Police Deny Manhandling After Arrest

Charged with resisting arrest while being checked by police on possession of alcohol Saturday night, Ivan Watts was fined $25 and costs or in default 14 days in jail this morning in police court by Magistrate W. D. Vance.

Asked for a plea on the charge by Magistrate Vance, Watts answered, "Guilty, I guess, after the beating they gave me."

Questioned by Magistrate Vance on the qualification of plea, Watts said he was "pushed around" by police when they questioned him on where he got the liquor.

Police testimony refuted the charge of manhandling stating that Watts had refused to give any circumstances of where the liquor was obtained. Force had to be used to get the accused to the van, police said.

At one point, the police statement said, the accused had broken away from the two arresting constables and a chase had ensued. No marks of violence were to be seen when Watts was brought to the lock-up, police asserted.

"I don't know why you fellows don't get smart," Magistrate Vance told Watts.

"You should come in quietly, because you're going to be brought in anyway, if it takes the whole force."

Watts was fined $15 and costs or seven days on the possession charge, to run consecutively with the resisting charge.

Killed by Gas

VANCOUVER — Vancouver recorded its 41st domestic gas death of the year during the week-end when Francis J. Benoy, a 62-year-old instrument repairman, was found dead in his room.

Two adventurous sailors who crossed the Atlantic and toured the south seas extensively in a 29-foot sailing cutter, spent the weekend in Prince Rupert.

They are Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Pye of Essex, England, who have gained world-wide fame for their adventurous voyage in the tiny "Moonraker" sailing 17,000 miles in 14 months.

They visited Prince Rupert in the course of a cruise of the west coast, and left at noon today to return to the Queen Charlottes before heading back to Victoria to prepare for their return voyage to England.

Martial Law Enforced As New War Develops

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (CP) — President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman of Guatemala proclaimed martial law throughout his invaded country today as his government mobilized for a showdown battle with the invading rebels.

Insurgent leaders claimed their forces were pushing ahead today in a three-pronged drive aimed at key rail and road communications in the southern part of the country.

The martial law decree was announced late yesterday, following a government appeal for all private cars to be turned in for use in moving troops. Reports from Guatemala said the decisive phase of the battle for that neighboring Central American republic may come within 48 hours.

Jack Rutledge, Associated Press correspondent in Guatemala City, Sunday night quoted Guatemalan army officers as saying no field action had yet been fought. They added, however, that a battle could not be delayed much longer.

The United States embassy in Guatemala City announced that it is making plans to evacuate wives and children of U.S. citizens in the country. With a wave of anti-U.S. feeling sweeping the city, the embassy feared violence might break out against them.

A spokesman for Col. Arlos Castillo Armas, leader of the "liberation army," said here that a drive toward the pan-American highway was aimed at Jutiapa, a town of 5,000, some 45 miles south of Guatemala City. It lies 20 miles north of the El Salvador border.

Other rebel units also were reported heading toward Asuncion Mita, a town of 3,000, 13 miles northeast of Jutiapa. Another invading column was reported moving in from Macuelizo, Honduras, about 20 miles west of Puerto Barrios, Guatemala's chief Caribbean port.

The third was reported toward Zacapa, midway on the vital rail line between Puerto Barrios and Guatemala City.

Rebel sources said their planes also are dropping arms in western Guatemala where uprisings against the government have been reported.

At an extraordinary Sunday session, the UN Security Council unanimously called for a ceasefire in Guatemala. The resolution, proposed by France, also urged all UN members not to aid either side in the struggle.

The move came after the Soviet Union vetoed a U.S.-supported bid to turn the complaint over to the Organization of American States and demanded that the council itself act on the case.

At one point, the police statement said, the accused had broken away from the two arresting constables and a chase had ensued. No marks of violence were to be seen when Watts was brought to the lock-up, police asserted.

"I don't know why you fellows don't get smart," Magistrate Vance told Watts.

"You should come in quietly, because you're going to be brought in anyway, if it takes the whole force."

Watts was fined $15 and costs or seven days on the possession charge, to run consecutively with the resisting charge.

