Workmen's Compensation Act Changes Rejected By Socreds

Fishermen's Plea Falls on Deaf Ears

VICTORIA (CP)—The opposition Monday and Monday night submitted 31 amendments to the workmen's Compensation Act. Two of them were withdrawn and the rest were rejected by the government and went down to defeat.

With the exception of one, all were submitted by CCF members. The one, which would have brought fishermen under the act, was introduced by the Liberal member for Prince Rupert, Bruce Brown.

Temper got out of control in only a few instances, however, as opposition members argued the merits of their amendments for almost 5 1/2 hours.

OUT FOR SEASON
Mr. Brown said seasons are getting shorter and if a fisherman breaks a leg he could be out for the whole season.

In answer to the fishing amendment as introduced by Mr. Brown, Labor Minister Lyle Wicks said the government did not accept it because there was provision in the act to cover fishermen and the government had already said it would take the lead in resolving the difficulties of bringing them under the act if fishermen and industry could not agree to the details.

SHOULD BE NO DELAY
Opposition members said there should be no delay in giving the fishermen protection. Dr. Larry Giovando (PC—Nanaimo), seconder of the amendment, said fishermen could get infections from cuts and fishhooks that became very virulent.

Thomas Bate (SC—Vancouver-Point Grey) said he was not sure that something more along the lines of insurance should not be provided for fishermen. He said there are many problems to be solved in giving compensation to fishermen such as the fact that there is no control over safety conditions.

Tony Gargrave (CCF—Mackenzie) said every worker in the province is entitled to compensation. He charged that the government was intending to make the fishermen pay for his own compensation. The licensed fish buyer should pay the compensation assessment and the assessment would be passed along to the consumer. "The public of B.C. want compensation for fishermen," he said. "So does the government," replied Premier Bennett.

City Backs Hills' Wire To Bennett

Move by Mayor George Hills to have fishermen protected under the Workmen's Compensation Act has been endorsed by city council.

The mayor, in a telegram to Premier Bennett last Monday asked that fishermen be included in any proposed changes to the act.

Copy of his telegram was sent to A. Bruce Brown, Liberal MLA for Rupert, who said in a letter read to council last night that he also supported the contention and council went further by endorsing a resolution of the UFAWU after a plea from Tom Parlin, the union's northern representative.

"We are still hopeful that we can influence the government, even though the act has gone through second reading," Mr. Parlin said.

Following his remarks, council voted unanimously to send a telegram to the Premier and Labor Minister Wicks with a copy to Mr. Brown urging that:

"Fishermen be defined as workmen within the meaning of the act, and that for the purpose of the fishing industry, an employer be defined as those holding fish buying licences in the province of B.C."

These recommendations were made last week by a delegation of UFAWU representatives.

Mr. Parlin explained that crew members on company-owned boats are covered under the act, while crewmen on independent vessels are not.

He stressed that fishing is "quite a hazardous occupation" and if any fishermen is injured and unable to continue his occupation he receives no compensation, which leaves him in a position of being unable to support his wife and family.

He said workers in all other occupations are covered by the act and while administration of the act for benefits to fishermen may be complicated a method could be worked out whereby "these men would be protected, just as those in other occupations."

Carpenter Hurt in Fall

Justin Johnson, a Prince Rupert carpenter, was injured yesterday in a fall on a construction job at Oceanside Cannery.

Mr. Johnson was reported in good condition in Prince Rupert General Hospital where he was taken after the accident. He was at work on flooring in the second story of a new Canadian Fish Company building by the cannery, when he lost his balance and fell between the joists to the floor below.

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canada Labor Relations board today announced that it has certified the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (CIO-CCL) as the bargaining agent for longshoremen employed by a group of companies at Prince Rupert.

The companies are the B.C. Coast Steamship Service, the Union Steamships, Ltd., the Frank Waterhouse and Company, the Canadian National Steamships, the Griffiths Steamships Company, the Packers Steamships Company, the Pacific Stevedoring and Contracting Company and the Canadian Stevedoring Company.

Premier of Nova Scotia, Angus L. Macdonald Dies

HALIFAX — Premier Angus L. Macdonald, the father of Canada's Second World War navy, died early today at the age of 64 to end Nova Scotia's political's most colorful era.

The intense, silver-haired Liberal government leader died in Victoria General Hospital shortly after midnight to end a public career that began in 1933 when he was literally conscripted from the ranks to revitalize a badly battered Liberal party.

The announcement of his death was made at 4:20 a.m. by Health Minister Harold Connolly, one of those widely mentioned as a possible successor.

Speculation as to who will succeed him also touched on Attorney-General Malcolm Patterson, 64, and Education Minister Henry Hicks, 39.

Mr. Macdonald entered hospital several days ago to be treated for what was described briefly as "general fatigue." There were reports that he never completely recovered from a persistent cold contracted during a visit to Britain last fall.

Neither Mr. Macdonald's wife nor his four children were at the bedside when he died. The hospital said he succumbed "unexpectedly in his sleep."

Mr. Macdonald was called out of Nova Scotia early in the war to become the country's first navy minister.

Under Mr. Macdonald the senior service grew from fewer than 2,000 men and half a dozen ships to more than 90,000 men and 500 ships, including the first Canadian aircraft carriers.

Council Names H. V. Boyt New Assessor

Application of H. V. Boyt, municipal assessor at Langley, as assessor for Prince Rupert was accepted at council meeting last night.

Mr. Boyt, 55-year-old former B.C. police officer who served here in 1942 and at various other centres throughout the province from 1926 to 1944, was selected from 10 applicants.

A member of the Association of B.C. Assessors, he left the now-defunct provincial police force in 1944 to join the provincial assessors department. He resigned that post in 1952 to enter private business in Prince George but lost his business in a fire.

Names of all applicants were read at council meeting after which ballots were distributed and Mr. Boyt received seven votes as against one for a Prince Rupert man, Ald. Ray McLean was absent.

Mr. Boyt will succeed Hal Newman, who resigned recently because of ill-health.

Rupert Unions Send Protest Over New Code

Representatives from all labor unions in this city have sent a telegram to Labor Minister Wicks protesting proposed labor legislation.

Delegates to the meeting in the carpenters' hall, were unanimous in their condemnation of proposed changes and in a wire to the minister said:

"Delegates from all local trade unions representing 3,000 members of organized labor, bitterly opposed proposed labor legislation and urge immediate withdrawal.

"Suggest amendments to ICA act along lines proposed by organized labor.

