Truman Tells How Stalin Backed Up

WASHINGTON, D.C. (Canadian Press)—President Truman said today that he had sent an ultimatum to Premier Stalin and forced Russia to withdraw her troops from Iran in 1946. He said he was ready to back up the ultimatum with American troops and ships.

None Better Than Canada

James Sinclair Replies to Budget Critics

OTTAWA (CP)—James Sinclair, parliamentary assistant to the minister of finance, Hon. Douglas Abbott, on Wednesday asked critics of the federal government's budget to name any country with a sounder economic position.

Speaking at the debate on the budget moved through the second day, Mr. Sinclair, Liberal member for Coast-Capilano, concluded his speech with this question: "Where in the world today is there any country whatsoever with a sounder economic position, a better fiscal policy, a better development or higher level of employment than this country of Canada under the present Liberal administration?"

Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto) followed with the charge that the 1952-53 budget was a budget with a false face. It should have been presented on Halloween. When the mask of the budget was ripped away people found they would be subjected to heavier taxation than in 1951.

Close Off With Debate

ON—An all-night session of the House of Commons ended at 6:12 p.m. when the Prime Minister, Mr. Mackenzie King, pushed the "guillotine" motion, a time limit on the party's filibuster against changes in Britain's foreign services.

Prince Potterton Retires

On just plain congenial terms, or in more severe cases of law-breakers, all speak highly of Sgt. Potterton—a police officer who wanted to help, to prevent trouble rather than to prosecute trouble-makers.

PETITION FOR LIQUOR LAWS' CHANGE—The bundles shown here contain petitions signed by 796,626 persons in the province of Quebec asking for stricter enforcement of liquor laws. The petitions were placed in a corridor of the Legislature building near Solicitor-General Rivard's office by Boy Scouts. When a delegation from the National Committee of Roman Catholic Action met Premier Duplessis, the bundles were placed near his office. (CP PHOTO)

No one is more interested in the flying saucer reports from Ontario than Hubert Ward of Graham Avenue, Westview, pioneer marine insurance adjuster here, who saw such an object speeding over Prince Rupert harbor about a year ago.

Two Percent Have Diabetes

TORONTO—An Ontario-wide survey to discover hidden cases of diabetes has shown that two of every five Canadians living in Ontario are afflicted with the disease but do not know it. This is announced by the National Sanitarium Association.

Premier Johnson Offers Manifesto

VANCOUVER (CP)—Premier Byron Johnson on Wednesday proposed a Liberal platform aimed at encouraging the flow of capital investment into British Columbia. He told nearly 800 delegates attending the annual convention of the British Columbia Liberal Association "this is the most important clause in the platform."

The manifesto is being debated today. It deals with such issues as labor legislation and hospital insurance but makes no mention of the separate school issue.

Another resolution urges a Liberal government to give careful consideration to the study of reports submitted on the operation of the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act, Hospital Insurance Act and Workmen's Compensation Act with a view of adopting at the next legislative session such measures as will best benefit the people in relation to all other public services.

The Premier proposed relief from co-insurance for low income groups considered as "marginal cases" if they were not eligible for social security. The Prince George-Quessnel area would be served with power from the B.C. Power Commission at the earliest possible date, under another section of the manifesto.

Canada Needs Rent Housing

Public Scheme Advocated In View of High Building Costs

WINNIPEG—Central Mortgage and Housing President D. B. Mansur told the National House Builders' Association, at its convention here, that there is a definite need for public rental housing in Canada.

During the past few years the cost of house building has been rising much faster than incomes, and, if that trend continues, a sharp downward trend in effective demand can be expected. House sale prices are up about 70 per cent since 1946 while the per capita disposable income has risen less than 45 per cent, said Mr. Mansur.

Mr. Mansur told of one formula whereby house buyers might be able to acquire new homes for up to $1000 less than current down payment. The big "if" seems to be whether provincial and municipal authorities can co-operate up to the hilt with Ottawa in a plan now established under the National Housing Act for buying and servicing land, then re-selling to builders at the original land purchase price. Cost of the services for water and sewers is financed at four per cent to the municipality in the first place, then levied in turn on the house buyer over a long period. Previously the builder had to spend the $500 or $1000 to install services and charge that sum as an immediate capital cost, with correspondingly larger down payment.

Whalen Not Running For B.C. House

Mayor Announces He'll Not Be in Field After All

Mayor Harold Whalen will not enter the forthcoming provincial election as a candidate by the Legislature. He had announced earlier he was "considering strongly" running as an independent.

"Considering the candidates who have been nominated I have decided not to run," he told the Daily News today.

"I would like to thank my many friends and well-wishers for their kind offers of help, financial and otherwise, but I do not think my running as a candidate would be in the best interests of our city or the district."

Candidates so far nominated are J. D. McRae, ex-MLA, Liberal; George Hills, CCF, and T. M. Christie, Progressive Conservative.

To Question Dr. Endicott

OTTAWA—Dr. J. G. Endicott will be questioned on his return to Canada as to statements he is purported to have been making in Communist China as to the United Nations waging germ warfare in the Korean war with suggestions that Canada has been co-operating.

If Dr. Endicott admits the statements that have been attributed to him, there might be recourse to legal action, said Hon. L. B. Pearson, minister of external affairs, who said that freedom of speech implied not only rights but responsibilities.

To Decline Red Apple

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Officials predicted today that Britain, France and Western Germany will stand firm with the United States in rejecting Russia's "golden-apple" move to wreck the unification of Western Europe.

The four governments now are working on a reply to the latest Soviet proposal for making peace with Germany in a manner which State Secretary Dean Acheson said would prevent the integration of the German country into "the free community of Europe."

The reply is expected to make clear their determination to proceed on their present course of unification until shown what Acheson called "tangible evidence" of a change in the Soviet's basic policies toward the rest of the world.

Acheson stated the U.S. position on the Russian proposals for Germany and on recent Kremlin offers to engage in expanded trade with western countries in a speech Saturday to the American Society of Newspaper Editors. He described recent Soviet "peace" moves as "golden-apple" tactics.

He reminded his audience of a story in Greek mythology in which the goddess of discord threw a golden apple into the midst of a party to stir up trouble among the guests and break up the gathering.

Referring to the Russian proposals on Germany and trade and to various other Kremlin manoeuvres, Acheson said that "several apples have been tossed over the iron curtain this spring." But he said, they have not resulted in discord.

The reason, he said, was that people all over the world have come to recognize the true nature of Soviet intentions. He said they are no longer being taken in by empty gestures in the direction of east-west accord.

