Double Trouble

FRANK OF PHOTOGRAPHERS—trying always to get the best possible pictures—is the double exposure. When this happens, the result is usually embarrassing to the photographer. In this case, however, the result is surprising, as in the case of the above picture, which seems to show two flights of U.S. Air Force F-80 Shooting Stars roaring through skies in opposite directions. Actually, there was only one flight, but a double exposure, accidentally shot by a 20th Air Force photographer on Okinawa, resulted in this unusual picture of the same planes apparently flying two ways at the same time.

Rupert-Kitimat Supply Line Opens With Barge Service

Huge Transformers Leave Tomorrow

First supply line from Prince Rupert to the Aluminum Company of Canada's smelter site at Kitimat is scheduled to open tomorrow. Initial shipments will include several carloads of heavy transformers and will leave from the Canadian National Railways' barge ferry slip here for towing to Kitimat. CNR officials said today they expect a large amount of heavy equipment to be shipped through Prince Rupert this year to Kitimat where construction of Alcan's huge aluminum smelter is under way. The Rupert-Kitimat barge service will likely remain as a steady supply line until completion of the Terrace-Kitimat rail link in 1954, officials estimated. Vancouver Tugboat Co.'s barge La Garde was expected to arrive here later today to take on the first load. The heavy transformers are arriving here on extra large flat decks and weigh between 60 and 70 tons. At Kitimat, the ferried equipment will be lifted out of the cars at the dock with Alcan's big derrick. There is no ferry slip there at present.

Bennett Predicts Victory

VANCOUVER—Premier W. A. C. Bennett said Thursday night the outcome of British Columbia's June 9 election will be known two hours after the polls close "and we will have elected a majority government." In the June 12 election last year, the seat which put Social Credit into position to form a minority government was not decided until 29 days, 18 hours and 43 minutes after the polls closed. Fifty days after election the minority government moved into office. "There will be none of the waiting around for weeks until we know the results," Premier Bennett told 2,300 persons attending an election rally here. "The result will be known two hours after the polls close and we will have elected a majority government."

Blast Wrecks Pole Bearing Reward Poster

NELSON (CP)—A power pole, carrying a poster offering a $100 reward for information on recent power line blasts, was splintered in the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor country near here Wednesday night. The pole was apparently shattered by dynamite. It was the first violence in the district of the fanatical "Sons" since last week-end, when seven homes were burned. The blast caused a power blackout in several villages.

Paper Boys Asked to Pick Up Answers to Questionnaire

Subscribers who received questionnaires distributed by The Daily News in connection with a national consumer survey being made to determine Canada's buying habits are asked to have them ready now so they may be forwarded to Toronto where the results will be analyzed. When the analysis is completed, the findings will be made known for all cities that participated. It is therefore urged that Prince Rupert citizens fill out the questionnaires as fully as possible so that this city will be represented in the final report, which will be publicized. News carriers have been instructed to pick up the questionnaires, starting today. If some subscribers miss their newsboys, the questionnaires may be mailed or delivered personally to the Daily News. Prizes are going to the carriers whose routes make the best showing.

Korea War Rages

Armies Battle Under Full Moon

SEOUL—United States and Turkish troops withdrew from outposts Vegas and Elko tonight as the big Chinese drive rose in fury along the ancient invasion road to Seoul, 30 miles to the south. Allied artillery at once loosed a furious bombardment on the two scared heights. Chinese guns replied and an artillery duel raged beneath a full moon. Some 15,000 Chinese were locked in battle with the Allies and both armies poured reinforcements into the mounting battle. Associated Press correspondent Forrest Edwards reported "one big cloud of dust, smoke and exploding shells" along a five-mile front. U.S. and Turkish troops swarmed up the slopes of outpost Carson in a drive to oust Red troops who grabbed the strong point Thursday night in an initial 5,000-man assault. A front-line officer said British's Duke of Wellington Regiment, which with the Turks bore the brunt of the Chinese attacks in the west, was holding firm on Hook, 10 to 12 miles east of Panmunjom. The Britons pushed back 2,000 Chinese after a bloody six-hour battle on Hook. Heavy casualties were inflicted on the Chinese. The picture from the front was confused, but apparently the Chinese were trying to push through low valleys separating the outposts and hills guarding the historic invasion route to Seoul. It was reported at United Nations headquarters that casualties in Korea have reached a total of 2,303,542 for both sides. Casualty figures for the U.S., Canada, South Korea and other allies total 406,542. Total Communist casualties are estimated at 1,897,000.

