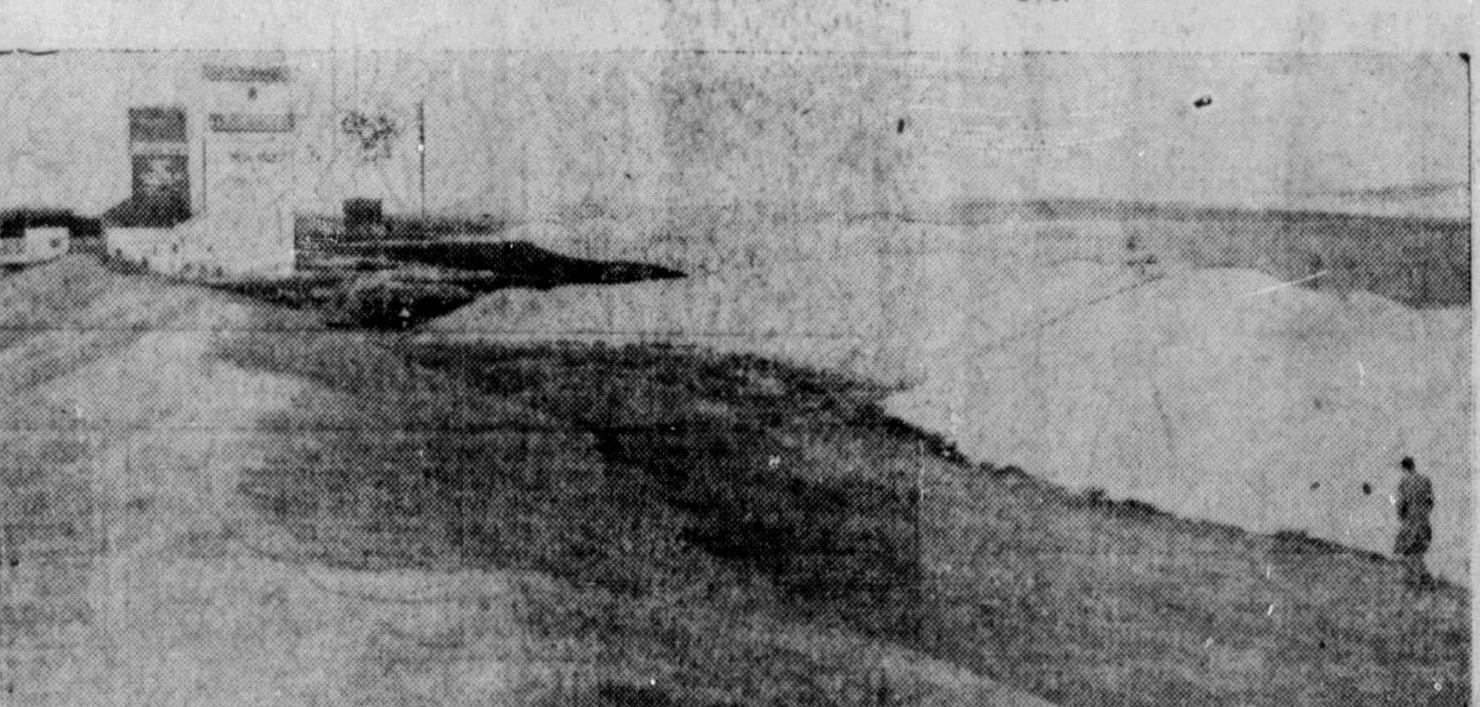

DEBRIS CLOGS the main street of Sarnia, Ont., after a tornado swept across southwestern Ontario May 21. The death toll was five and the damage was estimated in millions of dollars after the twister traced an erractic path across a corner of the province. Sarnia's damage alone was counted at more than $1,000,000 and 50 persons were hurt in the disaster which struck the industrial city of 42,000.

PREMIER W. A. C. BENNETT'S Social Credit government was re-elected in British Columbia's June 9 general election, one of three provincial elections in 1953. Mr. Bennett, a 51-year-old Kelowna hardware merchant, left the Progressive Conservative party and British Columbia's Coalition government two years ago to join the Social Credit party.

