50th Birthday Metlakatla

Fifty years ago today a group of faithful converts from Simpson set foot on Metlakatla in the wake of their "Father" William Duncan. He marked the formation of the famed colony of Indians as since appeared much of the same and historic news.

"The hospital scheme as a compulsory setup has failed whether you want it or not," he stressed that his party would not "throw out" the present scheme until "a new voluntary system is properly set up."

Tories Gain Major Lead in By-Elections

Win Three Seats, Retain One

OTTAWA (CP)—Progressive Conservatives on Monday night won four of six federal by-elections, gaining three seats from Liberals and retaining a seat held continuously since 1940.

Liberals retained two seats. Two of by-elections were in New Brunswick, two in Ontario and two in Quebec.

BOX SCORE
New Brunswick
Victoria Carleton—Gage W. Montgomery, Progressive Conservative, defeated Hugh Tat, Liberal—unchanged.

Gloucester—Albany M. Robichaud, Progressive Conservative, defeated J. H. Robichaud, Liberal—gain from Liberals.

Ontario
Ontario—Mayor Michael Starr of Oshawa, Progressive Conservative, defeated John L. Lay, Liberal, and Herbert Roy Scott, CCF—gain from Liberals.

Waterloo North—Norman C. Schneider, Liberal, defeated Elizabeth Janzen, Progressive Conservative, and Leonard Schroeder, CCF—unchanged.

Quebec
Brome-Missisquoi—Joseph L. Desjardes, Liberal defeated Henri Demers, Progressive Conservatives, and Philip Borgan, CCF—unchanged.

Roberval—Paul Spence, Progressive Conservative, defeated Cyrille Potvin, Liberal, and Adolphe Belanger, Independence Liberal—gain from Liberals.

New Commons standing: Liberals 183, Progressive Conservative 49, CCF 23, Social Credit 10, Independent 4, Independent Liberal 2; vacant 1, total 262.

Biggest upset came in the Gloucester seat which has been a Liberal stronghold since 1900.

Roberval was also considered an upset. Seat, established in 1949, formerly was part of a traditionally Liberal constituency of Lac St. Jean-Roberval.

Ontario, also won by Progressive Conservatives, had been held by Liberals almost continuously since it was established in 1924.

Prime Minister St. Laurent issued following statement after the results:

"I will not pretend I am not disappointed by returns in the by-elections, but I believe local circumstances were important factors and results do not represent any lack of confidence in major policies of government."

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader said: "I am very happy our candidates have received so decisive an expression of confidence from such a broad cross-section of our country."

A 30 per cent increase in collection tolls was authorized by an amendment to the Municipal Garbage System bylaw, passed last night by city council.

Businesses affected are hotels, restaurants and business blocks, for whom tolls have been increased from a minimum charge of $2.50 to $3.50 a month; and for apartment blocks, stores and warehouses, from $1.65 to $2.15.

Present rates remain for service in residential sections—85 cents a month minimum charge.

WEATHER
Forecast
Variable cloudiness in the southern part. Northern part cloudy with occasional light rain. Little change in temperature. Winds south 15 in the northern part, elsewhere light. Lows tonight and highs tomorrow — at Port Hardy, 45 and 58; Sandspit and Prince Rupert, 45 and 55.

Meagre reports said the trapper's body was located about three miles from his cabin. While little is known of Woods, he was last reported seen alive late in December, 1951.

Several search parties flew over his traplines until bad weather set in. Police had planned further aerial flights over the area.

Fishworkers Reject Offer For '52 Wage Contracts

Prince Rupert Shoreworkers Local 31 of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union have rejected a final offer from the companies on the 1952 wage contract.

Meeting in Legion Auditorium, with President D. A. MacPhee in the chair, members endorsed recommendations of the union negotiating committee and the executive of the Prince Rupert local to reject the offer, which contains no change in the wage scale.

Numerous members spoke in favor of the recommendation to reject the offer pointing out that they did not agree with company figures on the decline in cost of living.

Several delegates also said there were "disparities in certain rates paid in the fishing industry" compared to those paid in other industries.

The companies offer was rejected almost unanimously on a secret ballot.

Union officials said today they are confident the offer will be rejected by all other locals and plants along the coast, where similar ballots are being taken.

If the offer is rejected the matter will be placed before an arbitration and conciliation board.

Conciliation officer R. Clements already has been appointed.

Treaty Signed To Create Huge European Army

PARIS (CP)—The western world's leading statesmen today signed a treaty forming a European army and linking the entire might of the Atlantic community to its support.

Under the treaty, the Atlantic defence system will have a 1,000,000-man army, history's first peace time international European force.

In separate agreements, Britain, United States and other nations of the North Atlantic Alliance agreed to fight if any member nation was attacked in Europe—a guarantee chiefly to West Germany.

Parliaments of each country, however, must ratify the treaty before it becomes operative.

At about the same time, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway arrived in Paris to take command of the European force. He will take over from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower on Friday.

In Berlin, Communists showed displeasure at the new action by blocking highways and cutting telephone lines.

Garbage Service Costs Increased

Most city businesses will be paying more for their garbage collecting service.

A 30 per cent increase in collection tolls was authorized by an amendment to the Municipal Garbage System bylaw, passed last night by city council.

Businesses affected are hotels, restaurants and business blocks, for whom tolls have been increased from a minimum charge of $2.50 to $3.50 a month; and for apartment blocks, stores and warehouses, from $1.65 to $2.15.

Present rates remain for service in residential sections—85 cents a month minimum charge.

Canada Protests US Sending Troops To Kojima Island

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada has protested to the United States over sending a Canadian paratroop company to Kojima Island without consulting Ottawa first.

External Affairs Minister Pearson disclosed in Commons Monday the government has expressed "concern"—a strong word saved for unusual circumstances in relations between two countries—in a note sent to the state department.

Note said Canada wants to be consulted before her overseas units are split up.

It asked reassurance the step will not be repeated without prior consultation with Ottawa and urged the company be reunited with the rest of the 25th Brigade "as soon as possible."

It struck particularly at the angle that Canada by tradition doesn't like her overseas units broken up and placed under foreign command except in military emergencies. Kojima assignment, Pearson intimated, falls under the heading of "miscellaneous" duties.

The minister said the company, drawn from 1st Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, already was enroute to Kojima to help guard the trouble-making Communist prisoners when the government here learned about it.

First inkling of the move came in a cable from the 25th's commander, Brig. M. P. (Pat) Bogert, to the chief of the general staff last Thursday.

A check in Washington then showed orders had been given and transfer of troops—probably about 150 of them—was already under way.

There was no mention by Pearson or in the note about one other aspect of the case which has irritated some official circles here. That is the feeling that U.S. has bungled the Kojima situation and now Canada and other countries are being drawn in to reap the harvest.

State department in Washington declined to comment on Canada's complaint. American officials indicated they regarded the Canadian complaint as a tempest in a teapot.

Firemen Ask "Fair" Rate For Overtime

City firemen are protesting a rate for "overtime pay" which has been laid down by city council.

They will carry on under the present rate, however, until the special meeting Wednesday at which the firemen meet city fathers in committee for a settlement.

The overtime pay is for firemen who are called in when they are off duty, to stand by at the fire hall when on-duty personnel are called out during an alarm.

Council had originally offered firemen three hours of pay for daytime call-out, and four hours of pay for night call-outs.

At the last meeting, council reduced the rates to $1.50 and $2.50 for day and night call-outs respectively.