New Soviet Move in Germany May Lead to Four-way Talks

MOSCOW (CP)—Western diplomats here said today they regard the replacement of military control by a civilian Soviet high commission in East Germany as considerably strengthening the power of Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov. He now will have, they said, direct and personal control of German affairs in the Soviet-occupied zone. Previously, these had been under the defence ministry and, indirectly, the whole Soviet government. The Kremlin announced on Thursday that V. S. Semyonov, one of the country's leading German experts, had been appointed Soviet high commissioner for Germany. He will take over from Gen. Vassily Chukov, chief of the Soviet control commission. Diplomats speculated that the reason for the shift might be a possibility that the Soviet Union may propose talks on reunification of Germany among the civilian high commissioners of Britain, France and U.S.

17 Mau Mau Terrorists Killed in Raid

NAIROBI, Kenya (CP)—African troops, police and Kikuyu militia killed 17 terrorists and wounded three in a concerted drive on anti-white Mau Mau gangs in Klambu reserve in the last 24 hours, a government statement said Wednesday. More than 130 miles to the north, on the slopes of snow-capped Mount Kenya, a British patrol flushed a dozen terrorists in thick forests, killing one and wounding two others.

Promote Sale of Fish

TO JUDGE from comments made at the last annual meeting of the Fisheries Council of Canada, the fishing industry is missing some good chances to make its product more acceptable to the average buyer. The full possibilities of the housewife as a shopper are, for example, being overlooked.

"Create an awareness on the part of Mrs. Consumer of the necessity of including more fish in Canadian diets," Mrs. W. R. Walton, of the Canadian Association of Consumers, urged. "Make fish look attractive to her and at the same time ensure its uniform quality and fresh-tasting flavor at competitive prices. Make her want to buy fish, special kinds, different kinds, seasonal kinds, and design your promotional work for the Canadian mass market and give fish recipes with each package of fish you sell her."

Another speaker with ideas was J. Levine, a Montreal food merchant. It was his opinion that the industry is losing out by not packaging fish to sell competitively with other food products in the self-serve food chain stores. Observing that in just a few years poultry has changed from a Sunday dish into one that is popular several days in the week, Mr. Levine suggested that fish could similarly progress from a Friday dish.

He believed this could be accomplished by heeding the five key factors which have led to the development of modern self-service packaging. They are visual appeal, quality and grade, brand names, efficiency of packaging materials, and instructions for use of the produce. Mr. Levine also recommended a baby food line in fish.

It therefore appears that, although Canadian fish consumption has been boosted to an all-time high, there is still more room at the top. As our own thought, we might suggest those in the industry establish publicity departments to send attractive recipes and illustrations to publications throughout the country. A U.S. organization promoting consumption of rice could give some useful pointers in this. So could another that recommends people eat honey.

While that factor of "competitive prices" is still the decisive one, a little ingenuity could do much to ease the strain.

OTTAWA DIARY

By Norman M. MacLeod

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent will begin his election campaign in St. John's, Newfoundland. Dates being considered are Saturday, June 20th, and Wednesday, June 24th.

The occasion will be made doubly significant by the fact that J.H. Pickersgill, Newfoundland's cabinet minister-designate in succession to Senate-bound Gordon Bradley, will make his first platform appearance as a fully-fledged Cabinet Minister.

In Parliament Hill political circles interest in the Pickersgill debut comes close to transcending interest in the Prime Minister's performance. The reason lies in the steadily accumulating mass of rumors in the Capital which declare that there is considerably more than just what meets the eye in Pickersgill's call to the Cabinet. The latest word is that the present Clerk of the Privy Council—where his salary was $15,000 annually good until he reached retirement age—has been brought into the government by the Prime Minister in the role of Crown Prince. Reportedly it is he whom Mr. St. Laurent has singled out to be his successor. The Pearsons, the Abbotts, the Paul Martins and the Walter Harris's are said to have all failed to show the line of goods which Mr. St. Laurent insists on his successor possessing.

