Doukhobor Crackdown Promised

Demonstrators To Be Jailed

VICTORIA.—The British Columbia government is prepared to crack down on lawless Doukhobors.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner announced the "get tough" policy on Thursday, promising wholesale arrests if there are any mass demonstrations.

Police fear the radical Sons of Freedom may plan nude parades and demonstrations as a follow-up to recent acts of violence, including burning of 19 buildings by torch raiders.

Mr. Bonner said new facilities for jailing lawless elements and mass demonstrators are being prepared.

They will be ready within a very short period, he said, but he did not disclose locations.

Some years ago hundreds of Doukhobors, after nude parade demonstrations, were banished to an island in the Strait of Georgia.

Men and women were separated, living in separate stockades.

Mr. Bonner said the minority group, protesting proposals for settlement in new lands, were responsible for the present trouble.

He outlined a three-point plan for solving the problem:

- Permanent relocation outside Canada;
- An active program of rehabilitation for Doukhobors who do not emigrate; and
- An increasingly firm attitude on taxation and school attendance.

UN Agrees To Resume Peace Talks

MUNSA (CP)—The UN command agreed today to resume full-dress Korean armistice negotiations. Liaison officers will meet, possibly Saturday, to set the time and place.

Spokesman for Vice-Admiral John C. Daniel, chief of the UN liaison group, said the allies definitely agreed to resume full-scale talks in a letter given to the Communists today.

Even as staff officers met in Panmunjom, the Communist convoy carrying sick and wounded allied prisoners neared Kaesong, just six miles from the point where the exchange of disabled captives will begin on Monday.

Heifetz Hit For Playing German Music

JERUSALEM (CP)—An unidentified assailant slugged violinist Jascha Heifetz with an iron bar early today, injuring his right hand.

Heifetz was struck shortly after he played a sonata by the German composer Richard Strauss. Strauss music is unwelcome in Israel, because of the Nazi ban on works by Jews.

Shortly after the attack, an anonymous caller phoned the Voice of Israel radio station and said the slugging was carried out by a Hebrew. The caller said Heifetz had better get out of Israel or the attack would be repeated.

Lack of Ammunition 'Hampers' Canadians

OTTAWA.—Lt. Col. Gordon Churchill (PC—Winnipeg South Centre) contended in the Commons Thursday that Canadian troops in Korea are being shelled unmercifully and can't reply because of ammunition shortages.

Defence Minister Claxton said there was no evidence for such an assertion and that United Nations artillery fire in Korea is 10 times heavier than that of the Chinese and greater than the extreme high rates of two world wars.

The exchange came as the general debate on defence moved through its third day.

Mr. Claxton said no army ever had or will have all the ammunition it wants but that the Canadians have the ammunition they need.

"The Canadians are supplied through the Commonwealth division and by the Americans. It would be impossible for Canada to set up separate supply lines."

Also joining in the debate were Lt. Col. Douglas Harkness (PC—Calgary East), Gordon Higgins (PC—St. John's East), Col. David Croll (L—Toronto Spadina), A. M. Robichaud (PC—Gloucester), E. T. Applewhite (L—Skeena) and Maj. E. D. Fulton (PC—Kamloops).

Mr. Applewhite said ineffectiveness of the opposition's criticism on defence matters proved the worth of Defence Minister Claxton.

"The opposition," he said, "had gone to great length over the Currie report. One Progressive Conservative radio speaker had said Mr. Currie reported that it would never be known how many millions of dollars had been lost as a result of irregularities. Mr. Currie actually had said no such thing. He had said unknown losses would not be large."

Aluminum Project Still a Possibility

Central and northern British Columbia are on the threshold of the greatest mining development in Canadian history.

Fred H. Stephens, associate editor of Western Miner, here on a holiday visit, foresees three major developments "which would be of tremendous importance to this city, the surrounding area and Canada as a whole."

They are:
● Likelihood of a huge hydro development and smelter site in the Atlin Lake area.

● A copper smelter at the headwaters of the Leduc River, 128 air miles north of Prince Rupert.

● Huge development of asbestos deposits in McDame Creek area, recognized as the best in the world.

An offer for the sale of hydro power to the Aluminum Company of America by Frobisher Ltd. is the latest news of the eastern Canadian company's proposal to develop the Atlin Lake watershed potential.

MARKET FOR POWER
If Alcoa buys, the Frobisher plan "will likely develop soon," said Mr. Stephens. "It appears now to be the only way Alcoa could hope to go into aluminum production in Alaska."

"Such a deal would also provide a handy, and possibly the only market for all the power that can be produced there."

Alcoa, which proposed a huge aluminum smelter in Skagway by tapping the Atlin-Yukon border watershed lost in its bid with the Canadian government, which refused to grant water rights.

Alcoa was told the rights would remain in Canada.

In addition to the possible sale of power for an aluminum smelter, there would be an abundant surplus for several smelters of ore known to be in the vicinity of the Atlin-Yukon region.

The Frobisher proposal was announced a month ago—a plan to develop the Atlin Lake hydro potential which would dwarf the huge Alcan power project at Kemano.

"The untapped mineral resources of northern B.C. are believed to be tremendous. So far B.C. has very little industrial mining. It is concentrated mostly in the east."

TERRIFIC BOOM
But opening of the north which would follow such a development as proposed by Frobisher "could create the biggest mining boom we have ever witnessed," said Mr. Stephens, who is also secretary of the B.C. section of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy.

He said mining men were enthusiastic with the recent copper strike at Leduc Glacier and forecast further developments in the headwater area of the Unuk River, some miles north of Leduc.

If the half-million-dollar exploration work planned there this summer proved successful, "it is likely a smelter will be built in the area."

With reference to the McDame asbestos find several years ago but only in early development stage because of isolation (near the B.C.-Yukon border), Mr. Stephens said it was "a fabulous mine." During a recent visit there he said he saw the fibres "two and a half inches long, the finest ore ever located anywhere." Small quantities of the ore had been trucked out by way of the Alaska Highway and shipped east to Ontario smelters where (Continued on page 5)

Tom Sharkey Dies Broke

SAN FRANCISCO (CP)—Tom Sharkey, 70, barrel-chested battler who was the last of the prizefighters of the 1890's, died today.

The game slugger, who had won $250,000 fighting John L. Sullivan, Jim Corbett, Bob Fitzsimmons, Jim Jeffries and others, died broke—but not forgotten.

He had been in hospital since August, 1952. His friends—fighters, promoters, old-time newspaper men and followers—chipped in to pay his expenses.

Doctors at San Francisco hospital said Sharkey "died easily in his sleep."

SEOUL (CP)—Chinese Communists today hurled 1,000 men against five west Korean hills, overran part of one key height, then scurried back to their own lines in face of savage allied counter-attacks.