TER PEARSON became the centre of a controversy between Canada and the United States over efforts of a U.S. Congressional committee to interview Igor Gouzenko. The U.S. Senate sub-committee on internal security wanted to quiz the former Soviet embassy code clerk on any information or advice he might have which would aid the spy-hunt in the U.S.

GRAIN VALUED AT $300,000 lying on the ground near elevators at Makepeace, Alta., is typical of a severe grain storage problem in Canada. Three big wheat crops in a row filled all available storage space. In November the bureau of statistics reported the 1953 crop at 613,965,000 bushels, second highest in history. The carryover from the 1952-53 crop was 362,700,000 bushels, despite exports of 385,900,000 bushels in the 1952-53 season. Prairie merchants struggle with retail credit difficulties. In its brief to the Canadian Wheat Board, the Alberta Retail Merchants' Association suggested the government guarantee bank loans up to $1,000 on grain in farm storage "to alleviate cases of particular distress."

THE PROBLEM of what to do with some 2,500 persons, members of a radical Doukhobor sect in British Columbia's interior, who defy the law by upending gravestones, dynamiting railways setting homes on fire, parading naked and refusing to send their children to school is puzzling provincial and federal authorities. Here, a group of women members of the radical Sons of Freedom undress before a burning cabin near Krestova. While the more law-abiding of Canada's 18,000 Doukhobors have turned the Kootenays into a "garden," the Sons of Freedom created squalid villages such as Krestova, their stronghold. In October 48 were sentenced to prison terms ranging from six months to three years. Another 19 were handed one-year suspended sentences on charges of nude parading. Earlier 38 were sentenced to three years on the same charge.

FOUR WOMEN won seats in the House of Commons in the Aug. 10 federal election. In the previous Parliament, Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, Progressive Conservative from Hamilton West, was the only woman member. This picture shows the four elected in August as they attended the opening of Parliament in November, left to right: Mrs. Ann Shipley (L—Temiskaming). Miss Margaret Aitken (PC—York Humber), Mrs. Fairclough, and Miss Bennett (PC—Hamilton).

THE SOUTHERN PART of the Maritime Provinces was battered Sept. 7 when an Atlantic hurricane swept inshore. One man was drowned, shipping was scattered, nearly half of Now Scotia's apple crop was destroyed, buildings were damaged and trees blown down by the 80-mile-an-hour wind. This photo shows the wreckage left when the roof was blown off a Halifax apartment house. The Halifax weather office said it was the worst storm to hit that seaport in three years.

MORE THAN HALF the breadwinners of Northern Ontario's Porcupine mining camp were idle throughout the autumn of 1953 after the United Steel Workers of America (CIO—CCL) called progressive strikes in six of the area's 11 mines. In Timmins, centre of the Porcupine camp and a community of 28,000, violence broke in July in the early stages of the strike. This photo shows Ontario Provincial Police in an altercation with a group of pickets near the strike-bound Broulan Reef gold mine.

DAVIS LUCK FOR DUSTY TO

By DICK AYRES

Half way through the winter sports season and at the start of a brand-new year, spectators, sportsmen and athletes are ooking toward a brighter future. The curlers who have been having rough luck are hoping to clean up in the remaining competitions . . , the skiers pray nightly for great gobs of snow . . . the tail-end Charlies of the basketball loops are seeking to find the comeback trail . . . the bowlers who have fallen short of 200 are vowing they'll make it in the last half of the schedule and members of the "over 300 Club" are seeking perfect games the shuttle artists should be planning a tournament.

All of which brings us to New Year's resolutions and what we are planning to have "In This Corner." We were given a word of constructive criticism by curler Jim Georgeson during the week. The only quarrel James had with this column, he said, was that there was too much basketball. "Too true," we countered, "and no one is more conscious of this fact than the guy who writes it. But what else is there? We've just finished running a curling column taking up 12 or more inches a day, we run every curling result we're given," we told him.

We could have added that we try and make the bowling scores more interesting by writing little stories about them to the satisfaction of all but one league. We let "Marty" take care of the outdoor enthusiasts but are quite willing to listen to any nimrod or fisherman who has a tale to tell. We haven't given the shuttle players too much attention, mainly because we haven't had time, but by the same token they haven't sent or brought us a single item of news or a score since the season started.