From the standpoint of the great rank-and-file of the fighting Liberal faithful, a convincing sales-talk can be built around Pickersgill's leadership qualifications. He was the brilliant protégé of the great MacKenzie King, whose mind and political philosophy he came to share ultimately on a basis of intimacy which the great Chief-tain extended to no other associate. Then when St. Laurent came into the leadership largely green and wholly inexperienced in the intricate art of party

Election Poetry

VERNON: Here in the interior of B.C. a lot of people are having a lot of fun out of the B.C. election—but very definitely not the Soereds.

Many hard-headed political experts hereabouts will bet that Social Credit will not win more than one seat in this whole interior belt from Revelstoke through Salmon Arm, and down to the U.S. border.

I am making no predictions myself, just reporting what I see and hear.

The main facts about the Soereds are that they are quarrelling amongst themselves like Kilkenny cats, and here in the North Okanagan there are really nasty inter-denominational religious undertones to the wide-open Soered split.

IN MY OLD days on eastern papers we always knew when spring was coming because the poets suddenly burst forth even before the first robin appeared—so the epidemic of poetry that has burst forth in these parts surely suggests some big bust up on June 9.

Some of the poems are parodies on old favorites like "Who Killed Cock Robin?"

Here for instance is part of a ten verse affair:

Who killed the Tory party? I said the little smarty, With my pal Tilly, I killed the Tory party.

Who made Reid a hero? I said Eric Martin, I think I was smart in making Reid a hero.

Who built the P.G.E., We said the Social C. We built the P.G.E. right up to Prince G. We built the P.G.E.

Another poem reads:

Who brought order out of chaos? We said the Social Credit, in eight months we did it. We brought order out of chaos.

Then the following is inserted in brackets:

(The Bible says the Lord did it, in six days He did it—but that was before Social Credit).

LISTENING to several candidates lately in various parts of the province I find the main concentration on the school issue.

The Liberals are pointing to the obvious facts that the Soereds, like an army in retreat, have thrown away just about everything except the Rolston formula on school taxes.

They see that the B.C. Soereds are trying to get B.C. municipalities in a position of dependence on centralized government exactly as in Alberta where the debt picture is as follows:

In 1944 the Alberta provincial debt was $151 million. In 1951 this had been reduced to $98 million. But in the same period Alberta municipal debts had increased from $42 million to $116 million. Thus, while the Soered government was reducing debts at the centre by $53 million its policies, much the same as the Rolston formula, were increasing the municipalities debts by $74 million.

Japan to Buy Canadian Paper

TOKYO (CP)—Japan has set aside $200 million to import Canadian newsprint because of a big paper mill strike which began Tuesday, an industrial spokesman said today.

He said he expects 8,000 tons of newsprint will arrive here by the end of June—enough to supply Japan's newspapers for one week.

The Japanese mill which supplies more than 40 per cent of Japan's newsprint was closed because the company refused demands for a wage increase.

BATTLE OF THE ATLANTIC was observed in Halifax and nearby Dartmouth with about 2,300 navy personnel taking part in church parades. Officers from HMCS Stadacona are at the cenotaph at Halifax's grand parade while civilians who also took part in the ceremony line the streets.

POLITICAL ROUNDUP

... by J. K. Nesbitt

VICTORIA.—Premier Bennett says that Social Credit will get 60 per cent of the popular vote in the June 9 election!

Solicitor-General Ralph Campney says Social Credit will disappear, and that the Liberals will come back.

It would seem both are unduly optimistic, or perhaps they're just whistling to keep their courage up. Politicians, of course, on the eve of an election always talk big. They think that by so doing, they spread the bandwagon idea—and that everybody likes to climb on a bandwagon.

If Social Credit gets 60 per cent of the vote, or the Liberals get back, it will be little short of a miracle. Either would be the biggest flip-flop in our history.

According to official figures now on file in the Legislative Buildings here, Social Credit last year took 30.18 per cent of the total vote. The CCF was first with 34.30 per cent. The Liberals came out third, with 25.28 per cent, and the Conservatives were way down with 9.66 per cent. Other parties and independents had 60 per cent.

Surely, looking at last year, there won't be the startling changes that Messrs. Bennett and Campney predict.

Voters in small places and rural areas are more alert when it comes to voting than people in big cities. Why this should be so is a mystery. Voting facilities in crowded districts like Vancouver are generally more convenient than in rural areas. Yet rural people turn out to vote, and Vancouver people don't.