On the German issue Acheson said three things that are outstanding:

1. The Soviet Union has never been willing to relax its control over Eastern Germany.
2. The Soviet government is "bending every effort to infiltrate into Western Germany."
3. The Soviets have insisted that "every major exercise of power by an all-German government should be subject to a Soviet veto."

Writer Wants Game Reform

Hume Ritchie, writing in a department called The Game Bag of the Grand Forks Gazette, pays his respects to subjects such as the conservation of natural resources, game and kindred matters associated with such a vast and beautiful region as British Columbia. He has some sharp comment concerning the B.C. Game Department, the B.C. Fish and Game Council, a proposed grant and the appointment of a secretary-manager. The Game Commission offers a $5,000 grant towards secretarial salary and expenses, but reserves the right to pass judgment on the secretary. If he does not fill the Game Commission's requirements, there is the right to dismiss him.

Writes Mr. Ritchie:

"My respected friend from Prince Rupert, Jarvis H. McLeod, who is a director for the Mainland North Coast Zone, has made his feelings clear in a letter which says, in part: 'I represent the clubs in this zone and I do not intend to be a cat-spaw or wear anyone's collar.'

"I'm going to have our marriage annulled."

Tough Parliamentary Session Coming Up

Indications Are Holiday Spirit Will Not Last Long as British House Resumes

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON (CP)—Parliament is back in session after the Easter recess and indications are the holiday spirit won't last long.

From all accounts, the Conservative government and the Labor opposition spent the Easter interlude brushing up on the intricacies of parliamentary procedure and otherwise preparing for what some observers think may be the toughest series of sittings since the war.

The two parties, keenly feeling the rivalry that results when the contestants are so evenly matched, adjourned two weeks ago in an aggressive mood and nothing has occurred to fore-shadow any easing in the pressure.

LABOR SWING

Labor has naturally been hostile ever since the Conservatives came back to power in last October's general election. Recently its appetite for battle has been whetted by the results of local elections, which pointed to a sharp swing away from the government.

The Socialists now claim the Conservatives have no mandate for contentious legislation. If an election were held tomorrow, they argue, Labor would be swept back into office with a clear-cut majority.

This feeling is so strong that the left-wing New Statesman and Nation already is slightly panicky about a possible premature return to power.

"Labor is in grave danger," it says. "It is in danger of finding itself in office, but there by an angry electorate before it has ironed out its own divisions or decided on a program for another five years of office."

One of the most intriguing things about the present state of parliamentary passions is that most of the excitement seems to be generated by rank-and-file members. For Labor, the ginger group appears to be headed by Geoffrey Bing, member for Hornchurch, leading a section known as the "Bing Wing" which has put every kind of obstacle in the way of government legislation.

So far, Winston Churchill's administration has succeeded in passing only one piece of legislation promised in last November's speech from the throne—the bill to revive the wartime Home Guard.

On the Conservative side, similarly, the back-benchers appear to be the more active. Talk of "revolts" by Conservative rank-and-file committees has been openly heard, although there is no suggestion that loyalty has been shaken.

In fact, the solidarity of the ruling party is clearly reflected in parliamentary voting figures. In the present parliament, the Conservatives have won the 82 divisions in which the opposition challenged them by an average majority of 40 votes—considerably higher than the actual Tory majority in parliament of 16.

The feeling of frustrated Tories is perhaps best described by observers who refer humorously to the malcontents as "P.F.G.'s," meaning not exactly disgruntled but far from "grunted."

Pat and Mike were obliged to halt their heavily loaded cart to make way for a funeral. Gazing at the procession, Pat suddenly remarked:

"Mike, I wish I knew where I was going to die. I'd give five hundred dollars to know the place where I'm going to die."

"Well, Pat, what good would it do if you knew?"

"Lots," said Pat. "Sure, I'd never go near the place."

"Tell me," gushed the inquisitive old lady to the artist, "don't you ever do anything in the nude?"

"Well, madam," replied the famous but bored man, "I do occasionally take a bath."

Refugee Problem Is a Menace

MONTREAL (CP)—The European refugee problem that should have been solved with the end of the second war instead has become greater than it was in the first days of Germany's defeat, says Rev. Elfan Rees.

Advisor on refugees as an official of the World Council of Churches, Mr. Rees said in an interview here that whereas Hitler managed to create about 9,000,000 displaced persons, peace and post-war agreements had resulted in displacing about 11,000,000 in Germany alone. Altogether Europe now has more dispossessed persons than the entire population of Canada.

"Just imagine the whole population of Canada forced to leave home and country, and crowded into some strange land without passports and without right to work or travel," he said. "Unless we realize the political, social and financial problems of this new situation we will find that we have nurtured a new proletariat—a new breeding ground for hatred and intolerance."

Dr. Rees said that the International Refugee Organization and the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Association had attacked the war refugee problem fairly successfully. The trouble came however when the Potsdam Agreement made it possible for huge masses of population to be uprooted from East Germany, Pomerania and the Danube basin.

These people, refusing to stay in Soviet-dominated areas, crowded into West Germany where war had already created a severe housing shortage.

The problem of refugees arises wherever there is trouble. Besides the potentially dangerous situation in Germany, refugee conditions are being built in the "muddled misery of the Middle East," in Korea, where 3,000,000 homeless have already registered with the United Nations, in the Pakistan-India tension, and from behind the Iron Curtain.

These people, said Dr. Rees, represent a cross-section of the communities from which they come—some are cultured and educated, some are quaint and shady characters. Altogether, they add up to represent a scale of exile unprecedented in history.

Whatever the western world does about this important problem it must be constructive, said Dr. Rees. Otherwise, the homeless, dispossessed, might develop into a canker that would seriously menace the western way of life.

nearly five years of which was as head of the city detachment, from 1946.

He is also well known throughout central B.C. and in the north. He was stationed for more than 10 years at Stewart, where his policing service is recognized from mining camp to mining camp.

THOROUGH "COP"

There is many a humorous as well as tragic story in the life of this frontier cop, who could always be counted on to do his job thoroughly.

He could not always be friendly in the face of those fleeing the law. Some of these stories may be told later, he has promised.

Meanwhile, there's still work to do and the next job is a patrol on Queen Charlotte Islands.

But it won't be long now before Lance Potterton will hang up his spurs and, with his movie and still camera, follow more closely a hobby he has learned to love.

"And where could be a better place to retire than on a sunny little farm in the Okanagan," he asks.

