A sensation in the early years of this century, it was an exact replica of a 1906 Reo Model A touring car. It was constructed to an exacting 238 pounds, and was perfect in every detail from two-cylinder engine to lights. The Reo company, which has no record of the Baby Reo after 1936, got it back for its 50th anniversary celebration in October. Shown here are the "papa" car, the Reo 1936 Model A touring car.

Check Sabotage Angle Cause of Jet Airliner Crash

A government investigation today "the possibility of sabotage cannot be ruled out" as the cause of the crash of a jet airliner near last Thursday night. The investigation is being conducted by the ministry of aviation, told the press and "all other angles" will certainly be investigated. There is no possibility of sabotage which went down in the Gulf of Mexico. The fourth disassembling jet airliner. The last two of the planes had some airport. The possibility of sabotage was ruled out and this and the causes will be investigated.

Meanwhile in Moose Jaw a special civic memorial service for the 37 victims of Canada's worst airline disaster was attended Sunday by ministers of all faiths, Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan, Mayor Louis Lewry, the city council and more than 1,000 citizens. A special Roman Catholic service was held later.

Flags atop business premises and all government buildings and institutions flew at half staff from noon to sundown. The services were held as trains sped east and west carrying bodies of the dead to hometowns for burial.

In Vancouver, memorial services for the 13 B.C. persons who perished in the crash of the TCA airliner were held today. Restaurant owner Oscar Blanck, 45, will be buried following services in Beth Israel Synagogue.

A memorial service for the other 12 victims will also be conducted by Rabbi David C. Kogan.

VANCOUVER POLICE CHIEF MAY DECLARE WAR ON BINGO

VANCOUVER — Chief Constable Walter Mulligan said Saturday his department was studying the possibility of prosecutions to test the legality of bingo clubs which he said do a $500,000 annual business here.

There are 14 bingo clubs operating under provincial charter and city licences and the chief said the largest does a $20,000 monthly business.

French Answer Rebel Assault With 'Fixed-Bayonet' Attack

HANOI, Indo-China — French Union troops, charging with fixed bayonets, launched a strong counter-attack today against thousands of Vietminh rebels trying to smash through to the heart of Dien Bien Phu from the east and southeast.

The immediate objective of the rampaging Communist assault appeared again to be a 1,200-foot-high hill overlooking the French fortress and only five-eighths of a mile from its centre. The French seized the strategic height from the rebels in a surprise offensive Saturday and had held it since against four counter-attacks.

In Saigon, meanwhile, Viet Nam's new war cabinet today decreed total mobilization of all its male citizens between 21 and 25 to fight the Vietminh.

Meeting for the first time since its creation Saturday by the chief of state, Bao Dai, the Viet Nam cabinet of Premier Prince Buu Loc and his two ministers ordered the call-up by May 15. It was not immediately announced how many of the 14,000,000 Viet Namese in the French-defended zones would be affected by the order.

It was the first time in the war that Viet Nam had called its young men in bulk into the armed forces. Previously the Viet Namese were drafted individually, evasions were numerous and the force of French, North Africans and Foreign Legionnaires carried the brunt of the attack.

Vietminh rebels also blew up the Hanoi-Haiphong express in Indo-China today in an attempt to prevent gasoline and ammunition from getting through to the defenders of the fortress of Dien Bien Phu, according to reports reaching here.

The supplies were on their way to be dropped to the Dien Bien Phu garrison by parachute. This is the 16th time the train has been blown up in the last month, but the first time vital military supplies have been affected, French sources said. There were no reports of casualties.

Cuts Slated In Fish Prices

ANCHORAGE, Alaska — An official of the Alaska fishermen's union said here Saturday he has received unofficial reports that drastic cuts are slated for salmon prices in the Cook Inlet area this season.

Einar Ted Meining, business agent for the union, said he had not received any official word as yet, but that good sources indicate fish prices will be trimmed from 35 to 40 cents in the Cook Inlet area.

Such a cut would bring prices for red salmon here down to about 90 cents, Meining said. About 700 local fishermen, as well as the many who come in each season from outside, will be affected if the lower prices go into effect.

Dulles Urges U.K. To Join United Front

To Hold Talks With Churchill

LONDON (AP)—State Secretary Dulles of the United States urged Foreign Secretary Eden today to join him in an immediate public promise of "united action" if Red Chinese troops enter the Indo-China war.

As the two statesmen met at the foreign office, Prime Minister Churchill's government was reported willing to join, but only if the Russians and the Chinese show at the Geneva conference opening April 26 that they are not willing to negotiate a peace in Asia.

The U.S. secretary puts his arguments directly to Churchill tonight, when he dines with the prime minister at 10 Downing St.

The opposition Labor party meanwhile stepped up demands that Churchill tell Dulles that not "a single British man or gun" will be used in Indo-China.

In Paris, where Dulles flies Tuesday to see Premier Laniel and Foreign Minister Bidault, the French cabinet today was reported fearful that strong public words to the Reds now would doom in advance any chance of negotiating an Indo-China peace in Geneva.

That also is the British government's view.

NEGOTIATE FROM STRENGTH

Dulles flew here Sunday from Washington to press his contention that the West can negotiate with the Communists in Geneva only from a "position of strength," and that such a position can be reached only through the strong declaration of united action.

On his arrival Sunday, he and Eden displayed no evidence of any rift in their airport statements. Dulles said he was sure his talks with the British leaders "in great intimacy" will prove profitable to both our countries as well as others.

Eden remarked: "I am confident that the work that we shall have to do together will be of service not only to each other's country but to the understanding and peace of the world."

The two diplomatic chiefs began their discussions informally Sunday night at dinner, at the home of the U.S. ambassador, Winthrop Aldrich.

Assault Case First Heard As Spring Assizes Open

Trial of Mervyn Edward Schultze, 33-year-old carpenter, on a charge of indecent assault began in Supreme Court here today before Mr. Justice J. M. Coady.

The case is the first of five, four of them manslaughter cases, to be heard at the Spring Assizes.

