MODEL of two new 23,000-ton stream-lined ships now on order by the Canadian Steamships for transatlantic service is shown above making a realistic trial run in a tank. The 21-knot liners with rakish lines and echelon decks will bring a "new look" to the 1,000-mile inland portion of the transatlantic route when they go into service in 1957. Contract for constructing the second ship was let in Great Britain recently by MacDonald, managing-director of Canadian Pacific Steamships, to Fairfields Limited, while the first, which will be named Empress of Britain, has been under construction since last fall by Fairfields, Ltd. Specially designed for the Canada-England service the liners will have accommodation for 900 tourist passengers and 150 crew members as well as 380,650 cu. feet of cargo space. The sister ships will be 635 feet long, 65 feet in breadth and will draw 29 feet fully loaded. Name of the second ship has been chosen.

Report Accuses McCarthy Group Pulling Strings For Consultant

PRINCE RUPERT (CP) — An army report Thursday night accused McCarthy of pulling strings for a consultant, and chief counsel of McCarthy's investigating sub-committee, in an attempt to get a special treatment for a consultant now an army official with McCarthy's name on it.

The report, made public by McCarthy's sub-committee, was shot at McCarthy's headquarters in Prince Rupert, B.C., by Robert T. Stevens, chief counsel of the McCarthy investigating sub-committee, and the army official who was drafted last year to McCarthy's headquarters in Prince Rupert, B.C., by Robert T. Stevens, chief counsel of the McCarthy investigating sub-committee, and the army official who was drafted last year to McCarthy's headquarters in Prince Rupert, B.C., by Robert T. Sales Tax Ruin B.C. Johnson

PRINCE RUPERT (CP) — Former B.C. Minister Johnson said Thursday night that the five sales tax planned by the credit government would ruin B.C. Johnson said the tax was a "budgetary gimmick" to by-pass the federal government's decision to say whether residents of B.C. would be able to deduct taxable income from their taxable income.

B.C. CONSTRUCTION FIRMS TO HOLD LINE ON WAGES

VANCOUVER (CP) — Construction firms in B.C. served notice yesterday they will hold the line on wage increases throughout the industry in 1954.

Colonel Macgregor Macintosh, newly appointed industrial relations representative for almost 300 B.C. construction firms, told a press conference B.C. construction activity is levelling off and the "building boom in B.C. is over."

Auto Dealers Assert Budget Socred's "April Fools Joke"

VANCOUVER (CP) — Automobile dealers have a name for British Columbia's new budget. Along automobile row it has become known as "Social Credit's April Fool's joke."

The reason: Some relief was mapped for car owners, a reduction in registration fees, but the sales tax was boosted to five per cent, effective April 1.

It will mean higher car prices. The tax on a $3,000 car will be increased from $90 to $150. On popular small-car models the jump will be from around $57 to $95.

Strike Vote Asked by IWA

PORTLAND (CP) — International Woodworkers of America CIO called for a strike vote and asked the federal mediation service to enter negotiations which have just started.

The strike ballots, which must be returned by April 10, ask the workers to give the northwest regional union committee authority to call a strike, if necessary, to enforce contract demands.

The union has asked for pay increases of 12½ cents an hour a pay adjustment in job classifications and three weeks vacation after five years of service.

