UK Coal Mine Production Rises But Industry Has Huge Deficit

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON.—Another storm is brewing in Britain's state-owned coal mining industry. It's the same old trouble—pressure by the miners for increased wages and counter-demands by coal board authorities for a substantial boost in output.

Although the nationalized mines produced 226,500,000 tons of coal during 1952, an increase of 3,600,000 over the previous 12 months, the industry faced the new year with an accumulated deficit of about £9,300,000.

Sir Hubert Houldsworth, chairman of the National Coal Board, in his annual survey of operations pointed, however, to a series of developments during the year which normally would be greeted with optimism.

Exports INCREASED

Apart from the modest production gain, exports were stepped-up to 11,720,000 tons, an increase of 3,790,000 over 1951, and a boost of nearly 20,000 in manpower to bring the total labor force to about 720,000.

Chief among the offsetting factors was a drop in output per man shift from 3.15 tons against 3.17 in 1951. There were also recurring labor disputes, contributing to loss of production, an uncertain export position and a progressive rise in costs.

For the third quarter of the year operations fell sharply resulting in a deficit of some £3,000,000, which was added to a loss of nearly £500,000 for the first six months and an unfavorable balance of £5,800,000 brought forward from previous operations.

UNREST GROWING

Meanwhile, unrest has been growing in the coalfields. The drop in man shift output since last October has been interpreted in some quarters as a show of resentment by the miners over rejection of their claim for a wage boost of 30 shillings a week.

The men also refuse to say until the pay dispute is resolved, whether they will renew their undertaking to work Saturdays. The agreement lapses at the end of April.

Sir Hubert stressed the need of guaranteed deliveries. Nothing is to be gained, he said, by Britain's going into the export market and then running into difficulties honoring contracts.

TROUSERS FALL AS BATON GOES UP, OUTWARD, DOWN

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—The conductor of Santa Monica's symphony orchestra, Arthur Lange, had just reached a crescendo in the "Romeo and Juliet" overture when it happened.

The maestro, who has been dieting lately, pointed his baton at the brass section, stood on his toes, whirled the baton upward, outward, then down, and as the sounds of cymbals, horns and drums rent the air, Lange's trousers fell to the floor.

To Lange's credit, it may be said that he missed only about two beats. He stooped, pulled the trousers back up over his royal blue shorts, and went on with the overture.

But the many women in the violin section noted that the conductor's knees are somewhat knobby.

The brief interlude came at a rehearsal.

One-Beer-at-a-Time Order Starts Protest by Waiters

VANCOUVER (P)—British Columbia beer parlor waiters are taking their tale of smarting feet and indignant customers to the provincial government.

In a brief, they will propose a two-glasses-per-customer rule, strictly enforced, as an alternative to the government's one-beer-at-a-time order.

This is the reported outcome of a huddle here of shop stewards representing beer parlor waiters from Vancouver to the Interior Kootenay district.

The rule that customers be served only one beer at a time is included in the Liquor Act.

Strict enforcement was ordered last week by the government after it received the report of B.C.'s liquor inquiry commission.

The commission, after pub crawling in the line of duty, called the common practice of piling as many as 15 glasses of beer onto a table seating three persons "sheer debauchery."

At the closed meeting were shop stewards of the Beverage Dispensers Union (TLC), representing members in Vancouver and district, the Fraser Valley, the Kootenays, Okanagan and other interior regions.

Will Robinson Elected Terrace BOT President

Two Committees Appointed To Study Highway Problems

SPECIAL TO THE DAILY NEWS

TERRACE.—Will Robinson, member of longest standing in the Terrace District Board of Trade, was elected its president at the annual meeting here Friday night. He succeeds Harry Philip.

Other officers elected were: Tom Rose, vice-president; Fred Macklin, secretary, and Jim Norrington, treasurer.

In his report for 1952 Mr. Philip observed that notable achievements were the erection of the provincial building and the new post office. He urged the board to continue to press for a better telephone service and improved handling of freight and express shipments.

On assuming the chair Mr. Robinson called for the appointment of two special committees. One to study and encourage establishment of a highway from Terrace to Kitimat, the other to deal with the problems of highway 16 east of Terrace. He also advised close study be made of the possibilities of attracting to Terrace industries which are interested in the area as a result of the Alcan development at Kitimat.

On motion of Gerald Duffus, a special committee will be formed to go into the proposal that a railway into the Peace River country be constructed from either Hazelton or Terrace along routes already surveyed.

On the subject of attracting industries to Terrace, on the basis of the Alcan water power development, Mr. Duffus reported on conversations he had with Alcan officials.

Examine Facilities First

He said that while the discussions were encouraging it was first up to Terrace to examine the facilities it could offer and to take steps to ensure these were made known throughout the country.

Visitors from Prince Rupert who spoke at the meeting were J. T. Harvey, Dr. L. M. Greene, Orme Stuart and J. F. Magor.

Striking a note of warning against the menace of Communism, Mr. Harvey described the Associated Boards of Trade as the chief non-political group leading the attack against the danger. He said that as a member of this group the work of the Terrace Board was outstanding.

Have Work Done Locally

Dr. Greene cautioned against allowing the government to have part in undertakings which can be done locally. They will be done better and less expensively, he said.

Mr. Magor saw Terrace standing at the crossroads of the future with the development of this community and Prince Rupert proving of mutual benefit.

A feature of the evening was the report of Duncan Kerr, board secretary. He called for immediate and close attention to improvement of highway 16 and establishment of a highway to Kitimat.

He expressed his agreement with the Prince Rupert Daily News in asking that the provincial government give more attention to the north than it has instead of envisioning an extension of the province's northern boundaries.