Port Simpson, Kitkatla Reach Finals in Native Cage Tournery

Finals in the two-day, four-team native basketball tournament for the B.C. Packers trophy will be between Port Simpson and Kitkatla, following eliminations last night, which produced a remarkable coincidence.

Both winning teams scored 59 points, both losers—the local Native Brotherhood team and Greenville—scored 43.

Most hotly-contested game was the Brotherhood-Kitkatla event which remained tied until the final frame when visitors poured on the heat to pick up 18 points to three. Top scorer for Kitkatla, which presently holds the trophy, was Ridley, who netted 19 points.

High score of the evening was made by Dudoward of Port Simpson—an even 20 points—against the Greenville squad.

Port Simpson team was backed by well-known Sonny Beynon on the guard line, former Prince Rupert All-star player.

Game time tonight is 7:30, at the Civic Centre gym.

Scoring:
Port Simpson—Dudoward 20,

Beynon 3, Sankey 6, Hughes 13, Reese 15, Bryant, Haward, Kelly, McKay 2. Total 59.

Greenville—McKay 9, Stevens 12, McNeil 4, Stewart 4, Alexander 4, Stevens, Tait 2, C. Alexander 6, Robinson 2, Calder. Total 43.

Brotherhood—Sankey 10, Stewart 4, Tait 6, Ware 11, McKay 7, Helin 9, Gray, Morvin. Total 43.

Kitkatla—Brown 16, Ridley 19, W. Innes 2, R. Innes 7, Toimie 3, Vickers 9, F. Gamble 2, R. Gamble 1. Total 59.

'They Took Their Chance'

AT A TIME when new personalities are appearing on the local political scene retrospect may seem tedious, but there are two men in Prince Rupert who merit this attention.

They are Art Murray and Jack McRae, both candidates in the last election who, for individual reasons, will not be on the ticket this year. Both are active and respected members of our community who had the courage to stick their heads into the angry maw of politics.

We do not forget, of course, that Tom Christie and George Hills share in this credit. Since the plans of their respective parties are not officially known, however, it would be presumptuous in their case to speak in terms of either retrospect or prospect. Apart from that, all reference applies equally to them.

If we are to continue to have a democracy, a few people in each district have to stand up for public examination every time an election comes around. It is a performance which calls for much personal fortitude. Since a candidate's main task is not to convince established friends but to convert doubtful ones, he is exposed to ridicule, scorn, insult and abuse. For the uneasy privilege of being put in this position, he must pay heavily in whatever money and energy he may have.

Despite this strange arrangement, the time is yet to come when the Canadian public is denied a chance to vote for candidates who have better than average qualifications to speak for their constituents. While there are the opportunists, the fanatics and the dupes running for office in any election, the overall standard is high because the competitive interests of the party system make it impossible to be otherwise.

As Mr. Murray and Mr. McRae retire from the contest it is worth remembering that, win or lose, they took their chance at the game in recognition of the democratic principle that every citizen has a right, not only to vote, but to vote for someone of his or her choice. It was a laudable step in two careers already distinguished for public service. While everyone appreciates this, it is mentioned here before the heat of the new campaign causes us to forget the contributions of those who have gone before.

It is gratifying to observe that their places have been taken by two candidates who stand high in the popular esteem of this district. This continued willingness of good men to step forward is the greatest of all our natural resources. As long as it remains, the people cannot lose.

Newsman Who Visited Russia Stick By Stories on What They Saw There

NEW YORK (AP)—Seven newspaper and radio executives came back from Moscow and faced new gibes about their reports of what they saw there. But the editors, appearing on an ABC television program for questioning by a group of reporters, stuck together throughout the sharp cross-examination.

They insisted that they felt they had to tell and write exactly what they saw there—whether their tour of Moscow was carefully arranged by the Soviet government or not. They said they would continue writing and telling about it, being careful to evaluate what they had seen in relation to other information at hand.

At one point, the leader of the expedition, James L. Wick of the Wick newspapers in Ohio, North Carolina and Louisiana, was asked by a reporter facetiously whether they asked permission to visit any concentration camps.

Wick replied in serious tones that he had discussed the question during a party at the hall of journalists, and had been told there was no concentration camps—that Russia like the United States, had prisons for criminals.

He said he then mentioned maps appearing in U.S. publications, showing the sites of concentration camps, and was told this was anti-Soviet propaganda.

Wick said he then asked whether the Americans would be permitted to inspect one of the sites shown on such maps, and he said the reply was: "Of course."

At one point, asked if he thought they got a "true picture" of Russia, Wick replied that everyone should keep in mind that they spent only seven days and saw only a small part of Russia.

He said the group could only "tell the truth to the extent of what we saw."

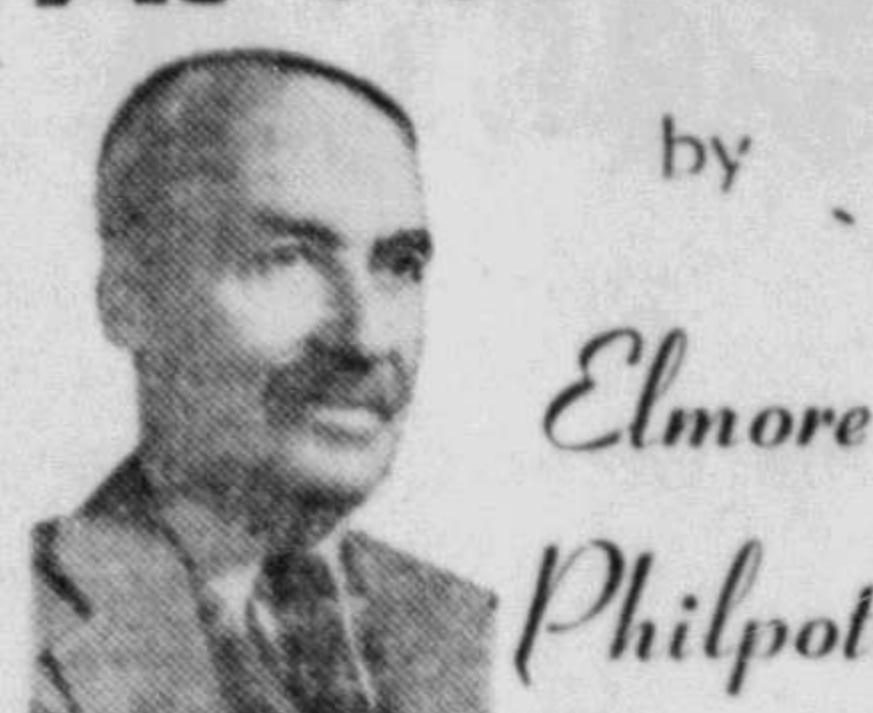

Dispatches some sent back about visits to Moscow factories, subways and the university brought a comment from the New York Daily News that Russia is trying "the same old Soviet sucker game on gullible westerners."