NON-CO-OPERATION
These were rates applied to North Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster fire departments. The original offer by the council had been double the new rate.

Firemen said that in the past they had been willing to answer call-outs freely, without extra pay, but since the city council "has accused us of non-co-operation in recent negotiations" they have decided to "stick to the letter of the law."

Law is that firemen need not answer call-outs unless there is a major fire—a conflagration.

J. C. Ewart, spokesman for the firefighters, told mayor and council that he was "seeking a fair rate for this overtime work."

"You can't expect men to work overtime for only a few cents an hour. Where can you get them?" the fireman queried.

The session ran hot when another fireman began to speak from the audience.

"You shut up there," shouted Ald. H. F. Glassey.

"You're out of order, Ald. Glassey," snapped Mayor Harold Whalen. "I'm chairman of this meeting and I'll keep the order."

"Then see that you do," retorted the alderman.

Spokesman for the firemen protested the "formality of this meeting" and said he wished the council and firemen could meet in committee "so everyone can say their piece."

Main Item: Free Enterprise

IN THE current election campaign we believe that several highly publicized but basically minor issues have been allowed to obscure the real decision that voters must make on June 12. In spite of all the red herrings, flying bricks and sound effects, the decision to be made is simply whether we want government or private control of our industrial life.

Beside this big single question, every other subject of debate is comparatively unimportant. On the type of control finally chosen depends the prosperity of the whole province and, in turn, that of almost every individual in it.

We believe that B.C. is too young and too naturally powerful to surrender its manhood to the ministrations of the government. State control may have its place in a country's old age or in adolescent distress, such as Saskatchewan's droughts, where some artificial stimulus of the economic organs is needed.

But this condition applies probably less to B.C. than to any other piece of country in the world.

Social Credit, with its monetary reforms which it has not the authority to apply and its limited experience, does not appeal to us as the solution.

The choice, as we see it, lies between the Liberals and Conservatives. Both are pledged to free enterprise and both are in a position to sustain the boom now resounding in B.C.

The question, then, is which to choose. We suggest this as an answer:

Forget the minor differences in their platforms and give your first choice to the man of either party who, by his brains and character, is best qualified to do the job.

Report From . . .

Parliament Hill

By Edward T. Applewhite, M.P., Skeena

The Department of Transport is the department responsible for the Dominion Government Telegraph and Telephone Service. When introducing his estimates a few days ago, speaking on the tele-communications division, Hon. Lionel Chevrier, Minister of Transport, had this to say:

"While I am on that, I think I should communicate to the house that the expansion in the interior part of British Columbia has reached such a stage that the government is of the opinion that a commercial company should now provide telephone and telegraph facilities in that area. We do not feel the federal government should be the agency to serve the public in well developed and industrial areas."

"Arrangements will be made to dispose of our facilities in British Columbia to any commercial company which may be interested in continuing the operation as it presently exists, and at a standard of service no lower than is provided at the present time."

In my opinion the telegraph service will be taken over by the Canadian National Telegraphs.

FISH EXPORT

To some of my readers, at least, the matter of Canadian fish exports is one of interest and importance. The figures for the first two months of 1952 compared with the same in 1951 do not paint too happy a picture. The export of all fish products fell from $21,100,000 to $19,310,000; our exports of fish products to the U.S.A. dropped from $14,210,000 to $14,140,000 while that to other countries fell from $6,890,000 to $5,170,000; our export of fresh and frozen fish is down from $8,300,000 to $7,980,000.

"Fresh and frozen" show a varied pattern. There was a drop of $410,000 in whole or dressed fish but an increase of $90,000 in the exports of filleted fish. Canned fish exports were down from $2.42 million to $1.67 million, of which salmon accounts for a drop of $780,000. There were a few cheerful spots, exports of shellfish (other than lobster) were up $10,000 and exports of fish meal rose from $1.15 million to $1.96 million.

ABOUT THE SENATE

I don't often mention the Senate in these letters. The Senate does a lot more work, you know, than just passing divorce bills. The Senate recently has been discussing bills of interest to British Columbia, the Canadian National Railway (Terrace to Kitimat) Bill, and the New Westminster Harbor Commissioner's Bill. They have had several bills this year respecting insurance companies — new incorporations and amendments to charters. Senator Gershaw of Alberta sponsored a measure to amend the Industrial Development Bank Act. This is an act which was passed in the year 1944 for the purpose of encouraging industrial development. It is proposed in this amending bill that a person who is engaged in an industrial enterprise "or commercial air service" may apply for a loan and receive consideration. At present, the Act does not cover air services.

Hon. "Mike" Pearson introduced the bill to provide for carrying into effect the treaty of peace between Canada and Japan, with a short but impressive statement. He dealt, very briefly, with one or two of the points that have been raised by the opposition. Stanley Knowles had mentioned the question of penalties which might be imposed under the bill. Such penalties might attach to acts of Canadians who did not respect, for example, diplomatic property. A somewhat similar situation might arise if, after an inter-governmental settlement of war claims some Canadian sued in a Canadian court to recover a war claim.

At long last, Hon. Robert H. Winters has been able to announce the signing of an agreement between the Dominion and the province of Nova Scotia for construction under the terms of the Trans-Canada Highway Act, the route of the trans-Canada highway through Nova Scotia. That now leaves Quebec the only province not yet in the agreement.

EXTEND SERVICE

REGINA (CP) — The Saskatchewan government has undertaken a program to extend electric service to 1,000 new customers in towns and on farms. The electrification expansion is estimated to cost $8,000,000.

UNDER OUR ROOF

By JOHN STURDY

My wife and I have been living in the shed since our guests took over the house.

I must say that we fought against the eviction. I'll never forget the day when these characters from Back East arrived on our island — Hamish, the assistant janitor of my old apartment-house, and Little Augie, the blind-pig king, and Col. S. Skeffington-Smuts (Ret.) and his bride, Anastasia.

My family and I took up a defensive position in the living-room, resolved to hold our home against the attackers. It was a losing battle from the start, or perhaps I just didn't have the heart to turn them out into the night, because the first thing we knew the guests had the house and we were in the shed.

I remember my wife saying, "Well, they'll only stay for a couple of days."

Poor, deluded woman! She made that optimistic statement on September 15, 1951. We are still in the shed.

My wife does get in the kitchen now and again, usually to do the dishes. She very seldom gets near the stove to cook anything on account of Anastasia is usually there preparing curry and rice for her husband, the Colonel. (They first met in India, you know), but I suppose I've been carrying too much weight, anyway.

Now and again I personally venture into the abode that we used to call home, and usually the guests are very polite to me and murmur, "Good morning" (I suppose my face is vaguely familiar to them) and this particular morning I happened to run into Hamish. He was carrying several large wrenches and a variety of other tools, and with a curt nod in my direction he disappeared into the utility room.

Now I have known Hamish for a long time, ever since the little man was assistant janitor in my old apartment house Back East, and I knew the terrible things he could do with a monkey wrench. When I heard a thunderous changing and banging from the utility room, I must have turned pale.

I collared Hamish on the way out. "What are you doing to my house, Hamish?" I demanded.

He regarded me blandly. "Fixing a few things," he said.

"What things?"