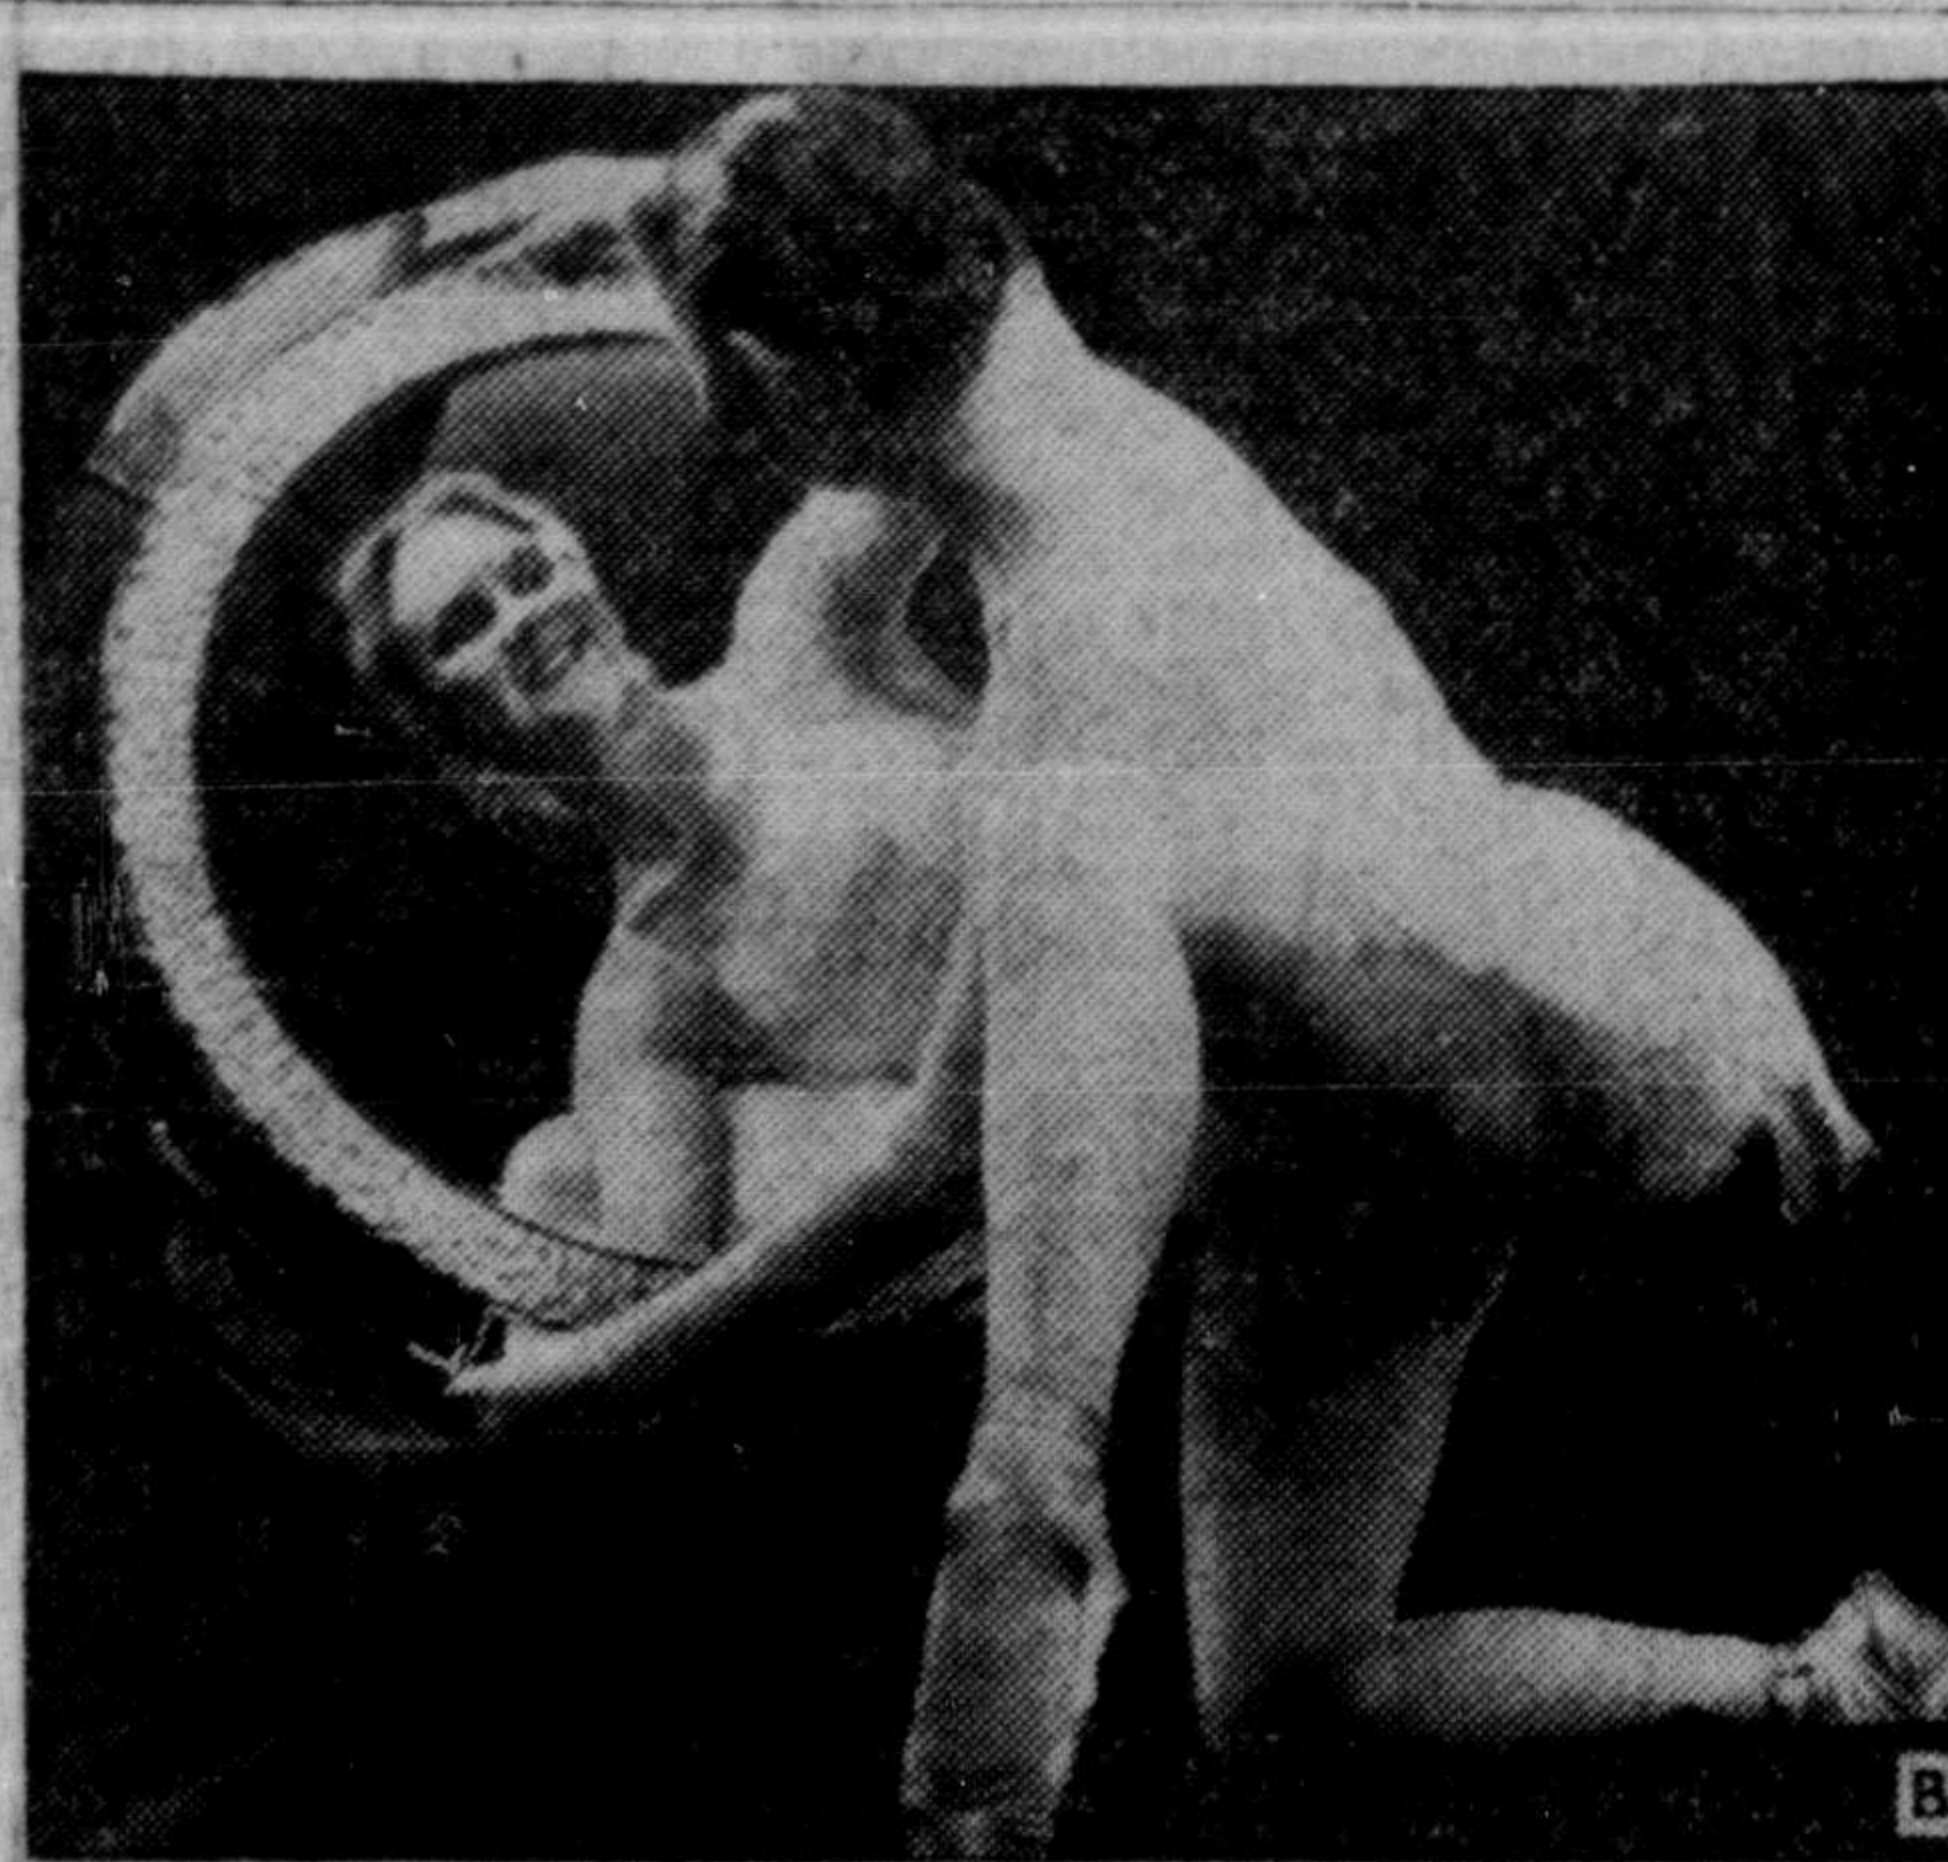

Phone System Outside Work For Rupert Almost Completed

Canadians To Aid Asia In Problems St. Laurent Asks Co-Operation

TOKYO (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent has told Japan that the Democratic processes of the West offer more opportunities than the "empty promises of communism."

The visiting Canadian leader, in a speech last night before the Canada-Japan society, recommended "collective measures to repel aggression."

"The United Nations reaction to aggression in Korea under the great leadership of the United States of America has provided an example of what can be achieved by peace-loving nations working together to resist aggression and to restore peace," he said.

THE REFLECTION on business is provided by 17-year-old Janet Smith, a budding English ballerina, who lends her art and charm to call attention to a mirror to be displayed with thousands of other products of Britain at this year's British Industries Fair, to be held simultaneously in London and Birmingham, May 3-14.

Exchange Equipment To Be Put in Soon

Outside work on the new $875,000 automatic telephone system being installed in Prince Rupert is 85 per cent complete, it was announced today by Eric Janes, superintendent of the municipally-owned service.

Splicing of cables, an intricate and exacting job, is 50 per cent finished, he said, adding that Automatic Electric Company workers will arrive shortly to begin erecting equipment in the new exchange building at the corner of Second and Third.

Meanwhile, a crew from the city works department moved into the premises — formerly occupied by the Liquor Control Board — and began blasting operations in the basement yesterday prior to excavating and laying a concrete floor.

TO STORE EQUIPMENT

The basement will be used to store telephone equipment, thereby centralizing the entire system.

City council in December, 1952 at a special meeting endorsed a recommendation of its utilities committee that the city do the outside plant work at an estimated cost of $145,113.84.