"Have organized joint labor council to deal with any contingencies that may arise."

Copies were sent to opposition leader Arnold Webster and Bruce Brown, Liberal MLA for Rupert.

RCMP OFFICER and other officials examine the wreckage of the Harvard training plane which crashed following the collision with a TCA North Star at Moose Jaw. RCMP said that only yesterday did they discover a wing section of the Harvard which vanished from a nearby golf course on which plane wreckage was scattered. Police said the wing was "highly important" to the crash investigation still proceeding.

Hospitality, Good Weather Brings Thanks From Sioux

Commander A. H. Rankin, officer commanding HMCS Sioux, doesn't believe reports that it rains often in this city.

In a letter received by The Daily News today thanking Prince Rupert citizens for the "kindness and hospitality so warmly extended the ship's officers and men during their stay here April 2-5, Cmdr. Rankin said:

"We would also like to express our appreciation to His Worship Mayor Hills for the excellent weather he arranged on our behalf."

"Some jealous souls to the south had told us that it rained frequently in Prince Rupert. We now know that this is not true."

Extensive Paving Program Planned by Public Works

City council last night decided to pay for the tractor now being used in Algoma Park on the landfill garbage project out of monies in the Land Sale Reserve Account.

Cost of the machine is $17,893.89.

This action was taken on recommendation of the board of works committee, which also outlined the paving program for the year.

City fathers also endorsed another recommendation of the board to pay $3,595, plus tax and freight from Vancouver, for a Charge of driving with ability impaired.

The freak accident occurred at the CPR dock where the Princess Norah was berthed. Police said the woman climbed into her truck parked on the dock, stepped on the starter and shot 40 feet across the dock. The front wheels jumped the dock bumper guard and the truck crashed into the side of the Norah.

The woman pleaded guilty to the impaired driving charge before Magistrate W. D. Vance yesterday, and paid the fine. Repairs to her truck also will cost about $75.

As I See It

THE NEW Criminal Code of Canada has now been passed into law, so far as the House of Commons is concerned.

Only the three most contentious matters remain for future decision. They are, the death penalty, corporal punishment, and the legal definition of insanity in criminal cases. The first two questions are now being studied by a parliamentary committee, and the insanity question will be dealt with by a Royal Commission, before final decision by parliament.

IT WAS a thrilling, and illuminating experience for me, as a new M.P., to sit in on this major revision and codification of the laws of Canada. For this of course was much more than a routine overhaul of our Criminal Code, which has been on our law books since 1892. For the first time in the history of Canada, all the crimes are now plainly set forth—and the old "common law" inherited from Britain has been superseded. That is, from now on, nobody in Canada may be charged with any kind of a crime, unless that offence is plainly named in the Criminal Code of Canada as a crime.

THE PRESENT parliament worked for months on this codification of the Code, and the basis on which it worked was a draft bill which emerged from many years of previous work.

All the work of the House of Commons was completely free—completely non-partisan. Both the Prime Minister and the Minister of Justice had told the House, in advance, that members were to be free to speak and vote on every question, without any dictation or pressure from the government or any political party. This was carried out not only in letter but in spirit. In fact, most of us on the government side thought that the Minister of Justice went, if anything, too far in trying to get unanimity from the whole House on almost every clause. He had the patience of Job.

There was not a single amendment, submitted from inside or from outside the House, which did not receive the fullest consideration from him, and from his law advisers. Many of the suggestions submitted by the CCF, Conservative, or Social Credit members, were adopted provided only that their sponsors could make out a case which convinced the majority.

THERE was no section of the Code which got such thorough consideration as that of special interest to organized labor and trade unions. For months the Minister of Justice carried on consultations with the three great trade union bodies in Canada. In addition, he met with and considered the submissions of Communist led trade unions, with exactly the same consideration as for others.

All the important submissions on which the three unions themselves were agreed were incorporated.

The government did not agree, however to relax the main laws against treason, sedition, or use of violence in labor or political disputes.

My own impression of the Criminal Code of Canada as it now stands is that it is a first class job. The biggest debate, of course is still to come—on whether or not we are to retain the death penalty.