A 12-man jury was selected from a list of 82 persons named for possible jury trial. Balance of the jury panel were excused by Mr. Justice Coady until 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Selected for this case were: Thomas A. Newton, foreman, Marc Cavanaugh, T. M. Christie, A. N. Meyer, Mark R. Hill, A. W. Burnip, John Munro and W. G. St. Clair, all of Prince Rupert; A. T. McIntosh, Ocean Falls; Christian Haugland and G. R. Hamer, both of Terrace, and A. H. Dockerill of Telkwa.

Schultze is charged with assaulting a little two-year-old girl last New Year's Eve at the Beach Camp at Kemano.

The mother of the child took the stand this morning and told of being called from a party at a home near her trailer-home to find her husband there with their daughter on his knee.

"My little girl was upset . . . and crying."

She said she changed the child's wet, blood-stained, clothing and rushed her to a doctor. Her husband had found the child screaming in her crib after being notified by a friend that he saw accused in their home.

Schultze was arrested by police about four days after the baby was taken to hospital. Accused and the parents, with several other members living in the camp, had all gone to celebrate New Year's at the only permanent home in the area.

The mother said all the homes were close by and outlined to Crown Prosecutor T. W. Brown events leading up to the discovery by her husband at 1 a.m., Jan. 1, of their little girl.

She said accused and her husband had had a few drinks on Dec. 31—second birthday of her daughter—and Schultze took some pictures of the girl in the afternoon and later in the evening.

Prowler Also Enters First United Church

A prowler broke into the Church of the Annunciation sometime after 9 o'clock last night and stole a chalice bearing the inscription "Anthony Jordon, O.M.I."

The chalice, a gold gilt vessel, was given to Bishop Jordon by the children of St. Augustine's Church in Vancouver after his appointment to this vicariate several years ago.

Rev. O. P. Mohan said this morning nothing else "appears to have been taken" but the prowler also opened several drawers containing priests' vestments.

Rev. Lawrence Sieber of First United Church, directly behind the Roman Catholic structure, also reported someone entered his church between 9 p.m. and midnight last night. Up to press time, he had found nothing missing.

The break-in at Annunciation Church was discovered at 6:15 this morning by Brother Michael Smallcombe when he went to prepare the church for morning Mass.

He aroused Father Tunney and Father Mohan.

The prowler forced the basement door open to gain entry.

Father Mohan said the tabernacle in the altar was forced open and Communion from the stolen chalice were strewn over the altar. Another chalice was opened but left untouched on the altar.

The top of Bishop Jordon's chalice was bent in two and the lock on the tabernacle was pried open.

Only other damage noticed was the image on a small crucifix from a sick call kit, which also was opened but otherwise not damaged.

Brother Smallcombe locked the church doors shortly after 9 o'clock Sunday night.

Celebration of Mass was not interrupted this morning. The chalice is valued at about $50.

Mr. Sieber noticed his church had been entered when he checked the doors "about midnight."

There had been a meeting in the church during the evening and he had driven some of the parishioners home. Before retiring, he made a check of the doors. Nothing was disturbed.

Mossadegh "Cheating" During Fast

TEHRAN, Iran — A whopping dinner of boiled chicken, rice and vegetables has officially ended Mohammed Mossadegh's latest hunger strike. His prosecutor says the ex-premier was cheating anyhow—sneaking cookies, chocolates and vitamin pills on the side.

Mossadegh, who is appealing his three-year treason sentence launched his "fast unto death" Saturday because the court didn't let in enough spectators to suit him and the papers weren't reprinting in full the 600 pages of appeal he has been presenting.

On those counts, the strike scored a victory and a defeat for the former Iranian premier who was convicted of trying to overthrow the shah.

The court relaxed its rules on attendance, and an audience of more than 50 showed up today. Previously only a dozen or so had been let in.

But Mossadegh could still be hungering, for all the papers cared. Etefaat gave him five inches Sunday night and Keyhan three—on the last page. He got about the same treatment today.

Schools in Haney Area Shut As Janitors Continue Strike

LANGLEY, B.C. — All 17 schools in the Langley area were expected to shut their doors today as the result of a strike by 22 janitors and maintenance workers.

Only four schools were left open by the end of last week. The strike began Wednesday.

Ben Morley of Vancouver, building service union business agent, said Sunday night: "We will intensify peaceful picketing today, with some 50 or 60 picketers holding the line, in the hope of closing down four schools, still operating due to automatic heating devices."

"We think we can make it stick, as oil supplies are running low in four buildings. We expect a complete shutdown by night-fall."

The workers struck for a five-per cent wage increase, awarded by a conciliation board but rejected by Langley school trustees.

A union spokesman charged Sunday that more money had been spent in fighting the increase than the boost would have cost.

Police and federal agents said the killers apparently were in the back seat of the Pape automobile and jumped out of the car when it hit a building.

James Pape was a post office clerk who had no record, but federal agents said Anthony was arrested March 16 and charged with being the head of a multi-million-dollar wholesale narcotics ring.

Japan Asks U.S. To Limit Tests

TOKYO (Reuters)—Japan has asked the United States to reduce the number, scale and length of time of atomic tests in the Pacific, it was announced today.

Foreign Minister Katsuo Okazaki said Japan wants the tests limited "so that Japanese fishermen may safely fish in these waters—the richest and cheapest source of food for the Japanese."

WEATHER FORECAST

North coast region: cloudy with showers today and Tuesday. Showers occasionally mixed with snow overnight. Colder. Winds southerly 20 in exposed areas shifting to southeast 20 Tuesday morning. Low tonight and high Tuesday at Port Hardy 34 and 45. Sandspit and Prince Rupert 34 and 42.

Grain Shipping Sets Mark Rain Strike Cuts Cargoes

PRINCE RUPERT — This port's more deep-sea vessels than ever before but a record in cargo because of the 79-handlers' strike.

Report of the national could disclose that 6,620,300 tons, entered during the year to a record high of 5,838,503 tons moving in and out of the port in 1952.

The report said the grain workers' strike, which tied up all major elevators in the port, was the greatest factor in the drop in cargo movements. Figures showed a drop of 420,000 tons of grain handled.

A weak pulp market also contributed to a decrease of 20,000 tons of wood pulp handled, the report noted.

