Teams of Return to Power China Buoy Nationalists

(Editor's Note: Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer with Canadian forces in Korea, recently spent a week in Formosa interviewing Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and other Nationalist leaders. This story, one of a series, tells Nationalist hopes for return to the Communist-bossed mainland.)

TAIPEH, Formosa (CP)—"This island off the coast is buoyed by one hope: 'The Chinese Nationalist government is going back to the mainland—soon.'"

The Nationalists long for day to do the Formosans. They want to run their own island and shed the burden of the single-handed the Chinese army.

There are about 7,000,000 Formosans and about 1,000,000 Nationalists, including the Nationalist army and the families and those with them when the mainland was evacuated less than two years ago.

Difficulty is that word is the Formosans think of the Nationalist government, although tending to be more realistic, does nothing to dissuade the idea.

A week of meetings with military and economic advisers from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek down convinced the Nationalist government that the only strong Communist military bastion on the mainland is the East.

Even the most prejudiced observer, after a careful study of the present Chiang regime, must concede that in Formosa it is doing a reasonably good job.

Its leaders say the withdrawal to Taiwan has been a good thing. In two years they have made steps that even with the right intent could have taken another generation on the mainland.

Even the most prejudiced observer, after a careful study of the present Chiang regime, must concede that in Formosa it is doing a reasonably good job.

Purchase of Liquor Store Reaffirmed

City council last night reaffirmed its decision to purchase the former liquor store building at the corner of Third Avenue and Second Street for use as a new telephone exchange.

Mayor Whalen and Ald. Michael Krueger again dissented from the majority council decision.

Mayor Whalen, reiterating his opposition, again urged that figures be obtained for a building on a less important downtown business site which he held could be used to better advantage and should be kept on the tax roll. He favored a long range view.

Ald. Daggett, Ald. Casey and others questioned if a new building could be built at anything near the figure for which the liquor store was available by purchase. And where was there a suitable site?

Ald. George Hills again advocated the development of the old Court House property on Second Avenue as a centre for all city establishments including City Hall, Fire Hall, telephone exchange, jail, etc.

Discussion waxed lengthy along previously developed lines as the aldermen debated in the third storey council room as the decrepit old City Hall swayed and creaked in the gale which was raging outside.

The mayor did not miss the opportunity to draw the attention of his aldermanic colleagues to the practical demonstration of the state the old building was in.

After it all, no minds were changed. Ald. Daggett, Ald. Casey and others saw no reason to change their minds and a motion to reaffirm the liquor store deal was passed.

City Rides Out Storm

Torrential Rain and Fifty-Mile-An-Hour Gale—Waterfront Shaken

Powerful gales and rain throughout Tuesday continued last night and persisted into this morning. It was one of the most severe storms felt here in many months.

As far as known up to this forenoon, no serious accidents have been reported and shipping appears to have escaped harm of consequence.

Digby Island meteorological station reported 2.8 inches of rain having fallen between 10 a.m. Tuesday and 4 a.m. today.

Gale conditions, persisting almost continuously from yesterday afternoon to this morning, reached maximum velocity of 50 miles per hour from the south-east.

Around the city some trees and boardings were blown loose. Some roofs suffered damage when loose shingles were lifted. A few windows were broken.

Although all telegraph lines had been down since last evening until this morning due to trees over the line 15 and 22 miles from the city, damage, as a result of the gale, to the city telephone system did not appear to be extensive. A cable in the Borden Street and Summit Avenue area was in trouble with fifteen or twenty lines out on the board at central.

At the fishermen's floats at Fairview Bay some damage was done to dolphins and floats with anchor piles leaning over this morning. However, it appeared that vessels moored there had escaped damage.

During the night boat owners rushed to various floats along the waterfront to see that their vessels were firmly secured and remained that way.

Jack McRae Renominated Candidate for Liberals

Receives Unanimous Call for Re-election—Outlines Accomplishments for This Area

Liberal coalitionist member of last Legislature, John D. (Jack) McRae Tuesday night received the unanimous nomination as Liberal candidate for Prince Rupert in the forthcoming provincial election. His name was the only one placed before the party convention at Civic Centre.

(Ald. George Hills, CCF, is the only other candidate definitely in the field although the Progressive Conservatives are expected to nominate tomorrow night. Mayor Harold Whalen has said he may be a candidate.)

Mr. McRae's name was put before the convention by T. Norton Youngs who eulogized him and his accomplishments for the riding during the past three years. Walter Smith seconded.

Mr. McRae expressed appreciation of the confidence that had been reposed in him and promised his best efforts, if re-elected, to promote, as he had done in the past, the best interests of the riding.

LIBERALS HELP NORTH
Earlier in the meeting and before his nomination, Mr. McRae gave a brief account of his stewardship. He discussed a recent charge that the Liberals had neglected the north. He repudiated such a charge, which he found difficult to understand, and pointed to accomplishments that had been achieved by Liberal members of the coalition for this part of the province. A Liberal, Hon. E. T. Kenney, had been given credit for Columbia Cellulose coming to this area with its pulp mill as well as being largely instrumental in the advent of the great Alcan project.

