Russians Seek Peace Forever
WASHINGTON (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev, the former Soviet code clerk in Moscow, who gave Communist secrets to the West, says the Soviet Union would be at war with the Free World with- out "if it is left up to the Soviet high com- mand." He added, in an interview with a Communist commentator, that "if you take all of the Russian people independently from their wishes, they wish peace will be made public here."

He added whether "there was evidence that Al- ger Hiss was associated with the spy ring."

Prospect of New McBride Bridge Delays McClymont Park Plans

Plans for improvements at McClymont Park were delayed this week when the parks board was told that the provincial government plans to construct a new bridge across Hays Creek on McBride street.

Postponement of the 1954 program came when Commissioner Charles Balagno said the old bridge was being removed this year and that any landscaping projects would have to be held up until the board learned what ground the new bridge would cover. The swings may have to be moved, he said.

The discussion arose when the board again pondered the pros and cons of building a cement or rock retaining wall below the Gyro swimming pool. Commissioner Bob Eby was named the board's public works chairman to confer with city superintendent G. E. Beaton as to the estimated cost of either type of wall. He was also instructed to meet with the Gyro club playground committee.

Mr. Eby said that if a new bridge was constructed in the park a foot path should be included underneath so children could go from McClymont Park to the Algoma Park without having to cross the highway.

The provincial public works department, queried about the new bridge this morning, said a survey had been made at the Hays Creek site and that if funds for the project were forthcoming the gully would be bridged by a large culvert and fill project. Such a project would not allow for a footpath.

The board will meet with the city council at a special meeting Monday night at which plans for Algoma Park will be discussed. Board members expressed themselves at a loss at what to do with Algoma Park until the city superintendent established the level of the area land-fill and what plans he has for continuing the fill into Algoma Park.

Mr. Balagno was placed in charge of beautification of the city parks and also the city's totem poles. Commissioner Dunc McRae, appointed parks financial chairman, told the board that no financial statement had yet been prepared by the city for the month of January. The last entry was made December 30 and the board had no idea how much money was charged against this year. Hope was expressed that there would be closer liaison between the parks board and the city board of works. Mr. Eby said that the board should have a monthly progress report from the engineering department as well as a financial statement. Commissioners Art Murray and Eby were named in charge of the park board's sport program and public relations.

100,000 Welcome Queen In New South Wales Tour

BATHURST, Australia (CP)—The western district of New South Wales gave Queen Elizabeth a sunny welcome when she arrived today at Bathurst, 150 miles west of Sydney, in a Royal Australian Air Force Dakota.

More than 100,000 people from Bathurst and other centres within a radius of 200 miles cheered the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh during their drive from the airport to the town hall.

Later the Queen and the duke went to a fair ground where 14,000 school children gave them a big welcome.

During the drive through the ranks of the children the Queen was worried by the common Australian fly.

The cheering of the children stirred up the flies and other insects, and the Queen and the duke found it difficult to wave, chase flies and at the same time to hold on to the rail of their jeep.

Later the Queen and the duke left the town of Lithgow before returning to Sydney by train.

Dull, rainy weather kept the crowds in Sydney to their small- est yet as the Queen left Government House today for the third day of her tour of the New South Wales countryside.

Teachers Get Raise

Dock Sale Unconditional; City MLA With Chevrier

PC Member Informed Plant Loses Money

Purchaser of the Prince Rupert drydock and shipyard will not be required to keep it in operation. This was disclosed in the House of Commons at Ottawa yesterday by Transport Minister Chevrier.

He was replying to a question by Howard Green, Progressive-Conservative member for Vancouver-Quadra.

Meanwhile, a special Cabinet sub-committee meeting was set for this morning to discuss the sale, which was announced Jan. 28 by Donald Gordon, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, operators of the plant.

Orme Stuart, chairman of the special committee here which has sent a wave of protests to Ottawa protesting unconditional sale of the facilities, was advised of the cabinet meeting by A. Bruce Brown, who is at present in Ottawa discussing the matter with federal authorities.

STILL IN SESSION
A Canadian Press dispatch said Mr. Brown was still closeted with Mr. Chevrier at 1:30 p.m.

In the House discussion yesterday, the transport minister said the CNR is trying to sell the 40-year-old plant here and "there will be no conditions on the sale."

However, he added, the CNR hoped to find a purchaser willing to keep it operating.

The railway, he said, was selling the drydock because of a "tremendous loss" in operating it and the high cost of repairing the structure. He did not cite figures.

Mr. Brown, MLA for Prince Rupert, left here by air last Tuesday as representative of the City Council, the senior and junior Chamber of Commerce, Trades and Labor Council, Fishing Vessel Owners Association and other city industries.

