Drive To Clean Up 'Horror, Love' Comics Planned By P-T-A Group

Ald. Lyons Calls For Prompt Action

"Publishers of lurid 'horror' and 'true love' comics are making millions out of the perversion of our children... and it's time we put a stop to it."

That's what members of the King Edward Parent-Teacher Association were told last night in a panel discussion of modern comics, which resulted in plans to attempt to clean up comic book stands.

Alderman Phil Lyons, one of the panel, made the statement as he showed examples of the "comic" books available to children in the city, comics such as "Teen Age Temptations," "Love Diary" and "Mystic," all selling at just 10 cents.

He read from some of the front page come-ons... one of which asked "Would she dare to love him now after that trouble in July?"... and said that if children were submersed in such filth and corruption in their formative years, they would believe that the main end of man was pleasure... and "that will be the end of civilization."

Mrs. Frank Parlette and Mrs. Earl Gordon were the other members of the panel. Mrs. Parlette saying that she felt children might copy the acts of violence described in comics and that the books kept the children absorbed and away from more healthy activities.

Mrs. Gordon agreed with Mr. Moore, suggesting adult supervision of the children's reading matter, and frank discussion of the less desirable comics, saying that if parents simply took such comics from their children, the youngsters would get them from friends.

During a discussion period following the talks, several mothers said they had never seen such comics as were displayed by Mr. Lyons. Such comics hadn't turned up among their youngsters' collections.

Another said that whereas the normal girl of 12 might think love comics wonderful, at 13 or 14 she would think them silly and not be bothered with them.

Set Up Committee

The executive was authorized to set up a committee to seek a change in the character of the comics, visiting local dealers and asking them not to sell love and horror comics and contacting persons in authority to urge improvements.

The panel discussion was the result of a similar discussion at a recent meeting of the Annunciation Home and School Association, at which the modern comic books were criticized.

In a move to interest Parent-Teacher groups throughout the city, the Annunciation group has asked each P-T-A if Mr. Lyons may address them on the subject, and it is expected that further such sessions will result.

Lancaster Sought Missing Boat

The RCAF was called in by the U.S. Coast Guard Tuesday to aid in the search for a Ketchikan fishpacker missing off the northern British Columbia coast since Jan. 13 with five men aboard.

The packer Lorenz, owned by Sorford & Grondall Packing Co. was last seen near Goose Islands, off the southern tip of the Queen Charlotte.

An RCAF Lancaster from Comox also searched Tuesday for a Canadian vessel missing since Saturday from Stuart Island.

The 38-foot Walita left Stuart Island Jan. 13, but RCAF search and rescue officers said on their return to Vancouver after a flight as far as Prince Rupert that she may have sought shelter in a bay because of stormy weather. Number of persons aboard is not known.

Friendly Ski-Togged Artist Ready For Rupert's Weather

A young woman who left a 7½-month-old baby at home in New York to bring music to northwest B.C. and Alaska stepped off the Prince George this morning and in a surprised tone remarked, "Why, it's not even cold!"

She is Frances Magnes, celebrated violinist, but she looked more like a skiing enthusiast than a "temperamental artiste." Expecting cold weather, she dressed for it in warm slacks, a fur jacket, boots and smart but practical woolen headgear.

Miss Magnes, who will be on stage tonight at the Civic Centre in the third of the Alaska Music Trail concert series here, said she's finding her trip thrilling, but she misses her baby son.

She left him at home 10 days ago and won't see him again till her tour ends and she returns to New York Feb. 12.

SNOW NOT NEW

The friendly, attractive artist said this morning's snowfall was nothing new for her. It was snowing when she left New York and snowed some more in Seattle and Vancouver.

She had never been this far north or west in Canada before, although she toured a few years ago in Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and she's finding the people friendly and the response to her music warm.

In Bella Coola about 100 people braved the weather to flock to the small hall to hear her. They were wonderful people, she said, and so were the people on the boat for whom she and her accompanist played an impromptu concert last night.