Mr. McRae also mentioned the $155,000 power development of the B.C. Power Commission on the Queen Charlotte Islands. He also claimed some credit for having himself convinced Premier Johnson of the urgent necessity of housing here as a result of which Mr. Johnson was given full support to steps to (Continued on Page 3)

RENOMINATED—Expressing appreciation of the service he had given the riding and the effective manner in which he had conducted himself after his first Legislature service, Prince Rupert provincial Liberal last night unanimously renominated J. D. McRae as their candidate in the forthcoming provincial election. No other name was suggested. Member of a well known pioneer business family, Mr. McRae has lived all his life in Prince Rupert. He was educated in city schools and at the University of British Columbia after which he actively joined the firm of McRae Bros., which he now heads. During the war he served six years as an officer in the Navy in various parts of the world and is now officer commanding HMCS Chatham, reserve division here, with the rank of lieutenant-commander. He is an active member of the Chamber of Commerce, Masonic Order, Rotary Club and Presbyterian Church. Activities as MLA from 1949 to the recent dissolution included membership of the special inquiry board on the Industrial Conciliation Act revision.

B.C. Power Commission engineers arrived at Queen Charlotte City this week to make preparations for the installation of an electric light and power system in the Skidegate Inlet area.

Power will be generated by a diesel plant at Queen Charlotte and distributed over a seven-mile transmission line through Skidegate village to Skidegate Mission.

Construction crew will arrive April 23 at Queen Charlotte.

Herbert Welch Goes Liberal
VICTORIA (CP)—Herbert J. Welch, one of three straight coalitionists in the recently dissolved provincial legislature, announced Tuesday night that he will stand for re-election under the Liberal banner.

Mr. Welch, MLA for Comox since 1945, said he had been approached by both Liberals and Progressive Conservatives after the break-up of coalition in January, but had decided in favor of the Liberals.

His name will come before a Liberal nominating meeting on Monday.

The Comox Progressive Conservative group will choose its candidate Tuesday at a meeting in Courtenay. The only contender so far for the Tory nomination is Major Charles Coull of Denman Island.

The increase mould bring basic laborers' rates to $1.78 an hour. The Union also wants union shop employer-paid health plan, nine paid statutory holidays and other concessions.

Word to this effect was received last night from D. B. Mansur, president of the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at Ottawa.

A message to similar effect has been received by Walter Smith, president of the Prince Rupert Liberal Association, from the office of the minister of reconstruction and supply in Ottawa.

Guests at the weekly luncheon of the Prince Rupert Gyo Club today were A. R. Byrnell of Vancouver and D. R. Barclay of Prince Rupert. Vice-President A. W. Large was in the chair in the absence of President Marc Goftmely.

Enters 17-Year Defence Pact With Former Enemies

LONDON (CP)—Britain agreed Wednesday to enter into a 17-year mutual defence accord with West Germany and Italy. Through the mechanism of the European Defence Community, Britain promised to rush aid to those former enemies if they are attacked.

West Germany and Italy agreed in return to fight if Britain is attacked.

Britain reached agreement on the subject with six European Defence Community partners—France, Belgium, Netherlands, Luxembourg, Germany, Italy.

While Britain will remain outside of EDC, she bound herself to participate in automatic mutual defence arrangements.

Western diplomats hope Britain's action will speed final organization of EDC under which sponsors hope to build one uniform European army, including 400,000 West German troops.

Ecstall Mine Opening Again

Under a new name—Sulgas Properties—the former Northern Pyrites sulphur property on the Ecstall River 32 miles above Port Essington and 58 miles from Prince Rupert, is being opened up again this year. Extensive work, including diamond drilling, is to be instituted, apparently with a view to early production.

Eight men were leaving today for the property to get the camp in readiness and next week a scowload of equipment will be moved in. The men are in charge of Jack Hanna who arrived in the city by air Monday.

A Boye Bros. diamond drilling crew will be arriving soon. E. E. Mason, superintendent in charge, will arrive early in May. Sulgas—as was Northern Pyrites—is a subsidiary of the Texas Gulf Sulphur Corporation.

The property is said to be the richest in the province for pure sulphur content and could, it has long been suggested, be operated in connection with supplying coast pulp mills with sulphur.

British Woman In Double Luck

LONDON (CP)—Mrs. Lillian Guest, 50, housewife who won £75,000 last week in a soccer pool, hit the jackpot again in a week's contest.

The amount in Tuesday's prize is not announced but Mrs. Guest thinks it will be close to £75,000.

Mr. Guest attributes her success to "nine-tenths system and one-tenth to Mrs. Guest's intuition."

No Salmon To Britain

British Columbia Losing Important Markets

VANCOUVER (CP)—Great Britain will buy no canned salmon from British Columbia this year. It was confirmed Tuesday by a spokesman for the canneries here.

In 1951 Britain bought 6,700,000 worth of B.C. salmon but, because of sterling difficulties, the contract will not be renewed.

Australia, New Zealand and South Africa discontinued the salmon orders some time ago and other foreign buyers decreased purchases.

"We may be able to sell more to the United States," a spokesman said, "but it is too early to say. It is a matter of tariffs."

Representatives of canners now are discussing the situation with United States authorities.

The Fisheries Association of B.C. plans to continue its campaign for domestic consumption.