Completion of the Trans-Alberta Pipeline oil pipeline from the Alberta fields to Vancouver brought about a 176,640-ton drop in imports of crude oil from California.

Warning From Within

NOT even the announcement itself that the drydock was to be sold had the explosive effect of the local Liberal association's resolution Friday demanding that the federal government change its attitude.

Such a move was far more than just a protest against the government's action. It was a desperate warning from within the Liberals' own ranks that the party was failing to keep faith with its historic principles of building a Canada that is strong in every part. It was a reminder that down through the years the Liberal party has proclaimed itself as representative of the people, not of sectional interests. Where private enterprise fails to meet those people's needs, the party traditionally is supposed to extend its strong hand.

In pursuance of its policy to reach to the outermost fringes of the country, the federal government recently established a department specifically responsible for the development of Canada's northland. To judge from our experiences here, however, the northland must skirt around B.C.'s most northerly port. Perhaps it applies only to the Arctic Circle which was examined a short while ago by Defence Minister Claxton. If the drydock were in Akavik or some such place, it might earn more respect than it does in its present position.

As a result of its handling of this affair, the federal government should be advised that being a Liberal out here at the present moment is something like being a case of measles. At the same time, in this very hour of unpopularity, the local party association has achieved singular distinction by its forthright action. It is a move that could have been side-stepped in the hope that other events between now and the next election would restore the party's standing.

To their lasting credit, however, members of the group did not choose this course. It is to be hoped that their courage will remind Liberals at Ottawa of the record of bold achievements which has made their party a great one.

Saving The Pennies

WHEN discussing the increased cost of postage in Canada which became effective April 1, mention was made in these columns of the effect it would have on large corporations which send out pieces of mail by the hundreds daily.

Evidence of this was noted last week by a Fort William citizen. He sends a mortgage payment monthly to a large firm in Eastern Canada. The other day he received the regular receipt, but attached to it was a notice that said henceforth the receipts would be held back for four months, when they would be sent together—to save postage.

"I wonder what would happen," he said amusingly, "If I wrote back and told them that in order to save on the cost of postage, I intended to hold back my cheques for four months and send them in together."

THE PENALTY

There is no evidence that the death penalty deters potential murders, according to a brief on capital punishment presented to the joint parliamentary committee by the Canadian Welfare Council of Ottawa. Statistics of murder rates for countries that have abolished capital punishment—some a century ago—indicate that the incidence of murder is in no way related to the presence, or absence of the death.

The annual monsoon is reported to be commencing to blow. That's said to be a gentle way of putting it. The monsoon is a periodical wind in the Indian Ocean blowing from the southwest from April to October and from the south during the other part of the year. Generally speaking it gets along pretty well without needing introductions.

Mr. Stanley Knowles (Winnipeg North Centre): "Mr. Speaker, it seems to me the case is so clear for an increase in that pension that it should not be necessary to argue for it at all. The amount of the pension across Canada at the present is $40 a month, a figure that was reached in 1949. Since that time the cost of living has gone up. It should also be pointed out that the Canadian standard of living has improved and I submit our senior citizens should share in that improvement. I submit that the pension be increased, namely 50 per cent. If a pension of $40 a month is increased by 50, that brings it at least to the figure of $60 a month."

Head-on Clash

THE MOST important feature of Mr. Abbott's budget speech was his flat, complete refusal to bow to the attempted blackmail move of the Duplessis government of Quebec.

It will be remembered that a royal commission made exhaustive investigations in the late thirties of the question of double and triple taxation. It will also be remembered that the same royal commission recommended a consolidation of tax collections in Canada, partly to avoid duplication, and partly to give a helping hand to the provinces less blessed by plentiful natural resources.

The main remedy proposed was that the Dominion should "rent" the right of the provinces to collect income and corporation taxes or to levy death duties. The majority of the provinces agreed to the proposal. A minority, however, refused to agree. But when the war occurred immediately after, the Dominion quickly worked out the rental agreement which had failed to receive unanimous approval a short time earlier. This wartime arrangement worked with such eminent satisfaction to all concerned that one by one the provinces, which had previously opposed the move for tax simplification, fell into line. Ontario was the second-to-last to hold out—but even Ontario substantially agreed after Mr. Frost became Premier.

Quebec, under Duplessis, has not only refused to get into step with all the rest of the country, but now the Duplessis government has made what seems to me to be a most brazen attempt at political blackmail ever witnessed in this confederation. The Legislature of Quebec has enacted a law, which begins with a preamble which is a direct misstatement of facts. That preamble declares that under the constitution the provinces were given priority rights to levy income taxes. As the Minister of Finance showed, this statement is as untrue as it is mischievous.

The Quebec law levies a personal income tax of about 15% the amount which the same Quebec taxpayer has to pay year by year to the treasury of Canada. Then with an impudence which sets a national record, the Duplessis government demands that the Duplessis duplicate tax should be entirely deductible as an expense under the Dominion levy!

By a strange, warped reasoning, the Duplessis argue that, as Quebec would receive an amount roughly equivalent to 15% of the income tax paid to Ottawa if Quebec signed a tax rental agreement, therefore Quebec should forthwith be given an equivalent financial benefit, despite the fact that she not only refuses to sign, but sets up a duplicate, unnecessary and nuisance tax system of her own.

For sheer effrontery that constitutes a record.

THE MINISTER of Finance was extremely sharp and completely direct in his rejection of the Duplessis maneuver. He showed that if the Dominion were to concede the principle that a province could first levy an income tax of 15% of the Dominion rate, and then claim that as an exemption of the tax payable to the Dominion, there was nothing to stop the same province from raising the ratio successively from 15 to 25, 50 or even 100% of the Dominion rate.

The most ominous statement made in connection with this Duplessis move was uttered in the House of Commons by a Quebec Conservative, who referred to his Province as "a sovereign state within the Canadian commonwealth." This conception, if condoned or tolerated, would clearly threaten the break-up of the Canadian nation.

A year ago Mr. Abbott said the present government upholds "the principle that nothing in federal legislation shall in any way discriminate against a province which does not enter into a tax rental agreement."