Public Bid To Opening of Dam

General Public Invited To "Kenney Dam" Naming Ceremony

An invitation to the general public of Prince Rupert and the neighboring communities to attend the "Kenney Dam" ceremony, which will take place at the damsite on the canyon of the Nechako River on May 10, with Hon. E. T. Kenney as guest of honor and McNeely DuBose, Vice-President of Alcan, as the company's principal participant.

Those attending will make their own transport arrangements but Alcan will be pleased to provide sandwiches and coffee at the damsite camp for those who desire this. Cars will assemble in Vanderhoof on the day of the ceremony, whence a "guide" car will pilot them down Alcan's sixty-five-mile access road to the damsite. By the day of the ceremony this road is expected to be in excellent condition.

Church Head Coming Here

First Presbyterian Church here will have a visit on the coming Sunday from Rev. J. A. Munro, B.A., M.C., General Secretary of the Home Mission Board of Toronto, who will preach at both morning and evening services.

Mr. Munro originally intended to be in Prince Rupert in February which would have coincided with the forty-second anniversary of the calling of the late Rev. Dr. F. W. Kerr, the first inducted Presbyterian Minister in Prince Rupert, and also the twenty-seventh anniversary of the opening of the present church but pressure of work and the general inclemency of the weather at that time made it necessary to postpone his trip.

First Presbyterian service in Prince Rupert was held on the first Sunday in July, 1907, in the mess hall of the contractor building the wharf and was conducted by Rev. W. J. Kidd, B.A., B.D., of the Home Mission Board. Ever since so that the story of the Presbyterian Church in Prince Rupert has largely kept in line with the story of Prince Rupert. The church has seen its ups and downs as the fortunes of the community ebbed and flowed.

The late Rev. Dr. H. R. Grant, a former highly esteemed minister, in a letter to a successor wrote: "When I read over my call I found it contained names of every creed, nation and tongue. It must have been the most cosmopolitan call ever extended to a minister."

Cruikshanks Have Caller— Goose There

The friendly goose, which has been frequenting the Court House grounds of recent days, extended his calling list this afternoon.

William Cruikshanks, of Leeds Apartments, was inspecting the progress of his garden during the noon hour when up from under a log appeared the friendly bird.

It was by no means perturbed, Mr. Cruikshank told the Daily News, and stayed right on to "pass the time of day."

He was still there when the local railway official returned to his office duties.

Expert Declares Flying Saucers Are Real Puzzle
TORONTO (CP)—Most reports of "flying saucers" can be explained as natural phenomena—but there still remains "a concrete group of reports that are unexplained."
This is the cautious assessment by Dr. Peter Millman, chief of the Dominion Observatory's astro-physics division at Ottawa.
"It is difficult to dismiss casually the weight of evidence that now has accumulated," he wrote in an article for the Toronto Telegram. "It is also a mistake to ridicule anyone making a sincere report."
He felt that 99 per cent of those who have reported seeing flying saucers were "perfectly honest" although they might have misinterpreted what they saw, "or wax a little over-enthusiastic in describing an event."
Dr. Millman said he had no "inside information" on flying saucers but for 20 years he has studied reports of objects seen in the sky during observations of meteors.
ACCOUNTS VERY SIMILAR
The saucers had usually been described as disc-shaped or cigar-shaped. A few observers claimed to have seen rows of lights or portholes along the sides. Nearly all reports said the objects moved rapidly and were highly manoeuvrable.

Many normal phenomena in the sky had given rise to flying saucer reports, he said. These included aircraft, balloons, meteors, planets, northern lights, reflections and mirages.
All of these can "under special circumstances appear in such an unusual way that the observer is sure he has seen a unique and inexplicable event."
After allowing for human error and eliminating sightings explainable at natural phenomena, however, "there still remains a concrete group of reports that are unexplained."
"One, two or three of these might be disregarded but there now seems to be too many peculiar cases to eliminate in this way."
"Personally I haven't come to any definite conclusions about these objects. . . I am awaiting further developments with interest. There seems to be a good deal that has not yet been satisfactorily explained."

Britain to Start Jet Run May 2

By FRASER WIGHTON
LONDON (Reuters) — The speed of air travel will be stepped up by hundreds of miles an hour next month when Britain starts the world's first regular passenger service by jet airliner.
Record-breaking Comets of the British Overseas Airways Corporation will begin flights May 2 from London to Johannesburg, South Africa, which will cut many hours off the present travel time by conventional aircraft.
The 36-passenger DeHavilland Comets, which cruise at just under 500 miles an hour at a height of between 35,000 and 40,000 feet will take 23 hours and 40 minutes, including five stops on the way, to do the trip between the two cities, 6724 miles apart.
This compared with about 32 hours by conventional airliners. Actual flying time of the Comets will be 18 hours, 40 minutes, compared with about 27 hours at present.
The Comet service will operate on the South Africa "Springbok" route—down the east coast of Africa through Khartoum, in the Sudan.
During May there will be one Comet flight a week in each direction, leaving London on Fridays and Johannesburg Mondays. This will be increased to three a week in June, subject to deliveries of Comets to the airline.
Built by the DeHavilland Aircraft Company, the planes are powered by four "Ghost" jet engines similar to those used in many fast fighter aircraft.
COMMONWEALTH NETWORK
The London-South Africa route will be the first leg in a Comet Commonwealth network. It is planned to introduce Comets on the London-Singapore service, via Pakistan and India, later this year.
A more powerfully-engined version fitted with Rolls-Royce Avon jets will subsequently be used to extend the service from London to Australia and New Zealand. The type of Comet should be capable of covering the 11,000 miles between London and Australia in about two days.
Somewhat faster than the Ghost-engined version, it can do a non-stop flight of 2250 miles with full load. In about two years' time, it is likely to be operating on the North Atlantic and other routes.

Although a British airline will be the first in the world to operate a passenger jetliner service, other airways operations throughout the world will soon be using Comets. They include Canadian Pacific Airways, Commonwealth Pacific Airlines, Air France, and Union Maritime de Transport de France.
BOAC is to have the first 20 DeHavilland Comets, nine powered with "Ghosts" and 11 with the Rolls-Royce Avon jets.

Worry Speeds Cancer Growth
NEW YORK—Worry speeds the growth of cancer, according to medical opinion in New York. An individual who may suspect the presence of the disease but who is naturally of a happy-go-lucky disposition has a greater likelihood of survival than the person who never has cancer out of his thoughts, who broods and who fears.

School Band Shows Marvelous Record But Future Threatened

By LARRY STANWOOD

A marvelous success story of co-operation and accomplishment is threatened with capitulation unless Prince Rupert citizens take sudden notice and lend a helping hand.