Last year it spent $300,000 on an advertising campaign.

"But a $6,000,000 contract could scarcely be compensated for by domestic consumption," the spokesman said.

South Africa Misunderstood

CAPE TOWN.—Most persons who criticize South Africa's racial policy do not know what they are talking about, said Dr. Ernest Jansen, the governor-general, speaking at a tercentenary function celebrating the arrival of the first white settlers.

He contended that what is being said today is generally uncalled for, prejudiced and sometimes malicious. Many fail utterly to realize that an important strategic asset this country is to the western world.

"I have no doubt," Jansen declared, "that a great deal of propaganda overseas is intended to prevent the continued existence of this land; as a nation, thereby dealing a blow against the influence of the west." Critics could leave it up to South Africans—both those of English and Dutch descent—to find solutions to the country's many problems.

Moscow Conference

MUCH publicized conference at Moscow notwithstanding, there is, in fact, nothing in the world to prevent the Soviet government, if it so wishes, from placing all the orders it likes for British cotton and woollen goods tomorrow. But it does not do so. There is nothing in the world to prevent the Chinese government from doing so. But it prefers to make it impossible for British trading firms to do trade in China.

The Russian conference, propagandists shout, can sell Britain much-needed timber. But when a few years ago Britain sent a cabinet minister to Moscow to do a deal, he was told there was no timber available unless Britain could first provide cutting machinery and the light railways for transport from forests to ports.

Czechoslovakia, before the Communist coup, did a big trade with the west. It has, under Russian pressure, been cut to a minimum—to the great disadvantage of the Czechs.

There are today—and it is a great pity—many barriers to trade between the "Soviet world" and the outer world. But by far the greater part of these barriers has been erected by the Soviet government and its satellites. If they are genuinely anxious to restore such trade, they could do so. If the Moscow conference had been genuinely anxious to restore such trade, it should have addressed itself officially to the western governments.

The Liquor Ballot

M. R. WISMER says the wording of the liquor plebiscite ballot may not be announced for some time, says Victoria Times. From this it is to be hoped that the government will give the ballot adequate consideration and present the electors with a full opportunity to say precisely what liquor system they desire.

They cannot make a clear answer if they are confronted with two extreme alternatives, if the ballot merely asks them whether they prefer the existing system or a system of wide-open bars.

These are by no means the only available alternatives. The people should have the right to say whether they favor a compromise by which beer and perhaps wines should be sold with meals in licensed premises while spirituous liquors are still confined to government stores.

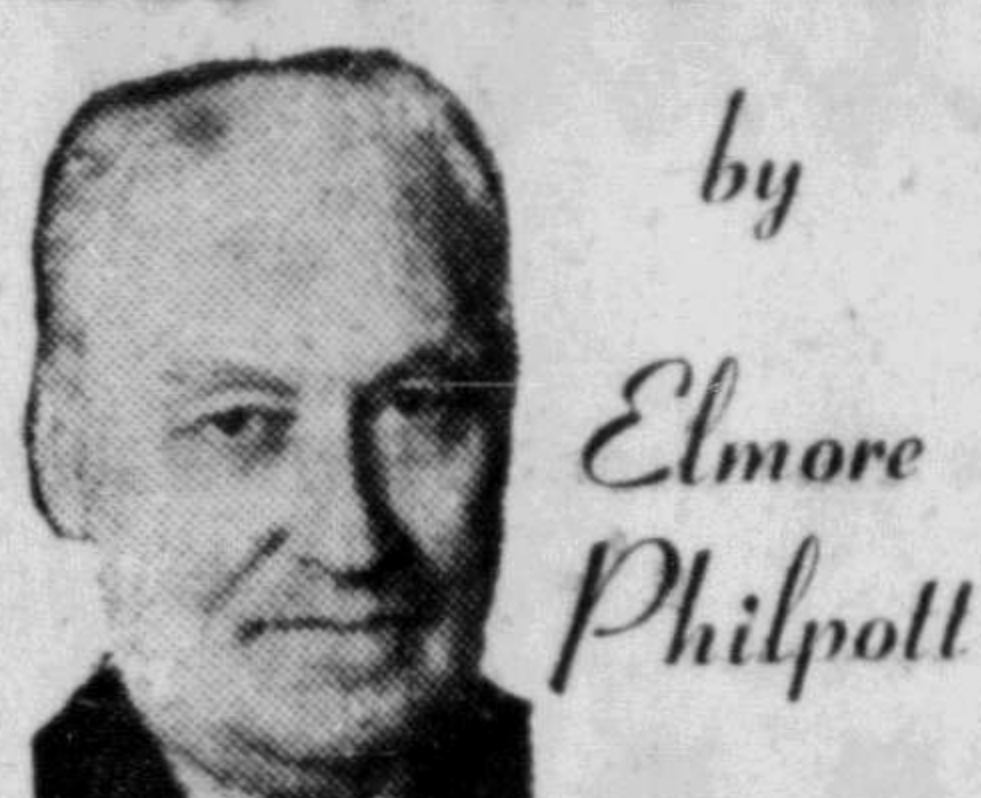

Three questions could properly be asked on the ballot under the preferential voting system which will be applied to candidates for the Legislature. The first option would be the open bar, on the Ontario model; the second the sale of beer and wine with meals; the third the continuation of the existing law.

