The World Must Solve Problem of Obtaining Full Employment

VANCOUVER (CP)—More than 100 national Woodworkers of America delegates to the 17th annual CIO-CCL held closing sessions today after hearing a keynote address by the leader of their parent organization.

Walter Ruether, president of the giant Congress of Industrial Organizations, told the convention Thursday that peoples of the free world must prove their ability to "harness tools of industry and progress to give mankind freedom and bread."

Both labor and management must work together in developing a distribution system geared to match the world's expanding production, he said.

The free world must solve the problem of obtaining full employment and full production in peacetime or perish.

"There is something morally wrong," he said, "with a free society that has the courage and vision to spend billions and billions of dollars on war, but lacks the same courage and vision to give its people security in peacetime."

The president of the 370,000-member Canadian Congress of Labor warned that Canada may be entering a period of recession.

A. R. Mosher of Montreal, one of the founders of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, said wage bargaining will be more difficult this year.

"I don't like to be pessimistic," he said, "but we are bound to have somewhat of a recession. In fact, it has already started."

"Generally speaking, there will be fewer across-the-board wage demands this winter, although unions will still seek to better conditions through fringe benefits."

He said, however, his predictions did not include low-wage areas where workers are still struggling for a decent living standard. He cited Quebec as an example where, he said, industry pays sub-standard wages.

Delegates who heard Mr. Mosher speak voted full moral and financial support to 4,000 woodworkers on strike in the northern interior of British Columbia.

An emergency resolution pledging support of the strikers received unanimous approval from the 600 delegates and came on the eve of a strike vote among 5,000 southern interior IWA members.

John First Aid Classes Underway Here Tonight

Two separate courses are being offered at present, with new classes to be formed in the future if warranted. Persons interested can register at the sessions tonight.

In the fire hall, R. E. Elyofson will instruct industrial first aid refresher courses for those who have completed the beginners' course. At city hall, W. N. R. Armstrong, Percy Bond and Albert Blackhall will instruct civil defence and St. John's first aid classes.

Jack Ewart, secretary-treasurer of the St. John Ambulance group here, urged citizens to attend classes, saying "there is a great need for first aiders here."

Already 12 persons have registered for the refresher course in industrial first aid, and about 10 for the defence and St. John first aid course.

Man Gets Months Assault

A victim of assault was taken to hospital this morning when a man was sentenced to six months in Oakalla Prison for a charge of assaulting a woman.

The man, who was identified as Miss Alice, was charged with assaulting a woman in the street. He was found guilty after a trial in the District Court.

Trio Released After Theft Of Ballot Box

MONTREAL (CP)—Three youths were released from Montreal's St. Michel jail on writ of habeas corpus. They had been held two months for stealing a ballot box in the Aug. 10 federal election. The three were sentenced Aug. 11 to one year each in jail on the charge. A fourth youth, also sentenced to a year, appealed and appeal court upheld his contention that the judge who sentenced them had no jurisdiction because an amendment to the Canada Elections Act under which the charge was laid, states accused must be tried before a jury in such a case.

A petition for a writ of habeas corpus to free the other three was granted by Mr. Justice Andre Demers of Superior Court.

Coho Trolling Ends

Legislature May 'End' Technicality Stalls Liquor Act

VICTORIA.—The legislature is expected to finish up its business tonight and prorogue Saturday morning.

The House recessed today to permit members to attend the funeral of Education Minister Mrs. Tilly Rolston in Vancouver. They are scheduled to be back here tonight to clean up government business.

If all business is completed, Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace will give the nod to legislation and the House will be prorogued.