PRAISES PIANIST

Miss Magnes had nothing but praise for David Garvey, her accompanist, who has worked with her for four years. But she doesn't consider him a mere accompanist. "We're a team," she says.

They have planned an interesting program for tonight's concert, with two major works scheduled for the first section. They are Schubert's Sonata in D major and Beethoven's Sonata in G major, opus 30, No. 3. Also included in the first half of the program will be Chausson's Poems.

Loggers Strike 'Settled'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Settlement formula for ending the three-month-old southern interior lumber and logging strike was reached late Tuesday between union and management representatives and calls for a three-year contract with pay boosts up to 10-cents hourly.

Both International Woodworkers of America negotiators and representatives of the Southern Interior Lumber Manufacturers Assn. said today they have signed a "memorandum of agreement" which will be submitted to their respective memberships.

The agreement would give striking woodworkers an immediate four-cent hourly pay hike plus another three-cents next Sept. 1 and a further three-cents Sept. 1, 1955.

They would also receive three paid statutory holidays, two this year and the third in 1955; improved vacation plan; maintenance of membership of an industry-wide basis and contract improvements in seniority, grievance and arbitration clauses.

Cocktail Bars To Open In March

VICTORIA (CP)—British Columbia Cabinet has cleared the way for opening of cocktail bars in Vancouver, Victoria, New Westminster and Nanaimo by the first week in March.

They will be the first cocktail bars in B.C. Regulations to the Liquor Act passed at the fall session of the Legislature were approved by the Cabinet early today and released to the press this afternoon.

Four major cities were designated as "licensing areas" and other points will likely have the opportunity for liquor by the glass early in June.

New regulations cover a wide variety of instructions dealing with opening and operation of outlets and rejected such suggestions as barmaids.

The Cabinet today approved regulations for the new liquor act at a marathon meeting that lasted until after midnight.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said the lieutenant-governor would have to sign the order-in-council before details could be released.

Snapping Kept Secret Police, Radio, Press

SAN FRANCISCO (CP)—A kidnapping was solved by the rescue of a young San Francisco man and capture of $500,000 ransom being demanded had been cut in half.

Kidnapping last Saturday of a 36-year-old man, widely-kept secret in the city of San Francisco's department.

Wire services stations followed by a police hunt, Moskovitz' life, word until two forensic detectives were captured and held as the kidnapers.

They were identified as Harold Jackson, 57, who once ran a 100-man agency protecting San Francisco's waterfront, and Joe Lear, 43, former private eye and cabbie, now a hearing-aid salesman. Both are from Sacramento, Calif.

The end came when Lear was caught in a sidewalk telephone booth, used previously to telephone ransom demands to the victim's family.

Fifteen minutes later, guided by Lear, police inspector Al Nelder kicked open the door of a house in San Francisco residential district, arrested Jackson at gunpoint and rescued Moskovitz.

Little Leaguers Join Parent Body

"The boys must learn how to play," said the president of the Prince Rupert Little League Baseball Association will officiate a ball game as well as how to win one," he said.

On the subject of coaches Mr. Williamson said that their character was just as important as their knowledge of baseball, due to the impressionable ages of their charges.

Further discussion on the care given Little League regulations to insure good sportsmanship and lively competition brought out the fact that no one district can corner all the youthful talent available. Each coach is given so many points and a players' auction is held. Each boy is given a rating and coaches bid for players.

If a coach uses up too many points to gain a very strong pitcher, he has few left to gain other players.

Parks board commissioner Pat Forman told the association that while he couldn't speak for the board as a whole, he was reasonably certain that if parks board plans went well, the association would have Algoma Park for its games by early summer.

It is estimated that $1,400 is necessary to launch a four-team league, with $350 outfitting one team with regular uniforms. Considerable equipment was acquired last year and the association still has $269.84 in excess of disbursements. Gate receipts alone brought in $628 last year and donations netted the group $229.

The meeting decided that while the Little League association would give moral support to Pony Leaguers or 13-year-olds ousted by the Little League age limit, it could not undertake any organization of the older boys.