The impudent Duplessis maneuver is designed to achieve exactly the contrary—namely, compel the Dominion to discriminate in favour of a misguided government which is doing its utmost to wreck the whole tax rental arrangement of all the rest of Canada.

LETTERBOX

The Editor,
The Daily News:

The letter in your paper over the signature of Mr. A. H. Sager of the Fisheries Association of B.C. is deserving of a reply. He mentions in his letter, the stand taken by the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union relative to the Japanese Fisheries Treaty and refers to the Union claim that the Japanese off-shore fishery is "invading the waters of the North Pacific, catching salmon destined for Alaska and B.C. salmon streams and thus causing a decline in this northern fishery." He goes on to state this cannot be supported in fact and that they can jeopardize the work of the North Pacific Fisheries Commission.

Our Union did not state that this Japanese fishery would jeopardize the B.C. and Alaska fisheries. We did and do claim that until the commission and the Department of Fisheries are certain that this fishery will not be injurious to Canadian and American interests, there must be a limited off-shore operation. The Honorable James Sinclair, Minister of Fisheries, admits that no statistics are available, which clearly indicate the number of fish caught by the Japanese off-shore fishermen, destined for Canadian streams and those heading for the Asian coast. Our Union has supported a scientific conservation program and we will naturally oppose a fishery which could take our fish at the source while our fishermen are tied up in the interests of conservation. We say this off-shore fishery should be limited to five (5) million fish until our biological experts can be certain that our Canadian fishermen are protected and that a large part of their catch is not destined for Canadian and American streams.

Mr. Sager refers to the Japanese Fisheries Treaty which our Union vigorously opposed, as a guarantee of protection for our halibut, salmon and herring fisheries. Let's look at the record. In 1952 the Japanese off-shore fleet took approximately two and one-half (2½) million fish (salmon). In 1953 they took just under eight (8) million fish. Fisheries publications in the U.S. and Canada indicate that their fleet will be enlarged by several mother ships and many "killer" boats. This could mean an increase in their catch up to 20 or 30 million fish. We say that until our scientists are certain of the effect of this fishery on our salmon resources, let us limit the Japanese to five million (maximum) fish. Let's not lock the barn after the horse is stolen.

Last year the Bristol Bay and S.E. Alaska fisheries reached a record low in production. It is not necessary to comment on the Skeena and Naas runs here in Rupert. The number of fishermen in this area who ended the season in the hole are known to most businessmen, and of course to the fishermen concerned. Our fishermen and the local business men whose bills have not been paid, know full well the disastrous results of a poor fishing year. We do not know whether this off-shore fishery is to blame but we are not content to "wait and see."

Some readers will wonder why Mr. Sager, who is the publicity agent for the B.C. Fisheries Association, takes the position of opposing the interests of B.C. fishermen. We would suggest in all sincerity, that the tremendous investments of the U.S. canning interests into Japanese fishing concerns, might have a great deal to do with his attitude. It must be obvious, if fishing companies on this side of the Pacific who have money invested in Japanese fisheries, and who can get fish caught by cheap labor in an off-shore fishery, can bring this fish into the American market and undercut Canadian and American fishermen, they will do so. The fact that this will mean unemployment, unpaid bills and hardship for fishing communities, apparently is secondary to Mr. Sager.

Let's keep the record clean. United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union. Northern Representative. T. E. PARKIN. Prince Rupert.

OTTAWA DIARY

Quebec Premier Maurice Duplessis' quarrel with the St. Laurent Government—now expected to blaze up actively as a result of the latest Abbott budget—is no trifling matter in its terms of dollars and cents. It is a $25,000,000-$30,000,000 dispute.

That is roughly the sum which the Union Nationale Premier is out of pocket as a result of his unwillingness to sign a tax rental agreement with Ottawa. Here is the arithmetic in a nutshell.

If Quebec had had a tax rental agreement with Ottawa during the past fiscal year, it would have been entitled to receive $113,000,000. But since it didn't have an agreement, the province was entitled to levy—and did levy—a seven per cent tax on corporation income. The revenue from this source was $67,000,000. That left the province $46,000,000 poorer over the year than it would have been under a tax rental pact.

During the year, however, the province failed to take advantage of the privilege accorded to provinces without tax rental agreements to impose a five per cent tax on personal income. Such a levy, which is still within the power of the province to impose, would return an estimated minimum revenue of around $20,000,000. That would leave Hon. Mr. Duplessis poorer only by some $25,000,000 net than if he entered into a tax rental agreement.

The contention of the Quebec Premier is that he should be allowed to make any arrangement which would place his province on a par with other provinces in respect to its treatment by the federal treasury, and that he shouldn't be blackmailed by financial penalty into signing a tax agreement repugnant to French-speaking Canada's ideas of provincial rights.

The federal government's argument is that the Quebec Premier should accept the same terms as agreed to by the other provinces, and that there cannot be any special deal where Quebec is concerned. The government here emphasizes that the door is always open to Premier Duplessis, just as it was to Premier Frost when he finally decided to abandon his resistance.

Obviously a case can be made for both sides to the dispute. And for that reason the likelihood of a really warm and strenuous controversy is foreseen. Already the political grapevine is carrying rumors of an intention by Premier Duplessis to test Quebec sentiment on the issue in a general election this autumn. If he doesn't do that a likely alternative will be the creation of sufficient vacancies in the legislature to hold a number of by-elections that would constitute a "little general election." It is clear from rumor that the Quebec Premier intends action.

Report From PARLIAMENT

By E. T. APPLEWHAITE, MP Skeena

The Minister of Fisheries is now working towards an increased vote in the supplementary estimates for the Fishermen's Floats at Cow Bay—a matter in which Mr. Sinclair takes a great personal interest. In past months I have tried to outline the purely technical difficulties we face in appropriating moneys for something we did not own. Now that the transfer to the federal authorities has been approved by Victoria, I have been pressing the Minister of Fisheries for action which would make these floats useable for the 1954 season. Mr. Sinclair is now pressing this upon his Cabinet colleagues.