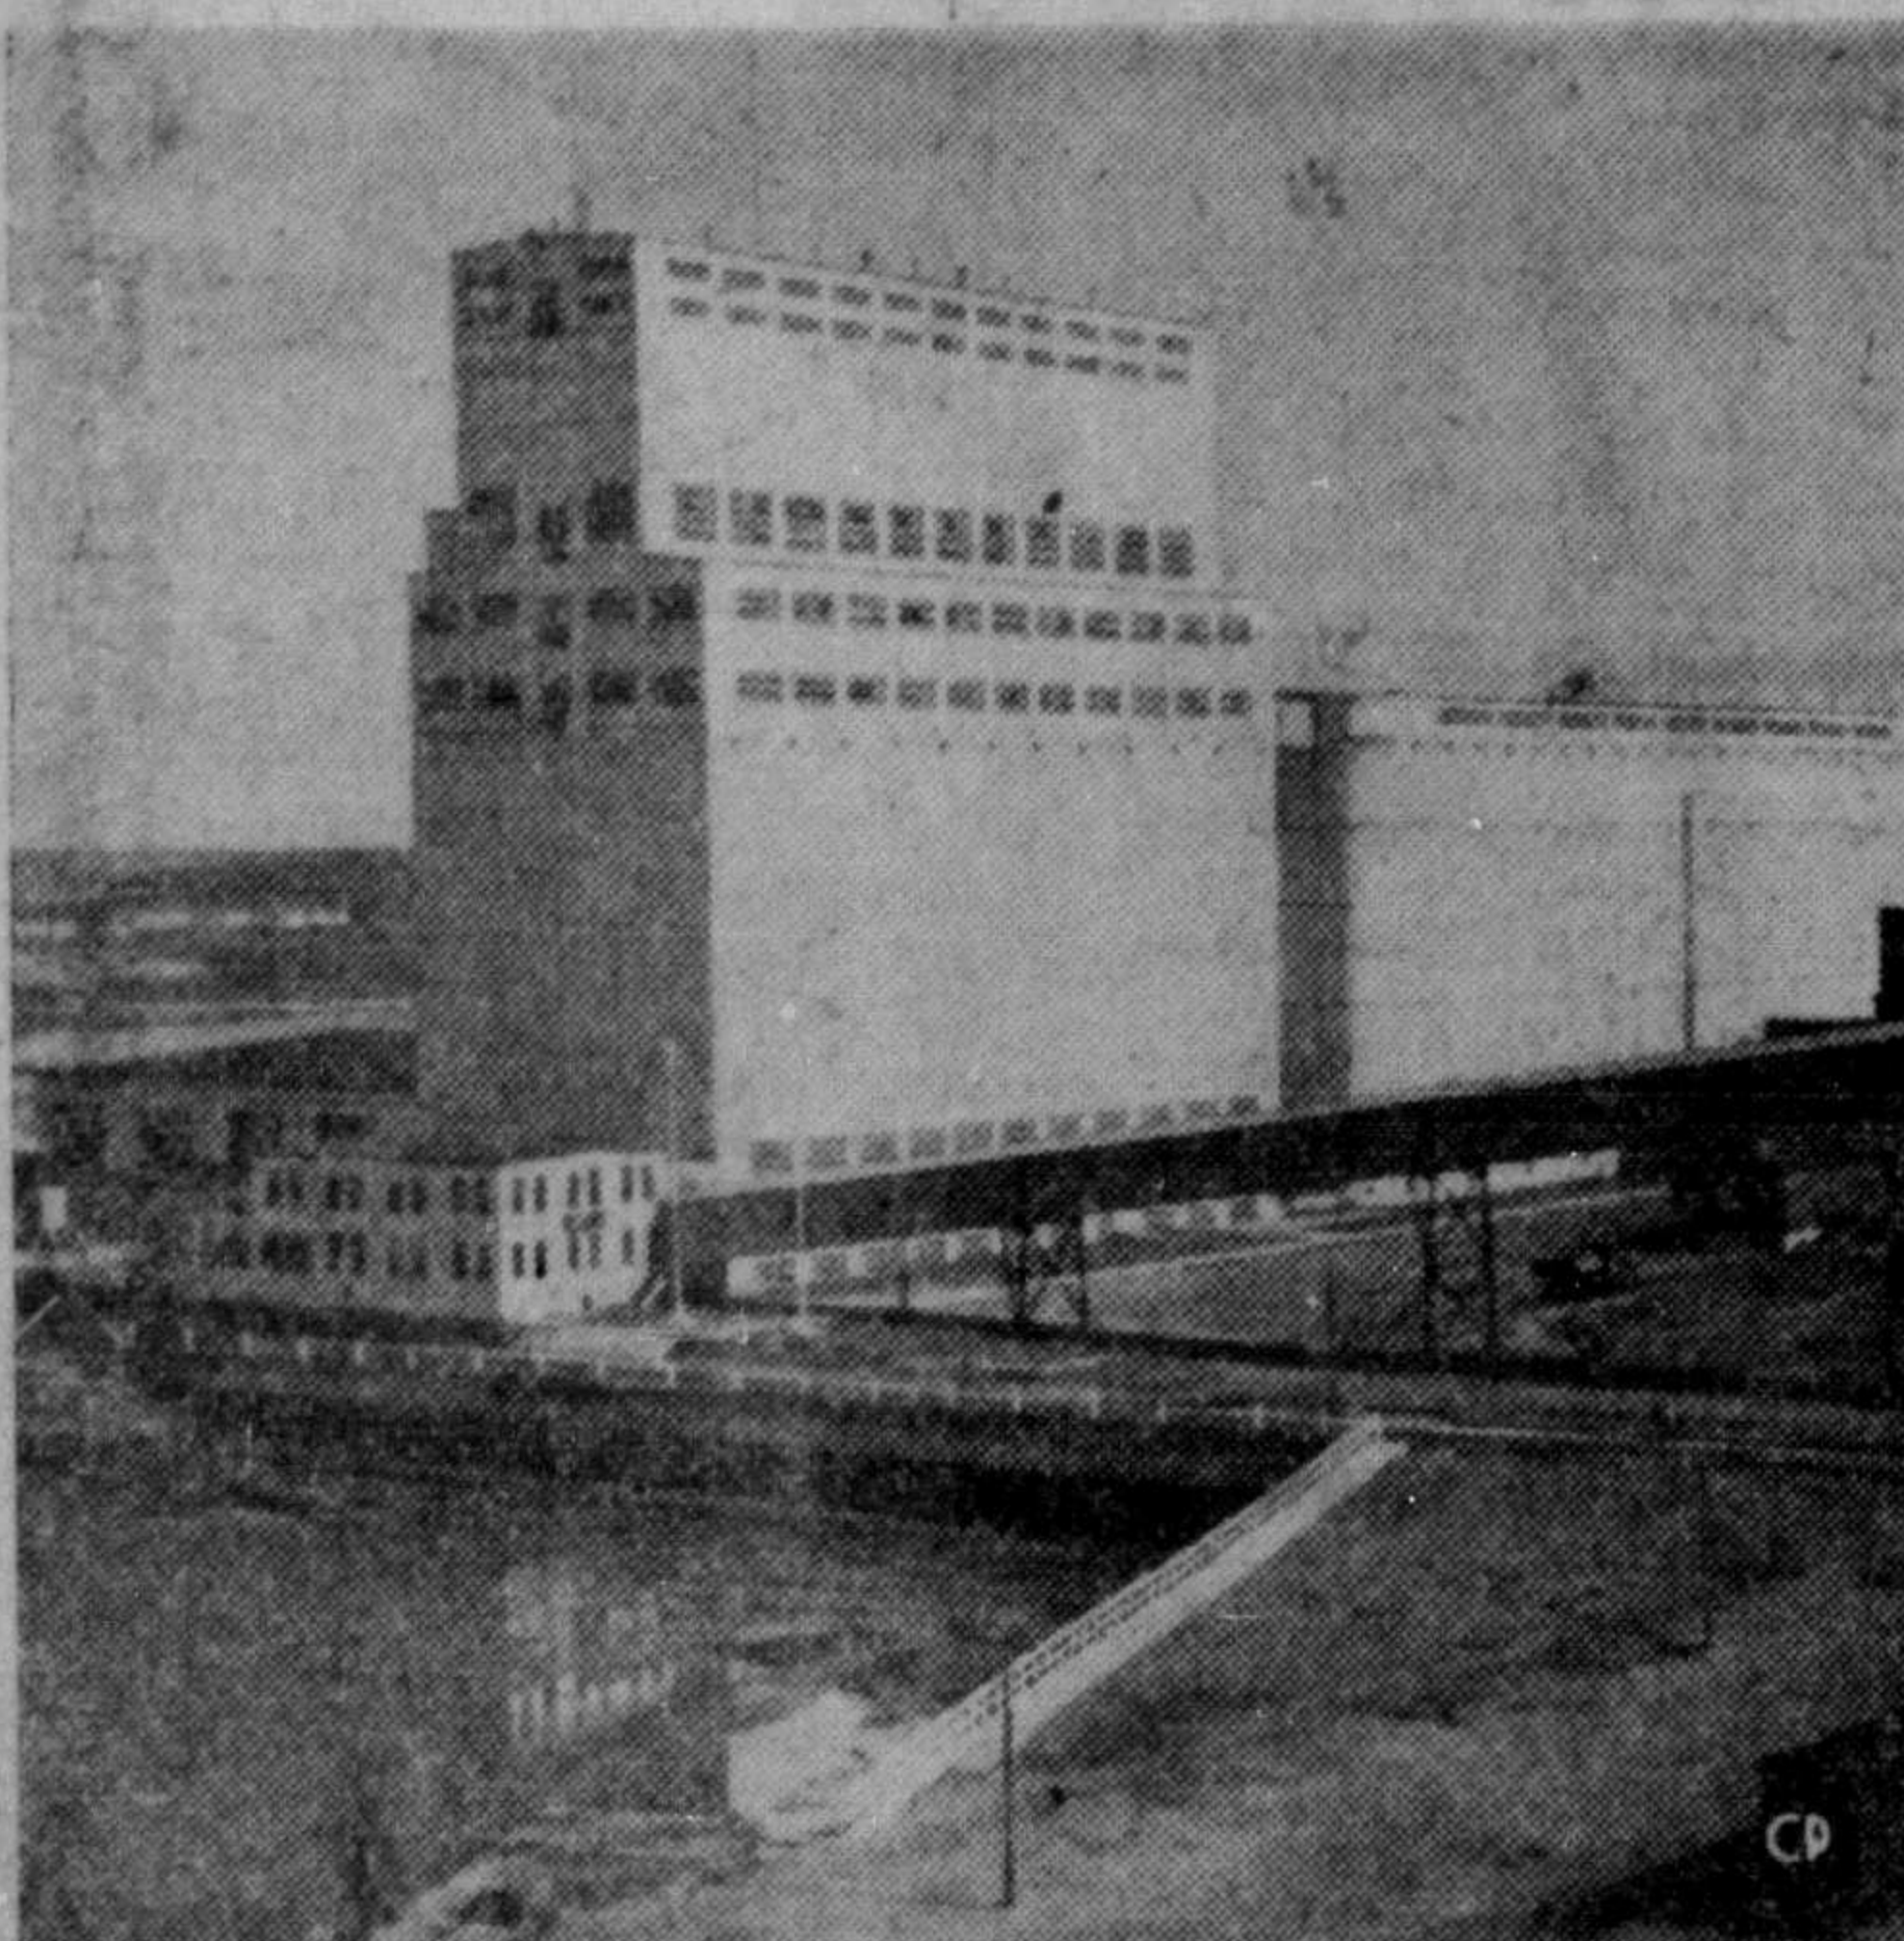

At Thursday's sitting only a technicality prevented the new Liquor Act from getting third and final reading after it had gone through four hours of comparatively peaceful debate.

The government rejected six amendments by members of the opposition before it got through the debate.

At the same time, Attorney-General Robert Bonner gave the province the first intimation of what the boundaries of the licensing areas provided in the bill might be.

He said the boundaries were still being considered but added that in his own mind he thought districts might be commercial trading areas which would include part of the unorganized districts surrounding them.

E. E. Winch (CCF-Burnaby), Bruce Brown (L-Prince Rupert) and Vincent Segur (CCF-Revelstoke) asked that the one-man liquor control board be replaced by a three-man board as recommended in the Stevens commission report.

THE FRONTIER PORT of Churchill on the western shore of Hudson Bay in 1953 set a shipping record with an estimated 10,000,000 bushels of grain passing through the giant white elevators. Incoming cargoes this year have included British cars, window glass, liquor and general cargo. In winter the port is icebound.

Imperial Gasoline Price Cut As Crude Oil Pipeline Opens

Reductions in the wholesale price of gasoline and light fuel oil in Prince Rupert and most of British Columbia were announced today in Vancouver by Imperial Oil Ltd.

The price cuts amount to 11 cents per gallon on gasoline and on light fuel oil.

The new wholesale prices became effective today with the first delivery of Alberta crude oil through the Trans Mountain pipeline.

Imperial's refinery at Ioco, on Burrard Inlet, became the first in British Columbia to run entirely on Canadian crude oil.

The discovery and development of crude oil supplies in Alberta and the building of the pipeline to move the oil across the Rockies at low cost made the reductions possible, officials said.

Dan Kristmanson, Imperial Oil agent for Prince Rupert, said today the new wholesale prices are effective here immediately.

New prices per gallon with the old prices in parentheses are: Esso and Acto gasoline, 26.4 cents (27.7); Esso Extra, 28.4 (29.5); diesel fuel oil, 19.7 (20.8); furnace fuel oil, 20.1 (21.2); stove oil, 23.3 (24.4). All prices are exclusive of provincial taxes.

On grades 1 and 2 gasolines there is a 10-cent per gallon road tax, which also applies to diesel fuel oil for highway uses; marked gasoline for other than highway uses carries a one-cent per gallon tax, and furnace and stove fuel oil carries a half-cent per gallon tax.

With the reduction of the wholesale price it follows that the retail price will also drop, according to Vic Cavanaugh, proprietor of Midland Pines service station, one of the two Imperial oil retail outlets.

Mr. Cavanaugh said that the price of Esso Extra, currently at 46.1 cents per gallon, will probably drop to 45 cents.

Miss B. Marshall of Ben's News Stand, who also handles Imperial Oil gasoline, was out of town and unavailable for comment.

The delivery of Alberta crude oil to Ioco by pipeline means a change in the source of supply of crude oil for British Columbia. California has for many years supplied the west coast.

Company officials said that Canadian crude oil can at present be laid down in the Vancouver area refineries by pipeline at a lower cost than California crude.

New Airstrip To Be Built At Stewart

STEWART.—The Granduc Mining Company has started work here on clearing of a land airstrip, to accommodate planes carrying equipment and supplies to their operations at Leduc mine.

The Stewart village commission has agreed to reserve an area for the strip, bordering the eastern limits of the city, following discussions with Granduc officials here.

J. Crohurst and M. Postal of the company said Granduc planned to make Stewart the base of operations to fly supplies into Leduc during the winter, preparatory to a spring start on further development work.

The company also is studying the feasibility of a tractor route from Tide Lake over the Frank Mackie Glacier and into the Leduc operations.

Egyptians Get Death Penalty

CAIRO (Reuters)—Three Egyptians, two of them government officials, have been sentenced to death by hanging for spying for a foreign power.

The first man to die as a result of the current treason trials by the revolutionary tribunal was hanged Tuesday. He was Mahmoud Sabry Aly, 59, who once worked for the British forces in the Suez canal zone.