Voting Starts Tomorrow For Good Citizen Award

Second annual voting for the Alex Hunter Good Citizen Award sponsored by the Prince Rupert Junior Chamber of Commerce gets under way tomorrow with the publication of the first ballot.

Prince Rupert residents will have the opportunity from now until Feb. 4—when voting ends—to choose the person they consider did the most for the city in 1953.

When the Good Citizen has finally been selected, he or she will be presented with the Alex Hunter Award, evolved last year by the Prince Rupert Jaycees to honor the late editor of the Daily News who was known for his endless efforts in working for the good of the community.

Mr. Hunter, with this paper for 35 years, was killed May 10, 1952, in an accident at Kemano Bay.

Last year's winner of the award was Dr. J. P. Cade. Ballots will be printed in this paper beginning tomorrow until Feb. 4, which has been named as the deadline for balloting by award committee chairman Bert Jefferies.

Names of four top candidates will be announced by the committee early in February. The following week the four will be guests of honor at a ceremony to be announced later. The winner will then be announced and the plaque purchased with moneys from the Alex Hunter Memorial fund.

Representatives named to the judging committee are from: The Ministerial Association, the Catholic Church, Trades and Labor Council, Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative Association, Pulp and Paper Workers, Gyro Club, Senior Chamber of Commerce, the IOOE, the Parent-Teacher Council and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Jefferies said the groups named to the committee had been chosen as representing "the bulk of the population of this city."

About-Turn Again

IT IS NOT so much a question of whether the 10-per-cent liquor tax is right or wrong, but of whether the B.C. government can accomplish anything by following such an uncertain course of trial and error.

When the government introduced the tax, it did so with an air of having considered all angles and deciding this was a sound measure.

Although the change in attitude was less abrupt, there was similar failure to stand behind the policy of voluntary premiums for hospital insurance.

How far can we go in this irresolute manner? The Coalition government had its weak points, but if it had been equally timid about hospital insurance, this fine piece of legislation would not be on the books today.

It is admirable to admit mistakes, but public confidence gets a little shaky when the only government order that comes out with any consistency is "About turn!"

Men Are Superior

A WOMAN who admits that men are superior is Jean Pearson. In the February issue of the Reader's Digest, Miss Pearson says that if a woman can't see for herself the natural superiority of her man, he will cheerfully point it out to her.

Men are tougher, Miss Pearson contends. "They can overcome incredible weariness to play golf or go sailing." They are braver, too, as is shown by their refusal to wince when their women empty mousetraps or spray for cockroaches.

That men are more objective is apparent in their ability to see their wives' faults better than the wives can. More careful of their health than are women, few men risk respiratory disease by cleaning out dusty attics, nor do they court colds by washing floors in damp basements.

A man's ingeniousness is demonstrated daily. He can think of dozens of reasons why rugs should not be beaten and why washing the car hurts the finish. His honesty is apparent whenever he is asked to give his honest opinion about his wife's new hat.

Men show their ability to delegate authority by letting women decide all the details of meals, house-cleaning, and disciplining children. Good executives that they are, the men then let the women act on their decisions.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Appointment of Wallace B. Allison, 43, of North Vancouver to the B.C. Workmen's Compensation Board has been announced by Labor Minister Lyle Wicks.

The minister said the appointment was temporary and was made because the present chairman of the board, Adam Bell, will be unable to serve for about two months. Mr. Bell is recovering from injuries suffered in a recent traffic accident.

As I See It

Haig's Time Bomb

THE diaries left behind by the late Field Marshal Earl Haig are little less than sensational. Their publication is like a delayed action time bomb.

It is amazing that the disclosures made in the book have not already caused far-reaching repercussions, especially in Britain.

The organ of the Canadian Legion, The Legionary for October 1953, carries a review of these truly sensational diaries. It is written by the noted military expert, Captain Liddell Hart.

The most grave revelation in Haig's diaries is that his late Majesty, George V, seriously violated the British constitution by interfering actively in political decisions, especially as they related to the high command and the general conduct of World War I.

FIELD MARSHALL HAIG was a man of courage, and great integrity. But he was not what might be called a brilliant or farseeing person. Hence it is doubtful if he realized the full gravity of the revelations he was leaving behind.