Rattlesnakes By Ton Caught In Big Roundup

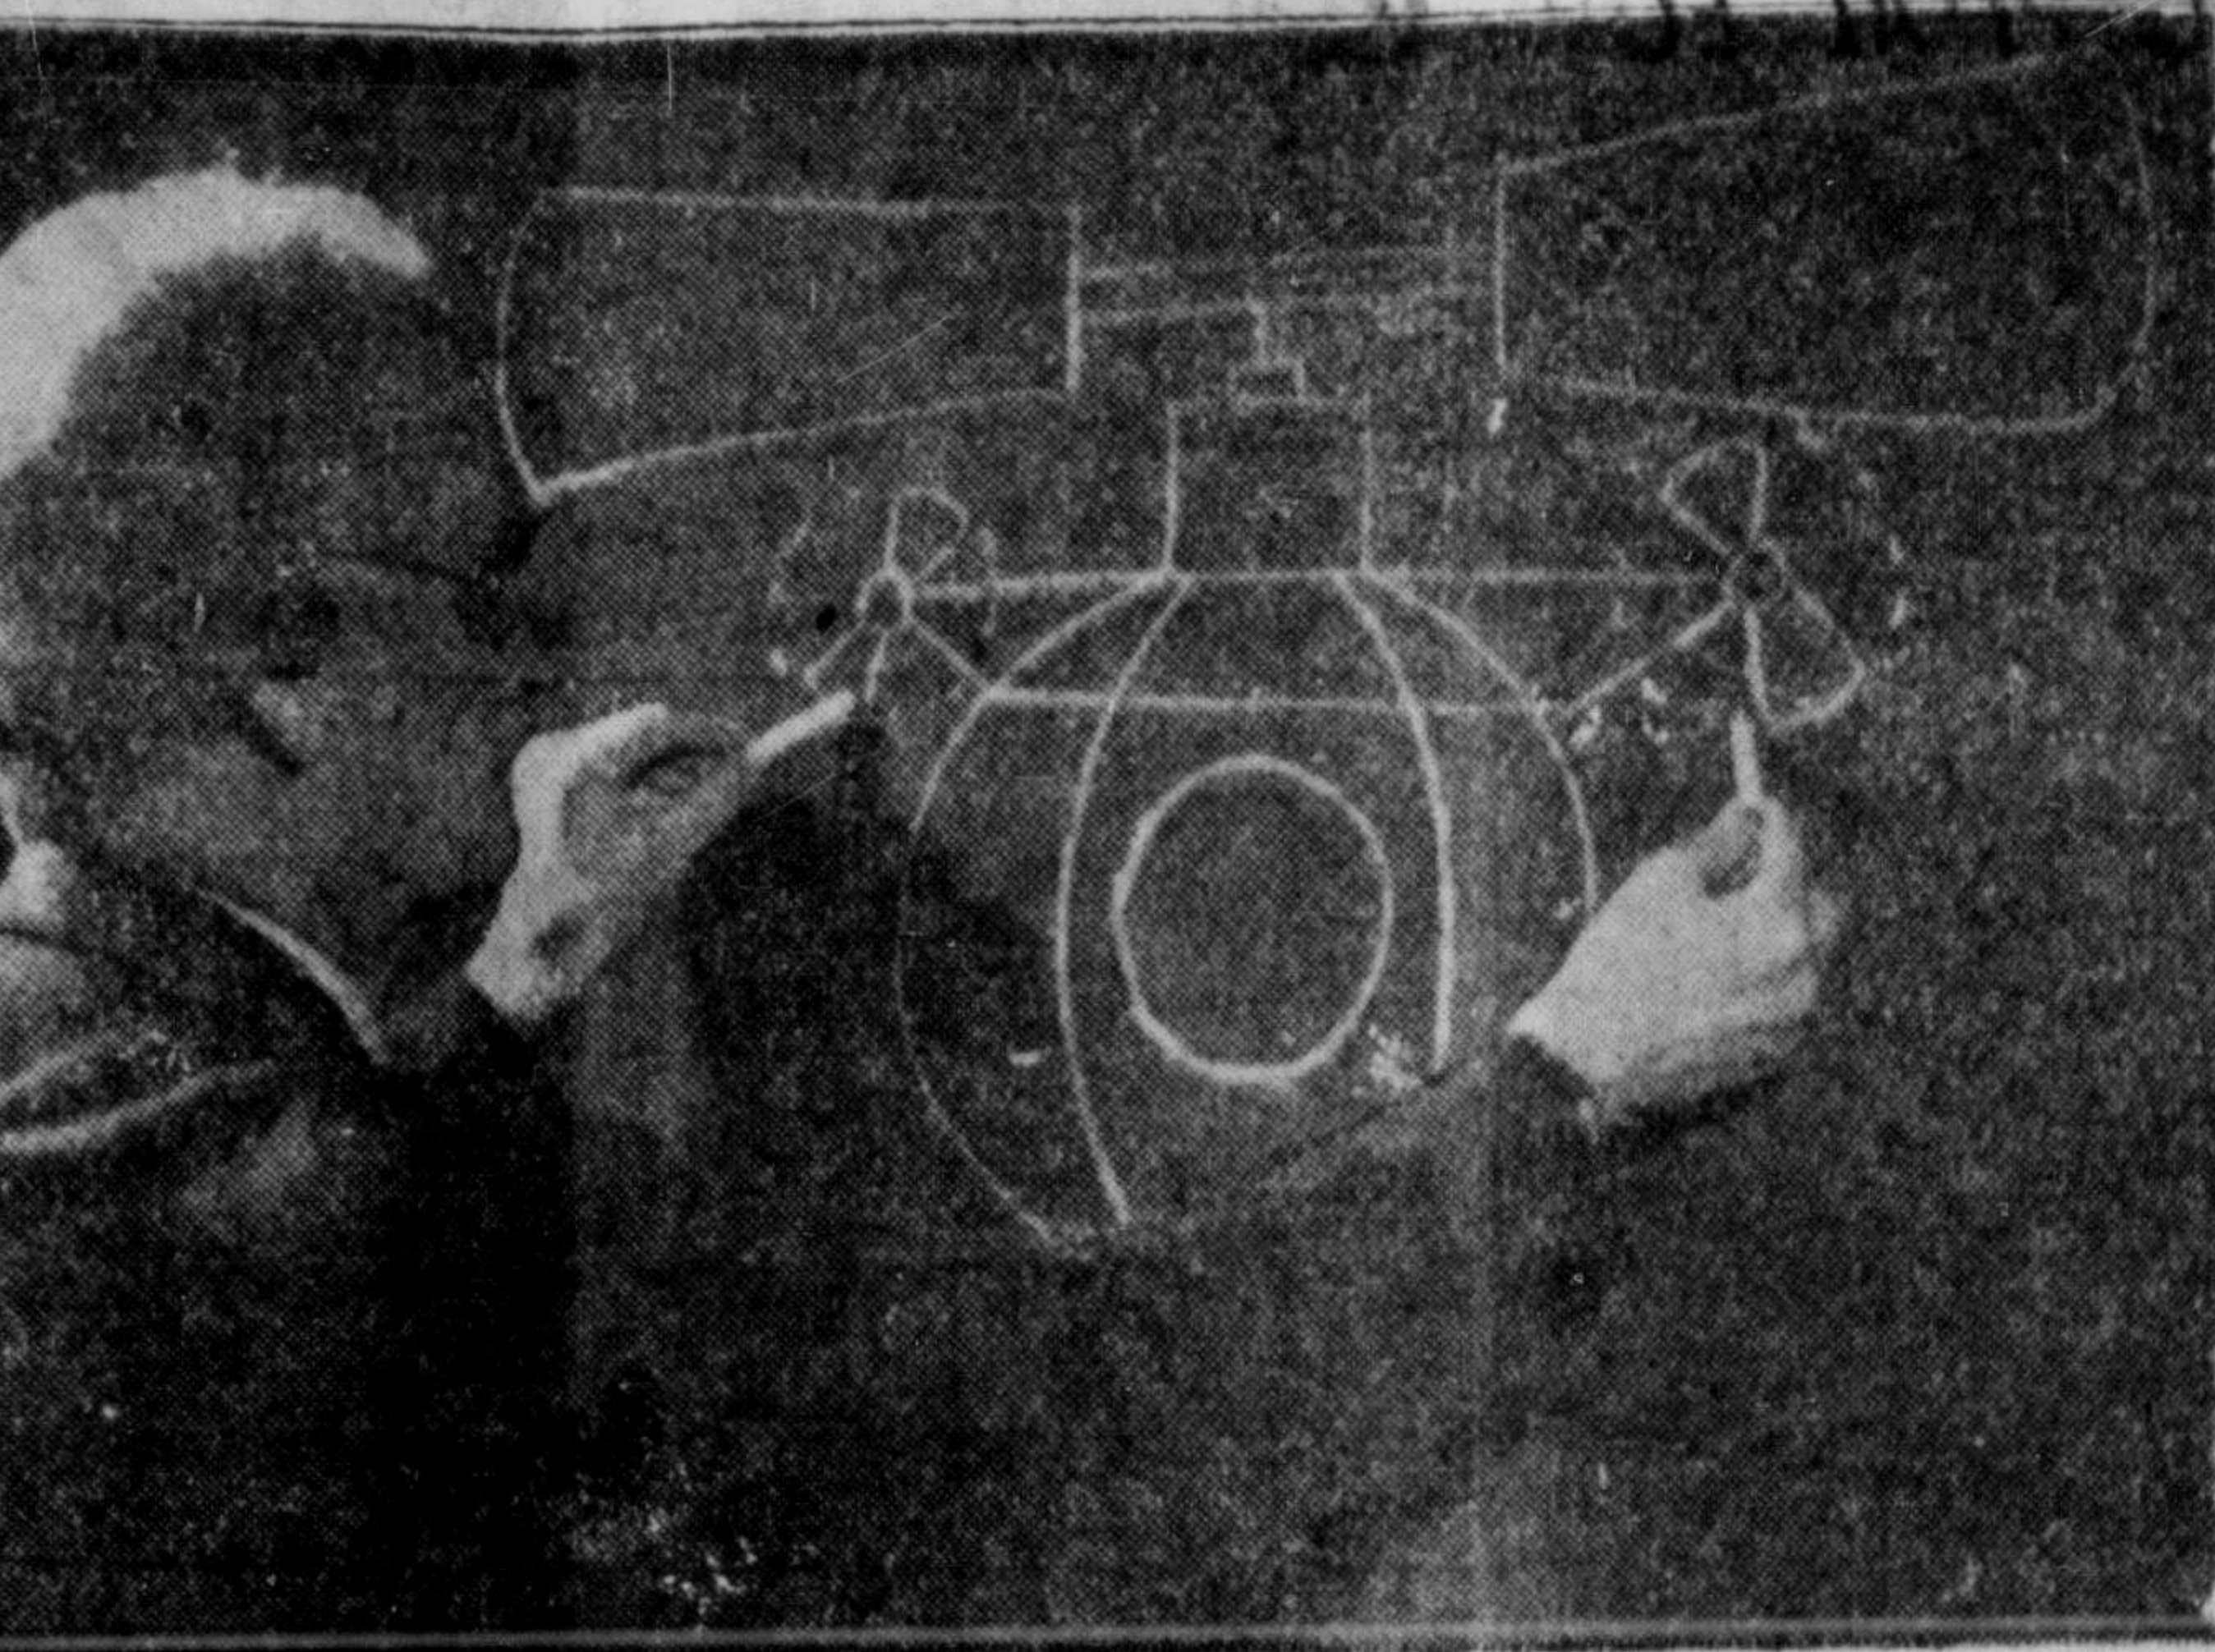

OKEENA, Okla. (AP)—Nearly a ton of venomous rattlesnakes buzzing their defiance, were captured alive in Salt Creek Canyon in the 15th annual rattlesnake roundup.

The bizarre "sporting event" drew an estimated 20,000 persons from 26 states. The foray into the reptile-infested gypsum hills was sponsored by the International Association of Rattlesnake Hunters.

Joe Durham, chief rattler, said 1,576 snakes were snared, either with forked sticks, special snake-catching tongs or by the braver souls with bare hands.

SHEEP ISLANDS

The acreage of the Falkland Islands, crown colony in the South Atlantic, is divided into sheep farms.

PROFESSOR AUGUSTE PICCARD uses both hands for speed to sketch his latest invention on a blackboard in Brussels, Belgium. It is the "Mesoscaphé," an underwater helicopter which will be used for research at depths down to 6,000 feet. A huge rotor fixed above the conning tower will allow the sphere to ascend and descend vertically like a helicopter. Two propellers, protruding diagonally from the tower base and powered by electric motors from within the shell of the machine, will propel the "Mesoscaphé" forward and backward.

LETTERBOX

UNABLE TO GRASP VISION
 The Editor,
 The Daily News:

It must have been inspiring to the northern pioneers who read the uncompromising resolution of the Liberal executive on the drydock question forwarded to Ottawa, protesting against the Gordon plan of scuttling the Prince Rupert drydock.

The drydock is a vital portion of the Laurier plan of bridging the Pacific to the markets of the Orient in connection with the Grand Trunk Pacific Railroad... a vision founded on fewer ocean miles and superior railroad grade connecting the port of Prince Rupert with the huge Oriental markets.

If Donald Gordon's wish and will come true, then the words uttered many years ago by Sir George Foster, that the port of Prince Rupert appears to be struggling under a curse, will have come true, beyond a doubt.