The New York Post has been referring to the group as "The Rover Boys in Moscow," and Time magazine in its current issue said it appeared "from their fatuous findings, all of the travelling editors had fallen on their faces."

John H. Biddle, of the Huntington, Pa., Daily News, said the news magazine's "caustic criticism" is unfair and without foundation, because the magazine has no way of knowing conditions in Moscow, or knowing what the touring editors saw there.

As I See It

WVA, Hogs, Butter

GEORGE Cruickshank, MP for Fraser Valley, is a doughty fighter. He is surely on sound ground when he urges the government to lift that lid on permitted earnings by WVA men.

The WVA grants are $50 for single people and $90 for married couples. You may earn up to $50 per month extra on what is called casual employment.

But for every day you work at "intermittent employment" you get docked $3.60 per day! Also, you cannot take, say, a full-time night watchman's job because you would be docked more than you would earn.

IT IS unfair to blame the WVA officials for the way they administer this act. They do the best they can under the law.

But the law itself should be changed preferably to abolish the double means test altogether; or failing that—at least to make it permissible for a man getting $50 WVA to earn an extra $50 for any source in any way, or for a couple to earn an extra $100.

Mr. Cruickshank has another good point "The amount of these allowances has not kept pace with advancing living costs."

But that applies to all pensions, and allowances. Maybe one remedy is to bring down living costs.

TOM LEACH the CBC farm commentator for B.C. is one of the hardest headed chaps I ever knew. He has a plan to stop the pork surplus from piling up. He shows that when our government was anxious to boost bacon production it set up a system of cash premium payments to farmers who would produce fat hogs. Tom says "The average farm jumped production from 7.6 pigs per farm to 15.5."

He suggests that hogs should be slaughtered at 165 pounds—and that if the $2 premium is to be continued it should be fixed at that weight and not 210, as now.

He gives a convincing detail to prove that this is the most economic hog to produce for the only markets we have in sight.

NO BRIGHT woman (or man) has yet come forward with any kind of answer to the question I recently asked here:

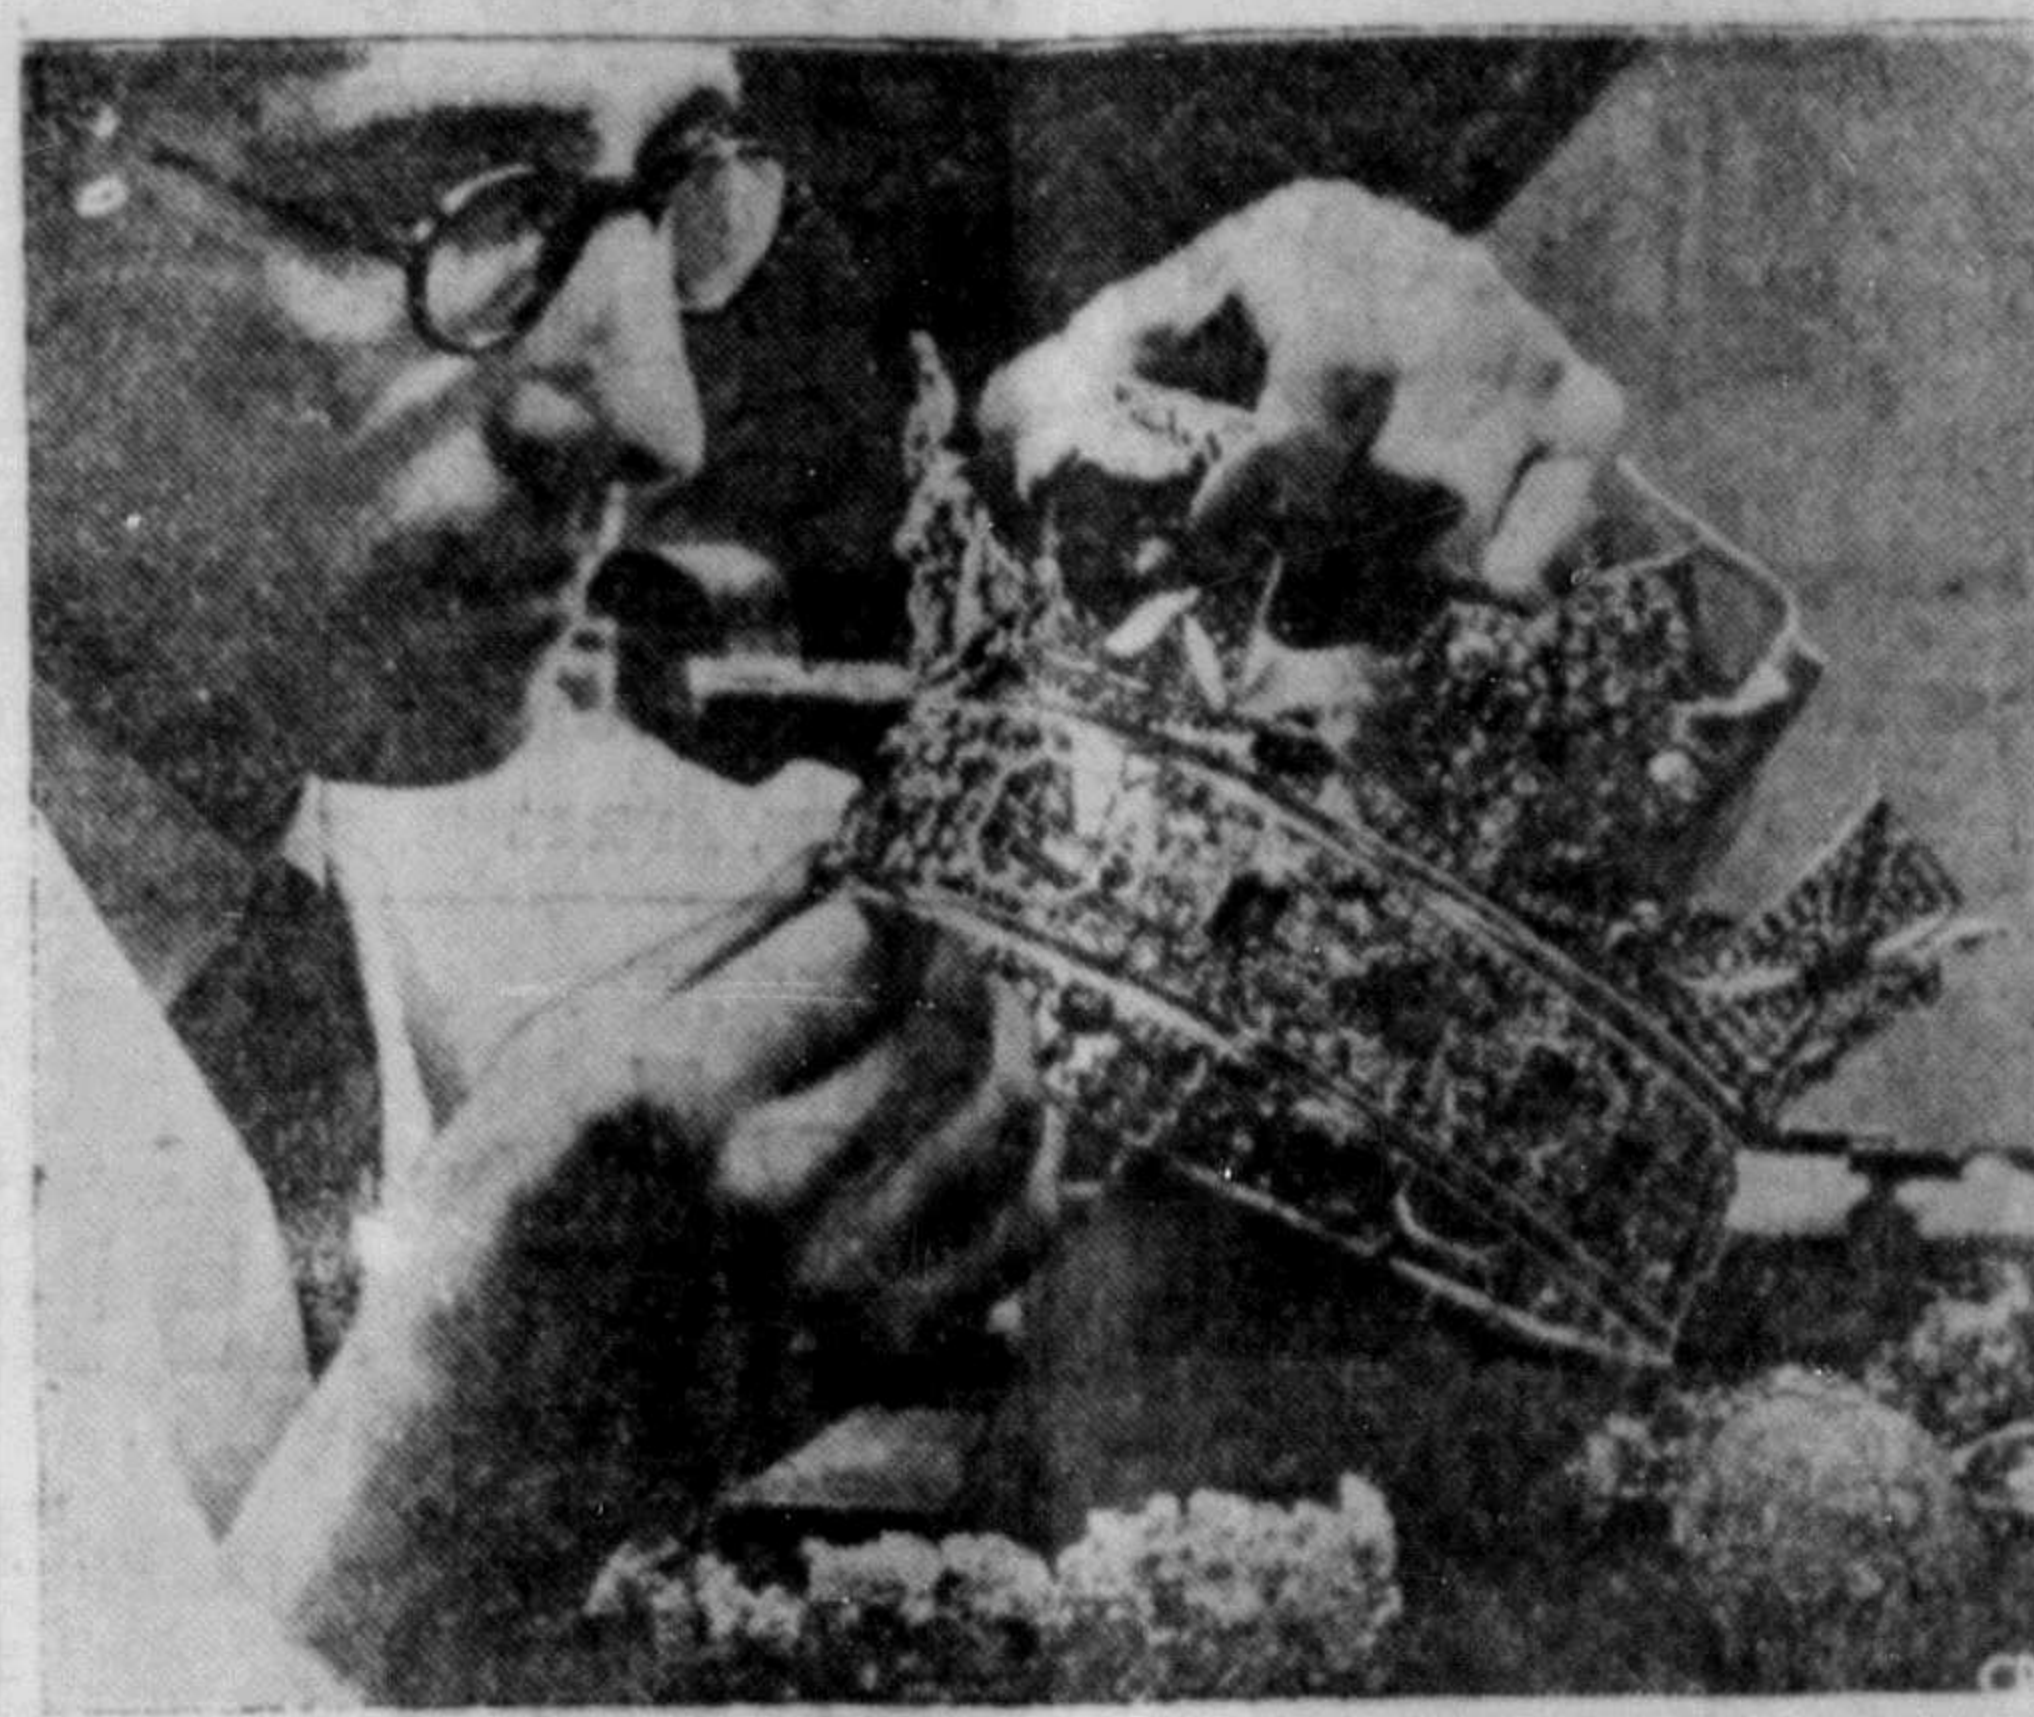

What is a practical way of getting rid of the food surpluses, without ruining the livelihood of the people who produce the food?

For instance, Mrs. Ordinary Housewife—how would YOU go about getting rid of the 30 million pounds of surplus butter that our government bought with our money to keep the floor price to farmers above 58 cents?