The special committee and many companies here have sent telegrams to at least six cabinet ministers protesting sale of the facilities with no guarantee of adequate services being maintained for the thousands of fishing vessels and coastwise ships that ply between here and Vancouver.

Payroll Missing From Freighter
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Operators of the freighter Harry Lundberg said Thursday night that disappearance of the ship's $22,000 payroll was being investigated when it piled up on rocks off the California coast last Monday.

A company spokesman said the disappearance of the payroll was reported after the Lundberg left Vancouver, for San Marcos Island in the Gulf of California to pick up a cargo of gypsum.

West Urges Reds To Drop Big 5 Demand
BERLIN (AP)—The Western powers today pressed the Soviet Union to abandon its demand for a Big Five conference with Red China, and to join instead in working out a new approach to Korean and Indo-Chinese settlements.

The three Western foreign ministers met for an hour and 40 minutes with Russia's V. M. Molotov in an unusual morning private session in advance of a regular Big Four meeting on Austrian independence.

There was strong indication that if Molotov would drop his insistence on a Big Five parley including China, State Secretary Dulles would be willing to reverse the previous U.S. position that Russia should attend the proposed Korean political conference only as a partner of China and North Korea rather than as a non-belligerent.

Western officials said the use of "continued" to describe the discussion indicated it was not terminated today and would be taken up in a fourth closed meeting at a time as yet not fixed.

South Korea Offers Aid In Indo-China
SEOUL (AP)—South Korea has offered to send a full army division to help the French fight the Communist-led Viet-minh in Indo-China, Foreign Minister Pynn Yung Tai said today.

Pynn said in an interview with this correspondent "it is quite probable" that Red China might retaliate by sending one or more of its divisions to help the Reds there.

The foreign minister said President Syngman Rhee wrote of his proposed offer to Gen. John E. Hull, United States Far East commander, before Hull went to Washington a few days ago.

Diplomatic sources in Washington said Rhee offered one and possibly two divisions.

Hull said South Korea had not offered two divisions, but declined further comment.

Pynn said the South Korean contribution to the Indo-China war "would have to be sharply limited" but that he felt the gesture important as a symbol of anti-Communist solidarity. During almost all of the Korean war France maintained a French battalion in the United Nations forces.

The UN command, Pynn said, has made no comment on the suggestion.

A HELICOPTER CARRIES a 1,900-pound training plane to Fort William, Ont., from an inaccessible road 23 miles away. The plane was wrecked on a flight and could not be moved by road. The helicopter lifted the plane by means of cables. The plane's wings were removed and strapped to the plane's fuselage.

Park Board Seeks Advice On Preservation of Poles

Worried over the likelihood of Prince Rupert's valuable totem poles not lasting more than six or seven years more, the Parks board has decided to write Dr. Clifford Carl at the Provincial Museum, Victoria, and the federal government asking for suggestions as to how the poles might be preserved.

The question of the poles' condition was brought up when Commissioner Charles Balagno reported that three poles have now been completely repaired and painted by Charles Dudo- ward and that the fourth, the one from in front of the Salva- tion Army citadel, had been "knocked down and placed in the basement of the firehall for re- pair."

"That was the pole we were afraid would be in the worst shape," Mr. Balagno said. "It will need a lot of repairing in places. There are furrows half an inch to three inches deep in it from the beating it has taken from the weather."

Mr. Balagno said that on the other poles Mr. Dudo-ward had filled the crevices with a type of putty and that he wasn't sure whether it would stay in.

Pair Charged After Fight
John Wesley Donovan and John Vandal were scheduled to appear in city police court this afternoon following a fight to which police were called at about 8 o'clock last night.

The pair face a charge of assault occasioning bodily harm to John Ridley Watson and will appear before Magistrate W. D. Vance.

January Building Totals $14,850
Only two new buildings, one valued at $6,000 and another at $5,500 are included among building permits taken out at the city hall during January. The permits for construction which total $14,850 are mainly for additions, repairs and renovations. Last year's January total of permits was slightly higher at $16,900.

DOES NOT CRAWL, RUN
"Ramu does not crawl. He does not run nor show any of those symptoms which other wolf boys and wolf girls exhib- it—especially Kamala and Amala, the wolf girls, found near Calcutta in 1920."

"We plan continuing behav- ior studies this month, at the end of which it will be possible definitely to say what exactly is the type of mental difficulty which Ramu is suffering."

Dr. Sharma answers: "All wolf children need not behave in the same manner. 'I am convinced Ramu is not and imbecile... He no longer scratches the floor, nor, except occasionally, licks water or milk with his tongue instead of sipping."

"When hot he used to put his tongue out as dogs and wolves do, and when cold he crouches. He sleeps also like a dog or wolf. The first sym- toms of a return to human habits was seen when he began to weep like a child instead of howling, and showed interest in balloons."