At a year ago, the first band was organized at Memorial High School nucleus of a dozen students. Their accomplishment was a "pre-festival" May 2, a "pre-festival" at the school auditorium featuring two 30-member bands developed from that nucleus. And there are 60 more for next year's band!

Threat lies in lack of funds. The first instruments were purchased by band and teacher Fred Huber. Contributions by the school, the student council, and other organizations and individuals for a few instruments. The band threatened to disband the supply of instruments, the local Navy Reserve came to the rescue, and beginning of this school

Education Minister Has Praised Band's Progress

A public appearance of the band at last year's graduation ceremony, after only two weeks of instruction. The performance drew much favorable comment, even from Education Minister W. T. Straith. The Minister praised the band again at the official opening of Booth Memorial annex last November.

Mr. Huber has made a number of public appearances, and last December, perhaps, the longest concert on the program of the Capitol Theatre. Entries have been made in the Music and Drama contest, but a "for parents only" will be presented next Friday, and every parent is invited to attend.

Huber Writes Encouraging Letters, Sends Donations

Mr. Huber's heart melts to know that we have wonderful young people in Prince Rupert. It strengthens him to know that we have the finest people in the world, right in the city. I think it is marvelous that you have mastered your instruments. It is also very wonderful the way you young people have co-operated with Mr. Huber. I realize that you have disorganizing moments with this school work, but I'm sure of you, being of a calibre, can't be beaten. Mr. McNaughton has been a contributor of money to the band, and writes:

"I hope others are doing the same. If not, my little contribution will not help much." Mr. Huber thinks that with the concentrated contribution of $3,000 could be raised for the school band. Every student who has a chance to develop it, Mr. Huber maintains a strong and steady band. I must plan on a year program. Many beginners will be leaving as graduates next year, and replacements will be needed every year for leaving. There will have to

Speculating On Big Race

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (C)—Within a few days racing writers will gather in a little room in the stable area at Churchill Downs and go through with the annual skit known as interviewing Ben Jones.

This always is one of the highlights of the pre-derby program, rivaling the trainers' dinner and the sightseeing tour through one of Louisville's more famous distilleries. Ben is the world's greatest horse trainer, the winner of five Kentucky Derbies, so you may well imagine the verbal sparks which fly when he meets the sharpest minds of the press box.

This year Ben, known to some as "Forthright Ben," has another almost certain derby winner in a magnificent racer named Hill Gail.

What we have in mind is to supply a preview of the approaching dialogue between Hill Gail's manager and his alert inquisitors. It follows:

"Well, Ben, you old chicken-thief, it's great to see you again. From what the boys out west say this must be quite a horse you got this time. Think he'll win it?"

"Well, I'll tell you, he's a pretty good little old horse, all right but don't get betting any money on him. I wouldn't risk a cent on him, myself. I'll be mighty pleased if he gets just a little piece of that prize money."

"But Ben, he was going away from them when he won the Santa Anita Derby, wasn't he? That's a pretty good horse race."

"Didn't have much to beat in that one, boys. You had all the big horses back in the east and down south."

"Well, look Ben, that was what you told us two years ago about Ponder but when the race was over you were the fellow who was running around out there on the track waving his hat."

"Boys, that was the greatest surprise of my life, honest. When I see Ponder coming up there in the stretch and taking the lead I couldn't believe my eyes. But don't go thinking this horse is any Ponder. You'll just lose your money."

"Well, thanks, Ben, it's been good talking to you, anyway. You do intend to start him, don't you?"

"Oh, sure, I guess I'll start him, but don't let him cost you any money. Go talk to some of them other trainers. Come back any time and old Ben will tell you all he can. Always glad to help you press boys."

"I understand Jack studied mechanical engineering. What's he doing now?"

"He's working on the railroad."

"That so? What doing?"

"Well, you know the man who goes around the cars and taps all the wheels to make sure everything is right?"

"Yes."

"Well Jack helps that man listen."

People who rave about their income tax may be divided into two classes: men and women.

NUNS SPONSOR BOXING — Sister John Lawrence puts the finishing touches to a dressing gown—modelled by seven-year-old Willie Nahanee—for a unique boxing tournament, held in Vancouver during the week-end. Sponsors of the Buckskin Gloves, the two-day Indian boxing championships of the Pacific Northwest, had difficulty raising $50 deposit for the auditorium where the fights were to be held. The Sisters of the Child Jesus, an order of nuns in suburban north Vancouver, puts up the money and are lending moral support to the venture. (CP PHOTO)

Boston Rookies Too Good For Reynolds

But Giants Uphold Gotham's Honors Over Beantown in National League

NEW YORK (Canadian Press)—Rubber-armed Ellis Kinder made one of his infrequent starts Wednesday and pitched the rookie-studded Boston Red Sox to a 3 to 1 five-hit triumph over the seasoned New York Yankees yesterday.

Kinder, who thrived as a relief pitcher during the last few seasons, walked six batters and fanned five in besting Allie (No Hit) Reynolds at Boston's Fenway Park before 15,336 fans.

New York Giants outslugged Boston 9 to 5 in the only other day game in the Major Leagues. Home runs by Al Dark, Don Muller, Wes Westrum and Relief Pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm featured the Giant victory. Rookie Ed. Mathews pulled out a two-run homer off Wilhelm in the sixth.

Scheduled games between St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati, Brooklyn and Philadelphia, Detroit and Chicago, and Washington and Philadelphia were postponed because of rain. Pittsburgh and Chicago were idle.

Bobby Cain outpitched Bob Feller in a night game—a unique pitchers' duel in which the upstart Browns whipped the Cleveland Indians 1 to 0 and took over first place in the American League race.

Feller, like Cain, allowed only one hit but a safety off the Cleveland veteran was a first inning triple by Bobby Young. It was a good run whereas the only hit off Cain's delivery was a harmless single by Luke Easter

Here to Help Income Tax Men Local People

Income tax assessors are in the city from Vancouver to assist local people in drawing up their returns in advance of the deadline April 30. R. S. Hoyt arrived yesterday and Kenneth Leckie, who has been here on similar duties on several occasions before, is due Sunday.

Mr. Hoyt has set himself up at the National Employment office. In addition to keeping regular day time hours, the assessors will be on hand Saturday afternoon and on Monday evening.

Sparks Start Fires

ONE PORT to another, we sympathize with Vancouver in her waterfront fire. Had there been any assistance we could give, it would have been readily afforded.
 We never know when disaster like this might strike. It can happen in the best of regulated communities. The cause is beside the point. These things happen.
 It is necessary to be organized to fight fires but when they develop, no matter how adequate the combating resources may be, to prevent where great damage cannot be prevented. In words, they become uncontrollable.
 The illness, so with fire. Prevention and security—elimination of the simple risk, the act—are most important things.
 Everybody can help that way.
 After all, it's a small spark that starts every fire. No matter what the progress and auspices of the fire may be. We can all do something to prevent sparks.
 Constant vigilance is important in fire prevention as well as many other things.

