g Air Guns; Many Complaints

MP announced today they will crack down on illegitimate use of air-rifles by juveniles.

Complaints have reached police that air guns have been used at Salt Lakes resort, a bullet striking a youngster on the head, near his eyes.

These weapons can be dangerous, especially in the hands of "wild young people," said an RCMP spokesman. He said air guns are classified under same category as fire-arms. No one under 14 is allowed to have an air gun and then only if accompanied by an adult who is holder of a firearms licence.

Parents of children found with airguns are subject to prosecution, and rifles will be confiscated, said police.

Prisoner Killed
in New Koje Riot
Canadians Take No Part

By The Canadian Press

KOJE ISLAND.—One Communist prisoner was killed and another wounded today in a disturbance at compound 66, United Nations war prisoner camp. A spokesman announced.

At least 10 bayonet-wielding British troops, using gas bombs, broke up the riot and tore down the ramshackle command dispensary. Compounds 66 and 67 North Korean officers' quarters.

Apparently staged the riot in an attempt to force Gen. H. L. Boatner, commander, to visit the camp and confer with them, a spokesman said.

Refusing and watched the rioting soldiers from the shore. No casualties on the island were reported.

Report said a North Korean Communist prisoner killed when a U.S. guard fired an automatic rifle into the compound.

The weapon sprays bullets into the middle of the compound and as guards were changed in high watchtowers.

A company of the Royal Canadian Regiment, which landed on the company of King's Light Infantry Battalion to augment the island's guard, apparently took no part in the riot.

HMCS Sioux
Here This Afternoon

This afternoon in Prince Rupert is HMCS Sioux, a Royal Canadian Navy ship, now on a training tour.

The destroyer served two tours in the Korean war theatre.

Haddon, Sioux's commanding officer, will inspect the ship's Captain Cook and other crews at 7:30 tonight.

Event will be the corps inspection. The corps, some 30 members, was released early this year.

Other RCN warships will visit the ship, and are scheduled to arrive May 31, 10 a.m. The ships will head northward for a tour of Alaskan waters and ports, then return to the base.

Riots Rage Heavily
In Paris

PARIS.—France arrested its No. 1 French Communist during a widespread, bloody and well-organized anti-Ridgway rioting Wednesday and charged Reds with revolutionary conspiracy against the Republic.

At least one rioter was killed, 20 police needed hospital treatment, and about 80 other persons were injured. Some 600 persons were arrested of thousands who took part in the demonstrations.

At a dramatic midnight press conference, the cabinet's police chief said the uprising had been quelled and "we will always be masters of the situation."

Red boss, Jacques Duclos, secretary of the French Communist party, was arrested at his car during armed Red rioting.

Police said they found in the car a loaded revolver, a black-jack, a special radio receiver and, under a blanket, a covey of carrier pigeons.

French police, outnumbered at some places against Red attacks with spiked clubs and other weapons, put down uprising that swirled on several fronts through the bloodied streets of Paris.

Hearing of Kemano Bay
Accident

Eight Testify

Inquest into the accident at Kemano on May 19 which claimed the life of Alex Hunter, Managing Editor of the Daily News, resumed here yesterday before coroner Don Forward and a six-man jury.

Eight persons, including Jack McRae, one of the men injured in the crash of a ramp, testified before the inquest was adjourned until Friday.

The hearing is being directed by Sergeant Lance Potterton of the RCMP.

Jury members are: George Dawes, foreman; W. F. Stone, Douglas Payne, Thomas Yule, Edmund Lipson and Charles Stokoe.

Mr. Hunter, employee of the Daily News for more than 30 years, died in hospital at Kemano a short time after a ramp he, McRae and John F. Magor, publisher of the Daily News, crashed onto rocks about 30 feet below.

Mr. McRae suffered a severe injury to his right leg and after a series of operations returned to Prince Rupert last week to recuperate at his home and also to direct his campaign for reelection to the B.C. Legislature.

Mr. Magor received serious fractures to both ankles and is in Vancouver General hospital.

The men were enroute to Nechako for ceremonies dedicating the Kenney Dam.

J. T. Harvey, prominent Prince Rupert lawyer, is appearing on behalf of Mrs. Hunter, and E. M. McClurg of Vancouver and Ailsa Fraser and Douglas Hogarth of Prince Rupert, on behalf of the Morrison-Knudsen Company.

CLOSE BEHIND

First to testify at the hearing was Mrs. T. N. Youngs, who had accompanied the men on their ill-fated trip. She told the jury that she and Mrs. Hunter were following behind the men and were only a short distance away when the ramp on which the men had stepped crashed.

A. O. Strandberg, project manager for Morrison-Knudsen, described the ramp and his part at the scene.

The plane, on which the party flew from Prince Rupert, had stopped at Kemano to pick up Mr. Strandberg, who was to accompany them to Nechako.

Duncan McRae, young brother of Jack, told how he was walking towards the plane after accompanying the pilot to an office at Kemano, when he suddenly saw the ramp crash.

Thomas Lind, construction superintendent, under questioning of counsel and Sgt. Potterton, explained the construction of the ramp and identified a series of pictures submitted to court.

NO CLUE
Asked by Sgt. Potterton if there might have been a flaw in metal links which connected the lower section of the 40-foot ramp with the section from the ground above, he said he could not pass an opinion.

The links were not made at Kemano, said Lind, explaining they were sent to Kemano from "our stores."

While admitting there were no specific kinds of tests made of the structure, it was considered safe by the company. Mr. Lind supervised construction of the ramp, including connecting the links.

The broken links were not submitted in court, but a link similar to the ones which were connected to the ramp was shown to the jury.

Mr. Harvey suggested the broken links be shown to the jury.

John M. Taylor of Vancouver, engineer for Central B.C. Airlines at Kemano, told of watching the plane land and said he had gone down the ramp to check the aircraft while the party went for a stroll.

SAW CRASH

John K. Fair, also of Vancouver, pilot of the plane, said he arrived at Kemano about 7:30 a.m. on May 10 to pick up Mr. Strandberg and take on gas.

"The passengers asked me if they could get out to stretch their legs and I told them it would be alright."

He said that on returning to the plane with Duncan McRae, he noticed the three men who were hurt were close to the ramp with the two women following.

"Suddenly the ramp crashed and I ran to the edge to see the

Halibut Season Closes
June 9 in Main AreasSeven Million Pounds
Landed Here

Halibut fishing in the principal North Pacific areas closes officially at 12:01 a.m. June 9.

This was announced here today by G. W. Nickerson, chairman of the International Fisheries Commission (Halibut).

The closure applies to areas known as 2A and 1B.

This year's season, which opened May 14, will be two days shorter than in 1951.

Area 2A extends from Willapa Harbor, Washington, to Cape Spencer, Alaska, with the exception of small areas called 2B and 2C, near Hecate Strait and Forrester Island, Alaska.

Area 1B is from Willapa Harbor to Cape Blanco, California.

The fisheries commission closes the season on the date when it estimates Area 2A quota of 25,500,000 pounds will be reached.

Mr. Nickerson said halibut this year have been more plentiful than ever before.

Unofficial total landed in Prince Rupert during the first 14 days of the season is 7,300,000 pounds. Halibut also are landed at Butedale, Namu, Vancouver, Victoria and other centres where there are cold storage plants.

A survey shows that more than 6,000,000 pounds of halibut have been landed here by Canadian boats from area 2A while American fishermen have sold almost 200,000 pounds here.

In area 3A, Canadian fishermen have caught over 750,000 pounds of halibut and U.S. boats have landed 644,000 pounds here.

Several American boats have come into Prince Rupert with their loads, but have not sold the fish here.

In the first nine days of halibut fishing this year there were 1,600,000 pounds landed than in the first 10 days of the 1951 season.