Would you sell it through the stores for whatever price it would bring? And suppose you did that—say selling the butter surplus at 50, 40, 30 or even 10 cents a pound? Would that not knock the bottom clean out of the butter market—and put dairy farmers out of business? Or what do you think?

The same principle applies to 76 million pounds of canned pork our government owns.

OTTAWA DIARY

By Norman M. MacLeod

Whatever else "Art" Laing may have been in his useful four-year career as a Vancouver MP, he now rates as Parliament Hill's No. 1 man of mystery as he bows off the federal stage to lead the Liberal party in British Columbia.

The mystery cloak will only be stripped off him on June 9 next. On that date he will disclose whether or not he is really the answer to the quest of the old-line parties for someone able to serve as an effective roadblock in the pathway of the crusading Social Credit movement.

Right now that's about the most important assignment that anyone in these parts could receive. For Social Credit here has just said that it will field 160 candidates in the coming federal contest. In the uncertain state of public opinion, the prestige of a really resounding win in British Columbia on June 9 would be about all these characters would need to be highly dangerous contenders on federal polling day.

The B.C. Liberals are hardly in a position to appreciate their good fortune in being able to secure Laing's help in their present plight. Their good luck doesn't consist alone in the solid abilities and qualities for leadership that the Vancouver MP will bring to them. It lies equally in the fact that he was available at all.

Actually, Laing's availability was a matter of sheerest good luck. For ever since his advent in Ottawa, he has been recognized as of cabinet calibre. If political considerations hadn't dictated "Jimmie" Sinclair's preference, and if a lawyer hadn't been badly wanted when Ralph Campney was named, he would have been elevated before either.

At that, it is believed in many quarters that if Laing had been more assiduous in cultivating the personnel of the Liberal high command, he would still have won preferment. Fortunately for the B.C. Liberals, Laing has never gone out of his way to sell himself to higher-ups in the party, but has been content to win the confidence of the rank-and-file.

By no stretch of the imagination can the B.C. Liberal leadership be regarded as even an approach to a sincere understanding of conditions of west coast politics. Laing's readiness to accept it and retire from a field where his ultimate high success was as certain as anything can be is characteristic of his character.

Where there's a job to be done, difficulties don't stop him. His mind is quick and soundly independent in its grasp of public questions. His solid background as a trained agriculturist—he's a degree farmer—keeps him close to the fundamental interests of the common people, whose language he talks intelligently.

Federal political circles, regardless of party lines, believe the B.C. Liberals made a 10-strike when they drafted him. He'll do the best job that can be done under the circumstances.

Far more people are being killed in traffic in Vancouver than are done away with by all the murderers, bandits and strongarm men. Today, the situation is worse than ever. In the first months of last year there were two fatal accidents. This year there have been eleven. What are we going to do, inquires the Vancouver Province. There seems to be only one thing left. That is, scare the living daylights out of drivers who don't take their responsibilities seriously. We should practically put reckless driving on a par with murder, which it is.

Pay Night at Kemano

Since December 1951, The Royal Bank of Canada has provided banking service to construction crews working on the gigantic power and aluminum project now taking shape on B.C.'s rugged mountain coast. Branches and sub-branches are operating at Kemano, Tahtsa Lake, Nechako River damsite, Kildala, Skins Lake and other strategic points in this great undertaking.

Pioneering in remote areas is nothing new to the Royal Bank. It is a strong tradition. For example, we maintain offices at Chetwynd on Hudson's Bay, Mayo in the Yukon, Port Radium on the fringe of the Arctic, "farthest-north" bank in Canada. Wherever the need arises, The Royal Bank of Canada heads north with the men who are establishing Canada's new frontiers.

Communism 'Real' Threat India, Says Bishop

A "very real" threat of Communism taking over is seen by a high-ranking churchman who spent much of his life in that country, returning to Canada less than two years ago.

Standing thinkers of our day express a belief that in India will have a "very real" threat of Communism taking over is seen by a high-ranking churchman who spent much of his life in that country, returning to Canada less than two years ago.

Our friends south of the border sometimes appear to assume that democracy began with Lincoln's Gettysburg address. He pinched it straight out of the Bible," said the Bishop.

Bishop Watts named other major problems facing India, such as food scarcity, much of it caused by religious beliefs; its internal trade problems; its lack of education and health facilities; its labor problem; and its proximity to Tibet, recently overrun by Chinese Communists.

He said that in India there was one doctor for every 8,000 persons; one nurse for every 56,000; one trained midwife for every 70,000; and one hospital bed for every 4,000 population.

India's labor problem became serious after World War II with the discharge of most of her well-paid troops.

LACK EDUCATION
Only eight per cent of the country's population has a "normal" education and a food crisis is reached annually, partly due to destruction of some 14,000,000 bushels of grain by "sacred" rats; food also is under continual destruction by sacred cows and monkeys, which, according to the Hindu religion, cannot be killed.

Meanwhile, the younger generation was trying to put religious differences in the background and "are fighting their basic enemies and problems."

The speaker asked Rotarians to "bear these factors in mind when you read or hear about India." It would help to better understand that country's development.

"Christianity is the only foster of democracy. Bear that in mind also. There is no quick solution to India's many problems, but each in your own way can make some contribution."

Watts, a missionary in India and China for 14 years, said that when he was in India, he did not see a very distinct difference between the two, "he said today was a separation from India, because of the division, the former Mohammedan and the Hindu."

Between the two factions into a bitter duel five years ago, which resulted in a state of anarchy and a state of anarchy today is exemplified by the armed borders and a land separating the two nations within the vast India.

Religious strife, Bishop Watts said, was one factor that had retarded India's progress. It was a sovereign republic, he said.

Watts said that in India it was not only a government, but also a religion, and that the morals of those who lived in India were not the same as those of the West.

Comfort And Convenience Keynote Pahlman Designs

By ELENORE LESTER

At a time when most furniture designers are trying to scale down furniture to give it a "light and airy look," William Pahlman's designs are refreshingly different.

Pahlman designs with a generous hand to produce comfortable, livable pieces which meet the requirements of contemporary living.

Pahlman's dining chairs, for example, are slightly taller than average from the seat up to help posture and provide more comfort. His spindle back sofa and companion chair are beautifully designed front and back, making them adaptable to modern seating arrangements where backs often face into the room.

The designer makes generous use of foam rubber for seat and loose, reversible back cushions.

Wheels are almost a Pahlman trademark. He places his night table on wheels so that it is easy to move when making the bed.

His huge ebony cocktail table has real pneumatic tires, miniatures of the ones on automobiles. A serving table on wheels has shelves, storage drawers and serving space as well as an insulated pit for a small charcoal fire to keep hors d'oeuvres warm, or for ice cubes.