"Well, the hot water system," said Hamish. "It's utterly inadequate. Look at the hot water your wife needs to do the dishes. But does she get it—no. That's because the tank isn't big enough to supply both the kitchen sink and the upstairs bathtub. Well, I have solved the problem. I have merely changed around a few pipes so now, in the upstairs bath, the hot water comes out of the cold tap and the cold water comes out of the hot tap."

I was staring at him in confusion. "So what?"

Hamish sighed. "How can you be so dull?" he asked. "Isn't it obvious that when a person wants a bath he naturally turns on the hot water tap. So what happens? He gets cold water instead. The tap says 'hot,' so he comes to the conclusion that there is no hot water in the house. The result is that your wife gets plenty of it for the dishes."

"Hamish," I said, "your concern for my wife is positively touching."

It was just then that we heard the screams. They came from upstairs and they were absolutely terrifying. We ran for the second floor, while these terrible shrieks echoed through the house, and in what used to be my bedroom we discovered the portly figure of Col. S. Skeffington-Smuts (Ret.).

He was dripping wet from head to toe and his flesh was the color of bottled lobster.

"Do something, you gaping idiots!" he shouted at us. "Can't you see I'm being scalded to death?"

Well, I got some anti-burn ointment from the bathroom—where I noticed the tub was filled with water—and Hamish and I gently applied the stuff to the Colonel's livid body. I don't dare repeat any of his language.