A Cairo journalist, Mahmoud Shkry, 33, was sentenced to 10 years imprisonment Tuesday for treason.

Two of the men sentenced to death yesterday—Mohamed Ez-zat Mohamed Ragheb, 22, and Bulos Maximos Sweitha, 23—were said to have been employed in the Egyptian war ministry.

The third, Alfred Awad Mikhail, was said to have worked at Fayid where the headquarters of the British Middle East land forces is situated.

They were all charged with having before and during September this year spied for a foreign power by supplying it with reports and official information, thus aiming at harming the country's safety and interests.

Most of the hearing was in camera.

B.C. Firm To Help Build Oil Pipeline

VANCOUVER (CP)—Marwell Construction Company of Vancouver has joined with two U.S. companies in submitting the low bid for construction of a 615-mile military pipeline from Haines to Fairbanks, Alaska.

The joint bid was $29,001,281 and the office of district corps of engineers at Anchorage, Alaska, said the contract will probably be awarded within 10 days.

With Marwell Construction Company in the low bid were Williams Bros., Tulsa, Okla., and McLaughlin Inc., of Great Falls, Ont.

Accident-Prone Drivers to Pay More Insurance

VANCOUVER (CP)—A new automobile insurance rate structure with stepped-up levies against accident-prone and irresponsible drivers goes into effect in British Columbia November 1, insurance underwriters announced Thursday.

Under the new plan, motorists with two or more traffic convictions may be charged two or three times as much as accident-free drivers for the same amount of protection.

Impaired, drunken or reckless driving convictions will bring a 100-per-cent jump in premiums.

Rate increases concern only public liability and property damage coverage. Collision, fire and theft coverage is not involved.

Lovesick Bull Moose Ignores Marksmen at Turkey Shoot

BURNS LAKE.—That romance overcomes all qualms was proved here when a large and shaggy bull moose, intent on keeping a date with his ladylove, walked within range of more than 50 guns of varying calibre and escaped without a shot being fired.

The moose showed up during the annual Thanksgiving turkey shoot held by the Tweedsmuir Park Rod and Gun Club and in full view of the large crowd ignored the target shooting and the efforts of John Shelford, club president, to shoot the big visitor to safety. Also pleased that the sharpshooters were more concerned with turkey was Game Warden Richmond who was competing at the time.

Some 30 turkeys were won by district marksmen in the well-conducted affair.