So far, $55,000 has been expended for labor and more than $14,000 for equipment and materials.

Ald. Ray McLean, chairman of the utilities committee, said total cost may be less than the original estimate but additional monies will be to the benefit of the city.

Andy Peterson, construction foreman for the B.C. Telephone Company for many years until his retirement, directed work from January, 1953, until last spring when ill-health forced him to quit, and Ronald Robey of Vernon, assistant plant superintendent of the Okanagan Telephone System took over until the end of December.

Mr. Janes took over direction of work, besides his other duties, at the first of the year. He said this morning that only a few of the 200 new poles needed to install the system remain to be hoisted.

The new system will be one of the most modern in America and is expected to go into operation late this year or early in 1955.

Ratepayers in Rupert authorized installation of the automatic system in a plebiscite, Sept. 11, 1952, to replace the present obsolete exchange. The old Government Liquor store was purchased for $32,500 and $10,000 was set aside for alterations. Various instruments, switchboards and equipment will cost about $400,000.

U. K. Writer Here to Find Book Material

An English writer who arrived at Kitimat last fall to have a quick look at the big aluminum project and stayed there three months is in Prince Rupert on a two-day visit. He is Ken Johnstone, of the Kemsley newspaper chain, whose employers have given him a year's leave of absence to write a book on Canada.

Big and genial, Mr. Johnstone was so intrigued by the work at Kitimat that he got a job there and soon found himself an active member of the community.

One of his special interests was the First Kitimat Boy Scout Troop. A Scout of long experience himself, he said he was very impressed by the type of boy to be found in families taking part in pioneer projects like that at Kitimat.

After a visit to the Queen Charlottes, Mr. Johnstone will head north to the Yukon. He has already had a down-to-earth view of the rest of Canada, having made a 9,000-mile trip from the Maritimes in an English car.

His book is to be published next fall.

Oil Drillers Stranded As Storms Lash Prairies

EDMONTON (CP) — Winter slash-ed at three widely-separated sections of Saskatchewan and Alberta and edged into north-eastern British Columbia Thursday while normal weather conditions prevailed at other points throughout the West.

Heavy snowfall was reported in Saskatchewan and in north-western and southern Alberta.

East-central Saskatchewan caught most of the fury of the wintry blast where a surprise storm reached near-blizzard conditions and left high drifts and blocked roads.

Nine members of an oil-drilling crew were stranded without food for 24 hours near the town of Lanigan, 100 miles north of Regina. Seven and eight-foot drifts, the highest ever seen in the district, were reported at Lanigan and cars were abandoned by motorists.

A second disturbance was reported in Alberta's Peace River block and a third in the southern part of the province.

Eleven inches of snow fell at Whitecourt, northwest of Edmonton, in the last 36 hours, and seven inches at Grande Prairie, further northwest. Eleven inches was reported to have fallen at Fort St. John, in northeastern British Columbia.

Couple Leaves For Anchorage

Mr. and Mrs. Gentry Shuster took off this morning in their Grumman-Widgeon plane for Annette Island, first stop in their journey home from here to Anchorage.

The couple spent Wednesday night on a sandy beach about 50 miles southeast of Rupert after being forced down by bad weather.

They left Los Angeles March 3 and were delayed in Seattle for six days by bad flying weather before, taking off Wednesday morning.

British Project To Start Soon

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) — British interests plan to spend $4,000,000 near here this summer in the first stage of a giant industrial development.

The money, for road and service-line construction, will be spent on 1,200-acre Annacis Island. Development of the island into an industrial site is planned by the estate of the late Duke of Westminster.

AURORA, the polar bear at the Cincinnati Zoo, and her three-month-old cub soak up some sunshine in their special "confinement" area. John Heusser, zoo director, made this photo of the cub with his box camera. No photographers are permitted near the bear and her young one. Only once before have American zoo men been able to keep a polar bear cub alive. Now that this cub has survived a third month, zoo officials feel confident the little fellow will live.

More Leeway in Paying Fines May Be Fixed in New "Code"

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians may be given more leeway in paying fines.

Justice Minister Garson said in the Commons yesterday he is willing to accept a suggested change in the Criminal Code to "extend the elbow room a little bit."

Spokesmen for the CCF and Social Credit parties agreed with lawyer John Diefenbaker (PC-Prince Albert) that the present system of giving jail terms in default of payment of fines is unfair to the poor.

Mr. Diefenbaker described the system as "a relic of the past" and urged adoption of the United Kingdom system of paying fines on the instalment plan.

The discussion centred around a section in the revised Criminal Code covering "summary conviction" offences — the minor crimes under the code. Maximum penalty for such offences is a $500 fine or six months in jail or both.

Wife Finds Trapper Dead

Special to The Daily News

MOBERLY LAKE, B.C. — A 36-year-old auto court and lodge operator was found shot to death in his bed early yesterday at this isolated stopoff 65 miles from Dawson Creek on the Hart highway.

Dead is H. (Slim) Garbitt, well known big game hunter and trapper in the Peace River district.

Garbitt was found dead, with a bullet hole in his head, by his 22-year-old wife after she heard a shot. Garbitt's rifle lay nearby, she told neighbors and several tourists staying at the auto camp.

RCMP at Fort St. John were notified by radio telephone from a nearby oil company drilling for gas and were enroute to the scene.

Besides his wife, Barbitt is survived by three children.

IMMEDIATE PAYMENT

Mr. Garson noted that the present law permits magistrates to fix a time for payment of fines. He agreed, however, that few magistrates depart from the practice of requiring immediate payment.