For a good many years now the people of Port Clements—and fishermen from other parts of the district—have been hopelessly waiting for the re-building of the breakwater at Port Clements. That job is to be done this year, I am glad to say, very glad in fact as I've been trying to get this done for several years. This breakwater will be quite a sizeable job involving about 18,000 tons of quarried rock and will be approximately 580 feet long with a crest six feet wide and 16 feet above low water level.

The North Atlantic Treaty was signed on April 4, 1949 and on April 4 this year I attended a little ceremony in front of the Parliament Buildings at which the three services were represented and the flags of the 14 member nations were flown, over which the flag of the United Nations was broken out. It is I think advisable for all of us to pause and remember that in the two World Wars whole countries were overrun, millions of lives were lost and hundreds of billions of dollars were spent as part of the price of victory. Since the Second World War, by one means or another, succumbed to the Communist menace. It has become obvious that if peace is to be maintained it can be done only by the collective strength and the combined action of the free Western nations. So I feel sure all loyal Canadians will continue to support Canada's efforts to do our full share in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

There are quite a few former residents of Skeena down here—one runs into them occasionally. John Good, son of Prince Rupert's former city engineer, Fred Good, is here now. He is a lieutenant with the Royal Canadian Navy attached to National Defence Headquarters, and my wife and I have seen John and his wife several times. That always meant a good long talk about the old home town.

A few of us here have started the ball rolling with a view to organizing a trip to British Columbia about next September of a party of some 100 M.P.'s and Senators and their wives. A somewhat similar undertaking was planned in 1950 but had to be abandoned on account of the Railway strike. Our district has forged ahead since 1950. In that year I was unable to arouse much interest among the members to include Skeena in the itinerary. But with the worldwide advertising Kitimat has brought us, we plan this year to have a party go west direct to Vancouver, come up the coast by ship, stopping at Kamano and Kitimat and Prince Rupert (and possibly Ocean Falls). They would then return East by rail from Prince Rupert via Jasper.

I shall try to keep you further informed as these plans materialize. It looks to me like a wonderful opportunity for us to show British Columbia to a representative group of parliamentarians from the other provinces.

Plans For Eastertide Sale Completed by Women's Club

Plans for an Easter Dainties sale to be held Saturday were finalized at the monthly breakfast meeting Saturday morning of the Prince Rupert Credit Women's Breakfast Club.

Members will sponsor three booths in the downtown area, selling a variety of home cooking, candy and flowers, with proceeds earmarked for the club's bursary fund.

The session also discussed plans for a forthcoming essay contest. The contest, to be held May 10 to 15, will be open to Grade 12 students of Booth Memorial High School, and is sponsored by the Prince Rupert Retail Credit Grantors Association.

The Easter theme dominated table decor for the meeting and Mrs. Mary Turner and Mrs. Betty Saville were congratulated for their artistry.

Congratulations went from the meeting to Mrs. Jocelyn Bolton on her appointment as executive

Mrs. M. R. Evans Dies Aged 68

Mrs. Margaret Ralston Evans, a resident of Prince Rupert for the past five years, died in Prince Rupert General Hospital Sunday night.

Wife of Richard L. Evans, 1360 Sixth Avenue East, she was born in Montreal in May, 1886. She had resided at various points in British Columbia for the past 35 years, coming to Prince Rupert five years ago.

Besides her husband here, she is survived by a son, L. A. Evans at Terrace, and other children.

Funeral service will be held Wednesday afternoon from Grenville Court Chapel with the Rev. L. G. Sieber officiating.

Religious Song Series Underway In City Churches

About 100 people from various churches in Prince Rupert attended the second inter-church "Singspiration" held at the Regular Baptist Church last night.

A series of the religious singing events is being held following evening service in various churches every other Sunday evening.

At last night's session, hymn and chorus singing was enjoyed by all and a special musical number heard was a duet by Jake Bergen and Miss Ann Isaac.

Mr. John Rutledge was master of ceremonies.

Valuable Role Forecast For Ceylon by Elizabeth

By GOMER JONES
COLOMBO, Ceylon (Reuters)—Asiatic dignitaries wearing elegant Oriental costumes fanned themselves in oppressive heat today while Queen Elizabeth opened this island Dominion's Parliament.

Guns boomed a salute as the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh stepped from their car in blazing sunshine to officiate at the 30-minute opening ceremony.

Hours before their arrival a crowd of 20,000 had gathered around the Independence Memorial Hall, where Parliament was assembled.

CORONATION GOWN
The Queen wore her Coronation gown, which matched the brilliance of the scene. She also wore a diamond tiara, necklace, earrings and bracelets.

Igor Gouzenko On New Book

TORONTO.—Igor Gouzenko is starting work on a new book based on his experiences with Soviet military intelligence in Moscow during the war.

In one of his rare interviews, the former Russian embassy code clerk whose revelations cracked a Soviet spy ring in Canada eight years ago, talked Saturday night of plans for the book, his third.

He said it will deal with Soviet attempts during the war to extract information from an Italian by blackmail. Gouzenko said he learned of the incident while a clerk with the intelligence administration in 1942.

"They use blackmail on a large scale," he said. "I have no doubt they have used blackmail on allied prisoners in Korea."

Gouzenko, living in seclusion and under RCMP guard since his defection from the Russian embassy in Ottawa in 1945, published his autobiography, "This Was My Choice," in 1948. A second book, based on the last years of the revolutionary writer Maxim Gorky, will be published in June.

Moose Lodge Holds Smoker

Featured by a program of varied entertainment a well-attended stag smoker was held Friday by the Prince Rupert Moose Lodge.

The numerous guests present were welcomed by Stan Holgate, governor, who then introduced members of the executive. B. J. Bacon, who has the highest L.O.M. degree in the Lodge, also addressed the gathering.

With Bill Woods as master of ceremonies, entertainment was provided by "Dusty" Rhodes, Bobby Taylor and Ernie Lugin, who was in charge of the program. "Pop" Riel, at the piano, led the gathering in community singing.

Despite the heat, she showed no sign of strain as she read the speech from the throne.

Most of the Left-wing opposition members of Parliament, including the Communists, boycotted the ceremony, but rumors that the Reds would criticize in a point of order the government program set out in the speech from the throne did not materialize.