Missing Star

CANADA has surplus space on an enormous scale, so it is not a matter of surprise that there are places on this vast half-continent where pioneer communities and the number of professional men is anything but large. For example, in central B.C. there is a community having no dentist within more than 200 miles. Naturally, the cities are preferable, yet the people received from remote settlers also carry with them and cannot or should not be disregarded. Canadian life, past and present, can tell many stories of where a medical man, once established on the frontier or in the country, lives and dies there. He wouldn't move if he could for his life has become one of heroic service.

Building Costs

WHILE we must have houses at any cost and it is important that the current proposed rental control should not fail, there is good reason to study building costs are really too high here. It is probable that a local problem.
 The building cost situation is really such that housing cannot be made available which is economically compatible with the ability of a community to meet, the reasons will have to be ascertained as an important step toward a solution. As the industrial expansion of the city and district proceeds, housing will be a continuing problem. Prince Rupert and a fundamental thing is to make it feasible to build for occupancy or rent.

Its Bigness Unbelievable

It's so big, it's almost unbelievable, said Don Forward as he described the great power development of the Aluminum Co. of Canada at Kemano to the Gyro Club yesterday. In his capacity as coroner, Mr. Forward made a trip a few days ago to Heretzk Creek, a tributary of Kemano River, one of the tunnel driving points in rugged Gardner Canal area where he had the "terrifying" experience of a ride in a helicopter.

Mr. Forward told of the great Camp 5, ten miles up the Kemano River from the beach, where 1500 men are quartered in quarters and tents.

In one huge canteen 600 men are fed at a time, groups of 12 men at each of fifty tables.

And the meals—they're simply out of this world—T-bone steaks, tables laden with every imaginable kind of food in huge quantities. They say it's costing $3.75 to $4 a day to feed the men there. They demand the best and they certainly get it.

MIGHTY JOB

The big tunnel is a project the magnitude of which simply must be seen to be believed. Between the Kemano power house site and Tahtsa Lake—ten to twelve miles—the tunnel is being driven 23½ feet a day by marvelous organization of men and equipment. Great dump trucks, shovels, cranes and graders are everywhere. The dynamite blasts in the 23-foot tunnel are tremendous. Power house site development right inside the mountain is also a project of amazingly enormous proportions.

Mr. Forward contrasted the rugged and narrow valley of the Kemano with the wide Kitimat valley and its gentle slopes.

The highlight of the trip was the ride in the helicopter, the only way of reaching Heretzk Creek.

There are two helicopters there now and two new big ten-passenger Sikorsky's are coming.

SPRING FROLIC

The club heard a report from ray ... Reflects and Reminisces

Canada's cheese surplus is estimated at about forty million tons. In Britain, according to an announcement last week, the cheese ration has been reduced to one ounce per person per week. Austerity is still in effect overseas but let's think of some other word—or ship a few million pounds.

B.C. CAN STAND IT

Abolition of the three percent tax on a meal is urged by the B.C. Women's Liberal Association. Some members differ. For one thing, it is asserted, a source of revenue would be affected. But not to any serious degree. Liquor sales, reported to be quite healthy, could help compensate.

We enjoyed fried herring last evening after being advised that deft removal of the back bone would leave nothing but whole some herring meal. However, having mislaid our deft, there was nothing to it but consume the rest, and pocket a handful of toothpicks.

HOW COME, LASSIE!

Has age overtaken that handsome movie star, Lassie? Year after year, the colts ranked as one of Hollywood's favorites. She was an actress indeed. She had personality and style. This season, Lassie was not seen anywhere, or was she mentioned? A plump looking cat, called Rhubarb, won this season's award. Well, Lassie, you doubtless know by this time that we all retire some day.

Ben Parker on the forthcoming spring frolic, an invitation cabaret style dance on May 15, at which it is expected there will be six hundred guests.

The Music and Drama Festival asked for volunteers to act as ushers and in other capacities at that affair, a few members offering their services.

Those Election Ads

THE PROVINCE of B.C. is now spending large chunks of taxpayers' money to explain the new voting system. As the new system needs explaining there can be no objection to the principle of the ads themselves.

But when those ads declare in big letters that "IT'S FAIR—IT'S SIMPLE" the time has come to ask some pointed questions about this whole business of advertising with taxpayers' money.

I do not believe that the government of B.C. has the MORAL right to spend a single cent of your money and my money to argue the advantages or disadvantages of certain public policies. On the other hand, it clearly has both the right and the duty to spend public money on education of the people as to the actual techniques of voting, or any other public duty which requires some act by the individual citizen.

SUPPOSE at the time of the conscription crisis in 1944 that the government at Ottawa had used the taxpayers' money to laud its new law to the people. Suppose it had used exactly the same beginning that the B.C. government is using in the ads on the new way of voting. Suppose the Ottawa government had told the people that its half-and-half conscription law was "IT'S FAIR—IT'S SIMPLE." There would have been an uproar from a large section of the people, who did not believe that the Zombie law was either fair or simple.

MY POINT is that no government has any right to use public funds to argue for or against the principle of laws which are a matter of continuing controversy. The CCF government of Saskatchewan for instance would have no moral right to use public money to insert ads in newspapers arguing for public ownership as against private enterprise. Likewise the Liberal government of B.C. or the Conservative government of Ontario would have no right to use public money to advertise arguments against socialism.

I AM NOT suggesting that there is anything very important about the government ads. I notice that they are appearing in the CCF newspaper as well as in papers which support the government. But the time to guard against a bad innovation is when it starts.

THE WORST feature of the B.C. alternative voting system is that the final counts will not be made on election night.

If no candidate has a clear majority on the first count, the ballot boxes will have to be kept under lock and key for 21 days before the further counts begin. Short of supplying the various parties with individual padlocks for each box, I do not see how even the Archangel Gabriel could prevent tampering with some of the boxes in those 21 days.

UNDER the B.C. law the voter can "plump" for his favorite candidate. That is, he can mark his ballot with a 1 after JOHN JONES and leave all the other spaces blank.

But suppose JOHN JONES is low man on the first count, and nobody wins outright. What is to stop somebody from opening the ballot box in the three weeks it is locked up and marking in enough number 2's or 3's to elect any desired candidate?