JOHN LANDY Beats Bannister

Landy Sets New Record

FINLAND, Turku — John Landy, Australia's ace runner, today broke the world's record for the mile by covering the distance in 3 minutes, 58 seconds. Landy, running against Chris Chataway of England, set the new mark only two months after Roger Bannister ran the first mile in under four minutes. Bannister, whose time for the miles was 3:59.4 will race against Landy at the British Empire Games in Vancouver August 7. Landy also set a world's record for the 1,500 meters with 3:41.8 at Turku today.

KAMLOOPS MP OPPOSES BAN ON ANGLING FOR SOCKEY

OTTAWA — A British Columbia member has protested a federal ban against angling for sockeye, pink or chum salmon in B.C.

Davie Fulton (PC-Kamloops) said in the Commons Saturday night that angling for those species is a legitimate form of sport fishing.

It was unfair for inland B.C. anglers "to be condemned to eat canned salmon for the rest of their lives," J. Watson MacNaught, parliamentary assistant to Fisheries Minister Sinclair, said the ban involves the question of conservation and is under consideration by the department.

ARRIVAL HERE this morning of the MV Island King inaugurates a weekly freight service recently announced by the Union Steamship Company, and resumes a week-end link between Vancouver and Prince Rupert. The 750-ton Island King has recently undergone a complete reconditioning which includes a greatly enlarged refrigeration space of 3,400 cubic feet to handle shipments of perishable goods to Prince Rupert. Sailings from Vancouver on Fridays means delivery in the city every Monday, and combined with USS passenger vessels gives freight service Monday and Thursday mornings plus Friday night. In addition the Island King will serve Kitimat and Watson Island.

Special Parley Today May End B.C. Strike

The strike of 5,000 salmon fishermen throughout B.C. moved into its second day today, with union and operators hoping for a break at a special meeting in Vancouver scheduled for this afternoon.

The strike call went out Saturday night when it was announced that B.C. fishermen had voted 93.3 per cent against the operators' latest price offer. The Prince Rupert local of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union voted 98 per cent "no."

Locals throughout the B.C. coast were instructed to set up picket lines when the season opened at 6 p.m. Sunday but in Prince Rupert no active picketing has been deemed necessary.

However, committees have been set up in the city and in the 10 main camps throughout the area to watch for any strike-breaking move.

length of the salmon season was governed by the fisheries department and that officials based the season on the escapement of the fish. A run of sockeye was reported today on the Naas river and that escapement, together with more throughout the district, would probably eliminate the usual necessity of weekend closures and early season closure later on.

Meanwhile, negotiations have been going ahead for another section of the UFAWU, affecting tendersmen employed on the fish packers. Conciliation board sessions have concluded and all tendersmen, both of the union and of the Native Brotherhood of B.C., have been called to a special meeting Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the Metropole Hall, to vote on the conciliation award. No wage issue is involved in this bargaining which covers working conditions only.

Phone Project Of $450,000 For Kitimat

SPECIAL TO THE DAILY NEWS
KITIMAT — More than $450,000 will be spent within the next two years on the installation of telephone facilities in Kitimat by the B.C. Telephone Company it was learned here today.

The projected move was announced by W. S. Pipes, vice-president and general manager who stated that initially the program will involve installation of outside cable this summer to connect the townsite with the Aluminum Company's private branch exchange. The outside plant program alone will cost about $125,000.

Next year the company will install an exchange at a cost of approximately $340,000 including a building and more cable.

Main portion of this year's program will consist of placing a seven-mile cable between the townsite and the plant.

While long-distance service between Kitimat and Vancouver is now handled by radio-telephone, it planned that when the CNR branch line between Kitimat and Terrace is completed, landline facilities will be provided to carry this traffic via Prince George.

Island Prince Rescues Crew As Tug Sinks

VANCOUVER, B.C. — A small coastwise tug identified as the Royston was reported to have been sunk in Discovery Passage early Saturday and an unknown number of crew members were picked up by the freighter Island Prince.

Capt. H. C. Terry of Northland Navigation, operators of the Island Prince, said he understood there was no loss of life.

He received a radio message from Capt. George Hodgson of the Island Prince stating that survivors were picked up from the water and were being landed at Campbell River.