In a talk to the legislators after the formal throne speech the Queen acclaimed the Commonwealth as "a powerful instrument in safeguarding freedom and peace."

She recalled that six years ago Ceylon "took her place as an independent and fully responsible member of the Commonwealth of nations... I have no doubt that as a member of the Commonwealth you will make a valuable contribution, in a manner suited to the genius of your people, towards the pursuit of peace, liberty and progress."

Senate leader Sir Oliver Goonetilleke gave an address of thanks to the Queen on behalf of the Senate.

An example is this short evening dress in mist-grey organza designed by Victor Stiebel, designer to Princess Margaret and the Duchess of Kent. With skin-fitted bodice, draped to accentuate the bust, and a full skirt embroidered with medallions of pleated taffeta set with rhinestones, it has the smooth hipline and tiny waist suited to a petite figure like that of Princess Margaret. The strapless top, however, would not be favored by the Royal Family for public wear.

Sons of Norway Wind Up Series Of Whist Drives

The Sons of Norway lodge completed its 1953-54 winter whist and dance series Friday night, with 11 tables in play at the whist session.

Winners of the season's prizes will be announced in the near future. Meanwhile, further whist and dance parties may be staged.

Winners at Friday night's session included: Ladies' first Mrs. E. Rothwell, second Mrs. M. Pearson; men's first A. E. Chilton, winning on a cut with G. Selvig who received second prize. The door prize went to J. Soukup.

The committee in charge included Mrs. E. Sornes, Mrs. J. Pedersen, Mr. and Mrs. J. Fredheim, Mr. and Mrs. P. Petersen and G. Selvig.

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Under Certain Conditions a Shift is Advisable

A question that often plagues a defender is, "shall I continue leading the same suit or shall I shift to some other suit?"

From the days of whist most of the textbooks have stressed returning partner's lead at your first opportunity. Little advice has been given, however, on when it is better to shift. Practically nothing has been written about when the opening leader himself should attack a new suit when he gets the lead.

Defending against no trump, you should generally return your partner's suit when it is obvious that he has led from a suit of four or more cards. But there are many exceptions. Against suit contracts, the desirability of a shift occurs even more frequently.

THINK BEFORE YOU MOVE

Those who like to learn rules which "always" apply will find little comfort in digging into this subject. The only constant rule is that you should consistently apply hard thinking.

In today's deal Mr. Abel led the six of spades and Mr. Dale won in his own hand with the ace. He finessed the queen of diamonds and Mr. Muzzy won with the king.

DALE FINDS CHANCE

Now, impressed by his heart holding, Mr. Muzzy returned the king of that suit. This was all Mr. Dale needed to bring in an otherwise hopeless contract. He won with the ace of hearts and cleared the diamond suit by giving Mr. Muzzy another trick with the jack. However, he was then able to win nine tricks as

South dealer Neither side vulnerable
North (Mr. Champion)	South (Mr. Dale)
S-K 9	S-A 4
H-7 6 4	H-A J 2
D-A Q 10 8 6	D-7 4 3 2
C-10 7 2	C-A K 6 5
West (Mr. Abel)	East (Mr. Muzzy)
S-Q 10 7 6 3 2	S-J 8 5
H-8 3	H-K Q 10 9 5
D-9	D-K J 5
C-Q J 9 4	C-8 3
The bidding:
South 1 NT	West Pass
North 3 NT	East All Pass

his jack of hearts stopped the run of that suit and, of course, the king of spades was still in dummy.

Mr. Muzzy did not have the required ingredients for a switch when he was in with the king of diamonds. On a spade return the contract would have been defeated easily. The requirements for a shift in this situation are as follows: A suit of your own which you are sure you can establish, a certain entry to your hand and a reasonable belief that continuance of your partner's suit is quite hopeless.

11 Boys Signed Up For Race As Deadline Four Days Away

With the entry deadline just four days away, the Prince Rupert Soap Box race has attracted 11 entries to date, and all 11 boys are hard at work on construction of their racing cars.

John Dyck of the Trades and Labor Council, sponsoring the race, today reminded local boys that entries for the race close Thursday, April 15, to allow sufficient time for completion of cars before the May 24 race.

Official wheel sets and rule books have been issued to all entrants, and the boys were reminded that they must make a complete list of materials used in car construction, and the price of each material, to be handed in to the committee at race time.

The race committee also is seeking more sponsors for individual racers. To date, only six sponsors have been found to aid the boys with their project. Any groups interested in sponsoring racers are asked to phone Red 2145 or leave their names at The Daily News office.

The Prince Rupert race winner will go to Mission City to compete in B.C. finals. The Mission winner will go to Akron, Ohio, for the International Derby, competing for $15,000 in scholarships and prizes.

Entries to date in the local race include:

Class A
Billy Pederson, 221 Seventh Avenue West, 13, sponsored by International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers; Ray McIntyre, 544 Eighth Avenue East, 14; Dennis Griffiths, 1515 Eighth Avenue East, 13.

Market; Danny Phillips, 12, 119 Fifth Avenue West; Kenny Kristmanson, 12, 1439 Sixth Avenue East, Steam Engineers Local 510; Charles Armstrong, 11, 1511 Graham Avenue; Chris Downing, 11, 1529 Atlin Avenue; Reid Lyle Nelson, 11, 1140 Hays Cove Avenue, sponsored by S. K. Johnston.

V's Whip Leafs To Gain "Life"

By The Canadian Press

Tonight will be another "do or die" night for the Penticton V's.

The defending champion V's take on Nelson Maple Leafs at Penticton in the sixth game of their best-of-seven final series for the B.C. senior amateur hockey title.

The Okanagan League champions gained a new life Saturday night by whipping the Leafs 4-1 at Trail and reducing the Leafs' lead to three games to two.

Playing-coach Grant Warwick fired his team to victory with a brace of goals. Doug Kilburn and Dick Warwick scored the others for V's.

Veteran Willy Schmidt was the lone Nelson marksman. Penticton grabbed a 2-1 first period lead and pumped home two more goals in the third after a scoreless middle session.

V's swarmed over the Leafs in the second period and peppered an amazing 23 shots on the Nelson goal but failed to score.