I THINK B.C. will only have one election under this silly system—for it will provide more nuisance to everybody than benefit to anybody.

Canadians produced almost a quarter of a million tons of fine paper last year; despite war and depression, the fine paper mills have set a new high in production almost every year over the past twenty.

TELKWA TALKS...

Mrs. Robert Duff has returned to her home in Smithers after pending part of the winter with Mrs. Joe Thompson of Telkwa.

At Matt & Widen's camp they have a lake filled with logs which they hope to be able to skid with boats to their mill site north of Telkwa.

Charles Kelly of Houston, one of the real old-timers of this part of the country, was a visitor here last week.

Alfred Widen has gone to Kamloops where he will work in the woods during the enforced lay-off here. Soft snow and muddy roads have practically closed all camps.

Mr. and Mrs. Redmond have arrived to make their home in Telkwa. They were in a recent rain wreck east of Jasper but were unhurt.

Mrs. Guy Harris of Saskatchewan is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Scott of Telkwa.

Marvin Hallet and Mr. and Mrs. Angus McDonald have returned to White Fox, Saskatchewan, and so have Mr. and Mrs. Almer Kraitsch.

A very successful dance held in the Telkwa Hall under the auspices of St. Stephen's WA was the windup of the Easter holidays for Telkwa and the surrounding district. The music was supplied by the Westernaires and, judging by the good time that was had by all, it was much appreciated.

Miss Eileen Cross has arrived in Telkwa to conduct classes in dressmaking, tailoring and slip-covering of upholstered furniture.

Mrs. Blunt, formerly of London, England, has arrived from Montreal to join her husband, who is employed as accountant for Bussinger's Limited, Mrs.

Telkwa Guides And Brownies

TELKWA — Telkwa Brownies held their last meeting in the Anglican Rooms. They discussed the Downie Woodpecker, a picture of which has been hanging in their hall for two weeks. Enrollment will be put off until May because of the sewing classes which Miss Eileen Cross will be holding in the Anglican Hall and because their uniforms had not arrived in time. The next meeting will be in the Institute Hall to allow for five days of uninterrupted instructions in sewing by Miss Cross.

Owing to the large number of girls attending, it was decided to form a third patrol of the Girl Guides, with Betty Cunningham as patrol leader and Elsie Hansen as second. After much discussion, they chose 'Bluebirds' for their color and name. A court of honor was held Tuesday with patrol leaders and seconders attending. All points to be accepted or rejected were discussed by the patrols beforehand. The patrol leaders, acting as spokesmen, decided on several issues of uniforms. They voted on an evening of entertainment as a means of raising funds to cover company expenses. At the last meeting the Guides began learning the seaphore and all have been asked to send for their own uniforms from B.C. Girl Guide headquarters, Vancouver.

The EXPERTS SAY...

SEW YOUR OWN AND SAVE
—Sew your own clothes and save money, says Mrs. R. G. Purcell of Port William.

Mrs. Purcell is president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario, an organization composed of 47,500 women in farming communities throughout the province.

She says that any woman can help beat the high cost of living by doing her own sewing. It also helps if she plans her wardrobe around a basic color. "The idea of the basic dress which can be changed in appearance by the addition of a scarf, necklace or other trimming is an old one—but ever new," said Mrs. Purcell.

Spring, said Mrs. Purcell, always gives her "a yen" to sew. "Certainly a young mother with a growing family needs a sewing machine—and needs to use it."

"There is such a choice of material today, simplified patterns with all instruction clearly given, or classes in sewing in all schools, that there is no excuse for any mother not knowing how to sew for her children."

RHUBARB, RHUBARB
The head of the Ontario

Women's Institutes said that if housewives want to save they should buy in larger quantities and plan meals ahead. This is one way to get more value for the food dollar.

"Wherever possible I buy in larger quantities—potatoes are much cheaper by the bag. Canned milk or other canned foods commonly used are cheaper by the case," said Mrs. Purcell.

In the Purcell garden are raspberry bushes. Every spring there's rhubarb.

Mrs. Purcell found "after the first taste for rhubarb has gone there always seems to be a surplus not used." She preserved some, uncooked, in cold water for winter use. Some went into conserve and rhubarb pickle.

But there still was rhubarb in the garden.

Last year Mrs. Purcell solved her problem.

"I took equal quantities of raspberry and rhubarb, cooked it, strained it through a jelly bag and made a clear jelly in the usual way."

She said this new kind of jelly has more juice than usual. And the sweetness of the raspberry is fully balanced by the tang of the rhubarb.

BRANTFORD, Ont. (C)—A provincial inspector, spotting a newly-painted sign reading "goal" on the Brant County jail, said that the proper way to spell it is "jail." Major Sidney Rogers, jail governor, said it would probably remain "goal" until they get another prisoner who can paint signs. The man who did the present sign was released recently.

Planning Garden Beds And Window Boxes is keeping a lot of people busy just now. They know that color harmony in flowers can't be wished into being. Unless you're an old hand, it takes planning! It's like laying out a garden without the help of a seed catalog! If you want to plan your money matters in a way that is working for many Canadian families—

Wheel . . . All Gone! It's a real pleasure to watch tots' toddlers gobble up those good HEINZ JUNIOR FOODS. They love them all . . . the Junior Creamed Diced and Green Vegetables — Junior Vegetables with Bacon — Junior Creamed Tomato with Rice — Junior Vegetables with Fish and m-m-m-m! — the Junior Lamb and Liver with Vegetables. And, mother — they're all so easy to serve . . . just take them from the tin — heat — and they're ready to eat. Ask your doctor when you can begin serving Heinz Junior Foods to your baby. Some babies are ready for them as early as eight or nine months of age! Your dealer has Heinz Junior Foods in store for you. Ask for them when baby's ready!

A Wonderful Stove . . . it does almost everything for you but mind the baby! And you'll agree, once you've cooked with the new 32 GURNEY Gas Range that makes cooking and baking a pleasure. One of the Gurney features I particularly like is the glass oven-door panel—so you can see from the outside how things are coming along. (Just what you've always wanted, isn't it?) And of course, there's the special Gurney "Even-Heat" oven that keeps the temperature exactly right—automatically. Why not see your Gurney dealer tomorrow? He'll show you all the exciting new features that make the Gurney gas ranges so popular with good cooks everywhere.

More Beautiful Women use Woodbury Face Powder . . . why don't you? Yes, Hollywood stars choose WOODBURY FACE POWDER 6 to 11! What's the secret of its great popularity? The makers of this wonderful face powder say it's preferred because of the good blending process and exclusive foundation-cream ingredient. It's so satin-smooth, so fabulously fine and velvety—clings so beautifully for hours. And the subtle Woodbury shades are wonderfully flattering. See what Woodbury can do for you—costs just words "Cream of Wheat" and the smiling chef on the package—both registered trademarks of The Cream of Wheat Corp.