Vancouver Centre riding, in last June's election, had the poorest turnout of the entire province—but 51.22 per cent of the registered voters. Vancouver Burrard wasn't much better—57.28 per cent; then Vancouver East, 63.44 per cent, and Vancouver-Point Grey, 64.93 per cent.

Yale riding had the best turnout of the entire province—81.48 per cent, followed by Oak Bay with 81.35 per cent.

The overall turnout last June, as a matter of fact, was poor—only 68.53 per cent of the registered voters bothered to vote. This was the poorest in nearly 20 years—only exceeded by the 1945 election, with 65.29 per cent.

It would be interesting to know exactly why more than 30 per cent of the people didn't bother voting last June. Laziness and apathy is most likely the answer. And those who couldn't be bothered to vote were probably the biggest and loudest grumblers, the noisiest complainers of everything MLAs did, and didn't do. It's always that way.

The turnout at the polls on

Ray REFLECTS and REMINISCES

Sauntering along a hospital corridor the other morning, we glanced into a small ward where lay a solitary patient.

"Come on in. I feel a bit lonesome." And he fixed us with a smiling eye. Becoming acquainted was a speedy and simple process. It could not help being just that when hospital wards were being flooded with early summer sunshine. So convivial it was to drop wondering what you'd say instead of "lovely day ain't it." So easy to chat and exchange banter why should anyone confess to a feeling of loneliness. At ten a.m. a pair of strangers. Half an hour later, chummy as all get out.

CAMPAIGN HINTS

Some papers are politically minded, but then more than one election is due this summer in Canada. For example, comments the Stratford Beacon Herald "some speakers don't put enough fire in their speeches, and others don't put enough of their speeches in the fire."

A man seldom grows fat on prison fare, which is natural enough seeing he's pinched.

Eisenhower Disagrees With Taft Statement

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Eisenhower told a press conference Thursday he disagrees with a statement of Senator Robert Taft that the United States "might as well forget the United Nations as far as the Korean war is concerned."

Eisenhower's declaration that he disagrees with Taft was the widest divergence of opinion that has developed between the President and the Senate Republican leader since the new administration took office.

The question, as put to Eisenhower, was whether he shares Taft's view, expressed Tuesday night, that the U.S. might as well forget the United Nations as far as the Korean war is concerned. The president replied he did not.

He also told a news conference that next month's Big Three meeting in Bermuda will not necessarily lead to a big four session with Russia.

Developments would have to justify a conference with Soviet leaders. He said Prime Minister Churchill recently expressed the hope that big three talks among Britain, the U.S. and France would lead to a conference including Russia.

At Vancouver, External Affairs Minister Pearson expressed concern over the Taft statement.

"If this became U.S. policy it would be a deplorable and a terrible blow to the UN," Mr. Pearson told 400 members of the Canadian Club. He warned that danger of a world war would increase rapidly if there were any major splits in the Western alliance.

A special feature of next Tuesday's Coronation Day celebration will be a real live coronation of the annual Kinsmen Club's May Queen and the club's party for kids.

An 11-year-old Conrad Street pupil, Lorraine Martin of 1723 Sixth Avenue East has been chosen to be the 1953 queen. The crowning will take place at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, on the Kinsmen float in front of the Civic Centre. Last year's Queen, Carol Ann Nelson, will perform the ceremony.

Attending the new Queen, who will be dressed in a white flowing gown and regal robes, will be four princesses: Gladys Elaine Grimolson, 12, of 324 Eleventh Avenue, attending King Edward School, wearing a blue dress; Beverly Calderoni, 12, of 127 Eighth East, Booth Memorial High School, wearing a yellow dress; Gail Welse, 11, 228 Fourth Avenue

Sea Cadets Lauded at Inspection

From the moment that Commander Johnstone and his party stepped aboard, corps efficiency maintained a high standard. The inspecting officers praised the corps very highly.

Trophies were presented for individual and collective efficiency of corps members. Cadet Lloyd Magnusson received the Lionel Holby award for individual proficiency. This award was presented by Commander Johnstone, who said he thought the choice of Magnusson must have been a difficult one, in that there had been such an exceptional showing by all members of the corps. Cadet Magnusson was also presented with an engraved identification bracelet by Mrs. A. F. Davidson on behalf of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Sea Cadets for being the most outstanding cadet of the year.