Experts Debate Origin of Child
LUCKNOW, India (AP)—The most debated topic here is whether a nine-year-old crippled boy now convalescing in Balamampur hospital is a wolf boy.

Picked up by police at Luck- now railroad junction Jan. 17 in a deserted freight car, the boy has been named Ramu.

Leading the opposing views are the hospital superintendent, Dr. D. N. Sharma, who says he is "perfectly convinced" Ramu is a wolf boy, and Kali Prasad, professor of psy- chology at Lucknow Univer- sity, who says he is equally convinced Ramu is "anything but a wolf boy."

"All wolf children need not behave in the same manner. 'I am convinced Ramu is not and imbecile... He no longer scratches the floor, nor, except occasionally, licks water or milk with his tongue instead of sipping."

Red Cross Must Not Go

LESS than a year ago when the King George hotel fire left many victims without organized help or care, there was general agreement that a committee should be formed at once which could take charge in such emergencies. It was felt that the Red Cross Society might be encouraged to take the lead in setting up an organization of this sort.

But how short the human memory really is! On Wednesday night when the local Red Cross branch endeavored to hold its annual meeting, only four persons appeared. Another chance to prepare for emergency has passed by default, and the stage is set for another confused and tragic incident like the King George hotel fire.

It is difficult to believe that Prince Rupert, which responds so quickly and generously when disaster strikes, intends deliberately to bury the Red Cross here. Certainly the $87,000 it has given the Society in the last nine years does not suggest this to be the case.

The Red Cross is the city's insurance against calamity. Let's keep it.

No Private Dumps Allowed

WITH the city putting out a big expenditure to reduce the number of rats by creating a sanitary landfill at Algoma Park, it will be criminal if citizens undo all the good work by establishing their own private dumps there.

Rats are not particular about where they eat or who feeds them. If a few irresponsible individuals wish to throw their garbage in the park after fill-in operations have ceased for the day, the rats can be counted on to take up domicile there.

Should this happen even on a small scale, the menace of these pests will be still greater than before. The rats will begin to populate the very area which we are encouraging our children to frequent. The breeding ground for an epidemic could not be more carefully laid.

The answer is to handle garbage as potential poison. It is not safe until it is beyond the touch of every living thing.

Little Hope for Austrian Treaty Decision at Big Four Berlin Conclave

By RICHARD O'REGAN

VIENNA (U.P.)—Military disad- vantage to both East and West make the prospects dim that the Big Four will be able to agree on independence for Austria in Berlin this week.

Theoretically, the four major powers should have no trouble on agreeing on a state treaty, for this country of 7,000,000.

Since Jan. 14, 1947, a draft treaty has been discussed at 360 international meetings and been the subject of 37 notes between Russia and the West. Most of the difficulties between East and West have been ironed out. Not much more stands to be settled. But the delicate balance of political and military power in Europe would be upset radically if the Big Four were to bury their differences.

OPTIMISM IN VIENNA

There are in Vienna, however, many Austrians who look with optimism to Berlin, believing that an agreement on Austria, if only a partial one, is necessary for both East and West to show their desire for peace.

If the Big Four were to agree on a treaty, it would mean that Russia would have to withdraw 44,000 troops and move jet-plane bases behind the Iron Curtain. Within 90 days she also would be obligated to pull 80,000 men out of Hungary and Romania.

And the United States, Britain and France would have to pull back some 20,000 men from the "alpine fortress" of western Austria.

A military vacuum would be created. It would be filled by an Austrian army limited to 53,000 men, including frontier guards and gendarmes, and 90 aircraft. The Big Four already have agreed on this.

BILATERAL AGREEMENTS

East of the vacuum, Russia undoubtedly would make bilateral agreements with Hungary and Romania to keep her troops on Austria's frontier.

The West would lose control of vital trans-alpine passes between Germany and Italy as Austria has already said it will not join any military alliance.

The West, however, has indicated it is willing to lose this military advantage because it is sure of Austria's political conservatism and pro-Westernism.

The Big Four originally promised at Moscow in 1943 that they would grant Austria independence. Discussions did not get under way until 1947. Since then, Russia has raised objections at 260 meetings of the foreign minister's deputies, 85 sessions of the Austrian treaty commission and 15 meetings of the Council of Foreign Ministers.

As I See It

by Elmore
Philboott

German Problem

IN AN earlier article I outlined the German problem under discussion at the Big 4 conference in Berlin.

Nobody, either in East or West, so far come up with a fool-proof plan to handle the so-called German problem. No matter what is suggested from any side, the suggestion is full of weak spots and question marks.