Other Pahlman touches are the use of textured fabrics in such arresting colors as persimmon, off-whites, yellow, gold and aquamarine, and bright gold-finish drawer pulls. The pieces come in a new, warm, light walnut finish.

The Canadian Legion Women's Auxiliary card party Wednesday night drew 53 players. The following were winners:

Mrs. M. Snrubsan and Miss M. W. Pearson, whist; Mrs. A. Dumas and Mrs. W. Davies, cribbage; Mrs. W. Rothwell and Mrs. P. Phipps, bridge.

Committee serving refreshments included Mrs. P. Deane, Mrs. B. Deane, Mrs. W. Davies and Mrs. Croxford.

Teacher Lack 'Desperate' Says Principal

PORT ALBERNI, B.C. (CP)—A Port Alberni school principal, Eric J. Dunn, reports teacher shortage on the secondary level this year appears to be desperate.

Mr. Dunn, on his return from a visit to Vancouver, told the Alberni district school trustees there will be fewer than 100 graduates from the teacher training class at the University of British Columbia.

He said many of the graduates will go into industry and that some intend to go to England. He said also that the class has no promising graduates in girls' physical training and only one in the boys' physical training group. He said five are graduating in home economics, but that only three intend to teach.

Mr. Dunn recommended an early start be made in advertising for vacancies on the high school staff.

Lach Nets Lone Goal As Canadiens Win Cup

Rocket Richard, Eddie Mazur Take Part in Setting Up Goal

By The Canadian Press

MONTREAL.—Elmer Lach, 35-year-old veteran centre of Montreal Canadiens, shot the only goal of the overtime game Thursday night—a goal that beat the Boston Bruins and won the Stanley Cup for the Canadiens for the first time since 1946.

The goal, at 1:22 of the first overtime period, brought the series to a close with Canadiens winning four games and Bruins one.

Lach's veteran linemate, Maurice (Rocket) Richard, supplied the assist on the goal that meant roughly $500 for each Montreal player.

Lach's goal set off a wild demonstration among 14,450 fans in Montreal Forum. Montreal players, too, broke loose in an outburst of wild enthusiasm and Lach was carried from the ice by Richard and captain Butch Bouchard.

Boston players skated about shaking hands with the new world champions and then left for their dressingroom as the Stanley Cup was brought to centre ice. While crowds milled about, Bouchard received the trophy.

Lach's goal came with dramatic suddenness just as the crowd settled down for the sudden-death play.

The teams had fought it out doggedly through 60 minutes of regulation time. There was close checking, hard, solid body-checking, and fine goaltending.

After veteran Woody Dumart of the Bruins had lifted an easy shot following the faceoff to start the overtime, the Canadiens drove into the Boston end.

Lach tested goalie Jim Henry with a long shot. Then rookie Eddie (Spider) Mazur whipped a sharp backhand from far over on right wing. Henry kicked it out. Richard picked up the puck near the net, took a step towards the backboards and then sent the pass back to Lach.

From inside the righthand red circle, facing Henry, Lach let drive from about 20 feet out. The puck whistled past Henry on his right side and caught the far corner of the net.

Crow Shoot Planned At Smithers

SMITHERS.—Showings of wild life and forest conservation films by the Bulkley Valley Rod and Gun Club is planned for Smithers, Hazelton and Telkwa the week of May 17 to 24.

Tying-in with National Fire Prevention Week, the club hopes to further the fight against carelessness causing forest fires. A crowd shoot will be sponsored by the club May 18.