The beneficiaries of the existing law naturally will wish to see the ballot framed in extreme terms, without any possibility of compromise.

Neither the plebiscite nor any other experiment in human history offers a solution of the age-old problem of drink. The objective of a necessarily imperfect liquor policy should be to discourage the sale of intoxicants which is now excessive and is doing great damage, economic and human. The real question which the thoughtful voter has to consider is which system is most likely to promote temperance.

The huge and rising sale of liquor in British Columbia today does not suggest that the present system is promoting temperance. It is for the voters to decide whether any other system would do better. They should have the chance of voicing a free opinion. They should not be given a loaded ballot.

As I See It

Flight From U.S. $?

IT TAKES me back to the "good old days" of 1927 and 1928 to see and hear that everybody and his brother is trying to get rich quick by betting on the stock market.

Back in the days of '27 you could not go into Childs restaurant in Montreal without over-hearing $15 to $20 per week stenographers and clerks talking about their amazing winnings. It was wonderful while the balloon was going up, but quite a nasty bump when the inevitable happened.

Come to think of it, my deep aversion to bridge parties dates from 1928 in Toronto when the whole conversation was always whether International Punk was going to hit 200 or only 180. Some of those talkers were the wives of the harassed husbands who tossed themselves out of brokers' windows next year when their paper profits hit the pavement with a sudden thud.

THE THING I don't like about the present picture is that the "hot money" is now pouring into Canada from U.S.A.

I am old enough to remember when the smart big money boys began to rush their money out to another in Europe. Collapse of Austria, and one country followed in one country after another—though you could only find the facts recorded in small print on the financial pages of our papers, and never on the front pages or editorial sections.

That smart money then all ended up in Britain or the U.S.A. for safe keeping.

Then, about three years ago, the smart money boys also shuffled their money from Britain to the U.S.A. by complicated transactions through South African stock markets and other disguised stepping stones.

IT LOOKS now as if what is really on is a flight from the U.S. dollar. The smart money operators figure that their money is safer in Canada than it is in U.S.A. and so are transferring huge chunks of it up here.

The first effect of that will be to create a temporary boom in parts of Canada. But the final effect of the process may be as dangerous to Canada as it has been to other countries.

For what comes in like a tidal wave can also be taken out the same way. And if it taken out under certain circumstances it can leave behind it the same kind of distress which Britain suffers from right now.

Slide Threatens English Town

JACKFIELD, England (Reuters)—A slow but relentless landslide is threatening to drag this picturesque Shropshire village of 700 people into the nearby River Severn.

Stores and houses are cracked and leaning at all angles, the main highway has cracked down the middle and the gas-pipe-line has burst.

Abandoned clay mines under the village, which have filled with water, are causing the landslide.

A civic official said the landslide is slowly getting worse.

We are patching up houses as they crack but do not know where it is all going to end," he said.

Reflects and Reminisces

If there is to be a Canadian Bill of Rights it should include those of the pedestrians at street crossings — particularly at Second Avenue and Second Street.

SOME YEARS BACK

It makes a fellow feel old to mention the loss of the liner Titanic, 40 years ago yesterday, and hear somebody at your elbow murmur: "It was sure terrible. Happened before I was born."

Bakers say cream puffs aren't what they used to be. What is?

ALL ONE HOUSEHOLD

Brazil and South Africa are not dissimilar in scope, but in other ways contrasts are many and marked. Just now, the latter country is full of strife over the color question. It's been going on for years. But there is no such problem in Brazil, where the three basic races—Indians, Portuguese and Negroes—freely intermarry. Everybody alike is a Brazilian and all have a high national pride.

This is going to be the kind of a provincial election John Oliver would enjoy being mixed up in. For that matter, no election was ever dull if old white-bearded, quick-witted John was within hearing.

The United States election is full of major and minor problems, rather vague and perplexing to the average Canadian who does not make a careful study of American politics, but speaking generally we'll say it's much easier to write "Taft" than "Eisenhower."

NOT THEIR BUSINESS

A report from Ontario says 932 wives in that province are receiving mothers' allowances from the government because they have been deserted. Taxpayers can recite quite a list of obligations that should be cheerfully paid—but this loading on others' shoulders a duty that surely belongs elsewhere, is something else again.

THE LETTERBOX

WHY NO INTEREST?

Editor,

In answer to Mayor Whalen's appeal a few days ago for more public interest in civic affairs, I feel that I should, through the medium of your paper, explain in part some of the reasons for this lack of interest.

First, it appears to me that he and the city council (not his city council) are straying away more and more from the fundamental problems that face this city's citizens. For instance, housing.

Now I know that they have been talking about a housing project for this city for some time and I do know also that this is about to become a reality, in part at least. We are going to get housing to some extent but is it going to be for the best interests of all of us or just a lucky few? Is the investment by the city of thousands of dollars for a few homes renting at $75 a good investment? Does the city actually think that they are going to be able to rent these houses long enough to realize the return of their investment in full?

Let us take into consideration the following facts before proceeding further:

First, the people of this city are already sick and tired of paying ridiculously high rents for shacks, run-down apartment houses with inadequate plumbing facilities and little, if any, fire protection or fire prevention equipment.