Poor communications prevented Capt. Terry from learning more details of the rescue, but he gathered that the ship foundered in stormy weather and the Island Prince happened to be close by at the time.

The Island Prince left Vancouver Friday night for Prince Rupert.

TOKYO (Reuters) — Robert W. Mayhew, 74, Canadian ambassador to Japan, collapsed at a funeral service today and was taken to the United States Army hospital in Tokyo.

Helicopters Not Enough

IF HELICOPTERS go into operation between Prince Rupert and Terrace—and there are reports that the federal government plans to go through with the idea, possibly as early as this fall—it will give strength to a forecast made recently by a Belgian airlines executive, Anselme Vernieuwe.

It was Mr. Vernieuwe's opinion that within a few years helicopters will be doing most of the air transport work over routes of 350 miles or less. He predicted that by linking towns to each other and in turn to large cities, the helicopter soon will be in direct and successful competition with existing surface transport, and in many cases will displace the airplane.

Mr. Vernieuwe had some figures to support his statement. A study of the present trend of helicopter traffic made by the New York Port Authority led to the estimate that by 1960, 750,000 passengers would travel annually by this means. The estimate represents an increase of 600 per cent over the number carried by helicopter now.

At about the same time he was making his statement, an airline company in eastern U.S. announced that it planned eventually to replace all its planes with a fleet of large, twin-engine helicopters. The company had decided that by making departures and landings in downtown areas, passengers could travel between cities faster by helicopter than by conventional aircraft.

No doubt helicopters could perform a useful function in the Prince Rupert area, but they are by no means a complete answer to our air transportation problem. Prince Rupert is not the small community that must be joined to larger centres by a shuttle service. It is the principal city of northern B.C. and, as such, is a focal point for traffic from all directions.

Until Prince Rupert can be reached as readily by air as by land and sea, the transportation needs of this whole northwest country are not being properly met. It is inconceivable that any major centre in the south would be without direct access by air. Why should there be discrimination against the north?

Ray REFLECTS and REMINISCES

Twenty-four miles of land along the shores of Loch Lomond will be sold this coming July. It will be a straight business transaction of course, and we can choose between taking the high or the low road as he follows the bonnie, bonnie banks so Glasgow.

Judging by the increase in motor accidents horse power was much safer when only the horses had to be controlled.

CIVILIZATION'S END

Speaking not long ago, no less a personage than Sir John Slessor G.O.B., Marshal of the Royal Air Force, remarked:

For the first time in hundreds of thousands, or millions of years that man has existed he can carry on or propel through the air for thousands of miles a missile that by itself can destroy a city. It is silly to behave as though this revolution had never happened. Actually it has completely changed the whole complexion and dimension of the problem of peace and war. All previous conceptions have become obsolete. Let me hasten to say that I am not here to tell you we can now scrap the navy, disband the army and put all our money on a new push-button air force. But if there were another major war it would not remotely resemble the last one.

A world war in this day and age would be general suicide and the end of civilization as we know it.

So the three cent stamp has gone to join the dodo, the five-cent chocolate bar and the ten-cent tip.

GRAVE RISKS

There are some wardens in Canada who say they have watched murderers walk to the gallows, and feel sure they are without fear. However, a jail is a good place to keep away from. The sight of a rope, and nothing else might scare a perfectly innocent man to death.

British Columbia power plans may wipe out the Pacific salmon runs. This could be a sock in the eye for the sockeye.

Howard Green MP of Vancouver, speaking in Ottawa recently had a few remarks to make concerning the proposed railway line from Terrace to Kitimat. He called attention to the change in the bill—or the proposed change—which permitted a delay of ten years before completion.

The line had been planned to be finished by November, 1954. Plenty of time to think things over.

Prince Rupert managed to get along before there were municipal buildings. The first official sitting of the city council was up stairs in what is today known as the museum, but was then utilized as a court house. Nevertheless we're getting around to the point where one can point with pride to the elevator in the City Hall.