Suppose, for instance, no agreement is reached on Germany at Berlin, and Western Germany is incorporated into the Western Alliance. Apart altogether from the fact that the above plan leaves Germany split down the middle, and Europe cut across by the iron curtain, it recreates a possible German menace of incalculable proportions.

The theory on which the Dulles plan is based is that a revived German militarism can never again become a menace to France, and Germany's other neighbors, because the command of the European defence community would be held by a non-German, and the staff of E.D.C. would be international in character. But anyone can see what would happen in event of a conflict of orders. The Germans would obey their own government, and not E.D.C., because they are Germans, and because in the last analysis they are subject to German law.

THE DANGERS of the Russian plan to unify Germany, and keep it on a strictly limited arms basis, are almost equally obvious. It is one thing to have Switzerland standing in the centre of Europe, armed only for defence, and ready to fight any invader. It is quite another thing to expect that Germany would want to remain a sort of a magnified Switzerland in the larger arena. And even if Germany were willing to become, and remain, a glorified magnified Switzerland, it is even more doubtful if her neighbors would permit her to be.

But if I were forced to choose between the Dulles plan (alone) and the Molotov plan I would certainly prefer the latter, for it seems to me that it at least offers an outside chance of some pacification and stabilization of Europe. The Dulles plan (alone) offers little or none.

However, a careful study of the statement recently made in our own House of Commons by the Hon. Lester Pearson clearly showed what are Canada's hopes in this regard. Mr. Pearson and others make it clear that they are fully aware of the dangers inseparable from a re-armed Germany. Their hope is that the growth of cohesiveness, which is now so evident in the West, will go sufficiently fast and far to integrate Germany into what amounts to an out-right Atlantic Union, or federation.

I WOULD FEEL a lot happier about Germany's future place if I were sure that the government at Washington had the same aims in mind as has our own government at Ottawa. However it seems to me that all the pressure behind John Foster Dulles' drive at Berlin is to line up as much as possible of Europe, in a confederation subordinate to the U.S.A.

In other words, what Dulles & Co. insist on telling Frenchmen and Germans is "You ought to unite." What he should be saying to the American people, as well as to Canadians, Britons, as well as Frenchmen and Germans, is "Let us all unite."

There is no solution of the "German problem" on the basis of a loose association of Western Europe in which the sovereign legal power would still rest with national government.

Important Shifts Occurring In Top-Level Red Party Posts

By TOM WHITNEY

NEW YORK — Important shifts of top-level Communist party executives are taking place in the Soviet Union, but so far there's no clear indication what they mean.

There's the apparent possibility they reflect conflicts within the Soviet leadership and jockeying by factions for better position.

Meeting Backs Shantz Demand For Plebiscite

VERNON, B.C. (U.P.)—A public meeting here Tuesday night supported L. Hugh Shantz, Social Credit member of the legislature for North Okanagan, in his demands for a provincial plebiscite on the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service.

Mr. Shantz has announced his intention of challenging the government on what he termed the "iniquities" of the present BCHIS set-up.

He told the meeting: "I have not led you in any way to believe that I approve 100 per cent all the things the government is doing. It is true I am a representative of that government, but... I hope to change the folly of their ways."

Tobacco Growers Suggest Price Cut For Cigarettes

OTTAWA (U.P.)—Canada's tobacco growers today urged the government to cut the cigarette tax by five cents on a pack of 20 in a drive to boost sales and eliminate smuggling from the United States.

The move would drop the retail price in most provinces to about 27 cents a pack but it would cut federal revenues by about $19,000,000 in the next fiscal year, starting April 1.

The proposal was made by a committee of five representing the Ontario Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Association which covers about 93 per cent of Canada's growers.

The delegation, meeting with Finance Minister Abbott, a non-smoker, said the tax cut would boost cigarette sales by eight or 10 per cent a year. Smokers last year puffed a record 21,000,000,000 cigarettes.

This sales increase would require an additional 5,000,000 to 7,000,000 pounds of tobacco from farmers, almost certainly bringing an end to years of acreage restrictions.

It also would help Canada meet competition from low-priced United States cigarettes, currently selling in the U.S. at about 13 or 20 cents a pack.

SMASH SMUGGLING

And it would smash smuggling already drastically reduced as the result of two successive cuts in the federal tax, currently about 18 or 20 cents a pack of 20.

The delegation said "professional smuggling" reached a peak of about 1,600,000,000 cigarettes in 1951 when the retail price of Canadian smokes was about 42 cents a pack. It dropped to 800,000,000 in 1952 when the Canadian price declined to 39 cents and to 350,000,000 in 1953 when Mr. Abbott and manufacturers combined to cut the price to about 33 cents.