The men were picked up by officers about six miles east of Prince Rupert while setting up a camp in the bush.

RCMP spotted the truck—reported stolen from Hanson Lumber Company—parked on the Skeena Highway, one mile east of Galloway Rapids.

After investigation in the neighborhood, they found a trail leading to the camp where the men were questioned and later brought to Prince Rupert.

Political Roundup

Jack McRae Appears On Stage
At Liberal Rally With Premier

First trip outside his home since he was injured three weeks ago will be made Saturday by Jack McRae, Liberal candidate in the June 12 provincial election.

Mr. McRae, who celebrated his 37th birthday yesterday recuperating at home from a severe leg injury suffered when a ramp crashed at Kemano, said he will attend a Liberal rally at the Civic Centre Saturday night at which Premier Byron I. (Boss) Johnson will speak.

Mr. McRae made only one public appearance here before the accident.

The premier and Mrs. Johnson are scheduled to arrive here by private plane about noon Saturday. They will attend a tea at the civic auditorium in the afternoon.

Plans for their welcome to Prince Rupert were completed at a campaign committee meeting in Liberal headquarters.

Last week the Premier spoke at Vernon. He warned that a reduction in auto licence fees in B.C. would mean a corresponding cut in highway construction throughout the province.

During the question period, he said B.C. has the most expensive highway building program of any province.

"We have entered into an agreement with the federal government to construct the Trans-Canada Highway at a cost of $60,000,000. Our share is $30,000,000. If you cut the gasoline tax and licence fees you will have to cut highway construction."

Would Ban Japanese
Within 3-Mile Limit

By The Canadian Press

OTTAWA.—Banning of Japanese fishermen from a belt between 150 and 200 miles from Canada's Pacific coast was recommended yesterday to the Commons Fisheries Committee by a spokesman for United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (TLG) of British Columbia.

Homer Stevens of Vancouver, secretary-treasurer of the 8000-member union, called on the committee to reject the proposed Canada-United States-Japan fishing treaty and take restrictive measures against Japanese vessels operating in Canadian waters.

His proposal was that in the 150-200 mile band, Japanese vessels should be kept out while Canada would agree to abstain from fishing in a similar radius around Japan.

Under the treaty, Japan agrees not to fish certain species in waters off Canada.

Besides proposing a belt around the coast, inside which Japanese could not operate, the union also proposed Canada extend her sovereignty over Pacific territorial waters for the fishery regulation generally. This now is regarded generally as three miles from the nearest point of land.

The union recommended base lines be drawn around outside points of Vancouver Island and Queen Charlotte Islands running to mainland points, which would add such areas as Queen Charlotte Sound and Hecate Strait to Canadian territorial waters.

Stevens tangled at a couple of points with T. H. Goode (L-Burnaby-Richmond), who questioned whether Canada could enforce jurisdiction over craft operating well offshore.

Goode wanted to know how the government under International Law could act against a Japanese ship fishing 90 miles off shore.

The Union official said Norway has adopted a base-line method of establishing territorial water and has seized British trawlers outside the three-mile limit. He thought Canada could do same.

City Superintendent of Works, Don Stewart, received his new truck today.

Purchase of the truck was approved by council some time ago.

At Prince George, CCF leader Harold Winch took a look at Liberal Agriculture Minister Harry Bowman's election posters and told an audience: "They (the posters) are asking you to vote for something that's already accomplished."

He pointed to a poster which listed the Kitimat railway, Alberta pipeline, Aluminum Company of Canada project and Kitimat liquid air plant as Liberal objectives.

"Why aren't agriculture and forestry, the two most important industries here, on the poster?" he asked.

At Courtenay, Progressive Conservative leader Herbert Anscombe said CCF claims that big industry is out to "skin" British Columbians are "just rubbish."

"These companies are coming in to help us develop this great empire of ours," he said.

He contended development would be "stopped dead" by a socialist government. He also said B.C. would have had a revolution if the Coalition government had tried out the Social Credit "pay-as-you-go" theory.

Meanwhile, the Social Credit party, which appears to be taking things slowly, announced at Vancouver that present plans call for Premier Manning of Alberta to address a rally in Vancouver on June 5.

Rev. E. G. Hansell, Social Credit campaign director, will return to B.C. from Ottawa on Monday to begin a tour of interior ridings. He is not expected to visit Prince Rupert.

Wheels of Progress

A FEW remarks on B.C. by Stewart Holbrook in his new book, "Far Corner (A Personal View of the Pacific Northwest)", have the effect of making us pause a moment and drawing a deep breath. Mr. Holbrook, a former resident of this province now living in Oregon, writes:

"The British Columbia I used to know was as delightful a country as man ever lived in. It had, and still has, gorgeous scenery. Life was not too hard. The people lived calmly. The pace everywhere, town or country, was leisurely. The people had their own ways and customs and heroes and symbols. They held fast to these. I do not think this is true any longer. People and province have been caught in the heady current called Progress. Anything new is wonderful. Anything old is to be deplored.

"The province is now beginning to know Progress in full measure. Backed by natural resources as great as any in North America, and possibly greater, I can see nothing to prevent British Columbia from becoming the hive of population and of industry and commerce that a majority of its citizens seem to want. I wish them well, and remain happy in my memories of a British Columbia that wore its own clothes, including its own collar; and when, in all its immensity, there were only half a million people—only a few more than are now living in Greater Vancouver alone."

It cannot be that Mr. Holbrook wishes us to remain in the backwash simply to retain our primitive and unpopulated charm. But he clearly does believe that we have sacrificed individuality in our rush to get ahead.

It is a point worth considering. Unless we keep our identity, first as Canadians and second as British Columbians, this province will become simply an industrial backyard of the U.S.A.

The idea, we suggest, is to keep on the move—there is character in that alone—but to remember we are not chasing anyone or trying to beat anyone. As far as reasonably possible, we must move in our own direction, at our own pace and on our own terms.

Progress is not a form of competition. It is merely a means of making a good thing a little better.

Reflects and Reminisces

Canada and Canada alone has the right to say where her units overseas shall go. Ottawa had not been consulted, when her paratroop company found itself on the way to Kojima Island, eastern trouble source. Hence, in a stiff message to Washington, Canada protests.

The principle of the thing is similar to what it was when General Pershing's army arrived in France in 1914. Then, the leaders in Europe undertook to mingle the American forces with the soldiers of Britain and France. Pershing went up in the air. The Yanks stayed in France, but as the United States Army. And everyone was aware of it.

Many bank accounts, comments an Ottawa official, are forgotten. But many more are sadly remembered.

During a pause at Mr. Anscomb's two-hour meeting Monday, some one made an inquiry that had nothing in particular to do with various subjects under review. "What's daylight saving amount to?" came a query. This brought a laugh, as intended. The incident reminds one of earlier days when, for anyone to call out "How about Cow Bay?" would launch a ripple of chuckles. But not today. This is the wrong generation.

An 18-year-old Canadian bride, Mrs. MacMahon, married nine months ago, won a fortune at the Epsom race Wednesday. There are occasions when nothing appears missing.

Chick-Check Day

Today marks an anniversary of an ancient old country custom, also known as "Oak Apple Day," and originates with a story about Charles Stuart.

Stuart, some three hundred years ago, hid in an oak tree after the Battle of Worcester, from the fury of the Roundheads.

To remember the event, inhabitants of a village by virtue of an ancient custom and right, went early in the day to the woods to gather as much firewood as they could carry away.

Young men and women bedecked themselves with newly-sprung oak leaves and so garlanded return to dance around the Maypole until end of day. Meanwhile, the oldesters headed for the local tavern for ale and home-cooking—with no other craving than that such things and such peace might last forever. —"Moonraker."