Under the British constitution the Monarch clearly retains the right to advise the government of the day. But in the last analysis it is the government which makes the decisions.

Captain Liddell Hart uses characteristic British understatement when he writes "This diary will compel a revision of prevalent ideas about George V's role as a constitutional monarch."

There will be champions of the late King of course, who will argue that with the whole British world kingdom literally fighting for its existence no one could be too sticky about constitutional niceties.

HAIG himself emerges from his own diary as a man very sure of himself, even when history revealed his worst mistakes. Haig's general strategy to win the First World War was based on the idea of slugging it out with the Germans on the muddy and bloody fields of Flanders.

Haig shows himself in the best light in his comments on the folly of the French desire for revenge against Germany. He correctly foresaw what that attitude would contribute to in the 1920's.

OTTAWA DIARY

By Norman M. MacLeod

For a few excited moments the House of Commons thought that it had come upon another Curry Report in that Woods, Gordon Report upon the administration of the Post-Office Department.

The difference between the two documents is fundamental. The famous Curry Report into the state of affairs in Pettawawa military camp was basically an auditor's inquiry into allegations of dishonesty.

Nevertheless, the Woods, Gordon Report remains a document of considerable interest and could become one of worthwhile importance. Some 200 foolscap-sized pages in length, it does a job of criticism upon the Post-Office Department which is constructive throughout.

As things have turned out, it would have been a lot simpler just to have left the tax on checks. People were used to it and it wasn't causing too much protest. But the government isn't at all happy about the debate that the current increase in postal rates has stirred up.

LETTERBOX

THANK YOU
The Editor, The Daily News: Long experience has established that without the co-operation of the newspapers of Canada the Christmas Season would lack much that is vital to it as a festival of goodwill.

Always, of course, there are exceptions: some congestions did occur in two or three metropolitan centres where a wholly unprecedented last minute avalanche descended on local staffs, bringing about conditions that strained their powers to the limit.

Our own planning, which extends over many months, the intricate arrangements made long in advance, the checking and re-checking, would be of little avail if the public did not work with us.

For that co-operation the Post Office staffs are most grateful. On their behalf, and on my own, I take this occasion to express my warmest thanks to the press and to the public at large.

W. J. TURNBULL, Deputy Postmaster General.

VICTORIA REPORT

By J. K. NESBITT

VICTORIA.—It seems impossible to believe, but another session is just around the corner. It will open Feb. 16.

There will be the usual fanfare, the state dinners and the state ball at Government House. These formalities were done away with at the recent autumn session.

The Pacific Great Eastern Railway will apparently be the biggest topic of discussion at the coming session. The Premier is determined to start, almost immediately, the southern extension, from Squamish into North Vancouver. This is 42 miles, and will cost $12,000,000.

Mr. Bennett is going ahead on his plans for this link, even though he has no promise of financial aid from Ottawa. But he must have something up his sleeve, or he'd hardly start on such a costly project. He said not long ago that all the extensions necessary to make the PGE pay would cost $100,000,000 but, he said, B.C. hasn't got that kind of money to go railroad building.

The Premier will take over the finance portfolio in a few weeks from Mr. Gunderson, defeated in the November by-election. The Premier will be a good enough finance minister. He knows business. He hasn't done bad in business himself. He has expert advisers, and no doubt he'll be able to call on Mr. Gunderson whenever he thinks he needs him.

There's a possibility the sales tax might be removed, at the coming session, from children's clothing. The government is studying this. It would be a popular move with the public and should stand the government in good stead should there be another by-election in which Mr. Gunderson might run.

The government has come to the conclusion that the 10 per cent tax on liquor by the glass may have had something to do with Mr. Gunderson's stinging defeat in the Victoria by-election. So that tax is coming off. Thus, the hard, bitter way, do governments learn their lessons, that the public, in the long run, is the boss.

Pool Warning Signs Laid by King Ed P-TA

Warning for school warning for a sidewalk also on McBride from the Ninth Avenue area out to McClymont park, will go to city council from the King Edward Parent-Teacher Association.