Wallace Nesbitt (PC-Oxford), a former crown attorney, proposed an amendment which Mr. Garson said he is prepared to accept. It would provide for payment, if the guilty person is unable to pay immediately, at a time and under conditions fixed by the court.

Plywood Prices Show Big Drop

PORTLAND (CP) — Major firms have made known new Douglas fir plywood price lists, showing a drop of $5 a thousand square feet.

A price of $80 a thousand feet at the factory is listed for the index grade, quarter-inch, good on one side. This price is $10 below the figure a year ago and is the same price at which plywood levelled off last November following a severe early fall slump.

Observer is Impressed

IN AN ARTICLE on B.C.'s remarkable growth to appear in the next issue of Toronto Star Weekly, it is interesting to note that author Harold Hilliard's attention is concentrated on this northern coastal area.

Pointing out that the province's most favorable element is cheaper waterpower, rather than oil and gas, Mr. Hilliard describes B.C. development as being sparked by the Kitimat project. He observes that this started a chain-reaction effect which now sees plans being made for the still larger Frobisher project north of here.

Another undertaking which Mr. Hilliard regards with interest is the Leduc copper mining north of Stewart. He remarks that it may be the first major copper find to be made in B.C. in 50 years.

As for Prince Rupert itself, the writer sees this port as a thriving outlet for Peace River pulp mill and farm produce, once that area is tapped by rail.

For the malcontents who look at our future on this rim of wilderness with jaundiced eye, Mr. Hilliard's article is prescribed reading. If their reaction is that it is all exaggerated, they might ask themselves if they are not also exaggerating our disappointments.

Some of our gloomy joes are inclined to think that to be accurate, you must first be a pessimist. Maybe they are right, but somehow the most agreeable inaccuracies continue to come true all the same.

Life in Russia

A REPORT by Reuters reveals that the Bolshevik Revolution may have taken a significant turn in Russia. For the first time under the Soviets, Russian women are demanding (aloud, that is) smarter clothes, cosmetics and subtle perfumes. As everything of importance in Russia is handled by the state, this is something for Comrade Malenkov to worry about.

The tip-off about unrest on the feminine front in Russia comes from letters to the editors of Moscow newspapers, which indicate that the women have something to complain about. It seems that a tailored two-piece suit in Moscow costs about 1,000 rubles, which are worth nominally $250, but the buyer is lucky to get the sleeves the same length. One woman writes "We are tired of sack-like dresses, shrinking textiles, and clashing, glaring colors." At the stenographer level, the accent is on streamline and "culture." The culture line is defined in the negative, it is not the milkmaid or the peasant style. The shop-girl wants a big slice of glamor, but she may have doubts that the Russian Revolution can deliver it to her.

Russia Using Atomic Energy

LONDON (Reuters)—Marshal Kliment Voroshilov, president of the Soviet Union, today affirmed that Russia has harnessed atomic energy for peaceful purposes. Previous statements from lower-ranking Russians have emphasized that the Soviet Union is pressing for peacetime industrial use of atomic energy.

No Urge To Shoot

WHEN some Puerto Rican Nationalists sprayed the U.S. Congressmen with bullets some Canadian newspapers tried to work up a discussion about what would happen if and when somebody tried to shoot up the Canadian House of Commons.

So far as I can find, nobody in our parliament even took the question seriously. For in spite of the fact that the centre of the government of Canada is efficiently guarded by two rings—RCMP outside and special Security Guards inside, nobody really expects that anyone in Canada will try such really rough stuff.

The whole Canadian tradition is so against the idea and possibility of violence that the question never really arises, as a practical matter. MP's don't feel important enough to be shot at.

WE HAD a striking demonstration of the difference between our two countries last fall, when President Eisenhower visited Ottawa.

For days before the President's train arrived, U.S. Secret Service men were on the job here, checking over the whole layout of Ottawa, and the parliament buildings in particular. I must say that the ones I ran across were fine and tactful representatives of their country. They did the job that had been sent up to do politely and efficiently. But I think the very fact of their presence made a good many Canadian MP's give some thought to the reasons for the differences between the two countries.

Nobody would ever want to take a shot at the Prime Minister of Canada, unless he were riding in the same car with some international figure who might conceivably be the target for somebody with an itch to shoot. Moreover, this is no imaginary danger. Apart from the fact that different American presidents have actually been assassinated, their fellow passengers have sometimes fallen victim to bullets intended for the head of the U.S.A.

In the early days of President Roosevelt's regime his carman, the late Mayor Cermak of Chicago, fell dead from shots meant for the great FDR.

SO FAR as I know, the late Premier Hepburn of Ontario was the only public man in Canada who felt he should employ a bodyguard. Mitch was popular with a very wide range of human beings, and probably the bodyguard was there more or less to speed the parting guest, who showed too much reluctance to get on his way.

Mackenzie King walked alone to and from his home for many years, as he liked the exercise.

A long time employee of the parliament buildings tells me that not so many years ago she walked up to the building a few steps behind our present prime minister. He passed dozens of Ottawa pedestrians, almost none of whom gave a second glance to him—for the obvious reason they did not recognize the prime minister at first glance.

Surely every Canadian should feel a deep sense of gratitude that we have never developed the tensions, hates, fears and violent feelings that make people with grievances look to violent remedies or revenge.

OTTAWA DIARY By NORMAN M. MacLEOD

To Parliament Hill circles there is something reminiscent about next week's Progressive Conservative gathering which seems to make travelling in a circle appear as the characteristic pattern of motion for the official opposition party.