"I've Made Friends of our new neighbors." Mary was hanging out her washing when her young daughter ran up and said that Mrs. Jones would like to know the secret of Mary's snow-white sheets. Of course, it's Blue. It's so easy—so inexpensive—and it really works! Yes, Blue prevents clothes turning yellow. Just a swish or two of Blue in the final rinse and your wash will be snow white! And when you use Blue, you're not taking chances with anything that might damage fabric for Blue is kind to all fabrics. And it costs just a few pennies a month . . . for many brilliant, beautiful washes!

Yes, for the whitest wash, it's RECKITT'S Blue.

I'll Never "Play Outrick" Again. I used to ignore the occasional spot on my rugs and upholstery. (So much easier to pretend it wasn't there than to spend all that money on cleaner's bills!) But now I just use ENERGENE CLEANING FLUID to my work and save my money for melons and so easy to get rid of fresh paint, tar, chewing gum and ugly grease spots with Engerene. And, though Engerene is so effective, it's absolutely safe for fabrics of all kinds . . . contains no acids nor caustics — leaves no tell-tale rings. I'd like you to try Engerene. It's such a wonder at keeping your home — and your wardrobe — beautifully "well-groomed." Take my advice and put Engerene on your shopping list today — at drug and department stores for as little as 25c.

From Moppets To The Man-Of-The-House . . . everyone loves the tangy, exciting flavor of fresh lemons in meals. Our family likes lemon flavor in everything from drinks to sauces to desserts. Lemons are good for you, too . . . lots of Vitamin C! So here's a healthy side salad I serve often — its flavor is secret is the lemon dressing. Just mix 1/2 cup fresh lemon juice, 1/2 cup salad oil, 1 tsp. salt and 2 tsp. sugar. Add garlic clove if you like. Pour it over egg salad greens. Wonderful! An extra tip . . . always ask for SUNKIST LEMONS for full value in juice and quality—I'm never without them.

Want To "Celebrate" Spring with a home that's bright and beautiful? Then feast your eyes on the colourful new designs that DOMOLITE has in store for you. Domolite is that famous new vinylite plastic fabric that's so easy to sew. Make dressing-table covers, kitchen and bathroom curtains and drapes that need no hemming — for Domolite won't fray. Hong Kong Centre for Chinese Coming Here

Oriental Bringing Relatives to This Country—Migration Snowballing

[Editor's Note: This story is one of a series by Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer with the Canadian forces in Korea, written after a visit to Hong Kong. In it Boss writes of the emigration of Chinese from the British colony to Canada.]

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HONG KONG (CP)—Between 2500 and 3000 Chinese emigrants leave Hong Kong each year for new homes in Canada. All are relatives "claimed" by Chinese Canadians.

There is no immigration of Chinese without family connections, although visitors' visas are available to bona fide business men and students satisfactorily sponsored.

Appointment books are filled for three weeks ahead at the Canadian immigration bureau here, where a staff of 16 interview candidates for entrance visas.

Most would-be emigrants come somehow or other from the interior of Communist China. The province of Kwangtung, where most Chinese now in Canada originated, has been home for most and they speak little or no English.

They come to Hong Kong individually and in family groups—mothers with sons and daughters, brothers with their sisters. Most are allowed out by Chinese Communists, but some must smuggle themselves through.

Women going through the Canadian office are suspiciously few, and officials are constantly on the look-out for fraudulent application.

"About 90 per cent of the relatives claimed are men," said one official.

Most are wanted in Canada as labor for their parents' enterprises—the family laundry, restaurant or shop. They are more than 18 years of age and hence do not fall within the scope of education regulations. Officials are watchful lest for one reason or another a Chinese-Canadian claims more men as sons than he actually has.

"We almost fall over ourselves to help when a family claims two daughters—we know they're genuine," said one Canadian official.

It's difficult to check the bona fides of most claims. Births are not registered in China—even if they were it is doubtful whether the Communist government would help. The word of the Canadian claimant generally has to be accepted.

But there is careful checking of the record of the claimant's trips to China since his arrival in Canada to make sure the ages of claimed sons or daughters coincide with the visits.

Members of family groups are interviewed separately then the stories are checked for discrepancies. Few have been discovered.

The policy of admitting relatives to Canada is snowballing. Some immigrants admitted to Canada since the war have been back already to pick up wives in Hong Kong.

ONION FLAVOR SHARED BY MANY HOME GARDEN PLANTS

Green Onions From Onion Sets Can Be Harvested in Three Weeks After Sowing.

Perennial onions, grown from Egyptian "top sets," give the first vegetable crop of the year. Green onions grown from "bottom sets" planted early, are produced in three weeks from the time of sowing. Through the rest of the year it is possible to provide the indispensable onion flavor from various members of the onion tribe.

This flavor can be produced by some of the cousins in a form which may be more acceptable to you than in the onion. Chives for example, are milder, much less odorous, and especially good in salads and cottage cheese. Leeks are preferred by the British for flavoring dishes. And you must know about garlic, of which you can grow a year's supply in about one foot of garden row planted to garlic sets.

Top onion sets, produced by perennial varieties instead of seeds, may be planted in the fall, and will produce green onions before the ground can be worked in the spring. Bottom sets, which are really dwarf onions, checked in growth by crowding in the row, may be planted in the spring as soon as the ground is prepared.

The smaller sets, sown an inch deep, will produce mature onions in two months, much quicker than you can grow them from seed. Use the larger sets for green onions, and plant them deeper, as much as three inches. They grow quickly, but usually run to seed and will not produce large bulbs. From onion seed you can grow either green or mature onions, but it will take six weeks for the first, and four months for the others.