YET IT'S A DOLLAR

There used to be a time when a payroll meant nothing more than giving workers what was coming to them at the end of the week. But today, there's something additional called "fringe benefits" which includes pensions, social security, insurance premiums and plenty more trimmings. It works out at about an extra dollar for every five paid in the wage scale.

There is as yet no certainty of Geneva closing down, although this international stronghold, at times, acknowledges feeling discouraged. However, none need go home. It's always possible to stay over a while longer and fall in love with the scenery, which is rated marvellous.

AWKWARD QUESTIONS

George Drew, Leader of the Opposition, calling attention to the new Criminal Code, refers to the question of proceedings against writers and publishers for alleged contempt. The point is well taken. Newspapers will be able to know how far they can go. Law, today, is said to be in an extremely confused state. Meanwhile reporters are asked if they know news when they perceive it.

As I See It

Where France Went Wrong

IT IS always easy to hit a losing cause. A good many writers and politicians are now damning France up hill and down dale for the debacle in Indo-China.

Dorothy Thompson, for instance, shows that of the Communists in Indo-China, the vast majority are German ex-Nazis.

The main burden of the fighting in Indo-China has been carried by the French Foreign Legion, numbering a hundred thousand men at peak strength.

Of this one hundred thousand foreign legionnaires no less than eighty thousand were Germans. There is violent resentment against this fact in Germany, where the French occupation army is accused of running a large-scale and completely illegal recruiting service of young Germans.

LOOKING back at my own columns and radio broadcasts for 1945, I see that I severely criticized France and The Netherlands for using force to try to reconquer their former colonial possessions.

It has always seemed to me that the Second World War sounded the death knell of imperialism in general, but imperialism-with-racism in particular.

Three great empires—Britain, France and Holland—were fighting for their very lives in Europe against what was, after all, only the latest and most brutal form of imperialism.

There was nothing new about what Hitler did—that was new was the degree to which he applied his evil methods. Nazi-Fascism was, in fact, only a new and cruder form of imperialism, where the victims were the fellow European citizens of the German temporary conquerors.

What the Nazis did openly and brutally on a titanic scale in Europe, against their fellow "whites," the other western imperial powers had done, a few generations earlier, in far off places of the world, against human beings who were powerless to defend themselves against the fire power superiority of the western invaders.

The real blunder of France was that she failed to see that just as France had the right to be liberated from the Germans, so the Indians had the right to be liberated by Britain, and the Indo-Chinese had the same right to be liberated from their European overlords.

I REMEMBER the shock which some of us in Canada got when we saw the news photos of the short-lived war in Indonesia. The Dutch army was actually being the artillery and other equipment which had been given to them as a free gift by Canada. The maple leaf emblems were still visible on some of the guns which the Netherlands government attempted to use to subdue the Indonesian nationalists.

It is to the eternal credit of the Netherlands people that they realized their mistake in time. They responded to the conscience of the world. They gave Indonesia the same right to rule itself which Holland had regained when the invaders were driven from the Netherlands homeland.

In other words, the Netherlands did exactly what the British Labor government did in regard to India, Pakistan and Ceylon.

THE REAL failure of France was to recognize, in time, that the facts of life had changed forever in Asia as well as in Europe. Had France freely granted independence to the native nationalists in Indo-China, there is at least a chance that the outcome would have been the same as it was for the Dutch in Indonesia, or for the British in India, or Burma.

India decided of her own free will to stay in the Commonwealth. Burma chose to go but—though there is a strong suggestion lately that Burma may rejoin the Commonwealth. France waited too long, with the consequence that the switch-over, when it comes, may not go to native democrats, who are the natural allies of the west, but rather to Communist units of the vast, new, Red world bloc.

Central And Northern B.C. Heading For Biggest Boom in Nearly Century

By KEN METHERAL

Canadian Press Staff Writer

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C.

British Columbia's central and northern interior appears headed for its greatest boom in almost 100 years.

Ralph Chetwynd, minister of trade and industry for B.C., summed up the optimism pervading the entire area stretching some 700 miles northward from Vancouver with the prediction that the present Cariboo and fringe-exploded north country "will be unrecognizable in five years' time."

BIG DEVELOPMENTS

The contagious confidence of the hardy men pioneering settlement of this country of mountain valleys and high plateaus is based on the rail and gas developments and their impact on the natural resources abounding in the province.