It was just three years ago that the P.C.'s held a similar meeting. Then as now the prime concern was the selection of a new national president. The White Hope of that day was George Nowlan, Nova Scotia M.P. Rank-and-file delegates were sold the bill of goods that with Nowlan to master-mind the activities of the Bracken House organization staff, the party really would go places.

Well, Nowlan took office. Then in due course the general election came along. The party went places, all right—but not where it wanted to go. Politically, it did a wrong-way Corrigan.

Now the still further reduced fragment that remains of the once-great party is back where it was three years ago. Once again rank-and-file delegates are being told that the party's urgent need is a new national president. Nowlan, the once shining knight whose armor row is tarnished with defeat, is to step gracefully and probably thankfully aside. Veteran Earl Howe or magnetic tyro George Hees is to take over. And things are to be different.

But Parliament Hill's political veterans aren't too sure that things really will be radically different. Instead, they suspect strongly that they will go on just as before. In other words, Nowlan isn't regarded as the clue to the party's unhappy plight. Blaming him for the general election defeat seems to most fair-minded observers in these parts like blaming the weather man for a March blizzard.

In other words, there's a strong feeling that if all that next week's meeting does is change the national president, then things will go on for the P.C.'s just as before. That means that they will keep getting steadily worse.

A former national president, Hon. C. P. McTague is credited with having made an interesting attempt in Toronto a few days ago to function as the party's conscience on the eve of its Ottawa gathering. He told a luncheon meeting of Progress-

FINDING A FACT

Sex appeal, not shorthand, will land the best jobs. Preoccupation with pulchritude may not be noble and high-minded, but it is a fact. So says Bernice Fitz-Gibbon, advertising director Gimbel's Department Store, New York, discussing employment problems.

SOMETHING DOING

Premier St. Laurent will be back home in time to do another round of hand shaking, and prepare for all those cheery little by-elections in the eastern provinces. Parliament may fancy there is no leisure in politics, but when a man becomes head of the state there is less time than ever to be careless with.

Conservative business men that the party had only its desertion of traditional Conservative principles to blame for its failure. A return to being a real Conservative Party, rather than a pseudo Socialist Party, was, in his opinion, the prerequisite to revival.

McTague was national president in the days of the Bracken leadership and his present advice is regarded generally as having more than a slight tinge of the wisdom of hindsight. Nevertheless, that fact isn't regarded in Capital political circles as necessarily affecting its current soundness.

under the direction of Miss Nancy Hopkins. The show was in two sections, with senior girls modelling woolen garments and juniors, cottons and rayons.

Skirt and weskit ensembles were popular in the senior class, with several girls making and displaying complete outfits, including blouses. Cost of the outfits ranged from $4 to $14, guests were told. In the junior group, a variety of pretty cotton or rayon dresses was shown, with average cost reported to be $6.20.

Commentators for the show were Pat Willson, Shirley Frayn and Margaret Strachan.

The tea was staged by the Booth Parent-Teacher Association with Mrs. A. Carlson convening. Featured was a bake table with Mrs. G. W. Graham and Mrs. D. Ritchie in charge. Students assisted in serving tea.

A novel home economics decor was used on the tea tables, which were centred by miniature bolts of material with small scissors of cardboard, and pretty little bowls of carnations.

Funeral Today For Prospector

Funeral service was set for this afternoon at Grenville Court Chapel for Joseph William Dawson, 78, Porcher Island prospector and farmer who had lived in this area for over 40 years.

Born in Middlesex, Mosey, Ontario, in 1876, he lived alone on the island, with a house at Surf Point on the northwest tip as headquarters for his prospecting and a 600-acre ranch on Kitkatla Inlet, with a private trail linking the two. The old-timer led a quiet life, seldom visiting Prince Rupert.

Major W. C. Poulton was to officiate at the funeral service at 4 p.m. today. Burial will be at Terrace, Saturday afternoon.

In the Western International Hockey League, the Kimberley Dynamiters came from behind to take the Spokane Flyers 5-3. Kimberley leads the semi-final best-of-five 2-0 and will travel to Spokane for the next two games, if necessary.

In Trail, coach Willie Schmidt juggled lines and gave a dressing room pep-talk that produced four straight goals and a 5-3 win for the Nelson Maple Leafs. In Kimberley, the Flyers got the first goal and looked like they might make a fight of it. The Dynamiters tied the count and then outscored the visitors 3-1 in the second period to break the back of the attack.

In Vernon, the Canadians turned on the heat for two periods and then played kitty-bar-the-door as they fended off Penticton for the win.

The Canadians built a 4-2 lead on breaks and penalties in the first period and boosted it to 5-2 in the second. The V's had closed the gap to one goal and had the Canadians on the ropes when Dick Butler broke away for his second goal of the night.

Lumley Racks Up 13th, Bruins Cuff Rangers

By JIM BASTABLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Jim Thomson scored his first goal in 200-odd games. Harry Lumley got a shutout. Toronto Maple Leafs beat Montreal Canadiens, New York Rangers lost and are just about out of the Stanley Cup running. And little Wally Hergesheimer broke a leg.

The spectacular and the disastrous ran like that in the National Hockey League Thursday night.

The league-leading Detroit Red Wings defeated the last-place Chicago Black Hawks 6-2. The Leafs strengthened their hold on second place with a 3-0 victory over Canadiens before 14,516 frantic fans at Montreal. Boston Bruins sent the Rangers into virtual oblivion for another year with a 1-0 win.

But, take a look at the side-lights.