As I See It

B.C. Broadminded

HERE is one difference between B.C. and Ontario, which makes me feel proud of west coast broadmindedness:

Last year in the Ontario election the hospital insurance system of Saskatchewan became a matter of sharp controversy. The CCF used a recorded talk by Premier Tommy Douglas of Saskatchewan to answer some of the Ontario electioneering statements. That action was sharply criticized by the Toronto Globe and Mail, which is alleged by Premier Douglas to have refused publication of a letter from him answering its own editorial rebuke on him.

Here in B.C., as I return from Ottawa, I find that the most obvious election development is a veritable invasion from across the Rockies. The whole Alberta Social Credit party is moving in to capture B.C. A small sized army of MPs from Alberta is already here. Premier Manning is coming too.

It is to the credit of B.C. that not one important paper and not one important candidate or party leader has raised the question of the propriety of such an invasion. Here on the coast the general attitude is:

Let them all come, the more the merrier. Let's hear what they have to say.

I AM NOT at all sure of the political wisdom of the Social Credit party in depending so overwhelmingly on outside talent. The selection of an Alberta federal MP as B.C. campaign leader seemed to me to be an obvious admission that there was nobody in B.C. big enough for the job.

The ordinary voter in B.C. is therefore bound to ask himself: If there is nobody in the B.C. Social Credit party big enough to handle the mere campaign, then how many people are there in the party who are fit to sit in the Legislature, or the cabinet?

ALBERTA surely does have one thing to teach B.C. and that is that we never should have been such nitwits as to adopt the silly system called the Transferable Vote.

Everybody who knows the score in B.C. politics today knows perfectly well that the real danger is that no party will get a working majority. Nobody yet knows how many, if any, seats the Social Credit party will win in B.C. But everybody knows they will take a few hundred votes in every riding they run in; and nobody yet knows which parties will suffer most from this.

OF COURSE the Social Credit party cannot be blamed for the Transferable Vote system. It was in effect in Alberta before Social Credit was born. But Alberta's experience plainly shows that it simply means extra complication and nuisance, for no real effect. In other words the same candidates who finally won out in Alberta under the Transferable Vote system are substantially the same as would have won out under the good old British straight X system.

B.C. TOOK another even more backward step in this election. Correct me if I am wrong, you historical Sherlock Holmes but the B.C. ballots which will use in this election will name the political parties to which the various candidates belong. I do not believe this has ever been done before in any election in any part of the British Commonwealth. The British unwritten constitution does not recognize political parties—which are, in fact, a growth that the builders of the British system of democracy never foresaw.

The Americans, Germans, French and Russians have long recognized parties. But my impression is that no other British unit has done so.

THE BRITISH system of absentee voting seems better than the one we will use in B.C. In Britain the absentee voters get their ballots long before the election. They must be mailed in time to be counted, with the rest immediately after the election. Here we must wait for 21 days. Ye gods.

To Shoot or Not, That Is Question Playwright Poses

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON—If a burglar disturbs your beauty sleep, what should you do about it? Get out the old shooting iron or take it lying down?

Sir Alan Herbert, playwright, wit and former parliamentarian, whose logical mind often rebels at the little quirks in British law, poses the question. His own answer, as outlined in an article in the Sunday Times, is that a private citizen who catches a burglar red-handed has not only the right, but a duty, to arrest him. If the burglar, "having notice thereof, resists or flies," the householder, says Sir Alan, should take up the nearest weapon, smite the intruder mightily and if the intruder dies it is justifiable homicide.

Three days after these forthright words were published, a London court took a different view. David Starley, 32, of Northwood, Middlesex, was obliged to pay costs of 20 guineas for taking a pot shot at a man who entered by a window and started flashing a light around Starley's bedroom.

Starley shouted at the intruder, then pulled the trigger. He was convicted of unlawfully wounding, and the prosecutor said:

"It is the duty, as I understand it, of any citizen who knows that a felony has been committed to apprehend the felon, but that citizen is not entitled to take the extreme step of shooting unless there is no other means of apprehension. It seems curious that Starley made no attempt to follow the man."

NO MERCY

The question of to shoot or not to shoot promptly set off a lively correspondence, with most readers in favor of showing no mercy at all. Viscount Hailsham, better known as Quintin Hogg when he was a Conservative member of the House of Commons, "challenged the idea that any householder should feel bound to 'chase his quarry through the darkness clad in pyjamas and barefooted.'"

From Chipping Sodbury in Gloucestershire, 82-year-old Bertram Horne wrote to say he had two friends murdered in their beds by burglars, had no intention of suffering a similar fate and considered it fair warning that a sign in his basement window reads:

"Warning burglars will be shot on sight."

Horne said he has shot every species of vermin and hopes to add a burglar to the list. His bloodthirsty words appeared below this advice from a reader in Oxford, attributed to a learned judge: "Take a double-barreled gun, carefully load both barrels, and then, without attracting burglar's attention, shoot at his heart and dead."

Mrs. Anfield Heads Women's Canadian Club

Mrs. F. E. Anfield was re-elected as president of the Women's Canadian Club last night at its annual general meeting. Other 1952 officers are Mrs. J. B. Gibson, honorary president; Mrs. S. Darton, vice-president; Mrs. W. D. Smith, secretary; Mrs. J. Donaldson, assistant secretary; Mrs. R. Hood, treasurer; Mrs. W. Doumont, assistant treasurer; Mrs. G. W. Graham, Mrs. J. A. Rutherford, Mrs. A. Thompson and Mrs. T. M. Christie, executive officers.

In her presidential address, Mrs. Anfield reminded the ladies of the Diamond Jubilee of Canadian Clubs to be celebrated this fall, and gave a brief outline of the rise of Canadian Clubs since the beginning by a few business men in Hamilton, Ontario, sixty years ago. The local club began in 1923 and in spite of ups and downs, continues to grow slowly but surely in membership.

After reports from various committees, Mrs. Anfield called on the ladies to pay tribute to our late honorary president, Mrs. R. L. MacIntosh, by standing for a few moments in silence.

Mrs. Black was in charge of the nominations and Mrs. Mortimer and Mrs. Bartlett acted as scrutineers. Coffee and doughnuts, provided by members of last year's executive, was a much appreciated ending to the evening.

It is not the length of life that makes us old, but what we let life do to us.

King Edward PTA Reviews Good Year

R. G. Moore, principal of King Edward School, in a short address to the annual meeting of the school's Parent-Teacher Association, thanked members for their help and co-operation during the past year. The meeting was held in the school music room. Annual reports were read by conveners, which showed a very satisfactory year. Through efforts of the association considerable equipment

Bride-To-Be Honored By Shower

Mrs. Delphine Balagno, whose marriage to Mr. Wilfred Whitehouse takes place shortly, was guest of honor at a surprise shower held last night at the home of Miss Gladys Browne. A very enjoyable evening was spent making a scrapbook depicting the life of the bride-to-be from infancy.

Contests were won by Miss Irma McKinnon and Miss Delphine Balagno. Highlight of the evening came when the bride-to-be was presented with a string of balloons, each one when broken revealed the hiding place of many miscellaneous gifts.

Miss Browne presided at the tea table which was centred with flowers flanked by blue tapers.

Those present were the Misses Irma McKinnon, Beverly Fryer, Carole Moorehouse, Louise Anadio, Lorraine Youngman, Evelyn Smith, Jessie Potterton and Mrs. Myrtle Deary.

Friends Honor Bride-Elect With Shower

A delightful miscellaneous shower was held last week at the home of Mrs. Clara Belamy in honor of Miss Gerd Lien whose marriage to Gerald Harvey takes place June 7.

During the evening many different games were played, with prizes going to the winners. The bride-elect was presented with a corsage of pink carnations and was seated beneath a shower umbrella decorated with pink and white streamers, where daintily wrapped gifts were presented.