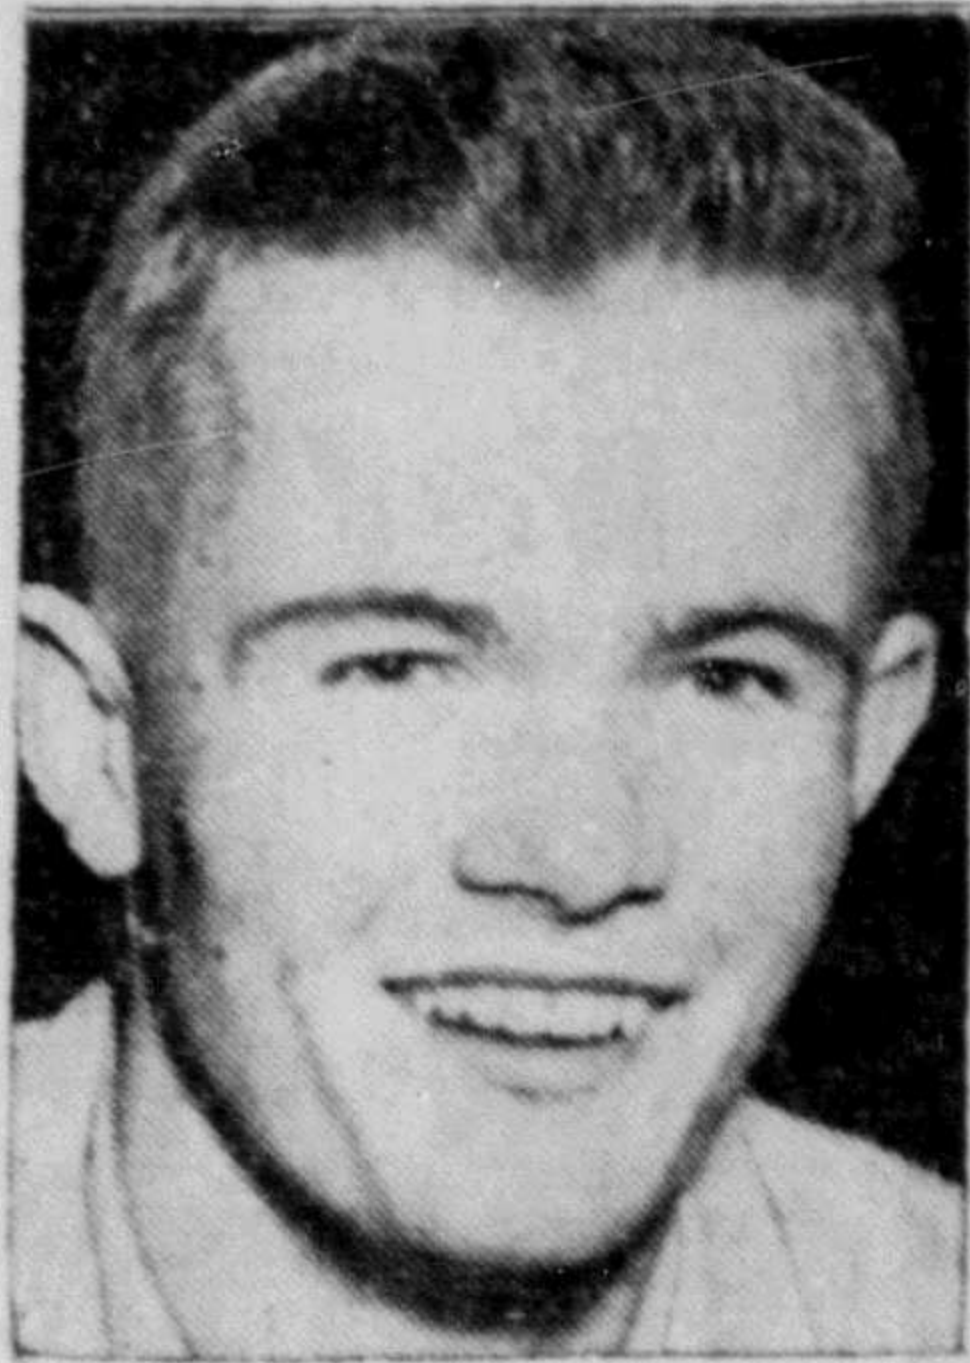

One hundred day-old chicks have been ordered for delivery next month as part of the club's program of introduction of ring-neck pheasants into Bulkley Valley. Four hens were recently received. Eggs from these will be hatched under brooding chickens.

Release of birds raised since last year is being made this week. Hens now reaching laying stage will hatch and raise their chicks under natural conditions. Observations as to progress will be made.

Soldier Killed In Jeep Crash

VICTORIA.—One soldier was killed and three others injured when their jeep went off the road, hit a pole and overturned near Gordon Head army camp here today.

Dead is Gnr. Archibald Milford, 23, of Elkhorn, Manitoba. He was pinned under the overturned vehicle.

MID HOUGHTON, Calgary defence player, was declared ineligible to play as a medical replacement for Lethbridge Native Sons in Memorial Cup playoffs by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association after first being given permission to play. Houghton was asked for when three regulars of the Native Sons were injured.

Terrace Plans Four New Bowling Alleys

TERRACE.—Estimates for four new bowling alleys were submitted by Mr. Alec Grant at Wednesday night's meeting of the Civic Centre Directorate and a representative of one Vancouver firm will be in Terrace shortly for a business discussion with the executive.

As the Civic Centre is beginning to get on its feet, financially, it was felt that the new alleys should be installed before next bowling season.

However, great care is being taken that only the best alleys at the most suitable terms are to be installed.

The meeting, held in the Civic Centre was well-attended and president Kaulback announced that efforts were being made to start Teen Town very shortly.

Alec Grant volunteered to make inquiries for more chairs for the auditorium and to get a price on roller skates, in quantity, for the gymnasium.

A meeting to stimulate interest in forming a tennis club here was held in the Civic Centre, attended by about 26 enthusiastic juniors and adults.

A committee was elected to see Dudley Little for use of the former upper drill hall, now owned by him. On the committee are: Mr. McFadden Mrs. Vosburgh, Mr. Chater and Dennis Tucker.

An executive will be formed at the organizational meeting to be held later.

SPORTS ROUND-UP

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Yankees, proud four-time world champions, were about to open the 1953 season against Philadelphia Athletics, and manager Casey Stengel was hugging a radiator in the dugout against the cold.

He was asked what he thought his chances were of being the first man ever to pilot a five-time winner.

"Well, I would put it this way. Our outfield looks very good. So does our catching. I've been having some trouble with my infield. I would say it is fair."

And he added: "Now, my pitchers who are supposed to win all the games haven't been trying so hard in the exhibition games down south and they've been getting hit. At least I hope that's it. I'd hate to think they'd been doing their best. Where I think I might be a little stronger is in my other pitchers."

"Take Johnny Sam. He's been looking better than he did last year. He thinks he's going to have a big year. So does Ewell Blackwell."

That was Stengel's opinion of his chances. He was next asked which of the other American League clubs he figured he had to whip.

"I hear that Lopez (manager Al Lopez of Cleveland Indians) is looking for a shortstop," he said. "Well, they're always looking for something. I'm looking for another Mickey Mantle but I ain't going to find him; am I?"

"How do the Indians look, anyway?" Stengel asked. He was advised that Cleveland looked very good indeed. "I hear they've got two or three outfielders now and some good young fellers in their infield," Casey observed. "Has Luke Easter been hitting much? They tell me the Giants have been using a shift on Easter and Larry Doby, putting their short-stop way over to the right of second-base. I hear it's worked, too," he added reflectively.

Turning his attention from the Indians to Eddie Robinson, the Philadelphia Athletics' new first-baseman, who was taking his practice sicks at the plate, the sage of baseball began to mutter almost to himself: "Look at that guy. He ought to knock in 120-130 runs in that park he's got now. Don't know any reason he shouldn't."

Where a fine car matters... Monarch belongs

More and more Canadians are discovering the deep-down sense of satisfaction that comes from owning a Monarch. It's a satisfaction that springs from the knowledge that Monarch's grace and dignity are the perfect complement to any setting, on any occasion... from the confidence inspired by Monarch's brilliant behaviour on the road... from the smooth, ever-dependable performance of Monarch's fine 125-Hp. V-8 engine, backed by experience gained in building more V-8 engines than all other manufacturers combined. Put all these things together and you have the essence of that pride of ownership that all Monarch drivers share.

Such luxurious comfort... so richly appointed

Open the door of a Monarch and see how effectively its beauty of design has been carried through into the interiors—decorator-designed, planned for luxurious comfort, colour-keyed to high-fashion fabrics... all harmonized with an eye to enduring good looks. Beauty inside and out—compelling reason for Monarch's ever-growing popularity.

Yanks Take Washington In 2nd Opener

NEW YORK (CP)—President Eisenhower threw out the first ball between speeches Thursday as baseball's second openers produced everything from a one-hitter by Chicago's Billy Pierce to a wild slugging clambake at Pittsburgh.

After the President tossed a long, high pitch to Washington's Ken Wood, the world champion New York Yankees took charge. Four runs in the first inning and Johnny Sain's steady pitching sewed up the 6-3 victory before 25,122 fans.

Pierce allowed St. Louis one hit—a seventh-inning double by Bob Young—to beat Harry Brecheen's two-hitter 1-0. After scoring seven runs in the fourth inning the Pirates had to come up with six more in the fifth to edge the Phils 14-12 in their home opener. The two teams combined scored nine runs in the fourth and 15 in the fifth.

Connie Ryan of the Phillies equalled the major league record with six consecutive hits.

Bears Drop First Game

EDMONTON (CP)—Toronto Nortown Tri-Bells froze the ball in the last few minutes of play Thursday night to stave off a desperate offensive by University of Alberta Golden Bears and take the first game of the Canadian senior men's basketball final 62-60. Second game will be played tonight.

MINING DEVELOPMENT

all of Canada's asbestos is manufactured today.