Other committee chairmen and delegates who reported were: Dudley Little, municipal affairs; Harry King, agriculture; Charles Adam, industrial development; Mrs. James Norrington, publicity and the dental clinic; W. H. Spencer, utilities; Mrs. L. Newhouse, Civic Centre, and H. M. Wightman, entertainment.

December Deficit Cuts Cash Reserve

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott Friday announced a budget surplus of $264,100,000 for the first nine months of the current fiscal year.

Surplus is less than half that for the corresponding period of the previous year—a likely indication that the over-all surplus for this current year will be slashed sharply from the $250,000,000 for 1951-52.

In his budget speech last year, Mr. Abbott said surplus at the end of the fiscal year in March usually is about half the surplus shown for the end of nine months.

On the basis of that formula, the surplus for this year would be approximately $100,000,000 to $125,000,000.

With the budget now under preparation, there have been unofficial forecasts Mr. Abbott will use his good financial position to make some tax reductions.

Surplus to the end of December was down by $367,300,000 from $631,400,000 in the first three quarters of the previous fiscal year.

The December deficit of $27,800,000 compared with a surplus of $74,900,000 in December, 1951, cut deeply into Mr. Abbott's cash.

BEG Grant Cut To $200,000

VANCOUVER (P)—Government plans to grant $200,000 to British Columbia's Empire Games Society were announced Friday night by Premier Bennett.

The society had asked the government to put up $500,000 toward the games, scheduled to be held in Vancouver in 1954.

The Premier's announcement was made at the annual meeting of the Vancouver Board of Trade.

Man Facing Theft Charge Gives Self up

MONTREAL (P)—Frederick Hensler, wanted on a charge of theft of an advance copy of the controversial Currie report, gave himself up late Friday to Quebec Provincial Police.

The small, 36-year-old printing shop employee, walked into provincial police headquarters with his counsel, Alexandre Chevalier.

Hensler was placed under arrest. The judge fixed bail at $500 but question of a preliminary hearing was set aside for a decision Monday.

Because it was too late for bail arrangements to be made, Hensler remained in custody, but his lawyer said he would be freed today when bail formalities were completed.

Gen. Van Fleet To be Retired

WASHINGTON (CP)—The army announced Friday Gen. James A. Van Fleet, 8th Army Commander in Korea, will be retired March 31. He will be succeeded by Lt. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor.

Sixty-year-old Van Fleet took charge of the 8th Army in the shakeup which followed President Truman's removal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur from the top command in the Far East.

Other committee chairmen and delegates who reported were: Dudley Little, municipal affairs; Harry King, agriculture; Charles Adam, industrial development; Mrs. James Norrington, publicity and the dental clinic; W. H. Spencer, utilities; Mrs. L. Newhouse, Civic Centre, and H. M. Wightman, entertainment.

Two men convicted of stealing $268 worth of garments from Sweet Sixteen store here Jan. 6 have been sentenced to three months in Oakalla jail.

The two—Henry Moore and Joseph Tremblay—appeared before Magistrate W. D. Vance for sentence. A third man arrested with them was released for lack of evidence.

Ship Explodes In Red Sea

LONDON (CP)—The 3,957-ton Finnish freighter Tirrenia blew up in the Red Sea off Eritrea Friday night. The crew was saved by the Norwegian tanker Olav Ringdal Jr. The Tirrenia was carrying ammonium nitrate.

Two teams are on the spot tonight in the senior basketball competition at the Civic Centre.

Alex Bill's Gordon & Anderson sextet must win to get within range of catching first-place Manson's in league play while Helge Holgestad must pace his CCC Pulpmillers to victory or be out of the running.

Manson's are three points ahead of Gordon & Anderson but have played two more games.

The big match gets underway at 8:30 p.m.

BRIG. JEAN VICTOR ALLARD, CBE, DSO, CD, vice-quarter-master-general of the Canadian army, (above) is scheduled to take over command of the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade in Korea in April. His appointment was announced in Ottawa Friday. He succeeds Brig. M. P. Bogert of Toronto.

Dr. Black is leaving for Vernon where he joins the North Okanagan Health Unit.

In tendering his resignation, he said he had an opportunity of transferring to the Okanagan city, which he wished to accept.

He will be succeeded here by Dr. S. F. Carr, who has had considerable experience in public health administration in the United States.

An International Issue

THERE are indications that western Canada may have the same sort of prolonged international issue concerning water power that the east has in the St. Lawrence seaway. In fact, some observers anticipate that the two problems will eventually overlap each other.

In the west the point at issue is the Aluminum Company of America's application to make use of Canadian waters for its projected multi-million-dollar plant near Skagway. Although Resources Minister Winters has assumed a hands-off policy towards the Alcoa proposal, the Americans show no signs of being discouraged.

"I think that if the Canadian government is convinced that what we think is right, they'll let us proceed with our project," the company's chief consultant, James P. Growdon, said in Prince Rupert recently.

The note of optimism also persists in the Alaskan press. The Ketchikan Alaska Chronicle has this to say:

"We would not be surprised to see an international development of the Yukon headwaters, supervised by the two nations and financed in part by the two governments, with private industry of either country allowed to use part of the power."

While the Americans' determination is a commendable quality in any enterprise, it is difficult to see on the surface of things how they justify their hopes. Mr. Winters' refusal to consider surrender of Canadian resources was directed squarely at Alcoa and included no it's and but's.

In addition, there is the prime necessity of protecting the Aluminum Company of Canada's development at Kitimat. Should a plant of equal size be constructed on Alaska territory, Alcan's sales to the U.S. would suffer accordingly.

To avoid this, and to demonstrate to other industries contemplating large projects in Canada that the government is on their side, Mr. Winters' relations with Alcoa must be held to about the same temperature that his name implies.