The cadet ranking first in his recruit year was Donald Franklin, who received the Canadian Legion trophy from Legion president Graham Alexander. Mr. Alexander commended the winner on his individual achievement, and the corps on its outstanding performance.

Commander Tye, whose job it is to co-ordinate the efforts of Sea Cadet Corps throughout the province, presented the IODE cup to the division showing the most marked efficiency in the past year's activity. Acting Leading Cadet Jim Saville received the award on behalf of the band division.

R. H. Davidson Elected Drama Festival President

R. H. Davidson was named president of the Prince Rupert and District Music and Drama Festival Association at the recent annual meeting, succeeding Mrs. E. W. Becker.

Other officers elected were Mrs. F. E. Anfield and Charles Roberts, vice-presidents; Mrs. Becker, secretary; and E. Bartlett, treasurer.

Main business of the meeting attended by 24 members was reading of annual reports by the officers.

Mrs. Becker, in her president's report recommended the following:

1. A scaling of entry fees in music should be considered to cut down unnecessary length and expense. While this year election was limited, choirs and choral speaking classes allowed to combine grades, solo entries however, increased so much by repetition that the music adjudicator had to be retained four days instead of three as last year.
 2. Rules regarding choirs and choral speaking classes should be clarified.
 3. Festival dates should be set at the first meeting of the new executive and a music adjudicator chosen.
- Mrs. Becker listed the following classes, recommended by the music adjudicator to be added to next year's syllabus: folk song class, open, choral and vocal; folk dancing class, open; and an open sea chanty class for boys.
- Other reports were received from 1952 officers: Henry Pluym, secretary; Charles Roberts, treasurer; Mrs. G. A. Hill, membership; Frank Skinner, business; Mr. Bartlett, hall committee; Mrs. Anfield, program; Mrs. L. P. Charbonneau, membership; Mrs. Ernie Paulding, reception; Mrs. J. W. Rogerson, billing; Mrs. W. S. Kergin, awards, and Canon Prockter, stage.

Remember When Soccer Team Forefeits Game

Vancouver's fighting Irishman Jimmy McLarnin won the world's welterweight championship 20 years ago tonight by knocking out Young Corbett in 2:27 of the first round in a scheduled 34-rounder at Los Angeles. He lost the title to Barney Ross and regained it in 1934, before giving way again to Ross in 1935.

Wednesday's scheduled football game between the Battery and the CTO was forfeited by the Battery because they were unable to field a team. The result gives CTO a two-point lead over General Motors, with the Battery in the basement.

For tonight's game between the CTO and the General Motors, the General Motors team will be selected from Boulter, Eickert, Eby, Furunes, Sundberg, Lieb, Wilson, Robinson, Tall, Mills, Murray, Morven, Bowman, Gluske, Persumma, Elidter, Bedford and Crosby.

The area of the West Indies is about 45,000 square miles, a little more than that of England and Wales.

A Social Credit advertisement says, "Your Social Credit Government has dealt courageously with the liquor question." Just what have they done about the liquor question? The answer is absolutely NOTHING. If they have any plans or any ideas about the subject, they have been very careful indeed to make certain that you haven't the slightest knowledge as to what those plans and ideas are.
BRUCE BROWN and the Liberal Party will bring in to effect a liquor act based on the Stevens report, at the first opportunity. And the Liberal leader, Art Laing, has promised to call a session of the Legislature immediately after the election—so if you want action—not empty words . . .

Bulldozers to Start Next Month On Construction of BEG Stadium

By DON MATHESON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—The 1954 British Empire and Commonwealth Games here are responsible for probably the world's biggest dirt.
Some time next month after the honorary games chairman, Mayor Fred Hume of Vancouver, returns from the Coronation, that dirt will be dug.
After appropriate ceremonies, bulldozers will slice into a neat little nine-hole golf course to dig the foundation for the games' big site—a $1,345,000 stadium.

With 24,511 permanent concrete seats, the horseshoe-shaped stadium is to be built on the grounds of the Pacific National Exhibition. The PNE gets "sole custody, control and management" of the stadium after the games.
And if there's a thought that June, 1953, is none too soon to start construction of such a giant stadium for use at the end of July, 1954—relax. Construction work can be carried out the year round in balmy Vancouver.
On top of the 24,511 permanent seats now planned, the end of the horseshoe may be closed in with temporary bleachers if necessary, boosting the capacity to 35,000.