It was pointed out that visibility for motorists was poor at Eighth and Ninth Avenue intersections with McBride, where many children crossed en route to school, and that many youngsters walked to and from school and out to the park along that section of McBride, with no protection from passing cars.

Don Fraser, safety convener, was asked to investigate the matter.

The meeting also approved a request from school principal R. G. Moore for funds to purchase yellow material for flags for the school traffic patrol. New regulations forbade the present stop signs used by the youngsters.

The meeting planned to stage another square dance, after hearing a report on the success of the last dance which netted $17, to be sent to the Children's Preventative Dental Clinic. Mrs. E. Turner, Mrs. E. Lindseth and Mrs. J. G. Steenbergen, who arranged the last dance, were put in charge of the next.

A white elephant sale also was planned, to be held March 18.

It was reported that youngsters of King Edward school had put up Christmas hampers for distribution by the Salvation Army to 32 needy children.

Members were reminded of the child training broadcast series now heard every Sunday afternoon over radio station CFPB, and were told of next week's program, a film on "Feelings of Hostility," about children, followed by a panel discussion on the subject. Members of Borden, Conrad and Booth P-TA's will be invited to attend.

Parent attendance awards went to Miss Liefers class in the junior division and Miss Jack's class in the senior division.

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS is expected to take up for the second time this session the question of a distinctive national flag for Canada. Members are known to be studying a new design. Seven years ago a committee was established to study the question but no action was taken on its recommendations. This picture shows two members of that committee looking over some of the 2,695 designs submitted to it.

Descendant of Man Who Quelled Riel Rebellion To Work in Sardis

SPECIAL TO THE DAILY NEWS
VANCOUVER.—The great-great-grandson of the man who quelled the Riel rebellion is due in Vancouver Friday from Montreal.

He is 25-year-old Peter Mesurier, who is coming to visit a cousin, Mrs. John Simmonds. Later he will go to work with G. McDermott, Sardis.

His great-great-grandfather was Sir Frederick Middleton, commander-in-chief of British troops sent west to battle the rebel forces of Louis Riel.

A native of the Channel Islands, Mr. Le Mesurier came to Canada under the sponsorship of the CNR's colonization and agriculture department. The department helps prospective newcomers to Canada with information of the country, its prospects and resources.

The young immigrant has had nine years' experience as a dairy farmer in England and the Channel Islands. He is also a former chairman of the Young Farmers Club of Bedfordshire. He is interested in dairy farming in the Fraser Valley.

While a bit hazy on Canadian history, Mr. Mesurier told reporters in Halifax that he did not feel too much like a stranger here.

Sir Frederick, he pointed out, married a Quebec girl named Duguette before returning to England. He also has a number of letters from grateful farmers in the area where the Riel rebellion took place, thanking Sir Frederick for his help.

Bush Pilot Rounds up Buffalo Herd

FORT SMITH, N.W.T. (CP)—Pat Carey, British Columbia bush pilot, has been rounding up by plane the largest surviving Buffalo herd in the world.

He is working in Wood-Buffalo Park, a 17,000 square-mile national preserve extending from both sides of the Alberta-Northwest Territories border between Lake Athabasca and Great Slave Lake.

Several hundred of the 15,000 Buffalo are slaughtered each year to thin out the herd and provide food for the Indians.

Pat Carey's task is to find the herd and stampede the animals into corrals by diving his plane at them.

"It is some sight," he said. "First you cruise around looking for a herd of Buffalo; then you dive at them and start them toward the corrals."

"Some don't want to travel in the desired direction, especially some of the old bulls. Well, you must get them on the move or others will take the same notion."

Another of Carey's jobs is hunting down marauding wolf packs, while a partner in the seat behind him picks off the wolves with a rifle.

Average Rent in Moscow, Including Heat, Water, Four Per Cent of Income

(CP reporter Bill Boss has been in Moscow for about two months. In this article he deals with aspects of a Soviet citizen's budget as rent, fuel and taxes. It is based on his own observations related to official information.)