Coady Rejects Second Appeal Against Picketing Crewmen

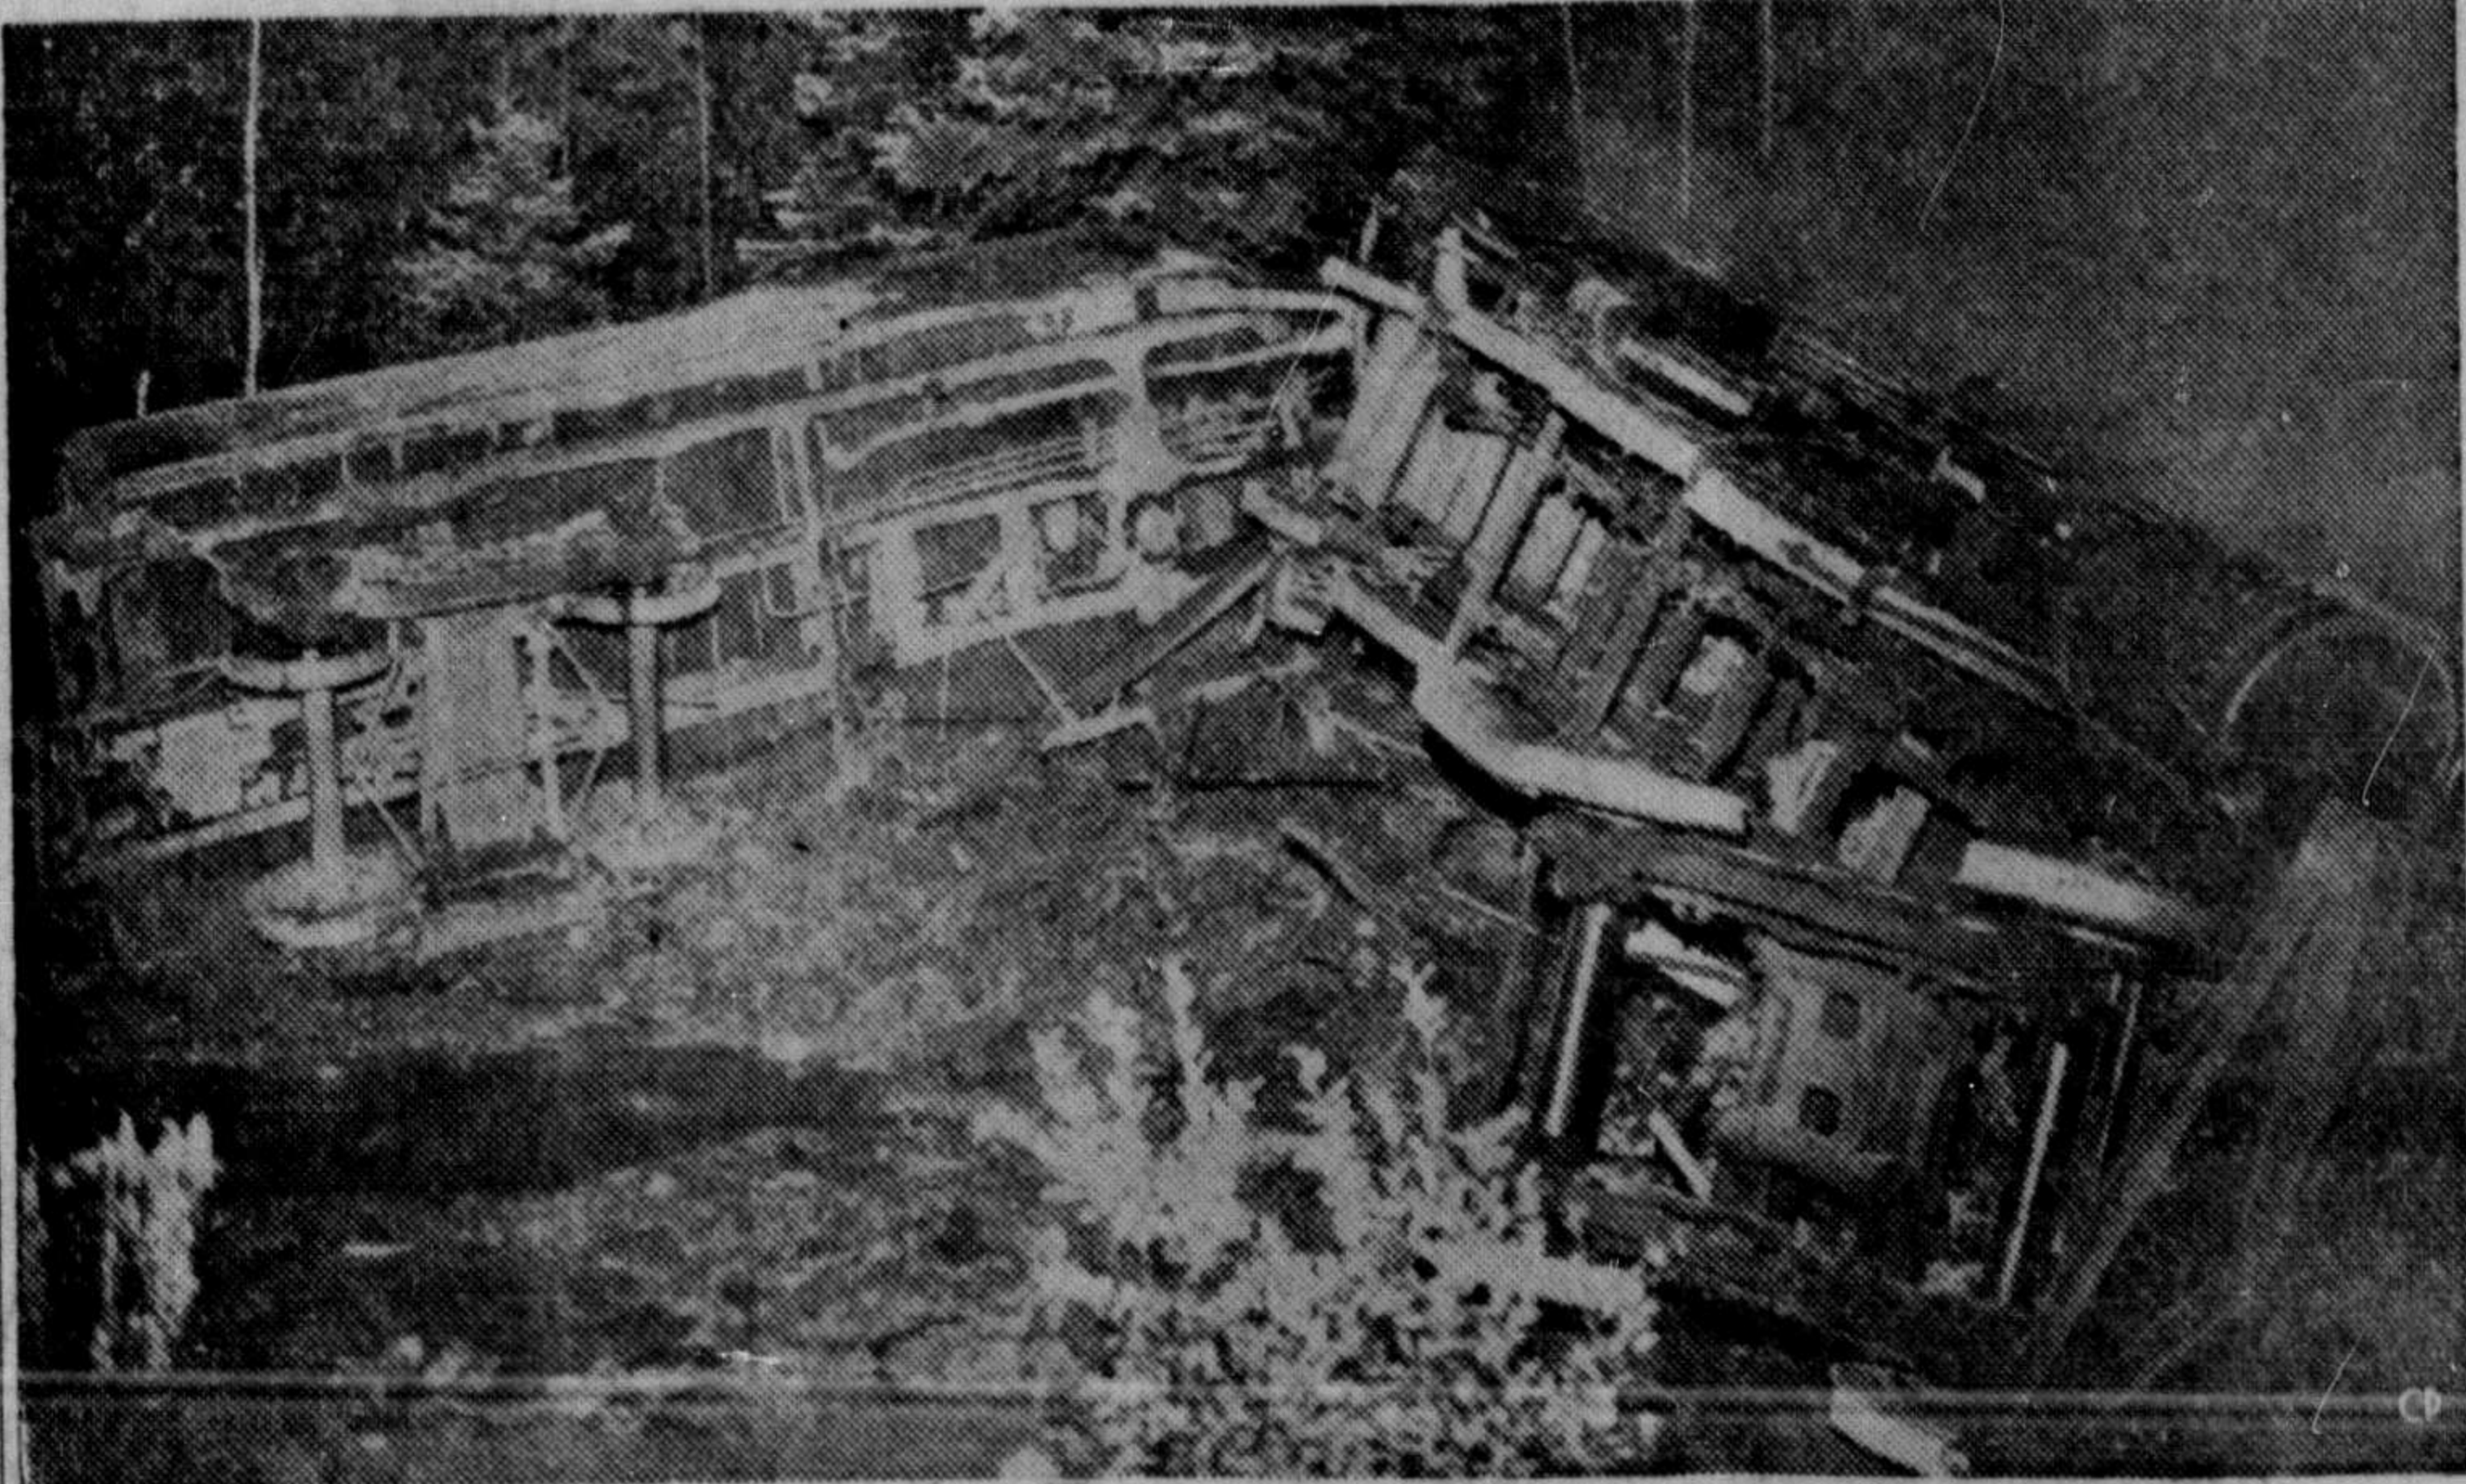

VANCOUVER.—A second application for an injunction to restrain picketing by striking crew members of the freighter S.S. Sunjewel was refused by Mr. Justice J. M. Coady here.

Mr. Justice Coady turned back the first application October 7, when the ship arrived here from eastern Canada. Saguenay Terminals, Ltd., Montreal, owners, sought to show that picketing by members of the Seafarers' International Union (AFL-TLC) crew was illegal.

Strikebound with Sunjewel is a sister ship, the S.S. Sunwhit, originally tied up in Portland, Ore., by pickets of a seamen's union there. Her crew did not strike until the Sunwhit moved here.

The Sunjewel has general cargo for Vancouver and equipment for the Aluminum Company of Canada at Kitimat, B.C.

Company officials said the equipment, aluminum bars, would be urgently needed within a month.

THE ENGINEER AND FIREMAN were killed and two passengers injured when a Canadian Pacific Railway locomotive rolled on its side and plunged 100 feet into thick bush at Gracefield, Que., 50 miles north of Ottawa. Passengers scrambled through broken windows on the upper side of the overturned coach. The trainmen died of burns from escaping steam and the resulting shock after the derailment.

Buy Gyro Apples

ALL THROUGH the week citizens of Prince Rupert have been receiving telephone calls asking if they would like to buy apples. Tomorrow the phone callers come into the open when they set up their apples for sale throughout the city.

They will be, of course, members of the Gyro Club staging their annual Apple Day. While it may be true that apples keep the doctor from the door, this is not particularly what the Gyros have in mind. Their purpose in going into the fruit business is to raise funds to carry on their program of maintaining and providing equipment for our children's playgrounds.

It is a program which has proved eminently worthwhile, as hundreds of children who have played on Gyro swings or splashed in Gyro pools will agree. But there is always something more to be done, some further means of adding to children's recreation under safe and healthy conditions.

Every service club in the city has its own way of doing something for the youngsters, and the result has been a happier and better community for all. Their efforts need our support because there is no other agency in Prince Rupert that can bring about these same benefits which are so enjoyable and at the same time so necessary.

Tomorrow our attention will be centred on the Gyros. Buy your apples from them and you will be doing your important part in adding to our children's safety, health and happiness.

THE "Q" SHIP
Like enough, by this time many of us have forgotten all about the "Q" ship, the invention that back in the First World War sunk a vast total of German U-boats. The officer responsible for it, Vice-Admiral Gordon Campbell, VC, died this month. The "Q" ship at first glance, looked like a dirty, slow old freighter, panic stricken at prospects of destruction. The whole idea was to draw the submarine close, and this was done time and again. Then—up shot the flag, down dropped the ship's false sides, and rows of the deadliest guns in the service crashed death and loss.

Trieste Chicks Roost
THE CRISIS over Trieste reminds me of a famous saying by the Chinese ambassador to Britain when Hitler plunged into war:

"The sky is black with chickens coming home to roost."
The western allies have played fast and loose with Trieste ever since 1914. They have never yet honestly worked to settle the dispute on its merits, but have cynically zig-zagged or somersaulted in their own policies, according to power politics.

ITALY got Trieste as a result of the sinister secret treaties of the First World War. It was the revelation of these secret treaties which outraged and embittered President Woodrow Wilson. The United States Senate was greatly influenced in its rejection of the first League of Nations by the secret treaties.

No country shouted so loudly about the iniquity of giving Trieste and Fiume to Italy as did the U.S.A.

Yet a few decades later the United States was herself threatening war with Yugoslavia over 1947 border incidents at Trieste. However, the falling out between Yugoslavia and Russia suddenly changed the world picture. Instead of the west clinging to the Trieste toehold into the Balkans it found an ally which planted strong resistance to Russian expansion even beyond the Danube.

Trieste was by-passed. Britain with 9000 troops there and the U.S.A. with 5000 in the cul-de-sac were eager to disengage those troops and relocate them in more strategic positions elsewhere. But now the allies were caught in their own previous traps.

THE GREAT port city of Trieste is 63 per cent Italian by race. There are also other small islands of Italians in the whole disputed area, outside the big city itself.

But, roughly speaking, the city itself is predominantly Italian; but the remainder of the disputed area—both in Zone A as well as Zone B—is overwhelmingly Yugoslav.

The economic realities are even more important. Apart from the line back into Italy, all other railroad routes run through territory firmly held by Yugoslavia. Hence Yugoslavia has it in her physical power to let Trieste "wither on the vine." She could simply block all commerce to and from Trieste.

THE CYNICAL trick played by the United States, Britain and France during the Italian election of 1948, has long since become a legend. At that time all the western nations were desperately eager to keep the Communists from winning the Italian election. They were aware that the Trieste dispute was just as important a factor in Italy as in Yugoslavia. A few weeks before the election the three powers formally declared that all the disputed area—both Zone B as well as Zone A—should go to Italy.

This trick, which was in direct defiance of the Italian peace treaty, undoubtedly helped to beat the Communists in the Italian election. But it has deeply embarrassed the three powers ever since with Yugoslavia—which broke away from Moscow only a few months after that Italian election.

The elaborate royal reception given to Tito in London a few months ago was only the most spectacular of many patient British moves to weld Yugoslavia into the western alliance. I think she will remain there, too.