Therefore, we must strive to hold what we have today and pray that the day is not far distant when the Dominion government will find a Vanhorn, a Jim Hill or a Harriman to direct the affairs of the CNR system and the fulfillment of the Laurier-Hayes vision... the foundation of the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Port of Prince Rupert.

Those two great men have passed on, and bequeathed to us who remain a railroad and a drydock, and told us how it should be used in world trade affairs. So let us forget the coupon clipping idea of Mr. Gordon and reaffirm our faith on the original designers, Laurier and Hayes, and the Prince Rupert harbor, second to none in the world.

Mr. Editor, while the the CNR system is truly the property of the people of Canada, let it be understood that the city of Prince Rupert, its people and the pioneers of the north have made a great contribution to that enterprise, I venture to say more than any other settlement in Canada.

Now, after more than 40 years labor and investment, we are confronted with a Gordon torpedo blast.

I know not what course the government may take on this vital question. But I venture to say any Liberal government foolish enough to agree to the sale and removal of the Prince Rupert floating drydock is committing suicide, through the betrayal of not only a revered leader, but also the people who have faithfully worked and invested for over 46 years in this district.

May I further point out to the dominion government that the Prince Rupert drydock has been officially boycotted by CNR officials in the annual overhauling of their own coastwise ships. May some cabinet ministers ask Donald Gordon why.

I wish to insert one request of our friend Ted Applewhalke, that he pass this letter around to some of the cabinet ministers at Ottawa.

Ald. GEORGE B. CASEY (Now serving his 23rd year as Prince Rupert alderman.)