The government-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway, now is constructing a 40-mile extension from its southern terminus at Squamish, B.C. to Vancouver. The $12,000,000 link is scheduled for use next year. Survey parties are at work on a $48,000,000 extension that will link the northern terminus at Prince George to Dawson Creek, 270 miles to the northeast in B.C.'s Peace river district.

Northwest Transmission Company plans a natural-gas pipeline from the Peace river through the Cariboo country to Vancouver.

Reflecting the optimism in a tangible sense is the tremendous post-war growth of central interior areas along the PGE like this terminal city that serves as a junction point with the Canadian National Railways and the villages of Quesnel and Williams Lake.

The population of Quesnel, once site of a Hudson's Bay Company post in the 1800's and now centre of a fast-expanding lumber industry, has more than tripled to 5,000 since the Second World War.

Alev V. Kraser, chairman of the village commission, says the rail and pipeline developments "will change the entire industrial and domestic outlook in the central interior."

CHEAP POWER

The pipeline together with the B.C. power commission's announced plans for a multi-million dollar hydro-development on the Clearwater river 150 miles to the southeast, will provide cheap power for a wide range of light industrial development.

Quesnel, with a new $3,000,000 plywood plant on its outskirts and about 160 sawmills operating within a 30-mile radius, soon may be the site of a new pulp-wood plant. The village issued $1,000,000 worth of building permits last year and expects to extend that figure in 1954.

The same picture of growth and industry is showing at the cattle-ranching centre of Williams Lake, 75 miles south of Quesnel, and at Prince George, almost the same distance to the north.

Population of Williams Lake, estimated at 2,500, is double what it was two years ago; Prince George jumped to nearly 12,000 compared with the 1940 figure of 2,500.

BRITISH COLUMBIA's central and northern interior appears headed for its greatest boom in almost 100 years spurred by promise of increased rail facilities and natural gas. The government-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway is spending millions of dollars on line extensions opening up new sections or developing present facilities. Here one of the trains winds through scenic mountain country and across a swift-flowing river. (CP Photo)

OTTAWA DIARY

By NORMAN MACLEOD

These closing days of parliament are a time of stock-taking for the political parties. They are trying to decide how they have fared in the past several months of strategy in the House of Commons. They would like to know whether they should be complacent over their respective performances or a trifle uneasy.

On the whole, the Liberals are fairly well satisfied with the way things have gone. They were subject to the two handicaps which a party in power always faces, viz: (1) the necessity of sponsoring administrative measures that may be of basic importance but are devoid of popular appeal; and (2) the responsibility of putting the national interest ahead of merely political considerations.

Both these factors weighed fairly heavily against the Liberal performance. The deviations of the Criminal Code and of the Bank Act were complicated pieces of legislation of limited popular interest. On the other hand, the high level of taxation forbade any further advances along the popular highway of welfare state legislation, such as national health insurance.

A third factor has beset the Liberals this session. For the first time in their 19 years in power economic conditions have shown signs of turning against them. Unemployment and markets for farm produce have become stubborn problems.

Yet in spite of these disabilities, the Liberals feel that they have had a reasonably good session. They consider that the government has given the sort of a responsible performance which the thinking public will approve.

Quesnel Woman Shows Men How Top Executive of Big Lumber Outfit

QUEENSLAND B.C.—A slim, attractive woman is proving daily that she has no monopoly on lumbering in this rough, tough industry.

Years ago Mrs. Dorothy Quesnel was a lumber mill clerk. Her first job was driving a 12-ton logging truck hauling fresh-cut logs to the company mill. Quesnel business men still speak of the skill and daring of the dynamic, 115-pound woman as she man-handled the big trucks over rough, dangerous mountain trails. Soon she was helping to run operations in the woods and keeping the firm's records straight.

Her father, who walked into the Cariboo country from Vancouver with a pack on his back in 1899, established the company with the first sawmill to operate in the Quesnel area.

Today his daughter is controller of a widespread operation that last year marked 8,000,000 board feet of lumber. The company operates a number of portable sawmills in the woods, its own fleet of trucks, a subsidiary planing mill and has its own airplane to allow executives to keep in close touch with operations.