Thomson, the Leafs' top but seldom-scoring defenceman fooled Montreal goalkeeper Jacques Plante with a weird, bouncing shot from 75 feet out. It was his first goal since the 1950-51 season and the 10th in regular competition since he came up to the Leafs, as a regular in 1946-47.

Lumley, a coach's dream ever since he joined the big leagues 10 years ago, racked up his 13th shutout of the season by robbing such Montreal stars as Maurice Richard, Ken Mosler, Bert Olmstead and Tommy Johnson.

At Boston the Ranger loss was bad. But when Hergesheimer tripped over Boston's Leo Labine in the third period and fractured his left leg it was tragic. Hergy has been a great rightwinger with the New Yorkers and was a key man in coach Muzz Patrick's plans for the playoff run.

The Rangers now trail the Bruins by three points for the fourth and last playoff berth. The Rangers have only four games to go. The Bruins, however, have two games in hand.

At Montreal the Leafs took a three-point lead over Canadiens on goals by centres Ted Kennedy and Tod Sloan and Thomson.

In the third period, Richard came dashing into the Toronto end and was blocked off by Leaf defenceman Tim Horton. When referee Red Storey failed to call a holding penalty, the fans yelled and threw rubber overshoes, newspapers and programs.

Lumley, made 34 saves. Plante stopped 17 Leaf drives.

SEVENTH SHUTOUT

At Boston, Dave Creighton's third period goal gave the Bruins their 28th victory of the season. His close-in shot on a pass from a line trickled through goalie Johnny Bower's legs at 12:42. Goalkeeper Sugar Jim Henry of Boston thus marked up his seventh shutout of the season.

At Detroit, Gordie Howe and Glen Skov scored two goals apiece for the Red Wing victory. John Wilson and defenceman Red Kelly got the others. Lou Jankowski and Jack Price tallied for Chicago.

SPORTS BRIEFS

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—The hometown Elks became Pacific Coast juvenile hockey champions here last night when, for the second night in succession, they downed Nanaimo Clippers 4-2.

EDMONTON (CP)—Truman Bailey of Tugaska, Sask., and Billy MacDonald of Calgary were the two section leaders as the 12-rink round-robin play-offs headed into the windup today at the Edmonton car bonspiel.

PROVIDENCE, I.I. (CP)—Robert J. A. Bob Quinn, famous front-office baseball figure who figured in the sale of Boston Red Sox to Tom Yawkey and of Boston Braves to Lou Perini, died early today. He was 84.

Dead Bombers Refuse To Lie Down

By The Canadian Press
Seattle Bombers may be dead as far as the Western Hockey League play-offs are concerned, but they refuse to lie down.

Making their last tour of the Prairies and already out of the money Bombers fought down to the wire before they were nosed out 4-3 in Edmonton Thursday night.

Marcel Pelletier starred in the Seattle nets, kicking out 31 Flyer drives, 14 in the second period.

Some 4,000 Edmonton fans watched the Flyers take a 1-0 lead as Jim Uniacke banged in a rebound. Mark Marquess crossed up the defenders and fired in a high, hard one to tie the count.

As the Edmonton defence floundered in front of the goal to break up a potential pass play, Marquess cut out from behind the net to drive home the puck.

Uniacke and Ray Hannigan each scored and assisted twice. The others were notched by Marcel Bonin and Jim Anderson.

GETS TWO GOALS

Ed Zeniuk, formerly with Flyers and Edmonton Oil Kings, turned on his old fans with two goals. Mark Marquess scored the other.

Gayle Fielder, and Wayne Brown, league leading scorers, picked up assists on Zeniuk's final goal.

The two smoothies have been held down in their last few games after racing to the top of the individual standings.

The Bombers turned six men loose in front of the Flyer net in the final seconds in an unsuccessful attempt to knot the score.

Seattle moves on to Calgary tonight and New Westminster visits Vancouver. Saskatoon opens a final west coast swing at Victoria.

Thom Meets Lewis

The finals of the Prince Rupert Ladies' Curling club Art Murray trophy competition will be played tomorrow night at 7 p.m. with Lil Thom's rink meeting Myrtle Lewis' quartette.

Rotary Curlers Champions

For the second time in the last year the Prince Rupert Rotary club proved its supremacy in the world of service club sport by defeating their arch rivals the Gyro club and going on to win the City Service club curling championship.

In the finals played yesterday afternoon Neely Moore's Rotary rink defeated Bob Anderson's Junior Chamber of Commerce quartet 9-8 after knocking off Al Miller's Gyro rink 10-8 earlier in the afternoon. Another Gyro rink skipped by Ken Robertson fell by the wayside to Bob Anderson's Jaycee rink 11-10.

In the final which saw Moore, Bert Fields, Don Ritchie and Eddy Gladding playing against Anderson, Jay Burns, Harley Lewis and Danny Johnson, the Jaycee rink took an early lead but were overtaken by the Rotarians in the ninth end with the score 8-8.

Individual trophies were presented to the winners by Mitch Greene in absentia.

Paul Piche's 321 Tops Men's Loop

New pins played havoc with contestants in "A" Division of the men's five-pin bowling league this week but Paul Piche found the mark with a 321-game in "B" Division.

Magnus Haivorson topped "A" Division with a 291-game and Amendo Da Re had high three of 755.

Results:
"A" Division: North-west Construction 4, Thom Sheet Metal 0 (default); Philpott Evitt 3, Family Market 1; Art Murrays 2, Moose 2; CNRA 3, 537 Taxis 1; Local 798 2, Cooks 2; North Star 2, Short Circuits 2.