Delicious refreshments were served by hostesses Miss Hazel Tweed and Miss Joyce Farrington. Those present and sending gifts were Mesdames Clara Belamy, Myrtle Deary, Betty Lien and the Misses Mellaine Brechin, Hazel Tweed, Lois Renshaw, Joyce Farrington, Anne Whiting, Marie Skalmerud, Enid Sedgwick, Margaret Wide and Ann Petroff.

Following installation of officers, refreshments were served by Mrs. W. Peterson and her helpers. The bride-elect was presented with a string of balloons, each one when broken revealed the hiding place of many miscellaneous gifts.

THE EXPERTS Say...

By KAY REX

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Complaints — when they are sent in the right direction and toward the right persons—go a long way towards improving the deal for Canadian shoppers.

This is a topic dear to the heart of Mrs. W. R. Walton, Jr., of Oakville, Ont., president of the Canadian Association of Consumers. In her opinion, the weekly pay cheque would go farther if consumers made certain they got full value for the money spent.

She looks hopefully to the day when the 15,000 individual members and the additional thousands represented in the C.A.C. through other women's organizations will refuse to accept either inferior service or inferior goods. Only then, she says, will prices remain at a reasonable level and the best quality goods appear on all store counters.

Potatoes now are retailing in some parts of the country at $4 for a 50-pound bag, and housewives are wondering why. The C.A.C. has provided an explanation. It blames the potato glut of a year ago.

At that time New Brunswick growers were receiving as low as 65 cents for a 165-pound barrel of potatoes which cost them $1.50 to grow. Small wonder that they planted 14,000 fewer acres last spring. This, coupled with poor weather, resulted in a shortage, consequently potatoes went higher in price.

RICE AS SUBSTITUTE

Rice is one good substitute, certainly until the new spuds begin appearing on the market.

A friend of mine has a special curried dish she serves whenever she wants to use leftover meats.

Rice is the favored vegetable.

Minute rice is best for this meal. Put in cold water and boil for three minutes, drain, cover and let stand for 10 minutes.

Cooked lamb is the best meat to use. Hard-boiled eggs, in halves, also are tasty.

Make a thin white sauce with milk, flour, butter, salt and pepper, in whatever quantity is desired. Flavor to taste with curry powder. When ready add meat or hard-boiled eggs.

Serve with the rice and a tossed green salad.

SAVORY RICE

This is one of the "supper dishes" recommended by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Ingredients: Two tablespoons fat; four tablespoons of diced onion; two cups tomatoes; one-half cup diced celery; four tablespoons diced green pepper; two cups cooked rice; one-quarter cup grated cheese; one-half cup whole wheat bread crumbs; one tablespoon melted fat.

Melt fat and cook onions until limp. Add tomatoes, celery and green pepper and simmer 10 minutes. Combine in greased casserole tomato mixture, rice and cheese. Combine bread crumbs and melted fat and sprinkle over top of mixture. Bake in moderate oven, 350° F., 30 minutes. Serves 5-6.

New Hymnal In Cree Language

WINNIPEG (CP)—Publication of a completely revised edition of a Cree Indian language hymnal is scheduled for next month.

Father Brulot, Roman Catholic missionary of Poplar River, Man., translator of the book, says the new hymnal will replace a book published in 1942 that contains a great many errors in translation. The new hymnal will be published in Winnipeg.

Five thousand copies will be printed and distributed free to Indians of the north.

Father Brulot began work on the hymnal in February. He has typed all the material on a special 42-key typewriter, one of 10 produced in 1942. Its keyboard contains symbols in use in the Cree, Eskimo and Chipewyan languages.

A native of Brittany, France, Father Brulot has spent most of his life in missionary work among the Indians. He lived in many of the settlements in the Pas de la Peste and has been on the Poplar reserve for 10 years.

Veteran Rupert Telegrapher Dies in Toronto

Word was received here today of the death in Toronto yesterday of Leo W. Waugh, veteran telegraph operator in Prince Rupert.

Born at Halifax, Nova Scotia, Mr. Waugh moved to British Columbia in 1905 and worked first at Bamfield, during the laying of the cable to Australia.

He then joined the Canadian Pacific Telegraphs in Vancouver and after several years there, took over the Dominion Government Telegraph office in Prince Rupert, later joining Canadian National Telegraphs here.

Charter member of the Prince Rupert Gryo Club, he also was president of the organization in 1928.

He left Rupert in the early 30's for Toronto, where he was a commercial agent for the CNT and retired a few years ago.

Mr. Waugh married the former Agnes McDonald of Prince Rupert here.

His name will be published in Winnipeg.

Five thousand copies will be printed and distributed free to Indians of the north.

Boyhood Brain Injury Likely Effect Lincoln

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

A kick in the head by a horse apparently fractured Abraham Lincoln's skull in boyhood, causing permanent brain injuries. The injuries may have partly shaped his personality, and indirectly affected his career.

This new viewpoint on Lincoln comes from a psychiatrist, Dr. Edward J. Kempf, writing in the American Medical Association Archives of Neurology and Psychiatry.

The fracture affected Lincoln's eyes, causing double vision and making him neurotic, he suggests. It could have caused a tendency to sink into dull, melancholy blues whenever Lincoln's mind was not being mentally stimulated.

To fight back, Lincoln perhaps strove to keep mentally alert. His passion for justice and love of humor could have been ways of doing this, Dr. Kempf writes.

Some of his clues came from a study of Lincoln's photographs and a life mask made in 1860. The mask shows an unusual depression in the forehead, over the left eye. Dr. Kempf thought

Prince Rupert Daily News
Thursday, May 29, 1952

it might mean a skull fracture. He looked for evidence of such a serious accident, and found it when Lincoln was 19 years old.

UNSHOD HORSE

"He was driving an unshod horse hitched in a circular mill for grinding corn or sugar cane; and, growing impatient of her slow pace, he shouted, 'Get up, you hussy,' and gave her a whack with a stick. She kicked back, hitting him in the forehead."

"He was knocked unconscious for many hours and was thought for a time to be dead. He seems to have recovered without apparent serious after-effects, since he received no special medical attention for the head injury, the doctor living many miles away."

But brain hemorrhages and blood clots from the blow could have left permanent damage, Dr. Kempf says.

Lincoln's left eye was weakened. It would turn upward, showing more white in the eyeball. It gave him a slightly staring effect. It caused double vision, which in turn brought headaches, nausea, indigestion and depression.

The psychiatrist cites other possible signs of brain injury, in weakness of some face muscles, especially on the left side.

HONESTY REWARDED—Ten-year-old Keith Waters of Edmonton, shown with his mother, found an envelope containing $6,990 in a downtown Edmonton lane and turned it over to police. His mother had picked up the "scooped" envelope and discarded it before the boy examined it more closely. The loser, Mrs. Nancy Ferguson-Smith of Spruce Grove, near Edmonton, said she would reward Keith. (CP PHOTO)

Barbara Brent's BUYS AND WHYS

A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, May 29th — Don't let a lovely spring day catch you with the "blues". Chase them away with a glass of sparkling SAL HEPATICA before breakfast. And you'll agree—Sal Hepatica effervescent salts are pleasant to take—gentle as can be. When hubby or son isn't feeling "just right" either, suggest they try Sal Hepatica—it's been a faithful family laxative for over 60 years. Another beauty about Sal Hepatica is that you can use it safely merely as a refresher in the morning—or at night when your system feels the need of a more thorough remedy. So next time you're shopping—ask for a bottle of Sal Hepatica and send the box top or label, with your name and address, to me—Barbara Brent, Dept. M., 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.—and I'll send you a FREE, generous size jar of MUM Cream Deodorant!