The delegation, headed by F. C. Cunningham of Windham Centre, Ont., board chairman, said "realizes that the tax cut would pare federal revenues, but to consumers it would mean an annual reduction in costs of between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000.

And as for federal revenues, they might suffer for a few years, but eventually they would rise to a higher level than the estimated $230,100,000 in direct taxes during the current fiscal year ending March 31.

OTTAWA DIARY

By Norman M. MacLeod

The absence of the Prime Minister on his world tour has made virtually no difference so far in the atmosphere of the House of Commons. Nor is it expected that it will. Mr. Howe is a wholly competent substitute and an equally effective presence in the Chamber.

If there is any difference between the two men, it is in the field of patience. Mr. Howe suffers from dulness philosophically than does the Prime Minister. But that very trait has its redeeming feature. There is a tendency for the work of the House to move at a slightly faster pace when Mr. Howe is in charge. The Prime Minister is likely to be agreeably surprised on his return at the amount of work completed in his absence.

Persons who are close to the Liberal Party political picture are finding a considerable measure of interest in speculating upon the situation which the Prime Minister would have faced if Rt. Hon. Mr. Howe had not been available to act in his absence. The other logical choice—Rt. Hon. Mr. Gardiner—could hardly have been made because of his recent illness, which would make the strain of the post-inadvisable.

That would have meant passing the post along to one of the rank-and-file Cabinet Ministers, amongst whom there is none completely innocent of the hope of one day succeeding to the party leadership and Prime Ministership. And nomination of any one within that aspiring group would have been interpreted as indicating a degree of preference on Mr. St. Laurent's part in the matter of his successor. Such an indication could have gone far towards settling the leadership succession right then and there. At the very least, it could have stirred powerful jealousies within the Cabinet.

Liberals who are closest to the party picture say that if Mr. St. Laurent had not had Mr. Howe available to carry on, his choice undoubtedly would have fallen on Finance Minister Abbott. For some time now the Finance Minister has been the general favorite in the leadership sweepstakes. And the indications are that he is steadily

Aero Club Banquet Will See 26 Flyers Honored With Presentation of "Wings"

Twenty-six flying members of the Prince Rupert Aero Club will be honored at the group's general meeting and banquet to be held Saturday, February 20 at the aero club's headquarters at Seal Cove.

The presentation of wings insignia to the 14 or 15 members still in Prince Rupert marks the culmination of four years of training with the Prince Rupert club.

Flying members to be honored are: John Finley, N. Skogmo, Pat Deane, Doug Hague, Bill Tocker, Jay Burns, Seif Anderson, Bill Strahl, Vic Grant, Lorne Stephens, Jon Frederick, Stu Shell-y, Ed Wampler, Len Brewerton, Bruce Malcolm, Cecil Wing, Doug Hogarth, George Allard, Ralph Mathews, Joe Goscoe, Dwight Peretz, Ronnie Black, Stan Kaardal, Elizabeth Holmes, Bob Sylvester and Dave Dowsley.

Following the presentation of wings Stu Shelley will be presented with a silver cup for winning the "bombing" contest held here last summer. The meeting will then proceed with the general business and the election of officers. At the conclusion of the meeting a dance will be held for members of the club and their guests.

The 26 members, some of whom are no longer here, all passed Department of Transport examinations to receive their private pilots licence. The Prince Rupert Aero club is now a government-approved flying school and members who earn their private licences receive a $100 grant from the government.

Chief instructor and also president of the Aero club is Bob Kelsey. Assisting him during the past four years were John Finley, Miss Dawn Dawson, W. E. Harper, Vic McGuire and Dick Malcolm who is the present instructor.

The approved course consists of a minimum of 12 hours dual flying and a total minimum of 30 hours flying time. Ground instruction includes a minimum of ten hours and in order to receive a private licence a student pilot must pass three government exams. The tests include one on air regulations, one on meteorology and navigation and one on airmanship. The examinations are given by a department of transport inspector who makes periodic visits to the district.

Five Brownies Enrolled Here

Winning a three-year service star was Judy Bird, while one-year stars went to Linda Pay, Pat Farrell, Patty Parfeniuk, Dolyn McMeekin and Helen Moore.

The session saw the 30 Brownies demonstrate favorite games for their parents, including special Valentine games, and seconds of the pack served tea to the guests.

Little League baseball players about town will be glad to know that the machinery for official recognition of their forthcoming league is already in motion. A letter left this week for Williamsport, Penn., asking for application forms for the four teams planned this year. The letter was sent airmail and will be in lots of time to beat the February 24 deadline.

The members of last year's champions, King Edward Hawks are hereby officially informed that the 25 medals due them for winning the unofficial Little League title are now here. By getting in touch with their coach Maurice Scott they can receive their awards.