As controller, Mrs. Ritson is in charge of credit, financing and accounting.

Her brothers have taken over active management of the woods and mill operations and her husband, Jack, is in charge of the planing mill.

FUTURE BRIGHT

Mrs. Ritson sees a bright future for the Cariboo district in the announced plans for extension of the B.C.-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway from tidewater at Squamish, B.C., to Vancouver and construction of a natural gas pipeline from the Peace river district.

"Extension of the railway into Vancouver will be a great boon for the lumber industry," she says. "It will allow us to compete for the first time in the Prairie market and give more competitive rates in the United States."

"Both the rail and pipeline developments should spark development of secondary industries in the Quesnel area and bring to the women of the interior more of the amenities of city life," she added.

"It will be wonderful to have the convenience of gas for cooking. And no furnace to stoke when hubby's away—oh my."

Mrs. Ritson thinks Canadian business women should stop forming their own clubs and take a more active part in such organizations as chambers of commerce and boards of trade.

"We should stop flaunting the fact we are women and just concentrate on doing a good job."

"That's the fastest way of making a man sit up and take notice."

Crowds Pay Last Respects To Counsellor

Impressive funeral services for the late W. F. Stewart, held Saturday at St. Andrews Cathedral were accompanied by an impressive procession through Prince Rupert's streets headed by the Aiyansh Silver Harmonic Band.

Mr. Stewart, who died suddenly June 12 was for many years chief leading counsellor for the Kincolth village council and held the position of secretary to the council at his death.

The casket was carried from Grenville Court Chapel to the Cathedral in six-man relays, composed of the leading men representing the various crests and bands in the district.

Hymns at the service were sung by the Kincolth Choir. Mourners overflowed the capacity of the Cathedral and scores of people stood in the streets outside during the service.

The last rites were conducted by the Right Rev. Harold G. Watts, Bishop of Caledonia, Canon Basil S. Prockter and Rev. W. Bradbury of Kincolth.

CLAD IN KID, from head to toe, French mannequin Johanne models an all-leather ensemble shown by the French National Leather Council. Black suede is attractively set into the yoke of the jacket and the waist band of the skirt, both of which are cut of supple white kid. The gloves, trim beret, and shoes (such as they are) are also made of snowy kidskin.

Hospital WA Tag Day Nets $461 For Maternity Wing

The Women's Auxiliary to the Prince Rupert General Hospital Saturday set a record in its annual hospital tag day, netting a total of $461.46.

The tag proceeds will boost the auxiliary's special fund to provide equipment for the proposed new maternity wing at the hospital, expected to open next fall in the west wing.

A group of 28 students from various city schools joined 20 auxiliary members in the tag, which raised about $100 more than in any other year. Winning prizes as best taggers were Rita Yoston, David Wong and Margaret Sedgwick. The other students helping in the project, were given theatre tickets.

The annual hospital auxiliary tag was first held in 1950.

MUSEUM briefs

By JOCELYN BOLTON

It has been an interesting and busy week in the Museum with plenty of visitors from all over the United States, Canada and a very pleasant lady from Manchester, England and her son, who came to Prince Rupert by train and spent a few days sight-seeing and enjoying our scenery. In fact, even though the weather has not been the best, they thought the air so fresh and scenery lovely. Our tourists do shop, they use our taxis, they buy souvenirs, candy, and in many cases gifts to take home, and often wish we had more that was emblematic of our industry. I have told them to buy our crab and canned products etc., which they thought an excellent idea. Two visitors I know have purchased totem poles, and if one counted all the small purchases it would amount to a considerable sum, and as time goes by and years go by, more and more are going to come to this part of the country, so we must welcome them and by our displays encourage them to spend their money in our city.

We are again thanking our local people for their interest in the Museum, and received an exhibit of priceless value from Mr. H. Faure, Etruchan vases known to be 500 B.C. and more likely 750 B.C. They are on display. The tear vase is reported to be the only one known to exist and we are proud to have it, and sincerely thank Mr. Faure for his generous donation. Mr. D. Crocker also has offered to give us some of his treasures and we thank him for his interest in us too.