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW—The most striking factor to a foreigner about a Muscovite's budget is his rent.

The average rent, including heat and water, is four per cent of the head of the family. It may be as low as two, or as high as seven per cent, and if more than one individual works (and in most families at least husband and wife do) the rent is not affected.

A high school teacher earning 800 rubles a month pays 32 for rent. If his wife earns another 600 as an office worker the rent remains 32. A school principal earning 1,900 rubles pays 76, a hairdresser, earning 2,500, pays 100.

For this most families get two rooms, share a kitchen and bathroom with one other family.

The Russian government has set the exchange value of the ruble—100 kopeks—at 25 cents. But inflated prices have sent its purchasing value down to five to eight cents, so the 800 rubles ($200) a high school teacher earns would be worth only $40 to $60 in terms of Canadian conditions.

SPACE STILL SCARCE
Accommodation is still short in Moscow but the current 102-year program, under which 102 apartment blocks are planned in one section of the city alone, is expected to relieve the situation.

As the new blocks are occupied surrounding ancient one-storey timber structures are torn down. The building program is scheduled to be completed by 1960.

Nurses Arrive
ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Eighteen English nurses now have been recruited to take up nursing duties in Newfoundland. They were interviewed by Jean Lewis, director of nursing service, on a recent visit to England, and signed two-year contracts.

more-than-average income earners are one ruble (32 kopeks) a month a square metre. (108 square feet). Figures on the top number of square feet a family may occupy are not available.

Electricity costs 40 kopeks a kilowatt. Most homes use gas for cooking, at 20 kopeks a cubic metre (35.31 cubic feet).

HIGH AND LOW
Commodity prices hew to a pattern. Items in common use, produced to standard patterns, are relatively cheap. The same items in better-than-standard, or "luxury" quality, are more costly.

A man's fur-trimmed winter hat, for instance, costs 60 rubles in the standard model. In carculation its costs from 330 to 429 rubles, almost half a month's salary for a high school teacher.

A small radio costs 60 to 120 rubles. A combination radio-record-player runs from 760 to 1,500 rubles.

CHILDLESS PAY MORE
Direct taxation embraces income tax and what might be called a "fertility handicap."

Income tax begins at 2.5 per cent on incomes of 300 rubles a month, rising to 13 per cent on incomes of 1,000 monthly. Between 1,000 and 12,000 rubles it remains constant. It rises sharply after 12,000.

The "handicap" levy is highest for unmarried men and women. It falls slightly on marriage, more when the first child arrives, still more with the second. Exact figures are not available but the tax is not heavy.

No Soviet citizen using the state medical system receives a bill from doctor, hospital or convalescent home.

Webster Paces Manson's To 57-48 Win Over CCC

Mickey Webster with 24 points sparked Manson's Omegas to a 57-48 win over CCC 300 Club in a Senior B basketball fixture last night before a handful of fans at the Civic Centre.

In the Inter B game, Sunrise Grocery climbed to a three-way tie for second place when they downed Nelson Brothers 38-34.

The senior league leaders set up an early 15-3 first quarter lead and paced by Webster who had notched 9 points in the first two quarters they led 29-18 by the half. CCC rallied to tie the Omegas 19-19 in the third quarter and outscored the winners 11-9 in the final stanza. Pop Pay and Harold Marshall shared scoring honors for the losers with 11 points apiece. The pulp millers failed miserably at the foul line netting only 8 of 20 free shots while the winners sank 7 in 13 tries.

Sunrise and Nelson Brothers were tied 17-17 at the half. The grocers set up a 4 point lead in the third quarter which they maintained to the end as both squads scored 9 points each in the final frame.

Only Two Rinks Still Unbeaten In Cook's Play

Two of the remaining undefeated rinks were toppled last night as the Cook's trophy competition of the Prince Rupert curling club entered its last week of play.

In Section A, Chuck Ostertag won over Jack Laurie's rink to tie up the standings with both teams sporting 4 wins and 1 loss.