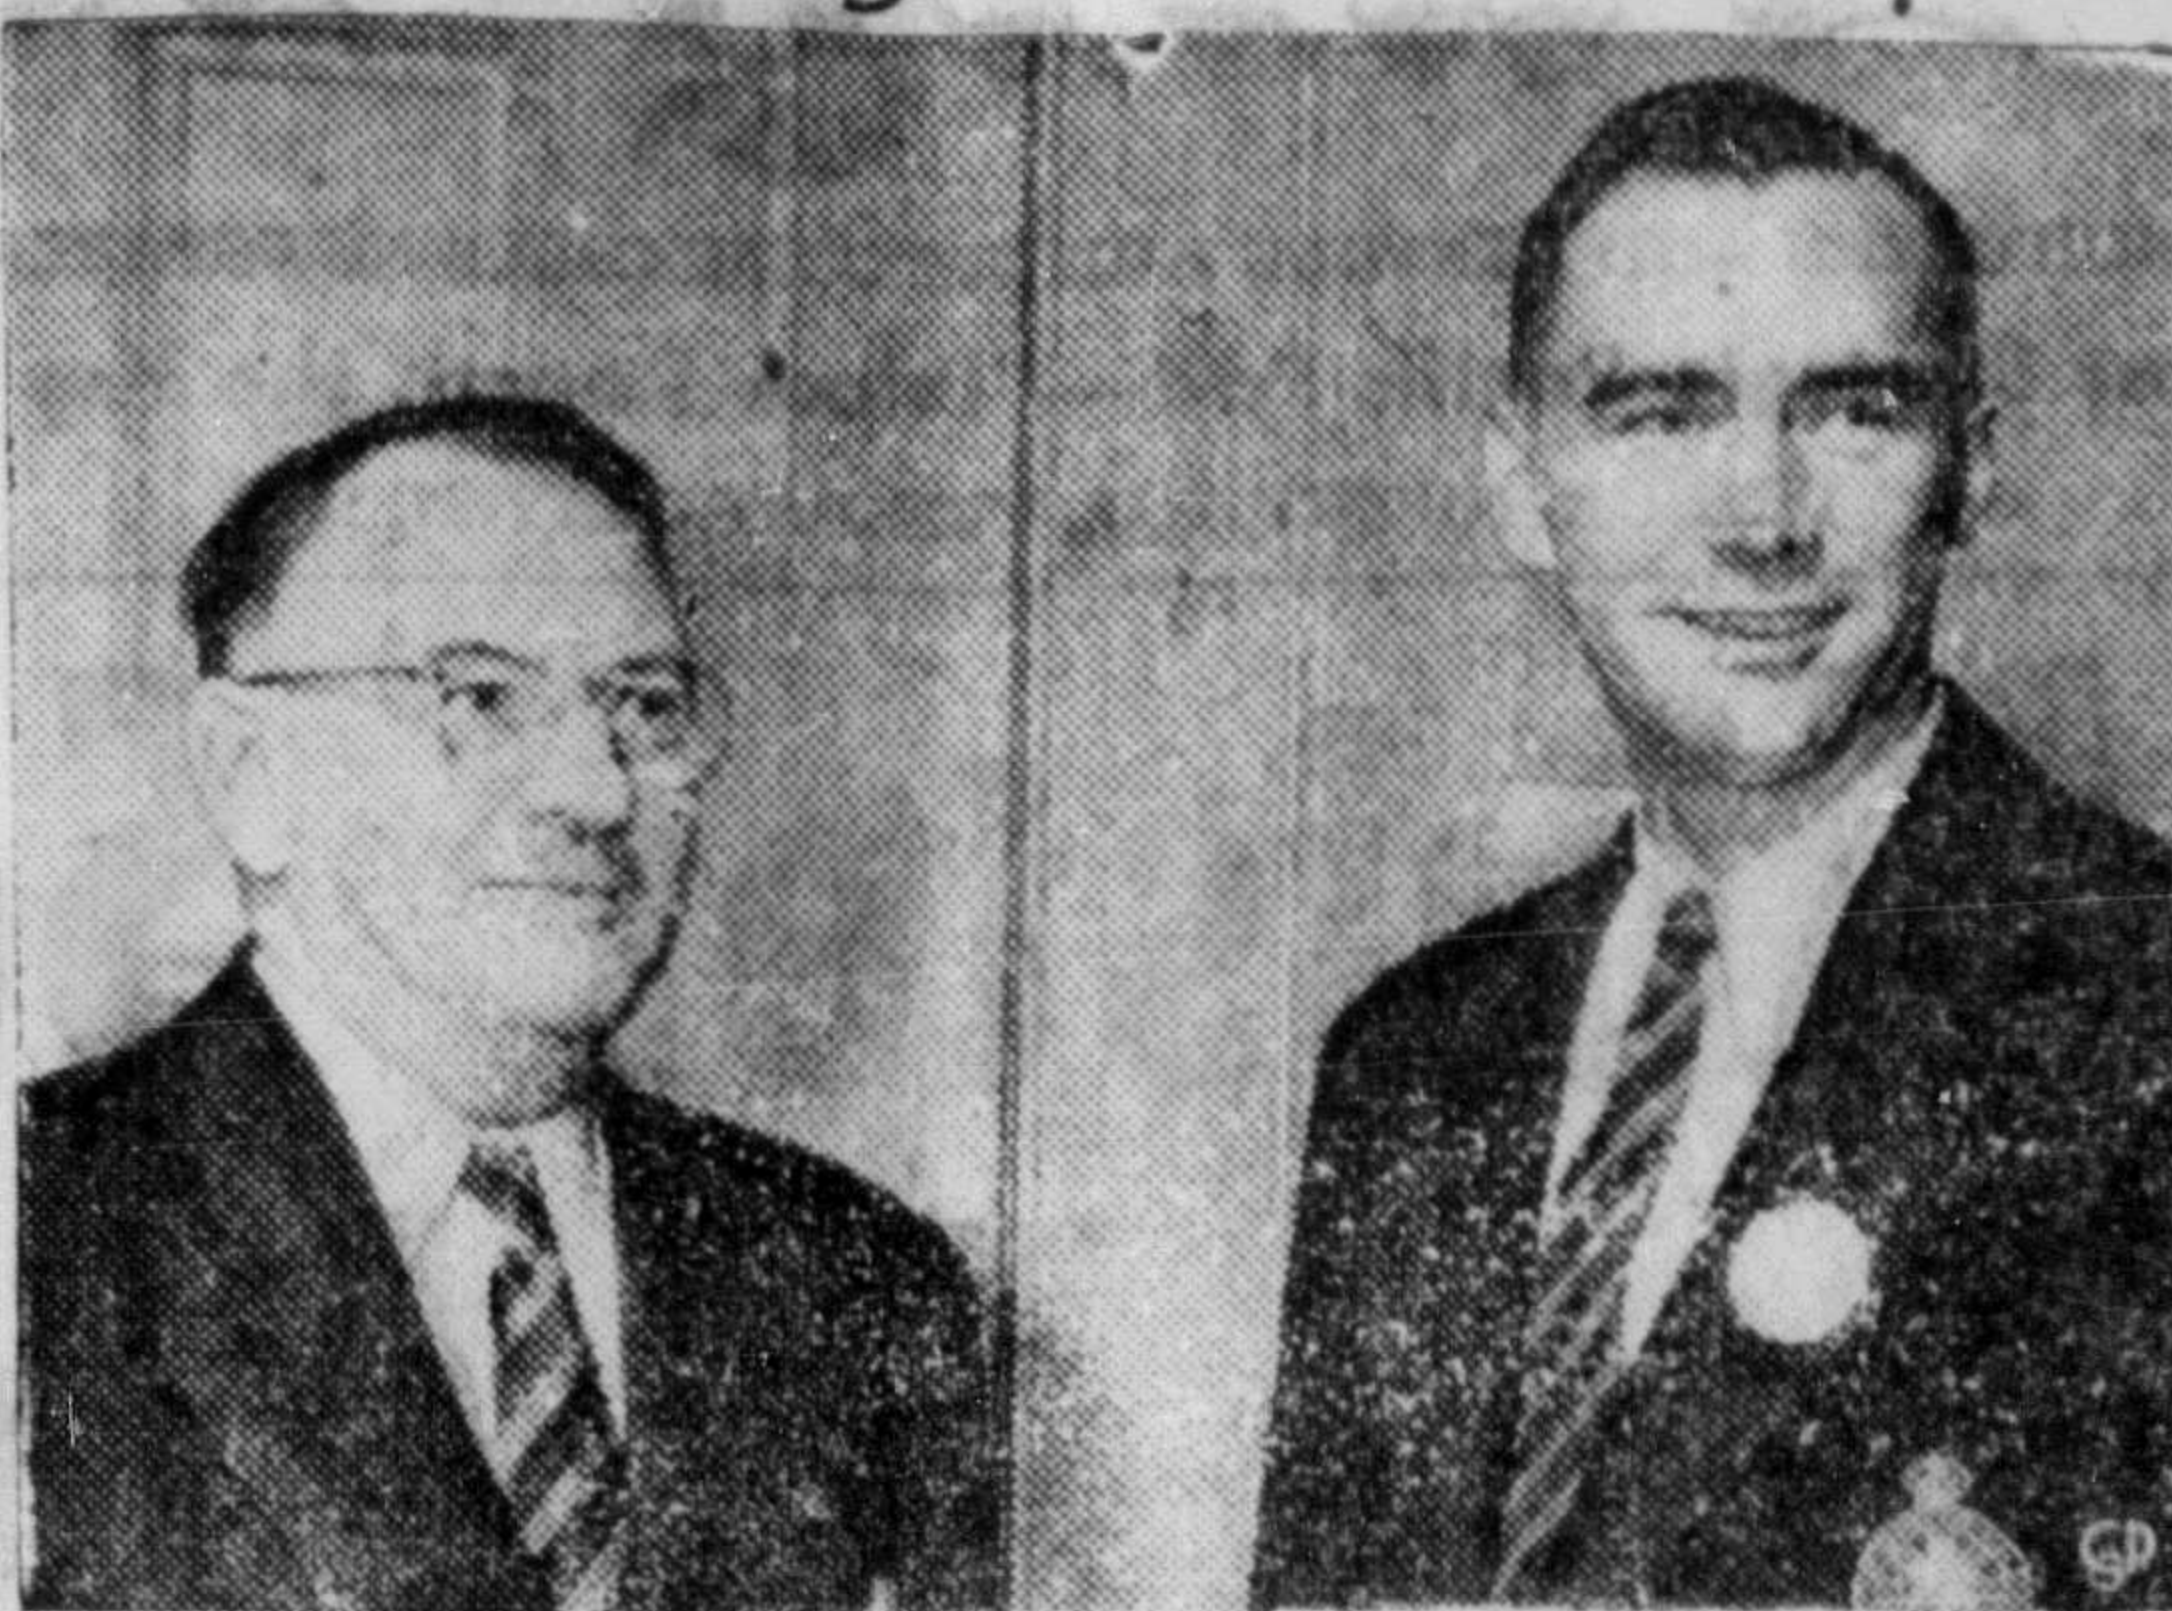

Later, when I was again alone with Hamish, the little man said thoughtfully: "You know, that's a funny thing. I forgot that the Colonel never takes anything but a cold water bath. He must have turned on the cold tap, and—well, it's too bad, but I guess your wife will have to wait until the tank heats up again before she can do the dishes."

Sometimes I think it's really safer living in the shed.

VICTORIA REPORT

... by J. K. Nesbitt

VICTORIA.—There's a great argument going on as to whom first gave women the vote in B.C.—Liberals or Conservatives. Each side is taking the credit, in an effort to win votes June 12.

The record shows this—that the Conservative government of Premier Bowser, in May of 1916, passed the act giving women the vote. The act, however, didn't come into force until March of 1917, by which time the Liberals were in power.

This reviewer cannot but hope that the liquor plebiscite passes. It's not that he wants cocktail lounges, but a "yes" vote would wake up the government to the fact that there is something drastically wrong with the present liquor law, which encourages furtive drinking in alleyways, in the back seats of cars, in hotel bedrooms, and causes people to park bottles under tables at cabarets, and sneak drinks, usually far too many of them.

Besides, what is wrong with cocktail lounges? I have seen many in Washington State and California and I can find little wrong with them. They're small and clean, generally attractive; one doesn't see nearly the drunks one sees in B.C. beer parlors. It seems to me that if I had a teen-age daughter I'd rather she take her first drink in public, in a cocktail lounge, than take a nip from the open bottle, in the back seat of a car, as my generation was forced to learn to drink.

Back from a tour of the southern interior, I can't figure out who's going to win the election.

I don't think there's going to be a good deal of clarification from so confused a political picture; in other words, I don't see how one party can get enough seats to form a good, safe government. It depends on the new voting system, however; if it works out as the government hopes it will, the final count may turn up a government with majority support in the Legislature.

However, I do not believe the

As I See It

by Elmore Philpott

The War on FDR

THEY have a saying, in parts of the U.S.A., that the South is still fighting "the war."

By "the war" they do not mean anything so trivial as the two world wars of this century, but the American family strife of a century ago.

There is another weird war that goes on, with increasing bitterness, in our own time.

That is the amazing war that U.S. newspapers, politicians, and the whole "upper class" wages against the late and greatest President of them all—FDR—Franklin Roosevelt, the friend of the common man everywhere.