Further examination of the American position, however, suggests hope is still held that a big deal can be consummated in which Canadian aid to Alcoa will be exchanged for U.S. help in the St. Lawrence seaway. While nothing less than this is likely to change the Canadian mind, it must be admitted that the St. Lawrence project is possibly large enough to do it.

The catch is that Canadians out here would object, with considerable justification, to being part of any such horse trade—particularly when they can see what end of the horse they would be.

Ray REFLECTS and REMINISCES

Sam Connery, back in Vancouver, saw New York, Gibraltar, Italy, Switzerland, France, Spain, Austria, England, Ireland and Scotland. He did it in six months for $650. It would cost almost that to live and see nothing. In Spain he paid four cents for a haircut. In Prince Rupert it's a hundred.

Extension of the B.C. and Alberta boundaries northward to the 65th parallel is in prospect and need surprise no one. Later on, perhaps, the same can be said of four new provinces.

It's just a year since 26 were drowned from a plane at Sandspit. The tragedy was a vital emergency then, and costly. Does the state of affairs look any safer today?

Canada is making use of far more horses than ever before. By this is meant more horsepower, and it illustrates the scope of national industry. They can, as a matter of fact, do all sorts of illustrating.

PLAIN WORK

What's wrong with work? Inquires the Times-Journal of St. Thomas, Ont. That is a question a good many employers are asking these days. More and more people don't know how to work and have little intention of learning how. They do not apply for a job. What they seek is "an association with your firm." They, not the employer, ask questions. When do they get vacations and how about living standards? Do I get free hospital insurance? Tell us about pensions and retirement. When will I get a raise?

Tallulah Bankhead, the actress, is telling the story of her life to the press. It's a breezy and diverting story and in many ways refreshing. But there is one danger point. Having devoted her life to stage and screen, the Vancouver police may detect a threat to public morals and take action.

General Eisenhower has vast responsibility, yet room for an occasional pleasantries. He wore no silk hat at the inauguration, for with plenty of Democrats still in town it would never do to have a snowstorm come along.

Leading Churchman Pays Tribute To Liquor Inquiry Board Report

VANCOUVER (CP)—Rev. Douglas H. Telfer, president of the Vancouver Council of Churches, has paid tribute to the "hard work, consecrated intelligence and moral courage" shown by the three members of the B.C. liquor inquiry commission.

Mr. Telfer said five things stand out in their report which will form the basis for new liquor laws in the province:

- Present system of beer parlors stands condemned. "This system, introduced by the moderation league, has run its course and none will mourn its passing."
- Sale of liquor is to be operated

As I See It

More Prophets

A PROPHET who wrote me a remarkable forecast for the year 1952 now writes again:

"Last year I gave you a prophecy that there would be a British railway wreck of unsurpassed proportions. It happened. This year there will be another one, also in England, surpassing the former one."

"The worst ship disaster since the Titanic will come about in '53. Winston Churchill will resign in the late summer of 1953. Flying saucers from another planet will be reported during June, July, August and September."

"A new type of hydrogen bomb will be dropped in '53. This will cause havoc with our weather here in Canada—snow in summer—just for fun remember."

THIS prophet, who was so nearly right last year, adds that there will not be a world war till 1957, in which year "U.S. will go to war with Russia in August." That is a long time to wait to see how right or wrong he is.

But here are two hard, immediate predictions about politics in Canada. Our friend says that the outcome for the pending federal election will be so indecisive that "Mr. St. Laurent will agree to a coalition" to avert another election.

If you are right, brother, I can tell you right now which parties will join such a coalition. It will be Liberals and CCF—which would probably give us the best government we have ever had in Canada.

The prophet agrees with the famous clairvoyant, Madame Lys, that the Soviets will not win a majority in the next B.C. election. He agrees with my own calculation that the Liberals and CCF will run neck and neck in seats won, but he adds "the Liberals will have more votes than the CCF."

IN HER New Year prediction, Madame Lys, the noted clairvoyant, said that the strange goings on in Russia were due to a big struggle for power. The ultimate winner of this struggle would be a woman now inside the Kremlin—maybe Molotov's daughter. She would soon become a more powerful Russian ruler even than Katherine the Great, says Madame Lys.

I met Madame Lys myself just before I went out to India. She told me, over a social (not professional) cup of tea that Stalin was no longer the real boss of Russia—in fact, for all practical purposes was politically dead. Could be, too.

IN NAZARETH, where Jesus Christ spent his boyhood, a stubby-bearded Arab came up to me in an open front cafe and held out a string of brown beads. "Hold these," he requested me. I duly held them.

That old fellow told me all sorts of things that I had almost forgotten myself. He also told me amazing things about the future, including the fact that I was about to be re-united with my wife. That old fellow had never laid eyes on me before—and he surely did not know that I had a plane ticket in my pocket which the very next day was to take me to Rome, where I met my wife.

THE ONE THING that I dislike about these accurate predictions of the future is that if they are based on truth, then everything that is going to happen has already been fore-ordained.

I don't believe that—quite. I believe, or hope, man really has free will.

LONDON STREET DECORATIONS have already been prepared for the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth in June. A design bearing the Royal cypher is tested on a lamp standard in Kingsway, a main thoroughfare in the borough of Holborn. The designs include a crown and orbs, artificial flowers and coronets and papier mache shields of the Tudor rose. The decoration will be erected shortly before the Coronation.

UNDER OUR ROOF

By JOHN STURDY

In the village post office the other day I had to wait while the man who rents the box next to mine tried to get his key into the lock. After he had snorted and huffed and uttered some rather colorful curses for several minutes, I quietly suggested that he switch his key to the next box.

He was trying to get into mine.

Which, of course, started me thinking of the old apartment-house Back East, where Hamish was the assistant janitor and Col. S. Skeffington-Smuts (Ret.) and I were tenants.