In Section B, Warming Petersen felled Fred Aston's quartet leaving only two undefeated rinks one in Section C and one in Section E. In the former, Ken Robertson's rink has yet to be beaten and in the latter Ed Garner's record is still clear. Both rinks have one game left to play.

The round robin winds up Friday night but the playoffs will be postponed since several members will be away taking part in outside bonspiels. The Points Competition starts next Tuesday to run for most of next week.

Rink personnel will be redrawn for the Grotto Trophy and instead of the skips choosing the rinks the choice will be made by the thirds. A meeting will be held at the rink at 8 p.m. Monday for the re-draw.

Results of last night's play:
 Bird 10, Eyolfson 7, Georgeson 11, Turner 10, McKenzie 9, Miller 5; Ostertag 10, Laurie 5; Robertson 8, Matthew 7; Petersen 7, Aston 5.

 National Hockey League governors decided 13 years ago today to impose automatic $25 fines on players taking part in fights started by others. The rule was intended to discourage free-for-all brawls. But the problem remains, with the record penalty total having been meted out for the Leafs-Canadiens fighting at Toronto Dec. 9, 1953.

Openings For Hold-Up May Be Deceptive

It was this hand which prompted Miss Brash to suggest that the recent series on the hold-up play be followed with one on the subject of when NOT to hold up.

The hold-up occurs mainly at no trump contracts and its chief purposes are to cut the communications between the defenders' hands and to set the timing of the hand for a possible squeeze. It is useful, sometimes vital to the success of the contract.

But Miss Brash is right. There are occasions when the hold-up seems to be called for but, for various reasons, should not be used. For the next few days we'll look into these situations.

Today's hand illustrates the simplest case of all. Mr. Champion led the four of spades, Mr. Masters played the jack and Mr. New would have been better off if he had never heard of the hold-up. For a reason known only to him he let the jack win. He ducked the spade return and Mr. Champion won with the queen.

Now Mr. Champion hit on the killer. He led the five of diamonds. This put his partner in with the king to lead another spade. Mr. Champion now had the king of spades set up and this, with the ace of diamonds, was enough to beat the contract.

Let's see how it would have gone if Mr. New had won the first spade trick as he should have done. At trick two he would lead a small diamond.

Mr. Masters would win and lead back a spade. Mr. Champion could take the king and queen but then he would be through. Mr. New's ten would win the fourth round of the suit. He would lose, in all, two spades and two diamonds.

He should have won the first trick, because using his ace to kill an opposing honor would guarantee him two spade winners. The way he played it, he got only one.

Stampeders And Canucks Sharing Lead

By The Canadian Press

Maybe they're only sticking together to keep warm these cold winter nights, but the Vancouver Canucks and Calgary Stampeders seem to like each other's company.

They're back together again today, jammed tightly on a narrow Western Hockey League throne, co-leaders of a sprawling loop.

The tie was created last night when Calgary clipped third-place Saskatoon Quakers 4-2 and Vancouver dropped a 4-1 decision to sixth-place Victoria Cougars.

George Pargeter, Frank Ashworth, Johnny Michaluk and Jim McFadden tallied for Calgary and Chuck Haldaway and Jackie McLeod were the Saskatoon marksmen.

At Vancouver, the Cougars turned a three-goal drive in the second period into their third straight win over the Canucks. Andy Heberton, Reg Abbott and Eddie Dorohoy got the markers for Cougars.

In the third, Doug MacAuley widened the gap to 4-0 and defenceman Mid Houghton tallied for Vancouver.

U.K. Market Widened To Canadians

By HAROLD MORRISON

Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA—Britain's token import scheme, under which many Canadian manufacturers have been allowed to retain a foothold in the restricted British market, has been widened slightly for 1954.

Some manufacturers, unable to obtain a shipping quota since the list was frozen in 1951, will be able to get an import permit this year, trade officials say.

Clothing manufacturers, previously forbidden to ship more than one-third of their quotas in fully-fashioned nylon hose, now will be permitted to send their full quotas.

Similar restrictions are lifted on lace-trimmed garments, and the list of 60-odd manufactured goods which the scheme covers has been extended to include another item—bathroom scales.