A WITTY writer said the other day that the greatest mistake he had made in his life was not to have joined the Communist party, in his youth. Then he could have turned on his former comrades, as a whole host of others have done, and been fabulously paid for it.

Well, if you probe this fantastic spectacle a bit you find that it has an inner circle or core: The writing which has the highest market value in the U.S.A. today is that particular part of the Red-hunting which tends to smear or discredit the great Roosevelt.

Latterly smart Britishers as well as Americans are cutting themselves great slabs of the well-paying American pie. Rebecca West syndicated a series of newspaper articles, supposedly on the life of Stalin, which arrived at this astonishing conclusion: That Roosevelt had "given away" Europe to Stalin, while Churchill had "looked on" in consternation.

Somewhat the same theme is developed at length in the war history by the Australian, Chester Wilmot.

THE JOKE of all this is that while the great FDR is dead, Winston Churchill is very much alive. He is not only one of the greatest statesmen of modern times, but one of the most prolific writers of our times. In his volumes he is taking the credit for what the critics of Roosevelt vell are NOW describing as great diplomatic defeats.

The classic example concerns Poland. The "hate FDR" brigade holds up the revision of the boundaries of Poland as one of FDR's world sell-outs to Stalin. Yet in his own book Churchill tells in some detail how with three matches he illustrated his (Churchill's) plan to shift the whole Polish nation west at Germany's expense.

AN AMERICAN newspaper publisher recently roared in an angry voice at a Canadian visitor who dared to say something favorable about the great wartime President of the USA: "Roosevelt," he sputtered, "That ———, I hope he roasts in hell!"

Why do they hate him so? When I was a boy at school we tried to learn French by reading a witty play, "Le Voyage de Monsieur Perrichon." It was about a pappa with a beautiful daughter who had two suitors. One—foolish fellow—saved pappas' life, when pappas fell in a mountain crevasse. Pappas never forgave him. The other, wise guy, got the girl by letting pappas save him!

That, I think, is the real reason why the hate of FDR marches on. They just can't forgive FDR for saving them—especially as the New Deal rope he threw them is still there.

Canada's 32 refineries and 14 blending plants produced $511,000,000 worth of petroleum products in 1950.

Royal Party Makes Tour in Luxury Jet Airliner

LONDON (Reuters) — Queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret had lunch five miles from the Alps in a 400-mile-per-hour Comet jet airliner and they were delighted with the experience.

The Queen Mother and her daughter said they were delighted with the smooth comfort and fatigue-free travel of the record-breaking plane.

During the flight, both spent some time with the crew.

Pilot was John Cunningham, the De Havilland Aircraft Company's chief test pilot, who put the aircraft through its paces before it was introduced on the regular London-South Africa run.

He was also in command when the Duke of Edinburgh flew eight miles up in a Comet March 13.

Maximum speed on today's run was 510 miles an hour.

Before taking off from the De Havilland Company's airfield at Hatfield, outside London, shortly after noon, the Queen Mother and Princess Margaret inspected the workshops nearby where the jetliner was built.

Both were in black dresses, black silk coats and black hats.

Among others in the party were the Marquess of Salisbury, Secretary for Commonwealth Relations; Sir Geoffrey De Havilland, head of the aircraft company, and Sir Miles Thomas, chairman of the B.O.A.C. which is flying Comets on its regular London-Johannesburg service.

The plane used was hired from B.O.A.C. by the De Havilland Company, its builders. This model previously has been used in proving flights to Johannesburg, but has not yet been in regular service.

Nearly 800 American newspapers have disappeared with in the past twenty years through consolidation, mergers and failures. A total of 749 dailies vanished. Washington has just advised Hon. C. D. Effective next month, it will mean only fifty millions more a year to the cost of publishing across the border.

SOMETHING LEFT

Take a lawyer, a bricklayer, a housewife, or one person out of the hundreds of occupations in the province and ask them to go to hospital for one year. Then restrict these people to bed, limit them to visitors once a week, ask half of them to consider training them for another job and one has some idea of the emotional, physical and financial problems created in the complete treatment and rehabilitation of tuberculosis patients—B.C. Health.

The Woolworth building on Third Avenue should be completed not later than October, say observers. They may or may know nothing about contractors and contracting, yet opinion does not wander far. Every time anyone glances in that direction, the wonder grows that when Third Avenue was planned, only a single lane was allowed on most of the street.

Live in frugal fashion and be healthy. Bordeaux jail prisoners recently staged a riot because of the endless simplicity of their food. Anything approaching luxury was unheard of. Today there is a new chef—also new dishes and sick convicts. Eating your way to dysentery is never so hot.

Local Army Man Promoted

VANCOUVER—Lieut. Colonel H. J. W. Peck has been promoted from major, to be named commander of the 102nd Coast Regiment (Reserve) according to army headquarters in Vancouver last week.

He is the son of Colonel Cy Peck VC of Victoria, and succeeds Lt. Col. C. A. Manson FD as CO of the regiment.

His father was among the earliest pioneer citizens of Prince Rupert. He had been interested in Skeena River canning, and for years, during and after railway construction was actively identified with the development of that city.

Col. Peck, who was here for the opening of the Canadian Legion went overseas in the autumn of 1914 and had a distinguished career, which included serving for a while as Federal member for Skeena.

Famed School Closes As Quints Graduate

CALLANDER, Ont. (C) — The doors of Villa Notre Dame school soon will close permanently because five sisters have grown up.

Annette, Cecile, Marie, Yvonne and Emilie Dionne are 18 May 28. They graduate the same day from high school. The five, whose birth brought this northern Ontario village world fame, will receive diplomas at a ceremony in the play-room of the Dionne home south of here.

There will be nine other graduates, girls their own age who have shared their lessons at Villa Notre Dame school which was the quint's original nursery. It will close when they leave.

Olivia Dionne said the quint's will attend a girls' college next year. Which one is not yet known, but it won't be a convent. "We have no desire to force them to become nuns," Mr. Dionne said. "If they decide to do so, it will be a step they will take themselves."

Mr. Dionne said the girls have no boy friends. "They have been too busy to think about that sort of thing."

So far none of the quint's has decided on a vocation. Mr. Dionne said neither he nor Mrs. Dionne intend to force them to do anything they don't want to do.

"So far they have given no indication of what they intend to do," he said. "My only concern is for them to be happy—I believe that children should be given a good education so they will be in a position to choose their careers wisely and in a manner that will bring them happiness."

The girls will receive junior matriculation certificates at the graduation ceremonies. Rhinestone necklaces, bracelets and ear-rings from their parents are among the combined graduation and birthday gifts they will receive.

Commonwealth- Wide Crowning Of Queen

LONDON (CP)—The Commonwealth-minded Sunday Express proposes that the Queen be crowned in each of the Dominions following her official coronation in London next June.

The newspaper, published by Canadian-born Lord Beaverbrook, concedes the idea is somewhat visionary.

"But the coming of the Queen to the throne will mark, we hope, the beginning of a new era of glory and greatness for the British people," it says. "How better could we usher it in than by throwing out the hoary precedent—starting the new age in a new way?"

Britain, the paper observes, has crowned her monarchs in London through the centuries because the strength of the race was based on the home islands. But the future must be built on the empire.

The paper suggests a coronation ceremony in Ottawa would not only fire the imagination of all Canada but of all the peoples in the United States as well.

It admits the proposal might encounter some difficulties in Pakistan and South Africa, but it contends the problem even there is not insuperable.