The letter-boxes in our apartment-house were located in the lobby and they were shallow affairs set row by row in the wall, with slots for the mailman to insert the letters and tiny doors you opened in order to get them out. I had lost my key that morning, I remember, and yet, by peering down the slot, I could see there was an envelope tucked in the box.

Now that envelope, I anxiously hoped, contained a cheque. (Cheques, provided they are signed by somebody else, have always been important in my life.) Well, at that time I happened to be writing some magnificent poetry (lyric) for a magazine called "Uncle Billy's Whiz Bang" and I had recently submitted a small masterpiece entitled "In the Vale of Keelaw" ("Where it's forty-five below, and the huskies howl and the wolves they roam and the northern tempests blow.") Mr. Service, move over!

So I was quite certain that the envelope contained a cheque from Uncle Billy, only when I tried to get my fingers down the slot they refused to go any farther than the first knuckles and failed to make contact with the envelope. This was a very desperate situation.

And then I spotted young Timothy Tubbs, the small offspring of Mr. and Mrs. Tubbs who lived in Apartment 32. I pounced on this rather repulsive juvenile and told him to get his grubby hand down the slot and fish out the envelope while I stood guard. And then I saw Mrs. Bickle, another of our tenants, coming down the corridor. And you know a feeling of guilt can come over the most innocent of us.

I turned hurriedly to young Timothy, who was up to his fist in the slot by this time.

"Fast!" I whispered. "Get your hand out of that box. We've been spotted."

"I can't," said Timothy. "I'm stuck!"

Well, I got to him pretty darned quick and gave his little arm a yank and all that resulted was a piercing scream from the child. And then Mrs. Bickle was upon us. There I stood, white-faced and shaking, with Timothy screaming beside me, dangling by one arm from the letter-box.

"What on earth is that child doing?" demanded Mrs. Bickle. She peered closer and gave a horrified gasp. "Good heavens, he is trying to rob our mail-box!"

Sure enough, that stupid Timothy had got his hand in the wrong box, and it happened to belong to the Bickles. "Fagin!" Mrs. Bickle shouted at me. "Teacher of thieves!"

Well, of course all this yelling brought out most of the tenants in the apartment-house and someone called the police (I always suspected it was Col. Skeffington-Smuts) and I was taken away.

For a time the charge against me stood as contributing to juvenile delinquency and robbing His Majesty's mails (A federal offense, I was assured) but in the end I managed to get off with paying for a new letter-box for the Bickles, as the original one had to be broken open with a crow-bar in order to release Timothy Tubbs.

When Hamish opened my own box with his pass-key I discovered that the precious envelope contained my poem, returned by "Uncle Billy's Whiz Bang" with a note from the editor saying the thing lacked action.

OTTAWA DIARY

By Norman M. MacLeod

There is something better than an even money chance that the next Federal general election—exact date at present unknown—will set a new record for turbulence on the hustings whenever it may come.

If it does, one of the agents mainly responsible will be a tyro member of the House, Carl O. Nickle, PC representative for West Calgary.

Nickle's surprise attack on Lieut.-Col. F. W. George (Liberal, Westmoreland) for drawing dual salaries as an MP and as an officer of the Canadian Reserve army has injected a new element of real political savagery into the normal strife between the political parties in the Commons.

The Liberals regard the Nickle attack as a clear case of hitting below the belt in the battle of politics. Hence they are proclaiming—not too loudly but with a quietness which is even more impressive—that Marquis of Queensbury rules no longer apply in the political arena.

INSIDE STORY

As told by Liberal sources, here is the "inside" story of the "double-cross" they claim to have suffered in the Nickle attack:

When the Parliamentary return was tabled which listed Col. George amongst the reserve army officers who had received payment for his services, the Liberals inquired from responsible PC sources whether any political use was to be made of the fact. The answer allegedly was in the negative—that the PC's recognized the non-political nature of the reserve army, that Colonel George's status as an MP did not incapacitate him from serving, and that the list of paid officers contained many names who, although not MP's, were PC's in their politics.

Acting on this alleged assurance, the Liberals gave no further thought to the possible political dynamite in the return. As a consequence, they were taken wholly unprepared and by surprise when Nickle launched his attack.

REPRISALS PLANNED

The Liberals regard the attack as a deliberate use by the Opposition of the "smear" technique. They say that both the facts and the regulations justify Col. George, and that his pay as a reserve officer in no sense was contingent upon his actual and continuous presence at regimental headquarters. But they take the view that the explanation will never overtake the original charge and that the smear will remain.

One Liberal MP commented: "It is clear that from now on mud is to become an accepted political weapon. Well, both sides can use it. Certainly the government MP's aren't going to allow the Opposition to have a monopoly on it. There'll be reprisals. And they won't be nice."

Saturday Sermon

By REV. H. O. OLSON — Pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran

"Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong." (1 Cor. 16:13)

To know Christ makes people strong in faith in service. Christ was strong in the presence of and foe, in sorrow, in suffering and in death. In knowing Him we will possess sure convictions.

Here are some of the things that will take place in a person's life when Christ has freedom to rule. He will receive courage to come to God with all sins and accept the forgiveness that He offers in Christ. This is contrary to the natural heart. It is not easy for man to humble himself and admit unto God that he is a sinner in need of forgiveness. There are many that have fled away from the presence of God when they realized that they must repent of their sins and turn away from them and believe in Jesus Christ as a personal Saviour in order to be saved.

He will have the courage to humble himself before men. If one has wronged another he will receive courage to confess himself as being in error. We all know that there are degrees of moral good which vary considerably in different people. But, generally speaking, it is seldom that a natural man will confess these things. However, when Christ moves into the heart and takes possession He gives the courage to be honest and make all things right with both God and man.