HIGHEST RANK

The title of Field Marshal, highest rank in the British Army, was introduced by King George II in 1736.

Develop Bulkley Valley

THERE are reassuring reports from Smithers that the Chamber of Commerce there is continuing to urge Bulkley Valley farmers to organize their production and marketing methods with a view to increasing sales in this area.

At the Chamber's last meeting farmers were told they must be prepared to meet grading standards if they wished to find markets. Comparison was made between the systematic grading of milk to ensure a pure standard and attempts to market poor grades of vegetables. It was also observed that the district lumber industry had been obliged to adopt a more careful grading procedure to meet the demands of market.

The Smithers and District Chamber of Commerce is to be commended for pressing a point which, if given sufficient heed, will benefit not only central B.C. farmers but consumers as well.

Vancouver and adjacent communities are experiencing their lusty growth not just because they occupy a strategic position on Canadian trade routes. An asset of at least equal importance is the lush and productive Fraser Valley which feeds them at comparatively low cost. Until we up here can match this condition, we will never realize our fullest possible expansion and will never reduce our cost of living to the same level.

The Bulkley Valley holds the answer. With the use of imagination and method it could become the lunch-box of the north, and we would no longer be paying the neighbors to share theirs.

On the Other Foot

ONE OF the truly heartening signs of the times is the disappearing practice of designating the race of a person in the news if that person should be colored. Today the respectable practice is to designate race only if race is pertinent to the event being reported.

The injustice of the old custom was placed unintentionally in a mercilessly revealing light a few days ago by way of a letter to a Texas newspaper. The public, complained the writer, might assume the alleged criminal was white!

The Texas paper published the letter, took full responsibility for its policy, and stood its ground. Which is another piece of commendable news all by itself.

The Fox and The Grapes

A HUNGRY FOX saw some fine bunches of Grapes hanging from a vine that was trained along a high trellis, and did his best to reach them by jumping as high as he could into the air. But it was all in vain, for they were just out of reach: so he gave up trying, and walked away with an air of dignity and unconcern, remarking, "I thought those Grapes were ripe, but I see now they are quite sour."

MORAL: Instead of saying "sour grapes" when you can't immediately attain your ambitions, build a ladder to success by opening a savings account with The Canadian Bank of Commerce. Add to your balance regularly and you'll soon be in a position to get what you seek.

Thespians Score er Hit With Comedy

Amateur thespians scored a big success when they staged the "Born Yesterday" comedy of close impersonation at the Civic Centre auditorium last night.

Keith Faught, roles, shared the lead with Ian Dobbie, who played the part of the corrupt politician. The comedy was a hilarious success, and the audience was in stitches throughout.

Mr. Faught earned a sort of indulgent dislike for his character, Harry Brock, who matched Billy's Brooklynese and mixed it with a hot temper and complete selfishness, set off by a crudely stupid facial expression, while still managing to be funny.

The supporting roles also were successfully played. Noel Stone was an excellent dissipated lawyer, successful until "bought" by Harry Brock. Noble Powell, too, was good as Senator Norval Hedges, also in Brock's employ.

Ed Harrington portrays the newspaperman hired by Brock to educate Billy that she may fit in to Washington society, but who has other ideas for Billy's future.

Witless Eddy Brock, played by Robin Bird completely under his cousins thumb, earned many laughs as did other minor characters including a maid, played by Gayle Leeman, a hotel official, Don Fraser, Mrs. Hedges, Shirley Haughan, a barber, Jim Cumming, a manicurist, Marjorie Way and others.

A pleasing stage set, depicting an expensive hotel room in Washington, and good lighting combined with work of the cast for an excellent presentation.

The play will be repeated in the Civic Centre tonight, with curtain time at 8:30, after which the Little Theatre will start work on their next production, Noel Coward's satirical comedy, "Present Laughter."

HOSPITAL EQUIPMENT FUND BOOSTED BY AUXILIARY SALE

Members of the Prince Rupert Hospital Auxiliary netted a total of $245 in a successful rummage sale staged Saturday in downtown Prince Rupert.

Proceeds from the sale are earmarked for the group's major project of the year, assistance in equipping the proposed new second floor set-up at the hospital.

Mrs. C. C. Mills and Mrs. Ken Robertson were co-conveners of the sale, assisted during the day by Mrs. J. S. Foster, Mrs. H. A. Breen, Mrs. W. F. Stone, Mrs. John Magor, Mrs. C. H. Elkins, Mrs. L. M. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Jessee Honeymooning in Terrace

Honeymooning in Terrace this week are Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Alan Jessee whose marriage took place Saturday evening at a ceremony in the First United Church, conducted by the Rev. L. G. Sieber.

The bride, Nancy, is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Armand Lund of Prince Rupert and the groom is son of Mrs. M. Orom, also of this city.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a softly tailored suit of pale blue with tiny white veiled hat and other accessories of white and a corsage of pink roses.

Her only attendant was her cousin Miss Shirley Reynolds as maid of honor, wearing a tailored suit of light grey with red accessories and corsage of yellow and red carnations.

Bestman was Mr. Donald Smith and ushers were Mr. Donald Phipps and Mr. Dave Benoit. Organist for the service was Miss Olive Strand.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Valhalla Hall where guests were received by the bride's mother, assisted by Mrs. Orom. Mrs. Lund chose for the occasion a gown of light blue sculptured nylon with scarlet accessories while Mrs. Orom was gowned in turquoise blue with black accessories. Both wore scarlet carnations en corsage.

The bridal party stood under a rose covered arch to receive congratulations from their many friends.

The bride's table was a picture with its lace setting, holding a three-tier wedding cake and sprays of spring flowers.

Mr. Charles Roberts was master of ceremonies, proposing the toast to the bride, while Mr. Smith toasted the maid of honor. The reception included dancing to music by Mike Colussi, Barney Kristmanson and Chris Fossum.

Following their brief honeymoon at Terrace, the couple will take up residence at 801 Borden Street.

Move to Boost Station Power Backed by City

City council has joined the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-op and the United Fishermen & Allied Workers Union in their request to have the power of CFPR increased so fishermen can receive the morning broadcast directed to them.

This action was taken following a request from the Co-op for support of their action taken recently at the annual meeting here.

Ken Harding, secretary-manager of the Co-op, in a letter to council, said the CBC's fishermen's broadcast provided a service to fishermen but because of lack of range the local station was not received by many fishermen on the grounds.

Many fishermen had praised the broadcast and want an increase in power so they can receive it.