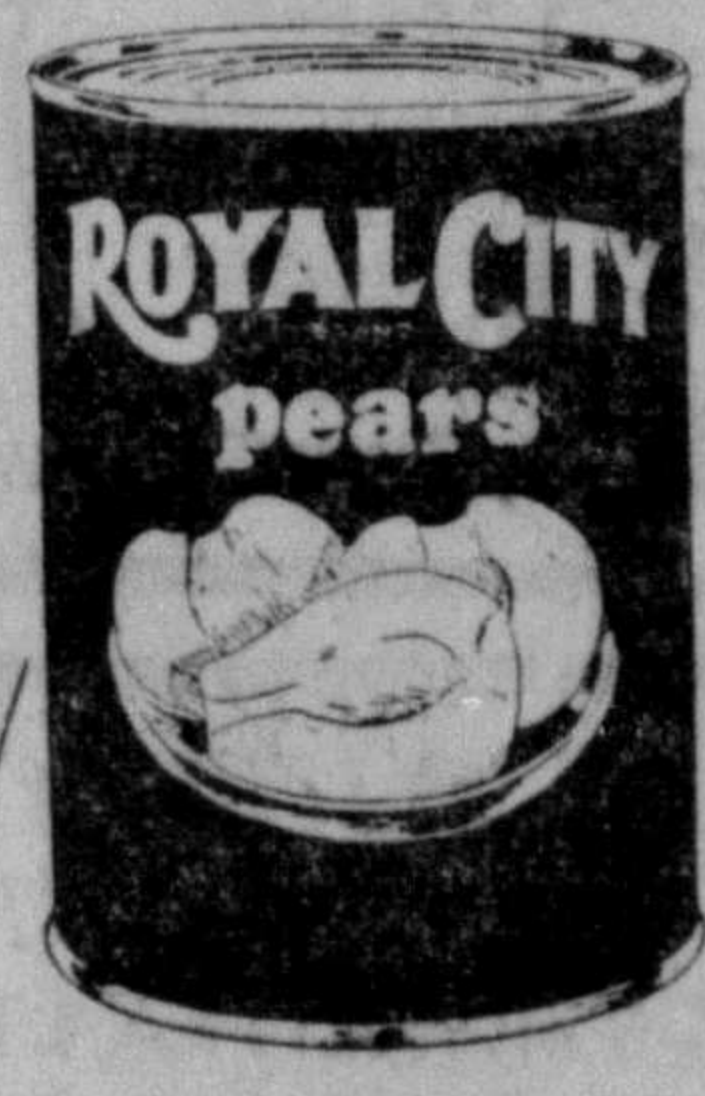

Onion plants of Spanish and Bermuda varieties are shipped from Texas each spring, to be planted in gardens. You can grow your own Spanish onion plants in a flat started early in the house, or hotbed, setting them out when they are pencil size. It will take all season to mature really good size bulbs, and win prizes in the harvest show.

Chives are perennial, and besides producing tubular leaves they bear lovely mauve blossoms. You can start them from seeds, or by dividing the roots of established plants, and they will make a most attractive border for a garden path, living many years.

Leeks are grown from seed, and should be transplanted for best results. The English gardeners pride themselves on exhibition leeks which may be grown in this manner: When the plants are about as thick as a lead pencil lift them, and set each one in a hole made with a dibber. Do not fill the hole, but merely cover the roots at the bottom with earth and let the hole fill naturally. In rich soil the leeks will grow to a diameter of an inch or more.

Mrs. G. E. Moore leaves on tomorrow evening's train for Montreal where she will embark May 1 on the Ascania for a visit to her native village near Huddersfield, Yorkshire, England. Mrs. Moore expects to be away until September.

Graft Picture Melodramatic

A dramatic picture between greed and honesty forms the theme of "The Racket," a timely melodrama, showing this Friday and Saturday at Totem Theatre here. It spotlights the alliance between organized crime and crooked politicians in the United States and the campaign to bring it under control.

Robert Mitchum is cast as a square-shooting police captain who bitterly resents the political influence and immunity from arrest of Robert Ryan, prominent gangster in a big eastern city. Elizabeth Scott plays the part of a night club queen.

When Ryan has an informer brutally murdered in Mitchum's district the police officer sees a chance to bring the gangster to justice. By cleverly playing off one faction against the other among the city's criminal leaders, Mitchum attains his end in a thrill-packed climax which makes the film one of the season's most exciting screen dramas.

Other prominent members of the cast are William Talman as an honest patrolman and Ray Collins as a crooked politician.

Mrs. Edward Clapp left by air yesterday for a week's visit in Seattle with her son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hawkins.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Sometimes Bad Bidding Isn't Punished

Bad bidding it not always punished. Miss Brash was about a king short for her second round bid of two no trump. Mr. Champion, who never takes into consideration the bidding peculiarities of his partner, made the normally justifiable jump to a small slam—off the ace and king of spades.

But Mr. Abel couldn't tell his side was in a position to win the first two tricks. He opened the jack of clubs and Mr. Champion won with dummy's king. He played the four from his own hand hoping Mr. Abel would miss the deuce and think Mrs. Keen had it and was starting an echo.

Even with the temporary reprieve offered by the club opening, Mr. Champion had no place to get rid of two spades. There was only one hope, a squeeze, and to bring this off he had to lose one trick first. It was a long shot but the only hope.

He entered dummy with the ace of hearts and returned a spade. Mrs. Keen played low and the queen lost to Mr. Abel's ace. Mr. Abel simply could not believe that Mr. Champion would make this play unless he had both king and queen of spades and he led back another club. So far, so good.

After winning with the king of clubs Mr. Champion paused to take stock. It was obvious that Mrs. Keen held the other top spade. Suppose she also held her side's only diamond stopper? Then she would have to hold four diamonds and the king of spades—five cards in all.

Mr. Champion could win five heart tricks, the queen of clubs, and these added to the spade trick and the two club tricks already played made a total of nine. In other words, he could get Mrs. Keen down to four cards without losing the lead again. That was one less than she needed to hold.

So five hearts and the queen of clubs were cashed. In dummy, Mr. Champion saved four diamonds; in his own hand, two

Texan Story Actionful

Texas in the turbulent era of 1845, and the deadly conflict between those who favored annexation to the United States and the ardent supporters of an independent republic, form the surging theme for "Lone Star," which opens tonight for three days at the Capitol Theatre with Clark Gable, Ava Gardner and Broderick Crawford in the leading roles.

Two-fisted action and vigorous drama fills the story as the adventurous Gable is sent by President Andrew Jackson to the beloved Texan patriot, Sam Houston, to intercede on behalf of annexation, through the ambush by hostile Comanche Indians and on to the climax when Broderick Crawford, bitter opponent of annexation and sworn enemy of Gable, tries to prevent the Senate and convening, a bloody battle ensuing.

Enmity of the two men is heightened by their rivalry for the love of Ava Gardner, spirited newspaper owner who is as ardent in her support of Texan independence as she is to tame. Finally, however, her integrity and courage turn the tide in favor of annexation.

Lionel Barrymore plays the part of Andrew Jackson with Moroni Olsen as the valiant Sam Houston. Beulah Bondi, veteran William Farnum and Minnie Gryan have other important parts.