Miss Margaret Craigie, 14 Barrie Lane, Galt, Ont., is the first prize winner of $2,000.00 in the CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS $5,000.00 contest recently featured in this column. Payment by certified cheque has now been made to all 144 prize winners. A list of all prize winners will be furnished on request to Confidentially Yours, P.O. Box 550, Station H, Montreal.

If Your Man is like most men I know, he likes—and uses—lots of HEINZ TOMATO KETCHUP. That's why the big 13-ounce bottle of Heinz Ketchup is such a good buy. Just compare it with the 11-ounce bottle of some brands—and see how little extra you pay for Heinz quality. Rich, rosy "Aristocrat" tomatoes, Heinz own vinegar and fragrant spices are just a part of the reason why this ketchup is so good. All these good ingredients are blended as only the Heinz Chef can blend them—to make the best ketchup you've ever tasted. Ask your grocer for the 13-ounce bottle of Heinz Tomato Ketchup next time you're shopping—and be sure to keep a "man sized" supply handy.

It's Not Too Late to plan and shop for the prettiest summer wardrobe you've ever had. And, since a LIGHTNING SLIDE FASTENER is the important "finishing touch" that gives all your clothes a smooth, well fitted look—it's nice to know that there's a Lightning Fastener in just the right size for your summer blouses and skirts. That's Lightning Style No. 702—small, fine and wonderfully flexible. Of course you know Lightning Slide Fasteners have the famous, one and only automatic locking device. They lock where they stop—no slipping—no sticking. No wonder the smartest women I know say no costume is complete without a Lightning Slide Fastener.

You've Never Seen Such Convenience!... Your favourite margarine—pre-cut in individually wrapped, golden-yellow quarter pounds. Just ask for BLUE BONNET DE LUXE MARGARINE and get wonderful Blue Bonnet quality—plus these "De Luxe" advantages... Blue Bonnet De Luxe quarters go right on the dish—look right at the table—no scooping, no slicing—just unwrap what you need. There's real flavour protection—each quarter separately wrapped to seal in the country-sweet Blue Bonnet flavour. And you can forget the measuring cup when you're cooking with De Luxe Blue Bonnet. The handy chart on the package shows you exactly where to cut. Next time you buy Blue Bonnet—ask for Blue Bonnet De Luxe.

Birthdays Are Always Great Occasions! Don't you find that everyone, from the very young to Granddad, enjoys the celebrations? And oh! that moment when the Birthday Cake comes in, aglow with candles. When it is a Swans Down birthday cake, you know you can relax, for the great moment will be climaxed by that first gorgeous, mouthwatering taste. M-m-m. So tender, moist and delicate. All cakes made with SWANS DOWN CAKE FLOUR are especially delicious. Yes, Swans Down is made for better cake baking. It is sifted again and again, until 27 times as fine as ordinary flour. And you make 5 cakes or more from each package of Swans Down Cake Flour.

Timely RECIPES

Here's our favorite recipe for

"Quick Prune Loaf." You can make it and have it on hand to serve with summer fruit salads. The prunes not only give it a rich, fruity accent and dark color but also keep the bread moist and fresh for days. From its appearance one would almost think that it was made with whole wheat flowers. What's more, you can put it together in a matter of a very few minutes with biscuit mix.

QUICK PRUNE LOAF

1 cup cooked prunes
1/2 cup walnuts
2 1/2 cups biscuit mix
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 egg
1/2 cup milk

Cut prunes from pits into small pieces. Chop walnuts. Combine biscuit mix, sugar, cinnamon, prunes and walnuts. Beat eggs lightly and add milk. Stir into first mixture. Turn into bread loaf pan (8 1/2 x 4 1/2 x 2 1/2 inches). Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 1 hour. Turn out onto wire rack to cool.

Makes 1 loaf.

Grow Own Turkeys
LONDON (CP)—A British turkey federation has been organized by farmers in an attempt to rear as many turkeys as are needed in Britain "at prices we can all afford." It is hoped that by 1953 the public will be able to buy home-produced turkeys all year round.

FORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (CP)—Perhaps the stoniest fence in South Africa will be the one being built to keep elephants within the Addo National Park near here. The fence is being made of old steel rails sunk in concrete and interlaced with steel cables. The elephants have been blamed for damage to crops and livestock.

Brooks Lose Second Straight To Arch-Rival League Leaders

Hearn Pitches Giants' Win

By The Canadian Press

NEW YORK.—New York Giants combined extra base-hitting with the fine four-hit pitching of Jim Hearn to defeat Brooklyn Dodgers 6-2 yesterday and stretch their first place lead to 2½ games over their arch National League rivals.

Stage Set For International Series Opener

Final arrangements for the Sunday opener of Ketchikan-Prince Rupert International series were made last night at a meeting of the baseball commis-

A lineup of 19 picked players from the three Rupert teams will be given to playing manager Cliff Dahl from which to choose his playing lineup.

Players have been categorized into four classifications: pitchers, catchers, infielders and outfielders. Dahl, an infielder himself, will designate positions the players will hold.

Meanwhile, complete authority has been given the commission to handle all arrangements where individual teams or all-star representation will play ball outside of the city, said Commissioner Eddie Gladding.

Picked players include Lindsay, Letourneau, Christianson, Sharpe, Hawryluk and Fraser, as pitchers; Abel and Morgan, catchers; Scherk, Gunn, Giordano, Scott, Dahl (manager), and B.

Hearn, working with only two days' rest, fanned five and didn't walk a Dodger until the ninth inning.

Billy Loes, Brooklyn's youthful sensation, went down to his first defeat in six decisions as Giants collected eight hits, including a pair of double and a homer by Dave Williams, a triple by Whitey Lockman and a homer by Don Mueller.

In the only night National game Cincinnati beat Pittsburgh 5-2.

American: Chicago 1, St. Louis 1; Cleveland 2, Detroit 6.

Pacific Coast League: Seattle 2, Sacramento 7; Los Angeles 5, San Francisco 1; Portland 2, San Diego 8; Oakland 4, Hollywood 3.

Simundson, infielders; Pavlikis, Simundson, Hodgson, Cornwell, and Marshall, outfielders.

Players will wear uniforms of their own teams so each sponsor will be represented in the lineup.

The Ketchikan-Rupert opening duel will be a doubleheader Sunday afternoon at Roosevelt Park ball diamond, time to be announced.

It's a New Kind of Chimney

SAVES HEAT - SAVES MONEY

Selkirk
METAL INSULATED CHIMNEY

Comes Complete — Ready to Install

Only one-tenth the weight of a brick chimney, the Selkirk Metal Insulated Chimney consists of three metal sleeves with 2½ inches of fireproof insulation and a ¾-inch sealed air space enclosing the inner flue. This combination keeps the flue hot preventing soot from forming. When your pipe lining is clean, the draft is increased—that's how you can save on fuel. The Selkirk Chimney is ready to install, requires no expensive foundation and under normal conditions never needs cleaning.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Miss Brash Stretches Luck Too Far

On several hands previous to this one, Miss Brash had heaped one indignity after another on Mr. Champion. She had bid more than her cards warranted in each case but, through good play and fantastically good luck, she had brought every contract home, some of them doubled.

On this deal, however, the day of reckoning had arrived. Miss Brash's nine honor cards went to her head. She couldn't stay out of the bidding and tried one no trump after both opponents had bid and her partner had passed.

Mr. Champion doubled savagely and led the seven of clubs. Mr. Master's 10 lost to the queen. Miss Brash led the five of diamonds and won the trick with dummy's 10. She returned a heart, played the jack and lost to the king.

When Mr. Champion now cashed the ace of clubs and saw the king drop, a fiendish expression came over his face. If his partner had the king of spades, he could see what was going to happen.

He whipped the top of the table with three more clubs, enjoying every second of it. "Take that, and that, and that," he shouted, remembering the humiliation of past deals.