Of other mining activity in central and northern B.C., Mr. Stephens referred to the Dehorn gold mine at Whitesall Lake in Tweedsmuir Park where $60,000 was spent in exploration last year, and at Usk, 120 miles east of Prince Rupert, where very rich lead-zinc and copper-gold bodies have been found.

Mr. Stephens does not consider the B.C. Peace River block as a big oil producer but its potentials "are practically unlimited."

He believes the pipeline from the Peace through Prince George and down the Fraser River trench to Vancouver will be built regardless of whether the U.S. government grants permission for the line to cross the border.

West Coast Transmission, which has proposed the natural gas line, has been granted a 22-year lease on its pipeline route by the federal government.

If these developments come to pass, Prince Rupert would be among the first to benefit. It is the jumping-off place.

And between the Peace and Prince Rupert lies another untapped area of vast resources.

But development there would have to wait for transportation.

Mr. Stephens, former Prince Rupert resident and son of Sheriff and Mrs. M. M. Stephens, is on vacation with his wife and younger son.

Six-Year-Old Murder Of Children Unsolved

VANCOUVER (CP)—The mystery of the Stanley Park skeletons remains unsolved.

Nigel Morgan To Seek Seat In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Nigel Morgan, 39-year-old leader of the Labor-Progressive party in B.C., has been nominated to carry the party's colors in Vancouver East in the June provincial election.

Morgan, a full-time employee of the party, was nominated to run for the seat at a two-day conference of the Communists in Vancouver, at which members outlined the platform on which they will contest the election.

Main points in the platform call for "promotion of trade policies" which will enable B.C. products to bypass the present "Yankee dollar barriers and get into the markets of the world," and also "action to safeguard and develop B.C.'s natural resources for the people," Mr. Morgan said today.

The party decided to run from 20 to 25 candidates in the election.

A murderer crashed a shiner's hammer into the heads of two small children—a girl and a boy—about six years ago, laid their bodies between rotting logs and fled.

A forester found them January 15 this year as he was clearing brush on a hillside.

After thousands of man-hours of investigation, police Thursday released a report.

Detective Don McKay, head of the investigating team, is convinced the murderer was a woman, the mother or guardian of the children.

The babes-in-the-woods were covered by the rotting remains of a woman's fur coat. There were also bits of rotting cloth. A woman's shoe was found, trapped between the girl's body and a log.

STILL ALIVE

"The murderer could have committed suicide," said Detective McKay. "But no body was found and we must work on the presumption she is still alive."

The boy was about six years old, and the girl a little older. A city furrier, aided by police scientists, reconstructed a duplicate of the coat of such accuracy that the original button, later found at the scene, was identical to the one put on the duplicate.

Police said it was worn by a chunkily-built woman, about 5 foot 4 in height.

The police investigators handled about 41 leads concerning missing children, and found them in such far-off places as South America, Australia and Scotland.

PUBLISH PICTURES

Police have permitted publication of science-made pictures, one showing a boy mummy dressed in clothes similar to those worn by the hatchet victim. The press was also permitted to publish pictures of the hatchet, the reconstructed woman's coat, the shoe and a tiny blue lunch box found beside the skeletons.

The investigators hope someone will put the story and pictures together and come up with a clue to solve the slayings.

TWO LADS GIVE SPRING A HELPING HAND to clear winter from the grounds at Alberta legislative buildings in Edmonton. Recent prairie weather records have tumbled as the result of a general unseasonable cold snap. Snow was general, but spotty, across the prairies and Edmonton's low of eight degrees was the coldest for April 13 in 80 years.

Habitual Criminal Charge Stands Against B.C. Man

OTTAWA (CP)—A final attempt by a Vancouver man to avert the possibility of spending the rest of his life in jail on a charge of being a habitual criminal failed today.

In a four-to-one judgment, the Supreme Court of Canada rejected the appeal of Lloyd E. Brusch from the conviction which carries with it an "indefinite" prison term and leaves open to the federal justice department the decision of how long the criminal will remain behind bars.

Under a parliamentary law passed in 1947, any man can be tried on the habitual criminal charge provided he has been convicted of three major offences since the age of 13.

Brusch, arraigned in 1951 on a charge of breaking and entering and stealing $1,000, was warned he would face the habitual criminal charge if convicted.

Brusch had been previously convicted on charges of breaking and entering and stealing in 1940, 1943 and 1947.

He elected to be tried without jury and was sentenced to five years and after that was convicted on the habitual criminal charge, again being tried without jury.

Brusch appealed on the grounds that he should have been given the choice of being tried by judge or judge and jury on the habitual criminal charge.

But the Supreme Court found that this was not an indictable offence and the trial could be heard under the same circumstances as the charge that preceded it.

Under the habitual criminal conviction, Brusch's case will be reviewed every three years by the federal justice department. It will be up to the department whether the man should be freed or whether sentence should continue.

Scout Leader Course Opens Here April 27

Announcement is made by F. E. Anfield, district commissioner for scouting, that a leaders' training course is to begin on April 27 for all those interested in working with young people.

"This course is open to anybody anxious to get some useful pointers on promoting and guiding the activities of boys and girls," Mr. Anfield said. "As we must be assured of at least 21 to bring in the training instructor, anyone who would like to take the course should get in touch with us right away. Bill Doughton at Ormes Drugs and Fred Conrad at Albert & McCaffery are handling arrangements."

Registration fee for the course which will be held every evening up to and including May 1 is 50 cents. This will cover the cost of notebooks and training aids supplied. There is no other charge.

The meetings will start at 7:30 p.m. in the Anglican Cathedral Hall. Sponsor of the course is the Prince Rupert District Boy Scout Association.

Teacher Admits Failure in Move To Educate Douks

VANCOUVER (CP)—A teacher sent to Crestova to attempt to teach peaceful recreation to the radical Sons of Freedom Doukhobors says he's made no progress in a year.

Al Thiessen, physical education instructor and principal of the Crescent Elementary School, was appointed to the post with the understanding that he would attempt an after-hours education program.

So far he says, his biggest claim to fame as a principal is that his school is among those guarded all night seven days a week by armed guards.

There has been no actual trouble at the school. But some day fire or dynamite may take the school out from under its principal.

Mr. Thiessen never knows when one of the Sons of Freedom pupils in his class may become a permanent truant, being removed by his parents.

Last summer, the 50-pupil school had 10 children from Sons of Freedom families. Today there are only four.

Mr. Thiessen says most of the pupils who left wanted to stay and even some of their parents wanted to keep them in school.

"But there's a hard core of organizers in the Sons of Freedom, and they put the pressure on the others," he says.

He said he has not made any progress in getting recreational organization started.

The government failure to carry out any definite policy has been a major cause of his difficulty, Mr. Thiessen said.

"Things just got to the point where we think the authorities will take some action, and then there are more delays."

Confucius, the great Chinese philosopher, lived from 550 BC to 478 BC, a span of 72 years.