Secondly, the complete lack of any form of rent control or fair basis for computing rental charges is disheartening and maddening to the average householder. Does the city think for one minute that they can successfully put over a housing project that will not tend to lower the already too high rents in this city?

Must rents in Rupert spiral to the point where people are forced to bring their children up in trailer camps or outside the city limits in one and two room shacks without benefit of plumbing, electricity or half decent transportation facilities? Even without the benefit of the latter comforts, trailer camps would be more desirable than some of the accommodation that is already provided within the city's limits.

The first of many things that should be taken into consideration before such a housing plan is adopted by the council is that, by building these units, the people as a whole shall benefit by them. If these units cannot help to force the existing rent scale down then they are of no benefit to the people but only to the contractor who builds them. He gets his money just the same.

Other cities are building homes for their people at less rents than you describe for us in Rupert. Why can't we do the same? Is it because of the lack of proper leadership on the part of the council and the mayor? Or is it because that everything else in Rupert is high in price so must our accommodation be too?

Now we all know the old story of freight rates being high and, consequently, building materials are high too. But do we in this district have to import lumber to build our homes when we can get it as near as Terrace for $50 a thousand rough? Another six or seven dollars will get it planed. Must we pay $90 and $100 for it here? And to rent a box car only costs $85 (you can get a lot of lumber in a box car).

Is it any wonder that the people here have little or any interest in civic affairs when our own mayor and council cannot provide at reasonable cost the first requirements of living for their citizens?

There are, I am sure, plenty of people in this town who have ideas and suggestions that could be put to good use if the city wanted to utilize the services of the average person. Could not a committee be formed of citizens who would willingly give their spare time in investigating all the angles towards cheaper housing?

City Seeking More Power

Northern B.C. Power Co.
Being Asked to Live Up
To Terms of Agreement

At the instigation of Ald. H. M. Daggett, the city council last night decided to request the Northern B.C. Power Co. to take the necessary steps to provide such additional power as is required to meet with the growing requirements of the city together with a reasonable surplus. Ald. George Hills was seconder of the resolution.

Ald. Daggett based his resolution on a recent statement of the Northern B.C. Power Co. that additional power would be required and that the company was contemplating installing extra diesel units to meet the need. (The company has been asking the city to assure it of full reimbursement for such additional installation in the event of there being a change of the franchise after expiry of the present agreement with the Power Company in 1954.)

In a general discussion of the power situation which followed, Ald. Hills reminded the council that T. B. Black, former alderman and general manager of the Northern B.C. Power Co., had accused Ald. Daggett of playing politics in connection with the move to invite the B.C. Power Commission to become interested in supplying power to Prince Rupert on expiry of the Northern B.C. Power Co. franchise. He suggested that Mr. Black was now moving in a political direction himself in having taken before the Liberal executive the question of guaranteeing the company in the event of additional diesel power installation being made.

Ald. Casey did not think that installation of diesel generated power here would be much of an encouragement to new industries coming in. He felt there should be hydro development as provided for under the original agreement.

Ald. Daggett read from the original agreement with the power company which required the company to supply at all times the energy required by the city together with reasonable surplus up to 100,000 h.p. Under the agreement, he held the company was bound to provide the power needed between now and the termination of the franchise.

The council also agreed that the Northern B.C. Power Co. should be invited to submit to the city council any plans it might have for further hydro-electric development here and when it might be expected to be available.

More Local Boys Going to Bisco

Having been apprehended after a series of seven local breakings and enterings, two youths of juvenile age were sent today to the boys' industrial school at Coquitlam for periods of two years. A third boy has been given one year's suspended sentence. The youths were dealt with by Magistrate W. D. Vance sitting as a judge of juvenile court.

Alistair Fraser, local barrister, will be the speaker at the weekly luncheon of Prince Rupert Rotary Club tomorrow.

relieve the situation such as the 50-unit house project.

Turning to highways, Mr. McRae stated that $700,000 had been spent on road reconstruction from the city limits to Galloway Rapids and $50,000 between Galloway Rapids and Port Edward.

There had been a maintenance vote of $80,000 for roads last year in addition to an extra appropriation of $10,000 for the Queen Charlotte Islands.

Mr. McRae listed other public works expenditures: $20,000 for public works in Masset area including the road to the seaplane base; $4000 for Hunt's Inlet, and $4000 for Port Simpson.

During the past winter, road between Prince Rupert and Terrace had been closed for only one month on account of snow. The road had never been closed between the Civic Centre and Port Edward and there had been no interruption in bus service although the city's road to Seal Cove had been closed for a few days to bus traffic.

Within a day or so putting down of crushed rock on the highway west of Terrace would be commenced. Within a month a rock crusher would be established at Kwinitsa and by mid-summer new crushed rock would have been laid on the entire road.

Meantime surveys were to be made of the 27 miles in the Skeena Valley where highway skirts railway and within three weeks estimates of cost of re-routing would be out.

In 1945-46 fiscal year, Mr. McRae pointed out, $29,000 had been spent in maintenance and $28,000 in capital for the road between Prince Rupert and Terrace. In 1950-51 fiscal year, these totals had jumped to $119,000 and $470,000 respectively. A total of $1,700,000 had been spent in six years on 179.3 miles of road.