He will have the courage to break with past sins and worldly associations. We all realize that it takes courage and faith in Christ to break and flee from sin. The reason for this is because people love the sins and the pleasures of this present evil world. Sometimes when a person is confronted with Jesus in such a way that he has to make a choice, he will throw the blessed Saviour aside for the sake of the sins of this world. Many know that they need to be converted but do not dare for fear of what their companions will say. They put off God and their conscience and never come to grips with Christ.

Dear friends, are you living a defeated life? Or, have you surrendered your life to Jesus and NAVY NEWS...

The last week at Chatham saw the largest turnout of reserves to a parade in many months. It was gratifying to the Commanding Officer and old regulars among the Ship's Company to see the improvement in drills.

During the week, Chatham had and lost a transient in the shape of Morris Thomson, a naval wireless operator bound for Masset. He arrived at Chatham Friday night, just too late to catch the boat for Masset, and had to wait until Tuesday when he could be flown over.

ALL WILLING
After the recent announcement that there will be 45 reserves sent to the Coronation from the Canadian Navy, speculation is rife at Chatham as to who, if anyone, will be sent from here. Needless to say, all are keen on the idea, and more than willing to go.

Word has just been received from Ottawa that the Royal Navy submarine HMS/M Andrew will arrive in Halifax early in February to exercise for three months with ships and aircraft of the RCN and maritime aircraft of the RCAF.

HERE ON LOAN
The "Andrew" is being loaned until April 30 under a long-standing arrangement with the British Admiralty whereby submarines are sent regularly to Canada's East Coast to give the RCN and RCAF an opportunity to exercise in anti-submarine warfare.

It will be the "Andrew's" second tour of duty in Canadian waters under this scheme, her last being the Fall of 1950. An "A" class submarine, the Artemis which left for her home base in the United Kingdom early last December.

In his usual inimitable style, Mr. W. D. Smith sang "The Star of Robbie Burns" followed by "Duncan Gray." The audience insisted on his coming back to render an old favorite "Jeanie's Flat Feet."

There was also community singing and the evening finished with "Auld Lang Syne."

Convenor for the affair was Mrs. W. Bowes, president of the Ladies' Aid. Servers were Mesdames S. Hunter, R. Strachan, R. L. Tough, N. McLean, J. Bruce, W. McKenzie, G. Mitchell, A. Bequet, H. Johnson, J. Evans, M. Martin, H. McLeod, W. Shear-down, G. Calderwood, R. Eby, D. McRae and Misses Helen Wright and Shirley Haugen.

In the kitchen were Mesdames W. White, T. W. Brown, H. C. Halliday, N. Moorehouse and W. Bremner.

Cancer Society Holding Essay, Poster Contest

An essay and a poster contest for all grades nine to 12 students in B.C. is being held by the B.C. Division of the Canadian Cancer Society.

This is the fourth consecutive year in which the society has sponsored a high school contest. It ends Feb. 28.

The past three contests were confined to essay writing but this year, says Bruce R. Buckfield, president of the B.C. Division of the Canadian Cancer Society, "we have decided to give youngsters with an artistic flair a chance to try their talents."

Two Grand Prizes of $50 will be awarded the students who submit the best essay and the best poster in B.C., and 56 additional first ($25) and second ($10) prizes will be awarded in each of the fourteen districts.

SENT TO SCHOOLS
Posters, pamphlets and teaching manuals have been sent to every high school in B.C. Principals have been asked by the Society to judge the two best posters and two best essays submitted by their students and forward them to the Canadian Cancer Society in Vancouver before March 1 for final judging.

Mr. Buckfield said purpose of the essay and poster contests is to dispel the irrational fear of cancer "which has been stown, and with serious consequences, in other generations," and to acquaint youngsters with the symptoms of cancer so that in later years they will be equipped with a major weapon against this disease—the chance of quick recognition and early treatment.

B.C. Seeks Permission To Hike Phone Tax Rate

VICTORIA (CP)—British Columbia is asking Ottawa to raise the ceiling on the tax rate which the provincial government and its municipalities may impose on telephone companies.

Immigration Quota Cut By Aussies

CANBERRA (Reuters)—Australia has cut its immigration quota to 40,000 for the next six months because of the current economic slump. Immigration Minister Harold Holt announced.

Last year's Australian immigration quota was 150,000.

Since 1949 thousands of Britons and other Europeans have been brought here under an assistance plan by which the Australian government pays all but 11¢ of their fare, lets them live in hostels until settled and helps them find jobs.

From now on this plan will apply only to immigrants who have relatives or friends to vouch for them in Australia.

The minister said the government plans to put the reduced immigration program into effect for six months "until we see how our economy is progressing."

Holt said Australia's economic crisis last year was as grave as that of the 1930s, with a 20 per cent drop in export income being reflected throughout the whole economy.

Voters' List Streamlined By Socreds

VICTORIA (CP)—A change in the provincial Elections Act to streamline the procedure for cleaning out deadwood in the voters' list has been made by a cabinet order.

Voters who fail to exercise their franchise and who fail to respond to notices sent out by the government will be considered to have left their electoral districts and their names will be knocked off the district voters' list.

The act formerly provided for the names of voters who had left their ridings to be removed from the lists, but gave officials no way of determining whether the voters actually had moved away.

The new order provides that the return of an undelivered notice from the electoral officer will be sufficient proof.

Special Fund For Relief Transferred

VICTORIA (CP)—The great depression is officially over, the provincial cabinet has decreed.

The government, in going through financial records recently, found $290,962.50 in a special fund, part of unemployment relief acts passed in the '30s.

The money has been transferred to the consolidated sinking fund and will be used to help pay the province's outstanding debts as they come due.

Said a cabinet statement: "The purpose for which these moneys were borrowed no longer exists."

But Premier W.A.C. Bennett said this does not mean the government is planning to implement any tax increase.