As an indication of progress in coping with the million-and-one details that go into such a world-wide sporting carnival as this—each seat now has a number, the tickets are designed and printing will soon begin.
And—details again—your BEG ticket will be printed on water-marked paper, like a cheque, so that a ticket bought from the Fiji Islands guarantees that someone from South America, say, won't be sitting in your seat when you get here.
Buying a ticket from Fiji is not just a dream, either. Send a Fiji postal money order, get a receipt and pick up the tickets on arrival. The actual ticket won't leave the country for bookkeeping reasons.
Details . . . out when the approximately 600 athletes from an expected 23 countries show up for the eight-day event starting July 20, they'll find the new stadium, a new cycling track, a new 6,700-seat swimming pool, separate boxing, wrestling and weight-lifting arenas in existing buildings and an Empire Games village on the University of British Columbia campus.

Four Grunt-Groan Experts To Take Ring at Same Time

When two hefty over-200-pounders get in the wrestling ring together to create mayhem with each other, it gets interesting, but wrestling fans here will get a special treat Saturday when four of the toughest boys on the west coast pile into each other all at once.
This will be the team match—two against two—and help the losers.
This is just a preview of the wrestling show which begins tonight at the Civic Centre when Bud "Lil Abner" Rattal tackles Tarzan Zimba and Chief Thunderbird tries to nail Cliff Parker.

Each match will be a two-of-three fall event, hour limit.
About the roughest, toughest grunt 'n groan experts on the continent, these four will probably comprise the heaviest quartet ever flown into this city. They arrive today from Washington and Vancouver.
First matches on Saturday night will feature Friday's winners against each other, and the losers against each other.
Feature attraction will be the team match. Reserve tickets are still available at the Civic Centre.

Plan to Isolate Doukhobors Drawn up by Attorney-General

VANCOUVER (CP)—A plan to isolate fanatical Sons of Freedom Doukhobors will be placed before the Federal government by British Columbia.
Attorney-General Robert Bonner said at a meeting here that Federal authorities will be asked to consider a special law to make isolation possible.
Mr. Bonner would have the radicals isolated "until they change their ways."
He said provincial-federal co-operation is necessary to solve the Doukhobor problem.
"The necessity for making some disposition of the Sons of Freedom," said Mr. Bonner, "will be apparent when it is recognized that their unlawful activities stem, not from criminal malice in the ordinary sense, but from their philosophy towards life which has been shaped by their religious convictions."
Some of the "Sons" may choose to leave Canada this summer, he said, but the decision to relocate is not unanimous.

"For those who remain we suggest consideration be given to conferring upon them a special status by statute which will permit their removal to a place remote from non-Doukhobor settlements until such time as they shall cease to be either a menace or a worry to non-Doukhobor citizens."
The homes of the 2,000 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors are in the West Kootenay, 250 miles east of Vancouver.

Winning Streaks Cut Short

NEW YORK.—A pair of long winning streaks by pitchers were ended Thursday in the American League while Brooklyn and Philadelphia tightened the first division race in the National League.
New York Yankees snapped Bub Porterfield's five-game string with a sixth-inning upspring that gave them a 7-2 verdict over Washington. Porterfield dropped his first three starts this season but hadn't been beaten in a month.
At Philadelphia, the Athletics finally caught up with Mel Parrell. They whipped the Boston right-hander for the first time since April 29, 1951. The loss was also the first this year for Parrell, who had won six straight.

CMA President Predicts Bright Future for Canadian Economy

TORONTO (CP)—G. K. Shells, CMA, president of the Canadian Manufacturers Association, predicted a bright future for the Canadian economy—even if defence spending is sharply reduced.

In a speech to the 82nd annual general meeting of the association here, he answered

WE REGRET
Our Inability To Open
Large Gyro
Swimming Pool
Due To Lack of Supervisors

Parks Board
City of Prince Rupert

the question: "What is going to happen to Canada's economy when the support of defence orders is withdrawn?"

He said he does not believe that western statesmen are so glibly as to cancel or substantially reduce arms spending "merely because the Kremlin is making certain conciliatory gestures."

But if arms spending were cut off "the end result would be tremendously beneficial." Without defence spending, the government could effect a substantial reduction in taxes.