Mr. McRae asked the meeting to concur with the majority finding of a legislative inquiry board on the Industrial Conciliation Act, the concurrence being gratified.

G. P. Lyons, Douglas Frizzell, Walter Smith and T. Norton Youngs were delegated a committee to find premises for election campaign headquarters.

Officers of the association for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

President—T. Norton Youngs.
Vice-President—Robert McKay.
Secretary—G. P. Lyons.
Executive—Jack Judge, Douglas Frizzell, George Mitchell, John Rosedale, William Bacon, Hugo Kraupner, Mrs. W. D. Smith and J. A. McRae.

Named as delegates to a provincial Liberal convention in Vancouver April 23 were T. Norton Youngs, G. P. Lyons, G. C. Mitchell, Jack Judge, Hugo Kraupner, W. S. Bacon and Mrs. W. D. Smith. Also attending the convention from here will be Douglas Frizzell, as federal representative, and J. D. McRae.

No action was taken on a resolution from the Peace River in regard to protecting the interests of farmers during prospecting for oil in the Peace River.

Outside delegates to the convention were W. J. Davies and G. H. Joliffe of Queen Charlotte City.

CITY COUNCIL

Gave readings to bylaw to the Garbage Bylaw whereby a special charge of 50c per load will be imposed on all garbage moved to the city dump. Inquiry was made as to how the collection would be made, the mayor replying that it would be on the "honor system." His Worship informed the council that Hyde Transfer moved Miller Bay Hospital garbage to the dump and Whalen Cartage moved Nelson Bros. garbage.

Filed solicitations from Vancouver Province and Vancouver Sun to sell advertising space in special industrial editions being prepared by those two papers. The Province asked $800 a page and the Sun $862.40. Ald. George Hills felt that any such funds available had better be reserved in case the local press might be making efforts along these lines as it frequently did.

Authorized the sending of City Clerk R. W. Long to a conference of the Municipal Officers' Association to be held in Victoria June 19 and 20. A letter from Hon. A. D. Turnbull, minister of municipal affairs, advised the council of the conference. In proposing the sending of the city clerk, Ald. Casey referred to how ably Ald. Daggett reported he had acquitted himself at a recent conference with the government at Victoria.

Decided that board of school trustees was more competent to deal with a resolution from the Okanagan Valley Municipal Association questioning the value of a High School diploma and urging that the Department of Education reorganize the present curriculum along more realistic lines and including basic subjects. The resolution originated in Vernon.

Supported a resolution emanating from Summerland in the Okanagan Valley asking the provincial government for a thorough meat inspection service. While aldermen felt that there was no complaint as far as Prince Rupert was concerned, meat here being properly inspected, it agreed that there might be other places where inferior meat, reached market because of lack of inspection and, therefore, the Summerland request was supported.

Heard complaint from Robert Shrubbs as to a hole that had been dug in Summit Avenue and which interfered with traffic there. The city engineer advised council that the hole had been dug in order to get at a defective culvert, and would be filled as soon as necessary paper arrived. Mr. Shrubbs' letter said Summit Avenue had been "in a mess" ever since the Americans had left. He felt that the citizens there were entitled to better consideration.

Called a special meeting for Friday night to hear an appeal of Cliff Abercrombie for reinstatement of chauffeur's licence which had been cancelled by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police following a conviction under the Government Liquor Act. Any other similar appeals which may be coming up will be considered at the same time. M. Willa Ray presented Abercrombie's appeal.

Received and referred to city clerk for tabulation and to the board of works, petition from sixteen residents of Eleventh Avenue and Sherbrooke Street between Brett and Albert Streets asking for a sanitary sewer. Superintendent of Works Don Stewart stated that it might be an expensive line to install due to the nature of the terrain.

Last English Feudal System Bows to State

By MICHAEL NEWMARCH

LAXTON, England (AP)—The last corner of feudal Britain is heading for nationalization. The lord of the manor of Laxton, 71-year-old Earl Manvers, is selling out to the state which presented this piece of rolling English countryside to its first feudal overlord nearly 900 years ago.

Laxton, a prosperous-looking, brick-built Nottinghamshire village of some 300 inhabitants, is the only place in England where the open field system of farming still goes on.

Each farmer's land is divided into small strips scattered over huge unfenced fields. That was the farming method when the Normans came in 1066. William the Conqueror claimed all the land for himself, and distributed the villages with their open fields to feudal overlords—who thus became the lords of the manors.

That setup died out nearly everywhere in England hundreds of years ago, but for reasons no one has been able to discover, many of the changes passed Laxton. The villagers still are dealing with a lord of the manor—as they've been dealing ever since they got their first Norman overlord, Geoffrey Alsclun, in 1086.

GROW SIMPLE CROPS

They still are growing the same simple crops by rotation in the 300-acre fields surrounding the village—just as they have been doing for hundreds of years.

Some 25 farmers rent strips of land from Earl Manvers in the big fields. The strips vary in size, averaging about three acres. Each man's strips are scattered so that he has some good land and some of the poor. Everyone grows the same crops—autumn wheat in one field, pulse in the second. The remaining field is left fallow, so that each big field gets a rest every three years.