The Barr colonists, a sturdy and progressive class of English people, planned to ranch in Canada and arrived in St. John (N.B.) in 1904 or thereabout. They were well equipped and had practically everything with the exception of experience. Few ever settled on the prairies, knowing less about agriculture, but they did not lack pluck and resolve. Lloydminster, not far from Saskatoon, is a thriving centre.

ANOTHER HOUSING PROBLEM—By William Butterfield in the Vancouver Province.

VICTORIA REPORT By J. K. Nesbitt

Now that the Bennett government is in full swing, people ask: "Is this a good government? Is it a bad government? How can people inexperienced in government give any kind of government at all?"

The Bennett government, at this moment, is neither a good nor a bad government. It is a government adequate for its times. It is giving the people what they want. It's doing the job for which it was elected.

Looking back, we cannot say that any of our governments in the last quarter century have been either good or bad. They were adequate to the times in which they lived. They did their good deeds, and they made their mistakes. Even the much maligned Conservative government of Simon Tolmie was not a bad government; it just got caught up by bad times. In other words, it was similar to the times in which it lived.

All governments, of course, leave their marks for good. The Pattullo government left us state control of some public utilities, implanting the idea that big business should not be permitted to ride roughshod over the people; the Hart government left the B.C. Power Commission; the Johnson government, hospital insurance.

The Bennett government is young, fresh, eager. The fact that the premier is the only one with legislative experience is of little importance. Men learn, and they learn quickly. It is good to have men in government who have no ties with the past. Liberals or Conservatives could never have brought in such a good liquor act as the Bennett government. Liberals and Conservatives have too many friends who'd have been hurt by such drastic changes in the liquor law. And governments, any more than individuals, don't like to hurt their friends.

In time, of course, the Bennett government will grow old, will lose touch with the times in which it lives. Then the people of that day, impatient for change, will put it out.

In the Legislature, Social Crediters fairly burst with pride as they contemplate hospital insurance. They say hospital insurance is wonderful. They never, for some strange reason, give any credit to those who brought this great social reform into being—Byron Johnson, who conceived the idea in the first place, and staked his whole political future on it; George Pearson, who worried about it, took heaps of undeserved abuse, and yet put it firmly on its feet.

When oppositionists ask, "Who started hospital insurance?" Social Crediters mutter and say, "We made it work."

Rotarians Entertain Ladies at Annual Tea

By SHIRLEY YULE

Members of the Prince Rupert Rotary Club entertained the ladies how" yesterday afternoon when they donned frilly aprons and bustled around with serving some 300 people at their annual tea in the Civic Centre.

Tea and coffee and dainty cakes were served, but there the usual after-noon ended.

The women sat and sipped pleasure, worried-looking in fancy get-ups around the big gymnasium, awkwardly balancing and trying to remember what.

Serving table was all up with a spray of yellow mums and four silver holders on a tablecloth, but the slightly incongruous L. W. Kergin and Phil presiding at the urns.

Out among the horde of guests was jovial Doug who charmed the ladies with a dainty whisp of frilled apron proudly on his manly chest. Dr. Kergin drew laughs from

Edinburgh IODE Sale Tomorrow

Final plans for a rummage and bake sale to be held tomorrow were made when members of the Duchess of Edinburgh Chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, held their monthly meeting.

The group also discussed plans for the annual fall bazaar to be held in November and heard reports on the fall fair held Labor Day.

Six members volunteered to act as ushers at the next Alaska Music Trail concert November 4.

Regent Mrs. W. E. Halliwell noted that membership in the chapter was dropping, and asked members to bring guests to the next meeting.

Miss Anna Swang and Mrs. Robert Wylie were co-hostesses at the home of Mrs. M. Skogmo for one of the showers at which various games were enjoyed. Miss Bentsen was presented with a miniature house overflowing with gifts, after which refreshments were served by the hostess.

Another of the showers was held at the home of Mrs. Marie Beckley with Mrs. Isabelle Elmarson assisting the hostess. Bingo was played and the honoree received a gaily decorated basket full of many lovely gifts, after which refreshments were served.

The final party was a cup and saucer shower held at the home of Mrs. Ken Laird, with Mrs. W. Beck assisting. Miss Bentsen and her mother, Mrs. R. H. Bentsen were presented with corsages, after which a variety of games, including bingo, were enjoyed. The many useful gifts were presented to the honoree in a beautifully decorated mock three-tier wedding cake, and refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Plaque Marks Oil Terminal

By GEORGE FINLAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER.—A simple plaque, marked "Burnaby Terminal," was unveiled Thursday on completion of the $93,000,000 Trans Mountain Oil pipeline from Edmonton to Vancouver.

Oilmen from the United States and Canada were present at the unveiling ceremony at suburban Burnaby tank farm terminal, eight miles east of here.

But no oil flowed through the 24-inch pipeline from Alberta at the rate of 1½ miles an hour. A leak near the Alberta-British Columbia boundary halted plans to put the line "on stream."

Welders worked throughout the day on the break and the first oil is expected to move into the big Burnaby tanks late today.

At strategic pumping stations, giant valves will turn and $1,000,000 worth of oil will gush through to Burnaby, from where it will be distributed to tidewater refineries.

TOOK 1,500 MEN

Started in the spring of 1952, the Trans Mountain Pipe Line Company's "big pipe" snaked its way over the mountains as 1,500 men toiled through rocks, muskeg, rangelands, and the lush farmlands of the Fraser Valley.

For British Columbia motorists it will mean all-Canadian gasoline, and for the fast-expanding industries of Vancouver and other industrial centres will come a future of cheaper oil supplies. The surplus will go to Pacific northwest markets in the United States with a $75,000,000 Washington refinery tapping the line next year.

Ninety-eight percent of the crude oil brought into British Columbia has come by tanker from California. The other two per cent was shipped by rail in the last two years from the Alberta field.

Completion of the pipeline is three months ahead of schedule, marking Vancouver's first direct link with a major oil producing area.

It was designed and built under the engineering management of Canadian Bechtel Limited, internationally famous in the pipeline field.

120,000 BARRELS DAILY

The line is designed to transport initially up to 120,000 barrels a day with more than 50,000 required daily to meet the B.C. demand. The ultimate goal is for a daily capacity of 200,000 barrels.

Coast refineries have spent millions of dollars modernizing and enlarging plants to handle the flow of "black gold" from Alberta. Imperial Oil, the largest refinery here, has spent $13,500,000. It will handle 22,500 barrels daily.

The plaque was unveiled by S. D. (Steve) Bechtel, and R. L. Bridges of Toronto, president of Trans Mountain, who retires at the end of this year and will be succeeded by J. Grant Spratt of Calgary, who was elected president Thursday. His appointment is effective Jan. 1, 1954.

The badly-needed light is expected to cost approximately $300.

The meeting, conducted by Secretary Mrs. Sid Elkins, also saw appointment of Mrs. Ralph Hood as delegate to a hospital auxiliary convention to be held October 28 to 30 in Vancouver.

Mistreatment Claims Refuted By Jail Head

TORONTO (CP)—Governor R. H. Paterson of the Don jail said today no one can honestly complain of mistreatment or brutality in the jail.

Before the legislature's committee on reform institutions, he replied to criticism by a former prisoner identified only as "Mr. A," who addressed the committee earlier this week.

"Mr. A" said he was a citizen who spent 15 days in the jail for a drunk driving conviction. He said the jail was worse than Belsen, German concentration camp of the Second World War.

Col. Paterson said that if jail officials had known "Mr. A" had a record of 24 convictions, including a penitentiary term, they would not have made him a trustee and given him work in the boiler room. The governor described the man as a professional troublemaker.

CLAIMS 'RIDICULOUS'

He termed "ridiculous" the man's claims that the jail doctor does not visit mental patients and said restrictions on visitors to the jail are necessary. He said he couldn't honestly say he would trust every lawyer in Toronto and there has been at least one case of a man with a police record posing as a church representative to get into the jail to talk to prisoners.

Jail officials confirmed that tobacco and cigarettes are taken away from prisoners when they enter the jail.

W. J. Grummet, a member of the committee and a moderate smoker, protested that depriving smokers of their tobacco was likely to cause unnecessary suffering.

Col. Hedley Basher, deputy reforms minister, said tobacco and cigarettes are taken away because they might contain contraband such as narcotics.

"We can't be too careful and cigarettes are perfect hiding places for drugs," said Col. Basher.

Man Not Guilty In Father's Death

NANAIMO (CP)—A verdict of not guilty because of insanity was returned by an assize court jury here in the trial of Douglas Winter Cook, 27, charged with the murder of his father in 1949.