Eisenhower For Nomination

NEW YORK (AP)—Newsweek Magazine says a poll it took of 50 top U.S. political writers shows a prevailing opinion that Gen. Dwight D. The Washington reports gave Governor Earl Warren of California the nod for the GOP vice presidential spot and Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia second place on the Democratic slate.

Court Awards Mineral Rights to Leduc Man

CALGARY (CP)—Farmer Anton Turta now owns mineral rights valued at well over $1,000,000 on his quarter-section of land in the Leduc district because of a mistake made in the land titles office in 1908.

This was the decision of Mr. Justice W. G. Egbert in a judgment handed down here. Turta won his case against the Canadian Pacific Railway and Imperial Oil Ltd.

The involved legal dispute was tried in Alberta Supreme Court in Edmonton last January. The property involved is in the heart of the Leduc oil field and at present is surrounded by scores of producing wells.

Briefly, the circumstances are that in 1908 the title to the land was transferred to Mike Podgorny, reserving coal and petroleum to the CPR. At that time, an error was made in the land titles office and the title read "reserving unto the CPR all coal."

The wording remained the same when Turta took over half the property in 1911 and the remainder in 1918.

An attempt was made in 1943 to correct the original error and the wording of the title was changed by adding the words "and petroleum." This made the title read "Reserving unto the CPR all coal and petroleum."

The court dispute was mainly over two points—whether or not the registrar of land titles had the right to make the correction, and to decide who actually owned the petroleum rights.

Mr. Justice Egbert ruled that the plaintiff, Turta, "is entitled to the relief he seeks," and that the words "and petroleum" which were added to the title do not have any effect.

Court officials said the action may be extremely important in determining the effect of the Torrens system of land titles.

Under this system, originated in Australia in the middle of the 19th century, the existing title on a piece of property has been considered to be absolute. In other words, when a piece of land is purchased the purchaser is entitled to everything not reserved in the title.

The Torrens system has been in effect in Alberta since it was incorporated as a province. In other countries and in some parts of Canada, a purchaser must conduct a lengthy search through reams of documents

Traffic Bylaw to be Ratified This Week

Water System Gets Overhaul

Major debates are expected by city aldermen when the new proposed street traffic bylaw comes up for ratification at a special meeting Wednesday.

The bylaw has been revised in its entirety by an appointed traffic committee which began work last winter. The committee's report was brought in two weeks ago, during which time aldermen have studied the proposals.

Major revisions of the bylaw, first passed in 1915, call for removal of taxi stands from Third Avenue, installation of street lights, stricter parking regulations and enforcement of pedestrian lane rules.

"I think we should have a special meeting for this, because there'll be a lot of arguments," anticipated Ald. Darrow Gomez.

LOCAL MEN FIRST

Local unemployed are given first opportunity for city jobs, said Superintendent of Works D. C. Stewart last night in answer to a complaint by the Civic Employees Federation Union.

"But when there are no local men listed at the Unemployment Insurance Commission, we get the men where we can find them," Aldermen agreed this was proper procedure.

Prince Rupert Gyro Club was given authorization to hold a tag day June 21 and Apple Day October 18. Money raised is to improve children's playgrounds.

RESERVOIR REPAIRS

Bids will be called for tenders to repair the city water reservoir. Ald. George Casey asked how the "water system rehabilitation" was progressing and pointed out the necessity of acting soon on reservoir repairs.

Meanwhile, work on the $100,000 repair job on the entire water system has begun in two sections, said Mr. Stewart. Material has been ordered.

THE DOG-CATCHER'S FEE

"What does it cost to do away with sick dogs and cats?" asked

Ald. J. W. Prusky. "Or is there any set fee?"

"I believe our dog-catcher charges $5 for dogs and $3 for cats," answered City Clerk R. W. Long.

"Mmm— isn't that a little steep?" returned the alderman. "Well, it's his business—apparently he can charge what he likes. There is no city legislation in that respect," Mr. Long answered.

Sale of 10 city-owned lots at a total price of $1535 was approved by council, upon recommendation of Finance Chairman Ald. Michael Krueger.

ALL-BRAN is the only type ready-to-eat cereal that supplies all the bulk you may need. It's high in protein and iron. Not habit-forming. ## A Personal Message from the Premier of British Columbia

VICTORIA
May 21, 1952

To the People of British Columbia:

As I cannot visit, or talk to all of you personally, I take this means to reach as many as possible.

Pushing aside all the exaggerations, distortions and mis-statements of facts made mostly for political purposes, I believe most people will agree with the following statements:—

1. We are the fastest growing Province in Canada.
2. Most people come here for greater opportunity, so our province must offer more than the place from which they came.
3. Our great experiment in Hospital Insurance with its "all inclusive cost", drugs, X-Ray, physiotherapy, blood tests, urine tests, blood plasma and many other things that make up a hospital bill, is by far the most humanitarian action ever taken by a provincial government in Canada.
4. Our wage rates per hour, day, week and month — conditions of employment — opportunity for work — length of the work week — working conditions — the I.C.A. Act and the W.C.B. Act — are the best in Canada.
5. The industrial output, the increase in basic industry — lumbering, fishing, mining, agriculture, the growth of manufacturing and services show the greatest percentage increase in Canada. Our development is tremendous.
6. In education, social services, hospitalization — in all fields of health service — in pensions to the needy, the sick, the unemployable, the aged, the widows and the fatherless — we are in the lead not only in Canada, but in almost all the world.
7. Nature has bestowed on us vast and rich resources which we are developing to their fullest extent for the benefit of our people. With our magnificent scenery and fine climate, we have every reason to be, and are a happy people. Compare our lot with that of any other people in the world and you must agree.
8. To continue our progress this province needs — above all else — an experienced, far-sighted and capable government. It needs men whose records you know, men who will seek, encourage and give confidence to the investors of the huge amounts of capital this province requires for its continued development.

I believe every fair-minded and politically unbiased person who reads this letter will agree with this brief statement of undeniable facts. I appeal to you for your active, personal support in bringing about the continuance of British Columbia's development and progress to which our party is pledged.

Yours very truly,

Byron I. Johnson

Former National League Hurler Makes Comeback

NEW YORK.—The Pacific Coast League's determination to keep its best athletes and gradually build itself into major league stature is likely to be put to a severe strain before the current campaign ends if Hal Gregg sustains his present fiery pitching pace with Oakland.

At last report the big right-hander had won eight straight for Manager Mel Ott's team, one of them a seven-inning no-hitter. Representatives of three big league clubs are reported following him already.

Gregg, who was one of the National League's top hurlers in 1945 when he won 18 and lost 13 for Brooklyn, is making a phenomenal comeback after several seasons in the outer darkness. He underwent a delicate back operation last winter which appears to have effected a complete cure of the ills which had threatened to end his baseball career. He will not be 31 until July, so he might easily have five or six fine years left in his system.

Gregg began having arm trouble soon after his 18-game year

NEW YORK (CP)—New York Giants ousted Brooklyn Dodgers from first place in the sizzling National League race Monday night by whipping Dodgers 4-2 in the season's first duel between these arch-rivals.

Result left Brooks half a game behind.

Bobby Thomson drove in three Giants runs with a home run and a long fly, and Whitey Eckman scored three times with a walk, a triple and a home run.

Thomson's efforts recalled his pennant-winning home runs off Brooklyn's Ralph Branca last Oct. 1—last occasion he faced Dodgers' pitching.