The Dovecote, the village pub, is the scene of the annual court leet, a mediaeval survival. The court leet, out of which trial by jury in the English-speaking world developed, has the job of seeing that the open fields are farmed properly.

The 13-man jury is summoned from among the villagers by the bailiff, 63-year-old Elmer John Rose.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

Players Stumbles Into Winning Squeeze

Some squeezes are almost automatic as witness this hand which Mr. Muzzy played at a grand slam in spades.

When Mr. Muzzy heard his partner's jump raise he took another look at his terrific hand and decided he probably had about 16 winners. After checking to find his partner had the missing ace, he had no hesitancy in bidding seven.

Mr. Abel opened the jack of clubs and Mr. Muzzy's face fell when he saw the dummy. Obviously he had only 12 sure winners. Shaking his head sadly, he won the first trick with the queen of clubs and laid down two top trumps to make sure they were all out.

Next he cashed his two remaining top clubs. At this point he thought of throwing the hand in for down one. Luckily he discarded that idea and ran the rest of his spades. On the last two spades he had to make two discards from dummy.

His hand went waveringly toward the 10 of hearts and Miss Brash closed her eyes as if she couldn't bear to watch. She realized the 10 of hearts might be an important squeeze card.

When she looked again, Mr. Muzzy had elected to throw two diamonds from the board. Not because he knew those were the right plays, but only because they were the lowest cards in dummy.

Mr. Champion's blood pressure had been rising all through the play. He realized, if Mr.

Muzzy didn't, that a squeeze was almost bound to develop. On the lead of the last spade, Mr. Champion had to get down to four cards. It was clear that three of these had to be hearts or else dummy's ten of hearts would be a winner.

The only hope was that Mr. Abel had the guarded jack of diamonds, so Mr. Champion threw the queen of that suit. Mr. Muzzy then played the ace of diamonds, dropping the king. His jack of diamonds and the balance of the tricks.

"Your luck is revolting," said Mr. Champion disgustedly. "What do you mean, luck?" answered Mr. Muzzy angrily. "I knew I had you in an end-play all the time."

Red Wings Make History in Winning Stanley Cup Series

DETROIT.—Detroit Red Wings made hockey history last night in winning the Stanley Cup by defeating Montreal Canadiens in four straight games.

It was the first time the Stanley Cup had been won in eight straight play-off games. They had won four straight in the semi-finals from Toronto Maple Leafs which qualified them to meet the Canadiens in the final.

The heroic Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk equalled the record of four play-off shut-out victories. It was the second Stanley Cup for Detroit in three years. It is their fifth Stanley Cup win and their fifth National Hockey League championship.

Metro Prystai was hero of the game, scoring two goals and assisting Glen Skov with the third.

Dodgers and Indians Win

Pre-season Favorites Get Off To Good Big League Start

NEW YORK.—Brooklyn and Cleveland, pre-season pennant favorites, got off to a winning start on Tuesday as the 1952 baseball season got under way.

Cold, blustery rains prevented the defending champions, New York Giants and Yankees, from playing but all other teams managed to get in their first games despite chilly, dismal weather.

The opening day proved a jinx to home clubs as all five hosts went down to defeat.

The Dodgers began their bid for the National League flag by shading the Braves in Boston 3-2. The Indians also moved in the right direction in quest of the American League title, beating the White Sox in Chicago by the same 3-2 score.

Boston's Red Sox proved ungracious guests, shutting out the Senators 3-0 in Washington before President Truman and 25,869 less distinguished patrons. Rogers Hornsby's revamped St. Louis Browns embarrassed home town Detroit Tigers before Queen Juliana of the Netherlands and 43,112 cash customers, blanketing the Bengals also by 3-0 count.

Chicago's Cubs had to wait ten innings but got the deciding run on Gene Hermanski's pinch hit single to eke out a 6-5 victory over the Reds in Cincinnati before 25,517 blanketed and over-coated fans.

Morris Summit Inspected—New Ore on Stewart Canal
Don McLean, mining engineer, formerly with the Morris Summit mine, arrived here during the week. Accompanied by John Lehto, he paid a visit to the Morris Summit property checking equipment and supplies for the company. It was a tough trip, he reported, but he had little to say about the future operation of the Morris Summit mine. Mr. McLean is located at Kaslo.

A full face of ore is reported on the Stewart Canal property and John Haahti is well satisfied with the results to date but has given out no information as to values. Don McLean visited the property and was impressed with the showing.

Dr. Donald MacKay left this week to take up a position with the CPR at Lake Louise. He was accompanied by Mrs. MacKay.

Louis Robichaud celebrated his seventy-seventh birthday on Good Friday and is still going strong.

being developed. The building of the oil and natural gas pipelines from Alberta to B.C. is a fine thing, which is bound to benefit all concerned. We are due for great expansion. Likewise with the vast developments on the Columbia and in northern B.C. Considered individually all these things will help the localities concerned.

But considered as a whole, you do not see quite so bright a picture for Canada. For what is actually happening is that the ownership of Canada is passing from the governments of Canada, or small holders in Canada, to Big Business in U.S.A.