Our Tag Day is nearly upon us, Saturday, July 3rd. We are anxious to have taggers, and would welcome some calls offering to tag for us, young people from ages 15 and up, both boys and girls. We plan to give all taggers a snack at the Museum, hot dogs and coke, homemade cake after an hour or so tagging, then they will be refreshed to start again. A membership will be given to each tagger, and a copy of "Soogwillis" (which is a lovely book, written by Dr. R. G. Large).

Indians Face Rough Schedule With Caps Starting Tonight

By The Associated Press
The Western International Baseball League's orphaned Spokane Indians, safely past one more financial crisis, are set for their toughest playing assignment.

After winning six of seven games against Edmonton and Calgary, the Indians visit Vancouver Monday night for their first 1954 test of the league-leading Capitanos.

The Indians, who have played like potential pennant-winners since league directors took away their franchise and assumed operation of the club eight days ago, rang up their sixth straight victory with Sunday's 9-1 win over Calgary in the first game of a doubleheader. Calgary took the second game 17-8, leaving Indians in third place, 4½ games behind Capitanos.

The three-game Spokane-Vancouver series originally was set for Spokane but was shifted to Vancouver when league directors last week gave the Spokane committee an extra week for a drive to raise $40,000 needed to acquire the franchise.

The Spokane-Calgary doubleheader Sunday was one of four in the league. Yakima took both ends of a twin bill with Tri-City 10-7 and 12-4; Edmonton won 2-1 over Lewiston and lost 7-2; and Salem beat Wenatchee twice 8-7, in 10 innings, and 4-1. Vancouver and Victoria had an open date.

Bud Closs pitched four hit ball for Spokane as the Indians posted their sixth consecutive win in the first game at Calgary. The nightcap was a nightmare for the Indians as the Stampedeers gained revenge for earlier trouncings. Three Spokane pitchers gave up 21 hits, including six home runs.

At Edmonton, John Conant limited Lewiston to five hits in the opener as he racked up his fifth victory of the season. Mel Wasley and Clint Cameron homered for Lewiston in the second game.

All-Star Game For Coast Loop Test For Stars

By The Associated Press
Just how good the league-leading Hollywood baseball team really is will be indicated tonight in Gilmore Field, Hollywood, when the Stars take on the best of the rest of the league in a revival of the all-star game.

Only twice before in the 11-year series has one team taken on the field, and only once has one team won.

San Francisco beat an all-league team, 3-0, in 1946. Hollywood manager Bobby Bragan, whose players topped San Francisco, 5-4 and 8-1 Sunday, will pitch Roger Bowman. Seal manager Tommy Heath has five top hurlers to pick from. Six players on the all-league squad bat over .300.

In other contests Sunday, San Diego took two grueling games from Seattle by the identical score, 5-4. Oakland beat Los Angeles twice, 4-2 and 6-3. And Portland whipped Sacramento 8-3 and 6-4.

This week Hollywood plays at Seattle, Sacramento at Los Angeles, Portland at Oakland and San Francisco at San Diego.

HARRY McLAUGHLIN, 16-year-old Finn Flon, Man., high school student landed this 40-pound lake trout after a one-hour battle at Trout Lake, six miles from Finn Flon. Using an ordinary light rod and line with some snare wire for a leader, a single hook and a red and white "daredevil" lure, the angler hooked the fish on his fourth cast from the shore of the lake. Three chums helped McLaughlin bring it to shore. The catch was too early to qualify for the district's Trout Festival later this month.

Giant Pinch Hitters Come Through To Keep Ahead of Double-Win Bums

By JACK HAND

Warren Giles' embargo on the $100 home run bonus came just in time to save Leo Durocher from an acute case of C-note shorts.

Take Sunday, for instance. Two Giant pinch hitters, Bobby Hofman and Dusty Rhodes, set a record by hitting pinch homers in the same inning of New York's 7-6 victory over St. Louis. Wes Westrum also homered in the sixth inning and Al Dark hit one earlier.

The Giants needed them. Their National League lead was sliced to half a game by Brooklyn's double victory.