George Spencer, who relieved starter Jim Hearn with the score preluded the two centres.

Lineups of both teams will be announced tonight, says Eddie Gladding, Prince Rupert's baseball commissioner.

Bans Game Imports Tourist Hunters

The Canadian Press

Hunters and game officials in Brunswick and British Columbia—two of Canada's big provinces—foresee a threat to their tourist income in the hoof ban announced May 26 by the United States Fish and Wildlife Service.

The ban, under which sports hunting in Canada this fall is prohibited from taking their animals into the United States, applies to all cloven-hoofed animals including moose, deer, elk, sheep and antelope.

Hunters mean big money for Brunswick and New Brunswick receives more than $375,000 annually from non-resident hunters.

Officials there said they hoped the ban might be lifted before or that Eastern Canada might become exempt if the hoof ban disease remained in Saskatchewan.

Game Commissioner Frank said the ban could mean a 50 per cent reduction in hunting travel. He said 50 per cent of 2,300 moose checked at Cache Creek last fall

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Finessing Isn't the Only Way To Attain Victory

Miss Brash's slap-dash bidding and play have given Mr. Champion the fix many times lately. But on this deal her luck finally ran out. Her horrible two club overcall was directly responsible for Mr. Champion finding the right line of play at his five diamond contract.

As you see, three no trump is cold on the North-South cards, but Mr. Abel's four spade bid ruined that. Mr. Champion couldn't see four no trump or five diamonds and so he doubled. Now, Mr. Muzzy usually leaves in doubled contracts when he shouldn't. This time, however, he decided to run out to five diamonds.

The opening lead was the 10 of spades, Mr. Abel played the jack and Mr. Champion won with the ace. Eying the two losers in spades and one in hearts, he mentally cursed Mr. Muzzy for not letting the four spade double stay in.

Well, there was still a chance to make the hand. Normally, the best play would have been to finesse the jack of clubs and, if it held, to discard a spade loser from dummy on the third round of clubs. But since Miss Brash had overcalled with two clubs, she surely could be figured for the queen of that suit.

Mr. Champion went a different way. He entered dummy with a trump, led back a heart and put in the jack. Miss Brash won with the king and returned a trump. Mr. Champion won this in his own hand and cashed the ace of hearts.

Again he went to the board with a trump, led the last heart and ruffed it. Then he cashed his ace and king of clubs and followed with the jack of clubs. When Miss Brash covered with the queen, he let her hold the trick, discarding a spade from dummy.

She had nothing left but clubs and a heart. It made no difference which suit she returned. Actually she led a heart and

Low Income Groups Hit By High Food Cost

MONTREAL—Nan Garvoek, dietitian-in-chief of the Montreal diet dispensary, says Montreal's underprivileged groups have hit a new low in nutritional standards.

"I have never seen such a low standard in my 28 years of experience," she says. "And the lowest income groups aren't the only ones who are suffering—high costs are also affecting the diets of the middle-income groups."

"If something isn't done to ease the rise of high rents and high food costs in which these people are caught we will reap a harvest of sickness and disease," says the Red Feather service official.

G. B. Clarke, general secretary of the Family Welfare Association, another Red Feather agency, says Montreal is Canada's most expensive place to live and at the same time has the lowest level of wages.

Miss Garvoek said many of the families who come to the dispensary for help with their diets have only $26 a week income. "The rent and fuel have to be paid and it's the diet they cut down on," she added.

The dietitian says that many of the people who come to the dispensary are ill simply because they don't get enough to eat.

"If we have a chance to give them the proper diet we can make new people of them in a few months," she said.

Mr. Clarke says the Family Welfare Association, which cares for about 2,000 people a month with financial aid, and gives social service assistance to another 1,500 a month, is faced with the necessity of allowing 50 cents a day per person for diet.

He said elderly people form the largest single group who need financial help, with families deserted by husbands and fathers coming second and illness third.

Mr. Clarke said that under present provisions few of these people can be adequately helped. A family has to be deserted for five years before the wife and mother can claim help under the Needy Mothers Act. She can get no assistance under the Quebec Public Charities Act unless she is ill.

"Recent legislation in Quebec has improved the picture as far as prosecuting deserting husbands and fathers is concerned, but what can anyone do if the man prefers to go to jail rather than pay?" said the official.

10,000 For Civil Defence

There already are 52,000 volunteers, the Federal Government's Civil Defence Co-ordinator told the Canadian Legion convention.

Addresses prepared for distribution included these objectives for the year:

Man Arrested for Stealing Paintings

OTTAWA (CP)—Discovery of one of $8,000 worth of oil paintings in a downtown department store, including near the Duke of Edinburgh, led to the arrest of a 45-year-old man.

The man was identified as Shine, wanted by police at least two of the paintings.

Seven paintings were identified as stolen in Toronto district.

Other five include portraits of Winston Churchill and Bernard Shaw. Where the came from has not yet established.

Only Man to Survive Niagara Would Try it Again For Money

By HAL BOYLE
(Associated Press Writer)

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y.—Many have dreamed of winning fame and fortune by going over Niagara Falls in a barrel.

Six people have done it. Three lived—three were pounded to death by the waters.

The only surviving victor of the falls now is Jean Lussier, who bounced and floated in a home-made rubber ball over the Canadian side of the cataract July 1, 1928. He emerged unhurt.

Jean, a rugged former carnival stunt man, now works as a machine operator in an industrial plant here. He will be 59 years old this year.

Lussier, who has escaped the bad luck that caught up with other conquerors of the Niagara, says he would like to go over the falls a second time. But with him it's strictly business.

"Show me the dough, and I'll go," he said. "But it will have to be this year or next year—after that I'll be too old."

Jean would like to become the first man in history to go over the American side of the falls, which is particularly hazardous because of the rocks beneath.

He already has resigned a three-layer rubber ball to be built around an aluminum frame. He says all he needs now is a sponsor willing to put up $3,000 to construct the ball—and the $10,000 fee he wants to make the voyage.

"I'll go over any waterfall in the world in a rubber ball," he said. "If the fall is too high, I'll put wings on the ball."

The first person to ride over Niagara Falls successfully was a toughy teacher, Mrs. Annie Edson Taylor. Her vehicle was a crude wooden barrel with iron hasps.

According to local tradition, at the last moment she said, "I don't want to go." But her backers are said to have poured her two water glasses full of scotch, closed the hatch, and pushed the barrel out into the current.

Mrs. Taylor emerged below the falls unscathed, sold souvenir cards of her exploit at a local museum, and died years later in the poorhouse.

An English daredevil, Bobby Leach, floated over the falls in an iron barrel in 1911. He forgot to strap himself in, and when he was pulled out of his metal cask he had a broken jaw and two broken kneecaps.

Leach had a rather unfortunate ending for a stunt man. While touring New Zealand with his own barrel in 1926 he slipped on an orange peel—and died.

Lussier was the first man to do the job scientifically. He spent $7,000 and a year preparing. He constructed his rubber ball himself. He entered the ball at 3:05 in the afternoon, went over the 167-foot falls at 3:55, and came out of the ball at 4:23.

How does it feel going over the falls?

"I kept bracing for a sharp jar, but it never came," recalled Lussier. "It was like making a ski jump in slow motion. The ball was under the water only a minute and five seconds."

In the next 14 years Lussier made a small fortune touring the world with his rubber ball and telling the story of his 78-minute exploit.