How to KEEP FIT after 50

In the old days fifty seemed the signal to slow down—take things easy—watch your diet—get more rest. It's still good advice. But these days you can face fifty with many interesting and active years ahead,—active, that is, if you can avoid backache and the "tired-out" feeling, due to kidney and bladder disorders, that often develop around that age. For more than 60 years Dodd's Kidney Pills have been helping men and women of all ages to keep kidneys and bladder in good order,—helping them to feel better, to work better, and get more fun out of life. If you are approaching fifty, or past it, Dodd's Kidney Pills may help you, too. You can depend on Dodd's. 54

Queen's Yacht Disappointment to Experts

By JAMES F. KING
LONDON (AP)—The Queen is going to ride home from her royal tour in style—aboard a $6,000,000 yacht.

Finishing touches are being put on the new royal yacht Britannia at Portsmouth navy yard. The Britannia is the first royal yacht built in half a century—and it's a far cry from the 700-ton wooden paddle steamer that was the first royal yacht 113 years ago.

Some sea-loving Britons are admittedly disappointed in the Britannia. Lawrence Dunn, one of the architects, said he wasn't entirely pleased, explaining:

"The royal apartments between the second and third masts look as if they had been added as an afterthought."

Another leading naval architect wrote to the editor of a London newspaper:

"Ships should be a showpiece of British shipbuilding. She isn't. Her superstructure looks like a three-tier wedding cake that crumbles in the middle."

The Britannia—413 feet long with a 55-foot beam—will be powered by four steam turbines and have a speed of 21 knots. It's ultra-modern with a special water distilling plant, an all-electric galley, air conditioning and a stabilizer to reduce the roll in rough weather. The stabilizer is strong enough to land a helicopter in an emergency.

The Britannia is a colorful ship, too—painted royal blue with a gold band below the level of the upper decks, a white funnel and three masts in buff. The crew wear special uniforms—a serge jumper worn inside the trousers instead of outside with all ratings flashing shoulder emblems bearing a crown and inscription "Royal Yacht Service."

Prince Charles, 5, and his sister, Princess Anne, 3, will sail on the Britannia in May to meet their mother and dad at Tobruk for the homeward voyage winding up the royal tour.

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

Strip Opposing Hands To Set Up End-Play

Mr. Muzzy's double of the six-club contract was very bad. True, it appeared likely on the bidding that he could win two club tricks, but it was by no means certain, as the final result proved. There was also the danger the double would drive the opponents out on an unmakeable six club contract into a laydown contract of six no trump.

Mr. Masters had to play his best but he made six clubs by a rare type of end-play. In talking about end-plays the importance of stripping the hand cannot be emphasized too strongly. Simply stated, this process consists of removing from the opponent's hands every card which would constitute a safe retreat.

In today's hand, the stripping process was carried to its ultimate degree. Mr. Muzzy led the deuce of spades and Mr. Masters won with the ace. He laid down the ace of clubs and got the bad news when Mr. Abel played a small diamond.

Next he laid down the queen of spades, overtook with dummy's king, returned a spade and ruffed it low. He entered dummy again with the queen of hearts, led dummy's last spade and ruffed it low.

Now he cashed the ace and king of hearts and the ace of diamonds. He followed with the queen of diamonds which was overtaken with dummy's king. He led a third diamond from the board and ruffed with the queen of clubs.

At this point Mr. Muzzy's double looked pretty silly—even to him. He was down to three cards, the king, ten and eight of clubs. If he refused to win and played the eight of clubs, Mr. Masters would simply lead a club toward dummy's jack and that card would be found to win the slam-going trick.

Actually Mr. Muzzy over-ruffed with the king. He was now left with the ten-eight, dummy had jack-five in clubs and Mr. Masters had nine-seven. It was Mr. Muzzy's lead, given to him at exactly the right time, and anything he led would give Mr. Masters his contract.

U.S.-Born Mayor All for Aussies He Tells Queen

TOWNSVILLE, Australia (AP)—Australia's only American-born mayor was presented today to Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

Paul T. Wherry was travelling around the world from Chicago when he hit Australia in 1935. He settled down in Charters Town, 80 miles west of here in Australia's northeast state of Queensland, and married a local girl.

Today he has three children, a furniture business, is a naturalized Australian and the local mayor.

To see the Queen he and his family rode in their truck for two days through flooded country, then caught a train.

In his still-middlewestern accent, he told the Queen:

"Well I guess it was like this, Your Majesty. I just liked the town, I liked the people—I married one incidentally—so I settled there. And I wouldn't leave for all the bucks in the United States."

JUNE HAVOC

Drama Features June Havoc On Air Tonight

June Havoc, supported by Martin Gabel, stars as Mona Leslie in the Ford Theatre production of "Reckless" to be heard over CFPR tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

In the story, Ned Riley (Martin Gabel) is a gambler, promoter and man-about-town who is quick with action but slow with words. He never gets around to proposing and the girl with whom he is in love, musical comedy star Mona Leslie (June Havoc) elopes with a playboy named Bob Harrison.

Mona tries to make Bob happy and goes to live with him on the Harrison estate. Bob, however, repents his hasty marriage and when his former fiancée marries he is beside himself with jealousy. He shoots himself and Mona is held morally responsible for his death.

She is involved in a bitter situation with Bob's family and finally agrees she will not ask for any of her late husband's money if she may keep the child that is born to them. She then tries to support herself and child by going back to the stage. Things are increasingly difficult until Ned Riley again enters the picture and raises the money for a musical in which she can star.