Mr. Masters had no trouble discarding, dropping two worthless diamonds and the seven of spades. But on the last club Miss Brash was squeezed. She had to unguard some suit and finally chose to bare the king of diamonds.

Mr. Champion then cashed the ace of that suit, felling the king. When he next led the nine of diamonds, Miss Brash was squeezed again. She had the once-guarded queen of hearts and three spades to the queen.

She elected to let go a small heart, whereupon both of Mr. Champion's hearts became winners. The ace and king of spades completed the massacre. Miss Brash was down five at a one bid—1400 points.

"Nice bid," needed Mr. Champion. "You kept us from mak-

"I don't understand it," said Miss Brash truthfully. "I had a big hand. And incidentally," she added, "for that business about 'take that and that, etc.', I'm going to fix you good."

And she probably will.

U.S. Cool To Canadian Aluminum

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government officials today postponed indefinitely a decision on whether to purchase Canadian aluminum for the United States stockpile. It is to be held up until a congressional committee can make a report on the aluminum supply situation.

Mainly Fleischmann, retiring head of the Defence Production Administration, offered to postpone a decision while testifying before the joint committee on defence production.

Senator J. William Fulbright (Dem.-Ark.) asked a committee study.

Purchases of Canadian aluminum for stockpiling have been recommended by Samuel W. Anderson, deputy to Fleischmann.

Anderson told the committee today that despite the expansion of aluminum capacity in the United States, he feels arrangements should be made to get further supplies.

He recommended that the government encourage additional U.S. expansion, preferably by new producers, to the extent of about 75,000 tons a year, and contract with the Aluminum Company of Canada for another 75,000 tons a year during the year 1954-58.

Fulbright said the government, during and since the Second World War, has provided financial aid to the extent of nearly $500,000,000 to the Aluminum Company of Canada. He complained:

"Despite all of this financial aid given by the United States, the Aluminum Company of Canada failed us when we needed them most."

Fleischmann told the committee there is now no agreement or commitment with the Canadian company for additional aluminum imports.

He said he would not be willing to make any agreement unless it gave the U.S. a call on specific amounts of Canadian aluminum during the contract period.

Man Trapped By Juke Box

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — Bill Bowen got trapped, of all places, in a juke box.

It took a rescue party to free him. Bowen, 36-year-old music firm employee, was changing records Saturday in one of the music boxes when he decided to play a few "free ones" for the patrons of the bar. While reaching inside the machine to trip the proper levers, the mechanism caught his wrist and held it tightly.

He was trapped for more than an hour while the bartender and customers offered advice and solace. A group of mechanics answering hurry-up calls, finally freed him after taking part of the coin machine apart.

Bowen's hand looked like the St. Louis Blues when it came out, but it was undamaged.

Kremlin Raked By President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman raked the Kremlin today for "passing out lies" that United Nations have used germ warfare in Korea.

President told White House delegations:

"The Kremlin cries that we have used germ warfare. There isn't a word of truth in it. We have never broken the Geneva Convention in 974 operations in Korea."

"And they know that. They know it well. But they keep on passing out lies that have no foundation in fact whatever."

TORONTO (AP) — Six Canadians have come into sudden wealth as the result of hospital sweepstake tickets on winning horses in yesterday's Epsom Derby.

New Vote Plan No Cinch For Those Counting

VANCOUVER (AP) — A dummy run on British Columbia's June 12 general election was held at city hall here Tuesday. Returning officers held their heads.

Alternative voting will be used for the first time in B.C. in the approaching election. This enables electors to mark their preferences for all candidates instead of simply putting an "X" beside the name of a single candidate.

In the experimental vote, six candidates were entered on one ballot. It took three officials of the city clerk's office, long experienced in elections, four hours to complete the counting of 500 ballots.

On election night, only first-choice ballots will be counted. In ridings where a candidate does not receive a majority, a second—or third or fourth, as necessary—count will be made three weeks after the election date. In large ridings, there will be as many as 40,000 or 50,000 ballots to count.

"You can imagine how much aspirin we will need," said James O'Loane, returning officer for Vancouver-Point Grey.

II who placed third. Those holding tickets worth $140,000 on Aga Khan's Tulyar, the winning horse, are three residents of the Toronto district and one in the Hamilton area.

Toronto area winners are Mr. and Mrs. Nat Brown, of suburban Thornhill; Solly Cohen, and Mr. and Mrs. Keith McMahon, of suburban York Mills.

Mrs. McMahon is an 18-year-old bride of nine months and her husband is 23.

The Hamilton district holder of a ticket on Tulyar is A. Klernowski, of Smithville.

A ticket on Tulyar in the Quebec Army-Navy Sweepstakes brought Robert Frenet of Quebec City $40,000.

D. L. Dahmer of Montreal has Irish sweep ticket on runner-up Gay Time, and collects $56,000.

Highest Foreign Investment In Canadian Economics

By The Canadian Press

OTTAWA.—More than $1,500,000,000 in foreign investment—the highest in history—flowed into Canada during the last two years to boost Canadian economic expansion, Graham Towers said here in a report.

Governor of the Bank of Canada made these statements in his 1951 annual report of the Exchange Control Board in the Commons:

"There has been nothing to compare with the current investment boom in this country. The net inflow of investment—$960,000,000 in 1951 and $560,000,000 in 1950—can only be compared with the expansion period in the 1920s, but even so "the net inflow of investment from domestic capital is, on a much higher total." The rate of net capital inflow had dropped by $400,000,000 in 1951, but the total of $1,460,000,000 was larger than in any previous year before 1950. It was more than 11 times as much as the total of $140,000,000 in 1949.

Direct investment from the United States climbed during 1951 to a peak of $259,000,000, with the biggest part of it going into western oil, iron and steel, and pulp and paper. It did not include reinvested earnings of foreign branches and affiliated companies. Canada's official reserves rose to $1,741,500,000 on Dec. 31, 1951, up from $1,741,500,000 on Dec. 31, 1950. The increase, $37,000,000, was sharply down from the $240,000,000 climb in the previous year.

As a result of a climb in the Canadian dollar toward parity, Canada had to write off $81,000,000 as a loss due to depreciation in the value of the reserves, which in terms of American dollars, had fallen to $1,660,000,000.

Towers' report was in the form of a swan song for the Exchange Control Board, established at the beginning of the Second World War. Foreign-exchange controls still exist on paper, but are not in practice.

And Now We May Cut Lawns The Easy Way

SEATTLE (AP)—A University of Washington graduate student has what he calls "the lazy man's dream"—a remote-controlled lawnmower.

Sterling Stewart sat in the comfortable shade of a porch to handle the controls in a demonstration of the electrically-operated device. The operator can swing it to either side or keep it operating in the same spot to chop at tall grass.

A 75-foot electric cord winds on a spool atop a four-wheeled machine.

Stewart says he built it from salvage materials for about $7.

This We Believe—

A Statement of Principles on the June 12 Liquor Plebiscite

The voters at the provincial election on June 12 will be asked to vote on this question in a province-wide plebiscite:

Are you in favor of the sale of spirituous liquors and wine by the glass in establishments licensed for such purpose?

YES ☐ X ☒ NO ☐

We believe the answer from the citizenry should be a resounding "YES!"—we believe our liquor laws in B.C. are antiquated and poor—we believe liquor by the glass should be approved; and these are our reasons:

OUR LIQUOR LAWS NEED TO BE MODERNIZED:

THEY ENCOURAGE LAW-BREAKING by forcing the average citizen who wishes a glass of wine or a cocktail or highball with dinner in a public place, to have them surreptitiously and in violation of the law.

THEY TEND TO CORRUPT YOUTH, because they expose young people to the example of adults drinking at or actually taking part in violating the law.

THEY IMPOSE UNFAIRLY UPON PUBLIC OFFICIALS by requiring them to administer and enforce unpopular and unworkable laws.