He said the province is merely taking advantage of a clause in its tax-rental agreement with the federal government to ensure that no other province gets a better deal.

In British Columbia, the province and the municipalities can tax public utilities in two different ways.

One way, which is used by most municipalities, is a tax on power lines, telephone poles and other equipment and property of the companies.

The second method is a tax of not more than three per cent on the companies' gross revenues.

In Ontario, many municipalities use the second method, but in that province the tax on telephone companies can be as high as four per cent of revenues.

Ontario recently signed a tax agreement with Ottawa. This agreement is similar to that which B.C. and eight other provinces signed last summer. However, the Ontario agreement specifies that the existing rate of taxation on telephone companies be maintained, without reducing Ottawa's "rental" payments to the province.

B.C. now is asking Ottawa, under the terms of its contract, to amend B.C.'s agreement to bring it into line with Ontario's.

This would give the province and any municipalities which use the tax-on-revenues system a higher maximum rate applicable to telephone companies. The rate for electric light and power, gas, bus and street-car companies would stay at three per cent.

CPA Plans Cut In Fares For Immigrants

VANCOUVER (CP)—A reduction of more than 30 per cent in fares for immigrant travel between the Orient and North America is planned by Canadian Pacific Airlines.

H. B. Main, CPA general traffic manager, said the plan "now awaits final approval by the governments concerned" with the reductions scheduled to start April 1.

Under the reductions the one-way fare from Hong Kong to either Vancouver, Portland, Seattle, San Francisco or Los Angeles will be $500 instead of the present $726.

The fare from Tokyo to any of these points would be reduced from $650 to $450.

A CPA spokesman said the special rate will be good for only one-way travel from the Orient and will be restricted to those classified as immigrants. He estimated an average of 15 persons coming under this classification are being flown weekly to North America via CPA.

Pension Fund Plan Remains

VICTORIA (CP)—The Social Credit government has decided to carry on the practice of allowing permanent government employees who are not members of the civil service to contribute to the government's pension fund, and eventually to draw pension benefits.

The decision applies to several hundred jail guards, game wardens and other non-civil-service employees.

WINNING THE WESTERN Interprovincial Football Union title can mean a lost job for coaches. Since Calgary Stampede upsets the football world with a 12-7 Grey Cup victory over Ottawa Rough Riders in 1948, four Western title-winning coaches have been given the bounce. The latest is Frank Filchok, whose Edmonton Eskimos lost to Toronto Argonauts in the 1952 Canadian final. In 1951, when Saskatchewan Roughriders lost in the Cup final to Ottawa, coach Harry Smith got the heave-ho. In 1950, Butch Larson coached Winnipeg Blue Bombers to the Western title, then lost to Argonauts and was sent kicking. Coach Les Lear of the Stampede coached Calgary to the 1948 Grey Cup championship and rode the Calgary range until this year.

Ban on Gas Jets Protested By Rooming House Operators

VANCOUVER (CP)—A campaign against a "potential killer" is under way in Vancouver.

It is a battle against gas poisoning and suffocation deaths, most of them in rooming houses using gas plates and obsolete appliances.

A special committee of city council has recommended a ban on all gas cooking appliances in sleeping rooms. Such a ban, it is estimated, would hit at 17,000 gas appliances.

A report to the committee showed 115 gas deaths in 1952. Fifty-six were listed as suicide. Three persons died as the result of suicide bids of others.

Some installations in downtown rooming houses are 40 years old.

"Every appliance in that area is a potential killer," plumbing Inspector Bill Jack told the committee. He described old gas plates as "Frankenstein monsters."

Another suggestion before the committee calls for a stepped-up enforcement campaign aimed at faulty equipment installations.

A safety shut-off device—a valve that cuts off gas within 15 seconds of the flame being extinguished—has been demonstrated by Fred Lade, a Vancouver inventor.

He was advised to submit the device to the American Gas Association laboratory in Los Angeles for testing.

"Why should I have to go to the Americans for approval?" he asked today. "We have testing facilities in Canada."

Apartment and rooming house owners protested the proposed ban on gas plates.

"It is the most absurd thing I've ever heard," said James Ferguson, secretary of the Apartment and Roominghouse Operators' Association.

"Once safety devices are on, the people will find another way to commit suicide."

Ontario Experts Have Huge Park Area For Field Studies

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario experts have a convenient 2,700-square-mile area for their field studies on how best to conserve the province's wild life and fish population.

Research in natural science is only one of the uses of Algonquin Park, vast forest and game preserve lying east of the Ottawa River on the southern fringe of the Canadian shield. Its northwest corner is some 30 miles south of North Bay.

Established in 1893, the park has four basic purposes: to preserve in Ontario a primeval forest; to protect the head waters of five important rivers; to provide a health resort and recreational area; to provide a refuge and breeding ground for wild life.

GOOD FOR RESEARCH

The park is convenient for research because controlled experiments are possible on a wide scale. For instance, one area of 30 square miles is closed to the public so that specialists can make a complete study of the park mammals.

Research discloses that the deer's homing instinct is stronger than its appetite. Because of shortage of food in some sections of the park, deer have been moved to other areas where food is plentiful. Often they head right back to their old surroundings and starve to death because they can't get enough to eat.

The Ontario government bans hunting in the park. Angling is permitted although many lakes are closed in alternate years because research shows that this helps maintain the fish population.

The park's forest is mainly second growth since most of the area was cut over in the last century.

Protection service is rigid. Park superintendent George H. R. Phillips, a noted bush pilot, makes regular patrols by air to hunt poachers and to watch for forest fires. He is backed by a strong ground protective crew.

Age Rule May Keep Walcott Out of Ring

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—Robert Christenberry, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, says he "seriously doubts" that former heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott will ever fight again.