RELIEF DID IT

The Dodgers again fell back on relief pitching to knock off Chicago twice 6-4 and 6-3, with Clem Labine jailing out the first game and Bob Milliken and Ben Wade holding the fort in the second.

For the first time since Sept. 6, 1953, Pittsburgh actually won a doubleheader. First the Pirates downed Milwaukee 2-1 in 10 innings when Lew Burdette hit Curt Roberts' pinch-pitcher ball with the bases loaded, then Garl Allen's three-run homer gave the Pirates the second game, 3 over Bob Buhl. The double defeat dropped the Braves seven games out of first place.

Cincinnati bumped Philadelphia twice 4-3 and 15-6, chasing their old teammate, Herm Wehmeier, as they scored nine runs in the first inning of the second game.

TRIBE ADVANCES

Cleveland hiked its American League lead to four games by beating their old Boston sparring mates around the head 3-1 and 9-2, while New York and Chicago were dividing two. Bobby Feller's five-hitter and Art Houtteman's 10-hitter both had home run help from Al Smith, boosting the Tribe's season record to 11-1 over Boston.

The Yankees managed 20 hits including home runs by Bill Skowron, Gil McDougald, Mickey Mantle and Joe Collins in thumping Chicago 16-6, in the first game before 37,075 at Comiskey Park. Then Bob Keegan squared matters for the White Sox 7-3, becoming the first American League pitcher to win 10 games this year. Sherm Lollar's two-run homer in the seventh was the second game's big blow.

Baltimore, losing streak ran to eight straight when Washington's Connie Marrero and Dean Stone pitched the Senators to a double victory, 7-1 and 7-2. A crowd of 17,149 boosted the Oriole's home attendance to 594,732 but the last place Birds were thoroughly booed.

RAINED OUT

A Philadelphia - at - Detroit double-header was rained out. Eddie Stanky spent a frustrating afternoon at the Polo Grounds where his Cardinals left 17 runners on base, only one hit of the major league record, in a three-hour-and-16-minute contest involving 33 players. Matters became so involved that Monte Irvin, who started on the bench, got into the game as a pinch hitter and played left field, then wound up on first base after Whitey Lockman was chased by an umpire.

Roy Campanella collected a bunt single, double and triple and Carl Furillo hit a three-run homer in Brooklyn's first-game triumph in which Labine's stylish relief work saved the day 10-0. Erskine.

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Knowing Partner's Style, He Bids on Weak Hand

Mr. Dale used a knowledge of his partner's bidding style when he made a free bid of two hearts in today's hand. He had some values but, taken alone, his hand was a little on the sad side.

However, Mr. Meek's caution is well-known. For almost every bid he makes, he has something left over. Here he doubled for a takeout, vulnerable, when both his opponents had bid and Mr. Dale has passed. He had either a very strong hand in high cards or important distributional values—possibly both.

As it happened, Mr. Meek had bid his cards rather strongly—for him. That's because he has faith in Mr. Dale. And this is not a coincidence. Mr. Dale is careful to avoid questionable sacrifices or gambling game or slam bids when he plays with Mr. Meek. These practices pay off on the score sheet.

NO LAYDOWN

The four-heart contract was no laydown. The eight of clubs was led and Mr. Abel won with the king and returned the deuce of diamonds, an obvious singleton. Mr. Dale went up with the ace of diamonds and, after some thought, figured out a way to avoid the loss of a trick in each suit.

Mr. Abel probably had the king of hearts for his opening bid and his double of the final contract. As long as he didn't have all three of the outstanding hearts, it appeared that he could be put in a very embarrassing position for a lead.

DALE RUFFS

At trick three, Mr. Dale led a club and ruffed on the board. He then cashed the ace of hearts and was happy to note that Mr. Champion followed suit. He led a small heart and Mr. Abel was in with the king.

Mr. Abel played the ace of clubs and instead of ruffing Mr. Dale discarded the last diamond from dummy. This smart move left the lead with Mr. Abel who now had the choice of leading a spade into dummy's ace-queen or of playing another club. He chose the latter evil and Mr. Dale got rid of a spade from