THEY ADVERSELY AFFECT TOURIST TRAVEL by denying visitors the hospitality offered by other Canadian provinces and by the neighboring states of Washington, Idaho, and Montana.

THEY ARE DISCRIMINATORY because they (a) permit one class of persons—the members of private clubs—to purchase wines and liquor by the glass, but forbid others to do so; (b) similarly, they permit one very limited type of establishment—the private club—to sell wines and liquor by the glass, but forbid other eating establishments with which the clubs compete to do so.

LIQUOR BY THE GLASS SHOULD BE APPROVED:

IT PROMOTES TEMPERANCE by making it unnecessary to buy a whole bottle in order to have one drink.

IT REDUCES LAW-BREAKING by eliminating washroom drinking, reduces hotel-room drinking, and wipes out the bottle-under-the-table evil.

IT MAKES POSSIBLE SERVING LIQUOR AND FOOD TOGETHER, conceded by everyone to be one of the most temperate uses of spirits.

IT REMOVES THE PRINCIPAL SOURCE OF INCOME FOR THE BOOT-LEGGERS and other shady characters in the illegal traffic in liquor.

IT RAISES STILL FURTHER THE STANDARDS OF MEALS AVAILABLE TO THE PUBLIC, by providing eating establishments with an additional volume of business.

FOR ALL OF THE ABOVE REASONS, IT WILL RESULT IN BETTER COMMUNITIES in which to live and to rear families.

working out the details in the public interest.

We invite every citizen who is interested in community improvement, to join us in this effort toward a better, safer system for the sale of liquor. No obligation. Phone your name and add it to the growing list of active supporters.

Business Spotlight

By FORBES RHUDE
(Canadian Press Business Editor)

Canada spent much more in the United States in 1951 than the United States spent or invested in Canada.

Only the fact that sterling-area and other countries bought more from Canada than she did from them, enabled Canada to end the year on the right side of the ledger.

These points are brought out in clearer light than usual in the current business review of the Bank of Montreal.

In goods and services, or on what is known as current account, Canadian purchases in the United States were $955,000,000 more than American purchases here.

This deficit was offset in part by a net movement of capital from the United States of $560,000,000. This left Canada short by $395,000,000 in its American accounts and, in the review's words, "dependent for these funds on the ability and willingness of overseas countries to buy substantially more from us than we bought from them."

As it turned out, the sterling area, on the year, paid us $174,000,000 to balance its deficit with us; and similarly, other countries paid us $260,000,000. This gave Canada an over-all favorable balance with all countries of $39,000,000.

The relatively small favorable balance in 1951 was a sharp decrease from one of $394,000,000 in 1950. In that year Canada had a deficit with the world on current account of $329,000,000, but this was heavily outweighed by a net capital inflow of $1,023,000,000.

The deficits on current account in 1950 and 1951, the review notes, were the first experienced by Canada since the early '30's. It adds:

"This did not stem from declining exports but from the fact that imports were even more buoyant than the rising export trade."

"The import curve was sustained by purchases of machinery and equipment needed in domestic plant expansion, and was particularly strong from mid-1950 through the third quarter of 1951, reflecting both the post-Korea buying boom in civilian goods and the heavy initial dependence of Canada's defence program on U.S. commitments."

The review notes that the 1951 deficit on current account was concentrated in the first half of the year and that "for at least six months to the end of March this year Canada has again been paying her way in current international transactions, a factor which is of considerable significance in accounting for the recent strength of the Canadian dollar."

The review states, however, that the persistence of large contrary balances with the United States under conditions of continuing dollar stringency overseas, "remains as a vulnerable element in Canada's trading structure."

In regard to the flow of foreign capital into Canada, while the net amount in 1951 was only about half that of 1950, the review feels the 1951 external investment in Canada was of a more stable nature. Also, it notes, "Canada has been underwriting a larger share of its own development in the current period than in times past."

US Battleship Nearly Sold To Russians

WASHINGTON (AP)—Long-secret United States state papers have disclosed that President Roosevelt on the eve of the Second World War personally sanctioned a proposal to sell plans for a 62,000-ton super-battleship to Russia.

The plans were to have been sold by a private firm of naval architects and a special mission of naval architects was sent to Moscow to negotiate, but the Russians turned down the deal.

The story was disclosed with publication by the State Department of more than 1000 documents bearing on the troubled relations of the U.S. and Russia during 1933-39.

But if a battleship were built for Russia in the U.S., Roosevelt said, there must be a 45,000-ton limit on its size to conform with an existing treaty.

Colorful Figure Of Central B.C. Laid To Rest

Special to the Daily News
FRANCOIS LAKE—Oldtimers throughout the Lakes district were shocked to hear of the death at Vancouver of Frank R. Keefe.

A contractor by trade, Mr. Keefe was widely known throughout the hinterland of the central interior of B.C. as "The Duke."

News of his death on May 9, brought back memories to citizens living all the way from Quesnel to Prince Rupert and from Burns Lake to Bella Bella.

The Keefe home near Southbank was renowned for its hospitality.

At Southbank, Mr. Keefe built one of the first sawmills on Francois Lake and with Gus Westburg and Axel Olson as partners, continued the milling and building contracting business.

Mr. Keefe was born at Wolfstown, Quebec, in 1871 and moved to Phoenix, B.C., in 1904 where he was employed by the Granby Company. He worked on considerable construction jobs in Wells.

He was well known in the remote parts of northern B.C. as a fur buyer, a occupation he followed during the winter months for many years.

During the war he was foreman for the B.C. Bridge and Construction Company at Vancouver and in the Nanaimo and Campbell River areas.

Funeral services were held at St. Patrick's Church, Vancouver, where Rt. Rev. Louis Forget said requiem Mass.

Besides his widow, Mr. Keefe leaves a daughter, Mrs. Ken Barbour of Brantford, Ont., a sister Mrs. Hurley of Windsor, Ont., and a brother, John H. Keefe, of Francois Lake.

ACROSS BORDER—Negro baritone Paul Robeson, barred from entry into Canada, sang for two hours from a flatbed truck before some 6,000 persons at the ePace Arch Park at Blaine, Wash., near Vancouver on the Canada-United States border. Robeson's appearance was sponsored by the left-wing International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelters Workers (Ind.) of Vancouver. Scores of Washington State patrolmen mingled with the crowd, many of them Canadians, but there was no disorder. (CP Photo)

Red Forces In Korea Doubled

LONDON (CP)—Earl Alexander, Britain's defence minister, said here Communist forces in North Korea have been almost doubled since cease-fire talks began last July.

He said Communist forces were not far short of 1,000,000 men compared with some 500,000 last July. Most reinforcements were Chinese, he added.

"Communist forces have taken full advantage of the lull in fighting to reinforce, reorganize and re-equip armies," he told the House of Lords.

HISTORIC BRIDGES

About 300 covered bridges are still in use in New Brunswick, more than in any other Canadian province.

Stewart Notes

STEWART—One of the most popular members of the police force in the north country for many years, Sergeant Lance Potterton, bade farewell to his many friends here this week.

Sgt. Potterton, who was a member of the B.C. Police Force until he joined the RCMP, is retiring on June 1, after 34 years of service in B.C. He was stationed in Stewart for 11 years.

The popular policeman said it will take some time for him to get used to wearing civilian clothes. He plans to make his home near Kamloops.

Among visitors in Stewart during the past week was Thomas W. Brown, Q.C. of Prince Rupert.

William D. Smith will carry the banner for the Liberal party; Frank Calder is seeking re-election as CCF candidate, and Thomas S. Mackay is running as Progressive Conservative. The Social Credit party is not contesting the seat.

Premier Johnson is expected to speak in Stewart on Friday.