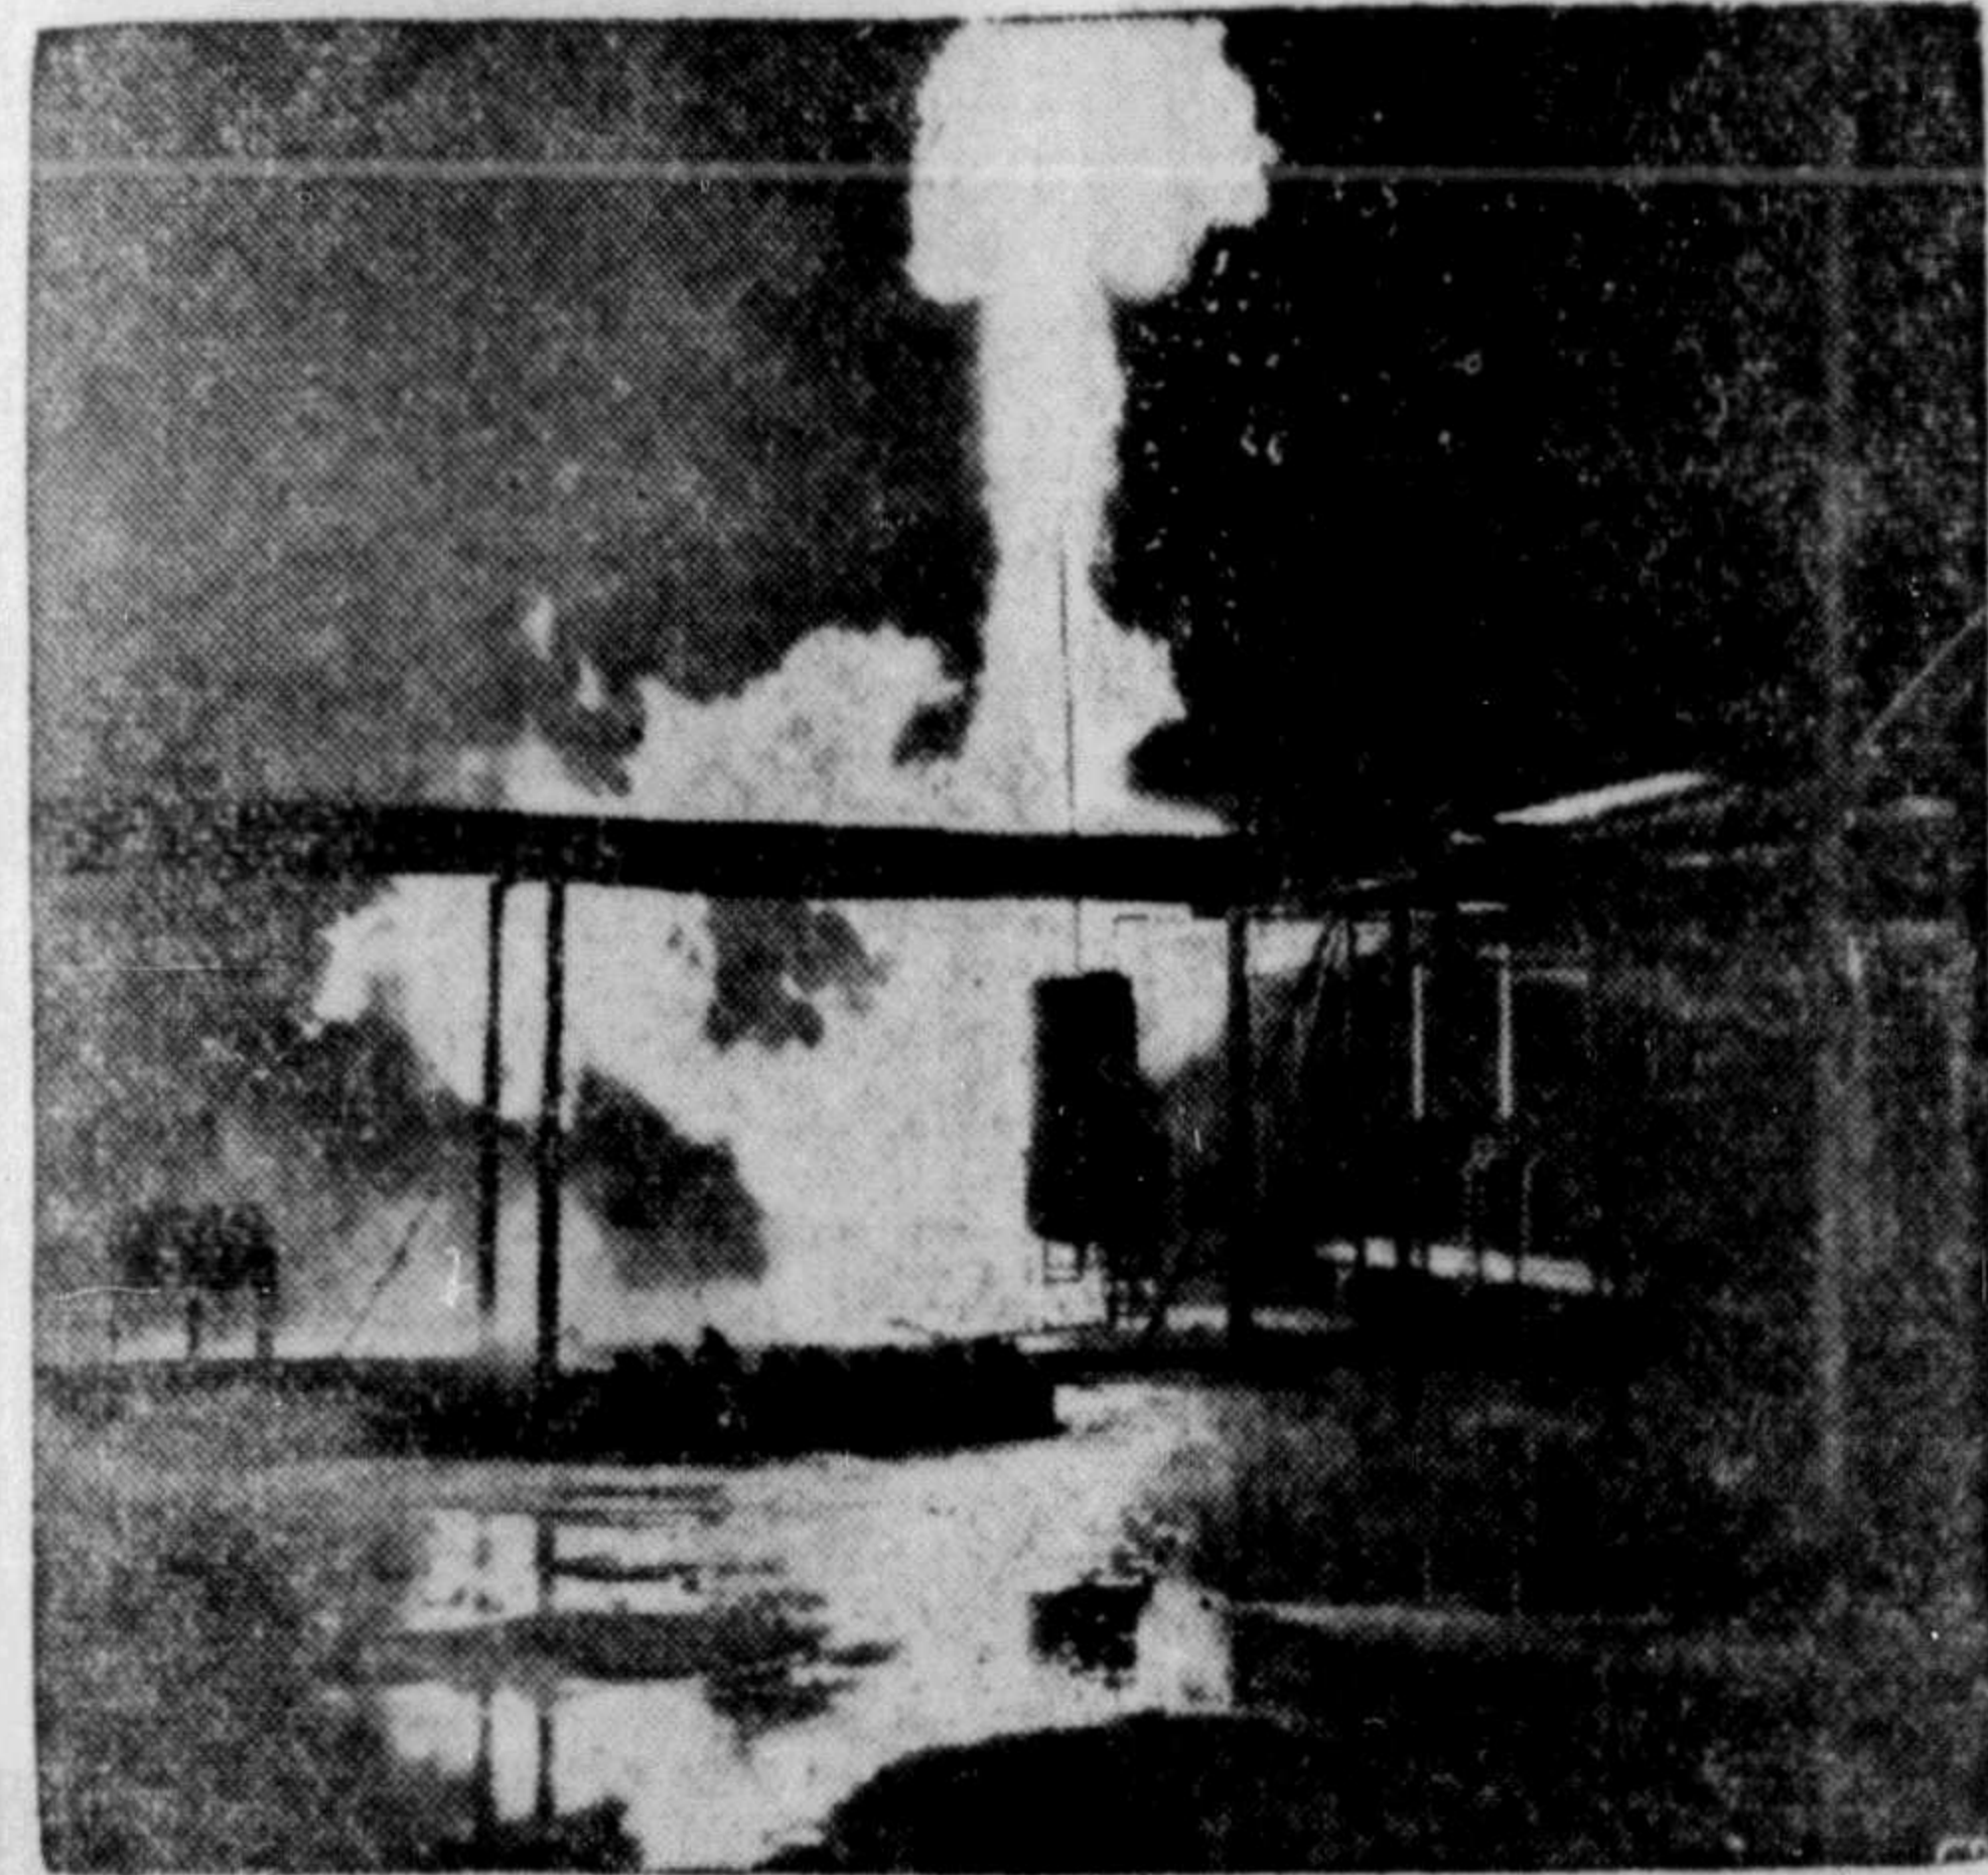

Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane ordered Cook to be held in close custody at Oakalla prison pending the wishes of the Lieutenant-Governor. The jury deliberated for 17 minutes before reaching a verdict.