Winner of the series will meet Winnipeg Maroons in the Western Cup finals. Maroons blasted Moose Jaw Millers 9-1 Saturday night to take their best-of-seven series 4-2 with one game tied.

The western finals will be played in the home of the western winner.

Edmonton Back in Content

Edmonton Flyers have bounced back into contention in their battle with Calgary Stampeders for a berth in the Western Hockey League finals, and nobody is happier than Vancouver Canucks.

Canucks, already assured of a slot in the finals, are long-range observers with a vital interest in the Stamps' and Flyers' best-of-seven semi-final.

They'd like to see the set-to go the limit—giving them a longer rest and tiring the opposition. Goalie Glen Hall was the bright light Saturday night as the defending champion Flyers turned back the Calgary 5-2 in the third game.

Stampeders won the opening two games in their own arena. The fourth game will go tonight in Edmonton.

Calgary had a clear edge in territorial play, but were stopped cold by Hall. Stampeders outshot the winners 34-23.

Playing-coach Bud Poile and Jimmy Anderson each scored twice for Flyers and Don Poile notched the other. Archie Scott and Ray Witluk tallied for Calgary. After being held to a 1-1 split in the first period, Flyers forged ahead in the second with three unanswered goals. The teams shared two goals in the final 20 minutes. Only four penalties were handed out in the whole game. The teams are now in the WHL playoffs. They'll play a bitter battle-of-will game last season, with Poile emerging as winner.

Harrison Meets Walls Tonight

TORONTO (C)—Tommy Harrison of Los Angeles, the 2-1 underdog who took a 10-round decision from Earl Walls of Toronto here Jan. 27, meets the Canadian heavyweight champion in a 10-round re-match tonight.

The bout is equally important to both. They are trying to climb the ladder of the ring ratings leading to a shot at Rocky Marciano's heavyweight crown. Harrison's victory in the first fight here hoisted him from eighth to sixth and shunted Walls from fifth to seventh.

SURBITON, England (C)—Mrs. Edith Bidmead, 49, was elected mayor of this Surrey town to succeed her husband. She quipped: "My husband could of course become mayor—but I think he will decline the offer."

Fleet Quits Grand Bank

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (P) — Newfoundland's salt cod fishermen have quit the Grand Bank. For the first time in 80 years not one Newfoundland ship is on the bank.

Six small vessels now plying up and down the long reaches of the famed fishing grounds are all under Nova Scotia registry.

The Newfoundland fleet was not expected to die this year. One skipper was fitting out his boat but decided Friday to put his vessel on coastal trade, thus ending, at least temporarily, Newfoundland's part in the Grand Bank salt fish industry.

Instead, modern druggers are catching and storing cod, which is sold faster as fresh fillets.

Stevens Asks For Resignation Of LCB Head

VANCOUVER (P) — Hon. H. H. Stevens, chairman of the 1952 liquor survey in B.C., Friday called for removal of provincial liquor control board chairman Col. Don McGugan and his replacement by a three-man commission.

"I am disappointed that the government has seen fit to continue the old administration," Mr. Stevens said in an interview.

"I have no faith in the present administration either as a one-man commission or as an individual."

His remarks followed strong criticism here by cabaret and restaurant operators of Col. McGugan's proposals for implementing the new liquor act.

Fishway Planned At Bella Coola

VANCOUVER (P) — The federal fisheries department has disclosed plans to build a $5,500 fishway on the Kajusdis River which empties into Gunboat Passage, four miles east of Bella Coola.

The department said the river is a notable producer of coho salmon but even better production will be realized with the fishway to assist salmon over 14-foot high falls to the spawning streams.

Work starts in June.

Booth Edges Manson's For City Championship

In a hot and heavy game which saw tempers flaring and a referee walk off the floor, Booth Memorial High School Rainmakers eked out a 56-53 two-game total points victory over Manson's Omegas Saturday night to win the unofficial city basketball championship and a wind up cage play for the 1953-54 season.

In taking the two-game series Rainmakers won a collection of prizes donated by Prince Rupert Merchants.

The enjoyable and well-played Oldtimers preliminary saw the Northern Europeans defeat the Southern Europeans 47-44 in the second game of a two-game total point series which was tied 19-19 Friday night.

Actually the high school lost Saturday night's game 53-41 but they carried a 15-point margin into the second fixture of the total points series which the determined Manson's crew finally erased two minutes before the game ended. With 120 seconds left to go the score was tied 52-52 and fouls and free shots taken under pressure decided the game.

Discounting the 15-point lead, the score sheet showed Bill McChesney's Omegas winning the first quarter 13-12, the second 17-12, being edged 11-10 in the third frame and sweeping the final quarter 13-3.

Beefs about Fred Calderoni's calls started early in first quarter and with the high school playing it rough and ready from the outset Manson's scored all their first quarter points on free throws as the Rainmakers piled on fouls. Ray Spring and Rod Tait drew technicals for their respective teams and the high school bench drew another technical.

A third of the way through the final quarter two players collided with a penalty due one or the other, but the foul went unnoticed by Calderoni who was tired from his day's work and playing in the Oldtimers game earlier.

The storm of protest which followed saw Calderoni toss his whistle to basketball Commissioner "Slim" Davidson and walk off the floor. Umpire Bill Sunberg carried on alone for two minutes until Verne Ciccone came on to take up the refereeing chores.

With the game tied up two minutes before the end Dick Nickerson put the Rainmakers in the lead again with a field goal. Art Olsen fouled by Fred Kristmanson missed two free throws which would have tied up the game. Walsh fouled Nickerson to cost Manson's another point but Webster got one point back when fouled by Nickerson. McKay muffed two free shots out single when Ray Spring collected his fifth foul. Also fouling out were Danny Bill and Don Hartwig for the Omegas and Ron Ciccone and Kristmanson for the high school.

Spring and Olsen topped the jewelry with 11 points each, and Danny Bill added 10. Mickey Webster, sorely missed Friday night, contributed 9. For the high school Nickerson was high man with 10 points.

Both teams scored 15 field goals each, with Manson's scoring 23 free shots in 39 chances and Rainmakers sinking only 11 out of 33. The Omegas were penalized 24 times and Rainmakers 26.