Lawrence May, who came to B.C. five years ago from Ontario, has been appointed customs officer here succeeding George Lupick who resigned.

Robert Macleod, Returning Officer for Atlin district, visited

Prince Rupert last week-end to check on the completion of ballot boxes for the June 12 provincial election. He was accompanied by Duncan Ferguson, election clerk.

The society in Canada currently operates on a provincial basis, but it is Mr. Corson's hope that each organization in the various provinces can co-ordinate its activities under a national plan.

From the Ontario office, located in Toronto, five case workers—all university graduates in social work—move into the penal institutions to begin the work of rehabilitation.

"We operate on no master plan," says Mr. Corson. "Each case is handled individually;
they all seem to have their own special problems."

The case worker begins with a psychological study of the prisoner-to-be-released, then follows through with a morale-building campaign. On his release the ex-convict is given material help.

Then the society helps the man overcome the most difficult obstacle—the finding of a job.
Many obstacles must be overcome such as the public view of ex-convicts and the intervention of troublemakers.

The society closes the case when the ex-convict proves to his employer and to the world generally that he has "gone straight."

Kemano Tunnel Workers Strike

VANCOUVER (C)—Five huntoday at Kemano development of the Aluminum Company of Canada.

Details are not known here but one report said workers walked off the job after four men had been fired for refusing to work with machinery they considered unsafe.

Union officials said a meeting with the management has been called for later today.

WITH COMMONWEALTH DI-VISION, Korea (AP)—The wild cry of the Scottish bagpipes fought against the thunder of north-bound jets as the kilted band of the King's Own Scottish Borderers piped retreat only a few dusty miles from the Korean front lines.

It was a colorful, precise performance. Young Scots from the most-decorated British battle unit in Korea shouted and whirled in the lightfooted Highland fling.

In the distance, artillery rumbled and the sound carried back to the carefree Scots.

The band, wearing the Royal Stuart tartan, entertained visiting United States soldiers with snappy marches and slow laments. A few puzzled Koreans eavesdropped.

The show was topped by an ancient lament, bemoaning the 15th-century slaughter of the "flowers of the forest"—the cream of Scottish manhood—in fights for Scotland's independence.

HOMESICK

But soon the bare-kneed Scots were swirling their kilts and marching briskly down an impromptu parade ground, piping their regimental march.

"It made me a little homesick," said Pipe-Major Donald Mackinnon. "My old grandmother was a piper on the Isle of Skye."

The 37-year-old Scot, whose wife and two sons live in Berwick-on-Tweed, was a fighter pilot in the Second World War.

Mackinnon and the Borderers have been in Korea about 13 months. Their battle record is superb. The men have not been home for almost three years.
Their last duty station was in Hong Kong.

VANCOUVER (CP)—A layman told doctors yesterday that they must realize they are dealing with human beings and not "biological atoms."

Hon. H. H. Stevens, president of the Vancouver Board of Trade, was addressing the 30th annual summer school session of the Vancouver Medical Association.

In other speeches the doctors spoke of socialized medicine and hypertension.

"Professional men must recognize the human element in the daily act," Mr. Stevens said.
"Don't forget that we subjects of medical examination are something more than biological atoms."

"The only hope of the world is for all branches of professional activity to recognize that we deal with human beings."

Dr. Stanley Miller, a Canadian who has been visiting New Zealand, said socialized medicine in that country has turned doctors into "civil servants who work from nine to five."

"Doctors close shop at 5 p.m.
without any qualms," he said.
"Problem cases that may come up 'out of hours' are dealt with by the nearest hospital," he said.

He said the personal touch between the physician and patient is being destroyed in New Zealand.

He said, however, "the treatment given the individual is generally good, although completely impersonal."

Dr. Robert A. Bruce of the University of Washington warned delegates that hypertension is reducing the life expectancy in North America by from 10 to 20 years.
He said hypertension is recognized as a disease with "very specific causes which can be "cured" if people consult their doctor.

EARLY NAVIGATOR
The Mascarene Islands in the Indian Ocean, including Mauritius, were discovered in 1545 by the Portuguese Mascarenhas.

Amateur Radio Operator Links Arctic Weather Man With Families and Friends

Firemen Halt London Fire

LONDON (P)—Firemen battling throughout the night had this morning controlled London's biggest blaze since wartime air raids.

The fire, sweeping through a five-storey warehouse in the heart of the dock area, at one time threatened dozens of other warehouses and factories.

Hundreds of persons living nearby were evacuated, many in their night clothes.

EDMONTON (P)—Almost daily Charles H. Harris of Edmonton breaks the monotony for seven men at a weather observation station on Prince Patrick Island in the Arctic.

Except for Mr. Harris the weather observers' only communication with families and friends come with air mail deliveries and pickups twice each year and a special mail drop at Christmas.

Mr. Harris, a retired railroad engineer, is an amateur radio operator. From his radio set in the dining room of his home he talks direct with the weather station men nearly every day.

The station, one of those operated as a joint project of the United States Weather Bureau and the Canadian Department of Transport, is about 1500 miles north of Edmonton.

In signing up to go to the station, the men agree to remain for one year, 1 1/2 years or two years.

Mr. Harris first made contact with Prince Patrick Island in November, 1951. He was asked to relay a few messages to the men's families.

Letters from friends and relations, containing messages for the men, came to Mr. Harris from all parts of the U.S. and Eastern Canada. He has been handling the personal messages for the men and their families ever since.

He arranged a schedule for daily contact. He communicates with the weather men every afternoon that radio conditions are favorable. He has received 149 messages from the outpost and sent 125.

Mr. Harris first became interested in radio during the First World War when he served in an army signal company. It was not until 1926, however, that he received his amateur radio licence and began communicating with other "ham" radio enthusiasts around the world.

Mr. Harris estimates that over the years he had made about 8600 contacts with other amateur radio stations, picking up calls from New Zealand, Europe and South America. He has also spoken with other weather stations in the far north, including Alert, a small outpost 350 miles from the North Pole.

He is a member of the American Radio Relay League and is secretary of the Northern Alberta Radio Club.

Order To Kill Issued By Reds In Revenge

BERLIN (P)—Communist East Germany has tightened its squeeze on blockade-threatened Berlin another notch.

Orders went out to Red police to shoot to kill anyone caught without a proper pass in the Iron Curtain's new three-mile no-man's-land along the West German border.

Shooting order was the latest in a series of revenge moves against the Bonn government's alliance with the west. It all but sealed off the Communist-girt former capital, which trembled in fear of a resumption of the 1948-49 siege.

Russians continued their ban on allied military patrols traveling the 110-mile Berlin-Helmstedt autobahn, sole highway link between the isolated city and the West. Regular civilian traffic continued to flow normally.

In Paris, Big Three western powers said they would regard the aggression against Berlin as a threat to their own security.

Alberta May Supply Coke To Kitimat

OTTAWA (P)—Alberta is expected to be the source of coal and petroleum coke for the multi-million dollar aluminum project at Kitimat, an executive of the Aluminum Company of Canada told the Senate transport committee.

A. W. Whitaker, vice-president and general manager of Aluminum Company, said that was one reason the company wanted the Canadian National Railways to build the 46-mile rail line from Terrace to Kitimat.

Mr. Whitaker was one of three witnesses heard as the committee studied in detail the bill to authorize construction of the $10,000,000 rail link. G. H. Paterson and A. B. Rosevear, both of Montreal, appeared for CNR.

Mr. Whitaker said the company hopes to buy petroleum coke in the Edmonton area. Petroleum coke is one of the necessities for manufacturing aluminum from aluminum oxide which will be brought in by boat from Jamaica.

Some petroleum coke was being bought already in the Edmonton area. Company is trying to convince oil companies to produce more as a by-product of their refinery operations in Alberta oil fields.