After brief discussion, council endorsed the request and ordered the city clerk to send a letter to Transport Minister Chevrier, under whose department the CBC is directed, with copies to Fisheries Minister Sinclair and E. T. Applewhaite, MP for Skeena.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

School Site Near Park Wins Approval of City

A request from the School Board for permission to build a school on a site in Roosevelt Park in the area adjacent to the present ball park won approval of city council at last night's meeting.

Alderman P. H. Bremner moved that the site be approved subject to the decision of the Park Board, which administers the land requested. His motion was seconded by Ald. Norman Bellis and endorsed by council.

City Fathers also endorsed a request from the School Board to have D. J. McKenzie remove his dwelling from a lane between Ninth Avenue and Tenth Avenue East to permit extension of the Conrad Street school playground.

Council also gave permission to its finance committee to sell the school board six city-owned lots adjacent to Conrad school. The school board asked for the additional land because of the new two-room addition now being made to the school will cut off a sizeable portion of the playground.

Mr. McKenzie's home, while on the lane, must be removed to permit extension of the school grounds.

No time limit was set for him to have the dwelling taken away.

Council authorized granting $50 to the Canadian National Institute of the Blind.

City Clerk Bill Long was appointed delegate to the Municipal Officers' annual conference in Victoria, June 8-9.

Fortunes of Prince Rupert boxers will be in the hands of Maurice Bishop for the next six weeks while trainer Joe Ward, longtime pilot and coach of the local mittmen takes an RCMP course for the next month and a half. However, his valuable coaching won't be lost if Andy Marshall goes down to the elimination card on April 29 in Vancouver since Joe will be down there also.

Whether Andy goes down south for that particular card or not isn't known yet as Vancouver is slow to inform Prince Rupert on these matters and all information comes from the Vancouver dailies. The big-town boxing moguls may be saving Andy for the Vancouver Island eliminations, since they listed him last time as from Vancouver. If that should be the way it happens then Andy will be meeting Trent Ketcheson again and it will be a different Prince Rupert boy that the navy fighter will meet. What with the style Joe has instilled into him plus and added sharpness from Maurice, Andy should have all the answers when the two middleweights next tangle.

Told to stay out of the ring for his own good, this week was lightweight Chuck Place, a lad with a terrific punch, but with migraine headaches which cross him up at the wrong time. The headaches, brought on by misplaced vertebrae usually come from a jar or sudden movement, something that is inevitable with boxing.

That's what happened to Chuck April 3 when he was fighting the RCN's Nelson Lewis. He got tagged on the forehead just above the eyes and from then on couldn't see a thing. Rather than have this happen again, even in practice, Joe Ward has laid it down that boxing is out, as a sport for Chuck.

We could write another column pointing out that officials of governing bodies in sports just don't get up and howl at referees no matter how great an injustice has been done. But we won't.

What's the point. Some people just never learn. It's not that we are afraid of having irate mothers phone up to complain about us "being nasty" to Commissioner Slim Davidson, we can handle them without trouble. It's just that it's silly to keep beating our head against a brick wall.

We were asked by an altruist not to castigate "Slim" for standing up on the sidelines and howling in a manner unbecoming a commissioner, at Fred Calderoni for overlooking a most flagrant foul.

Said Calderoni, "I was beat, my nerves were shot. I'd already warned the high school that I'd walk off if they didn't quit riding the referees. It wouldn't have mattered who had stood up and shouted, I was ready to quit. So don't make anything of it. It was my fault."

So we said, "Okay Fred, we'll forget about it. We won't even mention it."

And we won't. We'll forget it even happened. We'll just hope that next season we get an active basketball commission that will have no favorites, won't care who wins or loses just so long as we get good basketball and will back up the referees.

But what we want to know is, how are you going to get a non-partisan representative from the high school?

What with basketball all wound up, the curlers having thrown the last rock and busy preparing the ice sheets for children's skating, it would seem that a sports doldrums is upon us. But not so.

Today in eight major United States cities approximately 200,000 baseball fans attended eight opening games in the two major leagues. In Washington, President Eisenhower threw out the first ball. It's the first time in years that all openers took place the same day and all games were played in daylight.

Hunched in the stands, loaded down with peanuts, popcorn, pop, a program, pencil, and a blanket if it was chilly, baseball enthusiasts were asking themselves and their neighbors the worrying questions: did Boston's Ted Williams' fractured collar bone and Milwaukee's Bobby Thompson's broken ankle settle the major league race last March? Can the Red Sox get along without their star slugger Williams and put an end to the New York Yankees' long reign in the American league? Can Cleveland finally do it after finishing second to the Yankees for three straight seasons? Can Milwaukee Braves continue their momentum and overtake the Brooklyn Dodgers despite the fact they will be without Thompson, their hard-hitting outfielder, for at least another month? Will the 36-year-old Enos Slaughter be just the insurance Casey Stengel needs to wrap up his sixth straight American league pennant? And what about the Baltimore Orioles who return to the majors after an absence of 51 years?

All the answers to these questions will start to take shape this week and in the ensuing weeks. No sir! things aren't going to be dull at all. Nor will they be on the home front, with the Senior baseballers set to go May 9 and Little League almost ready and Pony League with great hopes. But more on the local doings later in the week when the weather smartens up. If and when, that is.

Big Allan Cup Semi Tonight As Penticton Squares Series

By The Canadian Press

Penticton V's came back from the brink of elimination again Monday night to square their Western Canada Allan Cup semifinal series with Nelson Maple Leafs at 3-3, with one game tied. Both clubs will be out for the big one tonight when they come to grips in the Nelson arena in the eighth game of their best-of-seven series.

As usual, the Warwick brothers carried the puck last night as the V's squeezed out a 2-1 win over the Western International League champs.

Playing-coach Grant Warwick sank Penticton's first goal in the first period when he let go with a hard low shot that left goalie Boomer Rodzinyak flat-footed. Two minutes later, with only 31 seconds remaining, Bill Warwick drove in a screened shot to give the Okanagan squad a 2-0 lead.

Nelson broke into the scoring column after six minutes of the second when veteran Willie Schmidt scored after taking a pass from Bill Haldane. Fiery Bill Warwick staged a slugfest with some rabid fans in the closing minutes of the game. The fight started when a fan grabbed Warwick's stick and another punched him on the head. A fan who was caught on the end of Warwick's stick received a bad cut over an eye.

As the teams left the ice at the end of the game, some fans tried to give Warwick a going over and several players began flailing away with their sticks.