At the annual dinner of the Wilmington Sports Writers and Broadcasters Association, Christenberry said.

"Rules of the New York State Athletic Commission and almost every state say that a fighter cannot be licensed after he is 40 years of age. I seriously doubt Walcott will ever fight again."

He did not explain his reference to Walcott, listed in most ring books as being 38.

The hint as to Jersey Joe's future came during a discussion of the recent order by New York state commission and the National Boxing Association that heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano must defend his title by April 10.

Marciano won his crown from Walcott by a 13th-round knockout at Philadelphia last fall. A return bout had been agreed to earlier.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Why Fight for a Little If You Must Risk a Lot?

One of the situations where it is usually wise to pass is the case where the opponents are in a low contract and, apparently have a slight edge in high card strength. In other words, why fight over practically nothing? Why take a risk when all the enemy makes, if he is successful in his contract, is something like 40 or 60 or 80 points?

Mr. Heinsite doesn't see it this way. He plays a lot of duplicate bridge and brings some of the tactics of that game to a rubber bridge. In duplicate, if you make a dangerous bid three times and come up with a small profit twice and a large loss once, you may be ahead on the deal. But at rubber bridge, if you gain 30 points several times and lose 800 once, you will soon have need of the services of your banker.

Mr. Heinsite's handling of today's hand was typical of duplicate strategy. When he heard Mr. Dale bid one no trump and Mrs. Keen promptly pass it, he "backed in."

He decided his partner had something, maybe even enough to pass his doubles for penalties. With the advantage of the first lead, the one no trump contract might be defeated several tricks.

This works out—sometimes. In this case, however, both Mr. Dale and Mrs. Keen had maximum holdings for their respective bids and Mr. Abel had almost nothing.

At two hearts Mr. Abel lost two clubs, a club ruff by Mrs. Keen, a diamond, two spades and two straight trump tricks for down three—800 points.

At one no trump Mr. Dale could have taken eight tricks easily. He might have made three no trump but in that case Mr. Heinsite could have felt good about his opponents missing a game. As the hand was actually played, he felt happy about nothing.

The bidding: South West North East South (Mr. Heinsite) (Mr. Abel) S-Q 10 4 3 S-J 9 S-H 3 H-J 8 7 5 2 S-D 9 D-7 6 4 S-C 8 7 2 C-10 5 3 South (Mrs. Keen) S-A K 7 6 5 S-Q 10 7 7 S-H 3 H-D 3 5 S-C 4 6 The bidding: South West North East South (Mr. Heinsite) (Mr. Abel) S-Q 10 4 3 S-J 9 S-H 3 H-J 8 7 5 2 S-D 9 D-7 6 4 S-C 8 7 2 C-10 5 3 South (Mrs. Keen) S-A K 7 6 5 S-Q 10 7 7 S-H 3 H-D 3 5 S-C 4 6

Car Insurance Rates to Climb Here This Year

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ralph Harris, president of the All Canada Insurance Federation, announced here that cost of all classes of automobile insurance is certain to be increased this year in British Columbia.

Mr. Harris said automobile insurance companies lost $6,000,000 in 1951 and final reports for 1952 probably will show an even greater deficit.

"This, plus increased costs, make it a certainty that the cost of premiums is bound to rise a certain amount for all classes of automobile insurance."

During 1951 companies in B.C. paid out $110 in claims for every $100 they took in, said Mr. Harris.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett said it would be impossible to hold a by-election before the coming session of the legislature, which opens Feb. 3.

Another of the 48 seats in the House also is vacant since the death three months ago of E. C. Carson, Progressive Conservative member for Lillooet.

No action to fill the two seats is expected to be taken until the next general election, which Premier Bennett says will be held "before the hot summer months."

German Plans to Split Movie Combine Readied

By EDO KOENIG

BONN (Reuters)—The West German government has completed its plan for splitting up the huge movie-making combine Nazi propaganda minister Josef Goebbels created to peddle Nazi ideology.

Under the plans, the Nazi-created UFI movie cartel would be broken up and three or four large new movie companies formed from its assets.

These assets, estimated at 70,000,000 marks, about $16,800,000

Strikes Affect Pensioners

VANCOUVER (CP)—Old age pensioners in the Greater Vancouver area have petitioned the B.C. government for legislation for compulsory settlement of labor disputes by tribunal.

The brief submitted to the cabinet in Victoria, contends the strike is as outmoded now as the practice of duelling, once resorted to for settling differences between individuals.

It contended that strikes for higher wages and shorter hours cause particular hardship for the aged.

It claimed not only do old age pensioners suffer from strikes and inflation of wages, but blind pensioners and all persons on fixed income are also adversely affected.

worth of studios, theatres and equipment, were placed under Allied control after the war. In 1951, the West German government was asked to work out a decartelization plan for them.

Its plan has now been presented to parliament's film committee.

Once the control is lifted, about 20,000,000 marks ($4,400,000) worth of the assets will go immediately to satisfy claims of individual creditors.

According to the government plan, each of the new companies will have production and distribution facilities. This is intended to make them independent of the "retarding" influence of present day film distribution firms and increase the chance of improving the quality of films.

The plan also seeks to establish a special movie bank to finance an estimated 60 movies a year and assist in the production of whole movie sets which would permit the losses of one film to be cancelled out by the financial success of another.

The UFI organization was founded by Goebbels in 1939 and included, the existing main German film companies, whose shares had been bought up by the Nazi Reich government.

Goebbels' aim was to have a giant film combine ready after German's final "victory."

A. Y. JACKSON, possibly the dean of Canadian painters, looks at "Buckingham Palace" by Campbell Tinning of Montreal, one of the outstanding paintings in the 27th annual exhibition of the Canadian Society of Painters in Watercolor at the Toronto Art Gallery. Mr. Jackson, who had his first exhibition in Montreal in 1911 and in 1920 helped form the famed and then radical "Group of Seven," said the most significant trend in Canadian art today is expanding interest and experimentation.