Tonight is the night for the all-important general meeting of the Prince Rupert Basketball Association. We hope for the sake of all concerned that as many players, coaches and referees turn out so that there will be no criticism at a later date of any action taken tonight. It is only by a large representation of all groups involved in basketball that a true picture can be obtained and we sincerely hope that everyone will be given a chance to have his say. At the same time, it is no good attending the meeting with something on your mind, if you are not going to speak up and say your piece. So let's have a good meeting gang, for the sake of improving a good game.

Tomorrow night is high school basketball night at the Civic Centre when Bo-Me-Hi hosts the girls and boys of Kitimat High School. Kitimat girls team take on the Sheila Hicks' Rainbirds in the opener and the Alcan site boys tangle with Don Hartwig's combination of Junior boys and Inter B boys in the main event.

Vic Williams phoned us today to let us know that the Prince Rupert Rod and Gun club held a meeting this week to plan their annual dinner. Another meeting will be held in the near future when a date will be set, but the trapshooters already have plans to invite marksmen from the Terrace and Kitimat Rod and Gun clubs up for a trap shoot during the day time of the annual dinner. The local rod and gunners will hold a general meeting Monday when films will be shown. A trap shoot is also planned at the rifle range this Sunday.

According to Paul E. Rice of Port Simpson who dropped us a note this week Port Simpson Athletic Club senior and intermediate basketball teams took two games from YPEA in recent cage fixtures held at Port Simpson. PSAC intermediates edged the YPEA entry 49-39 and in the senior tussle Port Simpson seniors downed YPEA 75-66. Larry Wells and Pete Kelly refereed the senior encounter.

For the YPEA George Kelly scored 13 points, Bert Bryant 5, Wilfred Knott 6, Ronald Wesley 14, Jimmy Bryant 13, and Joe McKay 15. Leonard Dudoard led PSAC seniors with 24 points, Vernon Dudoard 20, Arnold Brooks 4, Lyle Reece 11, Harold Sampson 4, Alvin Reece 12.

POST SCRIPTS—Other cage entertainment lined up for the future is a two-day meeting of the Bo-Me-Hi Rainmakers and Ketchikan High School Polar Bears on February 25 and 26. It should be a good session of basketball as the Rainmakers on their trip north earlier this year split a two-game series with the Alaska cagers. From what we gather from Ken Robertson, quite a few of the members of the rinks who slugged it out on the heavy Smithers ice in January still haven't managed to regain draw weight on the local Prince Rupert Curling Club ice. Then again, the boys who didn't go to the Interior spiel say that the wanderers are just using that as an excuse.

Saskatoon Continues Drive Trimming Stampeders 4-2

By The Canadian Press
Saskatoon Quakers, lobbying for top-honors in the giant-killing department, moved up on Calgary Stampeders in Thursday night with a 4-2 victory.

Saskatoon, everybody's meat on their recent coast tour, have come back strongly to beat Vancouver Canucks, the current league kings, and the runner-up Stampeders in the last two games.

The race to the wire now stands: Canucks, 67 points; Stampeders, 62 points, and Quakers 59 points.

If Saskatoon wins over Edmonton Flyers in the Alberta city tonight, they'll be only one point behind Stampeders. Other games set for tonight are Seattle at Victoria and New Westminster in Vancouver.

With Calgary idle, Canucks have an opportunity to extend their lead to six points. Quakers' victory Thursday night was the third successive set-back for the Stampeders.

Leafs Split Second Place As Habs Draw in Chicago

By JIM BASTABLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

There was another hockey brawl Thursday night. Montreal Canadiens were there again.

This time it was in Chicago, where Canadiens, never ones to back off from a tough situation, overpowered the last-place Black Hawks for two quick goals, got mixed up in a rash of penalties and fights and had to settle for a 2-2 National Hockey League tie. It cost them sole possession of second place.

The fans at Chicago stadium weren't expecting another blow-out like the Toronto Maple Leaf and Montreal clash a few weeks ago, but they got plenty of action. Nineteen penalties, including four misconducts and four majors, were handed out. Montreal got 10 of them. A couple of fans even slugged it out.

TORONTO DOWNS BRUINS

In the only other game, the Leafs moved into a tie with Canadiens by defeating the Boston Bruins 3-1 in Boston.

At Chicago, the gloves dropped and fists flew in the first and third periods in four fights. The first outbreak started at 10:40 near the Montreal bench. Chicago's Larry Zeldi threw punches at Bert Olmstead as the Montreal forward headed for the bench. Then defenseman Gus Morrison of Chicago and Eddie Mazur of Canadiens tangled. Chicago's Bill Gadsby got into the act by leaning over the Hawk bench and swinging at a Montreal player.