Ken Doraty scored the winning goal after 164 minutes, 46 seconds of play, when Toronto defeated Boston Bruins 21 years ago at Toronto. Doraty's counter, the only goal of the game, won the league title for Toronto, who then lost to New York Rangers in the Stanley Cup playoffs. The record for the longest game was boosted to 176 minutes, 30 seconds, when Detroit beat Maroons at Montreal, March 24, 1936.

SNEAD BEATS HOGAN ONE UP FOR THIRD MASTERS TITLE

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Sam Snead gambled with the "graveyard of the Masters," the tortuous 13th hole, and beat Ben Hogan by a stroke in an 18-hole playoff for the Masters golf title Monday.

Snead won by a score of 70 to Hogan's 71 in a duel that carried right to the final green. They finished the regulation 72 holes Sunday with scores of 289, highest ever to win a Masters tournament. Par for the 6,800-yard course is 72.

The victory bracketed Snead with Jimmy Demaret as a three-time Masters winner. Hogan, too, was seeking his third Masters title and had hoped to become the first man ever to capture two in succession.

Gerry McNeil Vital Key In Habs' Last Chance

MONTREAL (AP)—Gerry McNeil, the smallest goalkeeper in the National Hockey League, essays the giant-killer role again tonight when Montreal Canadiens must once more shoot the works or hand over the Stanley Cup to the Detroit Red Wings.

The Montreal goalie, who chalked up two shutouts in the last three games of the 1953 Stanley Cup finals against Boston Bruins, is five feet seven inches high and weighs 155 pounds.

McNeil is in a spot dramatic and unenviable. Just a year ago he was shuffled out of the post-season series because of a bad case of nerves. He came back to steady Canadiens and help them along to hockey's big championship title.

Two months ago McNeil was put out of action in Chicago with an ankle injury. Jacques Plante, who took over from McNeil a year ago, was recalled from Buffalo. He was such a sensation that the job was his, McNeil looked on from the sidelines.

FOUR-STRAIGHT WIN

With Plante in the nets, Canadiens swept through to a four-straight win over Boston Bruins in the Stanley Cup semi-final. Canadiens broke even with the Red Wings in Detroit in the first two games of the final and then lost two games at home. Plante looked bad on a couple of goals.

By that time the Red Wings were leading 3-1 on games and the netminding job was again beckoning to McNeil. The decision to change goalies was a quick one. Coach Dick Irvin of Canadiens again went all out on applied psychology and something he calls the "unseen hand."

An hour out of Detroit at the hockey special train rolled along, Irvin said to McNeil:

"I was just wondering if you would like to get your job back again."

"I certainly would," said McNeil. That ended the conversation. When McNeil walked into Canadiens' dressing-room Sunday night his equipment was all laid out. Plante's wasn't.

SENSATIONAL GAME

McNeil went into the nets and turned in a sensational game. Although two months out of competitive action, he blanked the Red Wings on into overtime until Ken Mosdell broke up the scoreless masterpiece of hockey with a backhand shot that streaked by goalie Terry Sawchuk. The goal gave Canadiens the hard-earned victory and cut Detroit's margin to 3-2.

Coach Tommy Ivan said yesterday he will send back his same NHL-titlists into tonight's game, with a minor variation. Gilles Dube, signed to a pro contract by Canadiens five years ago and now Detroit property, has been recalled from Sherbooke of the Quebec Hockey League. Dube may be called on for power plays, taking the place of rookie Earl (Dutch) Reibel who was injured in the fourth game here Saturday. The last word from Irvin was that he will go with his same lineup. That would indicate Gaye Stewart, an experienced NHL player recalled from Buffalo, who turned in a useful game Sunday.

Rod & Gun Club To Start Work On New Clubhouse

Prince Rupert Rod and Gun club will start work this weekend clearing the site for a trap-shoot club house at the newly-acquired Lake Oliver grounds. The area across Highway 16 from Lake Oliver has recently been obtained by the local sportsmen as has the lake itself which also will be developed as a fly-casting pond and place where youngsters can catch fish under the legal limit.

Last week-end members of the club took part in a successful crowd shoot with Tommy Boulter Jr. and Don Dominato knocking down 8 birds while Frank Parlett and Terry McNeice shot down four. Tommy Boulter Sr., and J. Gallant failed to kill a single crow.

Following the shoot a trap shooting competition was staged with Frank Allingham scoring top points and Jack Eby coming second.

The club has decided to send two trap-shooting teams to Terrace over the Easter week-end.

Walls Gains Revenge With First Round KO

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Earl Walls, Canada's heavy-weight boxing champion, says he "hates fighting." But the 6,350 persons who saw him perform Monday night probably are wondering what would happen if he suddenly "liked" the game.

The 25-year-old Toronto Negro unleashed the most vicious two-fisted attack seen here in years when he knocked out Tommy Harrison of Los Angeles, Calif., at 2:36 of the first round of a scheduled 10-rounder. It was his 26th knockout in 35 professional fights and his 16th first-round KO.

Walls weighed 194 $\frac{1}{2}$ and Harrison 183 $\frac{1}{2}$. The temple. That started the slaughter.

He found the range with a hard left hook to the jaw and Harrison's knees buckled. He got up at the count of five and was belted from one corner of the ring to the other before he slumped down for keeps. The final knockdown also was on a left hook to the jaw.

"The boy is good," said Dan Florio, well-known New York trainer who was in Walls' corner. But Florio, who has handled Jersey Joe Walcott, Paddy Young, Joey Micelli and others in a career of about 30 years, refused to go out on a limb concerning Walls' prospects in the heavy ranks.

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Usually Best to Return Partner's Suit

When your partner makes his opening lead, he probably has something in mind. His plan for the defeat of the contract may not be apparent to you immediately. But unless you have a much better plan of your own, it is usually best to go along with partner and return his suit when you gain the lead.

Mr. Champion's opening lead of the king of clubs in today's deal was based on more than a simple desire to win tricks in the club suit. With four trumps in his hand, he saw a chance to force Mrs. Keen to ruff clubs until she had fewer trumps than he had. If this plan worked as hoped, the hand might fall apart entirely.

MRS. KEEN OPTIMISTIC

Mrs. Keen ruffed the second club lead and felt optimistic about her chances. If hearts broke 3-2, she could pick them up in three leads, then finesse diamonds. Even if the king of diamonds were wrong, she could win five hearts, three diamonds and two spades for game.