The murder charge was laid against Cook this year upon his release from Essondale mental hospital, where he spent the last four years.

The father, Marion Winter Cook, was shot in his restaurant-confectionery at Duncan in March, 1949.

SMOKE AND FLAMES shoot from the sky from a blazing Brandon, Man., oil refinery. Damage was estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars in the fire at the Anglo-Canadian Oils, Limited. King Edward P-TA Told Of Contest for Book Week Young Canada Book Week was a major topic of discussion at this week's meeting of the King Edward School Parent-Teacher Association.

The meeting was told of the contest to be conducted here during the book week in November, sponsored by the library board assisted by local P-TAs.

Children taking books from the public library will be given forms to fill out, and the writer of the best character sketch on these forms will win a prize book. All children entering the contest will be given book-marks.

The group decided to donate $5 to the library board to aid in purchase of prizes.

The group also planned to present two books each month to two classes having the most parents attend P-TA meetings. In the past only one was given. Now prizes will be awarded for the best class in grades one to four, and another in grades five and six.

Prizes this month were won by Mrs. Thorpe's class and Jack's class.

Following the business meeting, a "buzz" session was held on the question of program P-TA meetings and a G. H. principal of King Edward School, addressed the meeting on the school curriculum.

Refreshments were served to the close.

MEMO TO ADVERTISERS

advertising,
too!

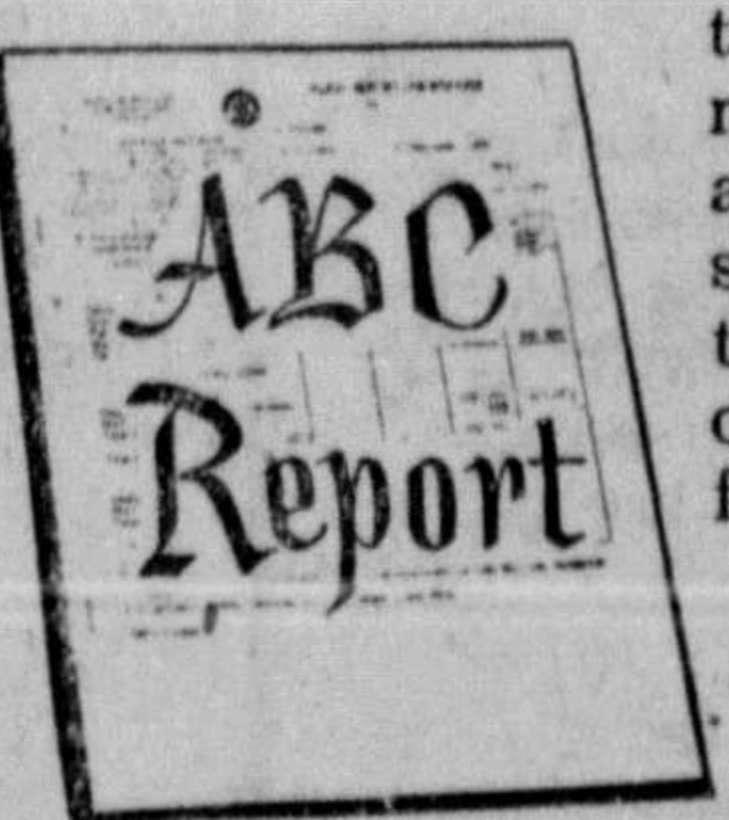

What a fix we'd all be in without those standards of measurement for the goods you buy and sell. Imagine the confusion, waste and doubt in business transactions if we didn't have accepted standards of weights and measures—known values.

We believe it is just as necessary for us to tell you what you get for your advertising dollars, in terms of known circulation value, as it is for you to do business with your customers on the basis of recognized standards. That's why this newspaper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

WHAT IS THE A.B.C.? The Bureau is a cooperative and nonprofit association of 3450 publishers, advertising agencies and advertisers in the United States and Canada. Organized in 1914, A.B.C. brought order out of advertising chaos by establishing a definition for paid circulation, rules and standards for measuring, auditing and reporting the circulations of newspapers and periodicals.

WHAT A.B.C. DOES FOR YOU. At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors comes to our office and makes a thorough audit of our circulation records. He has access to all of our books and records to obtain the FACTS that tell you what you get for your money when you advertise in this newspaper.

WHAT A.B.C. REPORTS TELL YOU. The circulation FACTS obtained by the A.B.C. auditor are condensed in easy to read A.B.C. reports which tell you: How much circulation we have; where the circulation goes; how it was sold and many other FACTS about the audience we provide for your sales messages. Make your advertising 'investments' on the basis of this audited information. Ask for a copy of our A.B.C. report.

British Pensions Pose Problem

LONDON (Reuters)—One of the biggest headaches facing British governments in domestic policy during the next 25 years will be how to pay the rapidly increasing number of old-age state pensioners.

Money received from public contributions and government grants will just about pay the pensions this year. But by 1957 it is estimated there will be a deficit of $280,000,000 a year.

In 25 years' time, at the present rate of $4.54 a week for a single person and $7.56 for a married couple, the deficit will rise to $1,120,000,000 a year.

By that time, Britain will be spending nearly $1,950,000,000 a year on government pensions.

The main reasons given for the growing proportion of old people in the population are the smaller families of the present day compared with Victorian times and increased life expectancy due to improved health and medical services and more hygienic living conditions.

SEASON NOT UP TO PAR

Flashing Harpoons Catch 559 Whales in Churchill River

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—A comparative handful of Indians and Eskimos plunged their harpoons into about $6,000 worth of whale meat this summer, but the catch was not up to par.

Since 1949, when a Churchill company started, paying $1 a lineal foot for white beluga whales, a few natives have spent from late June to mid-September each year on the hunt. The men, all holding government licences, earned about $7,000 last season.

The big white mammals, 12 to 14 feet long and weighing from 600 to 700 pounds when mature, enter the Churchill River in search of fish. They are harpooned from heavy freight canoes and shot with a rifle or harpooned again when they thresh to the surface. The flashing harpoons accounted for 559 this season.

NOTHING WASTED

Low temperatures and high wind, however, suspended activities earlier than usual. Because the whales are one of the north's few natural sources of food, the government clamped a 700 quota on the catch.

Every part of the whale is marketable in some form. Last season, whale steaks were offered for sale on the Winnipeg market but the venture failed. A similar effort in British Columbia failed several years ago.

The meat now is ground, frozen and used for pet or milk food. The adult whale carries about 500 pounds of blubber which is turned into 400 pounds of variously graded oil, used for margarine, soap or paint, depending on its quality.

A fine oil from the jaw of the whale is used for lubricating precision instruments in cold weather. The Canadian Army will use it for automatic weapons during Arctic exercises this winter.

Vitamin A is extracted from the whale and the hide makes usable leather. Some parts are ground into fine meal and used for fertilizer.

The catch this season produced 160,000 pounds of blubber oil and more than 100,000 pounds of animal feed.

Costa Rica, most southern state of Central America, abolished its army in 1948.

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—It may safely be put down that Chuck Dressen is not quitting one of the best jobs in baseball unless he has reason to believe that another one just as good or better is open to him. A lot of things have been said about the little guy, but no one has yet accused him of being dumb.

It is our strong guess, then, that the man who is spinning a one-year Brooklyn contract calling for $42,500 means to wind up managing the Baltimore Orioles for his old comrade, Bucky Harris. It all fits in too well.

Word has been kicking around for several days that the new Baltimore combine, having failed to land Frank Lane of the Chicago White Sox, has settled upon Harris as its first general manager. It would be difficult to make a better choice.

Bucky's present job as pilot of the Washington Senators doubtless would last as long as owner Clark Griffith does, but Griffith is an elderly man and, besides, Harris has for some years been anxious to take himself off the field and do his heavy thinking from a chair in some front office.

He had such a post with the Yankees until Larry MacPhail talked him into returning to the bench, and he promptly drove the Bombers to a flag. But then MacPhail went out in a blaze of million-dollar checks and the new owners, Del Webb and Dan Topping, gave Bucky the boot in favor of a fellow named Stengel.

Now the time looks right for the talented "boy manager" to return to the executive end, and his first choice for a field lieutenant almost surely would be the peppery Dressen, who was one of his coaches during his two-year term with the Yanks. We have it on exceptionally good authority that this is the intended setup.