Referee Frank Udvari got things under control 15 minutes later. He gave a minor and a 10-minute misconduct to Olmstead and majors to Mazur, Morrison and Zeldi.

In the third period Bodnar and Johnson started trading punches and were given misconducts.

Seconds later centre Ken Mosdell of Montreal and defenseman Lee Fogolin of the Hawks began slugfests along the boards in the Montreal zone. Fogolin was sent off with a major for fighting and Mosdell took a minor for roughing.

IN PENALTY BOX

All four goals were scored while somebody was in the penalty box. Mosdell tallied at 15:31 and Lorne Davis at 15:46 of the first period for Canadiens. Lou Jankowski tallied for the Hawks in the second period and Bodnar drilled one past McNeil in the third.

At Boston, veteran Porky Dumart scored his third goal of the season at 16:52 of the third session.

Dumart poked Ed Sanford's rebound past Harry Lumley after centre Ted Kennedy, left-winger Sid Smith and defenseman Jim Morrison put the Leafs into a 3-0 lead.

The Leafs, now tied with Montreal with 62 points, are eight points behind the league-leading Detroit Red Wings. The Bruins are in fourth spot, two up on the fifth-place New York Rangers.

LONDON (P)—Gordon Pirie, the young distance runner Britain regards as her athlete of the moment, threw another bombshell into the lap of the Amateur Athletic Association when he said that he will pass up the British Empire Games at Vancouver this summer.

Keith will fight it out with the other imports for spot with the club. He played part of the 1952 season with Edmonton Eskimos and part of the 1953 campaign with Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Packers Hand Trail Smoke Eaters Fourth Straight Loss of Tour

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—Trail Smoke Eaters of the Western International league lost the fourth straight game in their current Okanagan Senior Hockey league tour here Thursday night with a 3-1 loss to Kelowna Packers.

Scoreless in the first and third frames, Smoke's lone tally came at 11:40 in the middle period when Terry Cavanagh picked up a pass from Mike Shabaga on a pile-up in front of the Packers net.

Packers netminder Doug Stevenson came out of the affray with a clip on the leg.

Packers opened their spectacular style with a 3-1 victory over the Smoke Eaters in the rubber game last night.

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Partners Co-Operate To Defeat Contract

This hand is an excellent illustration of the rewards that stem from partnership co-operation by the defenders. Mr. Dale and Mrs. Keen made no less than four good plays to defeat this apparently unbeatable three no trump contract.

The first of these was the opening lead itself. On the bidding, the spade and diamond openings appeared to be—and were—hopeless. A club lead from four to the six spot seemed even worse. In fact, Mr. Dale's hand as a whole was so bad that he sensibly decided to forget about trying to develop any suit of his own and to attempt to set up something for partner.

Accordingly, he led the nine of hearts. Mr. Muzzy finessed dummy's jack, and here Mrs.
Keen made her side's second good play. She ducked, on the theory that Mr. Dale would have to have some quick winner if the contract could be beaten at all and that when he got in, it would be advantageous for him to have a lead to lead back. She played the seven to show interest in the suit.

CONFIDENT FINESSE

At trick two, Mr. Muzzy came to his hand with the ace of spades and led a small diamond. To conserve a possible diamond entry in his partner's hand, Mr. Dale went right in with the ace—good play number three.

He returned his last heart and Mr. Muzzy confidently fin-essed the queen. But Mrs. Keen won with the king and led another heart, clearing the suit.
For this last heart lead she chose the eight spot rather than the four, intending it as a suit preference signal. That is, the return of an unnecessarily high heart would indicate that she had no interest in a lead of the lowest suit, clubs.

THOUGHTFUL PLAY

The last thoughtful play actually made no difference as Mr.
Dale never got in again. After winning the third round of hearts with dummy's ace, Mr.
Muzzy led the queen of diamonds, hoping Mr. Dale had the king. But Mrs. Keen showed up with that card and cashed two more hearts to put the contract down one.

Dulles May Be Taking New Method Of Attack To Discuss Korea Peace

By WARREN ROGERS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON—State Secretary Dulles apparently has switched to negotiations with Russia's Foreign Minister Molotov to a peace settlement in Korea.

With the situation at Panmunjom in a seemingly hopeless deadlock, these developments indicate that Dulles may be taking this attack:

• A denial by the state department here Monday that Arthur H. Dean will be replaced as United Nations Panmunjom negotiator.

• Hints that some way may be found for arranging a time, place and agenda for the peace conference without resuming the Panmunjom talks.

• Dulles' continuing delay in replying to the Communist demand two weeks ago that Dean return to Panmunjom. The state department has drafted several suggested replies and sent them to Dulles. He has not given approval to any, which indicates that he may try a different manoeuvre.