But on the second lead of hearts she got the bad news when Mr. Muzzy showed out, discarding the deuce of spades.

She shifted to the queen of diamonds and let it ride. Mr. Muzzy won the king and, being a great man for winning his tricks as fast as possible, shifted to the queen of spades.

MUZZY MADE BAD MOVE

After all, why lead a club when it was certain that Mrs. Keen could ruff? If Mr. Champion had the ace of spades, Mrs. Keen's king would be trapped.

But Mrs. Keen had the ace of spades and played it. She was now able to pick up the outstanding trumps and spread her hand for the game.

Mr. Muzzy's spade shift was bad. Mrs. Keen, a sound bidder, probably had both ace and king of spades for her aggressive game try of three hearts opposite a weak-sounding partner. Or, to reason it another way, if Mr. Champion had held the ace of spades in addition to his fine club suit, he probably would have entered the bidding.

U.S. Appeals For Release Of 32 Citizens

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States appeal Monday for the immediate release of 32 U.S. citizens, including two newspaper men and several missionaries, held by Communist China.

The appeal was made in the United Nations economic and social council by U.S. delegate Preston Hotchkis, who warned that the U.S. will continue to press the question in the UN and elsewhere.

Hotchkis blasted Communist countries generally for their treatment of Americans, particularly three newspaper men. These were William N. Oatis, former Associated Press bureau chief in Prague, who was imprisoned by Czechoslovak authorities and later released; Donald Dixon, International News Service, and Richard Applegate, National Broadcasting Company. Dixon and Applegate are held by China.

Flyers Down Stamps 5-2 To Square Western Semis

By The Canadian Press

The Western Hockey League semi-final between Calgary Stampers and Edmonton Flyers is a brand new series today.

Flyers shared the best-of-seven series at two games apiece Monday night by winging to a 5-2 victory at home.

All the games so far have been won on home ice. Stampers took the first two in Calgary and Flyers bounced right back with a pair of wins in Edmonton.

The fifth game goes back to Calgary Wednesday and the sixth is slated for Edmonton Saturday.

The winner will take on Vancouver Canucks, who polished off New Westminster Royals in a best-of-nine semi-final, in the finals for the President's Cup and the right to advance against the Quebec senior league champions.

Goalie Glen Hall once again led Flyers to their win. Only Stamps' George Pargeter and Sid Finney were able to beat him.

Steve Hrymniak, Jim Uniac, Enio Schlizzi, Marcel Bonin and Vic Stastuk each turned the trick for Edmonton.

The teams were knotted at 1-1 at the end of the first period, but Flyers grabbed a 4-2 lead in the second and scored the only goal of the third.

Pargeter opened the scoring at 9:48 of the first when he beat Hall with a 20-foot screened shot to the corner. Hrymniak tied it up seven minutes later while each team was a man short.

Uniac sent Flyers into a 2-1 lead early in the second but Finney tied it up mid-way through the frame.

Schlizzi tallied the winner at 16:22 and Bonin provided the clincher three minutes later while the Stamps were short-handed. Stastuk was the third period marksman.

Biggest Group Of Canadians Back From Korea

SEATTLE (CP)—The largest contingent of Canadian troops to return from Korea was homeward bound today after a joyous disembarkation at this West Coast U.S. port.

Close to 1,400 soldiers, most of them from the 3rd battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, arrived on the United States troopship Marine Lynx after a 16-day Pacific crossing that was delayed by storms in mid-ocean.

The men have served a year in the Far East and are returning on regular rotation. Most of them will receive a 60-day leave on arrival at their homes.

Red Cross workers and port authorities here described the troops as "one of the happiest bunch of men we've ever seen."

The soldiers will arrive in Calgary tonight, Winnipeg Wednesday evening, Toronto and Ottawa Friday morning. Trains bound for the Maritimes will reach Montreal Friday and Halifax Saturday.

Brig. W. J. McGill, commander British Columbia area, greeted the troops as they were led down the gangplank by the 3rd battalion commanding officer, Lt.-Col. K. L. Campbell, 43, of Toronto and Ottawa.

Parker, Stewart Win Top Prizes In Legion 'Spiel

The Ted Parker and Bill Stewart rinks won the top prizes in the Canadian Legion bonspiel held over the weekend. Event A was won by the Parker squad which consisted of Bird, Abbott and Rice. The Stewart rink of Anderson, Andrews and Williams captured Event B.

The Lewis rink won the prize for getting the biggest end after tying with the Webster quartet. The Lew Bone rink collected a prize for taking the worst beating.

At the banquet that followed curling club president Jack Laurie welcomed the guests and Mrs. Al McBroom replied. The bonspiel was in charge of a committee under Darrow Gomez.

Lost Plane Seen By Missionary

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—A flying missionary sighted three missing men and their ice-grounded plane on the frozen Arctic ocean and radioed the word that led to their rescue by another airman, it was learned Saturday.

The missing air force Beaver plane with three men aboard was located by the Rev. William Wartes, Presbyterian missionary at Barrow, who files his own plane out of Alaska's northernmost community, 1,100 miles from the north pole.

The plane had been missing since Friday on a flight from Barrow to Uniat, in the naval oil reserve.

After the flying missionary sighted them, pilot George Thiele of Wien Alaska Airlines landed, picked them up and flew them to Barrow.

Flying Resumed After Big Fire

PENHOLD, Alta. (CP)—Normal flying operations at the RCAF's NATO flying training school here resumed today in the wake of a $1,000,000 flash-fire which wiped out a hangar, 10 aircraft and maintenance shops Saturday. There was no loss of life.

The hangar, built in 1942 at a cost of about $70,000, was described by an RCAF spokesman as the nerve-centre of the 1,000-man flying school, located 100 miles south of Edmonton.

Duke Not Sailing Yacht in Canada

LONDON (AP)—Contrary to published reports in Britain, the Duke of Edinburgh will not sail his racing yacht Bluebottle during his visit to Canada this summer.

This was disclosed today by the Bluebottle's sailing master, 31-year-old Lt.-Cmdr. Richard Hewitt. He said that under present arrangements the Bluebottle, which is to race in Montreal and Toronto, will be back in Britain before the duke arrives in Canada in July.

The Dragn-class yacht, wedding present from the Duke Sailing Club of Cowes, is shipped to Canada aboard the liner Empress Scotland.

"We are in Montreal and will spend the first few days sorting things out, training the crew," said Hewitt. "Serious racing starts in Montreal June 12."