"The relief which would thus be granted to the consumer-taxpayer would make it possible for him to increase his purchases of a wide range of articles." Manufacturers would have more funds to expand and reorganize to meet the increased demand.

If defence spending were cut sharply in the United States, a similar reduction in taxes might be delayed because the U.S. now is spending more money than it collects in taxes, he said.

ONE-YEAR-OLD RONNIE Coleman didn't catch that huge fish but its size intrigues him. Graham Cowles, 14, of Winnipeg, landed the 25-pound northern pike in one of the poorest (except for Graham) week-end openings of the fishing season in the memory of Winnipeg fishermen.

Nova Scotia Seeks New Industries

HALIFAX (CP)—Nova Scotia is looking for new manufacturing projects to augment its lineup of basic industries.

The Department of Trade and Industry says pulp and paper and textiles are high on its list. Also sought are industries in the fields of chemical products and precision machinery.

Industry Minister Dauphinee is hopeful about the province's industrial future. The forecast industrial expenditure this year, by government and private enterprise, totals more than $150,000,000 and represents a 13 per cent increase over last year, a rise matched only by oil-rich Alberta.

The department says establishment of new manufacturing plants gave Nova Scotia the greatest percentage increase in employment of any province between 1946 and 1950.

It gives government loans the credit for sparking many of the new enterprises. Departmental figures list establishment of 15 new industries since 1944, and expansion of 14 others through government backing. The loans totalled nearly $2,000,000.

The industries are turning out a variety of products running from fish and fish derivatives to margarine, vegetable products, millinery, insulation materials and metal products.

In the field of basic industry, fish processing plants have been established at Louisbourg, Pettit de Grat and Canso under various forms of government aid.

Industrial growth is shown in figures of production revenue: $183,000,000 in 1939 to $255,800,000 in 1950.

The old Chinese lunar calendar with a cycle of 60 years is still used in Tibet.

Trade Pact Renewal 'Vital'

TORONTO (CP)—L. Dana Wilgress, Canada's deputy external affairs minister, says the United States represents one-half of "the world's economic power and warned that the free world may split into bickering trade blocs if the U.S. does not provide economic leadership in the struggle against Soviet communism.

A crucial turning point in American policy, he indicated, may "happen in the next few weeks."

A great deal of the strength of the free world depended on the survival of the 34-country tariff-cutting pact, the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. But the survival of GATT depended on renewal of the U.S. Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, now before Congress.

Mr. Wilgress made these statements in a 5,000-word speech prepared for the annual convention of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. He was unable to attend and his speech was read by Russell McCormick, CMA's tariff department manager.

Passage of President Eisenhower's requested one-year renewal of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Acts was "vital," even more important than the adoption by Congress of the U.S. customs simplification bill. GATT would die if the Trade Agreements Act is not renewed, Mr. Wilgress said.

"The U.S. by the nature of things has to provide the leadership in the new approach to the solution of the problems of international trade and payments," he said.

The 60-year-old deputy, Canada's ace tariff negotiator who helped build GATT as the world's greatest post-war bid for international trade expansion, saw in the pact the means for promoting convertibility of sterling and strengthening the economic side of the North Atlantic Treaty.

Cross-Country Campaign Starts in B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP)—J. Farley (Hire-a-hall) Faulkner of Toronto started a cross-country campaign here that he hopes will "tear the mask off communism and shake the dust off democracy."

His campaign actually began in February, when what he calls "Communist stooges" ejected him speaking against the featured speaker, the "Red Dean" of Canterbury.

He was challenged to "go hire yourself a hall if you want to make a speech." He did that, in March, receiving 5,000 letters with $1,600 enclosed, afterwards.

He said at a press conference here that he now has devoted his life to a battle against communism with a program to "sell" democracy.

"I want to organize a citizen's committee in each city, a committee that will be devoted to the idea of showing people what a great and valuable thing their Canadian way of life is," Faulkner said.

The summer season begins astronomically when the sun enters the sign of Cancer, about June 21.

Rains Delay Seeding On Prairies

WINNIPEG—During the past week rains in the central and southern areas of the prairie provinces have delayed the completion of seeding operations while cool weather has delayed germination and growth conditions according to the weekly crop report of the Department of Agriculture of the National Railways. In the Okanagan weather has been somewhat cooler with earlier rains. There has been damage to the fruit crop from cause, although rains have delayed the setting of blossoms.