Canada is being annexed, not by military invasion of the type of the War of 1812, but bit-by-bit by big money transactions on the international exchanges.

WHAT is wrong with Canadians that we cannot or will not develop our own natural resources, for our own benefit, and not for the benefit of outsiders, however friendly those outsiders are?

Zone 51 the resignation of Sam Kirkpatrick, janitor, was accepted and Harry Stewart appointed in his stead.

The christening robe worn by Margo Francis has been in her mother's family for well over one hundred years.

Telkwa Miners Get Increase

TELKWA—The men employed by the Bulkley Valley Collieries, near Telkwa, have been given a raise of $1.40 a day, across the board, bringing miner's wages to $12.90 a day.

When the mine was first opened the wage was $5 a day and coal sold for $5 a ton. Today coal sells for $10 a ton and wages are now practically two and three-fifths what they were, says Frank Dockrill, who is in the city.

Bella Coola Advocated As Third Coast Outlet

Clifford Kopas, who operates a general store at Bella Coola, writes that the need becomes more acute for a third outlet to the Pacific Coast from the B.C. interior and he advocates Bella Coola as such.

At present the whole economy of the province and of Western Canada squeezes through two narrow corridors to the Pacific—Vancouver and Prince Rupert.

In the event of war, all defense and offense efforts would have to push through these two channels.

DEFEATIST'S NIGHTMARE

Because of the topography of the country, both outlets are vulnerable to air attack. If the enemy succeeded in dropping one bomb on each, all communications between coast and interior, except by air, would be cut off.

And with the industries of B.C. rapidly expanding, these two outlets are destined to be congested even in peacetime.

The great obstruction to additional outlets to the coast is the Coast Range, a rugged barrier of rock and ice and bad weather rising 12,000 to 13,000 feet.

Almost without low passes, it is the defeatist's nightmare. Man has pierced this barrier in two places through rocky canyons at a tremendous cost and on an accomplishment-plans that even the extremists of Hollywood cannot exaggerate.

The Fraser Canyon and the Skeena Canyon outlets, despite the tremendous works of man, are both subject to snowslides, rockslides and freshets.

But midway between Vancouver and Prince Rupert, Mother Nature relented and built a natural outlet to the sea far more favorable to human activity than the two now developed.

This is through the Bella Coola Valley and its water extension, Burke Channel. Coming in from the sea, Burke Channel is navigable for 60 miles by ocean-going vessels.

The Bella Coola Valley offers a wide, tremendously scenic trench extending another 50 miles east. When one climbs the 3000 feet necessary to get out of the valley, the Coast Range has been left behind.

It is the oldest known route to the Pacific through the Coast Range. Back in 1793, the first overland explorer to reach the western sea, Alexander Mackenzie, followed Indian trails to reach the ocean at Bella Coola.

FEWER DIFFICULTIES

His passage, a few years ahead of Simon Fraser's down the Fraser River, was not fraught with the terrific difficulties Fraser experienced.

In the 1860's, Lieut. Palmer of the Royal Engineers explored this route and stated there was no objection to building a road with the exception of the Great Slide and the Precipice. A route out of the Bella Coola Valley has now been explored which very successfully by-passes both of these difficulties.

In 1912, an English railway company surveyed a route into Bella Coola Valley and would have built a railroad—they went as far as cutting right-of-way—had it not been for the outbreak of World War I.

TOO MUCH ROCK

In the early 1930's, a further search for road was made, but the routes explored at that time indicated a very heavy outlay—too much rock-work.

That was the reason given by the government for 20 years for not proceeding with the development of the third outlet.

Then in 1950, two men who had built scores of miles of difficult road—Curtiss Urseth and Norman Saugstad of the North-co Logging Company at Bella Coola—decided to explore a trapper's trail that bypassed the Great Slide, the Precipice and the millions of dollars' worth of rock work.

On pack-horses they climbed 2000 feet, got into jackpine and plateau country and found a route almost entirely free of rock, with no rivers to bridge and no heavy slopes.

Urseth and Saugstad presented their findings to the then Minister of Public Works, the Hon. E. C. Carson. At first openly skeptical, Mr. Carson finally studied aerial photographs enough to be convinced that a route probably existed there. He promised a survey at an early date.

His successor, the Hon. E. T. Kenney, stated from the floor of the House this year that the survey, with the idea of putting the road through, would be made in 1952.

The Bella Coola District Board of Trade, formed in the late fall of 1951 with the purpose of assisting in promoting this road project, sent a party of men to continue the exploration of Saugstad and Urseth. This party was driven off the plateau by bad weather, but they brought with them corroboration of the reports of Saugstad and Urseth and the people who had urged these two men to go.

The route these people will help the government survey this summer involves only about 20 miles of easy road-building. The maximum altitude is not more than 4500 feet.

BRAND-NEW SCENERY

This would put Prince George 200 miles closer to the sea than by way of Prince Rupert and provide a gateway for the whole of Central B.C.—an outlet for the growing beef-production of the Western Chilcotin, a route to the southern part of Tweedsmuir Park and to a scenic area, and new for tourist exploitation.

And it would provide 50 per cent greater road outlet for military activity in case of necessity.

British Columbia and Western Canada can no longer afford to let this third outlet lie undeveloped.