Jack Evans' Rainmakers each collect a shirt from Art Murray's Men's Wear, a free dinner from the Central Cafe, a haircut from Jerry's Barbershop and a group picture from Van Meer Studios.

Despite the addition of a former Prince Rupert "great" Sonnie Bevon (of Crete) the Southern Europeans were headed in every one but one quarter. The North took the first quarter 6-5, lost the second 8-2, won the third and last quarters 10-4 and 10-8.

Fred Calderoni was top marksman for the South with 9 points while Herb Morgan and Angus McPhee with 8 points each led the North. The Southerners blamed the omission of their second quarter "garlic sausage feed" for the loss. The Northerners credited their "superior condition" with ensuring them the victory.

Southern Europe—Mazzoni 4, Calderoni 9, V. Ciccone 2, Pavlikis, Gurdich 2, Beynon 6, Total 25 plus 10, 44.

Northern Europe—Armstrong 2, Pierce 1, Morgan 8, McPhee 8, M. Holkestad 3, H. Holkestad 6, Petterson, Total 28 plus 19, 47.

Manson's—Spring 11, Bill 10, Walsh 8, Olsen 11, McFarlane 2, Hartwig 7, Dumas, Webster 9, Total 53.

Rainmakers—Kristmanson 6, R. Ciccone 8, Tait, Sankey 2, Nickerson 10, Hein 1, R. McKay 6, W. Morrison, G. Morrison 8, Total 41 plus 15, 56.

Referees: Calderoni, Sunberg, V. Ciccone; Bruce Forward.

Yanks Acquire Enos Slaughter

NEW YORK (AP)—Enos Country Slaughter, veteran St. Louis Cardinal outfielder, was traded to the world champion New York Yankees Sunday in the second starting player deal between the two clubs during spring training.

To get Slaughter, the Yankees announced they had given up Mel Wright, a 13-2 relief pitcher from Kansas City, and three more men to be sent to Card farm clubs later.

Slaughter, a "hustle" guy whose name has been synonymous with the St. Louis Cards for 16 years, will be 38 on April 27.

MEETING FOR PONY LEAGUE RESCHEDULED FOR THURSDAY

The big workout planned for prospective Pony League baseball players was washed out over the weekend and the meeting scheduled for tonight by the Pony League association has been postponed due to lack of meeting space.

Instead the meeting will be held Thursday night at 8 p.m. at the Civic Centre. League secretary-treasurer Harley Lewis expressed the hope today that there will be a big turnout of adults wishing to help the boys who are too old to play in Little League.

Mosdell, McNeil Heroes As Habs Keep Hopes Alive

DETROIT (AP)—The acclaim that wild-eyed Montreal fans love to shower on their hockey idols belongs without doubt today to Ken Mosdell and Gerry McNeil.

It was Big Moe, in his 11th big-time hockey campaign, who whipped in the only goal Sunday night to defeat Detroit Red Wings in sudden-death overtime and keep Montreal Canadiens' now exuberant hopes alive in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup final.

The Wings still hold a 3-2 edge on games, with the sixth game in Montreal tomorrow. Canadiens lost 2-0 at Montreal Saturday on goals by Johnny Wilson and Ken Mosdell and it was all or nothing Sunday night.

And it was McNeil, recalled to his old-time job from the role of practice goalie, who stood off everything the precision-like Red Wings could throw at him in 65 minutes and 45 seconds.

The goal by Mosdell stunned the spectators. He started off slowly from his own blue line, where a Detroit attack had been broken up, gathered speed and swung to his left. Bob Goldham on the Detroit defence, met him but Mosdell spun around without losing the puck and let fly with a backhand from about 30 feet out.

The puck sailed, a few inches high, across the goal crease and as Sawchuk lunged desperately for it, it barely clipped the goal post and went on into the corner of the net. The clock showed 5:45 of overtime.

The performance of McNeil, the big part of a desperate gamble coach Dick Irvin took.

McNeil hadn't played in a regular game since Feb. 11 when he suffered an ankle injury in Chicago. He recovered slowly and then had a couple of minor accidents in practice. By that time Jacques Plante had taken over the job regularly and McNeil was sidelined.

But in the last two games against the Wings, Plante didn't look particularly good on several shots. Irvin had already made shifts in his lines in an effort to get scoring power, but after splitting even with the Red Wings in the first two games in Detroit, Canadiens dropped two at home.

Then came the decision for a real shakeup. McNeil was in; Plante was out. Gaye Stewart, with Buffalo all season and a standby for Canadiens during the playoffs, was called to take over a wing position.

Detroit's hopes were deflated in the second period when a goal by Glen Skov was disallowed by referee Bill Chadwick. The puck went into the net from a scramble just outside the crease but Chadwick quickly signalled no goal because the puck had been kicked in by Skov.

The best guess for Tuesday's game is that McNeil will be in the Montreal nets. Those not dressed for Sunday night's game were Calum Mackay, Paul Meger, Johnny McCormack and defenceman Jim Macpherson.

Little Loop Players Auction Gives Every Boy Opportunity

Now the coaches and managers have been selected for the four prospective Prince Rupert Little League teams, every registered boy will have the opportunity to play ball this summer, player agent Art Williamson said today.

The first move will follow a meeting of coaches and managers this Thursday night. First the 8-10-year-olds will be called out to show what they can do under the supervision of all coaches and managers. They will be given a set value based on their ability and potential ability. The same procedure will apply to the 11 and 12-year-old candidates.

Each group will be tested several times before a definite value

Two New Records Set in Mixed League

Two new records were set in "A" Division of the Mixed Five-Pin Bowling League last week as Shenton's moved further into the lead.

In "B" Section, The Daily News sextet also advanced into a big lead by downing second-place Harold's 3-1.

Lois Keays set a new high three for women when she rolled 358, including a 316-game, and Shenton's set a new three-game score of 4087. They also had the best game of the night, rolling 1495. George Shenton topped men with 320 and 735.

In "B" Division, Martin Erikson rolled high game of 290 and Eric Sanderson had best three of 680. Pat Hewitt, with 259, and Jean Sharpe, with 635, were best among the women.