Of course, there is the little matter of the Orioles already having a perfectly good manager named Marty Marion, who has completed only half of a two-year contract. A member of the Baltimore group said here last week, though, that there was every intention of paying Marty off, the new owners feeling that they need a "bigger name" at the helm.

They can hoist storm warnings anytime now for the National Hockey League's goal-tending fraternity. Montreal Canadiens are blowing up a line squall.

The elusive dream that has haunted General Manager Frank Selke for years—a line featuring Maurice Richard and Jean Marc Beliveau and another teaming Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion with crafty Elmer Lach—became a reality last night.

Canadiens won 6-1 over the New York Rangers, with Beliveau and Geoffrion firing two goals apiece and Richard adding a third. Lach and Geoffrion set up Eddie Mazur for the sixth. Wally Hargreheimer's early goal was the only Ranger reply.

Somewhat overshadowed by the slaughter in Montreal was Toronto Maple Leafs' 4-1 victory over Boston Bruins, their second on Boston ice in two seasons and the first loss of the year to Lynn Patrick's club.

That left Canadiens in first place with three wins against a single loss. The Leafs moved into a second-place tie with the idle Detroit Red Wings. Both have 2-1 records. Boston, breaking even in its first two starts, is tied for fourth place with the Rangers, who have won one in three. Chicago Black Hawks are winless in three tries.

Winnipeg's Bud Korchak Leads Vessels in Grid Point-Getting Race

WINNIPEG —Despite a 15-point performance by Billy Vessels, Winnipeg's Bud Korchak maintained his lead in the individual scoring after 13 games in the 16-game schedule of the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Vessels, Oklahoma's all-American halfback, picked up three touchdowns for Edmonton Eskimos Saturday as the league leaders won 34-13 over Calgary Stampeders, but failed to score a point Monday when Eskis again whipped the Stamps 22-6.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press, however, show Vessels gained eight points on Korchak, who booted seven points in Winnipeg's double loss to Saskatchewan Roughriders during the week-end. Korchak now has 57 points on one touchdown, eight field goals, five singles and 23 converts. Vessels, who vaulted over half-back Pete Thodos of Calgary into second place, now has 50 points on 10 touchdowns—tops in that department. Thodos scored one major to boost his total to 44 points.

Two place-kicking specialists—Wilbur Snyder of Edmonton and Del Warden of Riders—took over fourth and fifth positions respectively as they came through with double-figure efforts. Snyder, second-year import tackle from the University of Idaho, accounted for 12 points in the last two games to raise his count to 42.

Wardien, the little Montana State back now classed as a non-import, showed the biggest gain of the week—16 points on one convert and five field goals, four of which came in one game for a WIFU record. He now has 40 points.

Tied for sixth positions are the two Johnsons—John Henry of Calgary and Herbie of Riders. Each has seven touchdowns for 35 points.

Stamps Trounce New Westminster

CALGARY —Calgary Stampeders, with more than 5,000 fans looking on, made their first home game of the Western Hockey League a big one last night with a 7-1 win over New Westminster Royals that lifted them into undisputed possession of first place.

For Royals, the loss marked the end of a dismal road trip through the prairies that saw them pick up only one of a possible six points. They drew 3-3 with Edmonton Flyers Wednesday after dropping a 2-1 decision to the Saskatoon Quakers.

Durelle Wins Canadian Title

MONCTON, N.B. —His Canadian light-heavyweight championship safely tucked away, Yvon Durelle of Bale Ste. Anne, N.B., today was seriously considering reverting to the middle-weight rank.

Durelle scored a unanimous decision over Gordon Wallace of Brantford, Ont., in a bruising 12-round light-heavyweight title bout here last night. It was the second meeting of the pair. Durelle won the title in an elimination match with Wallace at Glace Bay, N.S., in September.

gets first shipment through TRANS-MOUNTAIN!

Once again Imperial sets the pace in the oil industry in B.C. Now at Ioco another link in the chain of events that started with the discovery of oil in Alberta has been forged. Imperial Oil's great new "cat cracker" gets the first shipment of Canadian crude through the Trans-Mountain Pipe Line.

Canada's Progress Province is no longer entirely dependent on foreign crude. It takes another great forward stride with the first "cat cracker" in British Columbia specifically designed to process Alberta crude into the highest-quality petroleum products ever produced in B.C.

In February, 1947, at a time when Canada produced less than one-tenth of its oil needs, Imperial brought in the pioneer well at Leduc, Alberta. This touched off a series of discoveries at Redwater, Golden Spike, Joseph Lake, Smeeth, Exshaw, and others. These fields brought Canada ever closer to self-sufficiency in oil and permitted Alberta to build reserves of crude which could be transported to other parts of Canada for refining purposes.

In 1951 came the decision to build the Trans-Mountain Pipe Line over the formidable Rockies from Alberta to Vancouver. Imperial Oil anticipated the coming of Canadian crude with plans for the first "cat cracker" in British Columbia—now completed—the newest and most modern refinery in all Canada, to provide finer petroleum products from Canada's own oil fields.

Miners Loggers, Fishermen Idle In Walkouts Involving 18,500 Men

By The Canadian Press

Gold miners in Ontario and Quebec, deep-sea sailors, British Columbia woods workers and Newfoundland fishermen are keeping Canada's wave of strikes going while further labor unrest threatens on other fronts.

A Canadian Press survey today listed upwards of 18,500 idle from walkouts over a variety of causes, including wages and hours and the checkoff of union dues.

The work stoppage by more than 5,000 Newfoundland fishermen, who quit fishing about a month ago to await a price rise, may be nearing an end. The provincial government this week promised to supplement payments offered by the dealers, and the fishermen are considering the offer.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

Doubling for Penalties Just Doesn't Add Up

Usually it's silly to double for penalties just because you have great length in a suit bid by your right-hand opponent.

Not only do you warn the enemy the suit is banked against them, thus driving them into a more favorable spot, but you encourage your partner to double some other contract which your adversaries may reach.

In today's deal Mr. Muzzy lost all interest when he saw he had been dealt a practically worthless hand. But he came to life when he heard Mr. Abel bid three spades. He doubled.

Actually, Mr. Abel's three spade bid was not even meant to show a spade suit, but was a cue-bid made for the purpose of probing the possibility of a heart slam.

Anyway, when Mr. Heinsite went to three no trump, Mr. New doubled. Incorrectly taking this as a demand from his partner that he lead a club (the first suit bid by dummy), Mr. Muzzy led the seven of that suit. Lummy ducked and Mr. New properly played low, letting the queen win.

Mr. Abel led the ace of hearts, then cashed the queen on which Mr. New showed out.

Rifle Club Set For Civic Centre

An organizational meeting for the formation of a Civic Centre youths' rifle club will be held in the club lounge of the Civic Centre, Wednesday, October 21.

Instructors Dick Paul and Tommy Boulter are anxious for all youths and prospective members to attend the meeting so that they can meet them and get their ideas on the future of the rifle club.

LONDON (C)—Lots of quiet landscapes are expected at the coming exhibition of the Army Art Society. An officer said that past annual shows have indicated soldier-painters prefer peaceful scenes as a reaction from their usual "bustling, vigorous life."

discarding to small club. The queen of diamonds was now finessed and it won. Mr. Abel then gave up a heart, won the spade return and cashed nine tricks. He won four hearts, two spades, two diamonds and a club.

He counted aloud as he entered the score: "400 for three no trump redoubled, 50 for the contract, 700 for the rubber—1150 points."

"You should have made 800 more," screamed Mr. Heinsite. "Just put up the king of clubs from the board on the first trick. If Mr. New wins, you come to the ace of hearts and lead high clubs until you knock out the jack. Then the queen of hearts is another entry for four club tricks in all. If Mr. New ducks at trick one, you lead the 10 of clubs and then go on as before."

Mr. Heinsite was right—that is, if you care about bawling out a partner who has just made 1150 points for your side.

Brockler is murdered, rare book experts Joel Sloane (George Murphy) and his wife Carda (Nina Foch) go about finding the murderer. The police arrest Ned Morgan as a likely suspect because of Ned's prison record and the fact that Brockler and Ned had quarreled about Ned's interest in Leah, Brockler's daughter.

Ned claims that Brockler had framed him into prison on a fake charge and the Sloanes believe his story that he did not murder Brockler.

Brockler's secretary, Julia Thorne, admits to Joel that Brockler had secreted the books Ned was accused of stealing. Joel suspects Elias Bannerman, for whom Brockler had been operating as a fence. He has him arrested on suspicion but before Joel can bring the proof, he is abducted by Bannerman's henchman. Garda, trying to save Joel, is also taken off but the police rescue the two.

Unexpected developments enter the story at this point leading to a thrilling climax when the murder is unmasked.

Bradens Panned By U.K. Critics

LONDON (C)—"Love in Pawn," a British film starring Canada's Bernard Braden and Barbara Kelly, opened today in the West End. The critics gave it little chance of a long run.

In their debut as a screen-comedy twosome, the husband-and-wife team from Vancouver play an impoverished couple living on a Thames houseboat. The central gag involves Barbara's decision to hook her husband in a pawnshop for £5.

Leonard Mosley of The Daily Express called this the silliest idea in a long time. He said Braden at times looked like a younger brother of American star Clifton Webb and sounded like a Canadian Bob Hope.

The Sunday Times dismissed the play as a "frail little farce." The same paper's radio critic, however, said Braden still has first place in the gallery of BBC comedians. The Bradens are heard in a weekly comedy show, "Bedtime With Braden," and appear frequently in stage, television, cabaret and film parts.