VANCOUVER (CP)—The pilot truck of ananda's first coast-to-coast trucking service arrived here on schedule with 250 lobsters for veterans at Shaughnessy Hospital.

WATERFRONT - - WHIFFS

On the steps to have his picture taken holding two giant red Nova Scotia lobsters was, appropriately enough, a Nova Scotian, Bill Henshaw of Middleton, who was invalided home last week from Korea with rheumatic fever.

Three companies teamed up for Canada's first Halifax-to-Vancouver road freight—Associated, Amalgamated and Refrigerated Express—though the 4,200-mile route was mostly through the United States.

The companies say they're still not sure how frequent the service will be. It depends on the amount of cargo.

The lobsters were a gift from Associated Lines of Toronto. The drivers carried a message from Mayor Donahoe of Halifax to Mayor Hume of Vancouver, who was among the welcoming delegation. Both mayors said they hoped the new coast-to-coast service would contribute to the prosperity of the Atlantic and Pacific coast cities.

OSLO (Reuters)—Newspapers in the north of Norway claim Polish trawlers operating off the coast there are concerned more with espionage than with fishing.

The Polish trawlers have hired a number of Norwegian fishermen to work on board during the fishing. According to the newspaper Tromsø, these men reported that about half the Polish crews are naval men and "political commissars."

The Polish trawler Vega, said the newspaper Nordlan, had a cargo of only 13 tons of salted fish—the result of an eight-week trip. Trawlers normally bring in about 200 tons after a trip of only three weeks.

LONDON (Reuters)—Russia has given Britain notice she is breaking a 1930 Anglo-Soviet treaty which allows British fishermen to fish within three miles of the Russian coast.

Russia now claims territorial waters 12 miles out from shore and fishing treaties with other countries are on this basis.

The Foreign Office, announcing the Russian notice, said the treaty provided either side could terminate with six months' notice.

NEWS ... in brief

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Fishing Vessel Owners' Association of B.C. has started a drive to force the federal government and city council to act on construction of a fishermen's wharf in False Creek here.

A statement by the association said "two years ago the federal government voted $100,000 to start off the job and the public works minister gave assurance that immediate action would be taken, but nothing has happened yet."

No More Talks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The truce talks in Korea never will be resumed there, predicts Brig-Gen. William P. Nichols, former official spokesman for the United Nations armistice delegation.

"The primary issue still unsettled is the prisoner-of-war exchange and that is above the military level. It is something that must be settled at the government level."

Four-year Term

WASHINGTON (AP) Commentator Everett Holmes said in a Mutual Network broadcast that President Eisenhower has told intimates he is determined to serve only four years in the White House, barring some emergency which he cannot now imagine. There has been no comment from Eisenhower's New York headquarters.

Britain Leads Way

GENEVA (Reuters)—Britain, with one automobile for every 20 persons, led Europe in cars per capita in 1951, a report of the United Nations economic commission for Europe said today. Britain has 2,437,694 private cars in 1951. Sweden came second with one car for every 22 persons. Yugoslavia was at the bottom of the list with 61,900 cars—one for every 2,355 persons.

To Buy 100 Planes

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's defence forces plan to buy 100 planes and 24 helicopters from abroad and build at least five patrol boats at home this year, it is announced by Director-General Tokutaro Kimura.

Mail Burned

OTTAWA (CP)—The army said today it has received word that some 1,500 items of mail posted by troops in Korea to Canadian addresses was damaged by fire in Korea Jan. 17.

SCREEN ★ ★ FLASHES

Meet Arthur "Offbeat" Lubin, director of Universal-International's "It Grows on Trees," the story of an average American housewife who discovers that two backyard trees grow $5 and $10 bills.

The new comedy film, starring Irene Dunne, Dean Jagger and Joan Evans, opens Monday at the Totem Theatre for a three-day run.

Lubin previously brought two other "offbeat" subjects to the screen in the person of "Francis," the talking mule, and "Rhubarb," the cat who inherited a baseball team.

The veteran director had his early film training under the expert guidance of Harold Lloyd. Long before he ever dreamed of a mule which would have more sense than Donald O'Connor and a tree that could make more money than the average middle-class American, Lubin was involved with the strange goings-on as an actor in a film titled "The Lost World."

"Actually I was the lost actor in that one," says Lubin, "but it was there that I caught the bug for the abnormal or subnormal, or whatever you call it."

"You can't help getting that way playing second fiddle to a dinosaur." "It Grows on Trees" was produced by Leonard Goldstein.

By LILIAN MILLER

Prince Rupert's small but ambitious Little Theatre group held a business meeting on Tuesday, January 20.

During a discussion of the play "Ask Me No Questions," it was learned the club "broke even" financially, but added valuable equipment to the supplies needed to produce successful plays.

It was with regret that the club accepted the resignation of secretary, Agnes Mick, who is leaving Prince Rupert very shortly. "Rusty" has been a most efficient and willing worker during her term of office.

Maresa Windle was unanimously elected to carry on as secretary for the remainder of the year.

A tentative casting of the Festival play, "Strange Road" was made, but due to the small membership it is impossible to complete this job until a second made for more members.

Because this play will be produced until May, and it has a small cast, it was decided to begin work on a three-act play to be produced in late May.

Work on these two plays was carried on at the same time. Director Gerry Woodside's two plays means a very heavy load for one person, so an attempt is being made to find someone who can assist him in the job of directing.

Rehearsals will be held in members' homes until time as stage rehearsals necessary. This will also be to business meetings which will be held on the first Tuesday each month. The next rehearsal meeting will be held at the home of Gerry Woodside January 27 at 8:00 p.m.