Guided Missiles For Defence

SEATTLE (AP)—Some anti-aircraft positions in the Seattle area are being prepared to launch guided missiles, Maj.-Gen. John T. Lewis, newly appointed commander of the army anti-aircraft command, disclosed today.

The general said guided missiles will be used for defence of the Pacific northwest and other areas as soon as they are produced.

"They are not available now," he said, "but it is only a question of time. The development stage is so far along that they are ready for production."

Drug Clinic Proposed to Aid Addicts

VICTORIA (CP)—Mrs. W. E. M. Mitchell, president of the Victoria branch of the John Howard Society, an organization sponsoring penal reform and care of prisoners, believes that solution of the narcotics problem lies in clinics where registered addicts can obtain drugs at normal prices.

She said in an interview that addicts had told her their daily life consisted of stealing to buy narcotics, keeping appointments with peddlers and hiding from police. "That is a full day for them. They have no time for a job."

Because the traffic does not exist in Victoria, she said many were coming here from Vancouver to try to cure themselves.

"Every addict makes a sincere attempt at some time to get rid of the habit," she said. "It's not difficult to get an addict off narcotics; the real trouble is keeping him off."

Usually there was nobody to help an addict, she said. Hospitals were closed to him and doctors feared to help, no matter how willing.

"Addicts are in and out of jail so much they are actually serving a life term on the instalment plan."

Mrs. Mitchell said Vancouver has eight times as many addicts as all of England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland where 395 are registered.

"The criminal addict is unknown in the United Kingdom," said Mrs. Mitchell who studied conditions there in 1949 with the aid of Britain's dangerous drug department.

Registration and sale at normal prices would wipe out the peddler who thrives on heavy profits.

DO YOU WANT AN Establishment IN YOUR NEIGHBOURHOOD ?

A "Yes" vote on the Plebiscite will give the next Government the go-ahead to license bars and the sale of liquor in every "wet vote" area in British Columbia. Do you want that?

The Plebiscite reads—"Are you in favor of the sale of spirituous liquors and wine by the glass in establishments licensed for the purpose?" ESTABLISHMENTS licensed for such purpose CAN MEAN BARS ANYWHERE—in a better-class restaurant or in a neighbourhood workingman's cafe. There cannot be class legislation.

Residential land values depreciate in the neighbourhood of a bar. Vote "No" and protect your land values—vote "Yes" and you sign a blank cheque.

This is not a brief in favor of prohibition. It is rather a suggestion that you take a serious searching look at the problems involved before you sign a blank cheque.

A "No" vote is within your interests now. You have every right to know exactly what the liquor set-up will be before you take a stand. Let's have facts! Granted, our present liquor system is not satisfactory but grabbing at a pig-in-a-poke is not the answer. Let's find out "How" and "Where" and "by Whom" liquor by the glass will be sold. It affects you and your family vitally. Vote "No" until you get the whole picture.

during a period of great economic expansion."

He mentioned the Columbia Cellulose and the Alcan development at Kitimat as projects that "are going to bring tremendous wealth to B.C."

"The Socialists say these companies are coming here to skin the people of B.C. But I don't think that anyone has the brains or ability to skin us in B.C."

"The Aluminum Company, for instance, is not going to take a thing out of B.C. All they wanted was power which had been flowing down the streams in that area since time immemorial."

Mr. Anscomb said that of the CCF taking over the big companies "is just so much twaddle."

"The big man will look after himself," Mr. Anscomb said as he said the line shortly would be he stressed his points with outstretched hand, "and the Progressive Conservative party will see that the small man gets a good deal."

ROADS AND F

In a brief discussion on highways, he mentioned that, in ways, he mentioned that, as minister of public work when the original long-term road program was laid down by the B.C. Legislature.

He said that while the national government did not accept the plan at that time "it is significant to note that they now have offered to pay 50 per cent of the cost of our Trans-Canada Highway." There are 27,000 miles of roads in B.C., he said, and in some cases it has cost us as much as $77,000 a mile to construct.

Discussing the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, Mr. Anscomb said the line shortly would be running to Prince George and the Conservative party would see that it also continued on to Vancouver from Squamish and into "the fast-developing Peace River country."

Explaining how he went to New York in 1950 to borrow money for the government's great works program, Mr. Anscomb, who was then finance minister, said he saved the taxpayers $1,700,000 "after I interviewed six of the greatest financial brutes in the United States."

The loan was the first B.C. had borrowed from the United States for 27 years.

"The coalition government, in my view, during the 10 years of its existence, built up the most human program of any other government, in its social service advancement."

"It is costing many millions of dollars to take care of some 32,000 people in B.C. in one way or another."

"The coalition government believed the people and industry were quite prepared to go ahead with this program, but it would have been impossible without the support of Conservative cabinet ministers and MLAs."

He reiterated again that "you can't compel people to do something they do not intend to do" and said "30 per cent of B.C. people do not pay hospital premiums."

He outlined briefly the government's forest management policy and said if the big operator is forced to institute reforestation policies the small man must have the same responsibility.

LIQUOR PLEBISCITE

Speaking of the liquor plebiscite to be put to the electorate, Mr. Anscomb said "I disagree entirely with the wording."

"There is a feeling in some sections that they want cocktail bars, some just want to sell wine, and so this plebiscite wording means nothing."

Since the wording cannot now be changed, Mr. Anscomb said a Conservative government would respect the wishes of the people on a local option basis.

"I'm the only man in Canada who got $5,000,000 for his client and was asked to resign," said the Conservative chief in his concluding remarks.

Just before Mr. Anscomb began his political address he congratulated the Booth Memorial High School band, under Fred Huber, who played several selections and the National Anthem prior to the speech-making.

TESLIN BRIDGE—Teslin bridge, longest single structure on the 1,523-mile Alaskan highway, is a vital link in the permanent, all-weather, gravel-surfaced highway which stretches from Dawson Creek, B.C., to Fairbanks, Alaska. Built 10 years ago and paid for by the United States at a cost of $138,000,000 the road was turned over to Canada in 1946. The road then became known officially as the Northwest Highway system, although most people still call it the Alaska Highway. The bridge is 1,466 feet long.

Special Cruise For Clergymen On 'Prince George'

Special to the Daily News

VANCOUVER—Some 293 Presbyterians from Washington state will arrive in Vancouver tonight by special train from Seattle to board the Canadian National Steamships Prince George for a seven-day convention cruise to Alaska and return.

This will be the first official visit in fifty years by ministers and elders of the church to Alaska which belongs to the Washington synod. Delegates will be accompanied by their wives, other members of the church and national leaders.

Among national leaders are: Rev. J. Earl Jackman, secretary of the department of work in Alaska for the Presbyterian Board of National Missions, and Rev. Dr. John Charles McKirachan, associated with united promotion of the Presbyterian Church. Both are from New York.

Purpose of the visit is to give special recognition to Alaska, and to give delegates and visitors an opportunity to visit Presbyterian missions, schools and churches and to bring back a clearer picture of the church's work, the problems and needs of the territory.

One of the highlights of the cruise will be the official welcome to the delegates by Governor Ernest Gruening of Alaska at Juneau May 31. While in Juneau the party will make a tour of Mendenhall glaciers, 14 miles from the city.

During the cruise they will call at Ketchikan, Wrangell, Sitka and Juneau. Delegates from Alaska will board the ship at Ketchikan.

The Prince George is due to leave here tonight and return June 3.