CONCESSIONS MINOR

These are minor concessions, but they may prove helpful to some producers facing the possibility of increased competition in 1954.

The import token scheme was started in 1946 when Britain's import curbs virtually eliminated many Canadian manufacturers who had a big and long-established market overseas.

U.S. Arming Forces in Germany With Pilotless Bomber Squadrons

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (CP)—The United States is arming its forces in Germany with guided missiles capable of carrying atomic warheads hundreds of miles into Red-held territory.
The U.S. air force announced here that it will send two pilotless bomber squadrons to Germany this year. No details were given.

MATADOR MISSILES
The two squadrons bound for Germany will be equipped with B-61 Matador missiles. These have been in mass production at the Baltimore plant of the Glenn L. Martin Co. for more than a year.

The air force did not disclose the number of missiles in a squadron, but it is believed several hundred may be allotted to each. By comparison, a squadron of jet fighters numbers 25 planes.

The Matador is the first offensive guided missile to be turned over to a tactical unit of the U.S. armed forces. Other such missiles with greater speed and wider range are being designed or are undergoing tests.

ATOMIC PUNCH
When the Matadors arrive, U.S. forces in Europe will pack this three-way atomic punch:

U.S. air force jet and piston-engined planes that can carry atomic bombs, the giant 280-millimetre atomic cannon, and the guided missiles that could be used to strike at Soviet troop concentrations, supply depots and communications centres hundreds of miles back of the lines, should war come.

Measured against the known range of a comparable jet fighter, the Matador presumably has a range well beyond 500 miles — perhaps approaching 1,000 miles.

The Matador's speed during all of its flight except the final dive at its target, must be assumed as sub-sonic (less than about 700 miles an hour). Thus, it could be vulnerable to some of the newest types of interceptors which have speeds up in the sonic range.

Trapper Saved

VANCOUVER (CP) — A snowmobile bulled a path through heavy snowdrifts Sunday on a 140-mile round trip which brought a sick trapper from Nation River into Port St. James.
Rescued was Chris Larsen who flashed a distress signal to an RCMP plane Saturday as it flew overhead on its return from locating missing trapper John Bendickson, 150 miles to the north in the frozen Oliminka River country.

The snowmobile, driven by Dave Jones of Port St. James, made the trip in 17 hours.

Experts Plan Security For Foreign Ministers Meeting

BERLIN (CP)—Experts for the Big Four are planning security and other details of the Berlin foreign ministers' conference, scheduled to open here Monday.
The United States, British, French and Russian commandants of the divided city appointed deputies to meet to work out detailed arrangements for the conference on German unity and an Austrian peace treaty.

Orders from their home governments ended 10 days of wrangling over the conference site. The three Western military chiefs and Soviet commandant

Sergei Dengin agreed last Sunday night that the ministers will meet for one week, the second in the Soviet embassy in East Berlin, and for the first and third weeks in the building in the U.S. sector formerly used by the Allied control council.
Thereafter, a communiqué said, "the place of meetings will depend upon the course of the conference."

The Russians at first had demanded that half the meetings, including the opening session, be held in East Berlin. The West one-fourth of the meeting in the East.

The agreement dissipated fears that the Russians would throw a monkey wrench into the conference before it started.
The gathering will be the first major four-power meeting in Berlin since 1948 saw the onslaught of the cold war, its subsequent East-West split and the Berlin blockade.

Don Mackenzie Heads Loggers

VANCOUVER (CP)—Don Mackenzie of Vancouver has been elected to his second term as president of the British Columbia Loggers Association.
Jack E. Fletcher of Fanny Bay was re-elected vice-president and Tom Novis, Vancouver, secretary-manager.
The loggers at their convention here called on the provincial government to immediately establish a royal commission to inquire into all phases of B.C.'s forest industry.

The resolution was passed unanimously at the final session.

It said the association "continues to urge that a royal commission of inquiry into all phases of our forest economy be implemented immediately."
The resolution also asked that "all applications for forest management licences be held in abeyance until findings of inquiry are known."