Dulles and the other Western ministers, Anthony Eden of Britain and Georges Bidault of France, are reported united in opposing any meeting with Red China except on Asian questions. And even for such talks, they are said to be insisting on a prior show of good faith by Red China, such as co-operation in settling Korea's future.

ANOTHER CONFERENCE

Thus, if the Communists are willing, Dulles might arrange through Molotov another conference away from Panmunjom to set up a preliminary Korea peace conference.

Dean walked out Dec. 12, vowing not to return until the Reds took back a charge of "perfidy" against the United States. The Korean and Chinese Communists refused. The U.S., speaking for the 16 UN allies who fought in Korea, insisted.

Because of prestige, neither side can give in without losing face. This is a serious matter in the Orient.

The state department has consistently backed up Dean and said today:

"There is no basis in fact for the report that ambassador Arthur H. Dean is being withdrawn from his assignment."

Chaplin's Wife Renounces U.S. Citizenship

LONDON (AP)—Britain today counted a United States-born Oona O'Neill Chaplin among her newest citizens. The wife of famed comedian Charlie Chaplin has renounced her allegiance to the United States, who won't readmit her husband until he answers accusations of Communist sympathies and "grave moral charges."

"Isn't it lovely? Isn't it just cute?" the 29-year-old Oona asked as she waved her new blue and gold British passport at reporters Wednesday night when she and her 64-year-old husband flew into London from Switzerland.

Later the British-born Chaplin, who in 40 years in Hollywood never surrendered his original citizenship, told a press conference at their hotel:

"I'm very proud to announce my wife is now a British citizen."

"I'm very glad to be taking my husband's nationality," said Oona, whose teen-age marriage estranged her from her late father, U.S. playwright Eugene O'Neill.

Hart Improves

VICTORIA (AP)—Former premier John Hart, who suffered a heart attack after the death of his brother Hugh last week, was reported in fair condition in hospital here Monday night.

PRIME MINISTER LOUIS ST. LAURENT chats with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and President Theodor Heuss upon the Canadian visitor's arrival in Bonn on his world goodwill tour. The Canadian Prime Minister called on President Heuss at his official residence at Bonn. Mr. St. Laurent arrived in Bonn by plane from Paris and was welcomed by Chancellor Adenauer and most of his cabinet at the airport.

Days of Bush Pilot Numbered Says Tough Pioneer Flyer

MONTREAL (CP)—F. H. (Tom) Wheeler celebrated his 33rd year as head of the world's oldest bush airline recently but there was a tinge of sorrow to the occasion.

The tough pioneer flyer believes the days of the bush pilot—one of the most colorful of Canada's pioneer breed—are numbered.

The amiable airline president, who started in 1921 with one aircraft and today has a fleet of 16 planes equipped for flying over Canada's northland, says the main drawback against a continuation of the bush flyer tradition is the fact that young pilots are not taking to the work.

Young Canadians, he says, prefer to fly with the large scheduled airlines, with regular routes and good salaries. Result is a definite shortage of pilots willing, and possessing sufficient ability, to tackle bush flying.

Mr. Wheeler said the modern bush pilot, "must be navigator, radio operator and engineer as well as a pilot." He must also possess enough know-how to survive the adverse conditions of the scrubland in the event of trouble.

"This combination of air and woods skill is not easy to find," says Tom, who comes from Ste. Jovite, Que. "So there is no doubt about it. The bush pilot as we know him, is disappearing from the scene."

Mr. Wheeler said regular points of call for bush pilots stretch from centres such as Montreal to the shores of Ungava Bay, Labrador, and new settlements such as Knob Lake and Sept-Isles in northeastern Quebec.

Usually pilots do not fly to a set plan but follow rivers, lakes and flat snow expanses, which with the aid of ski and pontoon equipment make the best landing spots.

It's all in the tradition of great names like Wop May, Punch Dickens and others, but Tom Wheeler was looking prophetic when he said it may soon be "just a colorful memory."

79-Year-Old Student Plans Studies

VANCOUVER (CP)—Rev. Alfred A. Thompson, who decided when 77 to continue his education and who received a bachelor of divinity degree last year, says he will go on studying.

To earn his degree at Union College here he made a detailed study of Hebrew, Greek, psychology and Christology, and wrote a 12,000-word thesis on "Saint Augustine and Prayer."

Now 79, he said: "I do not think I found it any harder to concentrate than when I was a boy in high school."

"I was surprised how many languages came back to me. I hadn't touched Greek since 1891 when I got my first class certificate in the School of Pedagogy in Toronto."

Mr. Thompson, who came here from Alberta in 1946, married

Mrs. Lillian Smith the same year, his first wife having died in 1932.

For three years he supplied at Cedar Cottage United church and says he is still ambitious to preach.