In other words we give local sport all the space we can, and often run just "Hockey Scores" instead of game accounts from the NHL, WHL and minor leagues in order that the local sports news has first play. It should be remembered that whereas the bigger dailies have three pages or which to spread both the local and the world sport, we usually have to condense everything into three-quarters of a page. However, we'll make a New Year's resolution. If those folks who want reports of their sports events in the paper will just phone the sports editor, the morning after it happens, well before 10 a.m. (since that's the sports page deadline,) then we pledge that we'll do our best to make the sports page more diversified.

A few final words on the Duke of Connaught's visit earlier in the week. We were very impressed with the sportsmanship of New Westminster's Bob Hinamarsh and his players. Bob made no excuses merely saying that his Royal City squad "just didn't have it this trip." He did mention that the smallness of the Civic Centre floor compared to the Dukes' own massive gym which practically eliminated a lot of their bounce plays and wiped out other tactics which depended on more space. On Wednesday, after Don Wallin had been forced to leave on personal business for New Westminster Bob nearly went crazy trying to get a replacement flown up from down south. The remaining five lads did a first class job of trying to stem the hustling Bo-Me-Hi attack but they were a beat bunch of boys, even at half time.

Naturally, commendation goes to Jack Evans and his driving Rainmakers. They did a wonderful job on the first two nights and came through with a win again for the third game which somehow seemed like an anti-climax. The first string of Dick Nickerson, Freddy Kristmanson, Ron Ciccone, Mouse Morrison and Rod Tait pulled off some superb plays and shots and Gary Morison and Rey McKay showed up well in the floor-time they were given.

We've heard of losing or visiting teams beefing against the refereeing and asking for a change of local arbiters, but the Dukes-Bo-Me-Hi series produced the situation of a winning local team asking that Ole Slatta, umpire in the first and second games not be allowed to call the final game. The whole deal stemmed from the three technical fouls awarded Bo-Me-Hi after protests had been made following Greig Forbes' one free shot in the dying minutes of the second game. Up to that time we had heard no criticism of Slatta's calls and certainly Bo-Me-Hi had not been the victim of any decisions that threatened to take their victories away from them. It seemed mighty peculiar to us and must have struck the visiting Dukes as a little strange too.

POST SCRIPTS-More than 1,300 persons saw the three-game cage series with the Dukes, and we believe that the high school ended up in the black . . . Hope that Doug Sankey who blew his cork Tuesday night and brought his team the afore-mentioned technical fouls, doesn't do anything foolish like quitting playing or refereeing basketball. The incident is past, he didn't lose the game for his team-mates, and he'll please his friends, his school and his team-mates if he'll just learn to control his temper and take the broader view. The past week has probably been a horrible one for him but throughout the sports world lots of hot-heads have learned to curb their emotions, and become cool, calm and valuable players and referees. . . . We also hope that Glen (Tiny) Carlson, Gordon and Anderson stalwart and heavyweight champion of B.C. will take the doc's advice and take it easy until the spinal ailment which has been paralysing his leg is cured. Tiny is young yet, and while always wanting to be playing basketball or down training for fights, it would be far better to lay off for awhile and make sure his back is sound than to rest a little while and then aggrevate the trouble before its entirely better .

There's plenty of exciting sport scheduled for 1954 and Prince Rupert should have some part of it. Bo-Me-Hi Rainmakers should definitely go to the provincial high school tournament this year as it looks like we have a winner . . . Joe Ward's boxers should be taking a crack at the Golden Gloves, and Diamond Belt tourneys when they come up and Mouse Morrison and Andy Marshall should defend their titles to size things up for the British Empire games in Vancouver this summer . . . Then there's an official Little League Baseball group to be set up and possibly a Pony League . . . With baseball we have the Baltimore Orioles ready to make their mark in the major leagues and everybody is waiting to see what happens to the Dodgers under Walter Alston. That's only a sample. So to one and all in the sports world, athletes, coaches, spectators, or just reading sports fans, we wish a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Black Hawks Celebrate New Year's Day With 4-2 Win Over Loop-Leading Wings

By The Canadian Press

Someone must have told Chi cago Black Hawks and New York Rangers that the Nationa Hockey League season didn start until New Year's Day.

It seemed like it last night. The last-place Hawks delighted 10,860 home town fans, the largest crowd'since their first home game this season by dumping the league leading Detroit Red Wings 4-2
